LONDON, Jan. 25.—It is stated that Mr Pyne, M.P. for Waterford, is in London. It is reported that Mr. Pyne and Dr. Tanner M.P. for Cork, who is also in London, will be arrested.

Numerous new ejectment decrees have been issued at Gweedore, County Donegal, and another campaign between tenants and bailiffs is impending.

Lord Dufferin's Tenants.

DUBLIN, Jan. 25.—Lord Dufferin has replied to his Irish tenants, who asked a 40 per cent. reduction of rents, that he leaves the matter in the hands of his agent. The latter will only grant a 10 per cent. reduction, and there is great discontent among the tenants.

A Denial By the Marquis of Ripon.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The Marquis of Ripon in a speech at Ely this evening, denied that the proposed banquet at Dublin had been abandoned owing to difficulty in regard to the customary toast to the Queen.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"I begin to think our English cousins are not famous for their veracity," she says, with some scorn. "You seem to doubt every one's word; or is it mine in particular? Yet I spoke the truth. I do not want to marry any one."

Here she turns and looks him full in the face; and something—it may be in the melancholy of his expression—so amuses her that (laughter being as natural to her lips as perfume to a flower) she breaks into a sunny smile, and holds out her hand in token of amity.

"How could you be so absurd about that old Moore?" she says, lightly.—"Why, he has got nothing to recommend him except his money; and what good," with a sigh, "does that do him, unless to get him murdered!"

"If he is as fat as you say, he will be a good mark for a bullet," says Mr. Rodney, genially, almost—I am ashamed to say—hopefully. "I should think they could easily pot him one of these dark nights that are coming. By this time I suppose he feels more like a grouse than a man, eh?—'I'll die game' should be his motto?"

"I wish you wouldn't talk like that," says Mona, with a shudder. "It isn't at all nice of you; and especially when you know how miserable I am about my poor country."

"It is a pity anything should be said against Ireland," says Rodney, cleverly; "it is such a lovely little spot."

"Do you really like it?" says she, plainly delighted. "Oh! you should see Bantry Bay by moonlight, with its light waves sparkling beneath the gleam of the stars, and the moon throwing a path across it that seems to go on and on, until it reaches heaven; it is more satisfying than a happy dream. Do you see that hill up yonder?" pointing to an elevation about a mile distant; "there I sometimes sit when the moon is full, and watch the bay below. There is a lovely view from that spot."

"I wish I could see it!" says Geoffrey, longingly.

"Well, so you can," returns she, kindly. "Any night when there is a good moon come to me and I will go with you to Carrickdhuve—that is the name of the hill—and show you the bay."

She looks at him quite calmly, as one might who sees nothing in the fact of accompanying a young man to the top of a high mountain after nightfall.—And in truth she does see nothing in it.

"I wonder when the moon will be full," says Geoffrey, making this ordinary remark in an every-day tone that does him credit, and speaks well for his kindliness and delicacy of feeling, as well as for his power of discerning character.

"We must see," says Mona, thoughtfully.

They have reached the farm again by this time, and Geoffrey holds out his hand to bid her good-bye.

"Come in for a little while and rest yourself," says Mona, hospitably, "while I get the brandy and send it up to poor Kitty."

"Don't be long," he says, impulsively, as she disappears down a passage.

"I won't, then. Sure you can live alone with yourself for one minute," returns she, in very fine Irish; and, with a parting smile, sweet as nectar and far more dangerous, she goes.

When she is gone, Geoffrey walks impatiently up and down the small hall, conflicting emotions robbing him of the serenity that usually attends his footsteps. He is happy, yet full of a secret gnawing uneasiness that weighs upon him daily, hourly. Near Mona—when in her presence—a gladness that amounts almost to perfect happiness is his; apart from her is unrest. Up and down the little hall he paces, his hands behind his back, as is his wont when deep in day-dreams, and asks himself many a question hitherto unthought of. He recognizes the consternation his marriage to Mona would produce at home—first his mother, and then Nick, and after them Violet, who last year was asked to Rodney Towers (though she knew it not) for the purpose of laying siege to his heart. Can he—shall he—go farther in this matter? Then this thought presses to the front beyond all others: "Does she—will she—ever love me?"

"Now, hurry, Bridget," says Mona's low, soft voice,—"that excellent thing in woman.' "Don't be any time. Just give that to Kitty, and say one prayer, and be back in ten minutes;" and Bridget hurries away, thankful that she will have an opportunity of seeing the corpse.

"Now come and see my own room," says Mona, going up to Rodney, and, slipping her hand into his in a little trustful fashion that is one of her many loving ways, she leads him along the hall to a door opposite the kitchen.—This she opens, and with conscious pride draws him after her across its threshhold. So holding him, she might at this moment have drawn him to the world's end—wherever that may be!

It is a very curious little room they enter—yet pretty, withal, and suggestive of care and affection. Each object that meets the view seems replete with pleasurable memory—seems part of its gentle mistress. There are books, and some ornaments, and a huge bowl of sweetly-smelling flowers on the centre-table, and a bracket or two against the walls. Some loose music is lying on a chair.

"Now I am here, you will sing me something," says Geoffrey, presently.

"I wonder what kind of songs you like best," says Mona, dreamily, letting her fingers run noiselessly over the Collard. "If you are like me, you like sad ones."

"Then I am like you," returns he quickly.

"Then I will sing you a song I was sent last week," says Mona, and forthwith sings him "Years Ago," mournfully, pathetic, and with all her soul, as it should be sung. Then she gives him "London Bridge," and then "Rose-Marie," and then she takes her fingers from the piano and looks at him with a fond hope that tie will see fit to praise her work.

"You are an artist," says Geoffrey, with a deep sigh, when she has finished. "Who taught you, child? But there is no use in such a question. Nobody could teach it to you; you must feel it as you sing. Where do you get your music?" wondering how "London Bridge" has found its way to this isolated spot.

"The boys send it to me. Anything new that comes out, or anything they think will suit my voice, they post to me at once."

"The boys!" repeats he, mystified.

"Yes, the students, I mean. When with aunty in Dublin I knew ever so many of them, and they were very fond of me."

The Difficulty Experienced

In taking Cod Liver Oil is entirely overcome in Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. It is as palatable as Milk, and the most valuable remedy that has ever been produced for the cure of Consumption, Scrofula and Wasting Diseases. Do not fail to try it. Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

POKING FUN!

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprises largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8 75, this is an all wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3 95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6 50 SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2 95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3 75 and a pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits really nice and lot of them $1 95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in the business.

LOT THREE.—Xmas Goods. Plush Albums, regular price $2 00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

We don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPARD'S, where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver e misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

HALDIMAND ELECTION TRIAL.

The Evidence Yesterday—Three Charges Against Dr. Montague Dismissed.

CAYUGA, Jan. 25.—The Haldimand Dominion controverted election trial has occupied the whole of to-day. All the charges so far investigated have been dismissed and Dr. Montague still stands with a clear record.

The charge upon which Samuel Tyler was examined last evening was resumed this morning. Tyler stated that Geo. Elliott, a resident of Seneca Township, had approached him in the interest of Dr. Montague and offered him a consideration if he would spoil his ballot. He afterwards found $10 upon his plough in the field where he was directed to search by Elliott.

George Elliott was called and denied the whole story and alleged that Tyler told him he would vote for the party that would pay him the most, and wanted to know if he (Elliott) could not do something for him. Elliott says he refused to pay him anything.

The charge was dismissed.

Charge No. 35 was then taken up. William Butcher, a laborer resident in Walpole, stated that one Henry Hall, a Conservative worker, offered and gave him $5 to stay away from the poll on election day. He reluctantly accepted the money, but asserted his intention of going to vote.

Henry Hall was called and contradicted the story.

His Lordship decided that the petitioner had failed to prove the bribery and establish the agency of Hall and dismissed the charge.

John Forsyth, an exceedingly meek young man, tripped into the box and requested His Lordship to grant him a clearance. His Lordship assumed that he desired protection and said that its being granted depended upon the demeanor of the witness. Forsyth then related the circumstance of selling two hens to a David Long for $5. Mr. Long told him he could not pay for them until after election. Witness replied he would sell the hens for $5 and would go to the poll on election day. Witness when telling his story seemed exceedingly tickled, and turning to His Lordship said: "But mind you, I didn't say which way I would vote." Before leaving the box he assumed an air of sincerity and endeavored to convince the court that the transaction was an honest one, that neither himself nor Long was to blame, that it was the hens that were purchased and not his vote. It was quite apparent the witness' stock of intelligence could not be measured by the same ratio in which he valued his hens, and the petitioner's counsel abandoned the charge, which was accordingly dismissed.

It is likely the charge of corrupt practices will be concluded to-morrow, when the recount will proceed.

DEBATING THE SPEECH.

THE MOVER AND SECONDER OF THE ADDRESS HAVE THEIR WAY.

Mr. Stratton of West Peterboro and Dr. McKay of South Oxford the Orators of the Afternoon—Mr. Meredith and Mr Mowat in Reply.

TORONTO, Jan. 27.

Only a small attendance of the eager public occupied the galleries of the legislative chamber yesterday, to listen to the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne. There were four speakers: The mover of the address, Mr. J. R. Stratton, West Peterboro; the seconder, Dr. Angus McKay, South Oxford; Mr. Meredith and the Attorney-General. They spoke for half an hour on the average.

Mr. Stratton's speech, which was attentively listened to and well received, was to the point, forcible and well worded, without being eloquent, but a little too spreading at times.

Mr. McKay labored under the disadvantage of having the points of the Speech gone over before by Mr. Stratton, but he did very well, and touched on a couple of new and interesting points.

Mr. Meredith was critical, and as full of out and out opposition as ever.

Mr. Mowat was humorous and in good shape for replying to the leader of the Opposition.

Mr. Stratton, on rising to move the address, spoke of the diffidence with which he approached the subject, and asked the indulgence of the House. He referred in congratulatory terms to the appointment of Sir Alex. Campbell as Lieutenant-Governor, a gentleman of high social and political distinction, a gentleman whose name is received everywhere with the highest respect.

The condition of the farming community of Ontario and the great progress being made by the farmers was next referred to, and the speaker attributed it greatly to the establishment of Farmers' Institutes, and to the financial assistance given by the Province.

As for the educational interests of Ontario, he said that while the results might not be seen at once, the expenditure of larger sums of money had given the province a people the "most enlightened, cultured and refined on the face of the earth."

The timber policy of the Government, "one so invulnerable to attack," was referred to as one of inestimable value, one which should be protected and encouraged. To show the difference between the sales of Ontario and Quebec timber lands, he read figures of nine sales in each province. These showed that the average Quebec revenue per square mile was $43.88, while that of Ontario was no less than $360, or nearly nine times as much. [Applause.] It was sometimes said that our forests are too rapidly disappearing. Though fire had done great damage there are still many thousands of square miles of the most valuable timber land. Speaking of the recent successful sale of these lands, he said that the department could not have been entrusted to more competent hands than the Commissioner of Crown Lands, whose health, it was to be hoped, would soon be restored.

As to the removal of Upper Canada College, he said that it had not been decided upon without the wisest consideration. It was satisfactory to know that $200,000 from the sale of the old site would be added to the Endowment Fund. "This old and historic school" had been to a large extent monopolized by the City of Toronto. He read figures of attendance to show that Toronto had as many pupils there as the whole of the rest of the province. Under the new order of things this college would occupy to the University the position of a residential high school, bearing in many respects the same relation as high schools throughout the province. Old pupils of the school might regret to see the change that had been made, but it was done in the interests of the province at large, and sentiment could not be taken into account.

Brief mention was made of the addition of a Faculty of Medicine to the University, and the speaker hoped that ere long there would be established a Faculty of Law.

Mr. Stratton paid a high compliment to the Attorney-General for his services in the revision of the statutes of 1877 and 1887, and he trusted that he would be enabled to exercise his eminent abilities again in 1897.

Touching upon the proposal to make extra provision for lunatics Mr. Stratton said that the Government are anxious to do all they can for that unfortunate class. So greatly was the accommodation needed that last year there were no less than 471 lunatics confined in the common jails because there was no room for them in the asylums. Thus these poor people, instead of being supported by the province, become a burden upon the municipalities.

Attention was also paid to Her Majesty's jubilee and to the Interprovincial Conference at Quebec.

The proposed appointment of a Minister of Agriculture gave an opportunity for the production of these figures to show the value of farm property in Ontario:

| | |
|---|---|
| Farm lands | $636,883,755 |
| " buildings | 184,753,507 |
| " implements | 49,248,297 |
| " stock | 104,406,656 |

But it was to be regretted that the value of field produce had depreciated instead of increasing. The value in 1887 was $105,579,869, while in 1886 it was $110,761,676; and the average value for the last five years was $121,964,930. These figures were enough to prove the necessity of a department to look after the farming interests.

After referring to the new parliament buildings and to the proposed legislation regarding early closing, Mr. Stratton concluded, amid applause, by moving the adoption of the speech.

Dr. A. McKay, South Oxford, rose in his place in the back row of the Opposition side of the House where he forms part of the Government overflow, to second the motion. After referring to Sir Alex. Campbell's appointment he took up the University question and urged that that institution should be most thoroughly equipped in all its departments and assisted with every possible financial aid.

A question which had not been touched upon by the member for Peterboro, said Mr. McKay, was the Manhood Suffrage Bill. The Government in its wisdom had determined that it was time Ontario should have this suffrage, and while the bill may not be passed this session it will be introduced, and there will no doubt be a full and free discussion. The Opposition members might smile, but they would do well to wire to Ottawa that Ontario has a Government so enlightened as to be ready to give the people manhood suffrage.

Touching upon the asylum question, Mr. McKay read figures to show that in the case of the London Asylum, the non-use of alcohol had caused a large reduction in the death rate and an increase in the number of cures. He therefore contended that there was no need of stimulants, and he congratulated the Superintendent of the London Asylum on the success of the non-alcohol system.

The member for South Oxford paid particular attention to the relations between the Federal and the Provincial Governments. The disallowance of provincial bills, he said should be vested only in the Imperial Government. The Senate came in for notice as being a body in which there is great need of change, a body in the nomination of which the people have no voice, a body over whose actions there is no control. A change in the financial arrangements between the Dominion and the Province would be most acceptable, while the making and revision of the voters' lists and the appointments of all magistrates should rest solely in the hands of the provincial governments. The making of the bankruptcy laws should rest with the province, especially as there are no Federal laws affecting bankruptcy.

A pounding of the Opposition desk lids greeted Mr. Meredith, the Opposition leader as he rose to reply. He referred first to the appointment of the Lieut.-Governor, and then started out in critical and aggressive style. After the serious and somewhat laboured speech of the man from South Bruce, his address roused floor and gallery to interest. With regard to the timber limits, he said he reiterated his previously announced opinion, that the department was not being conducted in accordance with the principles of responsible government by offering for sale large tracts of valuable timber lands without first submitting the matter for the sanction of the people's representatives. He differed altogether with the way in which the Crown Lands Department is being conducted, but he expressed the feelings of his colleagues when he hoped that the head of that department would soon be restored to health so that he might occupy the vacant seat beside the Attorney-General.

Mr. Meredith took occasion to say that legislation that would suit a small town, a village or a township, was not what should be provided for a city of the size of Toronto, whose business was almost the size of that of Quebec Province. He admitted the ability of the members of the Municipal Commission, but contended that three or four members of the Government would have been the proper ones to undertake the work now being done by gentlemen whose knowledge of the subjects was at best only theoretical.

As to the Interprovincial Conference he indignantly repudiated the statements that the Opposition had acted traitorously in the matter of the boundary award. He regretted the heartburnings and discord that had been caused by the action of the Government which, if it had not been so desirous of hanging on to the sweets of office, would have settled the boundary award in a thoroughly business manner. The Government had, he understood, decided at the Interprovincial Conference to suggest changes in the constitution. They had a very good time at Quebec, in fact it was about as pleasant as the recent sale of timber lands here. [Laughter.]

Hon. Mr. Fraser denied that any such changes were proposed, whereupon Mr. Meredith said he had read it in the Government's own organ. The House was not commissioned to deal with this matter, but if it were pushed through the people would have something to say about it.

Against the proposition that the vetoing of provincial bills should be vested only in the Imperial authorities he desired to record his unswerving opposition and he would continue to do so as long as he had a voice in the House. He quoted Hon. Edward Blake in support of his opinion, and said he would prefer to see the veto power swept away altogether rather than see it transferred to Downing-street.

He believed that the Ontario Government was not sincere in its doings at the conference, that members did not go there in the interests of Ontario, but to make political capital. Their insincerity was evident from the fact that they did not ask that one of the articles of agreement should be a demand that the dealing with the temperance question should be left with the provinces.

Mr. Meredith announced his strongest opposition to the proposal to establish another portfolio. There was no need of a seventh Minister. In fact a reduction was more desirable. It was a sorry admission that "this cabinet of lawyers" had for years been running the province without agricultural representation being given. He made some fun at the expense of Mr. Awrey whom he suspected of wanting to be the new Minister of Agriculture.

In concluding Mr. Meredith said he was pleased that the Lieutenant-Governor had done away with some of the business in vogue at former openings of the House. The gentlemen opposite might say that a firing of guns and all that sort of thing was necessary in order to impress the people with the importance of the Assembly, but he hoped that next season there would be a still further reduction of what he regarded as a piece of tomfoolery.

The Attorney-General, in a most happy humor, rose to reply. He said that the ceremonies to which Mr. Meredith objected were still carried on by his Tory friends at Ottawa, and intimated that it did not lie in the mouth of the Opposition's leader to object. He complimented the mover and seconder of the reply on the ability they had shown and he was glad that the House was strenghtened by what would prove to be good debating talent. The remainder of his speech was chiefly in reply to the arguments of Mr. Meredith. He insisted that the conference was not called for political purposes, because Mr. Mercier had invited Sir John and all the provincial Governments whether Conservative or Reform.

On motion of the Attorney-General the address in reply to the speech was adopted and ordered to be engrossed.

The Attorney-General announced that he would move the committees to-day.

ORDERED TO BE EXECUTED.

The G. T. R., the Northern and the H. and N. W. Agree to Unite.

HAMILTON, Jan. 26.—An important meeting of the Board of Directors of the Hamilton and Northwestern Railway was held this morning. There were present John Proctor, President; Wm. Hendrie, Wm. Doran, Mayor; Charles Cameron, P. W. Dayfoot, J. Sissons, Simcoe County: Samuel Barker (who was subsequently elected to fill a vacancy as the board).

An agreement between the Grand Trunk Railway Company, the Northern Railway Company and the Hamilton and Northwestern Railway Company to unite the three companies into one, under the name of the "Grand Trunk Railway," was read and ordered to be executed. A meeting of the shareholders will be held on Thursday, Feb. 16, to consider and ratify the agreement. It was decided to publish the details of the agreement, so that all the shareholders would be able to discuss the subject intelligently. Mr. Sissons of Simcoe County stated that he had been instructed by the County Council, now in session, to favor the agreement.

PRAIRIE PROVINCE POLITICS.

The House Adjourned To March 1—Relative Strength of the Parties.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 26.—In the Legislature to-day Mr. Norquay's resolution to refer the charge against him of collusion with the Hudson Bay Railway Company's contractors to a Queen's Bench judge or a committee of the House was adopted.

The House adjourned to March 1.

Lepine is in the field against Prendergast, Rogers against Greenway, Smith against Martin. There is no opposition yet to Smart, and Jones has not found a place to run.

Gelley sat on the Government side to-day, and the relative strength seems to be: Government 20 Opposition 14, counting the independents as Government supporters.

THE WILY RUSS.

Warlike Preparations Continue But They are Said to Denote Peace.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 25.—The Government will attach an officer of the general staff to each local brigade of troops except those who will be charged with organizing arrangements, preparing for mobilizing and supervising the tactical drill of the reserve battalions. A flotilla consisting of two steamers and two transports has been formed on the Amu-Daria River.

The Journal de St. Petersbourg refutes the statement made by English and Hungarian newspapers that Russia is seeking to raise a loan for carrying out a warlike object. It points out that M. Vishnigradski, the Minister of Finance, stated that should he borrow it would be solely to construct railways which were especially important to Russian industries. It ridicules The Cologne Gazette's story that orders had been given to the Caucasian army corps to march to the Armenian frontier, and says: "Whenever Russia undertakes a great action in Asia Minor she will not think of denuding the Caucasus of half its troops."

The German Military Bill.

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—The Minister of War announced to-day to the Reichstag Committee that the loan required on account of the Military Bill would amount to 280,000,000 marks. He believed the Government would be enabled by the bill to complete the military organization.

The bill was then read a second time by the committee. The last clause was slightly modified so as to provide that the liability to serve in the second ban of the Landwehr be extended to persons of the age of 39.

Their Early Attendance Requested.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—Wm. H. Smith, Government leader in the House of Commons, in a letter urges all Conservative members to be present in Parliament on Feb. 9, when questions of the utmost importance will be submitted.

NO TRUTH IN THE REPORT

THAT THE WEASELSKIN INDIANS ARE STARVING.

The Change of Venue in the Case of the Montreal Detectives—Donald Downie Appeal—A Large Lumber Sale for Export to South America.

OTTAWA, Jan. 26.—There is no truth in the sensational report telegraphed from Edmonton Tuesday that the Weaselskin Indians near Victoria were starving to death. The Superintendent-General of Indian affairs to-day received information that the reports were greatly exaggerated. There had been some delay in getting in the usual supplies but provision had been obtained on the spot and there was no want or distress.

A slight flutter has been caused here by the announcement of the change of venue from Montreal to Aylmer in the cases of Fahey Bureau and Naegele, the Montreal detectives who will be tried at a special session of the court in Aylmer about the middle of next month. The men will be removed from Montreal at once and preparations were being made to-day at the Aylmer jail for their reception. Judge Wurtele opened the session of the Circuit Court in Hull to-day and corroborated the rumor but could not state whether the men would be tried before him. The authorities say they have been actuated by no other desire than that of securing for the prisoner a fair trial in having the case heard away from Montreal, as they are convinced that it would be almost impossible for them to have a fair and impartial trial in Montreal on account of the intense indignation which prevails against them in that city.

The first appeal from the Northwest to the Supreme Court will come up for trial at the next session of the court. The case is that of the Canada Northwest Land Company v. The Public School Trust of Calgary, and is one of considerable importance. It will be remembered that one of the terms of the contract with the Canadian Pacific Railway was that the lands given them as part of their subsidy were to be exempt from taxation for twenty years. The Canada Northwest Land Company purchased or agreed to purchase large blocks of these lands but refused to pay taxes on them on the ground that the land were still the property of the railway and that the land company only held them on an agreement to purchase. The Public School Trust of Calgary and the land company for school taxes, etc., gained its case. Hence the appeal.

A rumor was current here to-day that the Federal Bank had not opened its doors in Toronto this morning, but its falsity was promptly discovered by communication with Toronto. There is no branch of the bank here and the rumor caused very little excitement.

McIntyre, Lewis & Code, barristers, have entered an appeal in the Supreme Court for Donald Downie, the Montreal lawyer found guilty of perjury. The appeal is set down for Feb. 21. Downie is the man who had the proprietors of The Montreal Star and Gazette arrested for criminal libel a few months ago. He was alleged to have perjured himself in defending a case brought against him in Montreal and the jury found him guilty.

Bronson, Westons & Co. have made a sale of 5,000,000 feet of lumber to the Export Lumber Company of Montreal at about $11 per thousand. The lumber is intended for shipment to South America. The price of lumber just now shows an upward tendency and a good export demand is expected in the spring. The cut this winter in the woods will probably be much larger than last year, and if the drive is successful there will be no scarcity of logs next summer and fall.

THE BANKING SITUATION.

TORONTO, Jan. 27.

This morning's issue of The Toronto World has the following:

Private despatches received in this city from Montreal for two days back have had the effect of weakening Federal Bank stock, and yesterday it fell back ten points. Coupled with this decline have been rumors of liquidation or absorption by another bank.

Ever since the change in the directorate of the bank twelve days ago Mr. Hammond, the new President, has been investigating the business of the concern. He has been at the work day and night. What decision he has reached is not yet known, but last night he summoned a meeting of all the bank managers of the city and they were in consultation until after last midnight. Every bank was represented. What they did could not be exactly learned. Mr. Hammond told The World that a new policy had been decided on, but that it could not be made know for some time. Mr. Yarker was equally reserved. In another quarter it was learned that "a good arrangement had been decided on, but that it would not be consummated until some time to-day."

One banker remarked late last night "Whatever is to be done ought to have been definitely decided last night and given to the morning papers. As it is this meeting of bankers and then postponing, while all the time disturbing rumors are going about, only makes things worse than they really are."

THE PROGRAMME.

There is little in the Ontario Government's programme, as outlined in the Speech from the Throne, that requires comment until the details of the measures promised are made known. Several of the steps taken or promised are in accordance with the views of the Opposition and have been urged upon the Government by Mr. Meredith and those who act with him.

The announcement that bills will be submitted giving effect to resolutions of the Quebec Conference depends as to its importance on the subjects that the bills will deal with. There were matters covered by those resolutions that the Legislatures are competent to deal with, and if nothing further is intended than to carry out these recommendations they may not cause much discussion. But if the Ontarion Government asks the Legislature to assist in the retrograde movement of having Provincial legislation made subject to veto by the Imperial authorities they may expect the proposal to meet with resistance.

It would appear that another Minister is to be added to the Cabinet. There is no one but will commend any Government of this Province for paying the closest attention necessary to the agricultural interests. At the same time it may be pointed out the Liberals have argued that because a few Cabinet Ministers attended to the affairs of the United States, the number in the Dominion Cabinet should be lessened; yet the Ontario Government seems to find it necessary to have more Ministers than there are in the United States administration.

The measure to limit the number of hours that young people will be allowed to work in a shop is a step in the right direction, though its value depends much upon its provisions. The giving of power to the councils of villages, towns and cities to promote the early closing of retail stores is an innovation that, if it is put in effect, will be watched with interest.

The value of the Municipal Commission depends, of course, on the information it procures and on the legislation that may be founded upon it. From the reference to Parry Sound and Muskoka it may be inferred that the municipalities attached to Victoria County will be taken from it.

The franchise measure probably means an extension of the franchise, and as the Government has promised manhood suffrage it should be provided for. There is still, however, a number of the Cabinet who oppose manhood suffrage with vigor, and all the members and their supporters voted down a resolution asking for it. Whatever the extension may be, if it is an extension of the franchise that is intended to be brought about by the promised measure, it will hardly become law at this session, though the bill may be introduced.

The cannons were silent and the cavalry escort was absent when the Lieutenant-Governor opened the session of the Legislature. Correct. A certain amount of show is all very well, but there has certainly been too much of it.

---

There is not a farmer in the Ontario Cabinet, and all but one of the Ministers are lawyers. There should be room for a farmer without increasing the number

ORMOND.

Village Council.—The first meeting of this council was held on Monday last. Dr. Cornwall, Reeve, Messrs. James Evans, George Lamb, John McCrea and Thomas Stephenson, having signed the declaration and qualification of office took their seats. Messrs. Waugh and Grandy were appointed auditors for this year.

Emily Cemetery Co.—At a meeting of this company held at Clarke's hotel, Omemee, on Monday last the following officers were elected for 1888:—Thomas Stephenson, Esq., President; I. McNeely, Esq., Sec-Treas; Messrs. Geo. Lamb, S. English, J. J. Mitchell, G. Switzer, D. Storey, Wm. Neill, E. C. Williamson, Directors; Messrs. Chas. Miller and John McCrea, Auditors. The annual report of the Sec-Treas. was read and showed the company to be in good standing.

Agricultural Society.—At the annual meeting of the Emily Agricultural Society held at Clarke's Hotel on Thursday evening January 12th, the old officials were nearly all re-elected viz. Wm. Adams, President; G. Switzer, Vice-president; E. C. Williamson, Treasurer and J. H. Sheppard, Secretary. Directors, Messrs. Stephenson, Faulkner, Miller, Neill, Toole, Bannan, Boyd, Spence and Franks. The year 1887 was one of prosperity to the society, the number of members 124 being the highest for some time.—Herald.

BOTH FEET FROZEN.

A Tramp Arrested at Hamilton Found to be in a Sad Plight.

Hamilton, Jan. 26.—When George Gregory, who was arrested and sent down for sixty days for lighting a fire in an ice house, arrived at the jail it was found that his feet had been frozen about two weeks ago and were in a dreadful state, mortification having set in. He said that he had not taken off his boots since his feet were frozen, and as there was no pain in them he did not know that they were in such a state. It is probable that he will lose the toes of both feet.

The attendance at the reunion of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite was largely increased to-day. Four candidates for the 18°, nineteen for the 30°, five for the 31° and four for the 32° were operated upon. This evening a banquet was tendered the visiting brethren in the new hall.

Messrs. Worswick & Jones, the engineering experts, went down to the beach this morning to commence the second test of the pumps. At 2 o'clock the pumps were put in operation, and will continue until 2 p.m. on Saturday.

William Amos, the brakeman who had his right leg taken off on the Northern and Northwestern Railway on Jan. 7, was brought home from Beeton Wednesday evening. He is getting along as well as can be expected.

Attempt to Assassinate President Carnot.

Paris, Jan. 26.—President Carnot had an escape from being murdered yesterday. A man presented himself at the Elysee and insisted on delivering a letter into the President's hands. He was arrested and a loaded revolver was found in his pocket. His name is Gresel and he is evidently insane.

CONVICT NEIL TO DIE ON FEB. 28.

Tried and Sentenced in the Assize Court All in One Day.

Toronto, Jan. 26.

Short work was made of Robert Neil, the convict who stabbed Guard Rutledge to death in the Central Prison on Jan. 7 last, in Mr. Justice Falconbridge's court yesterday. He was placed on trial in the morning for murder, and before 6 o'clock in the evening the death sentence had been passed upon him. Neil, or Robert Thompson as he is otherwise known, will be hanged in the jail yard on Tuesday, Feb. 28 next. This is Mr. Justice Falconbridge's first important criminal trial, and he was under the painful obligation of passing the sentence of death on his initial judgment.

After the evidence had been taken, and which was a repetition of that adduced at the inquest, Mr. Bigelow addressed the jury on behalf of the prisoner. He made the most of the scanty material at his command. Mr. Lount, Q.C., followed in a review of the evidence, commenting thereon in what was generally considered an eminently fair and impartial manner. The jury were then charged by Mr. Justice Falconbridge, and after being out fifty minutes returned with a verdict of wilful murder.

The prisoner was perceptibly affected by the announcement, but soon became composed. In reply to the Judge's question if he had anything to say why the sentence of death should not be pronounced, Neil, in a low but distinct voice, pleaded in palliation of his deed the alleged ill-treatment he had received at the hands of the guards in the Central Prison. He had been struck on the head, he added, by a guard and bending his head, pointed to a scar on his forehead, caused, he claimed, by the blow. He always treated a main fairly who acted in the same way towards him.

Mr. Justice Falconbridge was visibly affected in pronouncing the death sentence, which he did without comment.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKETS.

Toronto, Jan. 26.

The grain and produce markets at home and in England were quiet but steadier while in Chicago the market was fairly active in wheat.

At the Board of Trade to-day No. 1 spring wheat 83c bid and No. 1 Manitoba hard was weaker at 87½c.

The car lots received at Chicago to-day: Wheat 41, corn 170 and oats 106.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago Stock Yards to-day is: Estimated receipts 19,000, official yesterday 18,265, shipments 9769, left over about 4000. Cattle receipts 8000. Market quiet.

LOCAL STREET MARKET.

The local street market to-day was quiet and the receipts of grain were moderate and prices steady. About 300 bushels of wheat offered and sold at 82c to 83½c for fall, 78c to 82c for spring, and 73c to 74c for goose. Barley firm, there being sales of 1000 bushels at 74c to 82½c. Oats steady, with sales of 400 bushels at 47c to 48c. Peas nominal at 66c to 67c. Hay in limited supply and prices steady; 30 load sold at $10 to $12 for clover and $13 to $15 for timothy. Straw quiet and prices steady, with sales at $10.50 to $12. Dressed hogs steady at $7. Beef $3 to $5 for forequarters, and $5 to $7.50 for hindquarters. Mutton $6.50 to $8; lamb at $9 to $10; veal, $6.50 to $8.50.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The retail market to-day was dull and prices are without change.

OSWEGO BARLEY MARKET.

Oswego reports barley to-day firm but quiet at the following prices: No. 1 Can. 94c, No. 2 bright 97c. Shipments—7000 bushels.

Universal Suffrage in Spain.

Madrid, Jan. 26.—In the Cortes to-day, a motion to censure Senor Martos for advocating universal suffrage, was defeated by a vote of 98 to 49. Premier Sagasta will introduce at the next session a bill for the extension of the franchise.

CAVAN.

Terrible Runaway Accident.—On Saturday last Mr. Martin Pethick, of the fourth concession of Cavan, had a horse killed, under the following circumstances: Mr. Pethick had been to Port Britain for a load of chop, and when about two miles from Millbrook as what is known as Kendy's hills, about half way up, a runaway team belonging to Mr. R. Gibson, Cavan, collided with his (Mr. P.'s) team, the tongue of the sleigh of the runaway team struck one of Mr. Pethick's horses running clean through the poor beast and piercing the dashboard of the sleigh. Mr. Pethick had to leave the horses and run to a neighbor's house to get a gun to put the injured horse out of misery. The horse killed was a valuable animal, worth $150.—Guide.

HALIBURTON.

Windjammers.—We are trying to raise the wind in the shape of a brass band. Lots of capital talent and energy going to waste in the village. Capital project, this, of a brass band and one that will be heard from if the money and brass holds out.

Races.—Given good weather for the purpose and we propose to have a fine series of races. There are a lot of spanking fine horses about here just eating their heads off with anxiety to get out on the ice and show a fine time of speed. The date will be announced further on.

CAMPBELLFORD.

Seymour Agricultural Society.—The officers of the current year were elected as follows:—John Morrison, President, H. Dunham, Vice-President, F. Bonnycastle, William Stewart, Jr., Chas. Nelson, W. Stillman, A. T. Green, J. B. Ferris, C. S. Gillespie, Robt. Dinwoodie, Joseph Hoops Director; John Clark, Secy-Treasurer, Jas. Denald and Alex. Hume, auditors.

Be Careful.—Mr. J. W. Johnston, nurseryman, has exposed in several papers in this district, the transactions of a certain agent who has been travelling about in this neighborhood and elsewhere selling trees at $1 00 each, representing them as Russian apricots. After the exposure of this fellow in these columns on the 15th December, he made a sudden exit and is likely engaged in the same business elsewhere. Foreign agents for all manner of goods will continue to fleece the farmers so long as they give ear to their oily talk to entertain them.

Don't pretice false economy by buying common Flavoring Extracts. Ask for the "Royal," none other can equal them.

COBOURG.

Grain Robbery.—A man known as Sam Smith was arrested on Saturday last by Constable Orr on a charge of having stolen 100 bushels of grain from the barns of Mr. R. L. Holdsworth, lot 22, con. 2, Township of Hamilton. From information furnished the constable he felt justified in searching Smith's premises, which resulted in the grain being discovered there. He was brought before the Police Magistrate, who remanded him for eight days, as it is believed others had a finger in the pie.—Sentinel Star.

Agricultural Society.—The annual meeting of the West Riding of Northumberland Agricultural Society was held in the Counties Council chamber, Cobourg, on Wednesday, January 18th. The following members were elected officers for the ensuing year:—President, J. M. Carruthers; 1st Vice-President, Col. Boulton; 2nd Vice-President, S. Purser; Treasurer, W. Riddell; Secretary, R. Cullis; Directors, M. C. Fox, D. Carstairs, Geo. Carruthers, Jno. A. Sherwin, Wm. Beatty, W. J. Westington, P. Hinman, Wm. Mason and Wm. Spear.—World.

The Trent Valley Canal.

The County Council of Simcoe has made a grant of $500 to the Association Committee towards defraying the expenses of procuring evidence. The Victoria County Council made a grant of $1,000 this afternoon for the same purpose.

Badly Drifted.

The sidewalk on the north end of Water street from the residence of Mrs. J. F. Dennistoun as far as Argyle street, was badly drifted yesterday and it was impossible to clear it properly with the snow ploughs. This is always a bad spot after every storm.

That Kid.

And now kid the boot man is going to take stock and he is going to reduce his prices like this. Ladies overshoes $1, Men's felt overshoes $1.05, Ladies felt slippers 19 cents—but he must stop quoting prices or people will suspect him of selling below cost!!

I. O. O. F.

Grand Patriarch, John Sinclair and Grand Scribe, Colonel Dawson, of London, reached town this morning, after being delayed by the eastern snow blockade. At 3 o'clock this afternoon the work of instituting the new encampment, I. O. O. F., commenced at the rooms of the Otonabee Lodge No. 13, and is in progress as we go to press.

Firemens' Salaries.

The question of increasing the salaries of the members of the Fire Brigade from $25 to $50 was before the Finance Committee last night. It was decided to recommend the increase to the Council, the Brigade to consist of 18 men only. The salary of the Chief was fixed at $100 and that of the Assistant Chief at $75. The Council will in all probability adopt the report at their meeting on Monday evening next.

This is the Night.

The night of what? Few will ask that. All know it is the night of the grand carnival. Fancy costumes—splendid ice—comic dresses—crowd on skates—whirling round—electric light—brass band music—races on skates—curling match—entertaining, amusing, delightful sport. In the Charlotte street rink, trimmed and handsomely decorated. Crowds of spectators looking on and enjoying it. That is the programme for this evening. Be there.

Not Yet.

The Grand Trunk engineers have not yet definitely located the line to connect the Lakefield branch with the Chemong Lake road, but they expect to have everything ready for an early commencement in the spring. As the line is now proposed several property owners on Benson street will have their gardens badly cut up. There are already two tracks in that vicinity now, and this one will cap the climax and greatly injure the properties.

Curling.

Six rinks of the Granite Curling Club of Toronto arrived on the C. P. R. 11.31 train, this morning. The visitors were entertained at luncheon by the local men at the rink. The skips are as follows:—

AN OYSTER SUPPER.

The County Council Entertained by the Law Association.

The members of the County Council were entertained on Thursday evening at an oyster supper by the Peterborough Law Association. The supper was held in the law library, in the Court House, and was an acknowledgement of the courtesy of the Council in fitting up the library. Mr. D. W. Dumble occupied the chair and Mr. W. H Moore the vice-chair. After the sumptuous spread, furnished by Mr. E. Welsh, had been partaken of, the toast list was taken up.

The toast of "the Queen" was duly honored. "The County Council" was the next toast, and it was responded to by Mr. John Walsh, the Warden, and Messrs. A. R. Kidd and John Moloney, ex-Wardens.

"The Agricultural Interests" was proposed by the chairman, who, in a concise speech, reviewed the position of the agriculturist and touched on trade questions. Messrs James Hicks, Reeve of Harvey, A. R. Kidd, Reeve of Dummer, John Moloney, Reeve of Douro, James Moore, Deputy-Reeve of Asphodel, and E. B. Edwards, County Solicitor, responded.

Mr. Kidd proposed "the Legal Profession," and it was responded to by Messrs. W. H. Moore, R. E. Wood, County Attorney, and John O'Meara.

"The Manufacturing Interests" was proposed by the chairman, and replied to by Mr. John Finlay, Reeve of Norwood.

The proceedings were concluded by the company singing the National Anthem.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

Satisfactory Reports Presented at the Annual Congregational Meeting.

The annual congregational meeting of St. Andrew's Church took place on Thursday evening. There was a fair attendance and the different reports presented were of a satisfactory character, showing that during the past year the church has held its own, financially and as regards membership.

An excellent tea was provided by the ladies, and after devotional exercises, Mr. A. W. Brodie, Chairman of the Board of Managers, took charge of the proceedings.

The financial statement showed the receipts to have been $2,461.09 and the expenditure $254.84 more. The annual subscriptions amounted to $1,615.58, and up to date $11,615.70, of the amount promised, has been paid in towards the building fund. The amount collected for missionary purposes was $160.35, and the special subscriptions to the organ fund reached $267.75.

Messrs. J. J. Lundy and A. McFarlane, the retiring members of the Board of Managers, were re-elected, and the Board is now composed of the following gentlemen:—Messrs. A. W. Brodie, R. W. Bell, Thos. Menzies, T. Fitzgerald, J. J. Lundy, R. H. Green and A. McFarlane, Mr. John McClelland was also re-elected representative of the church on the Board of Trustees of the Nicholls Hospital.

Dismissed.

A young man named Richard Parnell was before the Police Magistrate, charged with two offences, immoderate driving on the public streets and driving across the Otonabee bridge at a faster rate than a walk. The cases arose out of the accident on Hunter street, a few nights ago, when a Miss Hooper was injured, by being thrown from a sleigh. A witness testified to seeing the defendant driving a team of horses along Water street They were going at the rate of 15 or 20 miles an hour. He could not testify as to whether the horses were beyond the control of the driver or not, but his opinion was that they were not. One horse was trotting and the other galloping. He saw several young men and women jump out of the sleigh. The man who attended to the horses at a livery stable, said he had never known the horses to run away. They are so quiet that a child can drive them. He did not hitch them up too short and had driven them himself with the same harness and sleigh. The defendant and three other young men, who were with him, testified that the horses got beyond control when coming down the hill towards the bridge, on the Ashburnham side. The horses were frightened by striking their legs against the whiffletrees. Those in the sleigh jumped out and the horses were brought to a standstill near the Temperance House. They were turned around there and driven back to pick up those who had jumped out. They ran away a second time and were then taken back to the stable. The cases were both dismissed.

An "At Home."

An "At Home" was given on Thursday evening, by Mr. and Mrs. Wand, at their residence Lake street, Ashburnham, in aid of the funds of the Mark Street Methodist Church. The hospitality of the host and hostess is so well-known, that it is needless to say no pains were spared to make the occasion thoroughly enjoyable. After partaking of refreshments the young folks repaired to a large room, which had been given over to their special use, and enjoyed themselves in various games and amusements in which the soul of youth delights; while their elders spent the time more quietly, but no less agreeably, in social conversation interspersed with music and singing by some of the members of the choir. Notwithstanding the severe weather, a large number were present, and a nice little sum was realized for the funds of the Church.

For Ottawa.

On Monday Messrs. T. P. Attrill and T. Rutherford will skip two rinks of Peterborough curlers in the bonspeil at Ottawa, the winners in which are to represent this district in the tankard competition. We hope they will be successful in their endeavors to bring the much coveted trophy to Peterborough.

Personal.

Mr. J. R. Jaffray, of Toronto, well known here, and Mr. C. H. Edwards, an old Peterborough boy, are two of the Granite skips.

Mr. James Delaney, now connected with the C. P. R. supply agency, in British Columbia, is on his way home to visit his relatives and friends.

Blank Books.

Business men are asked to bear in mind that the Review bindery is turning out the very best description of work in all lines of account books and ledgers. All orders finished up with despatch. Customers can select their own papers from a large and well assorted stock, and have any special printing desired. d106ed

SPREADING THE GOSPEL

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE PETERBOROUGH BIBLE SOCIETY.

Only a Moderate Attendance—Satisfactory Reports from the Secretary, Treasurer and Depository—Eloquent Address by the Rev. Dr. Thomas of Toronto.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society was held at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church last night. There was only a moderate attendance, not nearly as many being present as was expected. Prof. Parker and an efficient choir were present.

Mr. James Stratton, President, occupied the chair, and Messrs. Revs. Dr. Thomas, Isaac Tovell, P. Clifton Parker and Torrance, and Mr. J. D. Collins occupied seats on the platform.

President Stratton, after devotions exercises, opened the meeting by a short address. He commented on the small attendance and said that the people of Peterborough had been called on so frequently of late to contribute towards the erection of new churches and other similar objects, that he would be satisfied if the Bible Society was holding its own, but he did not want to see it go back. He then called on the Secretary to read his report.

THE ANNUAL REPORT.

Mr. J. D. Collins, Secretary, read the following:—

Annual report of the Committee of the Peterborough Branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society for 1887:—

Your Committee beg to report that in the year just closing, the Society has been somewhat more successful in its local operations than in the previous year, although not so successful as to have much reason to boast.

Your Committee decided to request the ministers of the different churches to ask their congregations for a special collection in aid of the Society, and thus do away with employing collectors in the town. By reference to the Treasurer's statement it will be seen that the sum contributed by the churches amounts to $136.41, the sum obtained by a collector in 1886 being $109.75, which shows an increase of $16.66.

The Collector's books were sent to the Collectors in the country, but your Committee are sorry to have to report, that the amount received from the country as compared with the amount received in 1886, shows a falling off of $24 83, so that although the town has given an increased contribution this year, yet the town and country taken together are $8.16 behind their contribution for 1886.

Your Committee thought it advisable to ask the churches for a collection in aid of the Society, this year also. Envelopes for the purpose have been provided, and contributors are requested to write their names upon them before placing them upon the plate.

Your Committee regret to state that owing to special circumstances they were unable to get the list of subscribers into the report of the Upper Canada Bible Society for 1887, but an arrangement has been made by which they hope to have a full list published in the report for the current year.

The Collector's books have been sent to the country collectors with a request that they should continue to assist in the good work, and we bespeak for them a kind reception and liberal donations from those upon whom they may call.

Your Committee sincerely hope, that the visit of the Rev. Dr. Thomas to our town, and who is to address us this evening, on the work of the Bible Society throughout the world, will result in greatly increasing the interest of our Christian community in the work of the Society, and that they may be willing and liberal subscribers to assist in sending the Word of God to all mankind.

Your Committee on retiring, according to the usual custom, beg leave to recommend that the following gentlemen be the officers and committee for the current year:—

PRESIDENT—James Stratton.
VICE-PRESIDENTS—All the Ministers of the Gospel.
SECRETARY—J. D. Collins.
TREASURER—C. H. McGill.
DEPOSITARY—Peter Connal & Co.
COMMITTEE—Messrs. John Carnegie, Robt. Tully, Dr. R. W. Bell, Robt. Kingan, W. W. Johnston, Dr. Taylor, John Wright, Geo. Hilliard, Geo. Sconfield, Dr. Fife, O. C. Rowse, Wm. McFadden, R. Nell, J. Walton, S. Curtis, W. Aldridge, Wm. Wand, John Smith.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
J. D. COLLINS,
Secretary.

PETER CONNAL & CO.

Peterborough, 12th Jan., 1888.

Our motion of the Rev. Mr. Torrance, seconded by the Rev. Mr. Parker, the reports were received and adopted.

AN ELOQUENT ADDRESS.

PRESIDENT STRATTON in a few appropriate remarks introduced the Rev. Dr. Thomas, of Toronto.

DR. THOMAS expressed his pleasure at once more visiting the town of Peterborough. The subject he had chosen for his address was "The Bible." It was a grand subject, but eulogy was altogether out of place. One might as well seek to paint the rose or add lustre to the morning sunlight. There was no meagreness about it, it was large, manifold and suggestive. It was the duty of every Christian to send the blessed word of God to every benighted soul in the world. The literary excellence of the Bible is pre-eminent, as the sun among the stars. It is the king of books as Christ is the King of men. Men of all creeds and men of no creed at all all agreed on the supremacy of this book. The world cannot estimate the value it has been to humanity and Queen Victoria never uttered truer words than when she referred to the Bible as "the secret of England's greatness." It took 1,500 years to produce it as we have it to-day. It is a wonderful book. It sweeps the whole realm of subjects and many cycles of history and all blend into one harmony of sweet sound. He could only account for the power the Bible has by the fact that it was inspired from Heaven. It is a grand temple of eternal truth. It is the Book of God and bears the Divine seal of authority. It is the foundation stone of the mighty citadel of Christianity. It is in advance of all the sciences. Its enemies are powerful, but all their efforts are baulked. No matter how it is investigated its Divinity is shown clearer. It is incomparable, authentative, Divine. He did not believe in the excisions of modern times. He did not believe in any book of selections. He believed in it from Genesis to Revelations and he wanted the whole Bible, as he believed that if part of it was inspired, the whole of it was inspired. The Bible should be tested just as any other book. It is a living, throbbing, glowing thing of life. It talks to us. It comes to man clothed with light and armed with power. The people who have it are better than those without it, homes are better where it is and it is used and believed in in all prosperous countries. It has subdued and refined heathen countries and made savages law abiding and industrious, all within 50 years. During the last 150 years it has wrought wonderful changes in England and America and made them the foremost countries on the globe. Its value and works cannot be overestimated as all its precepts and promises came from Christ. All should take it to their hearts, see that their neighbor has it and that every benighted soul on earth has it. The world requires it to cure its diseases, social and political, and to settle its differences. He closed by an appeal to all to assist the work of the society.

Miss Cox sang a solo during the collection and after votes of thanks to the Rev. Dr. Thomas, Prof. Parker and the choir, the meeting closed with a hymn and the benediction.

Brevities.

—People who have not paid their taxes should do so and save costs.

—The thermometer at the Rev. Mr. Clementi's registered 12 below zero last night.

—The Fenelon Falls races took place yesterday and to-day. "Gladstone" was billed to trot to-day.

—At 10.30 o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 7 degrees below zero. At 9 o'clock it was 10 degrees below.

—Owing to the extremely cold weather the Canton street parade will not take place to-night.

—No Peterborough horses took part in the Trenton races. The track was heavy and a snowstorm prevailed during the day.

—The trains to-day were all fairly on schedule time. The backbone of the blockade appears to be broken.

—"It is not the weather. It is the wind that is cold," remarked a citizen to-day. We are inclined to think that both were a little cool.

—The two corporation snow ploughs travelled more than ten miles of sidewalks yesterday and to-day and still complaints are heard.

—Bishop Dowling will deliver a lecture in Port Hope on February 8th, on "The Confessional as Understood in the Catholic Church."

—Telegraphic enquiries are already being made regarding our coming races. Outsiders are always sure of a square deal here and they know it.

—Belleville will represent its district in the contest for the curling Tankard, Cobourg and Port Hope each having fallen before the prowess of the Bay City players.

—We observe that in many other places the different athletic clubs hold frequent meetings to keep themselves in good condition. Are our sports doing anything?

—The Road and Bridge Committee of the County Council was in session this forenoon. The council is hearing a deputation in regard to the Trent Valley Canal as we go to press.

—Cobourg Sentinel Star on the Findlay McGreggor concert:—"Mrs. Bowman, soprano, excelled herself in Burns' 'The Land o' the Leal.' It was undoubtedly her best effort and merited the hearty encore."

—A gentleman from Toronto was in town to-day looking for cedar, to be used for block paving. He secured quite a quantity, we understand. Surely if it will pay to ship cedar to Toronto and lay it down, it will pay to lay it down here.

—Northumberland and Durham County Councillors evidently take things easier than those of this County. The Port Hope Times says:—"The members of the Counties Council at Cobourg are tasting of the sweets of their legislative capacity just now. They meet for an hour a day, and then sit around the hotel parlors with their feet on the grates or stoves devising how they can spend their daily indemnity."

SIR.—Generosity and benevolence are sadly abused terms, their application often being mistaken for the very refinement of selfishness and the quintessence of meanness. Not very long ago, a rich old gentleman of London became so possessed with a desire to act the benefactor to somebody before dying that he impatiently advertised in a journal for some indigent and worthy family to apply to him for help. That sounded like the heroic of generosity, the perfection of benevolence. But mark the sequel. The advertisement was answered, an interview was appointed; and, at that interview, the generous and benevolent old gentleman found the accepted applicant to be his own aged sister, whom, with her family, he had permitted to lack the necessaries of life for several years!

Run no risks, but begin immediately to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Several years ago, James Birchard, of Darien, Conn., was severely ill. The doctors said he was in Consumption, and that they could do nothing for him, but advised him, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine, two or three months, he was pronounced a well man. His health remains good to the present day.

J. S. Bradley, Malden, Mass., writes: "Three winters ago I took a severe cold, which rapidly developed into Bronchitis and Consumption. I was so weak that I could not sit up, was much emaciated, and coughed incessantly. I consulted several doctors, but they were powerless, and all agreed that I was in Consumption. At last, a friend brought me a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. From the first dose, I found relief. Two bottles cured me, and my health has since been perfect."

THE HALDIMAND TRIAL.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS IN THE CASE AT CAYUGA.

The Charges of Corrupt Practices by Dr. Montague and His Agents Abandoned—Alleged Irregularities by Returning Officers Under Consideration.

CAYUGA, Jan. 26.—The Haldimand election trial was advanced another stage this afternoon. After some four charges had been gone into and dismissed, Mr. Aylesworth stated they would give no further evidence regarding the charges of corrupt practices by Dr. Montague or his agents. There only remained the charges of irregularities on the part of the returning officers and the scrutiny to be proceeded with, and after a lively discussion it was decided to investigate all of the charges as to irregularities before entering upon the scrutiny.

Judgment will be reserved as to the charges of irregularities until the evidence in all the cases has been recorded.

The first alleged irregularity gone into was a case where one N. P. Finch presented himself for the purpose of voting, but was refused a ballot paper by the deputy-returning officer on the ground that he was personating his uncle, a man of the same name. The young man expressed his willingness to swear he was the man whose name appeared upon the list.

The returning-officer contradicted him, alleging that he was present at the revision and knew that it was the uncle's name that was intended.

John Finch alleged that he presented himself to cast his vote but was refused a ballot paper because he declined to be sworn. He turned to go away, when one of the scrutineers called him back and told him he had the option of affirming if he had conscientious scruples against swearing. He expressed a willingness to affirm, but was told by the deputy returning officer that he had refused to take the oath, and it was then too late. He left without voting.

Another charge of irregularity was gone into, wherein a scrutineer alleges that Deputy Returning Officer Young was requested to take the oath before casting his vote; that he pretended not to hear until he had his ballot, and that then he had refused to be sworn, claiming that the objection was taken too late.

Further evidence as to the charge will be given in the morning.

One important feature of to-day's proceedings is an expression of opinion by Mr. Justice Street, after hearing an able argument by Mr. Aylesworth and the authorities cited by him, that he doubts the correctness of an opinion expressed yesterday that a voter is at liberty to select for himself the form of oath to which he will swear. He inclines to the view that the voter must take the form of oath corresponding with his qualification, as set out upon the revised voters' list.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"I dare say," says Mr. Rodney, with rising ire.

"Jack Foster and Terry O'Brien write to me very often," goes on Mona, unconsciously. "And indeed they all do occasionally, at Christmas, you know, and Easter, and Mid-summer, just to ask me how I am, and to tell me how they have got through their exams. But it is Jack and Terry, for the most part, who send me the music."

"It is very kind of them, I'm sure," says Rodney, unreasonably jealous, as, could he have seen the said Terry's shock head of red hair, his fears of rivalry would forever have been laid at rest. "But they are favored friends.—You can take presents from them, and yet the other day when I asked you if you would like a little gold chain to hang to your mother's watch, you answered me 'that you did not require it' in such a tone as actually froze me and made me feel I had said something unpardonably impertinent."

"Oh, no," says Mona, shocked at this interpretation of her manner. "I did not mean all that; only I really did not require it; at least"—truthfully—"not much. And, besides, a song is not like a gold chain; and you are quite different from them; and besides, again,"—growing slightly confused, yet with a last remnant of courage, "there is no reason why you should give me anything. Shall I"—hurriedly—"sing something else for you?"

And then she sings again, some old-world song of love and chivalry that awakes within one a quick longing for a worthier life. Her sweet voice rings through the room, now glad with triumph, now sad with a "lovely melancholy," as the words and music sway her. Her voice is clear and pure and full of pathos. She seems to follow no rule; an "f" here or a "p" there, on the page before her, she heeds not, but sings only as her heart dictates.

When she has finished, Geoffrey says "thank you," in a low tone. He is thinking of the last time when some one else sang to him, and of how different from this the whole scene was. It was at the Towers, and the hour, with its dying daylight, rises before him. The subdued light of the summer eve, the open window, the perfume of the drowsy flowers, the girl at the piano with her small drooping head and her perfectly trained and very pretty voice, the room, the soft silence, his mother leaning back in her crimson velvet chair, beating time to the music with her long jeweled fingers—all is remembered. How pretty Mona would look in a gray and crimson room! how——

"What are you thinking of?" asks Mona, softly, breaking in upon his soliloquy.

"Of the last time I heard any one sing," returns he, slowly. "I was comparing that singer very unfavorably with you. Your voice is so unlike what one usually hears in drawing-rooms."

He means highest praise. She accepts his words as a kind rebuke.

"Is that a compliment?" wistfully. "Is it well to be unlike all the world? Yet what you say is true, no doubt. I suppose I am different from—from all the people you know."

"You are indeed," in a tone so grateful that it ought to have betrayed to her his meaning. But grief and disappointment have seized upon her.

"Yes, of course," dejectedly. A cloud seems to have fallen upon her happy hour. "When did you hear that—that last singer?" she asks, in a subdued voice.

"At home." He is gazing out of the window, with his hands clasped behind his back, and does not pay so much attention to her words as is his wont.

"Is your home very beautiful?" asks she, timidly, looking at him the more earnestly in that he seems rapt in contemplation of the valley that spreads itself before him.

"Yes, very beautiful," thinking of the stately oaks and aged elms and branching beeches that go so far to make up the glory of the ivied Towers.

"How paltry this country must appear in comparison with your own!" goes on the girl. "How glad you will be to get back to your own home!"

"Yes, very glad," returns he, hardly knowing what he says. He has gone back again to his first thoughts—his mother's boudoir, with its old china, and its choice water-colors that line the walls, and its delicate Indian statuettes. In his own home—which is situated about fourteen miles from the Towers, and which is rather out of repair through years of disuse—there are many rooms. He is busy now trying to remember them, and to decide which of them would look best decked out in crimson and gray, or blue and silver; he hardly knows which would suit her best. Perhaps, after all——

"How strange it is!" says Mona's voice, that has now a faint shade of sadness in it. "How people come and go in one's lives, like the waves of the restless sea—I mean how strangely people fall into one's lives and then out again!" She hesitates. Perhaps something in his face warns her, perhaps it is the weariness of her own voice that frightens her, but at this moment her whole expression changes and a laugh, forced but apparently full of gayety, comes from her lips. It is very well done indeed, yet to any one but a jealous lover her eyes would betray her. The usual softness is gone from them, and only a well suppressed grief and a pride that cannot be suppressed takes its place.

"Why should they fall out again?" says Rodney, a little angrily, hearing only her careless laugh, and—man-like—ignoring stupidly the pain in her lovely eyes. "Unless people choose to forget."

"One may choose to forget, but one may not be able to accomplish it. To forget or to remember is not in one's own power."

"That is what fickle people say. But what one feels one remembers."

"That is true, for a time, with some. For ever with others."

"Are you one of the others?"

She makes him no answer.

"Are you?" she says at length, after a long silence.

"I think so, Mona. There is one thing I shall never forget."

"Many things, I dare say," she says, nervously, turning from him.

"Why do you speak of people dropping out of your life?"

"Because, of course, you will, you must. Your world is not mine."

"You could make it yours."

"I do not understand," she says, very proudly, throwing up her head with a charming gesture. "And, talking of forgetfulness, do you know what hour it is?"

POKING FUN!

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprises largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8.75, this is an all wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3.75 and a pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits really nice and lot of them $1.95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

CASHIER ALLEN CROSSES THE LINE

The Developments That Another Day Brings to Light.

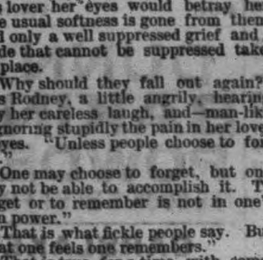
TORONTO, Jan. 27.—Yesterday Central Bank matters were again aired before the Master, and a great deal of interest was manifested in the proceedings. Among those present were many leading bankers and prominent citizens. Interest in the bank's affairs increases daily and this feeling was intensified by the statement made in court that Cashier Allen who has given evidence the preceding day, had taken a midnight train for the other side. Solicitor Roaf declined to produce certain papers bearing on Mr. Barnett's dealings with the bank claiming privilege on the ground that he had acted as the latter's solicitor. Attorney Darvell, who was in court, entered the witness box and said he would absolve Mr. Roaf from responsibility in the matter, as during Mr Barnett's absence from Toronto witness was empowered to act as his agent. Mr. Roaf still declined to produce the papers in question and this point was postponed till to-day. Mr Wm. Gooderham was examined at great length as to the basis of the charges which he and ex Mayor Howland had preferred against their co-liquidator in the winding up of the Central Bank. The chief allegations are of persistent and systematic obstruction in the unraveling of the bank's affairs, also of complicity with men who had, in the terms of the petition "sought to wreck the bank."



Mr. Bain, Q.C., who appeared for Mr Blain, denied the allegations in toto. Some lively passages took place between counsel and witness. The examination of Mr. W. H Howland in support of the petition will be taken this morning. He acted as chairman of the liquidators, entered in the official book the record of their proceedings, and has been the chief mover in this attempt to oust Mr. Campbell. The latter was in court all day, and seemed acutely to feel his position. The general opinion seems to be that he will have to resign his position as liquidator, as it will be quite impossible after this litigation, for his former colleagues to work along with him. Mr. Gooderham, it might be added, was a depositor in the bank to the amount of $40,000, and he states that if justice be not done to the creditors and shareholders he would resign his position as liquidator. On the whole there is very poor outlook for both shareholders and depositors many of whom are of the humbler rank in life and to whom the loss of their hard-earned savings will be a serious matter. Further revelations, which may result in criminal proceedings, are expected.

THE NANAIMO DISASTER.

GOVERNNENT WILL NOT GRANT RELIEF TO THE SUFFERERS.

Railway Committee of the Privy Council to Meet Tuesday—Presentation to be Made to a Brave Mariner—Election Cases in the Supreme Court.

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—The next meeting of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council will be on Jan. 31, not Feb. 2, as previously stated.

There is no truth in the rumor that the Government intends granting financial relief to the sufferers by the colliery disaster at Nanaimo, B.C. When spoken to on the subject Sir John said that there was no appropriation for any such purposes and if any relief was to be given the money would first have to be voted by Parliament. In very exceptional cases, such as the great fire at St. John, the Government might ask for the warrant of the Governor-General and trust to Parliament afterwards voting the money, but the circumstances would have to be very exceptional.

The Government have decided to present Captain Simpson of the American yacht Mohican with a binocular glass for the gallantry he displayed in rescuing the crew of the ship Lilian at St. John, N.B., on Aug. 27 last. The glass will be forwarded to the British Minister at Washington to be handed to the United States Government for presentation.

Jan. 13 has been fixed as the last day for filing cases for the Supreme Court. Factums must be deposited by Feb. 4 and inscription must be made by Feb. 6. Although it has been stated that a number of election cases would be appealed to the Supreme Court only four notices have so far been received, all from the Province of Quebec, namely, L'Islet, Rimouski, Montmagny, and Quebec West.

Trains in all directions have been greatly delayed to-day on account of the storm, and the train which left Toronto this morning had not arrived up to a late hour to-night.

NOTICES FROM THE GAZETTE.

Inland Revenue Statement—Consolidation of the H. & N.W.R., the N.R. and the G.T.R.

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—To-morrow's Canada Gazette will contain the following appointments.

F. E. Kilvert, Collector of Customs at Hamilton from Feb. 1 last; N. Shakespeare, Postmaster of Victoria, B.C.; Dr. Murray McLaren, Medical Examiner for St. John, N.B., under the Civil Service Act.

A proclamation will appear fixing March 1 for voting on the repeal of the Canada Temperance Act in Halton, and appointing Mr. Solomon Harmant of Milton returning officer.

The statement of Postoffice saving bank business for December shows: Deposits $700,839, withdrawals $644,006, balance $19,904,807, an increase of $1,879,602 over last year.

The unrevised statement of Inland Revenue for December is:

| | |
|---|---|
| Spirits | $401,654 |
| Malt and malt liquors | 45,861 |
| Tobacco | 128,764 |
| Cigars | 42,212 |
| Other excise | 8,512 |
| Total excise | $627,003 |
| Culling timber | 1,029 |
| Inspection weights and measures | 2,131 |
| Other receipts | 1,985 |
| Total Inland Revenue | $632,148 |

Compared with the same month last year this shows an increase of $53,722 in spirits and a decrease of $1213 in malt, $7484 in tobacco, $1547 in cigars and $75,791 in Inland Revenue not excise.

Notices are given of special general meetings of the Hamilton and Northwestern Railway Company in Hamilton on Feb. 16, and of the Grand Trunk Railway Company and the Northern Railway Company in London, Eng., on Feb. 23, for the purpose of considering an agreement signed Jan. 24 for uniting the three companies or of uniting the Grand Trunk with either of the other companies.

Notice is given of application for letters patent incorporating the Capital Gas Company with a capital of $100,000, headquarters Ottawa, for the purpose of acquiring by lease or otherwise lands supposed to contain natural gas or oil, the acquisition of patents or other rights for the manufacture or production of any artificial light, the dealing in all fittings, machines and apparatus required for the use of the company in generating, producing, utilizing and supplying natural and other gases and oils for the purpose of furnishing heat, light and power.

The Collector of Inland Revenue at St. Catharines gives notice that the license of C. Beckman, cigar manufacturer, has been forfeited on account of his failure to make returns under the Inland Revenue Act.

Notice is given that Mr. George Martin, at the next session of the Parliament of Canada will present a bill for his naturalization and that of his children as British subjects.

The following notices of application to Parliament for act of incorporation are given: By the Wellington and Owen Sound Railway Company, to construct a railway from the town of Durham to the town of Owen Sound, with power to accept bonuses and aids from any corporation or government; Emerson and Northwestern Railway Company, to construct a railway from West Lynne, Man., to Portage La Prairie and also a branch from some point on the main line in a westerly or northwesterly or southwesterly direction to a point on the western boundary of Manitoba; for a company to construct a railway from a point on the Canadian Pacific Railway at, or near Renfrew, to Parry Sound by way of Eganville.

An order of the Superior Court of the Province of Quebec requires the creditors, shareholders and contributories of the Dominion Cattle Company to meet at Sherbrooke, P.O., on Feb. 10, to appoint a liquidator.

The following notices of annual meetings are given: Great Eastern Railway Company at Montreal on Feb. 7; London Life Insurance Company at London on Feb. 9; Red River and Assiniboine Bridge Company at Winnipeg on Feb. 10.

The Union Bank of Halifax gives notice of a half-yearly dividend of 2½ per cent.

HEALTH MATTERS OF THE PROVINCE.

Reports of Committees that Were Presented at Yesterday's Board Meeting.

TORONTO, Jan. 28.

The Provincial Board of Health had an all-day sitting yesterday. Dr. Ray of Oshawa presided and there were also present Dr. Cassidy of Toronto, Dr. Yeoman of Mount Forest, Dr. Macdonald of Hamilton and Secretary Bryce. The secretary presented several communications on diphtheria. This resolution was adopted: "That the Publication Committee take into consideration the best means of publishing and disseminating sanitary information and discuss whether any better system can be devised than the present Health Bulletin."

The report of the Committee on Ventilation was presented by Dr. Cassidy in an interesting paper, giving a resume of experiments carried on by Mr. C. K. Bouchard before the Association of Science at Paris, in which by numerous experiments it was shown that, however impure inspired air may be as regards the presence in it of microbes, that expired air is practically free from it. This in a large measure disposes of a common popular idea of infection by direct breath. It was, however, made evident that inasmuch as the contaminated air of rooms, where infectious disease is, is dangerous, the danger must be in dried particles from sputa, rising from the floor, bed clothing, etc., and from the garments of nurses. The conclusions of the report pointed to the facts as being the strongest arguments for absolute cleanliness in and about the room, and for the necessity of physicians and others removing the clothes there worn before going among the public.

The report of the Committee on Sewage and Water Supply re epidemic of fever at Ottawa, was submitted. The report, after remarking upon the suddenness and widespread character of the outbreak, showed that its incidence was equal in all parts of the city supplied with Ottawa River water. After discussing the systems of drainage, the superficial garbage deposits, etc., the report dwelt chiefly with analyses of the river water. These in brief showed that the water since 1881 has constantly become worse in character and that according to the analysis made in December last contains such an amount of albuminoid matter as to characterize it as being unfit for drinking purposes. The report recommended the boiling of the water in the meantime, and the obtaining of the public water supply from a source less liable to the contamination and fluctuation of the present supply. Inspection of sewers, house drains and notification of infectious diseases was strongly recommended.

The Committee on Epidemics reported further regarding the prosecution of investigations respecting inventative protection of animals against anthrax and the carrying on of experimental work in other departments of the work. The committee stated that at present no facilities existed for doing such work by the board and introduced a memorial on the subject which pointed out the duties which by the act are laid upon the board to carry out such investigations, and by a series of facts regarding the past imperfect work of the board in this respect showed the utter necessity of the board being placed in a position as regards laboratory work, and recommend a grant for carrying on such work in the interest of the municipalities of the province. The report was adopted, and estimates to be submitted, amounting to $3000 additional to the past year's estimates, were recommended.

Dr. Oldright, the delegate appointed to the Memphis, Tenn., meeting of the American Public Health Association, presented a full report on the work done at that gathering.

The board will conclude its labors this morning.

NOTES FROM TORONTO.

Ex-Judge Joseph Neilson, the presiding judge in the Beecher-Tilton trial, died at New York yesterday.

While a gang of workmen were digging out a stalled train on the Connecticut Valley road near Holyoke, Mass., yesterday, the Greenfield passenger dashed into them, killing three men and injuring another fatally.

The employes of the Utica Globe Woolen Mills and Empire Woolen Mills have petitioned Congress for the admission of worsted cloths at the same rate of duty as woolen cloths.

Counsel for Mr. Purcell, ex-M.P., Glengarry, will make a motion at Osgoode Hall to-day to have a date for his trial on a charge of corrupt practices, now set down for Feb. 4, postponed until some period after the next session of Supreme Court, when the six months' limit will be decided.

Mr. Meredith has received a telegram from the physician of Major Baker, M.P.P., North Bruce, stating that his patient was improving, and he would probably take his seat in the House next week.

M. S. Gray, Police Magistrate of Dufferin, has been appointed by the Ontario Government to a similar position, pro tem, for the County of Simcoe in place of John D. Partridge, removed for maladministration of office.

Jacob B. Heber, the Lancaster, Pa., forger, was further remanded yesterday by Judge McDougall for a week.

The Crushed Worm Will Turn.

MILTON, Jan. 27.—Constable Brothers went to Georgetown yesterday to serve Scott Act summonses on several hotel men. A mob, under the leadership of Hotelkeeper Bennett of Georgetown, chased Brothers through the town pelting him with rotten eggs. The constable at last turned upon his pursuers and fired two shots into the crowd, one of which passed within an inch of Bennett's head and lodged in a club he carried on his shoulder. The local authorities then arrested Brothers, Bennett and another hotelkeeper. Brothers was released this morning.

MR. McSHANE'S CASE.

A Settlement Rumored—Laflamme v. The Mail—Another Newspaper Libel Suit.

MONTREAL, Jan. 27.—The Court of Appeal, which was to give its decision in Laflamme v. The Mail newspaper to-day, failed to agree in its judgment and the case will be reargued next March.

The Star to-night says: "Pourparlers for a settlement in the case of Hon. Mr. McShane have been renewed. It is understood that Mr. Leblanc, member for Laval, will consent to pair off his contestation with the charges of corruption against the Minister of Public Works, and that a settlement of some kind will be arrived at before Monday morning.

In granting defendants leave to appeal in the case of Donald Downie, advocate, against The Post newspaper to-day, the Court of Appeal held that, provided a report was true and impartial, a newspaper had a right to make known to the public the proceedings of a court, always upon the condition that there was neither exaggeration nor other indication of malice.

SHORT DAY IN THE HOUSE.

THREE GOVERNMENT MEASURES GET A FIRST READING.

The Commissioner of Public Works Introduces His Local Option Labor Bill—The Attorney-General Presents Two Bills—Auxiliary Probates in Ontario.

TORONTO, Jan. 27.

The Legislature sat for only half an hour yesterday. Three Government bills were introduced and read a first time. Mr. Fraser submitted to the House a draft of his bill respecting the hours of employment of persons working in shops and stores. The bill is supplemental to the Factory Act, under which girls under the age of 14 and boys under the age of 12 are prohibited from working in factories. The latter act also limits the hours of labor to sixty per week. Mr. Fraser's new bill is a local option measure permitting the corporations of cities, towns and villages to adopt it whenever they desire. The principal provision of the bill is found in a clause limiting the hours of employment in shops and stores to seventy-four per week. No limit is set to the number of hours per day, but the total number of hours per week must not aggregate more than the above number. Mr. Fraser did not go into any elaborate explanation of the bill, but promised to have it printed immediately and placed in the hands of members.

Mr. Meredith—Have you any precedent from any of the States of the American Republic for the passage of such a measure?

Mr. Fraser—We don't wait to hear from our neighbors in framing our laws. We propose to introduce such legislation in this House as we think is best suited to the province.

The Attorney-General introduced a bill respecting auxiliary probates and letters of administration. This act provides that probates granted in all the provinces of the Dominion shall be recognized in the courts of Ontario. He also stated that in time probates granted in the other colonies and in the British Empire itself would probably be also valid in Canada. Read a first time.

The Attorney-General introd duceanother bill respecting the law of alimony. The bill provides for a simpler and cheaper process of injured wives recovering alimony from their husbands. The act is framed from an English statute, introduced a couple of years ago and found to work very satisfactorily. Bill read a first time.

The House went into committee of supply and passed the usual interim appropriation for the carrying on of the civil government.

CASHIER O'BRIEN OF AUBURN.

A City Merchant Receives a Letter Intended for a Defaulting Bank Official.

TORONTO, Jan. 28.

AUBURN, N.Y., Jan. 28.—It seems that Cashier O'Brien, of the First National Bank of Auburn, who is now missing, is a defaulter to the extent of $200,000. The examination of the books is now in progress, and during its continuance, at least, the bank will be closed. The cashier is supposed to have gone west.

The above despatch was printed in the city papers yesterday as an Associated Press despatch. Yesterday afternoon Charles O'Brien, who keeps a dry goods store at Yonge and Alice streets, got a letter at the city postoffice simply addressed: "Charles O'Brien, Toronto, Can.," bearing the postmark of "Auburn, N.Y." It was written by a person signing himself "C. A. Nichol, your sincere friend," stating that a "fund of $10,000 had been raised for your defence and that there was every reason to believe that you will come out all right."

The letter was evidently intended for Cashier O'Brien, mentioned in the above despatch, who evidently is in the city or informed his friends that he was coming here. Mr. O'Brien simply sealed the letter up and returned it to the postoffice.

THE HALDIMAND SCRUTINY.

Dr. Montague's Majority Ten—Decision Reserved as to Two Ballots.

CAYUGA, Jan. 27.—The Haldimand election trial has occupied another day, and the result has been very satisfactory to Dr. Montague.

A number of charges of irregularities were gone into, for the most part consisting of instances where deputy returning officers refused to be sworn. Judgment has been reserved on some parts of the charges.

The scrutiny was then proceeded with, and resulted in two votes being added for Mr. Colter. Decision has been reserved as to two ballots. One is claimed by Dr. Montague and the other by Mr. Colter.

This leaves Dr. Montague, as it stands now, a majority of ten. The petitioner, therefore, abandons all hope of securing the seat for Mr. Colter, but it is intended to proceed with the charges of irregularities in reference to the voting of persons as farmers' sons who did not possess the requisite qualification, in the hope of showing a sufficient number to have affected the result and claiming a new election.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported to Dun, Wiman & Co., number for the United States 208 and for Canada 69, or a total of 277, as compared with a total of 314 last week and 288 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 271, being 236 in the United States and 35 in Canada.

Big Sale of Steel Rails.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The Lackawana Iron and Coal Company has contracted for the sale of 30,000 tons of steel rails at $31.50 per ton, in addition to 55,000 tons contracted for yesterday.

MR. NORQUAY RENOUNCED.

By Brandon Conservatives—Rumored Offer of Compromise By Sir John.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 27.—It is stated that Provincial Treasurer Jones will not seek election until after dissolution, some months hence.

At a mass meeting of the Conservatives of Bandon to-day it was decided, in view of early dissolution, not to oppose Smart, but his platform was repudiated and Greenway denounced. Norquay was renounced as leader of the Conservatives.

It is rumored that a compromise has been offered the province by Sir John for the abandonment of the Red River Valley Railway. The exact terms are not stated, but it is understood they include improvement of rivers and extension of branch lines, the monopoly to be retained till 1891. Opinion as to its acceptance are very diverse.

Fatal Cable Car Runaway in St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 27.—A cable car got away from the grip man on Selby-avenue this afternoon, ran off the track and was smashed to pieces. Two or three persons were fatally injured and fourteen were badly hurt.

THE DREAD MESSENGER.

Death at London of Mr. Russell Hardy—His Life and Character.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Mr. Russell Hardy, father of Hon. A. S. Hardy, died last night at his residence in this city, having been ill for about a week.

[Russell Hardy was born in Ancaster, Brant County, in 1812, where his parents had settled after leaving the Niagara District in 1776. He was for many years a merchant in Brantford, where, in 1833, he was married, Mrs. Hardy still surviving. Deceased leaves four sons and six daughters, the latter with one exception being married. The sons are Eugene B. and Edgar R. Hardy, who reside in Southern Illinois, Hon. A. S. Hardy, and A. D. Hardy, barrister of this city. Mr. Hardy was of a quiet, retiring disposition, a pronounced Liberal and a firm adherent of the Christian faith. The funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon.]

Hamilton Pumping Engine Test.

HAMILTON, Jan. 27.—The new pump at the Beach is working splendidly so far. It is sending more water to the reservoir than the two old pumps, working together, can lift, and only about one-half the amount of fuel is used. The prescribed duty of 100,000,000 foot pounds is largely exceeded.

Mr. W. M. Calder of Glanford, and Mr. W. O. Sealey of Waterdown, were elected County Auditors yesterday.

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Postmaster-General Raikes Says the Government Should Crush It.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Postmaster-General Raikes in a speech at Bridgenorth this evening said he was of the opinion that the Government should crown its campaign in Ireland with a final blow at the National League.

Another Irish M.P. Goes to Prison.

DUBLIN, Jan. 27.—The trial of Patrick O'Brien, M.P., Thos. Byrne and John Hayden for offences under the Crimes Act was held at Cooldey, County Monaghan, to-day. Messrs. O'Brien and Byrne were each sentenced to four months' imprisonment and Mr. Hayden to three months'. A notice of appeal was given in each case.

The Mayor of Cork Summoned.

CORK, Jan. 27.—The Mayor of this city has been summoned under the Crimes Act for assaulting Policeman Cox.

The Pope to The Czar.

ROME, Jan. 27.—The Pope has written an autograph letter to the Czar, thanking him for the expression of good will contained in the address the Czar sent him on the occasion of his jubilee. In his congratulatory telegram the Czar said that he desired to assure the interests of his Catholic subjects, and hoped that His Holiness would aid him in harmonizing the needs of the Roman Church in Russia with the fundamental principles of his empire. To this the Pope replies that the Holy See is prepared to do everything in its power to meet the desires of the Russian Government.

Proposed Russian Commission.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 27.—The Invalide Russe, the War Office organ, says the Government will take advantage of the annual conference of the Governor-General and Commander at St. Petersburg to propose the formation of a special commission, with the elder Grand Duke Nicholas as President, to examine into the military commission and disciplinary systems.

The Antipodean Centenary.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Jan. 27.—A state banquet was given in this city last night in commemoration of the founding of the colony 100 years ago. Earl Carnarvon presided and the governors and prime ministers of all the Australian colonies were present.

The French to Evacuate the New Hebrides.

PARIS, Jan. 27.—La France says that England and France have signed rules for the guidance of a mixed naval commission which is to be appointed by the two Governments to settle the New Hebrides question, and that consequently the French troops in the New Hebrides will shortly be withdrawn.

Never stand still in cold weather, especially after having taken a slight degree of exercise, and always avoid standing on ice or snow, where the person is exposed to the cold wind.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

WAITED ON BY A DEPUTATION REGARDING THE TRENT CANAL.

Addressed by Messrs. Jas. Stevenson, D. W. Dumble and J Carnegie—Referred to the Finance Committee.

FRIDAY.

Having spent the greater part of the day in committee work, the Councillers filed into the chamber at 3.35 o'clock in the afternoon.

Messrs. James Stevenson, M.P., John Carnegie and D. W. Dumble appeared before the Council in reference to the Trent Valley Canal.

Mr. STEVENSON said that the Government was pledged to undertake the completion of the canal. He believed they intended to do so, not only in their interest, but also because it would sooner or later become a necessity for Northwest trade. They had, however, counter interests opposed to them. He did not believe that the Chief Engineer at Ottawa, whose hobby had been the Welland Canal, was favorably disposed towards the early completion of this work but favoured the enlargement of the Welland. The Government had appointed a Commission, and when it reported the Government would announce the action it would take. The Government had had a variety of reports. One objection was that there would not be water. They wished to place before the Commission evidence showing the feasibility and advantages of the canal and of the sufficiency of the water. To do this one or two competent engineers would be required to be retained. He need not go into details in addressing them. He commended the appointment of Judge Weller and the Secretary of the Commission. The matter had reached a point when it was now or never with them. They were making an effort to raise the funds necessary to procure the evidence. The great traffic from the west to the seaboard required means of transportation. The railways may provide means, but they cannot compete as regards cheapness. If railway companies handle the matter they can combine, but when the waterway is under control of the government, a combine is impossible. He regarded Peterborough town and county, as the places that would be most benefited by the canal, and as Barrie and Lindsay had already voted liberal grants he thought this council should do likewise. The money will be well expended and the best evidence procurable will be placed before the Commissioners. With the canal in operation, immense benefits would accrue to this Town and County and he asked for a liberal grant.

Mr. D. W. DUMBLE said the scheme was one of great importance, although it was not by any means a new one. Canals are more used now in America than ever before and in Europe vast sums are spent yearly on canals. Heavy freight can be carried more cheaply by them than by the railways. Last year the tonnage through the Sault Ste. Marie canal was greater than through the great Suez canal. The traffic from the Northwest is increasing prodigiously year by year and the railway companies are obliged to double their tracks. As steam can be used on all parts of this canal an enormous amount of produce can be moved easily and cheaply. This canal does not depend on local traffic and $8 500,000 is a mere bagatelle to secure 187 miles of canal. Toronto is not anxious for the T.V.C. as a great stream of traffic will pass by their doors and in all probability the brokers, etc., of that city, with some of the western roads, will probably oppose this scheme. We must show that the expenditure of the money will benefit the country, and a mass of facts and figures must be placed before the government to show them that they are justified in making the expenditure. To obtain the necessary mass of statistics, money will be required and he thought that the council would be justified in voting a liberal sum.

Mr. JOHN CARNEGIE said it was with diffidence that he addressed a council in Peterborough on this subject, as he felt that all were convinced of the great necessity for and practicability of the canal. The commission has now been appointed and unless we now convince the Government that our views are right, we can say good-bye to the canal. He regarded it in the light, that if the Trent Valley Canal was to be such a great benefit, the Government should construct it, even if it cost $10,000,000. This section has contributed large amounts of money to construct railways and other public works, in different parts of the Dominion, and now he thought we were entitled to have some public money expended here. He pointed out the great benefits that our town and county would derive. From Peterborough to Lakefield, a distance of nine miles, we would have a fall of 140 feet, furnishing the finest water power on the continent for manufacturing purposes, with a canal and a railway alongside the whole distance for shipping purposes. Simcoe and Victoria have voted $500 and $1,000 respectively and he thought that Peterborough county should vote at least $500, with a reserve of $500.

Mr. KIDD wanted to know if the Government would proceed with the work, if the money was expended.

Mr. CARNEGIE said we had no direct assurance, but if the proper evidence was forthcoming, the Government would probably see the great necessity and advantage of the scheme. At any rate the evidence which would be collected would be scattered broadcast over the world and would be worth thousands of dollars to this section in pointing out the vastness of our water power.

Mr. STEVENSON thought the Government, from the statements of the Ministers, were bound to go ahead if the report of the Commissioners was satisfactory.

Mr. DUMBLE thought that unless we can show that the work can be done and should be done, we are not entitled to it.

Mr. KIDD thought that all the necessary information had been already secured, and unless he felt satisfied that the Government is in earnest, he would not favor the grant.

Mr. DUMBLE said the Government had been misled by low estimates, and he did not think that Sir John A. Macdonald was justified in going ahead until proper figures were placed before him.

Mr. CARNEGIE said the country had already benefitted to a large extent by the expenditure on this canal.

Mr. MOLONEY moved, seconded by Mr. BROWN,—That the application of the Trent Valley Canal Committee for a grant of money be referred to the Finance Committee.—Carried.

The Council then adjourned until 1 o'clock, on Saturday.

PETERBOROUGH WINS.

Our Curlers Defeat the Granites of Toronto by 30 Shots.

Yesterday afternoon the Granites, of Toronto, and the Peterborough curlers, played their return match on the Charlotte street rink. The result was a victory for the home men, by 30 points, the total scores on the six rinks standing, Peterborough 136, Granites 106.

The ice was in splendid condition and the playing all around was very good. The visitors were hospitably entertained and expressed themselves as delighted with their treatment, but naturally they were disappointed with the result of the game.

ACCIDENT.—On Saturday, Jan. 14th, while Joseph Robinson, a boy of about 12 years old, and son of J. T. Robinson of this place, was driving home some ice from the lake, he slipped and the sleigh passed over one of his legs, inflicting an ugly wound in the fleshy part below the knee. We are pleased to be able to state that he is doing nicely and will soon be at his regular work again.

VILLAGE BELL.—A new bell is being put up here, which is to be rung at regular intervals for the benefit of the corporation.

CARNIVAL.—Those who are connected with the rink here are making great preparations for a carnival which is to be held on Jan. 31st. A grand time is anticipated.

BOUND FOR THE SHANTIES.—Ever since the sleighing has become good a number of teams may daily be seen making their way to the shanties.

SCHOOLS.—The schools opened here on Jan. 9th, with Mr. W. Hickson as Head Master Miss Kennedy in Rokeby, and Miss Moore in the junior division in Bobcaygeon. The attendance is very large in all the rooms.

THE BAND.—There has been some talk of re-organizing the brass band here. It is to be hoped that the good intentions will be carried out, and that ere long we will have a good band here.

THE VILLAGE COUNCIL.—The Council have decided to erect a fire bell, near the hall. The bell will be erected 20 feet high. $40 is to be spent on this necessary equipment....Reeve Read, the Clerk and Messrs. Hayes, Bottom and Gordon were appointed a Board of Health. Mr. I. Staples was appointed Sanitary Inspector and Dr. Bonnell, Medical Health Officer.... The following are the standing committees for the year, Finance Committee, W. Davey, J. L. Lancaster and Alex. Trotter, Charity Committee, W. Davey and John Kerr, Streets and Bridges, the whole Council.—Carried.

CURLING.—The seasons local match was played on Friday night, last week, the President, Mr. W. Boyd, against the Vice-President, Mr. Bottum. The Vice-President's rinks scooped the other fellows by a score of 40 to 29 shots.

MINDEN.

FELL THROUGH.—A man named Deyman, who has been blacksmithing in Mr. T. Oak's shanty, north of here, met with an accident that may yet prove fatal, by falling through a hay-mow, on Monday last, falling headfirst, he struck his head with full force on the floor below. The unfortunate man is in a critical condition. He was brought from the shanty on Tuesday and started for his home on Wednesday.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. John M. Robinson, of the Robinson settlement, Minden township, met with a severe accident on Saturday last. It appears he was engaged hewing ties in the woods with his son, they were both working on the one stick, when Mr. Robinson lost his footing and to save himself from falling, he threw out one of his feet, which, unfortunately, was in the wrong direction as his son was just giving a blow with the axe which caught the father's foot, cutting a deep gash near the heel. This will necessitate quietness on Mr. Robinson's part for some time, although we hope he will soon be able to take hold of the axe again.—Echo.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The council elect for 1888 met in the Town and Agricultural Hall, Warsaw, on Jan. 16, when A. R Kidd, as Reeve, Richard Crowe, as Deputy Reeve George Hicks, Thomas Webster and Henry A. Moore, as Councillors, made and subscribed the statutory declarations. The minutes of the last meeting were read and signed. The Reeve nominated Benjamin James, Jr., as auditor, and the council appointed Edward McIlvena, Sr., as associate auditor. Wm. T. Darling was appointed assessor for present year. A. R. Kidd, Wm. Darling, George Kirk, Jacob White and Arthur T. Choate were appointed a Local Board of Health for 1888. An order for $32.04 was granted to Wm John Little for provisions furnished John Elliott. A by-law to appoint Auditors, Assessor and Local Board of Health was passed. The council adjourned to the 4th of February next.

That Kid.

And now kid the boot man is going to take stock and he is going to reduce his prices like this. Ladies overshoes $1, Men's felt overshoes $1.05, Ladies felt slippers 19 cents—but he must stop quoting prices or people will suspect him of selling below cost!!

Incorrect.

We are informed that our contemporaries are premature in stating that the coach, Mr Turton, is to be engaged by our cricketers. The matter has been mooted, but the feeling among the majority of the members of the club is strongly in favor of retaining the services of Messrs. Sam and Hugh Ray, who have given every satisfaction.

—An emergency meeting of Peterborough Lodge No. 155 was held on Friday evening and was well attended. The meeting was pleasantly participated in by a number of visitors from Faithful Brethern Lodge, No. 77, of Lindsay, including W. Bros. J. D. Graham and A. Mills, and Bros. C. Begg, S. Armour and L. Aschambault. At the request of R.W. Bro. Shortly, the visitors took part in the work, and later on made a few remarks congratulating the Peterborough brethern on their fine and handsome hall and beautiful furnishings, and referring in complimentary terms to the excellent manner in which the work of the degree had been carried out by the local officers. After the Lodge closed down refreshments were served in the dining room and a pleasant time spent.

—Bro. D. Spence will—it is understood—present to the lodges of Peterborough three magnificent tracing-boards, which will form a prominent feature of the hall furnishings.

THE NEW ENCAMPMENT.

Duly Instituted on Friday by the Visiting Grand Officers.

Owing to the continued prosperity which Otonabee Lodge No. 18, I. O. O. F., has met with since its resuscitation, some five years ago, when the Lodge was started with a membership of about ten, until today when its membership numbers 126, it was thought advisable to start an encampment. With this object in view, the Lodge appointed a committee—and, as the results show, it was a very efficient one—to consider the subject and make whatever arrangements were found necessary to bring about this, what this Lodge thought was a very desirable appendage and necessary for the complete success and equipment of Otonabee Lodge.

The first step taken by this committee was to consult Mr. Geo. A. Cox with regard to hall accommodation. Mr. Cox, catching as it were the spirit prompting the members of the Lodge, at once agreed to lease for a term of years, and furnish to the satisfaction of the committee, the second and third stories of Cluxton's block. So well has Mr. Cox fulfilled his part of the undertaking, that to-day the new encampment can boast with a suite of rooms unsurpassed in the Dominion, both as regard beauty and accommodation.

This stage having been reached, the Grand Encampment at once consented to grant a charter. In the making of all these arrangements the greatest credit is due to Bros. E. E. Henderson and Dr. Bell and the lamented Bro. Robt. Rowe.

On the charter their appears, as the charter members, the following names:—Wm. Cluxton, P.C. P., Dr. R. W. Bell, P. C. P., E. E. Henderson, P. C. P., W. E. Matthews, W. J. Minore, G. J. Early, James Hendry, Wm. Troop, John Matthieson and Rufus Stevenson.

In addition to these chartered members, there is a prospective membership of above 60. The name adopted by the Encampment is Hiawatha, in keeping with Otonabee.

The Encampment was to have been organized on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, but owing to the fact that of Bro. John Sinclair, of Petrolia, the head of the order in Ontario, and Bro. Col. Dawson, of London, Grand Scribe, having missed the train at Carleton, where they had been instituting another encampment, the institution of Hiawatha Encampment did not take place until Friday afternoon, the distinguished brethren having arrived on the early morning train.

The following officers were installed, after the new Encampment had been duly instituted and named Hiawatha, No. 66:—

| | |
|---|---|
| Bro. Dr R W Bell | C P |
| " Jas Hendry | H P |
| " W E Matthews | Sen W |
| " W J Minore | Jun W |
| " G J Early | Treas |
| " E E Henderson | Scribe |

The Grand Officers were assisted by Patriarchs J. D. Tully, R. J. Lee and Frank Perry, of Mount Hebron Encampment.

The visiting Grand Officers missed their train at Smith's Falls and found it impossible to reach Peterborough any sooner than they did. They were hospitably entertained by the local Oddfellows and expressed themselves as much pleased at the reception hospitably extended to them and the great strides that Oddfellowship is making in Peterborough.

North-west Trade.

The Omemee Herald says:—"An old friend sent us the following news item:—I saw a piece in your paper how Robert Eord has prospered in Manitoba. He started for home last Friday with a car load of horses and other articles. He bought one span brown mares from Ed. Welsh, Peterborough, one span bay mares from D. Woods, 7th con. Cavan, and one black mare at Omemee. He bought from James Fowler one Maxwell mower and a sulky rake; one of Porter Bros., Peterborough, top buggies; two set single harness, on market; one bureau and a table from D. Bellegham, Peterborough; one set double harness from Shortly, Peterborough; two sets dishes from China Hall, Peterborough; some lumber, shingles and other small stuff to fill the car; one set double harness at Omemee. He owns 160 acres near Carberry; he had 5000 bushels of grain the threshing of which cost him $171; they charge 4 cents a bushel for threshing wheat and 3 cents for oats and barley, eleven men go with the machine, the party getting the threshing done has to take away the grain and straw. It took three days and a half to thresh him out." In this connection, to show how Peterborough is branching out into trade with the North-west, we may add that the REVIEW Office has received enquiries in regard to supplying a business man at Prince Albert, N. W. T., with a stock of stationery, blank books, jobbing papers, etc.

A Fire.

About 4 o'clock on Friday afternoon an alarm was sounded for a fire at the residence of Mr. Thomas Bradburn, London street. The chimney belched fourth great volumes of smoke and the house was filled with it. Some of the stoppers were burned with the great heat and allowed the smoke to escape. Fire was pouring out of one of these holes and would doubtless have ignited the wood work if a domestic from Mr. Adam Hall's had not held a wet blanket over it, until the firemen came. A line of hose was laid from an adjoining hydrant, but it was not found necessary to use the water. The damage done by smoke will amount to a tidy sum, but the loss is fully covered by insurance. As it was the fire was simply a burning chimney.

The County Council.

The County Council finished its business and adjourned just before 12 o'clock to-day. A grant of $1,000 was made to assist the Trent Valley Canal Association, $500 subject to the orders of the committee of the Association and $500 under the control of the Joint Committee, on condition that the town makes a similar grant. The full report of the proceedings is held over.

The Fourth.

The fourth tramp of the season registered at the Police Station last night. He hailed from Keene, had walked up, and it took him an hour or two to thaw himself out. The fact that the work has been finished on the Trent Valley Canal works up north, probably accounts for the scarcity of tramps this winter, as during the last two seasons nearly all the wandering gentry who stopped here claimed to be on the way to Burleigh or Buckhorn.

Town Council.

An adjourned meeting of the Town Council, for the transaction of general business, will take place on Monday night. The appointment of assessors will probably be made.

Personal.

The Watchman says that Mrs. Wilbur Daly will sing "Consider the Lillies" at the Missionary concert in the Methodist Church, at Lindsay, next Monday evening.

MERRY MASQUERADERS

FIRST SKATING CARNIVAL UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE CANTON.

A List of Those in Costume Who Handed in Cards—A Very Large Attendance—Good Music—Some Excellent Costumes—The Games and Exhibition Drill and the Prize Winners.

The first skating carnival of the season took place at the Lansdowne rink last evening and was in every respect fully up to the opening carnivals of other years. The ice was in excellent condition and the only drawback was the extremely cold weather. As far as the skaters were concerned they did not appear to mind the frost in the least, but the spectators did and the different waiting rooms were filled all the evening.

The attendance of persons in costume was fully up to the mark, while the number of spectators was, as usual, large.

Of the costumes it may be said that better have been seen here, but the variety never was excelled. As usual, the nigger and old women elements were on hand in full force and they always contrived to get in every person's road, as they have always done.

Some of the costumes were excellent, but on the whole they were of the cheap character and if they had not written on their cards what they represented, no person would have been able to guess. As to those who represented their characters best, the public are respectfully referred to the prize list.

The band of the Fire Brigade was stationed in the gallery and played a long programme of excellent music, to the sweet strains of which the merry skaters, glided around the rink, while those who did not desire to don the steely blades, promenaded around the spacious gallery.

The Indian chief who usually takes such a prominent part at these entertainments was conspicuous by his absence, but the Page and the Cow Boy, ably took his place.

As a large number did not hand in their cards, and some of them had fine costumes, too, they will not find their names in the subjoined list, and in future they will probably remember that their names and characters are necessarily required for publication and also as a guarantee of good faith.

Lindsay was the only town near here that was represented, and the lady, who was dressed as a hospital nurse, looked and acted the character well.

The carnival was under the management of Canton Peterborough, No. 10, and its success is due in a large measure to the efficient work of the genial Captain, Ald A. McNeil, to whom we are indebted for courtesies shown our representative.

THE PRIZE WINNERS.

Mrs. (Hon. R.) Hamilton, Mrs. Sherwood, Col. H. C. Rogers and Captain Edwards acted as Judges and after experiencing considerable difficulty in ascertaining the characters represented by some of the masquers, announced their decisions as follows:—

BEST DRESSED LADY.—Miss E. Walton, "Lady of 1830."

BEST DRESSED GENTLEMAN.—Mr. C. McClelland, "Nubian Street Merchant."

BEST DRESSED GIRL.—Miss Mary McIntosh, "Bat."

BEST DRESSED BOY.—Fred McKibbin, "Uncle Sam."

BEST COMIC COSTUME, LADY.—Miss B. Hall, "Little Maid from School."

BEST COMIC COSTUME, GENT.—Master Percy Roper, "Cardiff Giantess."

THE SPORTS.

Owing to the extreme cold and the fact that the management did not want to keep the skaters, many of whom were clad in thin costumes, standing around, only a portion of the programme of sports was carried out, as follows:—

BOYS RACE.—Master M. McIntyre, Keene.

ADULTS RACE.—Mr. J. A. McClellan.

EXHIBITION DRILL.

One of the most attractive and unique events of the evening was the exhibition drill, on the ice, by the cheveliers of the Canton, under Captain McNeil. The large number of spectators were greatly surprised and pleased by the easy manner in which all the difficult movements were performed and the members show the result of frequent and assiduous drills.

The entertainment broke up about 10.30, the band playing the national anthem.

NOTES.

An Engineer and Fireman of the Grand Trunk, who came direct from their engine to the rink, one with an oil can and the other with a shovel, were indeed true to life and caused much amusement.

The small boy was in his glory. He secured a piece of burnt cork, drew it across his upper lip, turned his coat inside out, and handed in his card, as a dude.

Some of the junior curlers dressed as Italians and Irishmen, had a curling match, in which the representatives of the Emerald Isle, came out first best.

The following is the score:—

| IRISHMEN. | | ITALIANS. | |
|---|---|---|---|
| G. Edmison Jr. | | T. Connal | |
| B. B. Boucher | | F. Kingan | |
| G. B. Boucher | | D. Davidson | |
| W. F. Hamilton, sp. | 11 | R. T. Harley, skip | 10 |

Other carnivals will be held during the season, and the date of the next one will be announced in a few days.

The decorations were the best we have ever seen in the rink and reflect great credit on the taste of the members of the Canton, who designed and put them in place.

A cloak room was provided with attentive attendants and it proved a great boon.

The refreshment room under the charge of Mr. Wm. Bowman, was conducted in a first class manner and the patronage was large.

Brevities.

—13 degrees below zero was registered last night.

—The police court calander was a blank this morning.

—Pay list No. 1, of Street Inspector Pope, for 1888, amounts to $8.75.

—The C. P. R. train due here at 5.50 p. m. was over an hour late last evening.

—The "noon" train on the C. P. R. from the west was several hours late to-day.

—The Rev. I. Tovell will preach to-morrow in the old Richmond Street Church, Toronto.

—It is proposed to hold races in the Port Hope Driving Park, during the second week of February.

—A number of men are engaged here to work on the line of the C. P. R. in the Rocky Mountains.

—It is rumored that one of our largest hotels has changed proprietors within the last few days.

—The "lesser lights" of the Port Hope Curling Club defeated the Millbrook players, on Thursday, by 20 to 14.

—A sitting of the Division Court was held before Judge Weller, on Friday afternoon. None of the cases tried were of any great public importance.

—We understand that arrangements have been made with Mr. Geo. Belford, the eminent English elecutionist, to give one of his dramatic recitals in the Opera House, Peterborough, on Thursday evening, Feb. 9th. 1d23

—A paragraph in these columns the other day stated that the new G.T.R. bridge over the Otonabee was the same as the C.P.R. bridge. Our attention has been called to the fact that the Grand Trunk one is a steel plate girder bridge, while the C.P.R. structure is pin connection truss.

PROHIBITION SHOE STORE!

To the Public.

As my agreement with the Scott Act Association expired on December 31st, 1887, and as I am no longer in their employment, I beg to inform you that I have opened a Boot and Shoe store in Dunsford's new block, east of Market, where I hope to receive a share of public support in the line of custom work and repairs. There have been several attempts made to boycott me, because of my connection with the Scott Act, and to prevent me from obtaining employment. I want to say I am not afraid of opposition under any circumstances, and will endeavor to give to all the value of their money.

I will guarantee a comfortable fit and use only the best material, and supply the best workmanship, so that I can run Prohibition in the shoe trade, and prohibit even water from getting at your SOLES, to upset your UNDERSTANDINGS, as I have the remedy to HEEL it all.

As I have launched my bark in the temperance tide, will you help me keep it afloat?

Yours truly,
5d23 eod-2w5 HENRY ROSSITER.

The First Symptoms

Of all Lung diseases are much the same: feverishness, loss of appetite, sore throat, pains in the chest and back, headache, etc. In a few days you may be well, or, on the other hand, you may be down with Pneumonia or "galloping Consumption." Run no risks, but begin immediately to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Several years ago, James Birchard, of Darien, Conn., was severely ill. The doctors said he was in Consumption, and that they could do nothing for him, but advised him, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine, two or three months, he was pronounced a well man. His health remains good to the present day.

J. S. Bradley, Malden, Mass., writes: "Three winters ago I took a severe cold, which rapidly developed into Bronchitis and Consumption. I was so weak that I could not sit up, was much emaciated, and coughed incessantly. I consulted several doctors, but they were powerless, and all agreed that I was in Consumption. At last, a friend brought me a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. From the first dose, I found relief. Two bottles cured me, and my health has since been perfect."

THE FEDERAL TO WIND UP

SHAREHOLDERS WILL REALIZE 75 PER CENT.

All the Other Banks To Assist Depositors and Noteholders To Be Paid At Once—No Trouble Anticipated—The End of a Chequered Career—In the Monetary Cemetery.

TORONTO, Jan. 28.

It is officially announced that the Directors of the Federal Bank of Canada have decided that it is in the interests of the Shareholders that the business of the Bank should be wound up. The other Banks, after a thorough investigation, have agreed to give the assistance required to pay the note-holders and depositors whenever demanded.

Such was the official announcement given to the press after midnight this morning at the conclusion of a meeting of all the bankers and of the directors of the Federal.

The outstanding note circulation is about three-quarters of a million and it will be redeemed by any of the banks or by the Federal on presentation.

The deposits are about two millions and these will be paid forthwith. If the Federal cannot realize on its assets sufficiently fast to do this the other banks have agreed to furnish the money necessary. So that depositors will be paid off at once.

The head office will be kept open as usual. It will not, however, receive deposits nor pay out notes. It will redeem its bills, pay depositors and make such arrangements with its customers as the circumstances suggest.

The outside agencies will be closed as soon as possible and the staff paid off.

The customers of the bank are free to go where they see fit. The Commerce seems to be showing considerable activity in taking over the business of the Federal. They will get the North Toronto business. The London agency, which did a large line, will be divided up among the banks doing business in that city.

Mr. Hammond says the shareholders will realize 70 to 80 cents on the dollar, and perhaps better.

The liquidation will proceed rapidly and without outside interference, and at as little cost as possible.

The decision arrived at is put forth as "in the interest of the shareholders."

All the Toronto banks were represented at the conferences of yesterday; so was the Western Bank of Oshawa; the Bank of Montreal was represented by Mr. MacNider and the Merchants' by Mr. Gault.

Telegrams will be sent out this morning to the agents all over notifying them of the decision.

The Federal was started with a million or so of capital, which, in times of inflation, was increased to three millions. The floating of this new stock was made an immense stock-jobbing deal, in which fortunes were made and still larger fortunes were lost. When the great drop in Federal came a million and a half of stock was wiped out to make up for losses sustained by bad debts, and many persons were wrecked. Nearly every stock-broker had to pass through the fiery furnace; the shareholders lost sixty to seventy per cent. of their investment (they bought mostly at a premium), and the concerns that lent money on the inflated stock were heavy losers. Many a man is still suffering to-day from the effects of that event.

The new management, it was hoped, would revivify the concern, but it has not succeeded. The running expenses were high, altogether too high for the earning facilty of the capital. And this perhaps was the reason why Mr. Nordheimer could not agree with Mr. Yarker. Somehow the public avoided the bank, perhaps because they imagined that some of those who were in the administration also distrusted it and secured themselves in advance. At all events, since the Central trouble over a million and a half of the Federal's deposits have been withdrawn.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is prescribed and recommended by eminent physicians, and is taken with perfect safety by old and young. Its cleansing and vitalizing effect are sure and speedy, and it is universally conceded to be the most effective of all blood purifiers.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"You evidently want to get rid of me," says Rodney, discouraged, taking up his hat. He takes up her hand, too, and holds it warmly, and looks long and earnestly into her face.

"By the bye," he says, once more restored to something like hope—"by the bye, you told me you had a miniature of your mother in your desk, and you promised to show it to me."

"It is here," says Mona, rather pleased at his remembering this promise of hers, and, going to a desk, proceeds to open a secret drawer, in which lies the picture in question.

It is a handsome picture, and Geoffrey duly admires it, then it is returned to its place, and Mona, opening the drawer next to it, shows him some exquisite ferns dried and gummed on paper.

"What a clever child you are!" says Geoffrey, with genuine admiration.—"And what is here?" laying his hand on the third drawer.

"Oh, do not open that—do not!" says Mona, hastily, in an agony of fear, to judge by her eyes, laying a deterring hand upon his arm.

"And why not this or any other drawer?" says Rodney, growing pale. Again jealousy, which is a demon, rises in his breast, and thrusts out all gentler feelings. Her allusion to Mr. Moore, most innocently spoken, and later on her reference to the students, have served to heighten within him angry suspicion.

"Do not!" says Mona, again, as though fresh words are impossible to her, drawing her breath quickly. Her evident agitation incenses him to the last degree. Opening the drawer impulsively, he gazes at its contents.

Only a little withered bunch of heather, tied by a blade of grass! Nothing more.

"Yes," she says, with cheeks colored to a rich carmine, and flashing eyes, and lips that quiver in spite of all her efforts at self control, "that is the bit of heather you gave me, and that is the grass that tied it. I kept it because it reminded me of a day when I was happy. Now," bitterly, "I no longer care for it; for the future it can only bring back to me an hour when I was grieved and wounded."

Taking up the hapless heather, she throws it on the ground, and, in a fit of childish spleen, lays her foot upon it and tramples it out of all recognition.—"Go!" she says, in a choked voice, and with a little passionate sob, pointing to the door. "You have done mischief enough." Her gesture is at once imperious and dignified. Then in a softer voice, that tells of sorrow, and with a deep sigh, "at least," she says, "I believed in your honor."

The reproach is terrible, and cuts him to the heart. He picks up the poor little bruised flower, and holds it tenderly in his hand.

"How can I go," he says, without daring to look at her, "until, at least, I ask forgiveness? Mona, love makes one cruel; I ask you to remember that, because it is my only excuse," he says, warmly. "Don't condemn me altogether, but forgive me once more."

"I am always forgiving you, it seems to me," says Mona, coldly, turning from him with a frown. "And as for that heather," facing him again, with eyes shamed but wrathful, "I just kept it because—because—oh, because I didn't like to throw it away. That was all."

"You musn't think I supposed you kept it for any other purpose," he says, solemnly, and in such a depressed tone that Mona almost feels sorry for him.

He has so far recovered his courage that he has taken her hand, and is now holding it in a close grasp; and Mona, though a little frown still lingers on her low, broad forehead, lets her hand so lie without a censure.

"Mona, do be friends with me," he says, at last, desperately, driven to simplicity of language through his very misery. There is a humility in his speech that pleases her.

"It is really hardly worth talking about," she says, grandly. "I was foolish to lay so great a stress on such a trifling matter. It doesn't signify, not in the least. But—but," the blood mounting to her brow, "if ever you speak of it again—if you even mention the word 'heather'—I shall hate you!"

"That word shall never pass my lips again in your company—never, I swear!" says he, "until you give me leave. My darling," in a low tone, "if you could only know how vexed I am about the whole affair, and my unpardonable conduct! Yet, Mona, I will not hide from you that this little bit of senseless heather has made me happier than I have ever been before."

Stooping, he presses his lips to her hands for the first time. The caress is long and fervent.

"Say I am quite forgiven," he pleads, earnestly, his eyes on hers.

"Yes. I forgive you," she says, almost in a whisper, with a seriousness that amounts to solemnity.

Still holding her hand, as though loath to quit it, he moves towards the door; but before reaching it she slips away from him, and says "good-bye" rather coldly.

"When am I to see you again?" says Rodney, anxiously.

"Oh, not for ever so long," returns she, with much and heartless unconcern. (His spirits sink to zero.) "Certainly not until Friday," she goes on, carelessly. (As this is Wednesday, his spirits once more rise into the seventh heaven.) "Or Saturday, or Sunday, or perhaps some day next week," she says, unkindly.

"If on Friday night there is a good moon," says Rodney, boldly, "will you take me, as you promised, to see the Bay?"

"Yes, if it is fine," says Mona, after a faint hesitation.

Then she accompanies him to the door, but gravely, and not with her accustomed gayety. Standing on the door step he looks at her, and, as though impelled to ask the question because of her extreme stillness, he says, "Of what are you thinking?"

"I am thinking that the man we saw before going into Kitty's cabin is the murderer!" she says, with a shudder.

"I thought so all along," says Geoffrey, gravely.

CHAPTER V.

Geoffrey coming to the farm on Friday somewhat early in the evening, Mona takes him round to the yard, where two dogs, hitherto unseen by Geoffrey, lie chained. They are two splendid bloodhounds, that, as she approaches, rise to their feet, and, lifting their massive heads, throw out into the night-air, a deep hollow bay that betokens welcome.

POKING FUN!

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprises largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8.75, this is an all wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3.75 and a pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits really nice and lot of them $1.95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ⅓ regular prices.

Won't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPARD'S, where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

BROKER COX AND CASHIER ALLEN.

Interesting Revelations for Intending Bank Shareholders.

TORONTO, Jan. 28.—The interest in the Central rookery has not abated one jot since the beginning of the proceedings, and the stories which are being brought to light draw a bumper house every day to the chamber where the Master-in-Ordinary holds his court. The rumor that ex-Mayor Howland was to give evidence had brought a larger audience than usual yesterday. They were doomed to disappointment, however, as Mr. Bain, counsel for Campbell, the "suspended" liquidator, did not want to call Mr. Howland as he had, so he said, secured all the information he needed.

The following letters, which are chosen as samples from a voluminous correspondence, show the relation which existed between Cox, the broker, and Cashier Allen: The correspondence was fyled at Osgoode Hall before the Master-in-Ordinary by Mr. Foster yesterday afternoon. The reporters from the city papers requested permission to copy the examination of the correspondence. The liquidators, Mr. Howland and Mr. Gooderham, expressed their willingness to allow the correspondence to become public. The Master-in-Ordinary said he would not speak on the matter either way, but it would have to go before the Chancellor.

Mr. John R. Robinson, as a creditor of the bank, with Mr. Foster as his solicitor, made application before the Chancellor for permission to examine the correspondence, and the application was granted.

Two days before the Central Bank suspended Mr. E. Strachan Cox drew out $54,800. Of this sum James Baxter & Co. came in for the nice round sum of $33,710.

The checks drawn were these:

Nov. 11—Pay James Baxter & Co. or order $7750. Cox & Co.

Nov. 11—Pay to James Baxter & Co. $4000. Cox & Co.

Nov. 11—Pay to James Baxter or order $9750. Cox & Co.

ACCEPTED AS INEVITABLE.

WAR BETWEEN RUSSIA AND AUSTRIA SEEMS UNAVOIDABLE.

Austria's Position Stated by the Hungarian Prime Minister — While Professing Peace It is Interpreted as Meaning the Reverse—The Sinews of War.

PESTH, Jan. 29.—In the Hungarian Diet yesterday Premier Von Tisza emphatically declared that there was no ground to doubt the reciprocal bona fides of the Powers allied for the preservation of peace and for their own security. In consequence of the marked displacement of Russian troops and their transfer in the direction of the Austrian frontiers, the Government, without doubting the Czar's pacific declarations and avoiding all semblance of provocation, considers it its duty to see that necessary measures are taken to assure the safety of the frontiers and the efficiency of the army in case of an emergency.

Russia on the Alert.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 29.—The semi-official announcement is made that the political situation is unchanged, but that Russia must be on the alert in consequence of the continued increase of the armaments of Germany.

War Accepted as Inevitable.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—Herr Von Tisza's statement in the Hungarian Diet yesterday has confirmed the conviction that war between Austria and Russia is accepted by both sides as inevitable. Private advices from Vienna state that the diplomatic negotiations recently opened between Prince Lobanoff, the Russian Ambassador, and Count Kalnoky have been abandoned. The condition of affairs now existing between the two governments is simply that each is lying in wait for the first chance to strike.

Reports received at the War Office from agents on the Polish frontier intimate a renewal of activity among the Russian troops. Austrian war officials suspect that the object in view is the invasion of Bulgaria and that the aim of the Czar's strategy is to entrap Austria into sending the bulk of her forces into Galicia while the real coup is delivered in the Balkan peninsula. If Russia enters Roumania, Austria will hold the step to be a casus belli.

The sinews of war has been obtained by the Russian treasury by a loan arranged in Amsterdam, the amount of which is said to be £4,500,000. Herr Von Tisza has concluded negotiations with the Frankfort Rothschilds for a loan of 29,000,000 florins.

Stormy Debate in the Reichstag.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—There was a stormy debate in the Reichstag yesterday, on the Anti-Socialist Bill. In the lobbies the consensus of opinion was that the Government would be defeated if they persisted in attempting to pass the bill.

Germany's Aim.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—In committee on the Military Bill, Dr. Windthorst said the Government had obtained the assent of the Reichstag to the Septennate Bill by representing that the measure would be a guarantee of a pacific future. Now they come again demanding more sacrifices in men and money. When these demands are satisfied, what assurance is there that the country will have anything sufficient to give it rest from its military burdens? Count Von Schellendorf, Minister of War, curtly responded that if the approval of the Septennate Bill had been associated with any promise of permanent peace it was a mistake. The Government's aim was to protect the country, and the best way to do so was to make it strong against all attacks.

France and the Mexican Trade.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday M. Flourens, Minister of Foreign Affairs, in the debate on the treaty of commerce between France and Mexico, said that it behooved France to preserve her markets in Mexico, which the United States were trying to take away from her. At the conclusion of M. Flourens' speech the Chamber adopted the treaty.

American Railroad Securities in London.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Business on the Stock Exchange during the week was restricted. There were few changes in prices. American railroad securities were lifeless, but yesterday there were some symptoms of animation under the improvement in cable quotations, and Erie, Norfolk and Western, Ohio and Mississipi and Denver and Rio Grande closed with a factional rise on the day.

Lord Durham's Libel Suit.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Some time ago Lord Durham made an unsuccessful application to the courts for divorce, on the ground that his wife was insane when he married her. Yesterday a summons was granted Lord Durham against the owner of the paper, Bate, for libel in stating that Lord Durham's brutality drove his wife mad.

American Pilgrims Visit the Pope.

ROME, Jan. 29.—The Pope received 300 American pilgrims Saturday, among whom were the Archbishop of Philadelphia, the Bishop of Buffalo, the Vicar-General of Charleston and the Rector of the American College at Rome.

BROKER COX AT CLEVELAND.

He Will Return to Toronto as Soon as His Affairs are Straightened Out.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 29.—E. Strachan Cox, broker, of Toronto, is in this city, and has been stopping here for a few days past under an assumed name. He registered at the Weddell House as "W. D. Darling, Hamilton, Ont.," and was not recognized until this evening, when a local newspaper man, who had met him in Toronto, saw him in the hotel and recognized him. He at first attempted to conceal his identity, but finally gave in. Though at first reluctant to make any statement for publication, Mr. Cox at last unbosomed himself.

The interview was in substance: "Why are you in Cleveland under an assumed name?"

"That's easily explained. I knew if I came here and registered as 'E. S. Cox of Toronto that I would be overwhelmed with reporters and would have no peace or comfort, so I concluded to carry another name for the time being. I came here a week ago Saturday and and shall remain here until my affairs are in such shape that I can form some estimate as to how I stand. I was attending a meeting of the International Baseball Association when the crisis came, and at once wired my head man in Toronto to make an assignment. Then I came to Cleveland. I had nothing to do with the failure of the Central Bank, directly or indirectly, and am not in any way responsible for the suspension of that institution. The published statements have done me a great injustice. My failure was brought about by too great an expansion of my business. I had too many irons in the fire. I have been in the brokerage business sixteen years and had nearly fifty exchanges throughout Canada. Then, too, the failure of the Central Bank crippled me."

"Will you return to Canada?"

"Most certainly. Just as soon as my affairs are in such shape as I can do so."

Mr. Cox was very nervous and excited during the interview. He bit his lip and walked up and down the room, trying to control himself.

The examination of Broker E. S. Cox before Mr. George Evans on Jan. 17 was filed in the Master-in-Ordinary's Court on Saturday afternoon and was given to the press. This is the first intimation the public has had of what Mr. Cox said in his examination, as it was in private. He was on the stand for over four hours, and would have been examined further on Jan. 20 but for his leaving the city.

A MARVELOUS ESCAPE.

A Broken Rail Throws a Train From the Track at Full Speed.

DETROIT, Jan. 29.—An accident occurred shortly before 7 o'clock last evening between Gaines and Durand, on the Detroit, Grand Haven and Milwaukee Railway, which resulted in the complete wrecking of passenger train No. 5, west bound, the serious injury of one and lesser hurts to a number of other passengers, and was a marvelous escape from death for all on board. The train lost some time and was running forty-five miles an hour when at a point about three miles east of Durand. At this point was a broken rail. Over this the locomotive passed in safety, but the entire train left the track and ran along the ties, the tremendous jolting throwing the passengers from their seats and heaping them indiscriminately upon the floors of the cars. The baggage car was upset, as were the express and smoking cars. The other coaches remained upright, but the first took fire from the stove, and a repetition of the terrible disasters of late so common was only averted by the promptest action on the part of the train men and passengers.

The most seriously hurt was George Thomas, keeper of the railway eating house at Owosso Junction, who was hurled from his seat and suffered a broken rib and painful internal injuries. Express Messenger Judd Tyler was badly shaken up and painfully bruised. A number of others were burned, and everyone on board was badly shaken.

Fifteen Men Injured.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Conn., Jan. 29.—A caboose drawn by two engines on the Housatonic Road jumped the track at Housatonic yesterday afternoon and upset. Forty-two men were on board, fifteen of whom were injured, though none fatally.

THE CAPTIVE ESCAPED.

An Abducted Cornell Freshman Gets Away From His Guards.

ITHACA, N.Y., Jan. 29.—There is considerable excitement in Cornell University over the abduction and daring escape last evening of the president of the freshman class from a body of sophomores who had held him in duress for the last twenty-four hours. A body of seniors and sophomores pounced on Freshman President Davis at his lodgings, bound and blindfolded him, and took him in a closed carriage to a house in town. At 5.30 last evening the sophomore guards were horror struck to see their prisoner make a rush toward the window. Before they could prevent him Davis jumped feet foremost through two heavy curtains and a plate glass window and disappeared. Fortunately he fell into a small bank of snow. Although scratched and bruised he took to his heels and soon reached a place of safety among his friends.

Manitoba News by Way of Detroit.

DETROIT, Jan, 29.—A Winnipeg despatch to The Free Press says: The Dominion Government is seeking to make terms with Manitoba, and makes the following propositions: That disallowance cease in May, 1891; that the improvement of the Red River and the Assiniboine be vigorously prosecuted; that gram freight rates be reduced; that an experimental farm be immediately located in the province; that the Canadian Pacific make the desired extensions to the Souris River. The acceptance of the propositions is not likely.

Death of an Old Public Servant.

KINGSTON, Jan. 29.—The death occurred yesterday, from paralysis, of Jeremiah Meagher, long attached to the Postoffice Department. He was a schoolmate of Sir John Macdonald's when they were children, and was offered the Collectorship of Inland Revenue at Hamilton and the Collectorship of Customs at Windsor before accepting the appointment which he held for twenty-five years.

Cheaper Cable Rates in Prospect.

LONDON, Jan 29.—John Pender, chairman of the Direct United States Cable Company, has invited the cable companies to hold a conference for the purpose of fixing upon a tariff on a basis of 1 shilling per word.

THE HOME RULE SPECTER.

ENGLISH POLITICS CONTINUE MAINLY IRISH.

The First Government Business in Parliament Will be the Reform of Procedure —Mr. Cox, M.P., Sentenced to Four Months' Imprisonment with Hard Labor.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The announcement is authoritatively made that the first Government business in Parliament will be the reform of procedure. English politics continue to be mainly Irish politics. The statements of the prison doctor that Mr. McLane, M.P., has become a subject of delusions, owing to the severity of his treatment in prison and insufficient food, have made a profound impression. Yesterday's sentences were the heaviest yet passed.

Father McFadden and Mr. Blane.

DUBLIN, Jan. 29.—Rev. Father McFadden and Alexander Blane were removed from the Londonderry jail at 5 o'clock yesterday morning and taken to Dunfanaghy, County Donegal, where they will be tried. A few stones were thrown at the police as the prisoners departed. When Father McFadden and Mr. Blane arrived at Dunfanaghy, 1000 peasants, armed with sticks, gathered on the hillsides in military order. The crowd tried to enter the town but were prevented by the military.

"Cowardly, Slimy Renegades."

DUBLIN, Jan. 29.—Michael Davitt, speaking at Rathkeale to-day, advised the tenants of Lord Guillamore not to accept the offer tendered them to purchase their farms, because of the heavy burdens which would surely accrue under present circumstances and also because Lord Guillamore had evicted two of his tenants. He considered persons taking the farms of evicted tenants cowardly, slimy renegades and social lepers.

Herbert Gladstone's Apology.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Herbert Gladstone has written a letter to Lord Clanicarde in which he says that while speaking at Leeds he was prompted by strong feelings to apply most offensive epithets to His Lordship concerning the evictions on the Clanricarde estates, and he begs to express his sincere regret that he should have used such language.

Imprisonment With Hard Labor.

DUBLIN, Jan. 29.—Joseph R. Cox, M.P., was convicted yesterday on the charge of addressing proclaimed branches of the National League and sentenced to four months' imprisonment with hard labor.

German Comments.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—The North German Gazette, commenting upon the recent arrests of Irish members of Parliament, says that such prompt and vigorous action well befits a Government which is conscious of its duty.

Earl Grey's Book.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Earl Grey will soon publish a volume describing his experiences in English and Irish politics. He maintains that the union was a success until 1868, but that since that year Ireland has been used for party ends.

Their Appeals Dismissed.

DUBLIN, Jan. 29.—The court has dismissed the appeals of twenty-one tenants on Col. Tottenham's estate at Wexford against sentences imposed upon them for violation of the Crimes Act.

PROPOSED COMPROMISE.

The Manitoba Ministers Will be Unopposed Except Martin.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 29.—The proposed compromise of Brandon Conservatives relative to disallowance is: Disallowance to cease May, 1891; the Canadian Pacific to build and operate before Nov. 1 next extension of the Glenboro branch of Southwestern Colonization; twenty miles extension of the Deloraine branch of the Canadian Pacific Southwestern to the western boundary of the province; to build the Souris branch from Brandon to Souris coal fields, twenty-five miles to be finished by November; the Red and Assiniboine Rivers to be made navigable. A great difference of opinion exists as to whether it should be adopted or not, and it is probable the Conservatives will hold a provincial convention to decide upon the policy of compromise.

It is pretty well decided that none of the ministers will be opposed except Attorney-General Martin, the Conservatives holding themselves for the general election in the spring.

John MacDonald and Alex. Moffat have been appointed to investigate the books of the late Government.

The Icelandic paper demands representation for its people in the Legislature.

Mr. Greenway has gone home and will be banquetted Wednesday.

Sensation Scene in a Chicago Court.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Thomas Walsh drew a revolver in Judge Clifford's court room yesterday and attempted to shoot James Britton, whom a jury had just acquitted of the charge of having assaulted Walsh's daughter. Walsh was overpowered before he could carry out his purpose.

B. C. LEGISLATURE.

The Speech From the Throne—Measures to be Submitted.

VICTORIA, B.C., Jan. 28.—The Legislature was opened yesterday afternoon by the Lieut.-Governor who, in the course of the Speech from the Throne, referred to the fact that the case to recover on the bond given by the sureties of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the construction of a line to Coal Harbor was pending; that in consequence of the failure of the Kootenay and Columbia Railway Company to comply with their agreement with the Government the $25,000 deposit was forfeited. The Crofter scheme is referred to.

A railway to the Cariboo district and extension of the Island Railway to the northern end of Vancouver Island will be considered. Amongst measures to be submitted are a bill constituting County Courts with limited jurisdiction in criminal matters and a bill for increasing the efficiency of County Courts.

NOTES FROM TORONTO.

The Provincial Board of Health concluded its business on Saturday and adjourned till May. Dr. Macdonald's report in regard to the Niagara Falls Muddy Run Creek nuisance was adopted. The Publication Committee presented its report for material for the annual report and for the issue of the monthly health bulletin.

Notice of an application on behalf of Patrick Purcell and others to postpone their trial for corrupt practices in connection with the Glengarry case under the Dominion Controverted Elections Act, from Feb. 4 till after the appeal to the Supreme Court is determined, was served for Saturday, morning returnable before Mr. Justice Rose, but it stands over till to-day, the learned judge being still confined to his house. Judge Rose, it is expected, will be in court to-day.

A writ was issued Saturday against ex-Reeve Henry R. Frankland by the township of York, claiming $50,000 damages for dereliction of duty while in office. Messrs. Stephenson, Dickson and Taylor issued the writ, and the action will, it is expected, cause no little excitement in the township.

Death of Bishop Racine.

CHICOUTIMI, Que., Jan. 29.—Bishop Racine died suddenly yesterday morning.

DR. MONTAGUE SUSTAINED.

The Haldimand Election Petition Dismissed With Costs.

CAYUGA, Jan. 29.—The Haldimand election trial was concluded at noon yesterday. In the morning the petitioner desired to go into the charges respecting votes cast by persons claiming to be farmers' sons, and whose names appeared upon the list as such, but who, at the time of voting, did not possess the requisite qualification. His Lordship held that the revised voters' list was final and conclusive and could not be inquired into.

The petitioner's counsel then claimed that, though a sufficient number of irregularities had not been proved to have affected ten individual votes, yet there appeared from the evidence what amounted to a general disregard of the law on the part of deputy returning officers, which could be very fairly held to have affected the general result. His Lordship said he could not so hold from the facts, as they appeared to him, and dismissed the petition with costs.

Dr. Montague stands elected with a majority of ten.

The case was hotly contested and ably conducted on both sides.

Shot by a Negro Gambler.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The fracas which occurred in Fitzpatrick's Hotel, back of Dobb's Ferry and near shaft No. 5 of the new aqueduct, on Saturday, is likely to result in the death of two colored men, Patrick Tyler and Wm. Hart, who were shot by a negro gambler named Smith Murphy. It was erroneously reported that Tyler had been killed almost instantly. Murphy escaped.

Bismarck's Rheumatism.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—Prince Bismarck is still suffering from rheumatic pains. Nevertheless it is expected that he will speak in the Reichstag to-morrow.

In Honor of Prince Ferdinand.

PHILIPPOPOLIS, Jan. 29.—The officers of the garrison here gave a grand ball last night in honor of Prince Ferdinand and his mother.

French Deserters Shot.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—Advices from Tonquin say eighteen French soldiers were recently shot at one time for desertion.

Fire at Oshawa.

OSHAWA, Jan. 29.—Shortly after 12 o'clock yesterday a fire broke out in a house belonging to Col. Mulligan, Colborne street. The fire was extinguished before the arrival of the brigade. Little damage was done.

Loss $75,000 to $100,000.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 29.—The Chemical Paper Company's mill at South Holyoke was burned last night. Loss $75,000 to $100,000; insured. It was one of the largest establishment of its kind in the world.

An Epidemic at Marblehead.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Jan. 29.—This community is affected with a serious epidemic of diphtheria and membranous croup.

REVISED SCRIPTURE READINGS.

It is announced that a new volume of Scripture readings has been prepared by the Ontario Government. The volume at present used, and which was so much objected to, was, the Globe informs its readers, placed in the hands of a committee of clergymen, who submitted to the department a revised edition, and this revised volume will be published by a publishing house in the line of their ordinary business, and not by by the Government.

Important changes have been made in the book. "For instance," says the Globe, "the revised edition contains the Scripture references which were omitted from the first, and pupils and teachers will have no difficulty in finding in the Bible the selections adopted. Second, the selections contain entire portions of the Bible—that is, where verses has been omitted from any selected portion, the verses have been replaced." These changes will meet two of the objections urged against the book, but how far the revision has gone in satisfying those who opposed its use in the schools it is impossible to say without an examination of the new volume.

This action of the department is, however, an acknowledgement that a revision was necessary and that the selection of readings, as at first published, was not suitable for the purpose it was intended for. It is a practical admission that the Government and its supporters were wrong in defending the book as it was, for if it was the perfect volume it was said to be, why was not further editions printed, as was promised, and why was a revision necessary?

If the revised edition contains whole chapters throughout, without the elimination of verses, and has the references to the places in the Bible from which the lessons were taken, the question will arise, what need there is for the extra expense in procuring the book of selections, when the same lessons could be read from the Bible itself, the portions to be read being pointed out in a circular or otherwise?

It is not made clear in the semi-official announcement whether the new volume will supercede the present one in the schools, or whether the regulations will provide for placing the new book in the hands of the teachers, as the first volume was supplied to them.

DISCLOSURES RESPECTING THE WANDERING JEW.

A Pointer From New York—The Importunities of the Diamond Merchant—Allen's Refusal to His Entreaties—"Organized Combination to Wreck the Central Bank."

TORONTO, Jan. 30.—Mr. Roaf was placed in the witness box on Saturday. The Master ruled that he was not relieved from client's privilege. The functions of agent and those of solicitor were entirely distinct. Mr. Foster also produced a letter from Barnett, written from Detroit, in which he gives Mr. Roaf liberty to disclose all knowledge he had obtained as his solicitor.

It appears that Mr. Allen was warned of Barnett's scoundrelly transactions in other quarters only when Barnett had become too heavy a "pull" on him, by some way nobody knows. This letter, written by Samuel G. Barnard, a New York lawyer, should have put Allen on his guard, if he did not already know with what kind of a man he was dealing.

NEW YORK, June 27, 1885.

A. A. Allen, Manager Central Bank, Canada.

It has just come recently to my knowledge that you are a victim in the hands of a notorious person by the name of Roland G. Barnett, who under the guise of friendship and confidence is insidiously working your ruin. I speak in this plain strain so that there may be no mistake. He has some few weeks since cashed a sight draft for $5000 on your bank, honored by you. He has two other drafts of a like amount, which he is now negotiating. Heaven only knows what large sums of money he has had prior from you. This much I know of the scoundrel, that your earlier confidence he is using as a vehicle to extort these large sums of money, which must eventually prove your ruin and disgrace. He is a swindler and a criminal of the most pronounced type, and even now is a fugitive from justice in England, Sergt. Butcher of the C. Division, London, having a warrant for his apprehension. It is only the other day that one Fraser, a confederate of his, who, I understand got $5000 from you, got arrested here. Now, I wish to save you from the blackmailer and his harpies, and inasmuch as I am furnished with a full and complete history of his past and present I feel that I shall only be doing my duty in averting the further injury that must necessarily occur to the bank and you. Throw off the yoke at once and relieve yourself from further consequences. Telegraph me immediately on receipt of this letter, as I leave New York on Tuesday evening for the Arlington Hotel, Hot Springs, Ark. Pray do what I suggest and you may depend on my legal and moral protection.

Allen must have either had great confidence in Barnett, or was obliged by circumstances to submit meekly to the control Barnett had over him, as the letter was never answered, but copied out by Allen and the copy forwarded to Barnett. This letter is the one which was produced in court. Mr. Barnard receiving no reply, wrote to Mr. Blain to the same effect some time after.

Barnett was amazingly importunate. Refusals, blunt and plain, counted zero with him. Here are a couple of Allen's letters to him:

TORONTO, Sept. 13, 1887.

DEAR SIR.—Your favor received. It is impossible for me to comply with your request, and for the reasons given you so often that I am weary of repeating them. A. A. ALLEN.

TORONTO, July 22, 1887.

DEAR SIR.—It is no use; I cannot make the advance. We are putting the screws on to our customers to pay up, and dare not make a dollar of fresh loans. You were unfortunate enough to stumble on the very director who wrote me a letter about you. A. A. ALLEN.

Notwithstanding this, he follows the cashier up the next day with the following epistle:

TORONTO, Aug. 23, 1887.

DEAR SIR: I will hand you a diamond that will nearly cover the amount I am so sorely pressed for, coupled with a note that is good. If you will strain a point to assist me and cash it, you will be serving me. It will save my name. It is an old matter that has cropped up and they will ruin me if they take the proceedings they threaten. Recriminations will not do anybody any good, and I am on the edge of a precipice. Give this your grave consideration and do it for me. I will come over myself with the diamond and note if you will arrange it for me. I have got until to-morrow. Your consent will be received with my sincerest thanks. This is the last but one other in the shape of old dishonored checks on the Central Bank that I have out. I have settled all the others. ROLAND I. G. BARNETT.

Allen is tired of refusing. He returned the letter with these words added: "I dare not do anything. It is as much as my position is worth. Please do not worry me, as I am greatly perplexed with business to-day."

Neither has any effect on the irrepressible Barnett. He comes out with a new proposal, and makes such a pressing, pitiful appeal that Allen replies:

TORONTO, March 15, 1887.

DEAR SIR—As was stated to you yesterday, it is impossible at present to increase your account with the bank. As you are anxious to embark in business again, and think your prospects are bright, I will, in order to assist you to retrieve yourself, propose that if it is perfectly satisfactory and agreeable to Mr. Roaf, but not otherwise, I will open a special credit for Mr. J. R. Roaf, or his firm, to the extent of $2500 or $3000 for three months (not in any way to interfere with his own account or requirement for the bank) for your benefit, and will execute such assurance or lodge with him or them such securities as will be satisfactory and save them harmless in case of your failure to pay at end of three months. This will give me a chance to realize upon securities in hand, such as diamonds, etc., to recoup Messrs. R. in case of your failure to come to time. . . . . This advance is made on the understanding that you will give all necessary assistance and information to enable us to benefit or realize on our securities. A. A. A.

The other letters are unimportant.

Mr. Foster put a few questions to Mr. Roaf after the identification of the papers. The crowded court room was eager with expectation, as Mr. Roaf, being Barnett's solicitor, was supposed to know a good deal of Barnett's methods. Mr. Roaf, however, did not seem, from his replies, to be in keeping of any deep secrets. He denied that he ever dictated a letter to his clerk to be addressed to himself.

In reply to Mr. Foster, he said that Barnett had asked him to try to arrange a new line of credit at the Central for $15,000, but he refused. He did not know that there was an "organized combination to wreck the bank." At least he did not remember using these words. Magnus Davis had met him on the street one day and he understood that there was a combination of brokers formed to "bear" the stock, and spread rumors that the bank was weak. The name was not Solomon Magnus Davis; he thought it was Solomon Magnus.

Damage By a Flood at Moulinette.

CORNWALL, Jan. 28.—A report from Moulinette, seven miles west of here, says the water rose this morning with such force as to sweep Corey Wood's carding mill down the river. It also tore away the bridge running from Sheik's Island to Moulinette, and carried away one end of J. G. Snetsinger's grist mill, leaving it liable to float away at any moment. The water was never known to

A Big Contract.

A gentleman representing a Buffalo firm was in town on Saturday, looking after poles. His firm has received the contract for supplying $200,000 worth of telegraph, telephone and electric light poles. They are for use in New England and as far west and south as California and Texas. He did not do any business here and left on the Grand Trunk for the Georgian Bay section, where he expects to get enough to fill the contract.

Disgraceful.

The police were sent for no less than twice yesterday afternoon and evening to quell disturbances at the Salvation Army meetings, in the Opera House. Three young men conducted themselves in a disgraceful manner, cursing and swearing in such loud tones that they could be heard all over the room. These are not by any means isolated cases, as similar complaints are frequently made. These disturbers are not wanted at the meetings and if they do not like the form of worship, they are not compelled to remain for an instant but are at perfect liberty to walk out at any time. A term of thirty days in gaol has been found to work a cure in similar cases and it might be tried here with good effect.

Curling Notes.

It is expected that the first draw for the point medal will be finished by Tuesday night, but in order to do it, a large number of games will have to be played in the meantime.

Our curlers have no foreign matches on the slate just now, but one or two are expected in a few days.

Two rinks left for Oshawa by the G. T. R. this morning to play in the bonspiel there, the winner to represent this district in the Ontario Tankard competition. They Need It.

The Market and License By-Laws will receive a thorough overhauling at the hands of the Council this year.

Y. W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the "Y" will be held in the hall, George St., on Monday evening, Jan 30th, at 7.30.

Town Council.

A meeting of the Town Council for the transaction of general business will take place this evening at 7.30 o'clock.

That Kid.

And now kid the boot man is going to take stock and he is going to reduce his prices like this. Ladies overshoes $1, Men's felt overshoes $1.05, Ladies felt slippers 19 cents—but he must stop quoting prices or people will suspect him of selling below cost!!

Works Like a Charm.

The telephonic system of fire alarm in use here, works like a charm. Of the last eight alarms, seven had been sent in by telephone, either from the boxes or private telephones, and the only one that did not come in this way was the one that caused so much trouble.

The Next Carnival.

It is definitely announced that the next skating carnival, under the auspices of Canton Peterborough No. 10, will take place at the Lansdowne rink, on Tuesday, February 14th. Already committees are at work and many novel and attractive features will be added to the usual programme. Remember the date, St. Valentine's Day, February 14th.

An Upset.

On Sunday afternoon two young ladies were driving down George Street. When turning west on Simcoe Street, the cutter slipped, the horse fell down and the occupants were spilled on the street. The horse started to run away, but was captured before going very far. The ladies were not injured in the least and drove off as merrily as ever.

Changed Hands.

The well known Kennealy House, at George and Brock Street, has changed hands, Mr. Wm. Kennealy having sold out to Mr. Martin Connors. The house has now an established reputation and is well and favorably known throughout the country. The new proprietor has had some experience in the hotel business and we have no doubt that he will keep things moving in the same groove as heretofore.

Died at Byng Inlet.

Word has been received of the death of Mr. Matthew Sanderson, at Byng Inlet, on January 22nd aged 46 years The deceased was an old resident of Peterborough and for years he was one of the leaders in cricketing circles. The interment took place at the Byng Inlet, it being almost impossible to get the body out during the winter months. Deceased had been ailing for some months. His relatives have the sincere sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

An Old Timer.

The Timerkip correspondent of the Woodstock Times writes as follows:—"Have to chronicle the decease of Mr. A. Emerson, who forty years ago, settled on the 16th line of East Zorra, directly west of the village. Prior to taking up his residence in East Zorra, Mr. Emerson lived in Peterborough, from which place a man named Darling moved his family by means of an ox team to Zorra. By the death of a relative in England Mr. E. was left a considerable sum of money since which time he has been in easy circumstances. He retired from this farm about 13 years ago and since that time has lived in the village, where he was a well known figure, especially by the school children, for whom he had always a kind word. He leaves behind him a wife, three sons and four daughters."

The Races.

The annual ice races will take place on the Little Lake on Thursday and Friday of this week. An excellent "Kite" track, a full mile, has been prepared and is now in splendid shape. The first day's programme includes a three minute and a two thirty-five trot, for purses of $100, divided into three prizes. The events of the second day are a named race, purse $60; a 2.45 race, purse $100, and a free for all, purse $125. The management is in first class hands and, as is well known, the best horse usually gets to the front in Peterborough, as the motto here is a fair field and no favor. The judges Messrs. M. B. Williams, Cobourg, J. J. Daly Lindsay, and A. Sawers, Peterborough, are all men of sterling integrity and we have no doubt that they will perform the duties required of them without fear, favor or affection.

A Fire.

Shortly after eight o'clock on Saturday evening, an alarm of fire was sent in by telephone, "It's on McDonnel street," yelled a boy, and the hook and ladder truck sped west on Simcoe street. In the meantime it was discovered that the fire was in a strip house on College street, near McDonnel. The hose wagon was tugged out on the street, and in doing so a portion of the harness broke. New harness had to be secured, and while that was being done the old two wheeled reel was taken up and in a few minutes a stream was playing on the fire from the hydrant at the east end of Harvey street. The hose wagon next arrived and another stream was turned on from the College street hydrant and in short order the fire was under control. For a few minutes the neighboring houses were thought to be in great danger as a regular nest of sheds filled the yards and the eaves of the dwellings almost touched. Dense volumes of black smoke poured up and people at a distance thought that some great conflagration was in progress. The house was pretty well gutted. It was owned by Mrs. Ann Burley. For years it has been known as the old Flavelle house. There was no person in the house when the fire started and there is no doubt that it commenced near the stove. Some furniture was destroyed and some was removed by the neighbors and firemen. The building was insured for $600, which amount will probably cover the loss. The furniture was not insured. The furniture, etc., was removed from the neighboring houses, but the scare was soon quieted down and the goods removed back again.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

CONCLUSION OF THE FIRST SESSION OF THE YEAR.

A Large Amount of Business Transacted on the Last Day—A Grant to the T.V.C. Committee—Norwood High School Aided.

SATURDAY.

Warden Walsh called the Council to order shortly after 9 o'clock and business went forward with a rush.

COUNTY PROPERTY.

Mr. SANDERSON read the report of the County Property Committee, as follows:—

Your Committee on County Property beg leave to report as follows:—

That Messrs. Moloney, Sanderson and the County Engineer be a committee with authority to put in repair the windows of the Court House and to fit up the tank rooms therein for the better accommodation of the gaol, and also to erect such water closets in Court House as they deem fit.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
MICHAEL SANDERSON, Chairman.
Jan. 28th, 1888.

The report was adopted.

PETITIONS.

Mr. STEWART read the following report of the Committee on Petitions:—

Your Committee on Petitions beg leave to report:—

1. With reference to the communication of the County of Elgin, your Committee are of opinion that the time has not yet arrived for the total abolition of the Grand Jury system.

2. With reference to the communication from the same council asking co-operation in petitioning the Ontario Legislature to provide for the appointment, by County Councils, of coroners, Police Magistrates and other officers, your Committee recommend that no action be taken.

3. With reference to the communication of the Council of the County of Kent, recommending that the Assessment Act of Ontario be amended so as to exempt all farm stock from assessment under said Act, your Committee consider that such legislation is undesirable.

4. Your Committee recommend that the Ontario Legislature be petioned to so increase the accommodation for the insane, so as to rid the jails of the Province of this burden.

GEO. STEWART, Chairman.
January 28th, 1888.

The report was adopted.

APPOINTMENTS.

Mr. FORSTER read the report of the Committee on Appointments as follows:—

The Committee on Appointments to Office beg leave to report, recommending the following appointments for the current year:—

1. That W. E Roseburgh be appointed trustee of the Norwood High School.
2. That Messrs. Sanderson and John Carnegie be appointed members of the Board of Audit of criminal and County accounts.
3. That John E. Belcher be appointed County Engineer.
4. That Robert Kincaid, M.D., be appointed Gaol Surgeon.
5. That Henderson Heebitt be appointed caretaker of the Court House and grounds.
6. That W. B Kelly be appointed caretaker of the Mud Lake Bridge.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
Jos. FOSTER, Chairman.
Peterborough, Jan. 26th, 1888.

The report was adopted.

SCHOOLS.

Mr. KIDD read the following report of the Committee on Schools:—

Your Committee on Schools beg leave to report:—

1 Your Committee recommend that the Ontario Government be memorialized for increased aid to Collegiate Institutes and High and Common Schools of this Province.

2. That the School Inspector be instructed to hold yearly written examinations in the Public Schools under his charge, at such time as he deems it advisable and to report to this Council the grading of such schools, by percentage, in accordance with the result of such examination, and the trustees of each section are to be notified by the Inspector of the day and date of such an examination and to have the opportunity to attend the same.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
JOHN FINLAY, Chairman.
January 28th, 1888.

The report was adopted.

FINANCE.

Mr. KIDD also read the report of the Finance Committee as follows:—

Your Committee on Finance beg leave to report:—

1 That they have examined the following accounts and recommend the payment of the same:—

2. Your committee recommend that the accounts paid by your Treasurer, on the authority of the Warden, &c., or under contract duly entered into, be confirmed.

3. Your Committee acknowledge the receipt from the Registrar of the County of Peterborough of $27.60, amount of rebate on the fees of his office.

4 That no action be taken with reference to the request of the County of Peterborough Rifle Association, for a special grant to them of $50.

5. Your committee acknowledge the receipt of a copy of the report of the Finance Committee of the Town of Peterborough, adopted by that body on Sept. 5th, 1887, with reference to Scott Act fines.

6. That the sum of $12.75 be paid to Samuel Stewart, as the County's share of damage sustained by him owing to injury to his horse at the Lock's bridge.

7. That a special grant of $250 be made to the Norwood High School.

8. That no grant be made to the Ontario Rifle Association.

9. That no action be taken with reference to the claim of J. M. Irwin, for expenses incurred in securing the conviction of the parties who robbed his storehouse in Anstruther.

10. Your Committee recommend the payment of $2,500 to Mr. E. B. Edwards, County Solicitor, for his services in connection with the Grand Junction Railway suit, over and above all disbursements.

11. That the County Clerk be authorized to prepare a by law, to issue debentures for raising the sum of $7,000, payable in equal instalments of principal and interest, within twent years.

12 That the County Police Magistrate be allowed to retain for his own use all fees payable to the Magistrate in all cases brought and tried before him, when received from the party ordered to pay the same, in addition to his salary.

13. That the sum of $500 be appropriated towards the expenses of the enquiry before the Trent Valley Canal Commission, to be paid out by the County Treasurer from time to time, on the order of the President and Secretary of Trent Valley Canal Association and that a further sum of $500 be appropriated to be expended in the matter of such enquiry, as the joint committe of the town and county may direct. Provided that these appropriations shall only be made on the condition that the town grant an equal amount in each case, to be similarly expended. A return of the expenditure to be rendered by the Association to this Council.

A. R. KIDD, Chairman.
January 28th, 1888.

Mr. MOLONEY moved, seconded by Mr. MONEE—That the report of the Finance Committee be adopted.

Mr. FINLAY moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. ELMHIRST,—That the report be referred back to be amended by adding a grant of $250 to the Norwood High School.

Amendment was put and carried in the following division:—

YEAS—Messrs. Brown, Moore, Burnham, Hicks, Casement, Mansfield, Crowe, Finlay Kidd, Elmhirst and Wilde.—11

NAYS—Messrs. Moloney, Moher, Forster, Stewart, Sanderson, Anderson, Fitzgerald and Crough.—8.

The report was amended accordingly.

Mr. KIDD moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. MANSFIELD—That the report be amended by reducing the amount provided for the Trent Valley Canal by $500.

Mr. KIDD thought that $500 would be sufficient till the Council met again in June.

Mr. BURNHAM explained the necessity for placing before the Commission full evidence regarding the canal. If there was one county interested more than another in the scheme it was Peterborough. This county had already benefitted largely by the expenditure.

The amendment was lost on the following division:—

YEAS—Messrs. Sanderson, Fitzgerald, Anderson, Stewart, Finlay, Kidd, Mansfield and Moore.—8.

NAYS—Messrs. Moloney, Moher, Brown, Burnham, Hicks, Casement, Crough, Crowe, Forster, Elmhirst and Wilde.—11.

The report as amended was adopted,

Badly Drifted.

A gentleman who had occasion to drive out to the Township of Douro, on Sunday, informs us that he found the roads badly drifted, the snow in some places being as high as the horse's back.

Graduation.

Ten of the Business College students will graduate to-night. The exercises begin promptly at 8 o'clock, and a cordial invitation is extended to all to attend. An interesting time is anticipated.

Alterations.

The alterations at the old Central Iron Works to fit the building up for the Lock Company are still in progress. The wide entrance door on Simcoe street has been bricked up and windows has taken its place.

Entertainment.

The Auburn Council Royal Temlars of Temperance will hold a musical and literary entertainment in the Auburn church on the evening of Tuesday, Feb, 7th. A good programme of songs, dialogues, readings etc., will be provided. 6d28

Via Peterborough.

The Grand Trunk morning express, on the main line, reached Toronto on Saturday by running over the missing link. It was found impossible, owing to the snow blockade, to run from Port Hope to Toronto, by the regular route.

Personal.

The Rev. I. Tovell, of Peterborough, preached the missionary sermons in the old Richmond Street Church, Toronto, on Sunday. He also took part in the afternoon, in the memorial service held by the Prohition Club in memory of the late Rev. John Smith, of Toronto.

Not Worth Speaking of.

A rumor was in circulation to-day to the effect that the embankment of the Dickson raceway had broken and that the water had overflown and cut up the street. A little water did escape, but the damage done can be repaired for less than a dollar. Anchor ice shoving down caused the water to rise.

Carelessness.

When a gentleman residing on Sherbrooke street was on his way home on Saturday night, he observed fire smouldering at the bottom of a fence, close to a shed He found a burning cigar butt, which had been carlessly thrown away by some smoker, lying near the fence and the heat had just commenced to ignite the boards. Only for its timely discovery considerable damage might have been done.

By Anchor Ice.

The factories and mills along the Dickson raceway have had to shut down more or less, during the last few days, on account of the great quantity of anchor ice coming down. Men have been employed for some weeks in keeping an open channel above the dam to run off the anchor ice, as it floated down, but it got beyond their control with the result of interfering with the proper running of the factories. The flooms in some cases were almost filled with ice and they had to be chopped out. This afternoon, however, the difficulty was about over and nearly all the establishments were in full working order.

Brevities.

—Hiawatha Encampment, No. 65, will meet to-morrow evening.

—Arrangements are being made to hold ice races at Omemee, early in February.

—A Lakefield citizen is now running a stage from that village to Peterborough.

—The Police Court calender was a blank this morning.

—The 13 point games, for the club medals both senior and junior, are now in progress.

—The mild weather that now prevails is accounted for by many, as the result of the eclipse.

—The charity committee will open and award tenders for one hundred cords of mixed wood, this evening.

—It is reported that glanders has broken out among the horses, in Rathbun's shanty, in North Hastings.

—The bank managers will accept Federal Bank bills at par and exchange them for gold.

—The matter of increasing the salaries of the firemen will come up at the Council meeting this evening.

—Up to date it has required about five tons of coal to heat the new post office, since January 2nd, 1888.

—The meetings of the Salvation Army at the Opera House yesterday afternoon and evening were well attended.

—Half a dozen citizens of Port Hope drove up to Peterborough yesterday. They found the roads badly drifted.

—A man who has tried it says that ague can be cured by the sufferer swallowing spiders' webs, with the eggs in them.

—The livery stables did a rushing business yesterday and after dinner a horse could not be obtained for love or money.

—The man who looked at the eclipse on Saturday night through a piece of smoked glass, did not injure his eyes in the least.

—"Gladstone" was not as successful at the Fenelon Fall races, as anticipated, and the same may be said of "Lapidist chief."

—The Lakefield and Keene Curling Clubs will probably play a match in the rink here for the Ontario Tankard some day this week.

—The Post Office Department at Ottawa has decided that wedding cake cannot be sent by sample post, but must pay parcel post duty.

—The letter box at the corner of London and Mill streets is found a great convenience to the people employed in that vicinity.

—The revised statutes of Ontario, 1887, are now being issued to the magistrates and others entitled to them throughout the Province.

—It appears that we only got the tail end of the blizzard last week. We notice that in several other neighboring places that it prevailed with great fury.

—Two ladies are collecting for the House of Providence, Toronto. This is a deserving institution and assists the poor from all parts of the province.

—Two tramps lodged in the cells on Saturday night and one last night. All came from the east and were pushing for the land of the setting sun.

—A gang of young men were misconducting themselves on Simcoe street last night. P. C. McGinity was sent for and soon put a stop to the proceedings.

—On Wednesday six carpenters leave Peterborough, under engagement to work along the line of the Canadian Pacific railway, building and repairing bridges.

—The track on the Little Lake is now used every day for speeding purposes by the local sports and some good bursts of speed are shown by promising youngsters.

—Terry Smith has got old "Tom" into harness again and the trouble that has recently taken place regarding the hose wagon, will not likely occur again.

—Some noisy individuals interferred with the proceedings at the Salvation Army meeting yesterday afternoon. Officer Adams went up, but all was quiet upon his arrival.

—At the Millbrook skating carnival last week, according to the Reporter, a prize was awarded to "the most awkward man on skates from the country." A Cavan farmer captured it.

—Since the first day of January, 1888, the Fire Brigade has been summoned out by alarms no less than eight times. Their services were brought into requisition on five occasions.

—The exceedingly cold dip of the last week had the effect of driving the thrifty and hardy English sparrows to seek shelter and they were found in several of the public buildings.

—We notice by our exchanges that medical men in other places are frequently fined for neglecting to report cases of infectious diseases. The same thing is liable to occur here any day.

—Messrs. McAudrew & Noble have completed their contract for putting in the hot water heating apparatus in the new post office, and the job is now ready for inspection by the engineer from Ottawa.

—At an early hour on Saturday morning a sneak thief gained admittance to the residence of Mrs Sutherland, a boarding house keeper, on Hunter street, and carried off some small articles.

—The Young People's Association of the George Street Church will hold a literary and musical entertainment in the Sunday school room this evening. A good programme. Admission free.

—The cold snap was a good thing for the coal and wood dealers who had their hands full in supplying their customers, while the mercury in the thermometer hovered around the bottom of the bulb.

—A prominent and successful farmer says that the drought of last summer has killed off the chinch bug, that great destroyer of wheat crops, and that no more trouble need be looked for from that pest, for eight or ten years to come.

—People going to church last night were loud in their complaints regarding the absence of street lights, neither the gas lamps or the electric light being lit. It was surely dark enough, but that fact does not appear to make much difference.

—Mr. G. W. Yarker, Manager of the Federal Bank, is well known here. He was for some years stationed in the Bank of Montreal, at Peterborough. His friends will regret that he was not more successful in lifting up the Federal out of the slough into which it fell.

—The South Monaghan farmers find the ice road on the river a great boon and in consequence the trade from that township with Peterborough is largely increased during the winter months. The construction of a proper bridge would be a paying investment for the town.

A clear skin adds to the beauty of a fine face, and often lends a charm to homeliness. To beautify your complexion, you should purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. As a tonic and alterative medicine, it has no equal. Price $1. Six bottles, $5.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 2 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reestablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

IT BEATS THE CENTRAL BANK.

Two Dandy Swindlers' Operations in the County of Huron.

CLINTON, Ont., Jan. 28.—One of the most deliberate and successful swindles in the mercantile community that has taken place around these parts for some time, was consummated at Lanes, in the Township of Ashfield. Some time ago a couple of young men named Rutherford sold their farm, and invested the proceeds in a stock of dry goods, opening out at Dungannon. They did a rushing business, selling their stock for spot cash or negotiable notes. Having established their credit at the wholesale houses by their first purchase for cash, they next secured a fresh stock on time, giving their notes at six months, which would bring them due about Feb. 1. Their subsequent actions show that in doing this they were deliberately planning to swindle the wholesale houses. They then opened out a branch store at Lanes, and at both places commenced a slaughter sale of the stock. No credit was given, but everything was sold for whatever it would fetch in cash or good notes. A short time ago one of the brothers left, taking with him it is supposed from $5000 to $10,000, and the wholesale houses interested, hearing how things were going, appeared upon the scene, but were powerless to do anything. The remaining partner would not admit that his brother had "skipped," which was the fact, but claimed that he had gone to settle with the wholesale houses. The wholesalers saw that the goods were being sacrificed before their eyes, and knew that they were going to be swindled, but were unable to prevent it, as they could not prove the absent member of the firm was out of the country, and the notes not being due till the 1st, payment of them could not be enforced. The principal house interested is that of Boyd Bros., Toronto, and it is said that one day last week the leading member of this firm, accompanied by a Toronto lawyer, went up to try and protect his interests, and Rutherford actually had the cheek to drive Mr. Boyd out of the store with a neck-yoke, and continue slaughtering the goods in defiance of them. After the whole stock had been disposed of the remaining member of the firm, H. D. Rutherford, took his departure for that haven of swindlers across the lines, leaving the wholesale houses several thousand dollars worse off for their acquaintance with them.

A Big Failure at Trenton.

The failure of Smith & Bryson, who carried on an extensive dry goods and grocery business at Trenton, is announced. The liabilities are large and the assets insignificant. Several Toronto firms are creditors. Although the firm has only been established in business for about two years it practically controlled the local trade in its line, by slaughtering goods. One of the firm, Mr. Bryson, has disappeared and ugly rumors have arisen therefrom.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"What lovely creatures!" says Geoffrey, who has a passion for animals; they seem to acknowledge him as a friend. As Mona looses them from their den, they go to him, and, sniffing round him, at last open their great jaws into a satisfied yawn, and, raising themselves, rest their paws upon his breast, and rub their faces contentedly against his.

"Now you are their friend forever," says Mona, in a pleased tone. "Once they do that, they mean to tell you that they have adopted you. And they like very few people; so it is a compliment."

"I feel it keenly," says Rodney, caressing the handsome creatures, as they crouch at his feet. "Where did you get them?"

"From Mr. Moore." A mischievous light comes into her face as she says this, and she laughs aloud. "But, I assure you, not as a love-token. He gave them to me when they were quite babies, and I reared them myself. Are they not lovely? I call them 'Spice' and 'Allspice,' because one has a quicker temper than the other."

"The names are original, at all events," says Geoffrey, "which is a great charm. One gets tired of 'Rags and Tatters,' 'Beer and Skittles,' 'Cakes and Ale,' and so forth, where pairs are in question, whether they be dogs or ponies."

"Shall we set out now?" says Mona; and she calls "Mickey, Mickey," at the top of her strong young lungs.

The man who manages the farm generally—and is a plague and a blessing at the same time to his master—appears round a corner, and declares, respectfully, that he will be ready in a "jiffy" to accompany Miss Mona, if she will just give him time to "clane himself up a bit."

And in truth the "claning" occupies a very short period—or else Mona and Geoffrey heed not the parting moments. For sometimes

"Time, as he passes us, has a dove's wing, Unfelt and swift, and of a silken sound."

"I'm ready now, miss, if you are," says Mickey from the background, with the utmost bonhomie, and in a tone that implies he is quite willing not to be ready, if it so pleases her, for another five minutes or so, or even, if necessary, to efface himself altogether. He is a stalwart young Hibernian, with rough hair and an honest face, and gray eyes, merry and cunning, and so many freckles that he looks like a turkey-egg.

"Oh, yes, I am quite ready," says Mona, starting somewhat guiltily. And then they pass out, through the big yard-gate, with the two dogs at their heels, and their attendant squire, who brings up the rear with a soft whistle that rings through the cool night-air, and tells the listening stars that the "girl he loves is his dear," and his "own, his artless Nora Creana."

Geoffrey and Mona go up the road, over many fields, until at length they reach the mountain's summit and gaze down upon the beauteous scene below. Mona is sitting upon the side of the hill, with her hands clasped about her knees, a thoughtful expression on her lovely face. At each side of her, sitting bolt upright on their huge haunches, are the dogs, as though bent on guarding her against all evil. She reminds Geoffrey in some wise of Una and the lion, though the idea is rather far fetched, and he hardly dares speak to her lest he shall break the spell that seems to lie upon her.

She herself destroys it presently.

"This spot always brings to my mind the thoughts of other people," says Mona, softly. "I am very fond of poetry; are you?"

"Very," returns he, surprised. He has not thought of her as one versed in lore of any kind. "What poets do you prefer?"

"I have read so few," she says, wistfully, and with hesitation. Then, shyly, "I have so few to read. I have a Longfellow, and a Shakspeare, and a Byron; that is all."

"Byron?"

"Yes. And after Shakspeare, I like him the best, and then Longfellow.—Why do you speak in that tone? Don't you like him?"

"I think I like no poet half so well. You mistake me," replies he, ashamed of his own surprise at her preference for his lordship beneath the calm purity of her eyes. "But—only—it seemed to me Longfellow would be more suited to you."

"Well, so I do love him. And just then I was thinking of him; when I looked up to the sky his words came back to me. You remember what he says about the moon rising 'over the pallid sea and the silvery mist of the meadows,' and how—

"'Silently, one by one, in the infinite meadows of heaven, Blossomed the lovely stars, the forget-me-nots of the angels.'"

"That is so sweet, I think."

"I remember it, and I remember, too, who watched all that; do you?" he asks, his eyes fixed upon hers.

"Yes. Gabriel—poor Gabriel—and Evangeline," returns she, too wrapt up in recollections of that sad and touching tale to take to heart his meaning:

"'Meanwhile, apart, in the twilight gloom of a window's embrasure,
Sat the lovers, and whispered together.'"

That is the part you mean, is it not? I know all that poem very nearly by heart."

He is a little disappointed by the calmness of her answer.

"Yes; it was of them I thought," he says, turning his head away, "of the—lovers. I wonder if their evening was as lovely as ours?"

Mona makes no reply.

"Have you ever read Shelley?" he asks, presently, puzzled by the extreme serenity of her manner.

She shakes her head.

"Some of his ideas are lovely. You would like his poetry, I think."

"What does he say about the moon?" asks Mona, still with her knees in her embrace, and without lifting her eyes from the quiet waters down below.

"About the moon? Oh, many things. I was not thinking of the moon," with faint impatience; "yet, as you ask me, I can remember one thing he says about it."

"Then tell it to me," says Mona.

So at her bidding he repeats the lines slowly, and in his best manner, which is very good:

"The cold, chaste moon, the queen of heaven's bright isles,
Who makes all beautiful on which she smiles;
That wandering shrine of soft yet icy flame,
Which ever is transformed, yet still the same,
And warms, but not illumines."

He finishes; but, to his amazement, and a good deal to his chagrin, on looking at Mona he finds she is wreathed in smiles—nay, is in fact, convulsed in laughter.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

IN NERVOUS HEADACHE, FEVER AND DYSPEPSIA.

Dr. A. S. KIRKPATRICK, Van Wert, O., says "I have used it with the most brilliant success in chronic nervous headaches, hectic fever with profuse night sweats, impotence, nervousness, etc."

POKING FUN!

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprises largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8.75, this is an all wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3 75 and a pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits really nice and lot of them $1.95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

wl don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPAR'S, where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

Farm Mortgages and Commercial Union.

The limited number of Canadians who are crazy on the subject of Commercial Union pretend to believe that if we only had that, a time of unequalled prosperity for our farmers would begin. Everything would be lovely, and the goose would hang high. But are the farmers of the Southern and Western States so very well off, after all, with the market of sixty millions and Commercial Union at command? What it is said would make the fortune of our farmers, if they only had it, they have already without the trouble of asking for it. How the case stands with them is thus told by The Chicago Times:

Farm mortgages are swallowing up millions of acres of land in southern and western states and territories. The syndicates that loan money at from 1 to 3 per cent. per month are mainly made up of Scotch, English and New England capitalists, who have their agents throughout the south and west. These mortgages are falling due, and soon an immense number of southern and western farms will be in the hands of foreign mortgagees. It is said that $200,000,000 has been loaned on farm mortgages in the southwest—in Kansas $30,000,000, and nearly as much in Nebraska. The territories are covered with mortgages on new farms not yet patented. In some of them the law has permitted outrageous interest, so that the farm-mortgage business has grown into immense proportions. In many land districts half of the settlers borrow money at high interest to pay the small price required by the Government on proving up. This is leading to widespread disaster. The object of the pre-emption law is perverted. Eastern and foreign capitalists get the land with such improvements as the settler has put upon it. The settler loses all by reason of the exorbitant interest he is compelled to pay. Had the pre-emption law been repealed, when the homestead law was passed, this lamentable result would not have occurred, while bona fide emigration and settlement of the public domain would have been encouraged.

HOLDING DAILY SESSIONS.

THE FISHERIES COMMISSIONERS HARD AT WORK.

Confidence That They Will Arrive at a Satisfactory Settlement of the Differences —Senator Frye Asks For Information With Reference to the Dominion.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The Fisheries Conference still holds daily sessions and both the Canadian staff and United States officials who are charged with the preparation of the data seem to be unusually busy.

The negotiations have now been so long in progress that it seems impossible to believe that some settlement is not to be effected.

It is rumored to-night that Dr. Dawson of the Zoological Survey of Canada is also to be attached to the staff here in connection with pending matters.

THIRSTING FOR KNOWLEDGE.

United States Senator Frye Desires Information Regarding the Dominion.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—In the Senate Mr. Frye, (Me.) offered a resolution, which was adopted, calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for information touching the transportation of goods across the boundary line between the United States and Canada in bond or otherwise, as to what methods are taken to protect the revenue derived from bonded goods passing the frontier both ways and as to enforcing the second clause of the sixth section of the interstate commerce law.

Mr. Frye also offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Foreign Relations to have prepared a statement embracing the following points: The various political organizations of the Dominion of Canada and its several provinces, including Newfoundland; the treaties with the United States in regard to the Dominion and its several provinces; the commercial status established; the amount and value of commerce and trade between the United States and Canada; the amount and value of the transit rate on goods not subject to duty; the area and population of the Dominion of Canada and its provinces; the amount of their funded and floating debts; their revenues; their railroads, showing the mileage, cost, spare capital, funded and floating debts and the guarantees given to them by Great Britain or the Dominion; their canals, showing the size of the locks, the cost of the canals, the number of vessels navigating them and the average number of days that they are navigable; the dates, for a series of years, of the opening and closing of navigation on the St. Lawrence, and as to the subsidies paid to steamship and railroad companies. The resolution was laid over.

FATHER M'FADDEN.

Sentenced to Three Months' Imprisonment —Another Warrant for O'Brien.

DUBLIN, Jan. 30.—Father McFadden of Gweedore, who was arrested for holding anti-landlord and anti-police meetings, was sentenced to-day to three months' imprisonment.

Another Warrant for O'Brien.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The Tribune's London special says another warrant has been issued for the arrest of Wm. O'Brien, editor of United Ireland.

Fire-Eaters at New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The Irish volunteers held a meeting last night, at which O'Donovan Rossa and Frank O'Brune were the speakers. Both advised Irishmen to imitate the men who killed Cavendish and Burke, and urged that lord lieutenants, chief secretaries and judges in Ireland should be assassinated. The use of dynamite was advocated, and the Irish were advised to trust their leaders and supply them with money to wage war against England.

THE BRANDON COMPROMISE.

Hotly Opposed in Some Quarters and Warmly Supported in Others.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 30.—The compromise proposed by the Brandon Conservatives respecting disallowance meets with hot opposition in some quarters and strong support in others. The West, which has no expectations of being relieved from the monopoly, is said to favor it, but in Eastern Manitoba the proposal is not warmly received. Doubtless a compromise would be satisfactory to the great majority but it all depends upon its terms.

The Free Press and Sun oppose the proposal and The Call suggests a round table conference between the Federal and Local Governments to settle the difficulty.

A Frontier Incident.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—To-day, while several Russian soldiers were fishing in a stream near the Prussian border, they crossed the frontier. On being ordered to re-cross the line by two Prussian gendarmes, they declined to do so, and fired at the Prussians, wounding one of them slightly. The Russians seized the wounded man, but when his companions tried to rescue him they released him and arrested the other Prussian, whom they took away with them.

An Unfortunate London Lad.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Some six weeks ago a lad named Bert Ball while "skylarking" in H. McKay & Co.'s cigar factory, fell down the hoistway, breaking his leg. He was taken to the hospital, and had about recovered when yesterday, while walking for exercise in his ward, he fell and fractured the same leg.

FRENCH SCHOOLS IN ONTARIO.

A Report to the Legislature Says there are 65 in Prescott and Russell.

TORONTO, Jan. 31.

The Legislature went into session at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and remained there just about three minutes and a half.

A number of petitions were presented. The Attorney-General introduced a bill respecting the Revised Statutes. Mr. Meredith said it was time the Revised Statutes were in the hands of the people. He inquired the cause of the delay. Mr. Mowat replied it was on account of certain tables. They would be put in the hands of the people as speedily as possible.

The Provincial Secretary presented a number of orders-in-council referring to printing text books, raising the Chatham High School to the status of a Collegiate Institute, and regulations respecting the Education Department and the Factory Act.

Hon. Mr. Hardy also presented the report of the Public School Inspector in regard to the French schools in Prescott and Russell. There are sixty-five French schools in these counties. The Inspector, Mr. O. Dufard, says: "The schools are doing better work than when under the supervision of English inspectors, who had not enough knowledge of French to address the pupils in their mother tongue, much less to correct the pronunciation and examine in the various subjects taught." The phonetic method of teaching reading was progressing notwithstanding the opposition of the parents, who desired their children taught the French-Canadian pronunciation. Arithmetic, which was formerly taught but once a week, was now receiving more attention. The parents offered no opposition to it. The Inspector continues: "As it has been publicly asserted that the French are particularly averse to having English taught, I must mention that forty-three teachers and four assistants teach English reading and spelling, and in some cases the translation of English into French is also taught. Twenty-seven teach nothing but French, but of these 21 have a knowledge of English, so that there are only 6 teachers who have no knowledge of English."

Hon. Mr. Hardy also laid reports from the Inspector of Prisons and Public Charities before the House. The attendance at the Institute for the Deaf and Dumb, at Belleville, on Sept 6 was 238, 141 boys and 97 girls. The total expenditure at this institute in 1887 was $39,695.01, or $171.10 a pupil. In 1886 it was $41,029.71, or $168.84 a pupil. At the Institute for the Blind at Brantford there were 135 in attendance, 80 males and 55 females. The expenses for 1887 were $32,887.94, or $247.27 a pupil. In 1886 the expenses were $32,574.75, or $246.78 a pupil.

COUNTRY SWINDLE.

How an "Enterprising" Firm Fleeced Toronto and Hamilton Wholesale Houses.

TORONTO, Jan. 31.

According to The Lucknow Sentinel the only topic of conversation up in Huron and Bruce "is the 'big steal' perpetrated on the wholesale dry goods houses of Toronto, Hamilton and London by the Rutherford Bros. of Belfast." Belfast is in West Huron. The Rutherfords had branches in Lansville and Dungannon, adjacent villages.

The Sentinel tells the story something like this, estimating the amount of the rascality at $20,000: "It appears one of them bought the goods and gave his note in payment thereof. The notes, however, do not fall due till Feb. 4 next, and in order to realize as much money as possible out of the goods, a series of auction sales were held and the stuff was sold off at whatever prices the people were willing to pay. After the sales had been carried on in this manner for some weeks, we believe the creditors were made aware of the facts, but they were powerless to stop it. The notes they had taken for the stock were not yet due, and as the law now stands, no action could be taken by them till such time as the notes matured and payment of them was refused. But to avoid any possible doubt in this direction the goods were in the meantime sold to his brother, while the one who originally made the purchase left for the United States. This of course completely shut out any possible chance of the creditors ever realizing a cent out of the affair, and the balance of the stock was sold in bulk last week to parties in the village at less than one quarter its value. While we are sorry for the creditors who are defrauded out of their goods, yet we believe wholesale men have themselves to blame for a great deal of the trouble. This is not, so we are informed, the first time these parties have 'failed in business,' and yet for al that they succeeded in getting credit to the amount of $18,000 or $20,000 without a dollar's worth of security only their notes."

TORONTO TOPICS.

The amalgamation of the Northern and the Hamilton and Northwestern Railways with the Grand Trunk was discussed at the City Council last night, and referred to the Executive Committee.

Mr. F. Birtts, President, and H. W. Wadsworth, Secretary, of the Montreal Commercial Travelers' Association, and A. A. Allen, vice-President, and James Sargent, Secretary of the Toronto Association, met the railway passenger agents at Montreal yesterday, and arranged for an extension of existing privileges to commercial travelers until May 1, 1888.

The privileges would have expired to-day but for the extension. Commercial travelers' rates on all Canadian roads are 2½ cents per mile and 300 lbs. of free baggage.

The people of Canada will be glad to hear that Mr. Blake, when last heard from, was still in Rome enjoying improved health. He will be away some months yet, and therefore it is not likely that he will take his seat at Ottawa this coming session.

Mr. Pat Purcell is in town. Yesterday his solicitor, Mr. Holman, went to Mr. Justice Rose's private residence, the judge being still indisposed, and asked that the trial of Mr. Purcell and others for corrupt practices at the Glengarry election be postponed. His Lordship said he thought the proper time to make the application was when the court opened at Cornwall on Feb. 4.

The Court of Appeal gave judgments yesterday allowing the appeal in Beatty v. Shaw and dismissing appeals in McMillan v. Grand Trunk Railway and Ericson v. Brand. The Court afterwards heard argument in Smith v. Chisome.

The Supreme Court of Judicature yesterday passed the following order in practice and procedure: "Whereas the new consolidated orders are not to go into force until March 1 next, it is hereby ordered that all matters of practice and procedure affected by the acts referred to in the rule of Dec. 21, 1887, shall be deemed to be in force until March 1 aforesaid, as if the same were in substance repeated in this rule."

YESTERDAY'S BUSINESS.

THE "SUSPENDED" LIQUIDATOR'S BOISTEROUS COUNSEL.

The Accounts of the Interim Liquidators —Broker Cox Leaves Cleveland—President Blain Goes to Avon Springs, N.Y. —Return of C. R. Humphries to Town.

TORONTO, Jan. 31.—In the private room of the Master-in-Ordinary, in the west wing of Osgoode Hall, yesterday afternoon, the Master, Thomas Hodgins, Q.C., explained to a reporter what was being done, and said that he was looking for the first time over the accounts just put in by Mr. Campbell of his interim liquidatorship, when Mr. Bain burst out indignantly, to the benign amazement of the Master. "It's outrageous," he remarked loudly and with asperity, "it's disgraceful the way everybody is dogged, and publications are made. These partial reports prejudice the case most unjustly. It's outrageous," and the steely glare of Mr. Bain's eyes prevailed in the apartment.

"It is impossible," interposed the Master, mildly, "that any more than incomplete portions of evidence can come out in a day. This is a large case and the papers report it from day to day."

Mr. Bain hurled himself into the controversy again, denouncing the morbid curiosity that would drag his client's affairs out into the open daylight.

Mr. John Bain, Q.C., attended with Mr. Campbell to bring in a statement of the dealings of Mr. Campbell as provisional liquidator. He states that the account had been prepared according to the usual practice of sellers in banks. He proposes to file the same and asks leave to look further into the accounts as to an alleged imperfection in the accounts, which he finds has crept into the statements.

After further discussion, Mr. Bain contend that the liquidators have no right to require these accounts to be brought in, and that the Master has no jurisdiction to order the accounts to be brought in and filed by the provisional liquidator.

Mr. Foster was present at a portion of these proceedings.

W. A. Foster, Q.C., next appeared and said that Roaf's examination was adjourned, and that there was nothing further to be done. Mr. Foster then displayed the following document:

In the matter of the Winding Up Act, chapter 129, of the Revised Statutes of Canada and of the Central Bank of Canada:

I hereby appoint Wednesday, Feb. 1, at 11 o'clock at my chamber, Court House, No. 51 Adelaide-street, for the examination of R. H. Bethune, A. C. Over, J. L. Brodie, S. Treas, H. P. Dwight, J. P. Kilfedder, A. B. Order, F. V. Philpott, W. Wallace, C. S. Millichamp, E. Buchan, witnesses in Mr. Campbell's behalf on the petition now pending in this matter. J. BRUCE, Special Examiner.

Jan. 30, 1888.

In the meantime Mr. Campbell remains "in mid-air"—his functions as liquidator suspended.

Liquidator Campbell lingered about the Master-in-Ordinary's offices and apartments all day, and about 2.45 fyled with the Master all the accounts of the bank and a complete statement of all transactions made by him as interim liquidator from his appointment on Dec. 21, 1887, up to the time of the petition for his removal.

Regarding the claims of the creditors they are to be presented by Feb. 20, as per advertisement, and will be treated with on Feb. 23.

The liquidators at present are interested in preparing a complete statement of the assets.

E. S. Cox Leaves Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 30.—The despatch from this city printed in The Toronto Mail of to-day does Mr. E. S. Cox a manifest injustice. The interview telegraphed from this city and printed in The Toronto World is about all that transpired between Mr. Cox and the Cleveland reporters. The clerks at the Weddell House said to me to-day that Mr. Cox has never been out at night after 10 o'clock, that he never bought or drank a bottle of wine in the hotel and that the story about his cutting a swell in Euclid-avenue with a fast horse and fancy cutter is a falsehood.

Mr. F. H. Brunell, sporting editor of The Cleveland Plaindealer, who was in Toronto last summer during the ball season, was the person who recognized Mr. Cox in the corridor of the Weddell House. Mr. Cox attracted little attention about the hotel outside of the fact that he wore a rich sealskin coat which he brought with him from Toronto. He spent his time quietly around the hotel and was not mixed up with any crowd of young swells, as alleged in The Mail despatch.

Mr. Cox left the city this morning, but he did not say where he was going, but it is thought he went to Cincinnati. He said again that he would return to Toronto shortly.

President Blain at Avon Springs.

BUFFALO, Jan. 30.—David Blain, President of the defunct Central Bank of Canada, who was registered at the Tifft House in this city for several days, has gone to Avon Springs, near Rochester. These springs are noted for their medicinal properties.

A TORONTO GIRL'S ADVENTURE.

She Leaves Home and is Found With a Street Car Driver at Hamilton.

TORONTO, Jan. 31.

A dark-eyed beauty is Ellen Fraser, the 15 year-old daughter of Simon Fraser, proprietor of a confectionery store doing a snug business at 194 Queen-street east. She is the pet of the household, and has a score of young admirers who gladly parted with their small change for candies when the fair girl was behind the counter.

A week ago last Friday she left home without the knowledge of her parents or any of her admirers, and apparently with no particular point as her destination, though she had a ticket for Chicago. Eight days subsequently the family heard she was in Hamilton, and the father went to the Ambitious City on Sunday. He found her in a York-street boarding house in company with John Maxwell, a pleasant looking young fellow who drives a Toronto street car. The presence of Maxwell in the girl's room seemed to warrant his detention by the Hamilton authorities, and he was held till yesterday, while the Frasers returned home the same evening. Maxwell went to Hamilton on Saturday night to induce the girl, as he says, to return home. He passed Sunday night in the cells, but as there was no charge on which to detain him, the Hamilton magistrate yesterday discharged him, and he came back to this city.

A reporter called at Mr. Fraser's store last night to get a statement of the case. Both parents declare their daughter was induced to leave home by Mrs. Hill, the wife of Edward Hill, barber at 202 Queen-street east. The girl said Mrs. Hill some time ago made her promise to go away with her. She believed the place was Port Arthur, where Mrs. Hill's mother lives. With this intention, she commenced to pilfer daily from the cash drawer, taking altogether a sum she fixes at $75, which she gave Mrs. Hill, who was to buy her a silk dress, a hat and other articles needed for the prospective trip. On the day of her departure, Robert Hill, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Hill, drove her to Union Station where he gave her a valise containing the silk dress and hat, bought by Mrs. Hill, a ticket to Chicago and $25. Mrs. Hill was not there but it had been arranged that Ellen was to proceed alone as far as Chicago, where she was to remain till joined by Mrs. Hill. Reaching Hamilton, however, Ellen concluded to abandon the trip, and return home. She went to the American Hotel on Friday night and on the day following took rooms in a boarding house on York-street, from which she was removed by her father, her whereabouts having been discovered from letters sent to Toronto. The girl described Maxwell's predicament when he was found in her room in an artless way. She seemed to think the scene ludicrous.

Mrs. Hill was not at home when a reporter called. Her husband was told what the Frasers had said about his wife. "That's a funny story, but it is untrue in every particular."

Duty on Fresh Fish.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The Treasury Department has over-ruled the action of the Collector of Customs at Burlington, Vt., in assessing duty at the rate of 1 cent per pound on certain fresh fish caught in arm of Lake Champlain, imported into his district in barrels and then sent to Boston and New York for market. The collector explained that while none of the importations exceeded 1000 pounds they were sufficiently large in his opinion to raise a doubt of their being intended for immediate consumption. The department held, however, that the quantity was too small to justify any doubt on the subject.

Fire at Georgetown.

GEORGETOWN, Jan. 30.—Early this morning a fire destroyed Clark's hotel, Buck's butcher shop and Patterson's bakery. The two latter belonged to Dr. Todd and the former to Mr. Thos. Clark. The buildings were all partially insured. The fire originated from the oven of the bakery. Loss $8000.

The Laprairie Contested Election.

MONTREAL, Jan. 30.—The Laprairie contested election case was continued to-day, when the proceedings for disqualification of Hon. Jas. McShane were commenced. Several carters, farmers and laborers testified to their having been paid for voting. Mr. McShane was not present during the whole day and Judge Loranger issued a rule against him.

Tried to Shoot the Editor.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—A German named Brandt, who is alleged to be a spy, forced his way into the offices of the newspaper La France to-day and tried to shoot the editor, M. Nicol, with a revolver. He stated to the police that his object was to avenge the attacks which La France has made upon Germany.

Candidates for N.S. Anglican Bishopric.

HALIFAX, Jan. 30.—The Anglican Synod of Nova Scotia meets again on Wednesday to make another attempt to elect a new bishop. It is understood that Rev. Dr. John Langtry, rector of St. Luke's Church, Toronto, and Rev. Dr. Courtney, rector of Trinity Church, Boston, will be candidates for the vacancy.

Ah Fat Hung.

VICTORIA, B.C., Jan. 30.—Ah Fat, found guilty at the Fall Assizes of the murder of the Chinese woman, Chuey Whey, was hanged this morning at 8 o'clock in the provincial jail yard. He declared his innocence of the crime and said he was prepared to meet his death. Death was instantaneous.

Abyssinian Troubles.

ROME, Jan. 30.—A despatch from Massowah says it is reported that the King of Abyssinia has been obliged to send Ras Michael with a detachment of troops to the south to quell a tribal revolt.

THE DEBATE ON THE ADDRESS.

According to a practice that has become a custom in the Provincial Legislature the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne was not protracted. The mover and seconder, the leader of the Opposition and the Premier were the only members who took part in it.

The speech which the mover of the address read to the House was the only one we have seen published in full. It is of considerable length, well worded, and portions of it read so much like an extended editorial in our evening contemporary that it would not have been out of place in the editorial columns. It is, on the whole worthy of the concentrated wisdom of the minds that produced it.

The eulogy of Sir Alexander Campbell delivered by Mr. Stratton must have been a surprise to that gentleman. Sir Alexander and his former colleagues in the Dominion Cabinet have been held up by the Liberal party—and by none more so than the Examiner—as anything but honorable gentlemen; as men not to be trusted and who were determined to rob the Dominion and this Province especially. But Mr. Stratton cooly withdraws these accusations, and declares that Sir Alexander is fitted "by fruits of experience and integrity of character, and distinction of political service," to guard "most effecienly and wisely the important trust committed to him;" and, further, that his "thirty years of varied and brilliant experience" "inspire the highest degree of confidence." Remembering how this same gentleman had been attacked, and how last year the Examiner paraded figures to show that on account of the actions of Sir Alexander the Dominion Government was unworthy of confidence, this eulogy, though deserved, makes interesting reading.

Mr. Stratton's reference to the old story of the boundary question was an unhappy one. He asked, if Mr. Meredith had been Premier at the time, "would he have withstood his political master, even to the foot of the throne?" The fact is, that the difference of opinion between Mr. Mowat and Mr. Meredith was that Mr. Meredith urged that the question should be carried to the foot of the throne, while the Premier refused to do so. When, finally, Mr. Meredith's policy was adopted by Mr. Mowat, the question was soon settled and a decision given in favor of the Province.

The praise bestowed on the Government for being able to sell timber limits sounds oddly. What great qualities of statesmanship are required to be able to employ an auctioneer to supply champagne and sell timber was not explained, but the lavish praise would seem to indicate that they must be of the highest order. Yet the figures from the department read by Mr. Stratton show that large sums of money have been lost to the Province through these sales. No defence of the practice of the Government in disposing of the capital of the Province to meet current expenses was attempted.

Why the Government should be commended for adding another member to the Cabinet it is not easy to understand. A Department of Agriculture will not be objected to. But with a cabinet of six members it surely would not have been difficult, if the Government had the interests of agriculture at heart, to find room for one farmer, without the additional expense; and while Mr. Mowat and his colleagues can find time to stump the country for their friends of the House of Commons, when Dominion elections are held, the need of more assistance is not apparent.

AN ECONOMICAL MEASURE

PRINTING THE VOTERS' LISTS AT OTTAWA WILL SAVE $90,000.

Prof. Dawson of the Geological Survey Goes to Washington to Appear Before the Fisheries Commission—Increase of Immigration.

OTTAWA, Jan. 30.—Hon. Mr. Chapleau expects to effect a saving of about $90,000 by having the voters' lists for the whole Dominion printed in Ottawa instead of in the various constituencies, as was done in 1881. That the task of resetting the list is a very considerable one may be gathered from the fact that about 1,000,000 names have to be set, and to each name has to be added the voter's qualification, residence, postoffice, address and other particulars required by the Franchise Act. In the temporary office in St. Patrick-street, which will be used pending the completion of the printing bureau, between forty and fifty printers will be employed, and it is estimated that it will take very nearly a year to get the list set up, revised and corrected. A sufficiently large plant will be purchased to set all the lists, and the matter will be kept standing, which will reduce the cost of correcting the lists after each revision to a minimum.

The cost of the Franchise Act in 1886 was $406,977.69, of which over $180,000 was for printing the lists. A careful estimate made by the superintendent of the printing bureau gives the following as the probable costs of reprinting the lists here, and it is expected that this amount will be slightly reduced: Cost of supplying material, $63,849.80; composition, presswork and paper for first printing, previous to revision, $23,059; cost of printing correction on revision, $3,336.95; total cost, $94,734.75. After the lists are once set up and corrected it is estimated that the cost of each subsequent revision, annual or otherwise, will be about $7800.

If this program can be really carried out as laid down by the Secretary of State, one of the stock arguments of the Opposition against the Franchise Act, the extreme costliness of working it, will be spoiled, for $10,000 a year for correcting and printing the voters' lists for the whole Dominion cannot be regarded as an extravagant sum.

There was a meeting of Council this afternoon, at which, it was understood, fishers matters were discussed, but nothing has transpired except that Prof. Geo. M. Dawson of the Geological Survey will leave for Washington to-night on business connected with Alaska. Dr. Dawson was engaged this summer on a survey in the Yukon district, and his departure for Washington is regarded as indicating that the question of the boundary between British Columbia and Alaska is being considered by the commission.

Chancellor Boyd, C. E. Gregory, Q.C., and T. C. Keefer, C.E., the arbitrators appointed to enquire into the claims of the Canadian Pacific Railway with reference to the western section of the road, including the Onderdonk contract, will meet here on Wednesday for the purpose of organizing, and will probably commence taking evidence shortly.

The Railway Committee of the Privy Council will meet to-morrow morning, when the first case taken up will be that of the crossing of the Canadian Pacific Railway track in Quebec by the Quebec, Montmorency and Charlevoix Railway.

The immigration statistics for last year have not yet been finally made up by the Department of Agriculture, but they are sufficiently advanced to leave no doubt that the increase has been very large. From correspondence received by the department the present indications are that the increase during the present year will be even greater.

The Department of Railways and Canals has been advised that the snow blockade on the Intercolonial was raised on Saturday and passenger trains are running regularly. Ocean bound traffic is reaching Halifax in large quantities owing to the transfer of the Allans' business from Portland to that port on account of a dispute with the Grand Trunk Railway. It is being hurried as rapidly as possible, and the delays have not amounted to anything outside of the output of coal, which has increased in such large quantities that this could not be avoided. At the Spring Hill mine alone 1800 tons a day is being mined, which is an excess of about 300 tons. This coal finds its way as far west as Brockville, but the greater bulk of it is consumed in Montreal.

Among the results brought about by the proposed changes in the management of the Post-office Department will be the promotion of Mr. Smithson, formerly assistant accountant, to the accountantship; of Mr. Matthewson, assistant superintendent of the Savings Bank, to the superintendency, and of Mr. Everett, assistant superintendent of the money order branch, to the superintendency thereof. The positions previously held by these gentlemen, all three of whom are excellent and painstaking officials, will be abolished. With a favorable consolidation of the work the Postmaster-General confidently expects to do away with the necessity, for some time at least, of adding to the staff from ten to twelve clerks every year. The new machinery will be less complicated and the departmental work will be carried through with even greater despatch.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKETS.

TORONTO, Jan. 30.

Grain and produce to-day on the local markets were quiet and steady, while in Chicago the market was weaker and dull, though European were firm.

On call at the Board of Trade to-day: For No. 2 fall wheat 82c was bid and for No. 2 red winter 83c bid. One car of oats was offered at 43½ cents.

The car lots received at Chicago to-day were: Wheat 41, corn 127, oats 119.

The visible supply shows a decrease of 693,104 bush in wheat, an increase of 458,875 bush in corn and a decrease of 868,342 bush in oats.

Robert Cochran received the following despatches by private wire from Chicago to-day: Speculation very sluggish, market at present waiting aspect. Our advices are to buy wheat, corn and pork on reactions.—Early depression in provisions caused by anticipated heavy receipts.—London and Liverpool report firm markets. Foreigners did little. General dulness, awaiting visible, which should show a decrease.—Corn increase and oats decrease. Estimated receipts Tuesday: 32 cars corn, 223 cars oats. Sales for export 3000 bush.

The freport of receipts of hogs from the Chicago Stock Yards to-day is: Estimated receipts 38,000, official on Saturday 5303, shipments 9121, left over 3000. Cattle receipts 12,000. Market dull.

Following is the supply on hand for Toronto as compared with last week and this week of last year:

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

CONCLUSION OF THE FIRST SESSION OF THE YEAR.

A Large Amount of Business Transacted on the Last Day—A Grant to the T.V.C. Committee—Norwood High School Aided.

ROADS AND BRIDGES.

Mr. MOLONEY read the following report of the Committee on Roads and Bridges:—

The Committe on Roads and Bridges beg leave to report as follows:—

1. Your Committee recommend that the County Engineer be instructed to advertise for tenders for the construction of a bridg over the narrows between Harvey and Ennismore on the the Gannon site, according to plans and specifications of the County Engineer.

2. Your Committee acknowledge receipt from the Clerk of the Council of the County of Hasting of a letter advising this Council that a special grant of $50 had been made by the County of Hastings towards the repair of the bridge over Deer River between Wollaston and Chandos, this Council having granted a like amount. Your Committee recommend that the County Clerk be instructed to write in reply that the Reeve of Burleigh had been appointed Commissioner for the expenditure of this Council's grant, and asking that the Commissioner of the County of Hastings for the expenditure of their grant confer in this matter with the Commissioner of this Council.

3. That a special grant of $50 be given to the Stoney Lake road between Lots 20 and 21 in the first Concession of Dummer, and that the Deputy-Reeve of Dummer be Commissioner for the expenditure of the same.

4. That the sum of $50 be granted to the municipalities of Burleigh, Harvey, Smith and Galway, respectively, for the expenditure on the roads and bridges therein, and that the respective Reeves thereof be the Commissioners for the expenditure of the same, each to furnish to this Council a certified statement in detail of the manner in which such moneys were expended.

5. That the report of the County Engineer be received.

6. That a special grant of $200 be given towards the repairs of the North Harvey road, provided the township of Harvey grant an equal amount and the Ontario Legislature grant $400.

7. That a special grant of $200 be given towards the repair of the road between Young's Point and Burleigh, on condition that the township of Smith and the Local Legislature each grant an equal amount.

8. That as to all repairs to the extent of over $300 in any one case upon bridges assumed by this Council under By-law No. 598, your committee recommend that the chairman of this committee and the Reeve of the township in which such repairs are proposed, be an advisory committee to act in such case with the County Engineer, except when such repairs are proposed to be made in the township of Douro, when the Reeve of any adjoining township shall be added as a further member of such committee.

9. That Messrs. Sanderson, Moloney, Kidd, Stewart, Burnham and the County Engineer be a committee with authority to decide in each case as to the advisability of re-erecting any bridges assumed under said By-law No. 598 or any other by-law or the law in general, with power to choose site, ask for tenders and let contract for building any such bridge or bridges.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
JOHN MOLONEY,
Chairman.

January 28th, 1888.

The report was adopted.

Mr. KIDD moved, seconded by Mr. CROWE,—That the usual grant of $25 be given to the Prisoners' Aid Association.—Carried.

PRINTING.

Mr. MANSFIELD read the following report of the Printing Committee:—

Your Committee on Printing beg leave to report:—

1. That the County Clerk be instructed to ask for tenders from the Norwood Register and Lakefield Chronicle, for the printing of the list of convictions required by law to be published, such tender to state the price for the printing of such list, at so much per each conviction, including the preamble and certificate attached to such list.

2. That the printing of the assessment schedules be given to the Peterborough Times, at the same price as paid last year, the paper for the schedules to be subject to the approval of the County Clerk and to be in quality equal to No. 2 book paper.

3. That all the other County printing be divided by the Clerk between the Examiner and the Review, in the same way and at the same rates for the work as was paid last year.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
M. MANSFIELD,
Chairman.

Jan. 28th, 1888.

Mr. CASEMENT moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. CROWE,—That the printing of the list of convictions be given to the Lakefield Chronicle and Norwood Register at $20 a quarter, to be printed alternately.

After further discussion the report was amended so as to read that the list be given alternately to the two papers, provided the rates were satisfactory to the Warden and Clerk.

The report was then adopted.

MONAGHAN ASKS A GRANT.

Mr. FORSTER moved, seconded by Mr. WILDE,—That the Council grant the sum of $300 to the Township of Monaghan, to be laid out on leading roads of the township.—Lost.

Mr. FORSTER said that there was talk of dividing Northumberland and Durham, and if this County would let Monaghan out they would join that county.

BY-LAWS.

By-laws were passed confirming the reports of the Finance, Roads and Bridges and Appointment Committees, and one authorizing the borrowing of money for current expenses till the taxes were received.

TO KEEP COOL.

The caretaker was instructed to procure ice for use at the Court House.

THE COUNTY P. M.

Mr. STEWART moved,—That the County Police Magistrate be instructed to pay to the Treasurer quarterly fines imposed by him and that he be paid his salary quarterly.—Carried.

PIGEON CREEK BRIDGE.

Mr. BURNHAM moved, seconded by Mr. CROUGH,—That John Flood be appointed caretaker of the Pigeon Creek Bridge so far as this County's interest is concerned.—Carried.

TO ISSUE DEBENTURES.

A by-law was introduced authorizing the issue and sale of debentures to the amount of $20,000 to be expended on bridges. It was read a first and second time and the clerk was instructed to advertise it according to law. A special meeting will be held on June 19th to finally pass it.

THE SUMMER SESSION.

Mr. MOLONEY said that the present date for holding the June session was inconvenient for farmers and suggested an earlier date.

Several Councillors agreed with Mr. Moloney, but the matter was left over.

HER MAJESTY'S THANKS.

A letter was read from Henry Streatfield, Governor-General's Secretary, conveying the Queen's thanks for the congratulatory address sent her last year by the Council.

The Council then adjourned.

High School Trustees.

A telegram from Kingston says:—"Owing to the frequent changes in the school law, municipal bodies are confused. The City Council appointed high school trustees at its first meeting on the 16th, but the official calendar just issued from the department says appointments of these trustees must be made on the 24th. The appointments are therefore illegal." Ours were appointed on the 23rd of January. Is their appointment legal?

He Came From Here.

A Hamilton despatch, dated January 30th, says:—"W. F. Miller, collector of Inland Revenue, seized 1,650 cigars from J. F. Wetherspoon, 119 Catharine street north, on suspicion of some irregularity in regard to the duty. Mr. Wetherspoon was a partner in a cigar factory in Petorborough, and when the partnership was dissolved last Christmas he received $50 worth of cigars in lieu of money which he had put in the business. He says that he understood the duty on the cigars was paid."

Mail Service.

The Belleville Intelligencer of Monday says:—"Trains have been running at random since the snow-drifts of Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday last. Friday's midnight express from Toronto did not reach Belleville until 1 p. m. Sunday. Then it came by way of Peterborough. The same express due here midnight Sunday, did not arrive until four o'clock this morning; and to-day's noon mail from Toronto was announced to arrive at 4 p. m. The track is still blocked between here and Toronto, trains have to pass over the Midland section via Peterborough. Communication with the east has been more regular, but the eastern express due at 4 a. m. did not arrive until 11 a. m., the delay being caused by the derailment of two cars below Napanee. This morning the train was only an hour late. The blockade is being raised as rapidly as possible."

Graduation Exercises.

Ten students of the Peterborough Business College were presented with their certificates of graduation on Monday evening. There was a large attendance of students and others at the graduation exercises. Mr. Bannell Sawyer gave an address on business colleges, describing their origin and rapid advance and their usefulness. Several of the graduation class, Miss Robinson, Messrs. R. Armstrong, T. J. Pratt and S. Carter, and Miss Moffatt read essays, the theme of each being "Success." The essays were good productions, especially those of the young ladies, Miss Moffatt's showing careful study of the subject. Miss Hurley then read a number of the "College Mirror," the newspaper of the school. The class, Misses G. Robinson, E. Hurley, M. M. Moffatt and L. Fowler and Messrs. R. Armstrong, R. Brodie, T. J. Pratt, S. Carter, W. G. Matthews and J. C. Wilbur, were presented with their certificates of graduation, Miss Moffatt receiving a diploma of fellowship and the degree of B.C.S. The Principal, in presenting the certificates, briefly addressed the class. Mr. E. B. Stone delivered an address, giving the students advice and commending the college and Mr. S. R. Armstrong spoke briefly, after which the exercises closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Board of Education.

A special meeting of the Board of Education, for organization, will take place at one o'clock p. m. on Wednesday.

Police Court.

A young man named L. Mowry, of Ashburnham, was fined $2 and $4 costs at the Police Court this morning, on a charge of being drunk, preferred by P. C. Pidgeon.

Fox Hunting.

Our local sports are just now enjoying themselves by hunting foxes. These animals are said to be unusually plentiful and bold this year and a number have been shot within a few miles of town.

Avalanches.

Building Inspector Pope went the rounds to-day notifying owners of buildings to clear the snow off their mansard roofs and overhanging eaves. Numerous juvenile avalanches came down and almost buried pedestrians on the sidewalks below.

Run Over.

A small boy was run over on Monday, by the Giant T delivery sleigh. He was stealing a ride and fell under the sleigh and the hind bob passed over his legs. He was considerably hurt, but not seriously. This is another warning.

By his Droll Recitations.

The Toronto Mail says:—"Mr. Belford entertained the audience entirely unassisted, at one time holding them spell-bound by vivid narration and at another convulsing them with laughter by his droll recitations or clever mimicry."—Opera House, Peterborough, Thursday Feb. 9th.

Railway Damages.

In the bill now before the Ontario Legislature, regarding the running of the line to Chemong Lake, the Grand Trunk ask to have the railway damages, $206, now paid yearly, struck off. As soon as the line runs to the Lake, payment of the damages ceases, according to the agreement made years ago.

Young People's Entertainment.

There was a large attendance at the entertainment held by the Young People's Association in the school room of the George Street Methodist Church, on Monday evening. The proceedings were commenced by singing a hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers." The following programme was then carried out:—Reading, "Bay Billy," Mr. A. E. Scott; solo, Miss Maggie Allen; solo, Mr. Geo. Mulligan; instrumental duet, Misses Butcher and Smart; solo, "Model Church," Mr. H. Stephens; recitation, "McDermott's Parting," Miss Sanders; solo, Miss F. Dame, and duet, Misses Coe and Butcher. Each number was well given and received, and the entertainment closed with the singing of "God Save the Queen."

Those Rubber Boots.

That old account of $116 for rubber boots for the firemen, from the Gutta Percha and Rubber Manufacturing Co., of Toronto, was before the Council again last night and let us hope it was disposed of for good. The facts in connection with this matter are that "Hose" Humphries, an agent of the company, was pushing business in Peterborough. He made a small sale of hose here and in order to "stand in solid" with the brigade, he ordered a box of rubber boots. He paid the express charges and left the box in the fire station, remarking that if the town did not foot the bill, he would present them to the firemen. Some of the members of the brigade and numerous outsiders helped themselves. Then Mr. Humphries' hose was given the go bye and the bill for the boots was sent in some two years later. It will not be paid.

Personal.

Mr. Wm. Sailsbury is confined to his house by illness. It is nothing serious and he expects to be about in a day or two.

Mr. J. R. Ormond, of Winnipeg, former resident of Peterborough, is here on a visit.

Mr. D. D. Gallelly, for the past seventeen years a respected citizen of Peterborough, expects to leave Peterborough this week or the next. Mr. Gallelly has been offered a good position by Mr. Ross, who is superintendent of the Canadian Pacific bridges from Port Arthur west to the mountains, and he has accepted it. Mr. Gallelly is Secretary of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society, and is well-known in musical circles, as he was ever ready to assist at church or society entertainments. He will be greatly missed and, while wishing him all success in the west, the hope will be entertained that he may see his way to return to Peterborough.

Sporting "News."

The Empire publishes the following account of the recent curling match here:—"The Granites were defeated in Peterborough on Friday by 30 shots. Three rinks played on covered ice, where the thermometer was 13 below zero, and the other three played on open ice with the mercury 17 below zero. A peculiarity about the score was that three rinks tied. Following were the skips: Granite—W. C. Mathews, J. H. Foster, C.C. Dalton, W. Lawrence, R. Jaffray, C. Edwards. Peterborough—W. Brown, S. Roy, Judge Weller, G. Ferguson, G. Attrill and E. Rutherford. Mr. Dalton's was the only Granite rink that gained a majority. His rink beat Judge Weller's by 15. W. Brown's rink were 35 points up and S. Roy's 10, while the other three rinks were a "tie." By what unaccountable manner the writer of this paragraph got Judge Weller's name right passes comprehension. For an aggregate of blunders it takes the tankard. The rinks all played under cover, in the same building; the thermometer registered nothing like the degree of frost stated; only one rink tied. Other mistakes numerous, but of less importance.

Curling.

At the Oshawa bonspell on Monday our curlers were defeated and thus are thrown out of the Tankard competition. In the first draw Whitby defeated Lindsay by 1 point and Bowmanville served Whitby in the same manner by 14 points. Then Whitby and Peterborough tried conclusions with the following result:—

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

Mr. JOHN CARNEGIE, on motion, addressed the council, asking for a grant to assist in procuring evidence to place before the Trent Valley Canal commissioners. He did not consider it necessary to say much as all the members of the council are fully aware of the fact that Peterborough would perhaps derive more benefit from the construction of the canal, than any other place along the route. Funds are necessary to procure the evidence and as the other places interested had voted the amounts asked, he requested the council to do their share.

Mr. D. W. DUMBLE also spoke on the same question and pointed out that Government canals, such as the Trent Valley will be, are the great competitors of the railways and are carrying enormous quantities of freight, wherever they are in use. Nature has done much for the Trent Valley route and push, pluck and enterprise should do the rest and finish it. United efforts are necessary and unless we produce facts and statistics to show that the Government are justified in building the canal, we will not get it. To furnish the facts and statistics money is necessary and the people interested must furnish that money. He thought the town of Peterborough could afford to appropriate $10,000 and thus show the country they are in earnest in this matter, and he looked for a liberal grant from the council.

Mayor STEVENSON called Councillor Langford to the chair and took the floor, as chairman of the central committee of the Trent Valley Association. He said that the enemies of the route had been actively at work and in order to set all the stories of these people at rest, a commission had been appointed composed of gentlemen who would act in a fair and impartial manner, and it will depend altogether upon the report of these gentlemen whether the canal will be constructed or not. It is now necessary to place before the commissioners all the favorable evidence we possibly can as to the practicability and the use of the canal. He regarded the construction of the canal as a necessity, and it will be the means of making Peterborough a great manufacturing centre. Money is required to obtain the desired information and he had no doubt that Peterborough would act in a liberal manner.

Councillor DOUGLAS saw nothing for it but to make a grant, and unless we did so he did not think we deserved anything from the Government.

Councillor MOORE asked if the Government would pay the expenses of the witnesses?

Mayor STEVENSON could not say, as he had no information on the subject.

Councillor MCNEIL moved, seconded by Councillor KELLY,—that the sum of $1,000 be granted to the Trent Valley Canal Association, on the same terms as the $1,000 granted by the County.—Carried unanimously.

Mr. CARNEGIE returned thanks and said he liked the spirit of the Council, and it showed the promoters of the canal that they had the representatives of the people of this district behind them.

FINANCE REPORT.

Councillor DAVIDSON, chairman, read and submitted the following report:—

GENTLEMEN,—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend the payment of the following accounts:—

| | |
|---|---|
| D. Belleghem | $ 7 00 |
| D. Sullivan | 41 00 |
| Metropoliton Grocery | 38 35 |
| J. Edgcumbe | 18 00 |

| Porter Bros. (when certified) | 67 30 |
| Jas. English | 9 75 |
| John McKee (when orders presented) | 2 20 |
| H. C. Rogers | 2 00 |
| Grace Elliot | 1 50 |

Wm. Medcalf when certified, Wesley Haggard, referred to Charity Committee.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

R. S. DAVIDSON, Chairman.

January 26th, 1888.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT.

Chairman MCNEIL read and submitted the following report:—

GENTLEMEN—The Fire, Water and Light Committee beg leave to report:—

With reference to the requisition of the members of the Fire Brigade asking for an increase of salary, which was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee and Finance Committee, we report and recommend as follows:—

That the Brigade consist of 18 men and a Chief Engineer.

That the Chief Engineer receive $100 per annum.

That the Assistant Chief Engineer receive $25 per annum.

That the Captain of the Fire Brigade be Assistant Engineer.

That each member of the Brigade receive $50 per annum to date from January 1st, 1888.

That the Clerk amend the present by-law to be in conformity with the above recommendations.

That the account of the Canadian Rubber Company for rubber boots be not entertained, and that the Clerk write to the Company citing Rule 60 of the Rules of Order of the Council.

A. MCNEIL, Chairman

Councillor MOORE suggested that the report lay over until the whole matter of the government of the Fire Brigade is considered. He was desirous of placing the fire department on the very best footing, but he considered a jump of $35 per annum per man too large. Either that or the men were badly treated in the past.

Councillor MCNEIL said the men were a first class body and $50 was not too much, considering the time the men lost and the clothes they spoiled. The whole matter was fully discussed in committee and the report was unanimous. The By-law called for 30 men at $15 each, making a total of $450, but 18 men had drawn the pay, making their salary $25 each.

Councillor MOORE was in favor of looking into the matter carefully as the proposed increased expenditure was a large one and we should see that we get value for it. As something illegal had already be done, it showed that carefully consideration is necessary.

Councillor DAVIDSON explained that the chief handed in a list of 30 names and certified that they were members of the brigade.

The matter was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee to prepare a by-law.

CHARITY WOOD.

Councillor HALL, chairman, read and submitted the following report:—

GENTLEMEN,—Your Charity Committee, beg leave to recommend that the following tenders for wood be accepted:—

| | |
|---|---|
| B. White, 50 cords, pine and hemlock, at | $1 75 |
| Alex. Scott, 25 cords, mixed wood, at | 1 75 |
| Jos. Forster, 30 cords, ash and elm, at | 2 00 |
| Geo. Young, 10 cords, mixed wood, at | 2 00 |

A. HALL, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

LUMBER AND CEDAR.

Councillor CAHILL, Chairman, read and submitted a report from the Street and Bridge Committee recommending as follows:—

1. That the tender of W. B. Kelly for square cedar, for a quantity of 50,000 feet or more, as may be determined by your Committee, be accepted at $9.50, to be in equal quantities of 8x10, 10x10 and 10x12.

2. That the tender of Alfred McDonald for cedar scantling at $8 per thousand be accepted.

3. That 50,000 feet more or less, as the Committee may determine, of Hemlock plank be purchased from Mr. Geo. Hilliard at $8 per thousand.

The square cedar above referred to being intended for the cribbing of Crescent street, your Committee recommend that they be authorized to deal with the matter as to them may seem in the best interests of the town.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

THOS. CAHILL, Chairman.

January 28th, 1888.

The report was received and adopted.

THE ASSESSORS.

Councillor KENDRY read and submitted the following report from the Committee on Appointments:—

GENTLEMEN:—Your Committee beg to recommend that Messrs. Wm. Aldridge and Cornelius McGrath be appointed Assessors for 1888 at a salary of $250 each.

JAS. KENDRY, Chairman.

January 30th, 1888.

The report was adopted and a by-law was passed confirming the recommendations made, Councillor Langford being in the chair.

THEY WANT TO KNOW.

Councillor DAVIDSON moved, seconded by Councillor MOORE,—That the Fire, Water and Light Committee investigate the causes of delay in getting hose to the late fires.—Carried.

A MEMORIAL.

A memorial to the Ontario Legislature and the Lieutenant-Governor in relation to the bill, now before the body, from the council asking that certain bodies be legalized, was duly read, signed and sealed, the council going into committee of the whole with Councillor Kendry in the chair.

THE ASSESSMENT LAW.

Councillor MOORE introduced a memorial to the Ontario Government, asking that the assessment law be so amended as to place all land within the town on the same footing for assessment purposes, thus removing the anomaly at present existing of having farms within the corporation, as a man now having under ten acres was assessed full value, while a man who has over ten acres, is assessed as a farmer. The memorial received its several readings and was passed.

DROPPED.

Councillor MOORE introduced a by-law to prevent children from jumping on sleighs, carts, waggons or railway cars, in the Town of Peterborough. The by-law was read a first time, and then dropped.

PRINTING.

Councillor DAVIDSON moved, seconded by Councillor WINCH,—That the Printing Committee have power to award the printing and posting for the current year.—Carried.

TOO MUCH SNOW.

Councillor HARTLEY moved, seconded by Councillor KENDRY,—That the Street Inspector have the snow shoveled off the sidewalk on Water street north, when necessary.—Carried.

The Council adjourned for two weeks.

OUR MARKET FEES.

The Town Solicitor says the Tolls Here are Lawful.

At the meeting of the Town Council held on Monday evening, the following letter, which fully explains itself, was read and referred to the Market Committee:—

PETERBOROUGH, Jan 30th, 1888.

DEAR SIR,—I have, as instructed, carefully examined Market By-law No. 434, passed on the 27th March, 1882, and now in force in the town.

The by-law is, in my opinion, in accordance with the Municipal Act and is within the powers conferred by that at upon the Town Council and the fees charged upon produce, etc., offered for sale, on the market, or weighed on the market scales, are not in excess of the fees which the Council is by law authorized to fix. The prohibitory clauses of the Act of 1882, do not, in my view, apply to the case of this by-law.

If the by-law be revised some verbal and otherwise unimportant changes might be made in some of the sections.

Wheat is by the by-law, exempt from all market tolls. Other grains are subject to tolls. It is within the power of the Council to impose such tolls, and it is merely a matter of discretion for the Council to determine whether or not grain of all kinds shall be exempt.

Wood offered for sale on the market is properly subject to toll, as fixed by the by-law, including measuring.

Respectfully yours,

JAS. STEVENSON, Mayor, Peterborough. } (Sig.) E. B EDWARDS, Town Solicitor.

That Kid,

And now kid the boot man is going to take stock and he is going to reduce his prices like this. Ladies overshoes $1, Men's felt overshoes $1.05, Ladies felt slippers 19 cents—but he must stop quoting prices or people will suspect him of selling below cost!!

WEDNESDAY, FEB'Y 1st.—By Charles Stapleton, auctioneer,—Household Furniture, the property of Mrs. T. W. Johnston. Sale at the dwelling, cor. London and Bethune streets, and to commence at one o'clock, sharp.

Brevities.

—Large numbers of rabbits are being shot in this vicinity.

Mr. Jim Dolan, of Lindsay, is in town, as chipper as ever.

—The Port Hope curlers are divided into seven rinks of five players each.

—The January thaw has evidently been postponed this year. It will see us later, as it were.

—The bent under the Charlottee street bridge needs attention before the spring ice shove begins.

—Over $30,000 was paid out by the Lock Company during 1887. This is something like an industry.

—The matter of building an iron bridge over the creek near Lundy's tannery, is being agitated.

—Port Hope wants a bill poster. Probably strangers passing through may read the bills.

—There are now over 80 employees at the Lock works and there will soon be 50 more added to the staff.

—Councillor Douglas referred to Councillor Moore's by-law, as being "like a chip among poroidge, of no use."

—The charity committee received fourteen tenders for mixed wood ranging from $1 75 to $2.50 per cord.

Mr. W. A. Dixon is waiting until the weather moderates before taking a trip up to the "Soo" to visit his property there.

—The fine, mild weather continues and every person who is compelled to be out in the open air for any length of time, rejoices.

—A worthy member of the Council said that a boy who would not run and jump on every sleigh he saw passing, was not worth raising.

Mr. W. Dickson, late of Schofield's drug store, has left for Boston, Mass., where he has secured a position with a large lumbering firm.

—The East Northumberland local election takes place to-morrow. Quite a number of Peterborough gentlemen own property in the riding.

—The demands on the members of the Charity Committee, do not appear to decrease in the least. Wood and groceries are the principle articles given.

—Councillor Langford was called to the chair, for the first time last night. When he left it another Councillor remarked, "Langford, you have now ridden the goat."

The commissioners of the Belleville police have instructed the force in that city to thoroughly enforce the provisions of the Crooks Act.

—Clerk Doherty commenced to collect the regular, legal market tolls this morning, after losing a month's receipts during the best time of the year.

—A dog jumped through one of our windows this morning. Apparently he had not time to wait until the door was opened, so he took a short cut through the glass.

—Mr. and Mrs. Redner, members of the Salvation Army, were entertained at an oyster supper by the army at Fenelon Falls, previous to their departure for Peterborough.

—Mr. A. McDonnel, representing Matthews & Co., has returned from the Northwest, after a business trip on behalf of his firm. At Brandon alone he purchased 30,000 bushels of barley.

—Hamilton Spectator:—"The prospects for the carnival crop in Canada this winter are not very bright." They are down this way. Rich crop partly gathering and better maturing.

—Councillor Moore's by-law to punish boys for "hanging on" sleighs and railway car is certainly a step in the right direction, but the difficulty would be to enforce it. An army of constables would be required.

—"If you prevent the boys from sleighriding down the hills, from driving dogs in the streets and from jumping on sleighs, you will drive them out of town," said a councillor. "Or into the saloons," added another.

—The Rev. S. J. Shorey preached the anniversary sermons of the Holloway Street Methodist Church, Belleville, on Sunday. The Intelligencer says that "both were eloquent discourses and listened to by large congregations."

—Port Hope Times:—"In Peterborough the Town Councillors, unlike members of the Port Hope Council for 1887, appreciate the services of the firemen. It is proposed, not to reduce their petty stipends, but to increase them."

PROHIBITION SHOE STORE!

To the Public.

As my agreement with the Scott Act Association expired on December 31st, 1887, and as I am no longer in their employment, I beg to inform you that I have opened a in Dunsford's new Block, east of the Market, where I hope to receive a share of public support in the line of custom work and repairs. There have been several attempts made to boycott me, because of my connection with the Scott Act, and to prevent me from obtaining employment. I want to say I am not afraid of opposition under any circumstances, and will endeavor to give to all the value of their money.

Boot and Shoe Store

I will guarantee a comfortable fit and use only the best material, and supply the best workmanship, so that I can run Prohibition in the shoe trade, and prohibit even water from getting at your SOLES, to upset your UNDERSTANDINGS, as I have the remedy to HEEL it all.

As I have launched my bark in the temperance tide, will you help me keep it afloat?

Yours truly,

HENRY ROSSITER.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 2½ years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reëstablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

IN BROAD DAYLIGHT.

Mysterious Abduction of a 13-year-old Girl at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Jan. 30.—This morning Miss Lucy Bowman, the 13-year-old daughter of Wm. Bowman, left her home, 36 Hunter-street west, to attend school at the Wesleyan Ladies' College. She walked along Hunter-street to Hughson-street, and was accosted by two men in a rough market sleigh. They asked her which way they could get to the mountain. She told them that they could go up James-street or John-street. They drove away and Miss Bowman continued along Hughson-street. She had got past Kilgour's piano factory when she was seized from behind by one of the men who had previously spoken to her and flung into the sleigh. She was too frightened to scream or to resist, and lay quietly in the bottom of the sleigh. The excitement was too much for the girl, and she fainted. All became a blank after that until she came to and found herself lying on a hard snow bank on the old John-street road, near the steps. Her school books were beside her and not a soul was in sight. Fortunately she was uninjured, and she got up and walked home.

Last evening a horse belonging to Thos. C. Bowker was standing in front of a store on James-street north, opposite Vine-street, when some person stabbed it in the nostril, inflicting a wound about ten inches deep. A young man named Wm. Hall is under arrest for the cruel act.

The Northern and Northwestern train from the north, which was due here on Friday night did not arrive until 7.35 Sunday evening, and the train due Saturday got in about midnight last night. They had a hard time on the road.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"What is amusing you?" asks he, a trifle stiffly. To give way to recitation, and then find your listener in agonies of suppressed mirth, is not exactly a situation one would hanker after.

"It was the last line," says Mona, in explanation, clearly ashamed of herself, yet unable wholly to subdue her merriment. "It reminded me so much of that speech about tea, that they always use at temperance meetings; they call it the beverage 'that cheers but not inebriates.' You said 'that warms but not illumines,' and it sounded exactly like it. Don't you see?"

He doesn't see.

"You aren't angry, are you?" says Mona, now really contrite. "I couldn't help it, and it was like it, you know."

"Angry? no!" he says, recovering himself, as he notices the penitence on the face upraised to his.

"And do say it is like it," says Mona, entreatingly.

"It is, the image of it," returns he, prepared to swear to anything she may propose. And then he laughs too, which pleases her, as it proves he no longer bears in mind her evil deed; after which, feeling she still owes him something, she suddenly intimates to him that he may sit down on the grass close beside her. He seems to find no difficulty in swiftly following up this hint, and is soon seated as close to her as circumstances will allow.

But on this picture, the beauty of which is undeniable, Mickey (the barbarian) looks with disfavor.

"If he's goin' to squat there for the night"—an' I see ivery prospect of it," says Mickey to himself—"what on airth's goin' to become of me?"

Now Mickey's idea of "raal grand" senery is the kitchen fire. Bays and rocks and moonlight, and such like comfortless stuff, would be designated by him as "all my eye an' Betty Martin." He would consider the bluest water that ever rolled a poor thing if compared to the water that boiled in the big kettle, and sadly inferior to such cold water as might contain a "dhrop of the craythur." So no wonder he views with dismay Mr. Rodney's evident intention of spending another half hour or so on the top of Carrickdhuve.

Patience has its limits. Mickey's limit comes quickly. When five more minutes have passed, and the two in his charge still make no sign, he coughs respectfully but very loudly behind his hand. He waits in anxious hope for the result of this telling maneuver, but not the faintest notice is taken of it. Both Mona and Geoffrey are deaf to the pathetic appeal sent straight from his bronchial tubes.

Mickey, as he grows desperate, grows bolder. He rises to speech.

"Av ye plaze, miss, will ye soon be comin'?"

"Very soon, Mickey," says Mona, without turning her head. But, though her words are satisfactory, her tone is not. There is a lazy ring in it that speaks of anything but immediate action. Mickey disbelieves in it.

"Thin I may go, miss?" says Mickey.

"Oh, yes, you may go," says Mona. Geoffrey says nothing. He is looking at her with curiosity, in which deep love is mingled. She is so utterly unlike all other women he has ever met, with their pretty affectations and mock modesties, their would-be hesitations and their final yieldings. She has no idea she is doing anything that all the world of women might not do, and can see no reason why she should distrust her friend just because he is a man.

Even as Geoffrey is looking at her, full of tender thought, one of the dogs, as though divining the fact that she is being left somewhat alone, lays its big head upon her shoulder, and looks at her with large loving eyes. Turning to him in response, she rubs her soft cheek slowly up and down against his. Geoffrey with all his heart envies the dog. How she seems to love it! how it seems to love her!

"Mickey, if you are going, you may as well take the dogs with you," says Mona; "they will want their suppers. Go, Spice, when I desire you. Good-night, Allspice; dear darling—see how he clings to me."

Finally the dogs are called off, and reluctantly follow the jubilant Mickey down the hill.

"Perhaps you are tired of staying here," with compunction, turning to Geoffrey, "and would like to go home? I suppose every one cannot love this spot as I do. Yes," rising, "I am selfish. Do come home."

"Tired!" says Geoffrey, hastily, "no, indeed. Who could tire of anything so divine? If it is your wish, it is mine also, that we should stay here for a little while longer." Then, struck by the intense relief in her face, he goes on: "How you do enjoy the beauties of Nature! Do you know I have been studying you since you came here, and I could see how your whole soul was wrapped in the glory of the surrounding prospect? You had no thoughts left for other objects—not even one for me. For the first time," softly, "I learned to be jealous of inanimate things."

"Yet I was not so wholly engrossed as you imagine. I thought of you many times. For one thing, I felt glad that you could see this place with my eyes. But I have been silent, I know, and—and——"

"How Rome and Spain would enchant you," watching her face intently, "and Switzerland, with its lakes and mountains!"

"Yes. But I shall never see them."

"Why not? You will go there, perhaps, when you are married."

"No," with a little flickering smile, that has pain and sorrow in it; "for the simple reason that I shall never marry."

"But why?" persists he.

"Because—because, though I am only a farmer's niece, I cannot bear farmers, and, of course, other people would not care for me."

"That is absurd," says Rodney; "and your own words refute you. That man called Moore cared for you, and very great impertinence it was on his part."

"Why, you never even saw him," says Mona, opening her eyes.

"No; but I can fancy him, with his horrid bald head. Now, you know," holding up his hand to stop her as she is about to speak, "you know you said he hadn't a hair left on it."

"Well, he was different," said Mona, giving in ignominiously. "I couldn't care for him either; but what I said is true all the same. Other people would not like me."

"Wouldn't they?" says Rodney, leaning on his elbow as the argument waxes warmer; "then all I can say is, I never met any 'other people.'"

"You have met only them, I suppose, as you belong to them."

Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

IN NERVOUS HEADACHE, FEVER AND IMPOTENCE.

DR. A. S. KIRKPATRICK, Van Wert, O., says "I have used it with the most brilliant success in chronic nervous headaches, hectic fever with profuse night sweats, impotence, nervousness, etc."

POKING FUN!

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprises largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8.75, this is an all wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3 95 This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6 50 SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2 95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3 75 and a pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits really nice and lot of them $1.95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in the business.

LOT THREE.—Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2 00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPAR'S, where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

The Vatican and Henry George.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The Chronicle's correspondent at Paris says that Cardinal Gibbons has written another letter urging the Vatican not to condemn Henry George's writings, on the ground that George only follows the theories of Spencer and Mills, and it is better to allow false theories to die a natural death than to fan them by giving them artificial importance.

The Maharajah on the Defensive.

LONDON, Jan 30.—The Maharajah of Jodhpur, India, has offered £20,000 annually for five years for five frontier defences

PERSONAL PICKINGS.

Lord Cairn's bride is just 19, he is 25.

Mr. Paul du Chaillu has settled permanently in London

Queen Victoria has knighted Edwin Arnold, author of the famous poem, "The Light of Asia."

The empress of Austria has given $12,500 toward the fund for a monument to Heine at Dusseldorf.

Kossuth, who is now living in the strictest seclusion at Turin, is in excellent health, despite his 86 years.

Julian Hawthorne, who has a large family to support, thinks of going back on literature and entering trade.

C. P. Huntington, the fifty million-aire, used to peddle out butter by the pound to the miners in California.

Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, the London preacher, has returned to London from Mentone greatly improved in health.

Mr. Berg, Jenny Lind's music master, is still teaching music in Sweden, although he is more than 86 years of age.

The inventor of the diamond cutting machine was Charles M. Field, who is now in the jewelry trade in Boston, Mass.

Senator Joe Blackburn's health gives his family and friends deep concern. It is feared that he has a cancer of the stomach.

Edison's father has been a rolling stone all his life, but now at the age of 84 has about $350,000 in cold cash. He has a very poor opinion of Tom's electrical work.

Von Moltke's simple habits are likely to insure him a long old age. He enjoys family life, shuns company and talks rarely, but pithily, and relishes a good game of whist.

Speaker Carlisle has two sons, William and Logan. William is 27 years of age and is married. Logan is younger and still a bachelor. They are both in business at Wichita, Kan.

A SEIZURE OF JEWELLERY

IGNORANCE OF THE LAW GIVES A GERMAN MERCHANT TROUBLE.

Manitoba Fever in Russell County—Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Mr. Thompson Expected to Return to Ottawa Next Week.

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—A meeting of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council was held this morning to consider a point in dispute between the Canadian Pacific, Lake St. John, and Quebec, Charlevoix and Montmorency railways and the Harbor Trust of Quebec, touching the rights of these corporations in connection with a railway track on the St. Charles River. The railway corporation wants a connection with and desires to control a track along the works. To avoid trouble in the future similar to that which exists in connection with the Toronto Esplanade, the Harbor Trust were anxious to have all the lines make their connections at a certain point and at their own expense. They finally came to such an agreement which was approved of by the committee. The Quebec, Charlevoix and Montmorency Railway also asked for the approval of certain plans of a bridge over the St. Charles River above the works, but no definite settlement of this question was arrived at.

The Department of Fisheries offer a reward of $50 to any person who furnishes such information as will lead to the conviction of the person or persons who on Nov. 3 last at Lansdowne Bay fired several shots at Mr. John G. Wallace, fishery overseer at Wallace Island.

The custom officers at Quebec have seized a large quantity of jewelry valued at $10,000, the property of Mr. D. Levi, a German merchant, who had brought it into Canada for trade purposes while making a tour of the country in company with his wife and which he neglected to report or enter on arrival at Quebec, being under the impression that the customs laws in Canada and Great Britain were similar, and the articles were not subject to duty. In consideration of his ignorance of Canadian law, and the fact that he appeared to act without any intention of deliberate fraud the Minister of Customs has consented to a release of the seizure on payment of the legal duty on the goods with a mitigated fine of $400 imposed in consequence of Mr. Levi having failed to avail himself of such means as would enable him to understand the requirement of the law.

Mr. Cunningham Stewart will enter upon his duties as comptroller of postal finances tomorrow, when the new arrangements in the Postoffice Department will come into force.

A considerable number of farmers in the vicinity of Winchester, Russell County, are making arrangements for an early move to Manitoba, and it is likely that many others will follow their example.

There is some expectation that Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Mr. Thompson will return from Washington next week. The impression continues to gain ground that the commissioners are arriving at an agreement which will definitely settle certain points of difference between Canada and the United States and open the way to a settlement being reached on other points.

Sir Hector Langevin, Minister of Public Works, left for Quebec this afternoon. He will return on Friday. Senator Howland had an interview to-day with the Postmaster-General with reference to the winter service between Prince Edward Island and the Mainland.

MANITOBA POLITICS.

Greenway Likely to Go In by Acclamation —Liberal Opposition to Jones.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 31.—Attorney-General Martin's return is being hotly opposed. A meeting was held to-night at Portage at which Mr. Norquay and others spoke. Mr. Greenway is likely to be returned by acclamation. Mr. Pendergast has two opponents.

The Sun to-night says Liberal opposition to Treasurer Jones still exists.

DUNDAS ELECTION.

A Conservative Gain in the Ontario Assembly—Other Political News.

MORRISBURG, Jan. 31.—J. P. Whitney (Conservative) was elected in Dundas to-day over Dr. Chamberlain by a majority of 32. Dr. Chamberlain is the unseated Reform (local) candidate.

MILTON, Jan. 31.—The nominations for the House of Commons took place here to-day. Mr. David Henderson of Acton was the Conservative nominee, and Mr. Wm. McLeod of Georgetown was nominated by the Liberals.

COBOURG, Jan. 31.—The election (local) for East Northumberland takes place to-morrow. The candidates are Dr. Willoughby (unseated, Con.,) and Richard Clarke, Reform.

Proposed Reductions in U.S. Revenue.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Chairman Mills said yesterday that the Tariff Bill would not be ready for two weeks. In general the proposed reduction will be $25,000,000 from internal taxes and $20,000,000 from customs as follows: On woollen goods $10,000,000, free wool $3,000,000, cottons and other articles of general use $15,000,000, sugar 20 per cent., making about $10,000,000, steel rails reduced to $17 a ton, pig iron $4.50 a ton, chemicals, a large reduction by articles enumerated. To the free list, besides wool, will be added coal, iron ore, salt and lumber. The reduction of the tax on manufactured tobacco, exclusive of cigars and cigarettes and other minor items, is expected to make up $35,000,000 from this source.

The Italians Will Occupy Saati To-Day.

ROME, Jan. 31.—It is officially announced from Massowah that the Italians will occupy Saati to-morrow, and that Gen. Sae Moranzo will transfer his headquarters thither.

THE EUROPEAN SITUATION.

Bismarck Thinks It Will Undergo a Prolonged but Peaceful Solution.

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—The Bundesrath to-day fixed the sum for carrying out the provisions of the new Military Bill at 281,500,000 marks. The bill was immediately afterward introduced in the Reichstag.

It is reported that Prince Bismarck in a recent conversation expressed the conviction that the international situation would undergo a prolonged but peaceful solution. At the same time Prince Bismarck considers it possible that Russia may preserve the Bulgarian question as an open sore with a view to further political chances.

Provisions Ordered for 200,000 Men.

VIENNA, Jan. 31.—The commissariat of Bessarabia has been ordered to supply provisions and fodder for an army of 200,000 men.

Baron Fejervary and Count Pejecsvich, Hungarian Minister of Defence and Commander-in-Chief, have arrived here for the purpose of being present at the military councils, which have been resumed.

It is rumored that Turkey has asked the Russian Government to explain the massing of troops upon her frontier.

Austria Will Inquire What It Wants.

VIENNA, Jan. 31.—A report is current in diplomatic circles here that the armaments still proceeding in the interior of Russia will shortly form the subject of a formal inquiry on the part of Austria.

Russian Opinion.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 31.—The Novoe Vremya has a leading editorial article to-day on the prospects of war. The writer expresses the opinion "That the nations of Europe ought really not to break their necks for the sake of Bulgaria."

FIRE AT ST. THOMAS.

Losses and Insurance—A Bystander Overcome With Excitement Drops Dead.

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 31.—Fire broke out at 12.30 this morning in J. J. Blackmore's hardware and house furnishing establishment, starting probably in oily rags which had accumulated about the oil tank. Following are the losses: building, owned by the estate of the late Lewis Samuel of Toronto, $4500, insured in Norwich Union for $3000; J. J. Blackmore's stock $12,000, insured for $7500 in Hartford, $3000 British American, $3000 Imperial, $1500 Northern; building occupied by James Acfisson, hardware, $800, insured for $2000 in Phoenix; James Achison on stock $1000; Criterion restaurant building $200, fully insured; contents $500, insured for $1200 in London, Liverpool & Globe; Foster's drug store $100, fully insured.

William Hillis, an old gentleman about 65 years of age, was at the fire and dropped down as if in a faint. He was carried into Walden's confectionery store and died immediately after. The unfortunate man is supposed to have had heart disease, and was overcome with excitement.

Drugged and Assaulted.

COLFAX, Wash. T., Jan. 31.—Dan Conroy, foreman of track laying on the Spokane and Palouse Railway, called on Miss Hughes, daughter of J. J. Hughes, editor of The Palouse News, to attend a dance at Garfield. While in a buggy he drugged her, then placed her in a box car near Palouse City and maltreated her. Not satisfied with his own guilt, he induced ten of his gang to do likewise. The girl is 18 years old. She is not expected to live. She was kept a prisoner in the car for twenty two hours. The wretch was caught in Spokane Falls.

Lost Her Lover and Her Reason.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 31.—For some time a young man named Blakely has been paying attention to Miss Estes, a 16-year-old girl, living at Wallace, Mo. Her family objected to Blakely, but on Sunday night the couple attended church, and after the service they were met outside by Peter Estes, the girl's father, and William, her 18-year-old brother. A quarrel arose between Blakely and the Estes, which resulted in father and son killing Blakely. The girl has lost her reason.

Drew His Pay and Mileage.

OSHAWA, Jan. 31.—The strategem played by our second deputy reeve last week has caused a good deal of comment here. He was served with a writ of disqualification while attending the County Council at Whitby and retained his seat until the session was finished and then resigned, receiving his pay as member and also his mileage.

The Oshawa Harbor Company held their annual meeting to-day. They adjourned until to-morrow when they will declare a dividend.

Ice Gorge in the Mississippi.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 31.—The ice gorge on the Mississippi River in front of this city began to move at midnight, and drifted down stream, when the immense weight was checked. At 10 o'clock this morning the mass slowly crashed down upon nearly $1,500,000 worth of property, which it slowly ground into ruins. Several barges and the steamers Jamma, Mattie Belle and the Hayes were sunk. Capt. Mason and Mr. Zeberger were badly injured.

Made Insane by Poisonous Food.

DUBLIN, Jan. 31.—In a lonely house near Killarney lived a family named Doyle, consisting of father, mother, three daughters and an imbecile son. Last evening they all became suddenly insane from the effects of poisonous food, and fought horribly together in a semi-nude state. To-day the son was found dead in a pig house, his face having been entirely eaten away by the pigs. The other members of the family have been put in an asylum.

Conflict With An Escaped Murderer.

TAHLEQUAH, Ind. T., Jan. 31.—Jeff Thompson, a negro condemned to be hanged for murdering his brother, escaped from jail on Wednesday night. Deputy Sheriff Thorne and posse on Thursday went in pursuit. A battle ensued, in which Jack Candy of the posse was killed. Another man named Har was killed, and also a refugee from justice whose name is unknown. A woman and a boy were fatally wounded.

A Bank at Guelph Closed.

GUELPH, Jan. 31.—The private bank of Barrister W. H. Cullen, known as the Guelph Banking Company, posted a notice of suspension and liquidation this morning. The reported cause of the closing is the winding up of the Federal Bank and losses made in stock speculations through E. S. Cox and A. T. Kerr of Toronto.

Disasters on the Deep.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The British ship Galgate, from Calcutta for New York, has been burned at sea. Her crew have arrived at Pernambucho. The steamer P. Calland, which sailed from Rotterdam Jan. 14 for New York, has put back to Plymouth with three blades of her propeller gone.

Arrested for Bigamy.

MONTREAL, Jan. 31.—John James was arrested here to-day on a charge of bigamy, preferred by his father-in-law, Thomas E. Hammond, accountant.

Killed His Mother With An Axe.

BUFFALO, Jan. 31.—John Cullen, a ship caulker, aged 24 years, killed his mother Ann Cullen, aged 55, at 2.30 to-night with an axe.

A BIG DAY OF BALLOTTING

THE BOARD OF TRADE ELECTS ITS OFFICERS FOR 1888.

Mr. Wm. Ince's Valedictory as President—W. D. Matthews, Jr., Installed as His Successor—Senator Macdonald and the C. U. Resolution.

The Council Chamber held fully 400 members of the board when, at 3.15, President Wm. Ince called the meeting to order. Beside the president sat Treasurer G. M. Rose and Secretary E. A. Wills, while near by sat President-elect W. D. Matthews, jr., ex-President H. W. Darling and ex-2nd Vice-president D. E. Wilkie. The members were comfortably seated, the space in the Chamber having been amply filled with chairs.

The president first called upon the treasurer to present his annual report for the year ending Dec. 31, 1887. Treasurer Geo. Maclean Rose congratulated the board on the healthy condition of its finances and the numerical strength gained during the year. He presented this statement:

|---|---|
| Members' annual subscriptions | $ 9,135 00 |
| Entrance fees of six members at $100 | 600 00 |
| Rents for use of rooms | 192 50 |
| Transfer fees | 40 00 |
| Sale of Statistical Reports | 39 25 |
| Interest on bank deposits | 247 35 |
| Making in all | $10,247 35 |
| Our expenses have amounted to | $ 5,371 04 |
| Leaving the sum of | $ 4,301 31 |
| To be carried forward. This added to the | 2,794 47 |
| At your credit at the beginning of the year, gives | $ 7,095 78 |
| now in hand. | |

During the year 8 new certificates were issued, and 9 transfers were effected. The membership now numbers 915, including 1 life member. Of the above number 836 members have taken advantage of the gratuity scheme. Eight members were lost by death during the year.

The report was received and adopted without discussion.

President Ince arose and for 23 minutes read his farewell address, following the custom of his predecessors. The address was a masterly review of every possible question affecting the trade and commerce, not only of Toronto, but of the Province of Ontario and even the Dominion of Canada. It was divided into the expression of Mr. Ince's opinion on about twenty points and it is regretted that its length, which would occupy the larger part of a World's page, prevents its reproduction in this report. The points of Mr. Ince's address were with reference to:

Grain and Flour—A shortage in Ontario had in part been compensated for by the millers being busy with a bounteous Northwest crop.

Manufactures—While the manufacturing interests appear to be fairly prosperous there is over-production and consequently unremunerative prices in some branches. Persons starting factories should see that there is room for their enterprises.

Lumber and Timber—Reference was made to the satisfactory condition of the past season's trade, to the big amount realized by the recent Ontario Government sale, to the injurious effects of the carpenters' strike, and suggesting that an arrangement to settle differences between employers and employes would be advantageous.

Dry Goods—The results of excessive importations, the forcing of sale upon small margins or at below cost, excessive credit, etc., were referred to. The remedy was the lessening of imports proportionate to the country's consumption. Care in the opening of accounts in distant provinces was also suggested.

Groceries—The chief point made was that the groceries business had closed with a fair average as to volume and profits, and the profit on sugar had increased. A warning was given against over importation.

Hardware—Doing very well.

Payments—Well maintained, notwithstanding shortage of the cereal crops.

Banking—The business has been better than usual although marked by two suspensions. "Unfortunately the recent suspension of the Central Bank, brought about by reckless management, has had a disturbing influence, and institutions well conducted and perfectly sound have suffered undeservedly in consequence. It is to be hoped that no attempt will be made for some time to come to establish new banks, those at present in existence being fully sufficient for the requirements of the country for many years."

Insolvency—The need of a Dominion Insolvency Bill and the power of discharge being left in the hands of the creditors was referred to.

Commercial Union—The well-known result of the Board's decision on this subject was communicated.

Property—It was hoped that steps would be taken to erect a building on the site now occupied by the American Hotel and which has been purchased by the Board.

Gratuity Fund—The deaths for the year were reported to have been only ten, while the limit of assessment was only thirteen; the reserve now amounts to $12,000.

The address concluded with references to the banquet to ex-President Darling, to the Governor-General's visit, to the recent annual dinner and to the valuable services of the Secretary.

At the nomination meeting a week ago these officers were elected without opposition:

W. D. MATTHEWS, Jr., grain merchant, President.

JOHN I. DAVIDSON, wholesale grocer, Second Vice-President.

G. M. ROSE, publisher, Treasurer.

The elections yesterday were for First Vice-President, Council, Board of Arbitration, Representatives on Harbor Commission, Representatives on Industrial Exhibition. There were just 400 ballots cast, and of these only three were spoiled. The counting commenced at 3.45 and was not concluded till 9.45.

The vote for First Vice-President resulted:

D. R. WILKIE, Manager Imperial Bank.... 232

The Council—Fifteen Members.

| J. H. G. HAGARTY, steamship owner | 189 |
| THOS. FULTON, grain merchant | 188 |
| J. L. SPINK, miller | 188 |
| JOHN EARLS, district freight agent, G.T.R. | 148 |
| R. B. BAIRD (Confederation Life Insurance Co.) | 130 |

The Secretary read a lengthy report regarding the advancement of the Board, which was adopted. Mr. George A. Chapman presented a comprehensive report of the Harbor Trust. On motion of Mr. H. W. Darling, the new president, Mr. Matthews, took the chair and Mr Ince, the retiring president, was tendered a vote of thanks.

President Matthews made a short introductory speech. He made reference to bucketshops which he described as "leeches upon society." There were about 150 of them in the province and eight of them in Toronto, and he hoped the Board would have influence brought to bear upon the Government to have them wiped out. They were nothing more than gambling places, and if the Government could stop pool selling at horse races they could stop bucket shop dealings. He made reference to a member of the Board who had been concerned in the Central Bank business and hoped such crookedness would be stopped by the Board.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The name of C. L. Van Wormer has been prominently before the public for some time past as a merchant on the weekly payment plan and as proprietor of the Grand Pacific Hotel, King and John streets. He went largely into business and was successful for a time, but reverses came which Mr. Van Wormer was unable to tide over, and he yesterday made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors to Mr. Nicholas Garland, who is now in charge of the Queen and Yonge-street stores and the hotel.

The liabilities are roughly estimated at $30,000, made up of Central Bank $22,000; Foster & Pender (furniture) $2500; Laidlaw & Co. (stoves, Hamilton) $2200; Black (furniture, Orillia) $2100; Allan Furniture Co., $400; W. A. Murray & Co., $350. Then there are a large number of small creditors. In the way of assets there may be mentioned: Store stock, $2000; hotel, less mortgage, $3000; goods in warehouse, less advances, $4000; horses and rigs, $1000. It is difficult to say what the book debts will realize. The business was on the weekly payment plan and shows a volume of $30,000, but a large amount of this has been collected and considerable may be put down as doubtful. A meeting of creditors will be called for an early day.

George W. Prescott, traveling agent for a patent medicine firm, who at one time lived in Toronto, is wanted as a witness in the case of the Queen v. Doyle, to be tried at the present Assizes. He was served on Saturday last with a subpœna at Orillia by Deputy Sheriff Smith of Simcoe, who got the document into Mr. Prescott's room through a fanlight, after having failed to induce him to open the door. Prescott then looked the officer up and demanded his railway fare and expenses to Toronto and back, which demand was peremptorily refused. Thereupon Mr. Prescott telegraphed Mr. Justice Falconbridge expressing his willingness to attend if paid his expenses. The Court did not reply to the telegram, but has ordered a bench warrant to be issued for Prescott's arrest, a proceeding which he is alleged to have imagined could not be taken on account of his being a citizen of the United States. Prescott is now in Philadelphia, and if the bench warrant is executed upon his return to Canada he proposes taking an appeal.

The office, furniture and fixings of Cox & Co. were sold at No. 26 Toronto-street yesterday by Bailiff St. John Sovers to satisfy a rent warrant issued at the instance of the Canada Permanent and Loan Company.

Many of the habitues of this once busy establishment bought souvenirs from among its contents. Ex-Ald. "Billy" Farley purchased the blackboard, presented to Mr. Cox by Miller, Francis & Co. of New York, for $5.50. Auctioneer John McFarlane bought Mr. Cox's private desk for $35. Ald. Piper captured the immense mosaic head, which was sent by Foundmaker to Mr. Cox. The consideration was $35. Ald. Piper also bought Mr. Cox's chair. Captain J. H. Beaty outbid all competitors for a gilt-edged copy of "What I Know About Banking and Banks." The Captain also bid on the safe but he didn't go high enough.

THE TRENT WATERWAY.

The municipal councils of the County and Town of Peterborough, County of Victoria and County of Simcoe have shown commendable public spirit in making appropriations of money to defray the expenses of the Trent Navigation Association in gathering evidence regarding the route of the Trent Valley Canal to present to the Commission. The Executive Committee of the Association has a task of much responsibility. Upon the manner in which they perform the work they have undertaken the development of our internal waterways largely depends. They have undertaken the duties voluntarily, in the interests of the people generally as well as in their own interest, and the knowledge that the people will assist and sustain them gives substantial encouragement.

This district has faith in the benefits the waterway would confer, and has again shown its faith by using its money to impress upon our legislators the necessity for its development by constructing the necessary canals to provide a through course of navigation. This County and Town, in appropriating together $2,000, has acted properly, and the fact that the grants were passed unanimously in both councils should not be lost sight of. In the County Council eight members voted for a grant of $500, but Mr. Kidd, the mover of the amendment, explained that he thought the smaller sum sufficient until the Council met again in June, when a further appropriation could be made if it was needed. There was thus, practically, no objection to the full grant, but the majority took the correct view, as the fund will only be used if needed and paid to the Treasurer of the Association as required. In the Town Council the appropriation was made without a dissenting voice.

The gentlemen who compose the Executive of the Association have the confidence of the people, and in their hands the work will not suffer by neglect. Each member of the Committee should at at once recognise the duties and the responsibility of the position, and any who can render assistance should be ready to do so.

The Peterborough REVIEW says that "The Conservative party has a clearly defined policy in regard to the tariff and trade relations with the United States." Senator Plumb says that "Canada may be said to have no definite policy." Such differences are dreadful to think of.—London Advertiser.

Oh, not very dreadful. Get Senator Plumb's opinion of what the Conservative policy is and what the country's policy should be, and see if it differs much from the opinions expressed by the REVIEW. The "policies" of the different sections of the Liberal party include various schemes, from a revenue tariff to annexation. That is dreadful—for Mr. Laurier.

---

If the Town Solicitor's opinion is correct—and it will, of course, be taken as correct unless it is shown to be wrong—Mr. J. R. Stratton will have to revise a portion of the speech he delivered during the present winter. The people to whom he gave his views of the law regarding market tolls refused to pay the fees imposed by the Town By-law, but the Solicitor, after careful consideration, informs the Council that the By-law is legal.

A Surprise.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—A Washington despatch says: "The Fishery Commissioners and the State Department have furnished a surprise. Late last night a message was presented to the Senate in executive session, containing a draft of a treaty relative to the fisheries. The nature of the draft cannot be stated from any definite official knowledge, but it is believed that the draft proposes to refer the subject in dispute to arbitration."

Resolution for an Open Session.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—In the Senate to-day Mr. Riddleberger (Va.) offered a resolution that the treaty between this Government and that of Great Britain, now before the Senate in executive session, be considered in open session and asked for its immediate consideration. Under objection the resolution went over.

DOWN AT THE OLD BRICK PILE.

The Ontario Legislature Sits Ten Minutes Yesterday.

TORONTO, Feb. 1.

Yesterday's session of the Legislature was measured by a very few waggles of the Gallery clock's pendulum. The members took their seats at 3.10 and left them ten minutes later.

These petitions were presented:

By Mr. Hilliard, North Lanark, for assistance to remove obstructions in the Mississippi River, so that a considerable extent of land might be reclaimed.

By Mr. Stewart, Dufferin, for an amendment to the Assessment Act exempting farm stock from assessment, and claiming that it was impossible for assessors to fix the amount stock was worth.

By Mr. Ingram, Elgin, applying for a pension for J. Ellwood, an old man injured in the rebellion of '37.

By Mr. Gibson, of Hamilton, on behalf of Cynthia Fuller, applying for conformation of certain conveyances and mortgages made by the churchwardens of Christ Church, Hamilton.

By Mr. Widdifield, North York, for leave, in behalf of the Episcopal Methodist Church, Aurora, to enclose a piece of ground for use as a cemetery.

By Mr. Bronson, Ottawa, asking that the Ottawa Orphans' Home be given leave to borrow $5000 on building and site.

By Hon. A. M. Ross, for an amendment to the act relating to mortgages.

By Hon. A. M. Ross for an amendment to the High School Act making it compulsory on high schools and collegiate institute boards to charge a minimum fee to students attending the same.

By Hon. A. M. Ross for an amendment to the Municipal Act, relieving municipal councils of liability for two-thirds the expenditure of license commissioners in towns and cities where the Canada Temperance Act is in force; or an order to have accounts of such expenditure placed before the councils for approval and criticism.

By Mr. Fell, North Victoria, for certain amendments to the Municipal Act so as to enable the Lindsay Town Council to get assistance to carry out necessary sanitary reforms.

Mr. Fraser presented the report of the Special Committee to appoint standing committees. It was adopted. The committees are substantially the same as those of last session.

Legislative Echoes.

The question, "Who's to be the minister?" is still much discussed in the lobbies.

A deputation from Owen Sound, consisting of Mayor Morrison, Councillor Kennedy, License Inspector Dobie and Mr. Chisholm, yesterday waited on the Provincial Secretary with reference to local license matters.

The press representatives have not come to a conclusion as to the allotment of seats in the press gallery. The committee brought in a report recommending that The Empire should have the three first seats on the Opposition side, but the report was sent back for reconsideration.

There is a probability that two or more competent geologists will be appointed to act in conjunction with Mr. Blue in preparing a statement of Ontario's mineral wealth. The name of Gordon Richardson is spoken of as one likely to be appointed.

MR. BLANE, M. P.

Convicted Under the Crimes Act and Sentenced to Four Months' Imprisonment.

DUBLIN, Jan. 31.—Mr. Blane, M.P., for South Armagh, was to-day convicted of inciting tenants to resist the authorities, and sentenced to four months' imprisonment. Notice of appeal was given. The magistrate who sentenced Father McFadden to three months' imprisonment will remit the question as to the treatment the priest shall receive in prison to the judge who hears the case on appeal.

Shot by Evicted Tenants.

DUBLIN, Jan. 31.—Mr. Fitzmaurice, who recently took a farm near Tralee from which two brothers had been evicted, has been fatally shot by the brothers.

Summoned Under the Crimes Act.

DUBLIN, Jan. 31.—Father Kennedy and eight farmers have been summoned under the Crimes Act for attending a meeting of a suppressed branch of the League in Meelin, County Cork. Eight other persons have been summoned for a similar offense at Kantork, in the same county.

Ejectment Notices.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Five hundred processes and ejectment notices have been issued at Magherfelt, Londonderry, against tenants on the Drapers' estate.

Coming Russian Cabinet Change.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 31.—M. Dellanoff, Minister of Public Instruction, is to be removed shortly and succeeded by M. Krapotine.

PERILS OF WINTER.

W. F. Morris, of Wausau, Wis., while hunting lost his way and was found frozen to death in the brush.

Harvey Havener, 6 years old, of Jamestown, N. Y., while coasting ran into a street car. His skull was fractured, and he died instantly.

Daniel Stillwell, 70 years of age, was within calling distance of his home at South Pittsburg, Tenn., recently, when he fell exhausted in the snow and perished.

On his way to church one morning, a few days since, Joseph Favre, of Perryville, Mo., 90 years of age, was caught in a blizzard and wandered off into a wheat field, where he froze to death.—New York Sun.

CURIOUS ACCIDENTS.

William Good, of Mount Joy, Pa., broke his leg while trying to pull off his boot.

Jesse Mead's horse ran away near Tremont, O., and threw him headlong into the frozen creek, where he broke through the ice and was drowned.

The mule upon which William Brading, of Lick Creek, Ills., was riding, shied, and throwing Brading against a tree, he was killed instantly.

Seven years ago the little son of James Roup, of Roupville, Ga., got a blade of straw in his ear, and was made deaf by it. Recently the straw, two inches in length, worked itself out, and the boy's hearing is restored.

YOUNG'S POINT.

Correspondence of the Review.

PERSONAL.—Mrs. Kane, of Peterborough, spent last week in the village, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Young.

SURPRISE.—A large number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Kearney sprung a surprise on them one night last week. They were warmly welcomed and hospitably entertained. Dancing and other amusements passed the time agreeably until the early hours of the next morning.

BALL AND SUPPER.—A large number of guests attended the ball at Mr. J. E. Kearney's hotel, on Thursday evening of last week. The lovers of good music were pleased to see Mr. Geo. J. Scrimgeour wielding the bow. The supper was both substantial and elegant and reflected much credit on the culinary department of the Lakeview House. The devotees of Terpsichore kept up their devotions until early morning.

BASE BALL.—Although snow thickly covers the practice field, still the base ball boys are not buried beneath it, but are a remarkably live organization, as witness their meeting on Monday night last. The meeting was called to consider the advissability of holding a ball, and a committee was drafted to make the necessary arrangements. The boys being in session thought they might as well elect their officers for 1888, and the result is as follows:—President, W. McFarlane; 1st Vice-President, J. Belleghem; 2nd Vice-President, R. Heard; Treasurer, F. J. Young; Secretary, T. J. Kearney; Captain, T. N. Lee.

HONOR ROLL.—The following is the honor roll for January of the Young's Point School, of which Mr. T. N. Lee is teacher.

Class IV.—1st Louisa Kearney, 2nd Harry Kearney, 3rd Jennie Kearney, 4th Frank J. Young, 5th Lizzie Costello, 6th Amy A. Blewett.

Class III.—1st Harriet Northey, 2nd Robert Kearns, 3rd Frand G Young, 4th Wm. J. Pope, 5th Maggie Godfrey, 6th Kate Gordon.

Class II.—1st Mary J. Northey, 2nd Maggie Northey, 3rd John Ayotte, 4th Wm. Walsh, 5th Jas. Belleghem, 6th Kate Pope.

Part II.—1st Robert Plymith, 2nd Maggie Dever, 3rd Mary Anglesey, Frank Hope, equal, 4th Thos. Wilson, 5th Pat Young, 6th Jos. Ayotte.

ZION.

Correspondence of the Review.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATION.—It is to be regretted that the Zion correspondent of the Peterborough Times had nothing more interesting to give his readers than the names of our two pupils who failed to pass the recent entrance examinations. Doubtless they did their best and if they did fail it was not very encouraging for them to see their names in the papers under such circumstances. The Times Correspondent must be lacking in judgment or sympathy, otherwise he would have scorned to wound the feelings of two little school children. More than one half of the pupils who wrote at the last entrance examinations failed and yet their names were not published. It is pleasing to know that there are not many (if any) correspondents who are so void of courtesy as our renowned Times correspondent. We trust when he again takes up the pen he will select a more appropriate, theme, something more worthy of his steel.

MISSIONARY MEETING.—Our annual missionary meeting was held on the evening of Jan. 25th. Although the night was cold and stormy, a fair gathering assembled to show their interest in the missionary cause. The chair was occupied by Mr. Joshua Smithson, who officiated in his usual pleasant manner. Stirring adresses were delivered by the Rev. I. Tovell, of Peterborough, and the Rev. Mr. Cragg, of Hiawatha, in which the people were earnestly solicited to assist in carrying the Gospel to those who were not so blessed as ourselves.

MISCELLANEOUS.—The mercury away down blow zero....Miss Kennedy, who has been the guest of Miss Jackson, has returned to town....Miss Maud Emmerson, of Bowmanville, who has been visiting at Zion, has returned....Miss Mary Emmerson is visiting in parts unknown....Mr. John Moncrieff is ill....Mr. Robert Emmerson is suffering from a fall on the ice....Miss T. Kindred, who has been visiting in Harwood, has returned....Mr. and Mrs. Jackson and Miss Meadows are the guest of Mr. W. Dickson....Mr. and Mrs. W. Dickson, who have been visiting friends in the east, have returned....We understand the lovers of the "light fantastic" are to "trip it" in the Hall one of these nights.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

GOODERHAM.

LUMBERING.—The lumbering operations of M. Boyd & Co. are something astonishing this season, and the woods for miles around are moving with life, like a colony of ants. Over six hundred men are engaged in the ten shanties, each shanty having a cob-web of roads around it, and the cobwebs overlapping each other. So confusing was the labyrinth of roads to new comers, and, so much time was wasted in teams getting lost that finger boards have been placed. So far, the weather has been all that could be wished and the work has gone on merrily. Drawing has been boss, and let me tell you that the drawing that is done nowadays, is nothing like the drawing that was done in the old days. With their cat teams, narrow sledges and narrow runners, three logs were a load. Now, they have powerful teams, broad sleighs and broad runners and the way they pile up the logs is a marvel. Why to give you an idea of a load, Chas Reynolds boss of a shanty over the way here, has a team that walked away with 32 logs, that would make an average of 12 inches, and make fully ten standards. And the team were not feeling anyway extra well that day, or was it to say any such a banged fine day for drawing either. Still the boys were satisfied with the draw, and are waiting to see it beaten, before they really show their oats.—Independent.

What They Do.

The Board of Education is composed of fifteen members, comprising an M.P., an M.P.P., two lawyers, three contractors and builders, one superintendent of a woollen mill, on physician, one tailor, one canoe builder, one Forest Ranger, a retired miller, an insurance agent and one merchant.

They Make no Grant.

The Counties Council of Northumberland and Durham have refused to make an appropriation to assist in procuring evidence to be placed before the Trent Valley Canal Commissioners. Simcoe, Victoria and Peterborough Town and County, having within their borders the most progressive places in the Province, did make grants. Comment is unnecessary.

The Nicholls Hospital.

The following is the monthly report of the hospital for January:—Number of patients in the hospital for the month ending January 31st, 1888, 5. Diseases:—Hip joint disease, 1; paralysis, 1; stone in the bladder, 1; tumour, 1; congestion of kidneys, 1; discharged cured, 7. Total number treated during month 12; from Peterborough, 10; from the country, 2; pay patients, 4; non-paying patients, 8. Dr. Boucher attending physician for January; Dr. Halliday in attendance on private ward patients.

Vital Statistics.

During the month of January, the registrations of vital statistics made with Mr. C. D. Macdonald, Town Clerk, Division Registrar, were as follows:—

| | |
|---|---|
| Births | 16 |
| Deaths | 2 |

Certainly the excess of births over deaths shows a most gratifying increase in population, but have all the deaths been registered? That is the question. There is no doubt that the registration law here is fairly well carried out, but we are inclined to think that the above figures show that there is room for improvement.

Provincial Convention.

The eighteenth Provincial Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association will commence to-morrow in Toronto and continue till Sunday evening. The Secretaries will meet in conference this afternoon and Mr. W. H. Stevens, the Secretary of the Peterborough Association, went to Toronto this morning to be present. Among the speakers who will address the convention are the Hon. John Macdonald, the Rev. Dr. Kellogg, the Hon. S. H. Blake, the Rev. Thos. Hall, of Stratford, and Mr. John B. Squire, General Secretary of the Buffalo Association. In addition a number of interesting topics are set down for discussion. The following are expected to represent the Peterborough Association:—Messrs. G. M. Roger, President; H. S. Griffin, A. Clegg, C. W. Beal, J. D. Collins, R. H. Henderson and W. H. Stevens, Secretary.

The Auburn Council Royal Temlars of Temperance will hold a musical and literary entertainment in the Auburn church on the evening of Tuesday, Feb, 7th. A good programme of songs, dialogues, readings, etc., will be provided. 6d23

Start Him Off.

An Italian leading a dog and carrying a bag on his back has been wandering around the streets during the last few days. The man is evidently not right in his head and the police should politely request him to leave the town behind him in short order. We have no use for him.

That Kid.

And now kid the boot man is going to take stock and he is going to reduce his prices like this. Ladies overshoes $1. Men's felt overshoes $1.05, Ladies felt slippers 19 cents—but he must stop quoting prices or people will suspect him of selling below cost!!

Acknowledgment.

The Lady Superintendent of the Nicholls Hospital thankfully acknowledges the following donations for January:—Mrs. Minore, biscuits, maple syrup, candies and newspapers; Mr. Roddy, a turkey; Mrs. J. R. Stratton, preserves; Mrs. Morrow, milk; Mrs. T. Rubidge, oranges and cake.

On Tramp.

There was a fair turnout of the members of the Y.M.C.A. Snow Shoe Club, on Tuesday evening. The route taken was from the rooms along the north eastern portion of the town, winding up Mrs. Carlisle's, Aylmer street, where the trampers were hospitably entertained.

For Sidewalks.

As may be seen by reference to our Council meeting report, the Street and Bridge committee has decided to try hemlock plank for laying sidewalks. It will only be an experiment, but if it is successful it will save the town a large amount of money annually. In the opinion of many hemlock is preferable to pine and it is said that it will last fully as long, while the price per thousand feet is considerably less.

The Carters.

For years the carters have been complaining regarding the Town by-law which governs them. They state that the rates need re-adjustment and more protection is necessary, as outsiders, who do not pay any license at all, are in the habit of cutting them out of many jobs. They will ask the Council to pass a new by-law. The sections regarding cabmen also need attention and the matters will be taken up by the Council and the by-law passed before the first day of March, when the town license year begins.

Protestant Home.

The lady managers of the Peterborough Protestant Home thankfully acknowledge the following donations for January:—Mrs. Ellsworth parcel clothing and jar preserves; Mrs. Morrison, cloth coat; Miss Edwards, bedstead; Mr. McClelland, 2 bags potatoes and one bag turnips; Mrs. James Best, parcel clothing; Mrs. Tom Rubidge, bed quilt; Mrs. Weller, $2 for work done by Danie Burgess; McKee & Davidson, discount $3.98; Charles and Harry Connors, for father, $2; Miss Moore, pair pillows; Mrs. Valentine Best, bedstead and washstand; Mrs. George Burnham, cake and $1 worth bread tickets; Ladies St. Andrews Church, bread and ham; Mrs. Cameron, clothing.

Thursday and Friday.

The annual ice races take place on the Little Lake to morrow and next day. The promoters are in high spirits. The track is in the best of condition. Entries and enquiries are pouring in from all quarters and the outlook for a successful meeting never was brighter. The dates have been well chosen, the purses are liberal, the management is in first class hands, Peterborough's reputation for a "square deal" all around is unsurpassed in Canada, and some fine sport may be looked for. All that is wanted now is fine weather and with that and the other circumstances favorable, an immense crowd and well contested races are sure to result.

The Institute.

While the Committee to strike the Standing Committees of the Board of Education were in session, Mr. Dumble brought up the matter of the cost of country pupils now attending the Institute and several members took part in the discussion that followed. From Mr. Dumble's remarks it was gathered that the are too many pupils in the Collegiate Institute for the present staff to properly handle and the Board would have to provide an additional teacher and room. The cause of the overcrowding is the fact that about fifty of the pupils are from the country and these are being educated largely at the expense of the town. It now costs on an average of $33 to educate each pupil, per year, while the highest ever paid on pupils from the country is $18 and the town is compelled to make up the difference of $15 to educate the sons of wealthy farmers. Mr. Dumble has taken the matter up and intends to ask the Board to take action at the next meeting.

Leads the Continent.

The Toronto Mail says:—"The numerous additions made during the year just passed to the number of manufacturing institutions already in operation has given Peterborough a great lift, the streets of the town presenting all the appearance of a city of considerable proportions. By thus providing employment to a large extra force of hands, building through the year was prosecuted with great vigour, and the number of houses erected in 1887 for their accommodation runs well up into three figures. The new postoffice was completed during the year and will shortly be ready for occupancy; and without exception all the important manufacturing enterprises in operation extended their facilities during the year, either by the erection of additional buildings or the introduction of more machinery and a greater force of hands, and in most cases by both. In no town in the Dominion, and it is questionable if in any place of its size on the American Continent, can there be found such a diversity of manufacturing institutions in operations as are conducted in Peterborough. Their magnitude too is a noticeable feature, and that they are making rapid onward strides is fully proven by the extensive increase that the majority have made in their facilities during the past year." It then gives extended descriptions of the Central Iron Bridge works, the Ontario Canoe Company's factory and Messrs. Maldrum, Davidson & Co.'s elevator and flour mills.

Trusty Friend—Perry Davis' Pain-Killer. Safe to keep and use in every household.

Society Funeral.

The funeral of the late Jacob Friend, of Ashburnham, took place this afternoon. The deceased was a member of the Sons of England Benevolent Society, and the members of Lansdowne Lodge attended in a body, wearing mourning badges.

Legislative Committees.

At Tuesday's session of the Legislature the Standing Committees were appointed. Mr. Stratton is a member of the Printing, Standing Orders, Railways, and Municipal Committees, and Mr. Blezard of the Privileges and Elections, Printing, Railways, and Private Bills Committees.

School Trustees.

Our attention has been called to the fact that Section 17 of the High School Act says:—"In every city and town separated from the county for municipal purposes, the Council shall at the first meeting thereof after being duly organized, held in the month of January in each year, appoint the Trustees to fill vacancies caused by the annual retirement of that number of Trustees from the High School Board." Peterborough Council, therefore, did the correct thing. Our City Fathers usually do as the law directs.

For the Rockies.

Messrs. R. Sherlock, Peter J. Henselwood, Wash. Huffman, William Benill, John Smith and Herbert Eastland left to-day for the North-west, to work on bridges, etc, on the Canadian Pacific Railway, under Superintendent Rose. The first four named worked in the vicinity of the Rockies before and it speaks well for their ability that the superintendent sent all the way to Peterborough for them again, when thousands of men could have been secured a good deal nearer the scene of operations; but good work always tells and hence the engagement of the Peterborough boys.

Curling.

An Ottawa despatch says that the curling returns of the competition for the Governor-General's prize awarded annually to the iron playing clubs in Canada are all in. The Ottawa and Montreal clubs head the list. Arrangements have been made between these two clubs to play the deciding match for the prize in Ottawa on the Governor-General's rink at an early date. The returns in the competition for the Governor-General's prize between the stone playing clubs, which included all the Canadian clubs outside the Province of Quebec except Ottawa, are not in yet, but so far Peterborough leads, with Halifax second. As soon as the returns in this competition are in an attempt will be made to get the two clubs with the highest scores to play the deciding match on the Governor-General's rink in Ottawa. It will be remembered that last year in this competition Peterborough was defeated by Lindsay.

Keeping up with the Times.

Mr. John Hackett, finding that his present premises are inadequate for his rapidly increasing trade and too old fashioned for modern ideas, has commenced to renovate his shop from end to end. The present ceiling will be replaced by a panelled one, new counters and shelving will take the place of those at present in use, a cash railway system will be introduced, the office will be on a raised platform at the rear end, the winding stairway will be taken down and plate glass side windows and doors will be placed in position. Considerable additional space will thus be given and the total cost of the improvements is estimated at about $1,200. When everything is completed Mr. Hackett will have as fine a store as any one on George street. While the changes are being made, business will be carried on in the store at the corner of George and Charlotte streets, recently occupied as a drug store.

Outside Indigents.

Among the bills presented to the Town Council on Monday night was one for $12, for six weeks board of an indigent old woman. She came to town from Hastings, from which place the municipality kindly paid her fare, and by means of her oily tongue she managed to secure board with a hard working woman, in the Third Ward. The old dame said she owned considerable property in the Township of Percy, which she would soon take possession of, when all her board bills, etc., would be liquidated and those who befriended her would also receive something handsome in addition. It soon turned out that the property story was a myth and efforts were made to get the stranger to leave town, but she refused to budge, stating that she had fallen in love with Peterborough and will not leave it on any consideration. Thus things stand at present. It appears that there is a workhouse near Warkworth and for some time the old woman was an inmate of it, but not liking the treatment there she secured a ticket to Peterborough. This business of other municipalities thrusting their indigents on Peterborough is played out, to use a popular phrase, and it is necessary that a law of some kind should be passed to put a stop to it.

Destitution.

Officer Adams came across a case of destitution the other day while in the discharge of his duty, that is well worth the consideration of the charitable public. A man went to the police station and asked the aid of the officers to secure some "Indian" blankets, owned by him, which were in the possession of a man at the south-west end of the town. The blankets had been loaned to a jobber, who had a contract of taking out some cordwood. In the shanty a man and his wife were employed, the latter as cook. Their two children were also with them. Things did not run right and the shanty was broken up. The woman and children had not sufficient clothing to protect them from the cold and the jobber allowed them to take away three pairs of blankets with them. Then the owner could not get his goods and secured the services of the police to find them. Officer Adams accompanied him to the house in question and there a scene of utter destitution met them. The woman and her children were literally clad in rags and the blankets were the only bed coverings in the house. The owner of the blankets at once gave up all claim to them and left the premises. The husband of the woman is a cripple, who is said to be sober and industrious, but who cannot just now obtain work. Already the town authorities have relieved their pressing necessities and some of our charitable people might look into the matter further. Officer Adams will be pleased to give all information in his power.

Brevities.

—The juveniles are enjoying excellent skating, free to all, in the vicinity of "Goose" Island.

—On Smith street, where Alymer joins it, the snow is drifted seven or eight feet high and packed solid.

—The electric light at the corner of George and Simcoe streets went out at an early hour last night.

—A carver from Ottawa is at work finishing the carving of the stone work at the new post office.

—Tamarac wood is being purchased for the use of the schools at $2 per cord. It is remarkably cheap this year.

—The Port Hope post office was opened from 12 to 1 p. m. on Sunday for the accommodation of the public.

—The good work of clearing the snow off the mansards still proceeds and "look out below" is often heard.

—Crude oil is now being used at the gas works here to produce a better quality of illuminating gas.

—The slight snow fall of last night was welcomed by the rabbit hunters, who went out this morning in full force.

—Quite a large party of ladies and gentlemen, on snowshoes, had a tramp at the north end of the town last night.

—Three hundred dollars Scott Act fines were paid to the Town Treasurer yesterday. They were imposed some time ago.

—Contingents of sporting men from all the neighboring places are already in town for the purpose of attending the races.

—The market this morning was fairly well attended. Beef and wood were the principal commodities offered.

—The members of the Lindsay fire brigade are paid fifty dollars each per year, the same as it is proposed to pay our men.

—Market Clerk Doharty has had the Town Solicitor's opinion printed in sheet form, for distribution among the farmers.

—Pacers will be given a chance to show their speed at the coming ice races, for the first time in many years, in Peterborough.

—Since organization the junior curlers of Peterborough have played 8 matches, winning 6 and losing 2. A creditable record indeed.

—Beef, in abundance, was on the market this morning. Prices were remarkably low and a large number of quarters changed hands.

—A horse tied at the north end of the market broke his halter this morning, and started off. He was captured before he left the square.

—Telephone number 153 may now be rung up. It is in the old Kennealy House. Manager Kent is making a bold bid for the two hundred.

—Messrs. Hall, Innes & Co. have something decidedly new and novel on the road, in the shape of a delivery sleigh. It attracts much attention.

—Fakers of all kinds may as well understand that the police will not allow them to "work" here at all. They may as well keep their gripsacks packed.

—Complaints are made in Port Hope that the carters obstruct the streets and a new stand is to be provided. The same should be done here.

—The newly appointed assessors will file their bonds and commence work within the next days. Householders will please notice and tie up their dogs in the cellar.

—The Ontario Bank counters are being fitted up with elegant brass and glass fixtures. They are the finest in town. Evidently Mr. McGill is pushing business.

—Councillors Douglas, Kelly and Hartley are heroes in the eyes of the hang-on-sleigh-boys, while Councillor Moore does not amount to much in their estimation.

—A couple of strong, lusty, able bodied looking men were on a begging tour around the west end last night. A threat to send for the police gave them a hint to start.

—The Police Magistrate was told the same old story to-day, "no cases, Your Worship," and he walked away wondering whether the moral wave had struck town for keeps or not.

—Trustee Wrighton, one of the oldest members of the Board, took Trustee O'Meara, the baby member, in tow to-day and showed him through the school buildings.

—It has been found that barbed wire fences are very useful in checking snow drifts. Where they are in use the snow does not drift nearly so high as it does near other fences.

—Street Inspector Pope has found it necessary to engage men to shovel the snow off the sidewalk on Water street north. It was was packed so solid that the snow plough could not move it.

—Another economical fit has seized the Port Hope Council and retrenchment in every department is now the order of the day. In Peterborough the economical fits generally come on just previous to the municipal elections.

—Armed with copies of Town Solicitor Edwards' letter the market clerk went his rounds to-day. Some, of course, kicked, but rather than make a test case before the Police Magistrate, all paid up the legal, lawful tolls.

—The Salvation Army, on the Market Square, last night, varied things by having some fire balls burning during their services. The bonfires served to draw a crowd, just what they were expected to do, we suppose.

—Ordinary mortals fail to see the necessity of lighting the gas lamps on George street north, at the same corner where electric lights are burning. They certainly are not of any use, and as regards ornament they do not decorate the streets to any alarming extent.

—A Smith farmer to-day sold a load of spring wheat, the "Colorado" variety, for 77 cents. He was only bid 76 cents, but when the extra quality of his load was seen the buyer opened his heart and actually marked the ticket one cent higher.

—Sleighing parties appear to be the popular fad this winter. Hardly a night passes that one or more do not leave town. The distination is generally one of the neighboring villages or some farm house, where a pleasant evening is always spent.

—To-morrow will be Cadlemas Day, when it is said that the bear comes out of his den to see how things look and how the thermometer stands. If he sees his shadow he goes back for six weeks, but if he cannot see his shadow he remains out and looks for spring in a short time.

The report was received and adopted, the Chairman as given being elected afterwards.

The meeting then adjourned.

OBITUARY.

LINES BY MRS. OSWAY CARVER, ON THE DEATH OF HER MOTHER, MRS. RESTARD.

Rest, mother, rest!
Your sufferings are o'er,
For at last you have reached
That beautiful shore.

Our Father in Heaven
Has answered your prayers,
And relieved you, dear mother,
From all pain and cares.

With calm resignation
We bow to His will,
And to our hearts murmurings
We'll say, Peace be still.

We miss you, dear mother,
But will not complain,
For we are assured,
Our loss is your gain.

We would not recall thee
For well do we know
You have gone to that home
You have so long'd to go.

So rest, dear one, rest!
Nine sisters and a brother
Will hold to memory dear,
The sacred name of mother.

There are many Cough Mixtures, but only one Allen's Lung Balsam; try it.

A Famous Doctor

Once said that the secret of good health consisted in keeping the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. Had this eminent physician lived in our day, and known the merits of Ayer's Pills as an aperient, he would certainly have recommended them, as so many of his distinguished successors are doing.

The celebrated Dr. Farnsworth, of Norwich, Conn., recommends Ayer's Pills as the best of all remedies for "Intermittent Fevers."

Dr. I. E. Fowler, of Bridgeport, Conn., says: "Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."

Dr. Mayhew, of New Bedford, Mass., says: "Having prescribed many thousands of Ayer's Pills, in my practice, I can unhesitatingly pronounce them the best cathartic in use."

The Massachusetts State Assayer, Dr. A. A. Hayes, certifies: "I have made a careful analysis of Ayer's Pills. They contain the active principles of well-known drugs, isolated from inert matter, which plan is, chemically speaking, of great importance to their usefulness. It insures activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. Ayer's Pills contain no metallic or mineral substance, but the virtues of vegetable remedies in skillful combination."

MR. CAMPBELL'S DEFENCE

HIS AFFIDAVIT IN REPLY TO THE PETITION FOR HIS REMOVAL.

The Impeached Liquidator Makes a Lengthy Statement of Defense—He Denies Having Withheld Correspondence—Also the Story of the Diamonds.

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—The Master-in-Ordinary gave the press access yesterday morning to the accounts which were filed yesterday by Mr. Archibald Campbell, said accounts being a record of his transactions as interim liquidator prior to the appointment of his co-liquidators. The officer to whom has been entrusted the drafting of rules to govern the remaining conduct of the investigation has recommended that documents and papers connected with the case should be open for inspection without the payment of the customary fee.

An affidavit was filed by Mr. Campbell with the two books of accounts marked respectively A and B. The affidavit in substance says that the account marked A contains a full, true and correct copy of the entries made in the cash book of the bank during the time he held the office of liquidator; that he found the clerks performing their usual duties; that he did not himself make any entries or handle any cash or actually carry out the transactions entered in the cash book; that in accordance with the Master's orders he has endeavored to pick out for the said account A the cash transactions and placed them in a separate account, which is marked B and contains a correct statement of the moneys distributed and the cash in the bank on Dec. 21. Exhibit A, refered to in the affidavit of Archibald Campbell, etc., contained a great many entries of receipts and payments and allowances since the failure of the bank.

At the end of one of the statements was the following statement:

| | |
|---|---|
| Bills receivable | $349,703 03 |
| Teller's cash | 193,330 74 |
| Treasury | 211,700 00 |
| | $804,733 77 |
| Dec. 21, 1887. | |
| Payments and allowances | $115,669 28 |
| Teller's cash | 25,099 79 |
| Treasury | 553,700 00 |
| | $695,369 17 |
| Balance | $546 40 |

The following entry was also made in the statement:

This surplus is only apparent. The cash book has been continued as previously used as a cash book and journal, and contained entries of all transactions, some of them not cash, and in eliminating the cash transactions from the journal entries, I have not been able to exactly balance. With further time I have no doubt I could do this. Not being the actual bookkeeper or party handling the cash, I found it very troublesome to trace the items.

Verdict in the Lacrosse Libel Suit.

MONTREAL, Jan. 31.—The jury in the lacrosse libel suit brought in the following verdict to-night: 1. Were the said publications substantially true? A—No. 2. If not did the plaintiff thereby suffer damage, and at what sum, if any, do you fix said damage? A—None. His Honor said they had better withdraw their verdict and return one for a cent or two of damages. The jury added: "At the suggestion of the court, we assess the damages at 25 cents."

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Do you mean to tell me that I don't care for you?" says Rodney quickly.

Mona evades a reply.

"How cold it is!" she says, rising, with a little shiver. "Let us go home."

If she had been nurtured all her life in the fashionable world, she could scarcely have made a more correct speech. Geoffrey is puzzled, nay, more, discomfited. Just in this wise would a woman in his own set answer him, did she mean to repel his advances for the moment. He forgets that no tinge of worldliness lurks in Mona's nature, and feels a certain amount of chagrin that she should so reply to him.

"If you wish," he says, in a courteous tone, but one full of coldness; and so they commence their homeward journey.

"I am glad you have been pleased to-night," says Mona, shyly, abashed by his sudden silence. "But," nervously, "Killarney is even more beautiful. You must go there."

"Yes, I mean to—before I return to England."

She starts perceptibly, which is balm to his heart.

"To England!" she repeats, with a most mournful attempt at unconcern. "Will—will that be soon?"

"Not very soon. But some time, of course, I must go."

"I suppose so," she says, in a voice from which all joy has flown. "And it is only natural; you will be happier there." She is looking straight before her. There is no quiver in her tone; her lips do not tremble; yet he can see how pale she has grown beneath the vivid moonlight.

"Is that what you think?" he asks, earnestly. "Then for once you are wrong. I have never been—I shall hardly be again—happier than I have been in Ireland."

There is a pause. Mona says nothing, but, taking out the flower that has lain upon her bosom all night, pulls it to pieces petal by petal. And this is unlike Mona, because flowers are dear to her as sunshine is to them.

At this moment they come to a high bank, and Geoffrey, having helped Mona to mount it, jumps down at the other side, and holds out his arms to assist her to descend. As she reaches the ground, and while his arms are still round her, she says, with a sudden effort, and without lifting her eyes, "There is very good snipe-shooting here at Christmas."

The little pathetic insinuation is as perfect as it is touching.

"Is there? Then I shall certainly return for it," says Geoffrey, who is too much of a gentleman to pretend to understand all her words seem to imply. "It is really no journey from this to England."

"I should think it a long journey," says Mona, shaking her head.

"Oh, no, you won't," says Rodney, absently. In truth, his mind is wandering to that last little speech of hers, and is trying to unravel it.

Mona looks at him. How oddly he has expressed himself! "You won't," he said, instead of "you wouldn't." Does he then deem it possible she will ever be able to cross to that land that calls him son? She sighs, and, looking down at her little lean, sinewy hands, clasps and unclasps them nervously.

"Why need you go until after Christmas?" she says, in a tone so low that he can barely hear her.

"Mona! Do you want me to say?" he asks, suddenly, taking her hands in his. "Tell me the truth."

"I do," returns she, tremulously.

"But why?—why? Is it because you love me? Oh, Mona! If it is that! At times I have thought so, and yet again I have feared you do not love me as—as I love you!"

"You love me?" repeats she, faintly.

"With all my heart," says Rodney, fervently. And, indeed, if this be so, she may well count herself in luck, because it is a very good and true heart of which he speaks.

"Don't say anything more," says the girl, almost passionately, drawing back from him as though afraid of herself. "Do not. The more you say now the worse it will be for me by and by when I have to think. And—and—it is all quite impossible."

"But why, darling? Could you not be happy as my wife?"

"Your wife?" repeats she, in soft, lingering tones, and a little tender seraphic smile creeps into her eyes and lies lightly on her lips. "But I am not fit to be that, and——"

"Look here," says Geoffrey, with decision. "I will have no 'buts,' and I prefer taking my answer from your eyes than from your lips. They are kinder. You are going to marry me, you know, and that is all about it. I shall marry you, whether you like it or not, so you may as well give in with a good grace. And I'll take you to see Rome and all the places we have been talking about, and we shall have a real good old time. Why don't you look up and speak to me, Mona?"

"Because I have nothing to say," murmurs the girl, in a frozen tone—"nothing." Then, passionately, "I will not be selfish. I will not do this thing."

"Do you mean you will not marry me?" asks he, letting her go, and moving back a step or two, a frown upon his forehead. "I confess I do not understand you."

"Try, try to understand me," entreats she, desperately, following him and laying her hand upon his arm. "It is only this. It would not make you happy—not afterwards, when you could see the difference between me and the other women you have known. You are a gentleman; I am only a farmer's niece." She says this bravely, though it is agony to her proud nature to have to confess it.

"If that is all," says Geoffrey, with a light laugh, laying his hand over the small brown one that still rests upon his arm, "I think it need hardly separate us. You are, indeed, different from all the other women I have ever met in my life, which makes me sorry for all the other women. You are dearer and sweeter in my eyes than any one I have ever known! Is not this enough? Mona, are you sure no other reason prevents you from accepting me? Why do you hesitate?" He has grown a little pale in his turn, and is regarding her with intense and jealous earnestness. Why does she not answer him? Why does she keep her eyes—those honest tell-tales—so obstinately fixed upon the ground? Why does she show no smallest sign of yielding?

"Give me my answer," he says, sternly.

"I have given it," returns she, in a low tone—so low that he has to bend to hear it. "Do not be angry with me; do not—I——"

POKING FUN!

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprises largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of premiums. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8.75, this is an all wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3 75 and a pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits really nice and lot of them $1 95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2 00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all Xmas Goods at ⅓ regular prices.

Don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPARD'S, where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

DAILY MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, Jan. 31.

The grain and produce local markets were quiet and steady to-day, while abroad they were dull and weaker.

The car lots received at Chicago to-day were: Wheat 59, corn 219 and oats 159. Estimated receipts for to-morrow are wheat 20, corn 178 and oats 91 cars.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago stock yards to-day is: Estimated receipts 40,000, official yesterday 25,230, shipments 4532, left over about 10,000. Cattle receipts 9000. Market quiet.

Robert Cochran received the following despatch by private wire from New York to-day: Cables flat and easy, reporting wheat inactive. All markets opened at decline, due to heavy receipts. Hogs breaking pork. Fowlers bought and pegged at $14.25, stopping decline. Jones McCormick sold heavily, to which crowd followed. Feeling bearish, fair buying, orders at decline, local receipts light, caused by blockades. Corn was bought largely, on decline by heavy openers for an advance. Trading late becoming dull.

LOCAL STREET MARKET.

The receipts of grain on the local market to-day were moderate and prices steady. About 400 bushels of wheat offered and sold at 82c to 83½c for fall, 75c to 82c for spring, and 73c to 74c for goose. Barley strong, with sales of 2500 bushels at 77c to 83½c. Oats steady, with sales of 200 bushels at 47c to 48½c. Peas nominal at 66c to 67c. Hay in limited supply and prices firm; 20 loads sold at $10 to $12 for clover, and $13 to $16 for timothy. Straw quiet and prices steady, with sales at $11 to $13. Dressed hogs steady at $7 to $7.25. Beef $3 to $5 for forequarters, and $5 to $7.50 for hindquarters. Mutton $6.50 to $8; lamb at $9 to $10; veal $5.50 to $8.50.

COMPOUNDING A FELONY.

FOUR CITIZENS SUMMONED TO ANSWER A GRAVE CHARGE.

Alexander Manning, H. S. Strathy, Elias Rogers and Dr. Snelling—The Sequel of the Selby Forgery Case—Forged Notes Burned in a Cellar at Midnight—How the Accused Take It.

TORONTO, Feb. 2.

Yesterday evening each of these gentlemen was served with a summons to appear before Police Magistrate Denison this morning to answer to the charge of compounding a felony: ALEXANDER MANNING, ex-Mayor and President of the Traders' Bank.
HENRY S. STRATHY, Manager of the Traders' Bank.
RICHARD SNELLING, barrister and Director of the Traders' Bank.
ELIAS ROGERS, coal merchant.

The trouble arises out of the well known case of William Selby, who is now in jail awaiting trial on the charge of having forged notes to the amount of $15,688.21, and the four gentlemen named are charged with having compounded a felony by being parties to the burning of the forged paper. Selby and Thomas B. Taylor had been in business as paper makers and wholesale stationers at 33 and 35 Scott-street. Selby managed the business entirely. On Jan. 3, 1887, he deposited to his firm's credit at the Traders' Bank a $1500 note bearing the alleged signatures of his partner's cousins, Taylor Bros., the paper and twine men. Manager Strathy noticed that the note was dated "1886." He notified Taylor Bros., who pronounced the signature a forgery.

That night Selby was brought from his home at Todmorden to the bank, where he was confronted by his partner, President Manning, Manager Strathy, Director Snelling and Mr. Rogers, his brother-in-law, who had previously assisted the firm. To his partner he admitted having forged the signatures to these notes, all of which were produced:

Oct. 2, 1886—Note made by Kilgour Bros., endorsed by Selby & Co. $976.
Oct. 4—Note made by Taylor Bros., endorsed by Selby & Co., $1150.
Oct. 19—Note made by Kilgour Bros., endorsed by Selby & Co., $1843.31.
Oct. 25—Note made by Taylor Bros., endorsed Selby & Co., $1750.
Nov. 5—Note made by Kilgour Bros., endorsed Selby & Co., $1783.59.
Nov. 10—Note made by Selby & Co., endorsed Taylor Bros., $4000.
Dec. 16—Note made by Kilgour Bros., endorsed Selby & Co., $1785.50.

Selby told his partner that he had forged the paper because he was short of funds. As stated in Taylor's evidence at Selby's preliminary examination, someone suggested that the notes be burned and he (Taylor), accompanied by the bank's messenger, went into the cellar and cremated the notes in the furnace. Previous to this Taylor agreed to become security and gave a demand mortgage on a farm to Mr. Rogers, who in turn became Taylor's security to the bank. There and then the partnership was dissolved. Taylor stated in court that the reason that he did not immediately lay the information against Selby was that he feared Rogers would come on him for the amount of the security, he not being able just then to pay the amount of the forgeries.

A second summons was served on Manager Strathy to answer the charge of being a party to the destroying on Jan. 4 of a $3000 note, dated Oct. 7, 1886, made by Selby & Co. and bearing the forged endorsation of Taylor Bros.

THE CARLETON ELECTION.

Mr. Dickenson, the Conservative Convention Nominee, Elected.

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—The election in Carleton to-day passed off quietly and resulted as was generally expected in the return of Mr. Dickenson, the nominee of the Conservative convention, by about 500 majority over ex-Sheriff Powell, Independent Conservative. Full returns are not yet in, there being four or five places to hear from, which will probably increase Mr. Dickenson's majority.

Mr. Clarke Defeats Dr. Willoughby.

COLBORNE, Feb. 1.—Incomplete returns of the election for the Local House in East Northumberland indicate that Mr. Clarke defeats Dr. Willoughby by a small majority.

Conservatives Will Not Oppose Greenway.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 1.—The Conservatives of Mountain to-day decided not to oppose Mr. Greenway.

It is stated positively that Mr. Luxton will retire in South Winnipeg to give Mayor Jones a seat.

Heavy Damages Claimed.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Baron Louis Cremers, ton of a wealthy St. Petersburg banker and nephew of the Russian Minister at Washington, has sued The Press for $100,000 damages for alleged libel.

Nova Scotia's New Bishop.

HALIFAX, Feb. 1.—The Anglican Synod of Nova Scotia unanimously elected Rev. Dr. Courtney of Trinity Church, Boston, to the bishopric to-day.

The Copper Ring.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—It is reported that the copper ring has captured the Chilian producers. The price of Chili bars has advanced £6.

TORONTO COLLEGE OF PHARMACY.

Inauguration of the Newly Elected Council Yesterday.

TORONTO, Feb. 2.

The new Council of the Ontario College of Pharmacy opened its first session yesterday, and that institution which has passed through such trouble in the last six months has now a proper and honestly elected governing body. The meeting was held in the Board room of the College, St. James'-square. There being no president and the Registrar-Treasurer, Mr. Geo. Hodgetts, being absent, the chair was taken by the Solicitor, Mr. C. R. W. Biggar, who had before him every one of the 13 members: J. M. Pearen, Toronto; Henry Watters, Ottawa; C. K. McGregor, Brantford; J. E. D'Avignon, Windsor; J. A. Clark, Hamilton; W. O. Foster, St. Thomas; G. S. Hobart, Kingston; John McKee, Peterboro; Harry Sherris, Toronto; John J. Hall, Woodstock; W. R. Howse, Whitby; Neil C. Polson, Kingston; W. B. Sanders, Stayner.

The first business was the election of a President. Mr. Pearen was nominated by Mr. Hobart, Mr. Sherris by Mr. Watters, and Mr. D'Avignon by Mr. Polson.

Mr. Pearen returned thanks for the nomination, which, however, he declined. He thought that at this juncture the College had need of a man of riper years at its head. He would serve in the Council and he hoped that any past difference would be forgotten.

A vote was taken on the names of Messrs. Sherris and D'Avignon, and the scrutineers reported that Mr. Sherris had received 8 votes and Mr. D'Avignon 4.

Mr. Sherris was accordingly declared elected. He thanked the Council for the honor and said he would expect the hearty assistance of the members in the conduct of the College. He directed attention particularly to financial affairs and hoped that any hard feelings caused in the recent trouble would be forgotten.

Messrs. D'Avignon and Clark were nominated for the first vice-presidency but Mr. D'Avignon declining, Mr. Clark was unanimously elected. Messrs. J. R. Lee and J. C. Lander were appointed auditors. The appointment of scrutineers was laid over.

A special committee consisting of Messrs. McGregor, McKee, Hall, Clark and Watters appointed to strike standing committees, prepared this report, which was adopted:

Executive and Finance—Messrs. Howse, Clark, Pearen, McKee and Hobart.

Educational—Messrs. D'Avignon, Pearen, Watters, Clark and McKee.

Bylaws and Legislation—Messrs. Hall, Foster, Hobart, Howse and McGregor.

Infringement—Messrs. Sanders, Polson, Foster, Hall and Watters.

The minutes of the meeting held at Kingston, Aug. 3, 1887, were taken as read, and the reports presented at that meeting were read and discussed, confirmation by the new council being necessary as the previous council had been illegally elected.

The report of the Finance Committee presented last August led to a discussion as to the College's finances and the desirability of enquiry into their condition, because of rumors that enquiry would do good.

Mr. D'Avignon said that an anonymous circular sent out from Hamilton stated that the financial affairs of the College were not as healthy as reported in The Pharmaceutical Journal.

Mr. Polson suggested that the finances for four years back should be investigated. Grave charges as to the disposal of funds had been made and there should be a searching inquiry.

It was finally decided to refer to the Executive and Finance Committees for consideration the report of the previous Executive and Financial Committees and also the report of the Registrar-Treasurer. The Executive was requested to report on the advisability of hiring an expert accountant to examine the books.

A petition was read from the matriculated students complaining that without the Council's sanction the fee of $48 for a term of six months had been increased to $96 for two short terms aggregating five or six months, and asking that the excess be refunded. It was referred to the Joint Executive and Educational Committees, as was also another petition regarding increase of fees. Two letters referring to the fees of branch stores were referred to the Committee on Bylaws.

Mr. W. Lloyd Wood was appointed secretary until the Registrar is appointed, and at 6.45 the Council adjourned till 10 o'clock this morning, when the committee expect to be able to report.

DISSIDENT IMPERIAL M.P.'S.!

Lord Martington's Circular—Forecast of the Speech From the Throne.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Lord Hartington has issued a circular to the dissident members of the House saying that important business will require their presence immediately upon the opening of Parliament.

A Cabinet Council will be held on Friday for the purpose of moulding the statements to be made in the Speech from the Throne. The ministerial circle is confident that the reference to the foreign situation will be optimistic in tone. The speech will congratulate Parliament upon the improved condition of Ireland, upon the general revival in trade and upon the hopeful prospects for the national finances.

MR. COX'S LIGHT SENTENCE.

One Month's Imprisonment—Ex-Lord Mayor Sullivan Released.

DUBLIN, Feb. 1.—The trial of Mr. Cox, M. P., for making a speech at Kildysart, inciting tenants to conspiracy, was concluded to-day. Mr. Cox was convicted and sentenced to one month's imprisonment.

Ex-Lord Mayor Sullivan Released.

DUBLIN, Feb. 1.—Ex-Lord Mayor Sullivan of Dublin was released from Tullamore prison to-day after two months' confinement. A large crowd was gathered in front of the building and greeted Mr. Sullivan with great enthusiasm. Mr. Sullivan afterwards received addresses from the various delegations.

The Crown Prince.

SAN REMO, Feb. 1.—The official bulletin regarding the Crown Prince says a partial thickening has supervined in the interior part of the right side of the larynx, but in consequence of the detachment of dead particles the swelling on the left side has diminished. The Prince's general condition is normal.

Irish Pilgrims Received by the Pope.

ROME, Feb. 1.—The Pope to-day received the Irish pilgrims and clergy. To the leaders he expressed his desire for a peaceful settlement of the Irish question.

NO TRUTH IN THE REPORT.

IS WHAT SIR JOHN SAYS ABOUT THE ALLEGED DRAFT TREATY.

Between Great Britain and the United States, With Reference to Canadian Matters—A Slightly Misleading Paragraph—Tariff Rulings for January.

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—Sir John Macdonald in conversation this afternoon said that there was no truth in the story telegraphed from Washington that a draft treaty between Great Britain and the United States with reference to Canadian matters had been submitted to the Senate in executive session for ratification. The Government had heard nothing of it, and of course they would have been notified. He said that the Commissioners had had a number of questions before them and he believed they had disposed of all but two or three, which were still under discussion, but of course he declined to give any information as to what the subjects were which had been disposed of or were still under discussion. The only point on which he relaxed a little the reticence which he has observed since the commission commenced its sittings was with reference to the rumor that the commissioners had agreed to submit certain questions to arbitration, and with regard to this he said that he knew nothing of any such arrangement having been agreed to.

In official circles here the prolongation of the commission is strengthening confidence in the belief that some agreement will be arrived at. One prominent official said to-day: "The duration of the commission leads me to believe that some arrangement will be arrived at. It cannot be possible that the commissioners have taken two months to find out that they cannot agree, they could have found that out in two weeks."

It will be remembered that some time ago the question was raised as to the official rank of the United States consular officer at this port, on account of a California court refusing to receive papers executed before Mr. Hotchkiss on the ground that he was a commercial agent, while the law required that the papers should be executed before a consul. Representations on the subject were made to the United States Government with the result that Mr. Hotchkiss to-day received notice that Ottawa had been raised to a consulate. He will therefore be known in future as United States consul instead of commercial agent.

A paragraph telegraphed from here last night to two of the Toronto morning papers that Mr. George Wilson of Gananoque had been awarded the contract for the stone work on the new printing bureau here for $10,000 is slightly misleading. The printing bureau here is to be of brick, not of stone, and the contract was awarded last June as was announced at the time. Mr. John E. Askwith of Ottawa is the contractor, and not Mr. Wilson, and the price is nearer $100,000 than $10,000. With these slight amendments the paragraph is pretty correct.

The Government has received from Sir H.T. Holland, Secretary of State for the Colonies, a copy of the revised regulations for the entry of engineer students and students for naval construction in Her Majesty's dockyards. Under these regulations vacancies for appointments as engineer students in the dockyards will be filled principally by means of competitive examinations, open to sons of British subjects, being of the prescribed age, not less than 14 or more than 16 years, on May 1 in the year in which they are examined, and of good moral character. It is stated also that three engineer studentships will be given annually to the sons of gentlemen in the colonies on the recommendation of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, providing they pass the required examination.

The time for filing petitions in the Supreme Court expired yesterday. Petitions were filed in the following election cases: Glengarry, L'Islet, Montmagny, Montmorency, Quebec County, Quebec West, and Rimouski. The ground of appeal in these cases is that the cases were not proceeded with within the six months prescribed by law. In Russell no appeal was made. In this latter case the ground on which notice of appeal was given at the time of trial was the non-qualification of the petitioner. The six months' limit did not hold good in Russell as Mr. McIntosh had taken the precaution of getting the time duly extended by the court as provided by the Act.

MONTREAL BOARD OF TRADE.

Proceedings Yesterday—Wang Ching Foo v. the Dominion—New Atlantic Service.

MONTREAL, Feb. 1.—At the adjourned annual meeting of the Board of Trade to-day a resolution, to carry an insurance scheme into effect, was adopted. A resolution was passed asking the Council to consider the question of reduced postal charges.

Wang Ching Foo, Chinese lecturer of New York, is here to arrange about an action against the Dominion Government for $25,000 damages on account of the action of the officials of Clifton, Ont., who put him in bond on Nov. 13 last.

Arrangements have been concluded between the Grand Trunk Railway and Anderson, Mackenzie & Co., by which the latter firm undertakes to place a line of steamers on the route between Portland, Me., and Liverpool. The steamers will run in connection with the Grand Trunk Railway, and will belong to the Furness line. They commence a fortnighly service next month.

D. A. 61, K. OF L.

The Legislative Committee's Appointment Approved—Inland Revenue Receipts.

HAMILTON, Feb. 1.—The receipts at the inland revenue office here during the past month were $33,807, an increase of $4658 over the corresponding month last year.

The value of merchandise exported to the United States from this district during January was $67,873.

District Assembly No. 61, K. of L., at their meeting yesterday approved of Grand Master Workman Powderly's appointments of A. F. Jury, J. F. Redmond and George Collis as a Legislative Committee. It was decided to allow the Knights of Berlin and Waterloo County to form a district. An application to have Hamilton and Dundas made into a separate district was referred to the Executive Committee.

The first annual supper of the city officials was held last night.

TORONTO TOPICS.

At the meeting of the York County Council yesterday Mr. Ross' motion to lease the county tollgates for three years instead of one as heretofore was defeated after about an hour's discussion, and an amendment leasing the gates for one year was carried by a vote of 23 to 21.

In the Gamble murder case yesterday afternoon a number of witnesses was examined for the prosecution. The evidence showed the responsibility of the prisoner for the condition of the girl, but it was also in evidence that he denied being the cause of her death. Dr. John Ferguson testified to the premature developments in the girl's case, and that the course of nature had been arrested by forcible means. He said the girl died from peritonitis, though he couldn't say that the latter arose from miscarriage; thought that was the "presumable cause." It might have been induced in this case by some other cause than that of abortion. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty with a recommendation to mercy, and the judge sentenced Gamble to be hanged on March 6.

At a meeting of the Imperial Federation League last night, Hon. John Beverley Robinson was unanimously elected President, Mr. G. R. R. Cockburn, M.P., and Col. George T. Denison, Vice-Presidents, Mr. W. Hamilton Merritt, Secretary, and Mr. John Matthews, Treasurer.

What They Cost

The total expenditure on Streets and Sidewalks, for labor, material, etc., during the year 1887, amounted to the handsome sum of $4,000.35. This includes the expenditure on the Simcoe Street bridge. About one-third of the total was paid out for labor.

Not Necessary to Buy Tickets.

Don't be deceived by the misleading insinuations at present being circulated that the prize of Cabinet Photographs will cost an advance from $3 per dozen, as I have no intention of advancing my prices. It is not necessary to buy tickets from agents representing other houses to entitle you to the prize. Mine work always guaranteed. MIP-2t-1w3

When It Was Taken.

We have been asked to settle a dispute, to state the day and date upon which the vote to adopt the Scott Act was taken, in the Town and County of Peterborough. We find upon reference to our files that the vote was taken on Thursday, September 29th, 1887. The majority for the Act was 311. It came into force on May 1st, 1888, and was to run for a period of three years.

Not in Votes.

Among the horsemen here attending the races is the well known driver, "Bob" Read, of Port Hope. It will be remembered that Read's account and association are unadulterated; his gentlemanlike in person and his connection is above all, easy and graceful. Gospel Hall

Mr. Stanger, of Liverpool, England, will conduct a few services in the Gospel Hall (Brown Bros Hall) beginning to-night (Wednesday) at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all. An important subject will be brought forward to-night. No collection; no charge for admission.

Beverage.

It is remarkable how fast new travels in Peterborough's modern days. Only about ten days ago the Council had a talk about a system of sewerage and to-day the Town Clerk received a communication from a New York firm, asking for, bill particulars regarding our proposed system. Those Yankees are indeed sharp ones.

Cheap Literature.

We have received from Mr. William Bryce, the publisher, Toronto, copies of "Confederation Barnabas," by Frank Beverley, and "The Sun's Curse," by J. H. Riddell, both works of fiction. These are the Canadian copyright editions, in popular form, neat illuminated covers.

Entertainment.

The Ashburn Council Royal Templars of Temperance will hold a musical and literary entertainment in the Ashburn church on the evening of Tuesday, Feb. 7th. A good programme of songs, dialogues, readings etc., will be provided. 402

A Famous Doctor

Once said that the secret of good health consisted in keeping the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. Had this eminent physician lived in our day, and known the merits of Ayer's Pills as an aperient, he would certainly have recommended them, as so many of his distinguished successors are doing.

The celebrated Dr. Farnsworth, of Norwich, Conn., recommends Ayer's Pills as the best of all remedies for "Intermittent Fevers."

Dr. I. E. Fowler, of Bridgeport, Conn., says: "Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."

Dr. Mayhew, of New Bedford, Mass., says: "Having prescribed many thousands of Ayer's Pills, in my practice, I can unhesitatingly pronounce them the best cathartic in use."

The Massachusetts State Assayer, Dr. A. A. Hayes, certifies: "I have made a careful analysis of Ayer's Pills. They contain the active principles of well-known drugs, isolated from inert matter, which plan is, chemically speaking, of great importance to their usefulness. It insures activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect.—Ayer's Pills contain no metallic or mineral substance, but the virtues of vegetable remedies in skillful combination."

ANOTHER SHORT SESSION.

THE LEGISLATURE PUTS IN HALF AN HOUR OF EASE.

Introducing Some of Last Session's Overflow—Mr. Waters Wants to Give Widows and Misses Parliamentary Votes—The Standing Committees—The Poet Laureate of Picturesque Peterboro.

TORONTO, Feb. 2.

The Legislature sat for just half an hour yesterday afternoon, very little business of interest being transacted. There was a good attendance of members, all hands being evidently in trim for a good day's work. Some of them were even thirsting for a debate or a flare up, anything to dispel the monotony and depression. If the House does not sit to-night everyone is going to hear Bill Nye lecture at Association Hall.

Dr. Widdifield presented the first report of the Committee on Standing Orders.

A number of bills were introduced and read a first time. Several of them have been heard of before, coming in as legacies from other sessions.

Mr. French wants the act respecting mortgages amended so as to more clearly define the law respecting arrears of interest. Mr. French also introduced a bill to authorize the appointment of fire guardians and for the prevention of bush fires.

Mr. Lees wants to amend the General Road Companies Act.

Mr. Garson is always to the front with labor matters, and introduced an act respecting the examination of engineers and the inspection of boilers.

The handsome Dr. McKay of South Oxford reintroduced his bill for the prevention of accidents by fire in hotels and other public places.

Mr. Nairn once more sent up his bill respecting the conditional sale of chattels. This measure of the gentleman from aristocratic Elgin is now somewhat of a chestnut to the House.

Mr. John Waters of North Middlesex is going to look after the widows and unmarried women. He thinks if they had a parliamentary vote in his romantic constituency he would have a cast iron patent on his seat. He therefore once more introduced, amid much amusement, a bill to give those fair ones the legislative franchise.

Mr. Meredith called the attention of the House to the fact that the supply of printed government bills was very limited. He referred specially to Mr. Fraser's bill respecting the closing of shops.

Among the notices of motoin given were these:

Mr. Gibson (Hamilton)—Order of the House for a return furnishing: (a) copy of description of that portion of Queen's Park appropriated for the purpose of the new Parliament Buildings; (b), copy of all correspondence between the Government and the authorities of the University of Toronto regarding compensation for such land; (c) copy of all valuations for such land.

Mr. French—Order of the House for a return from each registrar of deeds in the Province showing the number of instruments registered against lands which purport to have been made for the purpose of procuring credit on the sale of goods, or whereby a purchaser of goods merely represents that he owns certain lands.

Around the Lobbies.

A deputation consisting of Mr. L. R. Kinton, Reeve of Huntsville, Wm. Wright and Geo. Pagett councillors of Huntsville, and John Armstrong, Reeve of Chaffey, waited on the Attorney-General yesterday to protest against forming the electoral districts of Muskoka and Parry Sound into counties, on the ground of expense. At present the representatives of the townships in these districts sit in the Victoria and Simcoe County Councils, and it is at the instance of these that the project of forming the new counties was set on foot. These councils object to being connected with the districts on account of the amount of money they are compelled to lay out on them.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"'n no excuses himself, accuses himself,'" quotes Rodney. "I want no reasons for your rejection. It is enough that I know you do not care for me."

"Oh, no! it is not that! you must know it is not that," says Mona, in deep grief. "It is that I cannot marry you!"

"Will not, you mean!"

"Well, then, I will not," returns she, with a last effort at determination, and the most miserable face in the world.

"Oh, if you will not," says Mr. Rodney, wrathfully.

"I—will—not," says Mona, brokenly.

"Then I don't believe you!" says Geoffrey, angrily. "I am positive you want to marry me; and just because of some wretched fad you have got into your head you are determined to make us both wretched."

"I have nothing in my head," says Mona, tearfully.

"I don't think you can have much, certainly," says Mr. Rodney, with the grossest rudeness, "when you can let a few ridiculous scruples interfere with our happiness." Then, resentfully, "Do you hate me?"

No answer.

"Say so, if you do; it will be honester. If you don't," threateningly, "I shall of course think the contrary."

Still no answer.

"I think you had better come home," says Geoffrey, deeply angered with her. "You must not stay here catching cold."

A little soft woolen shawl of plain white has fallen to the ground, unheeded by her in her great distress. Lifting it almost unwillingly, he comes close to her, and places it round her once again. In so doing he discovers that tears are running down her cheeks.

"Why, Mona, what is this? You are crying! My darling girl! There, lay your head on my shoulder, and let us forget we have ever quarreled. It is our first dispute; let it be our last. And, after all," comfortably, "it is much better to have our quarrels before marriage than after."

"Oh, if I could be quite, quite sure you would never regret it!" says Mona, wistfully.

"I shall never regret anything, so long as I have you!" says Rodney. "Be assured of that."

"I am so glad you are poor," says Mona. "If you were rich, or even well off, I should never consent—never!"

"No, of couse not," says Rodney, unblushingly; "as a rule, girls nowadays can't endure men with money."

This is "sarkassum;" but Mona comprehends it not.

Presently, seeing she is again smiling and looking inexpressibly happy, for laughter comes readily to her lips, and tears, as a rule, make no long stay with her—ashamed, perhaps, to disfigure the fair "windows of her soul," that are so "darkly, deeply, beautifully blue." "So you will come to England with me, after all?" he says, quite gayly.

"I would go to the world's end with you," returns she, gently. "Ah! I think you knew that all along."

"Well, I didn't," says Rodney. "There were moments, indeed, when I believed in you; but five minutes ago, when you flung me over so decidedly, and refused to have anything to do with me, I lost faith in you, and began to think you a thorough going coquette like all the rest. How I wronged you, my dear love! I should have known that under no circumstances could you be untruthful."

At his words, a glad light springs to life within her wonderful eyes. She is so pleased and proud that he should so speak to her.

"Do you know, Mona," says the young man, sorrowfully, "you are too good to me—a fellow who has gone racketting all over the world. I'm not half worthy of you."

"Aren't you?" says Mona, in her tender fashion, that implies so kind a doubt. Raising one hand (the other is imprisoned), she draws his face down to her own. "I wouldn't have you altered in any way," she says, "not in the smallest matter. As you are, you are so dear to me you could not be dearer; and I shall always love you, with all my heart and soul."

"My sweet angel!" says her lover, pressing her to his heart. And when he says this he is not so far from the truth; for her tender simplicity and perfect faith and trust bring her very near to heaven!

CHAPTER VI.

"Is it very late?" says Mona, awakening from her happy dreams with a start.

"Not very," says Geoffrey. "It seems only just now that Mickey and the dogs left us." Together they examine his watch by the light of the moon, and see that it is quite ten o'clock.

"Oh, it is dreadfully late!" says Mona, with much compunction. "Come, let us hurry."

"Well, just one moment," says Geoffrey, detaining her. "Let us finish what we were saying. Would you rather go to the East or to Rome?"

"To Rome," says Mona. "But do you mean it? Can you afford it? Italy seems so far away." Then, after a thoughtful silence, "Mr Rodney——"

"Who on earth are you speaking to?" says Geoffrey.

"To you!" with surprise.

"I am not Mr. Rodney; Jack is that. Can't you call me anything else?"

"What else?" says Mona, shyly.

"Call me Geoffrey."

"I always think of you as Geoffrey," whispers she, with a swift, sweet, upward glance; "but to say it is so different. Well," bravely, "I'll try. Dear, dear, dear Geoffrey, I want to tell you that I would be as happy with you in Wicklow as in Rome."

"I know that," says Geoffrey, "and the knowledge makes me more happy than I can say. But to Rome you shall go, whatever it may cost. And then we shall return to England to our home. And then—little rebel that you are—you must begin to look upon yourself as an English subject, and accept the queen as your gracious sovereign."

"I need no queen when I have got a king," says the girl, with ready wit and great tenderness.

Geoffrey raises her hand to his lips. "Your king is also your slave," he says, with a fond smile.

Then they move on once more and go down the road that leads towards the farm.

Again she has grown silent, as though oppressed with thought; and he too is mute, but all his mind is crowded with glad anticipations of what the near future is to give him. He has no regrets, no fears. At length, struck by her persistent taciturnity, he says, "What is it, Mona?"

To be Continued.

POKING FUN!

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprises largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8 75, this is an all wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3 95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6 50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2 95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3 75 and a pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits really nice and lot of them $1 95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2 00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPARD'S, where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

PLAYS AND ACTORS.

Patti sails for America on the 8th of March.

Pauline Markham will return to burlesque next season.

Annie Pixley has another play. It is called "The Charity Girl."

The American burlesque actress, Kate Munroe, who died in London recently, left $90,000.

Lillian Lee was discharged from the "Run of Luck" company because she refused to mount a horse at rehearsal after she had tried twice and failed.

This combination for revivals of old comedies in the season of 1889-90 is said to be talked of: Joseph Jefferson, Robson and Crane, W. J. Florence and Mrs. John Drew.

William Gillette will soon commence work upon a new comedy, the scenes of which will be laid in America. He hopes to have it ready for production next season, in all probability after the presidential election.

CONFLAGRATION AT BUFFALO.

The Losses Aggregate Over $1,300,000—Firemen Injured by Falling Walls.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Feb. 1.—At 11.35 this morning fire broke out in Barnes, Hengerer & Co.'s dry goods establishment, 256 and 258 Main-street, and in a few minutes the whole interior was a mass of flames. At noon the walls on Pearl-street fell in and two firemen were caught in the ruins, one having his leg fractured and both sustaining serious injuries. The fire spread to adjoining buildings and leaped across the street, but at 1.45 was under control, though the engines were playing upon the ruins up to a late hour last night. The origin of the fire cannot be ascertained. There were no lives lost.

These are the principal losses: Barnes, Hengerer & Co., dry goods, $1,300,000, insurance $750,000; building owned by C. J. Hamlin $150,000, insurance $100,000; Pardridge & Co., dry goods, $25,000; T. & E. Dickinson, jewelers, $10,000 to $15,000; Third National Bank, $5000; building, owned by Dr. Harvey, $1500; Stafford & Foulle, furs, $1500; building, owned by James P. White, $500; Denton & Cottier, musical goods, $3000; Barnum & Co., stock $35,000 to $50,000, building $1000; Edward H. Jennings, housefurnishings, $35,000; building, owned by James O'Brien, $2000; Flint & Kent, dry goods, $15,000 to $25,000; building, owned by Hadley estate, $1,000; D. E. Morgan & Son, carpets, $12,000 to $15,000; building, owned by R. D. & D. H. Sherman, $5000; W. H. Glenny, Sons & Co., crockery, $1000; Academy of Music, $900.

THE FREEDOM OF THE CITY

TENDERED BY DUBLIN CORPORATION TO JOHN MORLEY

And the Marquis of Ripon—Boycotted Boycotters—Ex-Lord Mayor Sullivan's Complaint—Boys Sentenced to a Week's Imprisonment for Lighting Bonfires.

DUBLIN, Feb. 2.—At a meeting of the corporation to-day the freedom of the city was conferred upon the Marquis of Ripon and John Morley. Ex-Lord Mayor Sullivan occupied the chair and many members of Parliament, mayors and members of various city corporations were present.

The Marquis of Ripon, in an address thanking the corporation for the honor conferred on him, assured them that the object of British Liberals was to see that Ireland was accorded at the earliest opportunity full recognition of its real and legitimate political aspirations. There was a growing conviction among the masses of England in favor of Home Rule for Ireland.

Mr. Morley also expressed his thanks to the corporation and said the freedom of the city was bestowed upon the Marquis of Ripon and himself because they represented a great political cause and the advancement of a great constitutional reform movement in Ireland. There would be no peace in Ireland until the question was settled, and the sooner it was settled the better.

Boycotters Boycotted.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The committee having in charge the proposed demonstration in honor of Messrs. O'Brien and Sullivan have been boycotted by all the owners of large halls in London.

For Lighting Bonfires.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Sixteen youths of Dromore, Ireland, have been seatenced to imprisonment for one week with hard labor for lighting bonfires to celebrate the release of William O'Brien.

Editor O'Brien's Improved Health.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Despatches from William O'Brien, who is now on the continent, state that he is greatly improved in health and will be present in the House of Commons on Feb. 9.

Mr. Sullivan's Grievance.

DUBLIN, Feb. 2.—Mr. Sullivan, in an interview to-day, said that his health was good. He complained that he was not allowed to edit his paper while in prison, a privilege that was granted to Messrs. Stead and Yates during their imprisonment. He declared that he was ready to undergo further imprisonment for Ireland's sake. In a speech after his release from prison he said he once desired a greater measure of independence for Ireland, but now thought that Mr. Gladstone's proposals were a fair compromise, and would unite the two nations in peace and good fellowship.

Convictions and Arrests.

DUBLIN, Feb. 2.—Eight persons have been convicted at Kanturk of attending meetings of a suppressed branch of the National League and sentenced to two months' imprisonment at hard labor. Five arrests have been made in Donegal for offences under the Crimes Act and more are expected.

Charged With Fraud.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—In the Marylebone Police Court to-day five fashionably-dressed men were charged with attempting to obtain £30,000 from the Bank of England upon forged or stolen bonds of the Hamilton and Northwestern Railway of Canada. There was one other man in the gang whom the police failed to secure. They also failed to capture the bonds. One of the prisoners had posed as Lord Fairfax and had lived in style at the Grand Hotel in Paris. All five were remanded. The attempt to swindle the Bank of England out of £30,000 proves to be a complicated case. It appears that one of the swindlers some time ago purchased one of the bonds of the road for a price above its real value, and it is supposed that this single bond was obtained for the purpose of forging others. When the police to-day arrested five of the gang they seized a tin box, which they expected contained the other bonds, but upon opening it it was found to be empty. It is suspected that to-day's move was simply a reconnoitre, and that further developments will follow.

A Complete Surrender.

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—The tone of the German Government organs on the Anti-Socialist Bill indicates a complete surrender by the Government, and a willingness to accept a two years' prolongation of the operative period of the present law, and to abandon the offensive amendments.

A Serious Enquiry.

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—The Kreuz Zeitung says that the War Office has advised the Government of the necessity of a serious enquiry as to whether or not the security of the Eastern frontier imperatively demands an extension of the strategic railways.

The Boy Pianist.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Josef Hoffman, the boy pianist, underwent an examination at the Mayor's office to-day, as the result of a complaint that he was being overworked. The Mayor decided that the boy should be allowed to give four performances a week. Afterward Mr. Gerry announced that a wealthy gentleman had authorized him to offer Hoffman's father $30,000 for the education of the boy, provided he were withdrawn from public performance until he became of age. Mr. Hoffman said he thought $100,000 would be necessary for the purpose.

SHOULD NOT BE HANGED.

The Feeling of the Jury That Found John Gamble Guilty of Murder.

TORONTO, Feb. 3.

Yesterday Mr. W. J. Lowden, foreman of the jury in the case of John Gamble, sentenced to death for murder on Wednesday evening, handed the following to Lawyer W. G. Murdoch, the doomed man's counsel:

It is the individual and united opinion of the jurors hereunder signing, who were the jury who tried John Gamble on Wednesday, Feb. 1, 1888, at the Criminal Assizes in Toronto, Mr. Justice Falconbridge presiding, on a charge of murder, that, while they were unanimous in rendering a verdict of guilty of murder, coupled with a strong recommendation to mercy, the said Gamble had only assisted in or contributed towards the committing of an abortion; the evidence convinced us that the said Gamble was anxious and willing to have an abortion procured, but that he actually did it, or that death resulted from his actions or doings, we were not certain or convinced, and the meaning of our verdict was that offences of this kind, the procuring of abortions or attempts to procure abortions, are deserving of punishment, and should be discountenanced.

We do not think the prisoner, Gamble, should be hanged, or that he should be inflicted with more punishment than would follow on a conviction for his attempt to procure an abortion on the deceased girl. The jury believed Alex. Butler's evidence when given.

The names of Mr. Lowden and his fellow jurymen were appended. This case is not finished yet by any means. The public may look for startling developments. In fact an arrest may take place before twenty-four hours are over. That his client is innocent Mr. Murdoch has not the slightest doubt, and information received by him yesterday is calculated to strengthen this belief.

Gamble is 28 years old. He lived in Bowmanville until a few years ago, working in the piano and organ factory at his trade of polishing. His mother and brother live there at present. Five years ago he was married to a Bowmanville young woman. One child was born and a short time after Gamble and his wife separated on account of domestic infelicity. Gamble accused his wife of unfaithfulness. He came to Toronto and was working in Williams' piano factory, and sent money to his wife, who had the child in her keeping. At Bowmanville Gamble was always had a good character, in fact, it is said, that the community gave him its entire sympathy when he separated from his wife. He has always been steady and never used intoxicants to excess. Every effort will be made by his friends to procure a commutation of the death sentence. In the meantime Gamble is pining in Toronto Jail.

COLLEGE OF PHARMACY FEES.

The Examination Fixed for June 4—Proceedings of the Council.

TORONTO, Feb. 3.—The Council of the Ontario College of Pharmacy opened the day's sitting at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, President Sherris presiding. The Secretary was instructed to produce copies of mortgages, insurance policies, contracts, tax, water, coal, gas, sewer and printing bills; an inventory of all appliances and chemicals owned by the college, and the source of their purchase, and the minute books of the Finance Committee and Registrar.

At the afternoon session the Infringement Committee presented its report.

The Educational Committee reported among other things that in the matter of certain complaints that had been made they had enquired and found that Prof. Shuttleworth was authorized by the committee to issue the annual announcement and the circular dated Sept. 16, 1887, announcing the change in time of holding the junior and senior classes, and that the provisions of the announcement and circular are being satisfactorily carried out.

The Educational Committee also reported that in the matter of the petitions from students regarding the reduction of fees, there was no ground for complying with the request, but that in the case of any student who had paid the entrance fee in the junior class, and who by mistake had paid it again in the senior class, the fee should be refunded. This clause was adopted.

These gentlemen were appointed examiners for 1888:

A. R. Fraser, Toronto, reading prescriptions.
B. Jacks, Toronto, chemistry.
D. S. Sager, Brantford, materia medica.
Frank Holmes, London, pharmacy.
C. R. Sneath, Penetanguishene, botany.
A. W. Ball, Toronto, dispensing.

On the recommendation of the Educational Committee the Council set aside $1000 to purchase appliances for practical work. The committee also presented a report from Prof. Shuttleworth showing the college to be in a most satisfactory condition and speaking highly of the conduct of the fifty-three students.

Mr. D'Avignon was appointed a delegate to represent the Council at the forthcoming meeting of the American Pharmacy Association at Windsor.

The Council will meet again at 10 o'clock today.

ANOTHER VERY SHORT DAY.

The Attorney-General Introduces Two Important Measures.

TORONTO, Feb. 3.

It only took the Ontario Assembly fifteen minutes yesterday afternoon to wade through its bill of fare. Nothing but the introduction of bills for a first reading was transacted.

Dr. Widdifield introduced a bill to amend the act of incorporation of the Trinity School of Medicine.

Mr. Hilliard presented a bill authorizing the Town of Almonte to issue certain debentures.

Mr. Snider offered a bill respecting municipal fire insurance.

The Attorney-General sent in a bill providing for the establishment of the new Agricultural Department. This department will be on the same footing as the other branches of the Provincial Government, and will be presided over by a responsible minister, deputies, etc.

The Attorney-General also introduced a bill providing for arbitration between Ontario and Quebec, arising out of the long-standing dispute between the provinces respecting what is known as the Land Improvement Fund. The scope of the bill is to establish by arbitration just what Ontario is entitled to as her share of this fund, which was created on the dissolution of the old province of Canada and the formation of the Dominion.

Among the notices of motion was one by Mr. Wood (Brant) for an address to the Lieutenant-Governor, praying that he will cause to be laid before the House a return of copies of all papers relating to the removal of B. B. Miller of Wiarton from the offices of clerk of the Division Court, issuer of marriage licenses, and the commission of the peace. This was agreed to.

Mr. Cox in Prison Garb.

DUBLIN, Feb. 2.—Mr. COX, M.P., who is in prison at Limerick, put on the jail dress without protest and went to work in the prison yard chopping wood and doing other labors of ordinary criminals.

Montreal's Chief of Police.

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—At a meeting of the City Council this afternoon it was decided to postpone the appointment of a chief of police for one month and to instruct the Police Committee to prepare a plan for the reorganization of the force.

CENTRAL BANK INQUIRY.

NEW PHASE OF THE TROUBLE BETWEEN THE LIQUIDATORS.

The Case Before Justice Robertson—How His Lordship Looks at it—Campbell to be Cross-Examined on Tuesday—Baxter's Books, Papers, etc., to be Produced.

TORONTO, Feb. 3.—In the Court of Chancery yesterday, before Mr. Justice Roberton, Mr. Foster, Q.C., asked that a day be appointed to cross-examine suspended Liquidator Campbell on the allegations of his affidavit on behalf of Messrs. Howland and Gooderham. Mr. Foster said he could not be ready before Tuesday next.

Mr. James Maclennan, Q.C., and Mr. Bain, Q.C., appeared for Mr. Campbell, and the first-named counsel stated that their client had categorically and seriatim by affidavit denied the truth of those charges against him. In the meantime he asked that the restrictions upon Mr. Campbell as acting liquidator should be removed. The charges were very discreditable to him, and their bona fides should be investigated as soon as possible.

His Lordship said that before he could remove the restrictions referred to it would be necessary to know what Mr. Campbell had to say in answer to the charges. The matter had been before the Chancellor, who was more familiar with the circumstances than he (the learned judge) was, and he could not undertake at present to remove the restrictions imposed. The only question was the enlargement of the time for the proceedings in this case. No extension should be allowed, not even for an hour, longer than was absolutely necessary for Mr. Campbell to justify his defence.

Mr. Maclennan said he would not for a moment throw any obstacle in the way of the full cross-examination of Mr. Campbell, but he thought the postponement suggested by his learned friend was too long.

The Judge said the point appeared to be the alleged incompatibility in working of the three liquidators. Two of them set forth grounds for the removal of their co-liquidator, and alleged that they had lost confidence in him. His Lordship pointed out the analogy of this case to a commercial partnership, in which incompatibility would be a ground for dissolving the partnership.

Mr. Maclennan said this was not the case of one wishing to retire. It was the case of putting one of the liquidators out.

His Lordship said that if Mr. Campbell satisfied the Court that there was no ground for the position apart from the charge of incompatibility the Court would deal with it on that ground alone. Then Mr. Campbell would be honorably acquitted of the serious charges against him. But he could not ignore the interests of the stockholders, creditors and the general interests of the public. It was quite competent for Mr. Campbell to withdraw under the statute.

Mr. Maclennan said it might become a question as to whether the petitioners, Messrs. Howland and Gooderham, should retire. [Laughter.]

The Judge said the Court of Chancery would see that the liquidators in this winding-up were fully competent and qualified. From what he had heard of Mr. Campbell he appeared a man of great experience in this respect, and one eminently qualified for the post to which he had been appointed.

Mr. Foster said it must be borne in mind that Mr. Campbell alleged that Messrs. Howland and Gooderham were incompetent.

The Judge said that the cross-examination might result in the ruling of these two out. [Laughter.] It seemed to him a long time for Mr. Campbell to lie under such serious imputations, which had been by the press scattered broadcast over the country. Addressing Mr. Foster, His Lordship asked: "You do not feel safe to take Mr. Campbell's affidavit apart from his cross-examination?"

Mr. Foster—I think it much safer to have him fully cross-examined. [Laughter.]

Further discussion followed, and ultimately His Lordship ordered that the cross-examination of Mr. Campbell proceed on Tuesday next.

Before Mr. Thos. Hodgins, Q.C., Mr. Macaren, Q.C., appeared on behalf of Mr. James Baxter, of Montreal, and Mr. Foster, Q.C., for Messrs. Howland and Gooderham, petitioning liquidators.

A conference took place between counsel, the result of which was that it was stated to the Master that counsel would be satisfied if Mr. Baxter furnished to the Court all books, letters and documents relating to Central Bank affairs and especially with reference to dealings with Messrs. Campbell, Allen, Cox, Davis, Barnett and Greenshields. Upon the production and perusal of these documents counsel would consent that if the balance of convenience were in favor of Mr. Baxter's examination being taken in Montreal they would readily assent to such direction of the court. All that was wished was a full investigation whether in this city or Montreal.

The Master assented to this arrangement and the parties concerned withdrew.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The decision of the Dominion Marine Department in the case of the steamboat collision in Toronto Bay in September last, when a man's life was lost, was made known yesterday, the certificates of Captain McCuaig of the Queen City, Captain Martin of the Sadie, and Captain McSherry of the Gertrude being suspended until August next. The case against Captain Parkinson, master of the Queen City, who allowed Captain McCuaig to take charge of the boat the evening of the accident without the help of a certificated mate, has been referred to the Department of Justice to see whether proceedings cannot be instituted against him.

The following gentlemen have passed the examinations for barrister without an oral: F. A. Anglin, F. P. Henry, G. M. Weeks, W. H. Hearst, W. E. S. Knowles, N. F. Davidson, John Hood, G. F. Cochran, E. E. Emery, J. A. Maclean, W. L. M. Lindsey, A. E. Watts, H. Guthrie, J. W. Bennett, J. E. Hansford, A. E. Trow, J. H. A. Beattie. The following are taking an oral examination: F. A. Drake, A. Grant, Thomas Hislop, G. Smith and A. E. Dixon.

The Y.M.C.A. secretaries concluded their session yesterday morning. Interesting papers and discussions took place on the varied aspects of their evangelistic work. Amongst the readers and speakers were Messrs. W. G. Orr, St. Thomas; A. Kuhning, Ottawa; A. Weir, Toronto; W. H. Stevens, Peterboro, and F. H. Heath, London.

Mr. W. D. Matthews and Mr. D. R. Wilkie will be sworn in as President and First Vice-President, respectively, of the Board of Trade by Mayor Clarke at 11 o'clock this morning in the City Hall. They in turn will administer the oath of office to the Council and the Board of Arbitrators.

Representatives of the city and county will confer this afternoon as to the amount to be contributed by each towards the administration of justice.

MORE HATS THAN HE WANTED.

Hamilton Detective Doyle's Find—A Commercial Traveler's Sudden Death.

HAMILTON, Feb. 2.—Mr. William Inkson, a native of Banffshire, Scotland, and one of the best known commercial men on the road, died suddenly at his home in this city at 11.30 last night.

Mr. James Dingle, for many years a well-known butcher, who lost his reason by becoming a prey to the idea that he would fail in business, died at the Asylum last night.

Last night Detective Doyle arrested a middle-aged man who said his name was George Woodruff. Three hats, a quantity of dress goods and several silver napkin rings marked "J. R. H., St. Catharines," were found upon him at the station.

At the Police Court to-day Jacob Burgess was sent to the Central Prison for four months for stealing a ham and some groceries from a farmer's sleigh.

At a meeting of a special committee of the County Council to-day the question of purchasing the toll roads was discussed.

The Bank of Hamilton will open a branch at Simcoe next Monday.

A raid was made last night on a disorderly house at Jackson and Hughson streets and several well-known disreputables were captured.

A Suicide Identified.

QUEBEC, Feb. 2.—The woman who suicided near the Falls of Montmorenci last autumn has been identified as Miss Clara Leavenworth. None of her friends have claimed the body, and it is probable that it will be interred this week in some of the city cemeteries.

General Stock on the Montreal Exchange.

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—Yesterday the manager of the Federal Bank wired to the Secretary of the Stock Exchange here asking that the stock of that bank be not officially called, as the directors of the bank deemed it for the best interests of the shareholders that the stock should not be called. The Board, however, after deliberation and upon consulting their solicitors, decided that it would be for the best interests of all parties concerned to make no exception with regard to Federal stock, and all transactions in that stock will continue to be regulated by the bylaws of the exchange.

The Laprairie Election Case.

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—In the Laprairie local election case to-day a carter named Francois Houle identified Hon. Mr. McShane as the man who went into houses of electors and tried to bribe them during the contest. Annie Barrassa, who skipped to the States and against whom a rule for contempt of court was issued, made default.

A 10 Per Cent. Reduction Agreed to.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Feb. 2.—The Dunbar furnace, which closed down several weeks ago because the men refused to accept a reduction in wages, has started up again, the men agreeing to a reduction of 10 per cent. The resumption gives employment to 700 men.

Smallpox on Board.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—The steamer Belgic arrived from Hong Kong and Yokohama with four cases of smallpox on board, and was placed in quarantine. This is the fourth successive steamer from China which has arrived with smallpox on board.

A Woman's Suicide.

OWEN SOUND, Feb. 2.—Mrs. Hayes of Hepworth, who attempted suicide by shooting herself on Monday last, died yesterday morning at 5 o'clock.

MR. WIMAN AGAIN.

Mr. Erastus Wiman and Prof. Goldwin Smith are doing their best to keep the commercial union agitation from dying out altogether. Many of their newspaper supporters have begun to hedge carefully, and their silence on the question, or their more frequent references to some other scheme, must have shown Mr. Wiman that he does not yet control all Canada.

Mr. Wiman lectured on commercial union in Montreal on Tuesday evening, and even the man who proposed a vote of thanks took care to say that he "did not go quite so far as Mr. Wiman." However, the Staten Island capitalist persists in adhering to his scheme as at first proposed, and talked, as usual, of taking up the customs line that now crosses the continent and placing it around the continent.

Mr. Wiman's answers to the objection that commercial union involved disloyalty to the Empire were not convincing. "There is no more disloyalty," said he, "in the admission of American products free than there is in the present system of taxing British goods in favor of Canada." There would be disloyalty, though, and much foolishness, in admitting United States products free while at the same time increasing the duties on British products. There is a great difference in such a proposal and the present position of affairs. The same duties are collected on imports now whether they are brought from England or the United States, while Mr. Wiman asks Canada to tax British imports higher and admit United States goods free. The man who cannot see any difference in the present arrangement of the tariff laws and that proposed by the commercial unionists must be of those who are blind because they will not see.

"Is the loyalty of Canada so weak," also asked Mr. Wiman, "that it cannot stand prosperity?" Canadian loyalty will certainly stand a great deal when a resident of the United States is permitted to give expression to such sneers. But it has not been shown that commercial union would cause prosperity, or, rather, increase the prosperity of Canada. The weight of evidence leads to the opposite conclusion.

The lecturer expressed the belief that Canadians could hold their own against United States manufacturers in equal competition. But would the competition be equal? Large manufacturing concerns across the border have combinations formed for the express purpose of breaking down competition, and does anyone who understands the matter believe that the manufacturing establishments of the various cities, towns and villages of Canada, many of them recently established, could hold up against the combined weight of the United States concerns?

Mr. Wiman thought it a matter to be make light of if Canadians were taxed without representation, and if the control of the tariff was taken from the Dominion Parliament. He may affect to believe that Canadians are not capable of legislating for themselves, but we fear he will have to wait a long time before with such arguments he will induce Canadians to hand over the control of their tariff to the Congressional rings of a foreign country, or their markets to combinations of foreign manufacturers.

With remarkable candor the Globe says:—"Thus not only has the credit of Canada risen more than that of any other Colony or than that even of England herself, but the credit of Canada actually stands to-day on the British markets next to that of India, which is to some extend guaranteed by Britain. In the face of such facts it is idle for anyone to preach despair to Canada. The country is well able to get along and with good Government may prosper exceedingly, even though the commercial union agitation come to naught." These are true words and the Globe should receive credit for fearlessly expressing them. May the new light it has received not go out.

Dundas elected a Conservative in place of a Liberal in a Provincial bye-election, and East Northumberland a Liberal in place of a Conservative. Honors are thus even. There are reports of bribery on the part of the Liberals in East Northumberland, however, and they may not be able to hold the seat.

THE CREMATED FORGED NOTES.

Messrs. Manning, Snelling and Strathy Committed For Trial—Mr. Rogers Discharged.

Toronto, Feb. 3.

President Manning, Manager Strathy and Director Snelling of the Traders' Bank were committed for trial on the charge of compounding a felony by Magistrate Denison yesterday, when the circumstances of the Selby forgery case were placed before him. The charge against Elias Rogers was dismissed.

The limited capacity of the court room was fully taxed by the crowd, eager to watch for anything that might be developed. Mr. Dalton McCarthy, Q.C., appeared for Messrs. Rogers, Snelling and Strathy, and Mr. John Bain, Q.C., was in court for Mr. Manning. County Crown Attorney Badgerow conducted the prosecution.

A long information paper, abounding in legal expletives, was solemnly read, charging Wm. Selby with forging "paper" to the extent of $12,688.21 and Henry S. Strathy, Alexander Manning, Richard Snelling and Elias Rogers with having compounded a felony by being parties to the destruction of the forged notes. All four pleaded not guilty.

E. W. Strathy, discount clerk at the Traders' Bank, was examined as to whether he had seen the forged paper. He did not see a note dated Jan. 3, drawn for $1500.

Thos. B. Taylor, Selby's partner, next took the stand. He related the circumstance of being called on the night of Jan. 3, 1887, by a messenger from Mr. Strathy. He went down to the bank and saw Mr. Rogers, Mr. Strathy, Mr. Snelling and Mr. Manning. When shown the forged notes he was surprised. He knew nothing of them before. When Selby was called into the room he (witness) said: "What's this you have been doing? You have ruined me. Did you sign Taylor Bros.' name to this?" Selby said he did because he was hard up for funds. An arrangement was made to give security for lifting the forged notes. He gave a mortgage on his farm to Mr. Rogers (who it may be mentioned is Selby's brother-in-law), and Mr. Rogers became security for raising them. He was going to put the notes in his pocket when one of the defendants suggested burning them. Mr. Strathy called a messenger, and they (witness and messenger) went down stairs and burned them in the furnace. When he first saw the notes he wanted to call his solicitor, but Mr. Snelling objected to anyone else being present, saying that if anyone else came he would allow the law to take its course. He could not say whether the others heard this, but it was loud enough for them to hear. When the arrangement was being made to burn the notes Messrs. Manning, Snelling and Strathy were present. Mr. Rogers had gone outside to see his solicitor.

John F. Taylor, in his examination, stated the facts of the notes being handed to him and his discovery of the forgery.

John McGregor, the bank messenger, related his taking the note to Mr. Taylor, his ride to Selby's house with Mr. Taylor and Mr. Strathy, and his piloting Mr. Taylor to the furnace in the cellar where the notes were burned.

Jas. H. Macdonald, barrister, gave the details of the agreement between Mr. Rogers and Mr. Taylor as to the security given. His evidence was to this effect: Mr. Rogers is my client. I went to the Traders' Bank with Mr. Samuel Rogers on the night of Jan. 3. I was sent for. There I met Mr. Rogers, who came out of the manager's room. I had a consultation with him and questioned him after he had stated his case to me about these notes. He wanted to know if he could safely endorse for Selby & Co., and as to the security he should take. I asked him if there was any threat of any prosecution or any thing of that kind spoken of. He said there was not further than that some one had said the note must be taken up. I then asked if there was any arrangement or understanding, direct or indirect, that in the event of his endorsing for the firm there should be no prosecution. I never told him of any arrangement or understanding. I would not advise him to become a party. He replied that nothing of the sort existed or was even hinted at. He then said he felt inclined to endorse for the firm. We then discussed the security. Mr. Taylor, he said, offered to give any security—either on the business or farm. I refused the security on the business, but was willing to take the farm. Mr. Rogers then left me, going back into the manager's room to have a further consultation with Mr. Taylor about the farm. Some time later he came out and said to me that he had decided to take the farm and endorse for the firm. At the request of Mr. Strathy I went into the room and drew up the agreement between the parties, which is now registered. Mr. Rogers went security to the bank, taking from Taylor a demand note. I afterwards told Mr. Rogers that he could endorse the note for $12,760.23 and he did so. Mr. Strathy billed it. To the best of my belief Mr. Strathy left the room, and he heard Mr. Strathy say the notes might as well be destroyed or handed over. I heard him give directions to some one to get the notes. I don't believe the notes were in the room. To the Magistrate—I did not hear the messenger called, nor hear any reference to the furnace. To Mr. McCarthy—Mr. Rogers gave the note on the direct understanding that there was to be no prosecution. He explained that to me. Had it been otherwise I certainly would not have allowed Mr. Rogers to sign the notes. To Mr. Bain—Mr. Manning said nothing at all, and I may say that I believe Mr. Manning and Mr. Snelling left the bank before the others. The cashier's room is a very small one. Mr. Manning complained of the heat. To the Magistrate—Mr. Samuel Rogers told me that Selby & Co. were in trouble; that Selby had acted foolishly. I understood from his conversation Selby had forged paper. Mr. Rogers told me that he was asked to endorse for the firm for the full amount of the notes. To Mr. McCarthy—I am satisfied that Mr. Rogers did not either legally or morally commit himself. Mr. Samuel Rogers said to me that he did not think Selby had acted dishonestly.

The Magistrate discharged Mr. Rogers and committed Messrs. Manning, Snelling and Strathy for trial, accepting their bail for $1000 each.

Nearly Asphyxiated.

Kingston, Jan. 30.—Gas from a leak in the pipe entered the Hogan Hotel last night and seriously affected the inmates. One young woman was found prostrate on the floor unconscious, and was with difficulty restored to consciousness and her life saved. The most liberal accident policy issued is that of the Manufacturers' Accident Insurance Company of Toronto.

Blasting Accident at Arkona.

Arkona, Feb. 2.—William Cameron, while blasting rock at the Sauble River this afternoon, was injured by a premature discharge of powder. Hopes are entertained that his injuries may not prove fatal, but he may lose the use of his eye.

DAILY MARKET REVIEW.

Toronto, Feb 2.

The grain and produce markets were generally quiet, both at home and abroad. The local was steady, while Chicago showed a little improvement and European markets were firm.

At the Board of Trade to-day one car of wheat by sample was offered at 89c on the track and 88c bid. Another car of wheat was offered at 87c without bids.

The car lots received at Chicago to-day were: Wheat 30, corn 122 and oats 96. Estimated receipts for Friday are: Wheat 30, corn 156 and oats 99 cars.

LOCAL STREET MARKET.

The local market to-day was quiet. There was about 2000 bushels of barley and 400 of wheat in this morning. Prices ruled somewhat easier, and there is every indication of a fall in value. Pork is quieter, the soft weather having a cheapening effect.

Evangelistic.—The services conducted by Messrs. Crossley and Dewey have been interesting and successful, the attendance being very large. Two hundred persons have turned their faces Zionward.

Almost.—The fence near Mr. R. Scott's barn was seen to be on fire early Friday morning by a gentleman who was passing. It was extinguished thus preventing a more serious blaze.

Fire.—Mr. Wm. Bailey's blacksmith shop, and Mr. Adam Patterson's stable were burned on Saturday. Mr. Bailey lost his tools and stock; no insurance. Mr. Roxburgh owned the building, on which the loss will be about $450; insurance, $150. Mr. Patterson's loss is estimated at $150; no insurance. The cause of the fire is not known.

Board of Health.—The following gentlemen compose the Board of Health for this year:—Messrs. John Finlay, Chairman; W. H. Mullins, Secretary; Robt. Wilson, Thos. Fraser and A. R. Anderson. Dr. S. P. Ford, Medical Health Officer.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

KEENE.

Correspondence of the Review.

Personal.—Mr. Jas. R. McCrea, who left on Friday last for Staten Island, N.Y., has arrived at his destination. We will miss him very much, but he has our best wishes for success.

Correction.—We distinctly disclaim any connection with the heading of paragraph re. Keene and Lakefield match for district medal in last week's issue. The excuse offered, viz., that one of the Lakefield players had only played once this year was a very poor one, as report says that he was the best player from Lakefield. Keene curlers had a very much better excuse last year, if they had wished to use it, as the Lakefield rink which won the match won it on a "hog's back," so to speak, but when Keene has as true ice as Caretaker Cousin's had last week, Keene is at home every time and don't you forget it. If our boys are beaten for the tankard competition they will not squeal, but take defeat with a true sportsman's spirit. Keene is waiting to hear from Lakefield re the tankard draw. —[The paragraph referred to in last week's issue was not sent by our correspondent, but was taken out of the local columns of the Evening Review.—Ed. Review.]

Curliana.—Two rinks from Campbellford play in Keene on Friday next, Feb. 3rd. Belleville is expected up soon. The final draw for the first medal played for this season is to be played some day next week (13 point game) between Messrs. R. K. McIntyre and R. N. English. It is likely that Keene club will send a rink to Toronto to take part in the Toronto-Ontario match this month.

Life Insurance.—There were no less than seven companies represented in Keene last month.

Methodist.—The usual quarterly meeting will be held in Keene on Sunday next at 10 a.m. Mr. Spence will preach in the evening.

Revived.—Our old friend and correspondent of the Hastins Star has, we are glad to know, come to life again after being in a dormant condition for some time.

A New Firm.

Messrs. Jas. R. Donnel and H. C. Stabler have purchased the planing mill business formerly conducted by Messrs. Kincaid & McWilliams and took possession of the premises on Thurday. Snowed In.

Some tall stories are told by farmers from the neighborhood of town, regarding the snow drifts they meet with. One farmer in Douro is snow bound and has not left his own premises for over a week. Another residing in North Monaghan says that the snow in some places is fifteen feet high, as high as a haystack. Such drifts were never known before in this section of the country and the snow is packed so hard that it is a difficult job to dig through it. This fine weather, however, is melting it away gradually.

Judgment Given.

Judgment was given in Toronto on Wednesday in the case of Merriam vs. McCrea, tried here before Justice Robertson in October last, in which the plaintiff sought to rectify a deed from the plaintiff to the defendant of certain land in the township of Percy, Northumberland County. Judgment was given in favor of the plaintiff with full costs.—Mr. E. B. Stone, Peterborough, for the plaintiff; Messrs. G. T. Blackstock, Toronto, C. B. Irvine, Brighton, and A. L. Colville, Campbellford, for the defendants.

The Certificate Held.

An interesting case in connection with an insurance certificate issued by the society of Royal Templars of Temperance was tried here last October. The certificate was for $2,000, issued under the rules of the order and payable to certain members of the family of Mrs. McMurtry, of Midland, the insured. Afterwards Mrs. McMurtry made a will directing that the money should be divided in a manner different from that pointed out in the certificate. The by-laws of the society permit a change, but according to them it must be made by the insured applying for a new certificate, when it will be made out as may be wished. The plaintiffs brought suit to compel payment according to the terms of the will. Judgment has since been given in favor of the defendants, by which it is decided that the money must be paid according to the directions in the certificate. Mr. D. W. Dumble solicitor for plaintiffs; Mr. E. B. Stone for defendants.

Croup, whooping cough, sore throat, sudden cold, and the lung troubles peculiar to children are easily controlled by promptly administering Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy is safe to take and certain in its action.

Local Winners.

As will be seen by our report of the races, the principal prizes were won by Peterborough horses. That the owners had the sympathy of the crowd was quite plain to be seen, by the loud cheering that succeeded each heat.

D. and D.

Two young men named William Marks and Henry Wilcox were before the Police Magistrate this morning charged by Officer Adams with being drunk and disorderly on Simcoe-st. on Sunday last. They pleaded guilty and after being severely lectured were fined $2 and costs each.

Remember It.

Great preparations are being make for the approaching carnival, which will take place on Tuesday, February 14th. The members of the Canton have prepared a great programme and full particulars may be seen by reference to the posters. In the meantime prepare your costumes.

Personal.

Among those who successfully passed the Law Society's Hilary examinations at Toronto for certificate of fitness as Solicitor was Mr. F. P. Henry, formerly of Mrs. Hatton & Wood's office, Peterborough. We extend congratulations.

The choir of St. Andrew's church presented Mr. Galletly with an address last night. We will publish it to-morrow.

The Gospel Hall.

Mr. Stanger, of Liverpool, Eng., was at the meeting in the Gospel Hall last evening and gave an address, basing his remarks on Ezekiel iiiv., 10-16, and also the passage, "The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life." He delivered a very earnest address, pointing out the differences in rewards. He will be at a meeting in the same hall again this evening.

Taxes.

Collector Cumming is still on the warpath, gathering taxes. There are about $2,000 on the roll and it is coming in very slowly. The amounts are all small, running manily from $2 to $10. So far the collector has got along without making seizures, but he is bound to push matters now and those who are in arrears should pay up at once to save further trouble and cost.

Brought in a Passenger.

When "Blue Jean" was coming under the wire, in one of the heats, at the races on Thursday, it was seen that a small boy was hanging on to the front of the runner. He was crossing the track when the horse overtook him, and the youngster with great presence of mind caught the runner with his hands and he hugged it closely too until the horse came to a standstill. The boy was not injured in the least.

In Town.

It is remarkable how races will draw a crowd. People are here from all the neighboring places and even from Toronto and Ottawa. The Brighton delegation is a strong one and Cobourg, Belleville, Trenton, Grafton, Picton, Port Hope, Hastings and Lindsay are all well represented. It is a well known fact that affairs of the kind are always properly conducted here and hence our power of attracting outsiders.

The Hospital.

The contract for the erection of the new Nicholls' Hospital has definitely been awarded to Mr. Arthur Rutherford. The price is not exactly fixed, as it is on "a sliding scale." The figures will probably reach a total of $17,000. The building is to be finished by the first of May, 1889. The original plans, with some slight modifications in the plumbing and some other minor things, will be adhered to. The structure will be an imposing one with all the latest improvements for such buildings.

Relieved.

The item in the REVIEW the other day, calling attention to a case of destitution, existing in the South Ward, has had the effect of relieving the necessities of the family. Money, eatables and clothes have been sent in from many different sources and one gentleman furnished a bed, bedding, etc. Officer Adams says he has been spoken to by many people, all of whom referred to the REVIEW. Straws show which way the wind blows. The REVIEW is read by all classes of the community.

The Races.

The second day's races are in progress as we go to press. The attendance is very large and the sport promises to be of the very first order. The programme for this afternoon includes the named race, the 2,45 class and the free-for-all. Each is filled and great interest is manifested in the named race, which will bring together for the first time a large number of local horses, all possessing more or less speed, and as the rivalry among the owners is of the keenest description, the chances are that each heat will be trotted to a finish with vengeance.

A Trusty Friend—Perry Davis' Pain-Killer. Safe to keep and use in every household.

Social and Sale.

An "apron social" held at the residence of Mr. A. L. Davis on Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte-st. Methodist Church, was largely attended. The large residence was thrown open to those who attended and it was well filled with a sociable company of people. Prof. Doucet's orchestra was present and gave valuable assistance in the entertainment by furnishing music. A programme—or, rather, two programmes—were carried out in the sitting room and parlor. Vocal solos were given by Miss Brundrett, Mrs. Logan, Mrs. Daly, Miss Ella Cox and Mr. G. Mulligan, a vocal duet by Miss Cox and Mr. A. L. Davis, an instrumental solo by Miss Fairweather, instrumental duets by Prof. Parker and Mr. Geo. Schneider and by Miss Duff and Miss Alice Davis, and a chorus by the choir of the church. Refreshments were served during the evening. A sale of aprons was conducted by the ladies, and a large number of these useful articles were disposed of. The various departments of the entertainment—orchestral music, singing, pianoforte music and the sale—which were continued throughout the evening, gave a variety that was pleasing, and as each of those who took part were good vocalists or musicians, the audience was well pleased. Passing from room to room, social intercourse and pleasant conversation added to the enjoyment of the occasion. The ladies were successful with the sale, and altogether the entertainment was a very successful and enjoyable one.

TENTH ANNUAL ICE RACES ON THE LITTLE LAKE.

Everything Passes off in the Most Successful Manner—Both Races Won by Peterborough Horses—Fine Weather, Good Sport and a Large Attendance.

The tenth annual race meeting under the auspices of the Peterborough Trotting Club commenced on the Little Lake on Thursday afternoon. The weather was fine and the mile track was in the very best of condition, barring one soft spot. The track was kite shaped and the starting point was just about opposite the residence of Mr. Harry Winch, not far from Crescent street.

The attendance of spectators was large, it being estimated that fully two thousand people of all sexes, colors, classes and creeds stood on the high banks around the Lake, on the ice, or drove around after the fliers. The weather was fine and heavy wraps were discarded.

A stand, designated "grand," by courtesy, had been erected for the accomodation of the judges and members of the press, while a clothes line stretched across the track did duty for a "wire." The grand stand was not even warmed with straw and the judges kept their hands warm by each in turn ringing a large dinner bell. Underneath a trio of French Canadians dispensed hot coffee, sandwiches, cigars, etc., and they did a roaring business, too.

Several fakirs sold soap, whips, etc., and as they were surrounded all afternoon by eager crowds, who appeared to have money to spend and did spend it, the public may rest assured that the aforesaid fakirs did not come out with empty pockets as a result of the day's labor.

The judges were Messrs. Matt. B. Williams, Cobourg; Jos. J. Daly, Lindsay and Augustus Sawers, Peterborough, while Mr. James English held the watch. President Croft also occupied a position in the stand and occasionally put in a few timely remarks.

THE 3-MINUTE CLASS.

1.30 was the hour for the races to commence, but it was not for some time after it that Judge Williams called out "Trot out your horses for the 3 minute purse." In response to the call, "Sleepy Dan," "Frank O.P." and "Blue Jean" trotted up to the scoring place.

At the first attempt the three horses were got off together, "Sleepy Dan" having a little the best of the start. They kept the same positions for the first half mile, "Blue Jean" and "F. O. P." varying things by doing some capital running. The finish was a spirited one, "F. O. P." having about a length the best of it, with "Sleepy Dan" pushing him for all he was worth. The judges decided to give "Dan" first place, on account of the horse first in having done so much running. The time was 2.39.

The second heat was a repetition of the first except that "Dan" was never headed from the start and won by half a length, the other two horses running every little while. Time 2.36.

The second and third horses in the third and last heat, did more running than they did trotting, but nevertheless "Dan" passed the wire about three lengths to the good. Time 2.36.

SUMMARY.

Three minute trot. Purse $100, divided—First horse $60, second horse $25, third horse $15.

| | | | |

Time 2.39; 2.36 and 2.36.

THE 2.35 CLASS.

In this race four horses faced the starter and after scoring several times they were given a good send off. "Gladstone" soon found his way to the front, with "Royal Jim," well up, and "Dolly Wilson" and "Livery Maid" in the order named. These positions were maintained to the finish, "Gladstone" having a length to the good. All the horses except the leader did more or less breaking, especially at the east end of the track, where it was found necessary to place patrol judges. Time 2.40.

"Gladstone" at once shot to the front again in the second heat and managed to keep his lead to the finish, jogging in with half a dozen lengths to the good, "Royal Jim" second, just settling down after a break in time to trot under the wire, "Dolly Wilson" third and "Livery Maid" bringing up the rear after doing considerable running on the home stretch. Time 2.38½.

The third heat decided this race also. "Gladstone" had thrown a shoe and as the 3 minute race had been finished there was nothing for it but to wait until the horse was sent up town and had a new shoe put on. This took about an hour and in the meantime the fakirs did a great business and the hot coffee man was compelled to add more water to make his stock in trade pan out. At the third attempt the horses were sent off and between trotting and running, all doing more or less of the latter, they got around the course in 2.39, "Gladstone" coming in first, "Livery Maid" second, "Royal Jim" third and "Dolly Wilson" fourth. The judges, however, slightly changed this by putting "Livery Maid" back for running and advancing "Royal Jim" a peg, giving him third place in the heat and second in the race.

SUMMARY.

Two-thirty-five trot. Purse $100, divided, 1st $60, 2nd $25, 3rd $15.

TRACKLETS.

The decision of the judges gave entire satisfaction and kicking was unknown.

It was a good natured crowd and nothing unseemly took place during the day.

Brevities.

—Of course the stray dog was on hand at the races yesterday and, as usual, he got in the way.

—The "Hub" appears to be the headquarters of the horsemen from all parts of the country.

—A wooden shed in rear of the premises of MRS. J. Rodgers, Lakefield, was burned on Wednesday afternoon.

—The weather is remarkably fine and warm and the "January" thaw is looked for by the weather-wise.

—The fliers were nearly all on the ice this morning and their movements were watched by a large crowd.

—The ladies were out in strong force at the races and they appeared to enjoy the sport as much as the sterner sex.

—It is a wonder that more runaways do not take place on the Little Lake, owing to the reckless driving indulged in.

—Doctor Coulter, Ed. Daly, Joe. Daly and Harry Walters are among the Lindsay sports who are attending the races.

—According to the Port Hope Times, the first drunk for many months was fined in the Police Court there the other day.

—Messrs. A. H. Adams and Charles Nixan, well known curlers and hotel men of Port Hope, are attending the races.

—The birds are commencing to show up again, but the "cav" of the crow has not yet been heard throughout the land.

—We did not hear of any particular betting being done so far on the races, but money will probably change hands to-day.

—"Ned" Brown claims the credit for choosing the dates for the races. It is certain that better could not have been chosen.

—The ice at the skating rink is in splendid condition and the number who skate every day is increasing rather than decreasing.

—Owing to the fact that the track is a mile long, it is impossible to see the horses all the way around, particularly on the home stretch, but it is the fairest for all concerned.

—The police were notified of two fights on Thursday night. One was in a hotel and the other on Brock-st. Neither amounted to anything.

—"Joe" Daly was kept busy yesterday shaking hand with his many friends, who are pleased to learn that he is prospering at Lindsay.

—The management of the races has given every satisfaction so far and the outlook is that the promoters will not be out of pocket any.

—Mr. R. Munro, of the Queen's Hotel, Port Hope, was at the races yesterday. The proposed meeting at Port Hope has petered out.

—The Belleville Amateur Minstrels are to play in Peterborough on the 16th of this month. They are now polishing up their alleged jokes.

—The attendance at the races this afternoon promises to be enormous. The streets have been fairly black with people since the noon hour.

—Owing to missing train connections, the Brighton horse, "Livery Maid," was walked all the way from Port Hope to Peterborough.

—A photographer had his camera planted near the home stretch at the races yesterday, and managed to secure some good negatives.

—Some little jockeying was attempted by one of the drivers yesterday afternoon but it was soon frowned down, by the judges and the crowd.

—Hundreds of small boys were on the lake yesterday and the attendance at the schools must have suddenly decreased to an alarming extent.

—A political meeting held at Meyersburg in the East Northumberland campaign was treated, the Herald says, to a masterly speech by Mr. D. J. Lynch.

—Mr. "Matt" Williams, of Cobourg, does the starting at the races. He is an old horseman and allows no "monkeying" with the judges.

—"Johnny B," a Kingston flier, got here too late, owing to the train being delayed, to enter in the .35 class, but he will be seen in the free for all.

—One of the drivers at the races yesterday, evinced a desire to kick, but the judge promptly and quietly sat on him, as it were, and closed his mouth.

—A prominent contractor informs us that the building outlook for the coming summer is even better than it was at this time last year.

—The market square was well covered this morning with hay and wood. A dozen loads of hay and twice as many of wood were noticed at one time.

—The hackmen and bus drivers are now reaping a harvest. They have done a big business in carrying people to and from the races. The livery stable men also smile.

—Mr. "Bob" Read took the races in yesterday, from a cutter. He expects to be able to drive as well as ever next season and in the meantime he is resting on his oars.

—There are evidently some light-fingered gentry in town, as the loss of several articles of jewelry, etc., are reported, including a watch, a sum of money and a locket.

—Some thimble riggers tried to get to work in town last night, but the police interferred and shut them down. There is altogether too much "skin" about their game.

—"Every time you hit the bullseye, you get a good cigar," yelled the man with the shooting gallery. Many tried their luck, but the number of cigars won was not large.

—A runaway took place at the races yesterday. The cutter was upset and the occupants thrown out on the ice, happily without any person being injured. On the previous day one also occurred.

—A fakir on the Lake has a new scheme, as far as Peterborough is concerned, at least, of raking in the quarters. It is a striking machine and the owner appeared to do a good business.

—Play in the 13 point game is still proceeding at the rink among the curlers. This morning Messrs. R. S. Davidson and E. B. Edwards played the draw, the former winning by a score of 14 to 6.

—Some question having arisen owing to the fast time made yesterday, in all the heats, as to whether the track on the Little Lake is a full mile or not, we are assured by the gentlemen who chained it out that it is a full mile with something to spare.

—Some three months ago a man took out a butcher's license for a year, paying there for the usual fee of $10. Now he has given up business and wants the town to pay him back a proportion of his money. It is a remarkable fact, that outside butcher shops always crop up during the winter months when meat is cheap and during the summer months they close their doors.

BRITAIN'S UNIVERSAL PRAYER.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

God bless our gracious Queen
Whose character has stood,
Through every changing scene
A model truly good.

Within the humble cot
With willing mind she goes,
Where death hath sorrow brought
To sympathise with those

Who like herself have been Bereft of kindred dear.
Victoria, Britain's Queen,
With such can shed a tear.

The nation has been blest
Throughout her peaceful reign,
Warriors swords would rest
Could she her wish obtain.

The Bible, it has been Through life her constant stay,
On which we hope she'll lean,
Till from earth took away—

Her mortal part, dear own,
Her honoured race be run,
Exchange her earthly crown
For an Heavenly one.

REVIEWS.

THE CANADIAN METHODIST MAGAZINE.—The February number gives evidence of the continued advance of this popular monthly. It has four handsomely illustrated articles. The first is the second of a series on "Picturesque Ireland," with engravings of Limerick, Dunluce Castle, Giants' Causeway, and other romatic scenes in Antrim and Donegal, Dublin Bay, etc. The first of two articles on "The Bahamas and Cuba," and "Walks about London" follow—both well illustrated. The Editor begins a series of articles on "Our Own Country," which will describe and illustrate with numerous engravings the scenic and other attractions of the Maritime Provinces. The first of these is devoted to Halifax, N.S. Other articles are: "Famous Tombs in Germany," by Mrs. M. E. Lauder; a brilliant posthumous paper by the late Chancellor Nelles on "The Place of Theology among the Sciences"; Canon Farrar on "The Duty of the Church to the Drink Traffic," three stories: "Circus Eva," a story of St. John Methodism; and Mrs. A. E. Barr's "Lost Silver of Briffault." The outlook of this Magazine, we learn, was never so bright.

Hamilton, the American jumper, who went to England with the Wild West show, has been matched to jump for $1,000 against J. Darby, the English champion. Two matches will be contested, the first ten consecutive forward jumps and the second two standing jumps; both trials with weights.

Jack Burke, who is now in training in Australia for his match with Foley, to take place Jan. 21, has cabled from Sydney a challenge to Mitchell to fight with bare knuckles, under the new rules of the London prize ring, or he will meet Mitchell with gloves, according to Marquis of Queensberry rules, within six months, either match to be for $2,500 a side. Burke furthermore says he will fight in England, if allowed $500 for expenses.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW

A Famous Doctor

Once said that the secret of good health consisted in keeping the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. Had this eminent physician lived in our day, and known the merits of Ayer's Pills as an aperient, he would certainly have recommended them, as so many of his distinguished successors are doing.

The celebrated Dr. Farnsworth, of Norwich, Conn., recommends Ayer's Pills as the best of all remedies for "Intermittent Fevers."

Dr. I. E. Fowler, of Bridgeport, Conn., says: "Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."

Dr. Mayhew, of New Bedford, Mass., says: "Having prescribed many thousands of Ayer's Pills, in my practice, I can unhesitatingly pronounce them the best cathartic in use."

The Massachusetts State Assayer, Dr. A. A. Hayes, certifies: "I have made a careful analysis of Ayer's Pills. They contain the active principles of well-known drugs, isolated from inert matter, which plan is, chemically speaking, of great importance to their usefulness. It insures activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. Ayer's Pills contain no metallic or mineral substance, but the virtues of vegetable remedies in skillful combination."

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

NO FURTHER PROROGATION OF PARLIAMENT PROBABLE.

Early Ripening of Wheat in the Northwest—Royal Military College ex-Cadets' Grievances—Mounted Police Hospital at Fort Saskatchewan Burnt.

OTTAWA, Jan. 2.—There is no truth whatever in the statement made in to-night's Free Press and probably telegraphed to other papers that a further prorogation of Parliament had been decided on. The fact of the matter is the subject has not even been discussed in Council. The estimates are well advanced, a great deal of the business to be laid before Parliament is ready and there does not at present appear to be anything to prevent the House meeting on Feb. 23.

The contract for the huts for C Battalion of Artillery at Victoria, B.C., has been let to Mr. Joshua Holland. The price is about $10,000.

The subject of the early ripening of wheat in the Northwest, and the results of the work in that connection by the experimental farm is attracting attention abroad. The Washington authorities are in communication with the Department of Agriculture on the subject, and are anxious to know what samples can be obtained.

The ex-cadets of the Royal Military College have brought their grievances before the Militia Department. As the regulations now stand a graduate loses his commission if he misses two consecutive annual trainings. The nature of the occupation of many of the cadets, it is claimed, makes it inconvenient to throw up a position to fulfil the required regulation, and in some cases they claim an exemption clause should be put in force. They also urge that graduates should have the preference in any appointment on the permanent force.

A report received by the Marine Department from the engineer of the fog alarm recently erected at Cranberry Head, near Sydney Mines, C.B., states that the fog alarm there is giving much satisfaction, and is of great service to vessels approaching there from seaward.

The Comptroller of Mounted Police has been advised of the destruction by fire of the Mounted Police Hospital at Fort Saskatchewan, with all the medical stores. The buildings were inexpensive and will be easily replaced. The total loss will probably be less than $1000.

Mr. Onderdonk, who was contractor for the British Columbia section of the Canadian Pacific Railway, now the subject of arbitration, is in the city. Hon. Joseph Trutch, Dominion Government agent in British Columbia, is expected to arrive shortly in connection with the arbitration.

Hon. Mr. Plumb, Speaker of the Senate, is in the city looking after official matter.

A CLOSE ELECTION PROBABLE.

In Manitoba Between Attorney-General Martin and Mr. Smith.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 2.—Reports from Portage La Prairie indicate a close election between Attorney-General Martin and Mr. Smith, with even chances. Mr. Martin, in an interview today, said that the Government would build the Red River Valley road at all hazards, and that the money would be forthcoming. Disallowance of acts would have no effect, and the Government would cross Dominion lands and the Canadian Pacific track. He intimated that Mr. Norquay was insincere in his efforts to build the road.

Illegitimacy at L

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The Free Press of this morning says that the Hospital Trust of the city should take steps to enquire into the large number of illegitimate children that are born annually at that institution, amounting in 1887 to 144, or an average of twelve a month. The paper says: "These are facts which cannot be controverted, and while it is to be regretted that such a blot should rest upon the moral escutcheon of London, it is in the interests of all that the information should no longer be withheld from those whose taxes go toward the support of the institution. One of the women in the hospital at the present time has recently been delivered of her fifth illegitimate child."

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"If ever you should be sorry afterwards," she says, miserably, still tormenting herself with unseen evils—"if ever I should see discontent in your eyes, how would it be with me then?"

"Don't talk like a penny illustrated," says Mr. Rodney, in a very superior tone. "If ever you do see all you seem to anticipate, just tell yourself I am a cur, and despise me accordingly."

At this they both laugh heartily, and Mona returns no more to the lachrymose mood that has possessed her for the last five minutes.

The moon has gone behind a cloud, the road is almost wrapped in complete gloom, which [illegible] parently [illegible] brings [illegible] possible bliss to the present very possible world.

"Hist, Miss Mona! hist! says this voice close at Mona's ear. She starts violently.

"Oh, Paddy!" she says, as a small figure, unkempt, and only half clad, creeps through the hedge and stops short in her path.

"Don't go on, miss," says the boy, with much excitement. "Don't ye. I see ye comin', an', no matter what they do to me, I says to meself, I'll warn her surely. They're waitin' for the agint below, an' maybe they might mistake ye for some one else in the dark, an' do ye some harm."

"Who are they waiting for?" asks Mona, anxiously.

"For the agint, miss. Oh, if you tell on me now they'll kill me. Maxill, ye know; me lord's agint."

"Waiting—for what? Is it to shoot him?" asks the girl breathlessly.

"Yes, miss. Oh, Miss Mona, if ye bethray me now 'twill be all up wid me. Fegs an' intirely, miss, they'll murdher me out uv hand."

"I won't betray you," she says. "You may trust me. Where are they stationed?"

"Down below in the hollow, miss—jist behind the hawthorn bush. Go home some other way, Miss Mona; they're bint on blood."

"And, if so, what are you doing here?" says Mona, reprovingly.

"On'y watchin', miss, to see what they'll do," confesses he, shifting from one foot to the other, and growing palpably confused beneath her searching gaze.

"Is it murder you want to see?" asks she, slowly, in a horrified tone. "Go home, Paddy. Go home to your mother." Then, changing her censuring manner to one of entreaty, she says, softly, "Go, because I ask you."

"I'm off, miss," says the miscreant, and, true to his word, darts through the hedge again like a shaft from a bow, and, scurrying through the fields, is soon lost to sight.

"Come with me," says Mona to Rodney; and with an air of settled determination, and a hard look on her usually mobile lips, she moves deliberately towards the hawthorn-bush, that is about a quarter of a mile distant.

"Mona," says Rodney, divining her intent, "stay you here while I go and expostulate with these men. It is late, darling, and their blood is up, and they may not listen to you. Let me speak to them."

"You do not understand them," returns she, sadly. "And I do. Besides, they will not harm me. There is no fear of that. I am not at all afraid of them. And I—must speak to them."

He knows her sufficiently well to refrain from further expostulation, and just accompanies her silently along the lonely road.

"It is I—Mona Scully," she calls aloud, when she is within a hundred yards of the hiding-place. "Tim Ryan, come here; I want you."

It is a mere guess on her part—supported certainly by many tales she has heard of this Ryan of late, but a guess nevertheless. It proves, however, to be a correct one. A man, indistinct, but unmistakable, shows himself on the top of the wall, and pulls his forelock through force of habit.

"What are you doing here, Tim?" says Mona, bravely calmly, "at this hour, and with—yes, do not seek to hide it from me—a gun! And you too, Carthy," peering into the darkness where another man, less plucky than Ryan, lies concealed. "Ah! you may well wish to shade your face, since it is evil you have in your heart this night."

"Do ye mane to inform on us?" says Ryan, slowly, who is a man of a villainous countenance, laying his hand impulsively upon his gun, and glancing at her and Rodney alternately with murder in his eyes.

"You should know better than to apply the word 'informer' to one of my blood," she says, coldly, speaking to Ryan without a tremor in her voice.

"I know that," says Ryan, sullenly. "But what of him?" pointing to Rodney, the ruffianly look still on his face. "The Englishman, I mane. Is he sure? It's a life for a life, afther all, when everything is towld."

"Tim," she says, "what have I ever done to you that you should seek to make me unhappy?"

"I have nothing to do with you. Go your ways. It is with him I have to settle," says the man, morosely.

"But I have to do with him," says Mona, distinctly.

At this, in spite of everything, Rodney laughs lightly, and, taking her hand in his draws it through his arm. There is love and trust and great content in his laugh.

"Eh!" says Ryan; while the man whom she has called Carthy—and who up to this time has appeared desirous of concealing himself from view—now presses forward and regards the two with lingering scrutiny.

"Why, what have you to do with her?" says Ryan, addressing Rodney, a gleam of something that savors of amusement showing itself even in his ill-favored face. For an Irishman, under all circumstances, dearly loves "a courting, a bon mot, and a broil."

"This much," says Rodney, laughing again; "I am going to marry her, with her leave."

"If that be so, she'll make you keep from splittin' on us," says the man. "So now go; we've work in hand tonight not fit for her eyes."

Mona shudders, and seeing further talk is useless, slips her hand into Rodney's, and leads him down the road.

But when they have turned a corner, and are quite out of sight and hearing, Rodney stops short, and says, hurriedly:

"Mona, can you manage to get home by some short way by yourself? Because I must return. I must stand by this man they are going to murder. I must indeed, darling. Forgive me that I desert you here and at such an hour, but I see you are safe in the country, and five minutes will take you to the farm, and I cannot let his life be taken without striking a blow for him."

POKING FUN!

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprises largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8.75, this is an all wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3 75 and a pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits really nice and lot of them $1.95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPAR'S, where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

PROFOUND LOVE OF PEACE

ANIMATES RUSSIA, BUT SHE IS PREPARING FOR DEFENCE.

The Muscovites Do Not Covet an Inch of German Territory But Will Not Cede an Inch of Their Own—Troops on the Frontier.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 3.—The Novoe Vremya publishes an article from a well known Russian military authority in which the writer charges The Militair Wochenblatt of Berlin with deceiving the German public regarding the positions of Russia and Germany and says an impartial and general elucidation of their true positions is desirable in the interests of the two nations. Continuing, he says:

"The only means of protecting Russia from German or Austrian attack is to increase the defensive power of Russian forts and the number of troops on the frontier and to expand the railway systems. From a military view there must not be regarded merely the narrow area of actually protected frontier, but the whole possible theatre of an eventual war. Russia must consider the territory from the western frontier to the Dwina and Dnieper, whereas Germany must guard her country from the Russian frontier to the middle course of the Elbe, including Berlin, while Austria must protect the territory extending to the middle course of the Danube, including Vienna and Pesth. The Invalide Russe correctly pointed out this view.

"Regarding the number of troops on the frontier, if the extent of area be considered, a comparison will give 16½ Austrian and German corps against 8½ Russian corps."

The Novoe Vremya prints details of the Russian frontier armaments and says:

"Russia does not covet an inch of German territory, but will not cede an inch of her own. Russia is animated by a profound love of peace. She will not conceal that she is preparing for defense. So long as Germany remains quiet she will not be menaced with attack from any quarter."

THE AUSTRO-GERMAN ALLIANCE.

Terms of the Treaty of 1879—A Purely Defensive Agreement.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—The Reichsanzeiger says: "Governments of Germany and Austria have decided to publish the treaty of alliance concluded between them on Oct. 7, 1879, in order to end the doubts entertained regardin the purely defensive intention of the treaty. Both Governments, actuated by a desire to maintain peace and to avert any disturbance of the tranquility of Europe, are convinced that the publication of the treaty will exclude further doubt."

Article I. stipulates that should either of the two countries be attacked by Russia each is pledged to assist the other with its entire military force and only to conclude peace upon such terms as both agree to accept.

Article II—Provides that should either country be attacked by any other power the other pledges itself not to support the aggressor.

Article III sets forth that the treaty being of a peaceful character shall, in order to prevent misinterpretation be kept secret or be communicated to a third power under the consent of the contracting parties.

Confidential Explanations.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—Prince Bismarck yesterday conferred with the leaders of the National Liberals, Centrists and Conservatives. He imparted to them confidential explanations on the political situation, which it would be inopportune to give in Parliament.

A Constant Exchange of Telegrams.

VIENNA, Feb. 3.—There is a constant exchange of telegrams between Count Kalnoky and Prince Bismarck. The Austrian army is completely provided with field guns, but is deficient in heavy siege ordnance, for which Krupp has probably received orders.

Russian Troops on the Frontier.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—The Kreuz Zeitung records fresh arrivals of Russian troops upon the Prussian frontier.

TOBACCO STOREHOUSES EMPTY.

The Supply Running Short—Excitement Among Kentucky Cultivators.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 3.—Heavy buyers of tobacco report great excitement in Kentucky. Every available foot of land is being engaged, and people are paying as high as $90 per acre rent for good fields. A representative of a New York tobacco firm says Spain has recently bought 4000 hogsheads of lugs in New York, which leaves her 1000 short of last year's requirements, with about 18,000 hogsheads for the wants of 1888. The New York warehouses are about empty. Louisville operators are making every effort to get all the dark grades in a few hands, and are credited with the purchase within a week of nearly all the stock in Paducah, Hopkinsville and Nashville.

An Unfortunate Village.

CORTLAND, O., Feb. 3.—Half the business portion of this village was burned yesterday. The loss cannot yet be estimated.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

A Woman Found Hanging to Her Cell Door in a Hamilton Police Station.

HAMILTON, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Mary Queen, alias Ellen King, arrested last night for drunkenness, attempted to commit suicide at the police station by hanging herself to her cell door with a portion of her underclothing. She was discovered in time to save her life. The woman is about 50 years of age and claims to be from Dundas.

The detectives have discovered that the silver napkin rings found upon George Woodruff were stolen from Mr. Hamilton of the Wesleyan Ladies' College. Mrs. Delanty claims the dress material, and Mr. Alison of the Alison House used to wear one of the hats.

There was a small fire at F. W. Hore & Son's hub and spoke factory this afternoon. It was caused by a pulley becoming overheated and igniting some shavings and dust that had accumulated on one of the joists. The damage was slight.

A train jumped the track near Princeton this morning. Nobody was seriously injured. The accident was caused by the side-rod of the engine breaking.

The Hamilton Street Car Company have recently introduced a stove in their cars in the shape of a small furnace under the centre of the floor, and the smoke is carried up in a small pipe to the top of the car.

The secretaries of the Young Men's Christian Association of the provinces of Quebec and Ontario began their session of conference yesterday at 2 o'clock. F. Loundale, General Secretary of Hamilton, was called to the chair. Alex. J. Weir of the Railroad Men's Christian Association of Toronto, was appointed secretary.

At the Police Court this morning Wm. Richter was fined $20 and costs for carrying a revolver.

In the matter of the free roads scheme it was decided at the meeting of the special committee of the County Council that the reeves should wait upon the Legislature with a view of obtaining legislation to empower the County Council to proceed in dealing with the road companies.

This afternoon Detective Reid arrested an elderly and apparently respectable man named George Smith for seducing Mary Elizabeth Oxley, a girl under sixteen years of age. The prisoner is a gardener residing on York-street near Caroline, and the girl lives on the same street near Bay. The arrest is made under the Charlton Act. Smith is 63 years old, and is said to have considerable means.

THOSE BURNED NOTES.

Wm. Selby Arraigned for Forgery—The Case of Compounding Before the Jury.

TORONTO, Feb. 4.

When Mr. Justice Falconbridge took his seat in the Criminal Assizes yesterday, the Grand Jury presented true bills against Wm. Selby in three different cases of forgery, the amount of the promissory notes being $4000, $1500 and $3000 respectively. Being arraigned he pleaded not guilty and was ready for trial. Crown Counsel Lount asked for a continuance until next Assizes, to which Mr. B. B. Osler, the prisoner's counsel, objected, but His Lordship ruled for the Crown. Mr. Robert Fleming, wholesale wood dealer, 11 Bloor-street west, and Mr. Samuel Frazer, builder, Davenport-road, gave their bonds for $1150 each that the accused would appear when wanted. Selby went out with his bondsmen.

His Lordship had a good word for the petit jurors in discharging them from attendance at court: "I have observed with satisfaction and pride your consideration of the cases brought before you, some of them the highest crimes known to the law. In the name of the country I thank you."

The Court adjourned until this forenoon, when prisoners will be sentenced.

The Grand Jury yesterday heard witnesses in the case against President Manning, Manager Strathy and Director Snelling, indicted for compounding a felony, and will report to-day, when the jury will also make its presentment.

Isidor Cohnfeld's Horses.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—No further steps have been taken in the case of Isidor Cohnfeld, late of New York and well known in Toronto, where he sojourned for a time, charged with entering a valuable team of horses at a figure below their real value. Cohnfeld asked for a decision from the Minister of Customs, and one was rendered, but he refused to sign it, and it still awaits his signature. Thirty days were allowed him from last week in which to make his defence, and at the end of that time, if Cohnfeld till refuses to accept the comparatively light sentence imposed upon him by the Minister of Customs, the horses, which are in a stable at Toronto, will be sold.

Driven to Desperation by Poverty.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—A chemist named Darby and his wife and six children have been found dead in their dwelling house at Manchester. Their death was caused by poison. They had been dead several days. The belief is that the man, driven to deperation by his inability to support his family, administered poison to them and then committed suicide.

Found Dead.

DELHI, Ont., Feb. 3.—Jeremiah Johnson, a young man living with his father, Christopher Johnson, about four miles east of here, was found dead this morning on the gravel road about a quarter of a mile from his house. He was sitting beside a tree with his head bent in the snow.

Crofters Convicted of Rioting.

EDINBURGH, Feb. 3.—Several crofters of the Island of Lewis, who have been on trial for rioting, have been convicted. Some of them were sentenced to a year's imprisonment, some to nine months and others to six.

The Dynamiters Sentenced.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Thos. Callan and Michael Harkins, charged with being connected with a dynamite conspiracy, were found guilty today and sentenced to fifteen years' penal servitude each.

Italian Troops Entrenching.

ROME, Feb. 3.—A despatch from Massowah says the Italian troops are actively entrenching. All are under canvas, including the commander. Abyssinian scouts are continually approaching the camp.

Death of an Authoress.

ROME, Feb. 3.—Miss Mary Howitt, the poetess and novelist, is dead.

It is not likely that the contract for the ocean mail service will be settled until there is a full meeting of Council after the return of the ministers at present in Washington.

THE LEGISLATIVE LULL.

THE HOUSE MANAGES TO KILL FIFTEEN MINUTES IN SESSION.

Gossip of the Lobbies—The Debt of Port Hope—The Bill Respecting Friendly Societies.

TORONTO, Feb. 4.

About half the members' seats were vacant in the Legislature yesterday afternoon. This made very little difference, for the House sat for but fifteen minutes. Many of the gentlemen from the rural parts are pining away for a debate, but the debate that they long for does not seem to come. The order of the day is short sessions and good pay.

Half a dozen important bills were sent up for a first reading. Among these were bills respecting the debenture debt of the town of Wingham (by the Treasurer) and one by Mr. Gibson (Hamilton) to amend the Division Court Act.

The Provincial Secretary laid on the table a return showing the regulations respecting Upper Canada College.

A message was received from the Lieutenant-Governor thanking the House for its address in reply to His Honor's speech at the opening of the House.

Around the Lobbies.

The finances of the town of Port Hope, it is reported, are not in any too robust a condition. In fact, they are in such a state that Mayor P. R. Randall and three or four of his councillors interviewed the Attorney-General and Treasurer Ross yesterday afternoon about them, in the hopes that the Government might do something to help the town out. The deputation was introduced by Mr. Craig.

None of the parties who were present at the conference seemed disposed to make public just what the deputation sought, but it is understood they wanted government relief of some kind in reducing their debt, and in making the application referred to the town of Cobourg as having been granted government assistance. The Treasurer pointed out that the Government held town debentures for any moneys that had been advanced to Cobourg. It is not likely that the Government will do anything in the matter.

Mr. J. Howard Hunter, Inspector of Insurance, has prepared an act respecting friendly societies and yesterday printed copies were circulated in the House. In a note prefacing the bill the Inspector says:

"Frequent representations have lately been made to the Government that legislation is necessary for the regulation of friendly societies in respect of their contracts of life and casualty insurance. At the request of the Attorney-General, and after several consultations with him, I have prepared the bill. This measure has not yet received the consideration of the Government; so that at present I alone am responsible for the provisions in the text, as well as for the opinions expressed in the notes.

"Numerous precedents for legislation on the subject of friendly societies are to be found in the Imperial Statutes at large, from Sir George Rose's Act of 1793 to the Consolidated Act of 1875, and thence to the latest amendment of the Consolidated Act in 1887. In Australia important enactments have been passed, modelled, here ever, too closely upon the Imperial Act of 1875, and repeating many of its defects. The legislatures throughout the United States have latterly been much occupied with friendly society insurance, and some have found it necessary to enact measures of great stringency.

"Our provincial law of friendly societies commenced with the Act 13-14 Vic., c. 32, passed by the old Parliament of Canada. This measure was recast by the Ontario statute of 1873-1, which as R.S.O. 1877, c. 167, amended by the statutes of 1878 and 1884, forms the present law of the Province. (R.S.O. 1887, c. 178).

The bill prepared by the Inspector is a lengthy one, freely interpolated with explanatory notes. He also says: "Suggestions will be cordially received."

The act interprets the associations which shall come within the scope of its workings in these words:

"Society," or "friendly society," means and includes any society, association, or fraternity, benevolent, mutual, provident, industrial, co-operative, or the like, which, not being within the intent of the Ontario Insurance Act, 1887, undertakes or effects for valuable consideration, or agrees, or offers so to undertake, or effect, with any person in the Province, any contract in the nature of partaking of life, accident, casualty, disability, sickness, or mortuary insurance or benefits; and any setting up of a sign or inscription containing the name of the society, or any distribution or publication of any proposal, circular, card, advertisement, printed form or like document in the name of the society, or any written or oral solicitation in the society's behalf, shall be deemed, "offering to undertake contracts" within the intent of this act: Provided that where a society is not organized exclusively for purposes of such contracts, then "society" means only that branch thereof which has such contracts in charge, and for purposes of such contracts there shall be kept distinct and separate funds, books, accounts and vouchers.

The act provides for the modes of registration, and says that any society that contracts for more than $2000 on life, or for endowment or tontine, or annuity upon life, shall be deemed an insurance company within the intent of the Ontario Insurance Act, also all proprietary or trading societies having under fifty members. Then follow minute provisions for carrying on the business of the societies, prevention of fraud, payment of policies, penalties, bankruptcies, etc.

IRISH LANDLORDS.

A Deputation Wait Upon Lord Salisbury and Ask for Compensation.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—A deputation of Irish landlords waited upon Lord Salisbury to-day and urged that they might be compensated for the losses they had suffered through recent legislation.

Lord Salisbury congratulated them that they had at last awakened to the importance of a unanimous and energetic policy of self-defence.

Reception to Lord Ripon And Mr. Morley.

DUBLIN, Feb. 3.—Lord Ripon and Mr. Morley were tendered a reception in Leinster Hall last evening. Among those present were Messrs. Davitt, Redmond, Healy, Plimsoll and a large number of Parnellite commoners. After the adoption of a resolution of welcome Lord Ripon addressed the meeting. In the course of his remarks His Lordship said Ireland had now the great party of England on her side, and the time was near at hand when her hopes would be crowned with success. He appealed to them not to allow violence to goad them to commit crime, which would be the foulest treason to the Irish cause.

Mr. Morley met with a warm reception. He arraigned the Government, and said its policy was a painful and cruel farce, and had utterly failed to discourage the commission of outrage. Both speakers briefly addressed overflow meetings outside the hall.

Mr. Cox's Exclusiveness.

DUBLIN, Feb. 3.—Mr. Cox refuses to mingle with the other prisoners. He expects to be moved to Tullamore.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

Suspected Murder of a Young Englishman Near New York City.

MONTREAL, Feb. 3.—Detective Baylis of this city has for some time been investigating into the cause of the mysterious disappearance in New York of the young man W. J. Wheeler, who arrived in this country about three months ago on a business trip for the firm of Wheeler Bros. of Birmingham, Eng. He first came to Montreal to visit Detective Baylis, a friend of his, and then proceeded to New York, where he transacted considerable business, and collected between $3000 and $4000, after which nothing has been heard of him.

Yesterday morning Detective Baylis received a telegram saying that what was supposed to be the missing man had been found in a shed five miles out of New York with his head smashed in with some blunt instrument, his nose broken and other marks of violence on different parts of his body. The pockets were all turned inside out, his diamond studs and a valuable gold watch were missing, and there was every appearance that the deceased had made a desperate fight for his life.

To further complicate matters, Detective Baylis received a telegram from Capt. Williams, Chief of Police, that a man came to town yesterday morning saying that he was Wheeler and had telegraphed to Baylis not to come to New York, but that he would come to Montreal. It is believed that this has simply been done as a blind. Baylis has no doubt from the description given by the detectives that the unfortunate man found is young Wheeler.

A Notorious Crook.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Dr. Hamilton, alias Gustavus Griffin, who achieved notoriety as a confidence operator in Toronto and Montreal as well as in this city, has been successfully playing his little game in Los Angeles, Cal., where, as manager of the alleged "Southern California Land Bureau," he induced the unwary to invest money in his wondrous wealth-producing schemes. At last accounts he had been arrested for embezzling about $1700, but through the eloquent pleading and copious tears of his wife had managed to secure bail for his future appearance in court.

A $1200 Blaze at Bowmanville.

BOWMANVILLE, Feb. 3.—Fire broke out about 7 o'clock to-night in the third flat of The Statesman block, occupied as a Masonic Hall, caused, it is thought, from the floor taking fire under the stove. St. John H. Hutchinson's law office on the second flat and The Canadian Statesman printing office, owned by M. A. James, on the ground floor were considerably damaged; loss $1200, covered by insurance.

Boy Thieves Unearthed in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—A large number of recent robberies in the vicinity of Wentworth-avenue and Twenty-ninth-street have been explained by the discovery of the headquarters of a gang of boy thieves under a sidewalk. Revolvers in great profusion hung about the papered walls, which were decorated with sensational prints. As the station the boys confessed to complicity in several robberies.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days as reported Dun, Wiman & Co., number, for the United States 247, and for Canada 32, or a total of 279, as compared with 317 last week and 314 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 261, made up of 220 failures in the United States and 32 in Canada.

The Daily Review.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1888.

It is to be deplored that so much produce which can be raised as well in Alberta as in any part of the world has to be imported into this country.—Calgary Herald.

Has not the Herald learned from the free traders and commercial unionists that the more people import the better it is for the country?

The London Advertiser says that the "Tory organs" announce in tones of jubilation that a large saving will be effected by having the voters' lists printed at Ottawa, while the Montreal Herald says that the "Tory" papers are murmuring and threatening because they will be printed at the Government office. It is a small subject that the Liberal organs cannot disagree about.

The Lindsay Post only credits the Peterborough County Council with having voted $500 to assist the Trent Navigation Association in gathering evidence regarding the waterway. The County granted $1,000 and the town another $1,000. The Victoria County Council did well, but Peterborough did better, as Lindsay is included in the County of Victoria.

Liberal papers in different parts of the Province are assailing the Globe in a lively manner, on account of its recent declaration in favor of absolute free trade, and the Globe retorts by saying that the opinions of the town and village Liberal papers are influenced by advertising patronage. The "most unkindest cut" is given to the Toronto organ by the Lindsay Post, which advises its Liberal contemporaries to let the Globe alone, as in a couple of months it will have dropped free trade and be advocating a different policy.

An anonymous correspondent of the Toronto Mail assails the members of the County Council who voted to elect the present Warden to that office. He quietly ignores the practice of the Council of considering the townships represented as well as the representatives in conferring the honor. The arguments of those who voted for the Warden, as well as of the Warden himself, was that his township was entitled to the honor this year, because it was some years since a Reeve of Asphodel had been chosen for the position and because the present Reeve of that township had been a member of the Council longer than any other Reeve who had not filled the chair. The real reason why the letter was written is shown by one member, the former representative of the East Riding in the Commons, being unfairly singled out from among the majority of the Council for a special attack.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

The unanimity with which the County Council voted $500 to aid in placing evidences before the Government Commission with refrence to the Trent Valley Canal question, demonstrates that they are fully alive to the importance of this waterway, and that the interests of their constituents demand its early competion. The question of cheap freights is a vital one to merchants, farmers and to people generally, and it is unquestionably true that under no circumstances can freight be carried by rail at the much lower rates that would be profitable by water. Apart from all this, railway amalgamation is practically destroying all competition by which alone fair rates can be secured. Long ago the government concluded that this canal was one of the necessities of Central Canada, but its construction was delayed for financial reasons. Now, however, the rapidly increasing productions of the Northwest requiring cheap transit to the sea board renders the completion of the work imperative. It will be the great trade arteries of a large group of counties which would feed it with a trade that could not otherwise exist, and these counties by united action will be able to convince the government that longer delay in completing this work is not in accord with the country's best interests.—Barrie Advance.

Croup, whooping cough, sore throat, sudden cold, and the lung troubles peculiar to children are easily controlled by promptly administering Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy is safe to take and certain in its action.

PRESENTATION.

Mr. Gallelly Receives an Address and Fur Gauntlets from St. Andrew's Choir.

The members of the choir of St. Andrew's Church showed their appreciation of the services of Mr. D. D. Gallelly, the late choir master, by assembling at his house on Thursday evening and presenting him with an address and a pair of handsome Persian lamb gauntlets prior to his departure for the Northwest. The presentation was made on behalf of the choir by Mr. A. Stewart, who also read the address, which was as follows:—

St. Andrew's Church Choir, Peterborough, to Mr. D. D. Gallelly.

DEAR MR. GALLELLY,—It is with feelings of profound regret that we, the members of the choir of St. Andrew's Church, have learned of your retirement from its leadership and intended departure from our midst. During the two years you have led us in the service of song in God's house, our relations have been most amicable, and we feel thet in losing you we lose a kind Christian friend. You have ever faithfully endeavoured to cultivate such talent as we possess for the songs of praise, so they might be rendered in harmony and with such reverence as would be acceptable to Him to whom our voices were raised. Before separating we trust you will accept from us the accompanying gift (a handsome pair of Persian lamb gauntlets) as a small token of our esteem, and with it also receive assurance of our best wishes for your future happiness and welfare in your new home.

Signed, on behalf of the choir,
A. STEWART.

Peterborough, Ont.,
February 2nd, 1888.

MR. GALLELLY made a feeling and appropriate reply, notwithstanding that the presentation was unexpected. The address brought to mind reminiscences of the many happy hours they had spent together during the past five years while practising the songs of Zion. As they were about to separate, it might be forever, emotion almost made utterance impossible. He thanked the choir for the handsome gift, and expressed how keenly he felt this expression of their kindness to him and how much he appreciated their services in the past in assisting him to render, to the best of his ability, acceptable praise to Him by whom all talents are bestowed. He referred to the many difficulties members of choirs had sometimes to meet and advised them never to heed unkind remarks thoughtlessly expressed, for the God whose praises they sung would reward them. He hoped that, though about to part, they would meet again where parting is unknown, where they would join the angelic choir in singing the praises of the Lord.

An oyster supper provided by the choir was partaken of, and a pleasant evening was spent with songs and music and pleasant conversation, closing with the singing of Auld Lang Syne, which was sung with feeling.

Y.M.C.A.

The Provincial Convention at Toronto—The Discussions.

TORONTO, Feb. 3, 1888.

Yesterday evening's session was opened by the Hon. John Macdonald, who gave an address of welcome. It was because of the work achieved by the associations on behalf of the needy that the citizens of Toronto welcomed the delegates. The first Convention was held in Toronto seventeen years ago in one of the Congregational Churches. Mr. Moody was present and spoke to delegates upon the text "To every man his work." The result of this Convention would be much good. Few if any prominent Christian workers but were converted before reaching the age of twenty-one. Therefore an impetus to the Associations meant permanent blessing to the city and to the land. Mr. S. Caldecott, President of the Toronto Y.M.C.A., followed by saying that the present conference was more important then any legislative assembly, because it sought to make public sentiment, while the latter could do nothing until public sentiment was formed. Attention was now being given in Toronto to the social methods which were contributing largely to success in the religious work.

Rev. H. M. Parsons, of Toronto, gave an address upon the "Anointing for Service," which produced a deep impression upon all present. Attractiveness in methods of work must be followed by aggressiveness of work.

About ten different three minute speeches followed upon the benefits derived by different classes of young men from Association work. Mr. J. A. Sinclair, of Queen's, and representatives from Toronto and McGill spoke for those in colleges, and others testified to the help received by young men on railroads, in small towns and cities.

This morning's session opened with a Bible reading on the "Love of God" by the Rev. J. K. Unsworth, B. A., of Paris; Mr. Abner Kingman, of Montreal, presided. Mr. C. Falconer's paper on how to teach the young men in busines colleges and collegiate institutes was read by Mr. F. Williams of Brockville.

Mr. C. S. Gzowski, jr., read the report of the Executive Provincial Committee and Mr. J. J. Gartshore the Treasurer's report. Changes had occurred in the Secretaryship at Kingston and Peterborough and one employed again at Port Hope. No travelling Secretary had been employed, but the work of visitation had been carried on by the District chairman and the Executive Committee. $1,000 had been raised and expended, a small balance remaining in the Treasury. A committee of the leading members was appointed to consider and report upon the report. Mr. John Orchard, lately of London, England, now of Toronto, presented an intrusely interesting paper upon Bible study. To attain is highest influence the Bible class must so help its members that they shall attain to the highest position intellectually, socially and spiritually. In every association more attention should be given to Bible study than anything else. A live discussion then ensued.

Mr. John McDougall, from McGill University, of Montreal, opened with a short speech, the topic being the influence of the Y. M. C. A. upon college life.

The first topic of the afternoon was the place that should be given to boy's work. Papers were read by D. W. Corbett, of Montreal, upon the religious phase, and by Mr. Kelly, of Hamilton, upon the secular. A discussion followed each.

The address of the afternoon was a missionary Bible reading upon "The signs of the times as bearing upon the Foreign Missionary Question." On the platform were seated Mr. Geo. A. Hall, State Secretary, New York, and Mr. John R. Squire, Secretary Y. M. C. A., Buffalo. There are about 150 delegates present and the discussions and papers are highly satisfactory to all. Messrs. H. T. Williams and Claus Olandt, of the International Committee, are also in attendance at the convention.

To-night the Convention will meet in the Association Hall, and an effort is being made to secure an address from Mayor Clarke.

Tariff Tolls on the St. Lawrence Canals—Applications to Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—To-morrow's Canada Gazette will contain the return of George Frederick Baird for Queen's, N.B.

An order-in-council has been passed amending the order-in-council of June 23, 1883, establishing tariff tolls on the St. Lawrence canals, under which iron was charged 15 cents per ton, while steel, not being specially named, came under the general clause of "all other articles not enumerated," and paid 20 cents per ton. The rate is now made uniform on both iron and steel at 15 cents per ton.

A circular letter from the Secretary of State for the Colonies will appear in to-morrow's Gazette, containing an Imperial order-in-council proclamation respecting the new coinage of sixpences, and also a circular containing a copy of an order-in-council extending the Foreign Deserters' Act of 1852 to the Republic of Paraguay.

Government notices will appear to-morrow of the establishment of lights at South River and at Southeast Bay, Lake Nipissing, and of the discontinuance of range lights at Lachine.

The following notices of application to Parliament are given: by the Chignecto Marine Transport Company for extension of time; by Thomas Greig, for a charter to build a railway from Montreal to Toronto via Ottawa; by the Vaudreuil and Prescott Railway Company, for extension of time for completing road, etc.; by the Central Railway Company, for an act confirming (1) the purchase by them of the St. Martins and Upham Railway and branch to Rourke's Mill, (2) the issue by the Central Railway Company of bonds or debentures and a mortgage to secure the same, dated Nov. 5, 1887, made by the Central Railway Company to the Central Trust Company of New York, recorded in St. Johns, Kings and Queens Counties, and (3) an alteration in the charter of the company so as to entitle each shareholder to as many votes as he has shares; by the Port Arthur, Duluth and Western Railway Company, incorporated by the Ontario Legislature, for an act declaring the railway to be a work for the general benefit of Canada and of Dominion incorporation, with power to connect at the boundary line with the Duluth and Iron Range Railway Company; by the Stanstead, Shefford and Chambly Railway Company for amendments to the charter authorizing a reduction of stock, the lease, sale or amalgamation of road, etc.; by the Grand Trunk Railway Company for power to re-arrange its share capital and issue additional 4 per cent. consolidated debentures for the redemption of bonds, etc., bringing a higher rate of interest; by John S. Hall, jr., for an act to incorporate the Grenville International Bridge Company, to construct and work a railway bridge across the River St. Lawrence, at or near the town of Prescott or some other point in the County of Grenville, to or near the city of Ogdensburg in the State of New York.

Kingsmill, Cattanach & Symons give notice that the Federal Bank of Canada will apply to the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada at its next session for an act to enable the bank to close or wind up its business and to confer any powers that may be considered necessary for this purpose or for any matter involved in such winding up.

The following banks give notice of semi-annual dividend: La Banque Du Peuple, 3 per cent., payable March 5; People's Bank of Halifax, 2½ per cent., payable March 1.

The annual meeting of La Banque Du Peuple will be held in Montreal on March 5, and of the Union Bank of Halifax on March 14.

Notice is given of a special general meeting of the shareholders of the Federal Bank on March 20, to confirm the agreement with assisting banks and to authorize winding up the affairs of the bank.

The Prescott County Railway gives notice of a meeting at Ottawa on Feb. 14 for the election of directors, etc.

Notice is given of a special general meeting of the St. Catharines and Niagara Central Railway Company in St. Catharines on March 12 for the purpose of ratifying certain agreements entered into by the Board of Directors, and for rescinding a certain resolution passed at the annual meeting of shareholders on Jan. 23 last regarding the issue of the stock.

Letters patent of incorporation have been issued to the Shuniah Manufacturing Land and Development Company; capital $25,000.

Notice is given of application for letters patent incorporating the Chatham Navigation Company; capital $45,000; headquarters Chatham, Ont.

Edward Lyman Goold, Wm. Henry Shepley, Wm. Henry Knowles, Lizzie Hamilton Goold and Helen Goold, all of Brantford, give notice of application for letters patent incorporating the Goold Bicycle Company; capital $20,000; headquarters Brantford.

$8 Worth of Experience.

A farmer rushed into the police station this afternoon, shaking like a leaf and looking for an officer. When asked if it was anything particular he replied, "Well, you see a coon up in an hotel yard just now beat me out of $8, with three shells and a pea, and I want to get my money back." It may be remarked that the sheel man still has the money and the farmer has $9 worth of experience.

For Assault.

Edward O'Brien, a laborer was before the Police Magistrate this morning on a charge of assault preferred against him by his wife Mary O'Brien. Ned got on one of his old time sprees on Friday, and after going home he raised a tremendous row, knocking his wife down and scratching her face. Officer Pidgeon was summened and placed his man in limbo. At the court the charge was proven and Ned was sent up for one month with hard labor.

Personal.

The Port Hope Times says:—"The engagement of Mr. A. v. Hugel to Miss Anna B. Wright, daughter of George W. Wright, Esq., of 'Pine Hill,' Duxbury and Dartmouth-sts., Boston, has been announced in New York and Boston. Mr. Hugel's host of friends in Port Hope and throughout Ontario will be pleased to extend to him their warmest congratulations and good wishes. Mr. Hugel when President of the Midland Railway made a large circle of friends amongst the most prominent men of the Province, and these will join the citizens of Port Hope, who have the kindest feeling towards him as a citizen and Mayor (one of the best the town ever had), in this extension of courtesies."

"IT'S ALL RIGHT"

So Say the G. T. R. Engineers About the New Bridge.

The new bridge across the river, a short distance above the locks, built for carrying Grand Trunk trains, was tested this morning by the Divisional Engineer and his staff, and everything found satisfactory and according to contract.

As is well known to nearly all of our readers, the Grand Trunk Railway Company decided some years ago to build a line from their main track, branching off near the stove works, to the old Grand Junction track, on the Ashburnham side of the river, stricking that line, at or near what is commonly known as Downer's Corner. This bridge is a part of that scheme and to-day it was formally opened for traffic.

The bridge, which was made and put up by the Hamilton Bridge Company, of Hamilton, Ont., is what is known as a steel plate girder bridge, said to be the strongest made. It consists of three spans two of 86 feet each, and one of 126 feet. The latter on the Peterborough side is a "swing," to permit the passage of steamers up and down the river, and it works so easily that a child can operate it. Mr. J. W. Maddigan had charge of placing the iron work in position and he has made a good job of it.

Shortly after 11 o'clock this morning engines No. 602, Engineer Thomas Mimms and fireman John Stovey, and No. 608, engineer P. Logue and fireman R. O'Hagan, started away from the depot, drawing the "suburban parlor car," under charge of Conductor John Steen. Among those on board were Messrs. Hay and Somerville of the Engineer's department, Station Master Brundrett, Bridge Inspector Tivey, Chief Train Despatcher Stephens, "Special Artist" Roy and the newspaper men.

At the bridge it was found that the trackla.yers were just finishing their work, under Road Master McNabb, Bridge Foreman Rear and Chief Engineer Macklin. In a few minutes all was ready and the first train drawn by two locomotives and shoving a loaded box car in advance crossed the bridge at a moderate rate of speed.

The engineer's staff had their instruments in position and the train was backed over again. Then a full head of steam was put on and the passage over made in a few seconds. Then the ponderous locomotives were stopped over each span. All the tests were of the most satisfactory kind and the train was then faced for the starting point, which was reached just about the noon hour.

The new line is about two miles in length and will save passenger trains going east about 15 minutes each way, while freight trains will save 30 minutes. The total cost of the bridge, abutments, swing and all is estimated at about $25,000. Regular train s will commence to cross on Monday next.

Masonic Notes.

—At the regular meeting of Peterborough Lodge No. 155, held on Friday evening, the presentation of three handsome "tracing boards" was formally made to the Lodge by Bro. D. Spence. The handsome and valuable gift was received with a unanimous vote of thanks, after which brethren referred in complimentary terms to Bro. Spence's zeal and activity in the interest of Masonry.

—On Wednesday evening, Feb. 7th, an entertainment will be given in the Masonic Hall, to which all brethren are invited. The programme will include glees, songs and choruses, by a musical committee, and an essay on "Freemasonry," to be read by W Bro. Millar, of Lorne Lodge, Omemee. The entertainment will be of great interest and will no doubt be largely attended by the craft generally.

—It has been placed on the slate, but the date not definitely fixed. An "At Home" will be given in the Masonic Hall, and an energetic committee have the details in hand. Members of the order will invite friends, and it is expected that the "At Home" will prove the social success that always follows an effort made by members of the craft.

—W. Bro. J. R. Ormand, of Winnipeg, an old member of Peterborough Lodge, was present on Friday evening and took a seat in the east.

Visiting Oddfellows.

Communications were received this morning from Prof. J. L. Duer, of Ohio, at present in Port Hope, and from the Secretaries of Lindsay and Norwood Lodges, stating that they will visit Otonabee Lodge on Monday evening. Prof. Duer has a wide reputation as an instructor in Oddfellow floor work. He will give an exhibition on Monday evening, when the entire work will be exemplified. Every Oddfellow in Peterborough should make a point of being present and witnessing the work.

A New Dodge.

As there has been information given me that parties representing other photographers are going through the country making statements that our prices are above $3 per dozen for cabinet pictures, we hereby contradict such untruths. The public may feel perfectly secure and not be led into paying money for a privilege that everyone may enjoy at Sproule's Studio, Hunter street, Peterborough. This is a guarantee without the 25. 1d29-1w5.

Stands in the Front Rank.

The Ottawa Citizen says: "To a voice capable of great modulation, Mr. Belford adds a thorough knowledge of the art of which he is so clever an exponent. As an entertainer he stands in the first rank, and of his talents it is almost impossible to say too much." Opera House, Peterborough, Thursday evening, Feb. 9th. 1d29

Photography.

Mr. R. M. Roy, of the Grand Trunk, is an amateur photographer who possesses considerable skill. He has recently obtained some fine views of Niagara Falls and the ice bridge. On Friday he had his camera at the races on the Little Lake and he used it with good effect. This morning he secured a couple of views, showing the first train on the new Grand Trunk Railway bridge.

The Coming Social.

A social, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's Church, will be held on Tuesday evening, Feb. 7th, at the residence of Mrs. Adam Hall, London-st. A good programme has been provided. Refreshments will be served. Admission 25cts. All are cordially invited. 2d29

SPEEDING THE FLIERS.

TENTH ANNUAL ICE RACES ON THE LITTLE LAKE.

The Second and last day of the Meeting—The Local Horses Show up Well in the Prize List—An Enormous Attendance of Spectators.

Friday was the second and last day of the tenth annual ice races on the Little Lake. The weather was simply grand and the number of spectators is estimated at fully three thousand.

Messrs. Williams and Sawers were in the judge's stand again, but Mr. Alex. Graham took the place of Mr. Jos. J. Daly, who retired on the ground that he was interested in some of the flyers. Messrs. English and Croft bet ween them held three watches and when not keeping their eyes on the second hands they kept them on "Soapy Bob," who was simply "advertising."

The old difficulty of keeping the track clear presented itself as strong as ever and it is a wonder that the fleet horses did not injure some person. However, everything passed off without any incidents or accidents worth recording. The crowd was a good natured one indeed and cross words or rows were unknown.

As will be seen by the summary of the various races the Peterborough horses secured a fair share of the prizes in spite of the stiff opposition from some of the outsiders, and it was shown that some of our fliers are able to hold their own in good company.

NAMED RACE.

The first called was the named race and five horses trotted up to the starter. They were "Jerry," "Jonathan F," "Little Willie," "Lady B" and "Royal Dick." All of them are local horses, at least they are owned in this or neighboring counties. The rivalry among the owners was of the keenest description and considerable money must have changed hands as a result. "Jonathan F." of Fenelon Falls was the favorite, but the result showed that the knowing ones had made a mistake that time. The horses got off well together, "Dick" taking first place for a few rods. Then "Lady B" found that she was wanted to go and she responded by trotting to the front in elegant style, with the Fenelon Falls horse second, three lengths behind the leader, and Jerry half a length behind number two, with the others nowhere. Time 2.47.

"Willie" started with the lead in the second heat with "Lady B." close behind, and the other three bunched. Before the half mile was covered, "Lady B." had again got to the front, with the Pettit's pacer second and "Dick" third, and these positions were maintained to the finis h Time, 2.44.

The third heat decided the race. "Jonathan" shoved in front as soon as "go" was heard, with "Lady B." on his wheel and "Jerry" pacing a good third, while the others were close behind. At the quarter "Jerry" was second and "Lady B." third. At the half "Dick" showed a great burst of speed and for a hundred yards or so he held the lead, but just as the horses swung into the homestretch he broke badly and was left behind. "Lady B." came in first, "Jerry" second and "Jonathan" third. Time 2.50.

SUMMARY.

Named race. Purse $60, divided—First horse $35, second horse $15, and third horse $10. Mile heats, best three in five.

Time, 2.47, 2.44 and 2.50.

THE 2.45 CLASS.

For this race four horses entered and started. As was expected "Sleepy Dan" got to the front, with "F.O.P." a very good second. "Lapidist Chief" surprised every one by his excellent performance, while "Blue Jean" never was in the race at all. "Sleepy Dan," captured the heats in one, two, three order, winning the first by about a dozen lengths, the second by one and the third and last from "Lapidist Chief" by a little over a length.

SUMMARY.

2.45 class. Purse $100, divided—First horse $60, second horse $25, third horse $15. Mile heats, best three out of five.

| M. Lawson, Brighton, "Blue Jean" | 4 | 4 | 4 |

Time 2.47, 2.37½ and 2.39½.

THE OPEN RACE.

This was undoubtedly the race of the day and although the winner scored a win in three straights she was compelled to make the fastest time ever made in Peterborough, to do the trick. "Mayflower" never was in better trim, and McEwan her driver thought she was fit to trot in .35. "Royal Jim" was also feeling good and he did some fine work. "Willie W." Daly's "sidewheeler" acted ugly, but at times he skipped along at a .20 clip and made every person open their eyes by the rapid manner in which he closed up gaps as the horses came along the homestretch. "Mayflower" got three firsts, coming in from half a length to ten lengths ahead. The best time was 2.30. The race does not need any description as the summary fully tells the tale.

SUMMARY.

Free for all race. Purse $125, divided—First horse $75, second horse $30, third horse $20. Mile heats, best three in five.

|---|---|---|---|
| W. McCrea, Beaverton, "Mayflower" | 1 | 1 | 1 |
| F. J. Daly, Peterborough, "Willie W." | 2 | 3 | 2 |
| W. Clancy, Peterborough, "Royal Jim" | 3 | 2 | 3 |
| W. Brigg, Kingston, "Johnny B" | 4 | 4 | 4 |

Time 2.35; 2.31½ and 2.30.

TRACKLETS.

The management of the races certainly deserve the thanks of the public.

Already another meeting is talked of to take place here within a month.

Most of the foreign horses left town to-day, but some will remain here until the Lindsay races.

Something New.

Prizes to the value of about $100 are offered to be competed for at the carnival on Feb. 14th. The list comprises a desert china tea set mounted in silver frame, hand painted plaque with clock, toilet set in gold tricycle, oil painting of the winner in costume by Mr. T. Workman, perfume toilet set on silver tray and a pair of bronze statues of the fifteenth century, all for ladies; and a solid gold scarf pin, volume of humorous essays, the Boy's Own Annual, pair of live fowl of fancy breed, a student's lamp, and a silk handkerchief, fo gentlemen and boys. A keen competition for these prizes may be expected.

A Ducking.

Mr. R. Tivey, of the Grand Trunk staff, was up at Lakefield on Friday, prospecting for a good site for a wharf. He managed to break through the ice in several places and did not find bottom until he was submerged to his neck. He relished a dry suit of clothes as soon as one could be procured.

Otonabee Lodge at Home.

In all probability the "At Home" to be given by Otonabee Lodge will take place next Friday evening, the 10th inst., in their commodious rooms. The date will be definitely settled at the meeting on Monday evening.

Called Home.

Mr. Jacobs, of Montreal, the well known horse buyer, arrived in town yesterday morning on business. During the day he received a telegram from home stating that one of his sons was lying seriously ill. He left for home on the night express.

Brevities.

—Considerable snow fell to-day. It will not do any harm in town.

—The Fire Brigade Band furnished music at the skating rink last evening.

—The weather last evening was somewhat cooler than it has been for a week or more.

—The Cobourg Sentinel-Star says that a by-law to stop boys hanging on sleighs is very needful.

—Among the passengers on the first train over the new Grand Trunk bridge, to-day was a young lady.

—We are informed that the ice gathering industry just now gives employment to upwards of one hundred men.

—A man with an old time "sweat board" did a rushing trade at the races on Friday afternoon.

—Mr. James Delaney, son of Mr. John Delaney, is home on a visit. "Jim" is now located in British Columbia.

—There was a large crowd of farmers in town to-day and business appeared to be pretty brisk in all lines.

—Repeal votes on the Scott Act will take place in Simcoe and Renfrew counties on the 15th of April.

—The attendance of both sellers and buyers on the market this morning was large and considerable money changed hands.

—The Lindsay races will take place on Tuesday and Wednesday next. A large number of sports from here will attend.

—Mr. Johnny Newhall has withdrawn his fine trotter "Gladstone" from the ice for a time. He cut himself at the races here on Thursday.

—Remember the meeting of the Young Men's Conservative Club and the discussion on commercial union on Tuesday evening.

—The County Council of Northumberland and Durham has granted the sum of $20 towards brushing out the road across Rice Lake.

—The police were not called on to make a single arrest during the races, something remarkable, when we take into account the large number who were in town.

—A gentleman on the market was looking for a beaver gauntlet this morning. He found it in a farmer's sleigh where he had dropped it.

—Quite a number of our young people took in the Lakefield carnival last night. They report having had lots of fun.

—The promoters of the winter races at Port Hope have not given up and will get up a guarantee subscription list.

—The Lindsay school board wants tenders for a Collegiate Institute building. Here is another chance for Peterborough's enterprising builders.

—The old project of building a line of railway from Peterborough to Bobcaygeon and thence to Fenelon Falls, is being brought prominently before the public once more, by the proposal to open up and operate the Chemong Lake road.

—It is agreed on all hands that the races just finished were the best ever took place in Peterborough. There was not the slightest suspicion of crookedness and each race was for blood and the general impression is that the best horses won in each event.

—A list of members of the Port Hope curling club was posted up at the rink marked "paid" and "unpaid." All who attended the carnival had an opportunity of seeing it and indignation among the delinquents is the result.

—Several players from Bobcaygeon, Campbellford and other neighboring places were at the curling rink last night and took a hand in some of the friendly games in progress. The 'Cayeon players soon get tired unless things are livened up every few minutes with a blood curdling yell or two.

—Lindsay is agitated over the case of a man named Hugh Graham, who was sent to that town from one of the shanties near Kinmount while suffering from diphtheria. The Board of health instructed the Sanitary Inspector to take proceedings against the medical practitioner or other person or persons who permitted him to travel while ill with the disease.

A Famous Doctor

Once said that the secret of good health consisted in keeping the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. Had this eminent physician lived in our day, and known the merits of Ayer's Pills as an aperient, he would certainly have recommended them, as so many of his distinguished successors are doing.

The celebrated Dr. Farnsworth, of Norwich, Conn., recommends Ayer's Pills as the best of all remedies for "Intermittent Fevers."

Dr. I. B. Fowler, of Bridgeport, Conn., says: "Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."

Dr. Mayhew, of New Bedford, Mass., says: "Having prescribed many thousands of Ayer's Pills, in my practice, I can unhesitatingly pronounce them the best cathartic in use."

The Massachusetts State Assayer, Dr. A. A. Hayes, certifies: "I have made a careful analysis of Ayer's Pills. They contain the active principles of well-known drugs, isolated from inert matter, which plan is, chemically speaking, of great importance to their usefulness. It insures activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. Ayer's Pills contain no metallic or mineral substance, but the virtues of vegetable remedies in skillful combination."

Ayer's Pills,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Dealers in Medicine.

THE JANUARY STATEMENT

A RISING REVENUE AND A FALLING EXPENDITURE.

An Exceedingly Satisfactory Exhibit—Little Comfort for the Croakers—The Public Debt—Expenditure on Capital Account—Notices from The Gazette.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—The statement of revenue and expenditure for the month of January is as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Customs | $1,517,448 |
| Excise | 626,578 |
| Postoffice | 267,051 |
| Public works, including railways | 330,142 |
| Miscellaneous | 64,421 |
| Revenue for January, 1888 | $2,681,640 |
| Revenue to Dec. 31, 1887 | $17,340,429 |
| Total | $20,022,069 |
| Expenditure for January, 1888 | $ 4,960,872 |
| Expenditure to Dec 31 | 15,098,081 |

This statement shown a deficit of $36,890. It must be remembered, however, that the half-yearly subsidies to the provinces, amounting to $2,250,000, are paid in advance on Jan. 1 and that January is also one of the heaviest months for interest, nearly $1,500,000 being payable in that month.

Compared with the first seven months of the last two fiscal years the statement is exceedingly satisfactory, the revenue showing an increase of $236,658 over 1886-'87 and $2,682,535 over 1885-'86, while the expenditure shows a decrease of $164,625 from 1886-'87 and of $2,418,662 from 1885-'86. Or, to put it in another way, instead of a deficit of $788,372 which appeared at the end of January, 1887, and of $5,137,388 at the end of January, 1886, there is at the end of January, 1888, only a deficit of $36,890, which will be more than counterbalanced by the excess of revenue over expenditure in the current month.

The croakers will get little comfort out of this exhibit of a rising revenue and a falling expenditure.

Comparing the first seven months of the fiscal year with the same period last year, the following increases are shown: Excise $286,903, postoffice $94,780, miscellaneous $118,027. Customs show a decrease of $32,105 and public works of $180,836.

The statement of the public debt for January shows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Gross debt | $276,374,987 83 |
| Assets | 46,346,371 09 |
| Net debt | 230,028,616 77 |

The increase during the month is $2,608,709.25. The expenditure on capital account during the seven months has been:

| | |
|---|---|
| Public works, railways and canals | $1,681,186 |
| Dominion lands | 52,102 |
| Railway subsidies | 755,226 |
| North-west rebellion losses | 325,012 |

A meeting of Council was held from 12 to 2 to-day, at which it is understood that some matters were discussed which were to be considered by the Fisheries Commission in Washington this afternoon. The general impression is pretty strong that the Commissioners will reach a satisfactory settlement, and that it will be reached in the course of three or four days.

The Minister of Customs is about issuing general instructions to collectors of customs with reference to the proper methods of treating dutiable goods when coming into the Dominion by the parcel post service, shortly to be inaugurated between Canada and the United States. The intention of these instructions is chiefly aimed at facilitating the transaction of that business with a view to the accommodation and convenience of the public to the greatest possible extent.

A deputation from the [illegible] Harbor Board waited on Sir Hector Langevin, Minister of Public Works, to-day asking the Government to further assist the Harbor Commissioners in improving the harbor of Three Rivers. The minister promised that the matter should receive attention.

The experimental farm is just now the scene of considerable activity in testing the vitality of samples of seed wheat sent in by farmers for experiment. The practical benefit of this to a farmer is illustrated by the result of one test of frozen wheat which was intended for use for seed purposes next year. The test established the fact that not more than fifty per cent. of it would ever have sprouted.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"And can you think I was content to let him die?" says Mona, reproachfully. "No! There is a chance for him still, and I can lead you by a cross-path to the Ballavacky road, by which he must come, and, if we overtake him before he reaches that spot, we can save his life. Come; do not delay!" excitedly.

She turns through a broken gap into a plowed field, and breaks into a quick run, rushing on like a light-footed deer, on over high banks, across stiles—still on, lightly and swiftly, without faintness or despondency, or any other feeling but a passionate determination to save a man's life.

Rodney's breath is coming more quickly, and he is conscious of a desire to stop and pull himself together—if only for a minute—before bracing himself for a second effort. But to Mona, with her fresh and perfect health, and lithe and lissome body, and all the rich young blood that surges upward in her veins, excitement serves but to make her more elastic; and with her mind strung to its highest pitch, and her hot Irish blood aflame, she runs easily onward, until at length the road is reached that is her goal.

Springing upon the bank that skirts the road on one side, she raises her hands to her head, and listens with all her might for the sound of wheels in the distance. But all is still.

Oh, if they should be too late! But hark! What is that greets her ear?—The ring of horses' feet upon the quiet road!

The girl clasps her hands passionately, and turns her eyes on Rodney.

"Mona, it is—it must be he!" says Geoffrey, taking her hand; and so they both stand, almost breathless, on the high bank, listening intently.

Now they can hear the sound of wheels; and presently a light tax-cart swings round the corner, drawn by a large, bony bay mare, and in which sits a heavy-looking, elderly man, in a light overcoat.

"Mr. Maxwell! Mr. Maxwell!" cries Mona, as he approaches them; and the heavy man drawing up, looks round at her with keen surprise, bending his head a little forward, as though the better to pierce the gloom.

"Miss Scully, is it you?" he says, at length; "and here at this hour?"

"Go back to Bantry," says Mona, not heeding his evident surprise, "at once—now. Do not delay. There are those waiting for you on the Tullymore road who will take your life. I have run all this way to warn you. Oh, go back, while there is yet time!"

"Do you mean that they want to shoot me?" says Maxwell, in a hurried tone.

"Yes, I know it! Oh, do not wait to ask questions, but go. Even now they may have suspected my purpose, and may be coming here to prevent your ever returning."

"But who are they? and where?" demands the agent, completely taken aback.

"I can tell you no more; I will not; and you must never ask me. It is enough that I speak the truth, and that I have been able to save your life."

"How can I thank you?" says Maxwell, "for all——"

"Some other day you can do that. Now go," says Mona, imperiously, waving her hand.

But Maxwell still lingers, looking first at her, and then very intently at her companion.

"It is late," he says. "You should be at home, child. Who am I, that you should do me so great a service?" Then, turning quietly to Rodney, "I have not the pleasure of your acquaintance, sir," he says, gravely; "but I entreat you to take Miss Scully safely back to the Farm without delay."

"You may depend upon me," says Rodney, lifting his hat, and respecting the elder man's care for the well-being of his beloved, even in the midst of his own immediate danger. Then, in another moment, Maxwell has turned his horse's head, and is soon out of sight.

The whole scene is at an end. A life has been saved. And they too, Mona and Geoffrey, are once more alone beneath the "earnest stars."

"Take me down," says Mona, wearily, turning to her lover, as the last faint ring of the horses' feet dies out on the breeze.

"You are tired," says he, tenderly.

"A little, now it is all over. Yet I must make great haste homeward. Uncle Brian will be uneasy about me if he discovers my absence, though he knew I was going to the Bay. Come, we must hurry."

So in silence, but hand in hand, they move back through the dewy meads, meeting no one until they reach the little wooden gate that leads to her home.

Mona lays her hand on Geoffrey's arm. "Promise me you will not go back to Coolnagurtheen to-night?" she says, earnestly. "At the inn, down in the village, they will give you a bed."

"But, my dearest, why? There is not the slightest danger now, and—and my horse is a good one, and I shan't be any time getting——"

"I won't hear of it!" says Mona, interrupting him vehemently. "You would have to go up that road again," with a strong shudder. "I shall not go in-doors until you give me your honor you will stay in the village to-night."

Seeing the poor child's terrible fear and anxiety, and that she is completely overwrought, he gives way, and lets her have the desired promise.

"Now that is good of you," she says, gratefully, and then, as he stoops to kiss her, she throws her arms around his neck and bursts into tears.

"You are worn out, my love, my sweetheart," says Geoffrey, very tenderly, speaking to her as though she is in years the child that, in her soul, she truly is. "Come, Mona, you will not cry on this night of others that has made me yours, and you mine! If this thought made you as happy as it makes me, you could not cry. Now lift your head, and let me look at you. There! you have given yourself to me, darling, and there is a good life, I trust, before us; so let us dwell on that, and forget all minor evils. Together we can defy trouble."

"Yes, that is a thought to dry all tears," she says, very sweetly, checking her sobs and raising her face, on which is dawning an adorable smile. Then, sighing heavily—a sigh of utter exhaustion—"You have done me good," she says. "I shall sleep now, and you, my dearest, will be safe. Good-night, until to-morrow!"

"How many hours there are in the night that we never count!" says Geoffrey, impatiently. "Good-night, Mona! To-morrow's dawn I shall call my dearest friend."

POKING FUN!

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprises largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8.75, this is an all wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3 75 and a pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits really nice and lot of them $1.95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all Xmas Goods at ⅓ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPAR'S, where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

SHEPPARD

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

TORONTO TOPICS.

In the Criminal Assize Court this morning the grand jury returned three true bills against William Selby for the forging and uttering of three promissory notes for $4000, $1500 and $3000 respectively. He was at once arraigned and pleaded not guilty on each indictment, and said he was ready for trial.

Mr. J. L. Lewis of Toronto was yesterday appointed registrar of the Council of the College of Pharmacy.

At an adjourned meeting of the creditors of W. J. Macmaster & Co., held yesterday, a statement was presented showing the liabilities of the firm to be $217,409.76, and assets $193,190.92.

In the case of Janes v. Kerr in the Chancery Division Court yesterday, Mr. J. K. Kerr, Q.C., was ordered to accept sixty-three shares of Central Bank stock in part payment of some property purchased by the plaintiff from the defendant, according to an agreement made previous to the failure of the bank. The defendant was also ordered to pay the costs of the action.

The annual meeting of the Dominion Live Stock Association was held at Toronto yesterday afternoon in St. Lawrence Hall, Toronto. Mr. John Dunn was elected president.

The jury that convicted Gamble of murder state they signed no such document as published yesterday. Lawyer Murdoch handed them a typo written document, from which the copy in The World was taken, and requested the jurors to put their names to it. This they individually and collectively refused to do, because the document represented that they were of opinion that Gamble had only assisted in or contributed towards the committing of an abortion, whereas the jury had expressed no such opinion. Foreman W. J. Lowden says that the jury was unanimous in its verdict of guilty of murder, but they added a rider recommending the prisoner to the mercy of the court. Beyond this they expressed no opinion whatever. They feel satisfied they returned a just verdict, and they are strengthened in that belief by the remark of Mr. Justice Falconbridge when dismissing them, that he thought they had done justice in every case they had determined during the Assize.

THE EVE OF HOSTILITIES.

RUSSIA HOLDS THE KEY TO THE SITUATION.

Unless Her Present Menacing Attitude is Abandoned Armed Strife Must Ensue—Significance of the Publication of the Austro-German Treaty.

BERLIN, Feb. 5.—While the semi-official press affects to regard the publication of the Austro-German treaty as having a pacific intent, official and diplomatic circles know that its real aim is to force the Czar to an immediate war or compel him to submit to terms for a permanent peace dictated by the allies. The substance of the treaty has long been known to both the Russian and French Governments. At the time of its inception at the conference between Prince Bismarck and Count Andrassy at Gastein in August, 1879, confidential disclosures stating the character of the compact were made by Prince Bismarck to the Czar as an inducement to break off negotiations for a Russo-French alliance. The day after the treaty was signed Prince Bismarck made a personal communication of the fact to both the French and Russian ambassadors, withholding only the exact terms of the treaty. The publication reveals nothing to any European Government.

Before disclosing it to the people the step was anxiously and repeatedly discussed by Prince Bismarck, Count Kalnoky and Herr von Tisza. The Austrian Ministerial Council, the Emperor presiding, consented to the publication of the treaty only last week upon urgent representations from Prince Bismarck that the time was opportune. Its appearance at the present juncture recalls the utterance of Prince Bismarck when he was reproached in the Reichstag for refusing to submit to that body certain diplomatic correspondence: "Once a Government determines to publish important documents," he said, "matters should have gone so far that nothing but war is likely to be the outcome of the situation." By the light of this memorable statement the immense significance of the publication of the treaty at the present crisis will be seen. It is the step which precedes an ultimatum. If Russia continues to arm and push forward masses of troops menacing the strategic points on the frontiers, and if the pending negotiations for an offensive and defensive alliance with France should succeed, the central powers will not wait the convenience of the French and Russian Governments to declare war. The crisis therefore nears a climax. Prince Bismarck, in his speech in the Reichstag on Monday, may place a peaceful interpretation upon the motives of the publication of the treaty, but nothing he can say is expected to lessen the strain of the situation. The Czar must give practical assurances of peace or abide by an early war, and judging by all that is known of his character and the ministerial influences now dominating him, the Czar will not yield.

Count Schouvaloff, the Russian Ambassador to Germany, is in St. Petersburg attending the annual court. He will return to Berlin to-morrow and will see Prince Bismarck before the meeting of the Reichstag on Monday.

The debate on the Military Bill will be brief. All the great parties have agreed to mark their sense of the situation by disposing of the measure without delay.

The Kreuz Zeitung records fresh army movements on the frontier. The fort works at Kuvno are completed. Twelve forts connected by earthworks will protect the concentration of a force of 250,000 men designed, according to The Kreuz Zeitung, to operate against East Prussia.

Russia continues its negotiations for a 23,000,000 loan in Paris and Amsterdam, and is reported to be on the eve of success. The buying of Russian securities on the Boerse for investment has entirely ceased, American railroad securities of the best kinds taking their places.

Italy's Military Expenditure.

ROME, Feb. 5.—In the debate on the Budget in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, Signor Crispi, the Prime Minister, said that in the present condition of Europe it was impossible for Italy to reduce her military expenditure. It was impossible to maintain peace, he declared, if the army and navy were not strong enough to persuade those who might think otherwise that peace can be compelled if necessary.

They Look for War.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The Cabinet Council, in preparing the Queen's speech, deliberated for a long time on the terms in which it would be best to convey their references to foreign affairs, and to England's attitude toward the European situation. Lord Salisbury, previous to the meeting of the Cabinet, had an interview on international matters in Central and Eastern Europe with the German Ambassador to the court of St. James, and is understood to have learned from him that the new position in which Prince Bismarck finds himself placed by the peculiar conduct of Russia is a very critical one. Peace, it is understood, is dependent solely on the Czar, who has surrendered himself to the influences of the military party, and submitted his political movements completely to their control; so that the prospect of a perservation of peace is very slight, indeed. The Cabinet took this interpretation of the war scare into deliberation, and finally agreed to make the Speech from the Throne announce that although the existing aspect of continental Europe gives just cause of alarm for the stability of amicable relations the Queen is hopeful that peace may be preserved. Whatever may happen, the address will assure parliament that England will maintain an attitude of the strictest neutrality.

Russia Wishes to Attack Nobody.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 5.—The newspapers here discuss the Austro-German treaty tranquilly. Most of them aver that Russia is equally desirous of peace and wishes to attack nobody.

AUSTRIA AND GERMANY.

Comments of the Press on the Treaty of Alliance.

VIENNA, Feb. 5.—The Fremdenblatt says that the publication of the treaty of alliance will produce everywhere the conviction that our policy has a pacific and conservative tendency, which will always be maintained. It will decisively show that the policy of Austria and Germany in the grouping of the powers is of high and unmistakable importance and that the duration of the treaty is absolutely secured.

The Extrablatt says: "The publication of the treaty is calculated to be eminently effective for the preservation of peace. If the publication fails to accomplish the object designed war will be inevitable."

The Neue Freie Presse says it fears that no change in the present political situation will be effected by the publication of the treaty.

The Allgemine Zeitung says the publication constitutes the final admonition to Russia to stop in the path whereon she has entered.

THREE CHILDREN MURDERED.

The Horrible Crime of a Colored Boy in Georgia.

EASTMAN, Ga., Feb. 5.—Hubbard Harrell, a colored boy 10 years old, was made drunk near here yesterday, and going to the home of his brother-in-law, James Pope, killed three children. Filling a large kettle, used for washing hogs with boiling water, Harrell induced one of the children to entirely undress, after which he suddenly tripped the little fellow up and landed him in the kettle, where he was boiled alive. The next child resisted, but Harrell felled her to the ground with an iron bar, and while she was still insensible threw her into the caldron. The remaining child was the youngest of the trio, and picking it up by the ankles Harrell was beating its head against a tree, when, attracted by its cries, the parents appeared and the young murderer fled. The little one's skull was so badly fractured, however, that death resulted last night.

Singular Accident at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Feb. 5.—Early this morning Robert Taylor, a boy in the employ of the Pioneer co-operative store, was driving a horse attached to a delivery sleigh and became entangled in an electric light wire which was lying on the ground. The boy received a violent shock and the horse was instantly killed. Isaac Moulton of Detroit, a Michigan Central Railway porter, happened to be passing and went to the boy's assistance, and supposing the horse had only slipped, he tried to raise the animal. In so doing he touched the wire and was instantly killed.

The Pullman Co's Rumored New Field.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—The Times to-day says: "There are many rumors current about coming developments in regard to the Pullman Palace Car Co. When sifted down these point to an intention on the part of the managers to enter the field as providers of motive power, and it is understood that in a few weeks the construction of an immense plant for the manufacture of locomotives will be begun."

Charged With Assault.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Mayor Kildare Burrowes was charged in court to-day with assaulting Lord Howard De Walden. Mayor Burrowes stated that Lord De Walden, while drunk, tried to force his way into his wife's room and that in the fight that ensued between De Walden and himself the former was hurt. Burrowes was remanded.

To Condemn the Coercion Laws.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Sir William Vernon Harcourt will open the attack on the Government when Parliament meets, by offering an amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech, condemning the enforcement of the coercion laws.

The Melvin Smith Case.

MONTREAL, Feb. 5.—Melvin Smith, who has been detained in the common jail for several months on a capias upon a judgment for $80,000 in favor of his wife, regained his liberty yesterday morning on the payment of $20,000.

The Troops Fire on Striking Miners.

MADRID, Feb. 5.—A despatch from Huelva state that yesterday a mob of Rio Linto miners, now on strike, being ordered to disperse, refused to do so, and was fired on by the troops. Several are reported to have been killed and five wounded.

Germany's Invalids.

BERLIN, Feb. 5.—The Emperor and Empress are now in health. The Emperor gives prolonged audiences daily and entertains nightly. The better prospects of the Crown Prince have caused a revival of the gayeties of Palace society.

Declares The Claims Absurd.

DUBLIN, Feb. 5.—The Freeman's Journal declares that the claims of the Irish landlords are absurd, and that their plans for compensation for the losses they have suffered in consequence of recent legislation cannot be carried out.

The Pope's Jubilee.

ROME, Feb. 5.—The Pope's jubilee was celebrated at the American College to-day with a solemn high mass of thanksgiving and the singing of the Te Deum. The Archbishop of Philadelphia officiated.

An Agricultural Teacher Wanted.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Commissioner Colman has received an official request from the Chief Secretary of Queensland to recommend to the Government of that colony a suitable person for employment as instructor of agriculture.

Italy's Little War.

ROME, Feb. 5.—Massowah advices state that the Balloon Corps have arrived at Saati to join the Italian forces. Work on the defences at Saati are being rapidly pushed, and munitions and victuals are being stored.

ANOTHER DAY OF RIOTING.

MEN AND BOYS STONED AND BEATEN BY THE MOB.

Shenandoah's Striking Miners Again Resort to Violence—A Battle Between Police and Rioters in Which Two Officers are Wounded.

SHENANDOAH, Feb. 5.—The riot of Friday night was renewed last evening. While the sheriff was absent at the county seat the Poles were open in expressing their intention to stop the Kehley Run colliery from doing any work, and warning that they would suffer from the coal and iron police had no effect on them. Towards 3 o'clock they began to gather on the small circus grounds south of Kehley Run colliery, on the surrounding hillside and in all the streets, alleys and yards of the vicinity. By 5 o'clock when the Gap bell rang the signal to quit work there were fully 3000 men, women and children congregated in waiting for the workmen. Not all of these were Poles, but those in the front rank were, and armed with revolvers, clubs and stones they impatiently looked for the coming of the Kehley Run employes.

The breaker boys were the first to quit work and start for home. It was not thought by the mine managers that the mob would molest these mere boys, but it was bad judgment, for they kicked, stoned and beat them as though they had been responsible adults. A few men who braved the mob also met the same fate, and it soon became evident that if the rioters were to be checked at all it must be by the authority of the coal and iron police and cold lead. Suddenly the coal and iron men to the number of twenty-two formed on the flat at a distance of about fifty yards below the breaker, in the very front of the howling mob, who continued to pelt them with stones. As they formed company front with drawn revolvers, heavy and self-cocking weapons, the mob recoiled and stood at bay.

The conservative part of the crowd, that which was only there as spectators, drew back to a safe distance. The Poles, however, still remained in the foreground, waiting for a move on the part of the officers. The latter, at a command from their leader, made a wheel to the left and marched off along the pike road leading to the east and toward the Red Bridge. The Poles slowly followed for a while in the rear under the leadership of a big brawny individual, who flourished a large revolver and seemed determined to use it. The platoon of officers marched on up the slight elevation of the road, which, as it rose, formed an embankment for the Lehigh Valley Road. As they neared the top of the road they were suddenly fired on by a few Poles who had crept along under the shadow of the bank. One of the officers, Oscar Wilman, fell with an ugly wound in the inner part of the left thigh. The physician called has not been able to find the bullet. Officer Blucker received a bullet-wound in the shoulder.

The police then turned and fired repeatedly in the direction of the mob, but without hitting anyone as far as known. The mob returned the fire with vigor, but drew back at the same time. The officers marched off again along the railroad through the bridge and down to Indian Ridge Breaker, where they are quartered in the offices. Part of the mob followed and besieged them there but made no attack. The officers have their carbines there and the Poles seem to have a wholesome fear of the sixteen-shooters.

Nothing has occurred to break the peace of the Sabbath here.

Fatally Shot.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 5.—As was feared, a collision occurred last evening between the non-union men at the Solar Iron Works and the strikers, in which three persons were injured, one, a 16-year-old lad named Joseph Keane, is thought, being fatally shot.

THREE RIBS BROKEN.

An Old Man Dies from the Effects of His Injuries at Bedford.

KINGSTON, Feb. 5.—A report from Bedford states that an old man named James McKeener was murdered on Jan. 24. He was 80 years of age and had for thirty years resided in the locality. He left his home to cut wood on Mr. Colter's farm. On the way he entered a place where whisky is sold, and, after becoming intoxicated, he slept for several hours. On awakening he heard a row up-stairs and went to witness it. He was struck in the side and thrown to the foot of the stairs, and rendered insensible. Three of his ribs were broken. After regaining consciousness he started for home, but fell exhausted. On being carried to his house he died.

Six Children Burned.

COLUMBIA, S.C., Feb. 5.—The six children of Lester Singletary, a colored man of Clarendon County, were burned to death Thursday night. The parents locked them up in the house about 7 o'clock, and went off to a negro church where a religious revival was in progress. During their absence the house caught fire and was burned to the ground, the six children perishing in the flames.

CUSTOMS SEIZURES.

Several Packages of Books Taken at Montreal—Smuggling Detected at Halifax.

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—Appraiser Andrews has seized at Montreal a number of packages of books which were concealed in two cases of goods which happened to be sent to the examining warehouse.

The Collector of Customs at Halifax reports a seizure of some goods landed by a sailor on board the steamer Mina on her return from New York. A clear case of smuggling has been proved and the usual penalties will be imposed.

It is understood the Vice-Regal party have intimated their intention of attending the Hunter-Crossley revival services in the Dominion Methodist Church some evening during the present week. The interest in the work seems unabated. Sir John and Lady Macdonald have been frequently present at the services.

A BROKEN FROG.

Three Persons Killed in an Accident on the N.Y., P. & O.R.

JAMESTOWN, N.Y., Feb. 5.—This morning the New York express on the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio Railway met with a serious accident at Steambury, resulting fatally to one passenger, Miss Hattie Abbott, aged 17, and to a conductor and brakeman. Eleven persons were injured, one probably fatally. The accident was caused by the breaking of a frog.

Rolled Down an Embankment.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 5.—As the down train from Presque Isle on the New Brunswick Railway was rounding Tobique Point Saturday morning the wheel of one of the passenger coaches broke and the car rolled down an embankment seventy-five feet high. There were six passengers, five of whom received slight injuries. Brakeman Webb had one of his legs and an arm badly burnt.

Fatal Collision in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—The "workmen's" train, which usually carries about a thousand of the employes of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company's shops, collided with an empty box car standing on the east-bound track of that company's road near Western-avenue last evening resulting in the instant death of an employe named Riley. Riley was standing on the rear footboard of the locomotive, and, it is presumed, was hurled under the cars by the force of the collision.

A Woman Torn by an Enraged Lion.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—At the conclusion of a performance at Lowry's Music Hall in Dublin last night, Mlle. Senide, one of the performers, placed her head in a lion's mouth for the purpose of having her photograph taken in that position. A sudden flash of light caused the beast to close his jaws, and rush growling to the corner of his cage, dragging his helpless victim with him. Then he shook the girl violently, tearing her bare breast with his claws. The attendants at once sprang toward the cage and attacked the lion with irons and finally succeeded in beating him off. Mlle. Senide's injuries are not of a serious nature.

Bootless Burglaries at London, Ont.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Burglars tried their hands on several establishments here during Friday night or yesterday morning. The wholesale shoe store of Sterling Bros., York street, was entered and a batch of fine shoes selected, but the operators had evidently been alarmed as they dropped their booty in the yard and made no attempt on the safe. Reid Bros.' wholesale stationery house in Clarence-street was visited and an attempt made to drill a hole in the safe, but here they failed to finish their job and took nothing away. Burglars' tools were found in the rear of John Marshall & Co.'s warehouse, Dundas-street, yesterday morning where the back door had been bored through and opened, but nothing is missed from this establishment.

Glengarry Contested Election.

CORNWALL, Feb. 5.—Judge McMahon opened court yesterday morning in the Purcell case, and Messrs. Purcell, Kennedy and Vanier were present. Mr. D. B. MacLennan, Q.C., represented the defendants, Mr. E. H. Tiffany of Alexandria, the private prosecution and Mr. Dingwall the crown. His Honor postponed the case until March 16, pending the decision of the Supreme Court in the six months' matter, and bound the accused over in $500 each to appear on March 16 next in Cornwall.

The Article Was True.

MONTREAL, Feb. 5.—In the Superior Court yesterday morning, in the case of McLeish v. The Witness, for $10,000 damages claimed for stating in that paper that McLeish's place at Elmwood Grove was a disgrace to the neighborhood by its drunken summer orgies, the jury held that the article was true and was published for the public benefit and for the maintenance of good order, so a verdict was returned for the defendant on all issues, with costs against the plaintiff.

Fire at Chatham.

CHATHAM, Feb. 5.—Fire started about 10 o'clock last night in a house occupied by R. A. Chrystler and belonging to the estate of J. Rolls, loss about $600, insurance not known.

AN AWFUL DEATH RATE.

The Panama Canal Company has other difficulties besides that of raising money to meet in the work of constructing the canal. Sickness and death are rife and the death rate among the laborers engaged on the construction of the ditch is appalling. Large hospitals have been constructed, at a cost of $3,000,000, yet the work of death goes on and the harvest of lifeless bodies is continually being gathered.

Laborers who are taken to Panama to work on the canal are selected on the principle that insurance companies select their risks. Only the hardiest and those most likely to withstand the deadly climate are chosen by the employers, but, notwithstanding that, the number who survive for any length of time are comparatively very few. The company does not publish the facts relating to this part of the work, but the truth comes out occasionally by other means.

A company of Liberians who were engaged on the work have, the New York Times says, applied to the United States consul for assistance, and they state that of 1,000 who reached the Isthmus in April last, 389 have succumbed to the deadly influences. This is an annual death rate of 539 in the thousand.

The canal, if completed, will have to be of great value to pay for the immense sums of money that have been expended upon it and the large number of lives that have been sacrficed in its construction.

United States papers are discussing the proper mode of spelling Dakota. The Boston Transcript spells it "Blizzard Land."

The elections held since the general election for representation in the House of Commons have resulted as follows:—Conservatives elected, 16; Liberals, 2; Conservative gains, 4; Liberal gains, 0. The Conservatives have made a gain of eight on a division.

The United States has a good sized army of pensioners. The German standing army numbers 445,000 men and on a peace footing costs $84,000,000 a year. The pension list of the United States contains 407,000 names and costs the country $80,000,000.

The Globe assailed by the press of its own party, Liberal papers quoting and even praising the Mail, and the latter paper made the vehicle by which letters written by Liberals are conveyed to the public, are of the amusing things to be seen just now by those who stand outside and look on.

A correspondent of the Millbrook Reporter, writing from Lindsay, says that the Trent Valley Canal would be one of the best and most important waterways on the continent, and that if there would be sufficient water a cost of even ten million dollars should not be a hindrance. The only doubt in his mind is as to the sufficiency of water, and that will doubtless be removed by the work of the Commission. He points out that lumbermen on the northern streams procure enough water for their purposes by regulating the flow, but it does not seem to have occurred to him that the Government could by the same means keep up the level in the canals.

KINMOUNT.

At a Standstill.—The Bancroft railway is at a stand still and some law suits are threatened between the high contracting parties. It is to be greatly regretted that among those parties some arrangement is not arrived at by which the wages due to those who have been working on the line should be paid.

Forest Produce.—There is an enormous quantity of forest produce being got out this season. The forest fires of last summer has been one of the causes of increasing production. There is, too, an increased demand for tan bark. The tie business is also flourishing, and the production will be immense. The prices continue unchanged 16c. for hemlock and tamarack and 19 for cedar. Those who have cedar can, at those prices, make a good deal of money by converting it into ties.—Independent.

SIX HOURS ON THE STAND.

MR. CAMPBELL'S LENGTHY EXAMINATION ON SATURDAY.

Unraveling the Mysteries Which Surround the Wreck of the Central Bank—D. Mitchell McDonald's Account at the Plundered Institution—More To-day.

Toronto, Feb. 6.

For six hours on Saturday, subtracting one which was devoted to lunch, Mr. Foster subjected the impeached liquidator of the Central Bank to a close scrutiny. The examination, adjourned from the afternoon before, commenced at 11 o'clock, and Mr. Campbell had to stand the rapid fire which counsel for the liquidators brought to bear on him until 6 o'clock.

Liquidator Howland was present, as was also Mr. Lye, the accountant, who has been engaged at the bank in running down various scents he has been put on. Mr. James Maclennan, Q.C., was in front of the witness box to watch proceedings for Mr. Campbell on account of Mr. Bain's being unable to attend.

The Master-in-Ordinary opened the proceedings by announcing that Mr. Foster's examination of Friday, the scope of which had been questioned by Mr. Maclennan, was no wider than what the affidavit admitted of. Indeed the width of the affidavit would justify a more extended examination by Mr. Foster than was made on Friday.

The Master requested Mr. Campbell, on the latter's entry into the witness box, to explain again the particulars of the $24,000 loan of the Bank of Commerce. Mr. Campbell did so.

After these preliminaries Mr. Campbell said: If you will allow me I will make an explanation in regard to the alleged conversation between Mr. Orde and myself regarding the issue of the 50's. I saw Mr. Orde this morning and asked him if such a conversation took place and he said there had. I asked him what took place and he said—

Mr. Foster objected to the statements of a third party being taken as evidence.

Mr. Maclennan said that Mr. Campbell should be heard. Perhaps Mr. Campbell was going to say that his memory was refreshed by his conversation with Mr. Orde.

Mr. Campbell: No, Mr. Maclennan, I wasn't going to say that.

The Master ruled the objection valid.

Mr. Campbell asked permission to explain about the renewals he made reference to on Friday, and leave was given. He explained: The renewals were all for small amounts and I always received money in part payment from the parties. I was benefiting the position of the bank in reference to the matter, and I considered it very desirable to reduce the indebtedness to the bank in this way. I therefore took every possible opportunity to accept money on these notes. In reference to the subject of my not reporting the matter to my co-liquidators, they were not always there, and if they had looked in the books at any time they would have got the information for themselves. Also in reference to the question of the 50's, in addition to the 25 which I deposited in the Quebec Bank I received 22 more.

A number of accounts were then examined into and the mode of their closing questioned. Those on pages 611, 915, 385, 454, 945, 618, in No. 1 ledger and 645, 961, 855, in No. 2 ledger were turned up and Mr. Campbell was asked to explain how they were closed. The peculiarity of all of these accounts was, that on the day before they were closed a certain sum of money was shown by the books to stand to their credit and the account was closed without any money being drawn out—so Mr. Campbell says.

For instance: On Nov. 26 David Blain had, apparently, $22,000 standing to his credit. On Nov. 27 the account was closed and Mr. Campbell says Mr. Blain did not draw out a cent. Another had $3055 standing to his credit on Dec. 2 and on Dec. 3 the account was closed without any money being drawn. Mr. Campbell says it must have been done by notes maturing on those days being charged to the accounts of all of these parties. That was the only explanation he could offer.

With reference to a number of accounts which had been assigned to different banks at the time of the suspension by those having balances to their credit at the Central Bank, Mr. Campbell stated that as soon as he found it out he prevented it being done. He did not think there was anything particularly wrong about those assignments. It was only making these banks creditors instead of private individuals. Still he did not give anyone permission to make transfers. What were made were made without his permission. He did not tell the other liquidators about these assignments, as he did not think it necessary.

Mr. Foster asked what amount of cash was in the treasury on Dec. 2. When about fifteen minutes was consumed in searching the cash book and ledger, it was found that there was a discrepancy of $34,500 between the bank account and Mr. Campbell's account. This was accounted for by Mr. Campbell's stating that past due bills were carried as cash.

The examination of Mr. Campbell will be resumed this morning at 10 o'clock.

Accident on the N. & N.W.

Bracebridge, Feb. 5.—On the Northern and Pacific Junction Railway Division of the Northern and Northwestern Railway yesterday afternoon, while the regular passenger train was proceeding north, the two rear passenger coaches left the track eight miles north of here and went down an embankment. Fortunately no lives were lost, but the passengers were badly shaken up and five seriously injured. The accident was caused by one of the coach wheels breaking.

The Fugitive Yankee Schooner.

Gloucester, Mass., Feb. 5.—The schooner Arthur D. Story, the vessel that the Canadian officials have given orders to seize whenever found on account of an alleged breach of the customs regulations, arrived here yesterday morning. Capt. Ryan says that he gave Mr. MacCasey, an official who does all the business for the fishermen at the Halifax Custom House, the money to report.

TRACK TALK.

The sixty horses that raced in the colors of Mr. J. B. Higgin last season earned a total of $101,752.

Mr. Michael Dwyer has had a pleasant trip in Europe. He will purchase several yearlings at Lexington in May.

Mr. Pierre Lorillard, Jr., will try hard to win turf honors during the coming season. His horses will be seen at all the legitimate race tracks.

Capt. Sam Brown, of Pittsburg, hopes to have Blue Wing ready for the Brooklyn Jockey Club handicap. Blue Wing will be a hard horse to beat.

California will have a strong contingent of speedy horses in the east this year. The Baldwin and Haggin stables will, of course, be the most formidable.

A. G. McCampbell, of Louisville, who has been so successful on eastern as well as western race tracks, claims the name of Gladaga for his 3-year-old filly by Onondaga-Gladiola.

REVIEWS.

Harpers Magazine for February is a capital number. Nothing is wanted to complete the always admirable features present in this magazine from month to month. It has, in this issue, an interest peculiarly Canadian, for the old city of Quebec is the subject of an historical and beautifully illustrated paper by Mr. C. H. Farnam. Those who have visited the city will read it with interest. "Ship railways," ancient and modern, throws some light on the mechanical resources of the Greeks and Romans, and treats of the system of carrying ships across the land. "Socialism in London," is a careful review of the situation in the British capital so far as the doings of socialists are concerned. It is well and strikingly illustrated. "The American Shipping Interest" is discussed by Osborne Howes, Jun. He opposes the proposition that steamship lines should be subsidized. "Hyderabad and Golconda" are two famous cities recently visited by the Rev. John F. Hurst, D. D., who has described his experiences in a graphic manner in the article under this name, beautifully illustrated. Mr. Howells's sketch of life in a Swiss pension for a month or so appears under the title of "A little Swiss Sojourn." There is some amusing personality in it. The "Easy Chair" and "Study" are well sustained departments and full of interesting comment.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

COBOURG.

County Council.—At the County Council Mr. J. W. Johnston was appointed a trustee for the Campbellford school. The following commissioners to act as overseers of bridges were appointed:—Hastings, Mr. H. M. Fowlds; Campbellford, Mr. C. L. Owen; Wallace Point, Mr. T. M. Willan; Allan's, Mr. Fred Macoun. Twenty dollars was granted towards brushing Rice Lake for the safety of public travel on the ice during the winter time. Mr. Ferguson, of Cavan, obtained a grant of $200 to be expended in repairing the boundary bridge between Cavan and North Monaghan, opposite the 13th con. of Cavan, providing the County of Peterborough appropriate a similar amount. A memorial was passed asking the Ontario Government to place in the estimates for the ensuing year a sum sufficient to purchase the toll gates in Northumberland and Durham and throw them open to free travel. It was resolved to take steps to erect a new iron bridge as soon as possible at Hastings. It is proposed to erect the piers this year and the superstructure next year. A committee was appointed to procure plans and specifications and to ascertain the cost.

I. O. O. F.

There will doubtless be a large turnou of Oddfellows at the regular meeting of Otonabee Lodge No. 13, this evening, when Prof. Duer will be present and show the brethren of the three links something about floor work.

Entertainment.

The Auburn Council Royal Temlars of Temperance will hold a musical and literary entertainment in the Auburn church on the evening of Tuesday, Feb. 7th. A good programme of songs, dialogues, readings etc., will be provided. 6d23

Evangelistic.

A series of very successful revival meetings have been conducted during the last week, and will be continued during the present, in the Baptist Church, by the Rev. P. C. Parker, the pastor, assisted by the Rev. Joel Rettick, of Denver, Col.

With the Freedom of an Actor.

The Toronto Mail says:—"Mr. Belford embodies the characters he represents with the freedom of an actor, and takes away the restraint that always accompanies the mere reader." Hear Mr. Belford at the Opera House, Peterborough, on Thursday evening, Feb. 9th. 1d30

For Lindsay.

The Lindsay races take place to-morrow and Wednesday. The purses are liberal and some good sport is looked for. "Sleepy Dan," "Royal Jim" and "Willie W" went up on Saturday evening and will take part in the races. A large number of persons from Peterborough will probably go up to see the sport.

The Bears Came Out.

Mr. Hugh Boyle, of Marmora, is the owner of two bears, says the Belleville Intelligencer, that have their den under his barn. About the seventh of November last they went into winter quarters, living we suppose by sucking their paws. On Candlemas day they came out and looking around saw their shadow, which appeared to disgust them, as they refused anything to eat and retired to their den again, which shows that they knew something about the weather.

Dr. Barnardo's Work.

A cable despatch to the Toronto Empire says:—"Dr. Bernardo is preparing his season's emigration work. He intends to take out two hundred boys to Canada in March, fifty of whom will be placed in the new Industrial Farm in Manitoba. These fifty are picked lads, each over 17 years of age. The doctor is confident of the success of his enterprise and is already inundated with requests for farm hands from settlers, but is determined that each youth must undergo one year's training on the Industrial Farm."

The New Bridge.

The regular Grand Trunk trains commenced to run over the new bridge this morning and some slight changes have been made in the time table. The train for Lakefield not leaves at 12.20 p. m. each day and arrives at 4.05 p. m. The Grand Junction trains leave at 7.45 a. m. and 2 p. m. and arrive at 10.05 a. m. and 7.25 p. m. The new structure is the first of the kind ever erected in Canada and is one of the safest bridges made. The first steam riveting done in the Dominion was done at this bridge. The same company expect to erect the new bridge at Hastings in the spring. It will be on the same principle as this one and will have three girders and a swing The work here was done in seven weeks fifteen men having been brought here from Hamilton. Mr. Maddigan, the efficient Superintendent of construction, had charge of the job.

For Winnipeg.

Mr. D. D. Gallelly leaves on Wednesday for Winnipeg, his future home. His many friends will join with us in wishing him success.

In Town.

Mr. H. H. Smith, Dominion Lands Commissioner, Winnipeg, an ex-Mayor of Peterborough, is in town, renewing old acquaintance. He is enjoying the best of health and will remain here for a few days.

Finished.

Mr. J. W. Maddigan, Superintendent of construction for the Hamilton Bridge Company, leaves for home to-day, the job here having been completed and handed over to the G. T. R. company.

Coming Cases.

Police Magistrate Dumble will have three Scott Act cases, all second offences, and three disorderly cases for trial to-morrow morning. There were no cases on the docket this morning and the officials had a rest.

Board of Education.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education takes place at the Institute at 7.45 to-morrow evening. We understood that the matter of county pupils attending our Institute will receive some attention.

The Coming Social.

A social, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's Church, will be held on Tuesday evening, Feb. 7th, at the residence of Mrs. Adam Hall, London-st. A good programme has been provided. Refreshments will be served. Admission 25cts. All are cordially invited. 3d29

Another Meeting.

Owing to the fact that some of the Directors elected at the annual meeting of the West Riding Agricultural Society were not eligible to hold office, it has been found necessary to hold another meeting to comply with the provisions of the statute. It will take place at the old Music Hall, at one o'clock p. m., on the 25th of February.

New Organist.

Mr. W. H. Dingle, late of the Royal Conservatory of Music, Leipzig, Germany, the new organist of the George-st. Church, presided at the organ of that church for the first time on Sunday and made a favorable impression by the manner in which he executed the music. Mr. Dingle will teach music at Mr. W. Lee's, George-st. north.

Blocked By Snow.

On Saturday, at the township of North Monaghan, on the gravel road, ten loads of wood and four loads of hay were observed all at the same place, unable to proceed any further on account of the drifted condition of the road. That individual so frequently referred to, the oldest inhabitant, never saw the roads drifted so badly before.

Conservative Meeting.

A regular meeting of the Young Men's Conservative Association will be held in the club room, over Mr. Stethem's store, tomorrow evening, when the discussion of commercial union, introduced at the last meeting by Mr. Burnham, will be continued. All Conservatives young men should be present, and older Conservatives will be welcomed.

Recovered.

On Sunday five boxes of the cigars stolen from Mr. W. J. Minore, some weeks ago, were recovered by Officer Adams. They were found in the loft of a shed on Alymer street, on the premises formerly used as a yard by the Queen's Hotel. A boy found them and informed the police. Of course, there is no clue whatever as to who placed them where they were discovered.

Disorderly.

On Saturday night several attempts were made to drive through the ranks of the Salvation Army, but the timely appearance of the police had a soothing effect and no harm was done. Some loud yelling was indulged in by several toughs, near the market square, but the police did not happen to be on hand soon enough or the chances are that the Police Magistrate would have had something to do this morning.

A Purchase.

Mr. O. C. Rowse, the enterprising dry goods merchant, has purchased from Mr. Geo. A. Cox the two desirable lots on the corner of Rubidge and Charlotte-sts. We understand Mr. Rowse intends erecting two handsome residences on them in the spring. We congratulate Mr. Rowse on his purchase, as these lots are among the choicest in town.

Curling Rates.

The Lakefield curlers on Saturday sent down to the Protestant Home the sack of flour they lost here on Thursday.

The draws for the 13 point medal are not all played off yet. The games for the juvenile medal are also in progress.

On Friday evening a game was played for a sack of flour for the Protestant Home, between two rinks composed as follows:—

| | |
|---|---|
| D. Belleghem | S. Clegg |
| J. D. Baptie | G. Walker |
| C. McGill | R. S. Davidson |
| Adam Hall, skip 16 | W. G. Ferguson, s'p 20 |

Level Headed.

At the last meeting of the Brantford City Council, the following resolution was passed and we are inclined to think that the great majority of our readers will agree that the council of the Telephone City is level headed in this respect, at least: "That, in the opinion of this council, the system of bonusing manufacturing and other enterprises by municipalities is pernicious as a principle, and ought to be abated," and a committee was appointed to "formulate a petition to the Legislature of Ontario now in session, praying for the repeal of that portion of the Municipal Act giving such powers."

The Winners of Prizes.

The costly prizes offered by the Canton to be competed for at the carnival on the evening of St. Valentine's day will be given to the following:—Best representation of any of the Queens of England, best dressed court lady, best fancy costume, best dressed girl aged 14 or under in fancy costume, best dressed girl aged 14 or under in comic costume, best representation of any of the Kings of England, best dressed gentleman in Highland costume, best dressed gentleman in fancy costume, best dressed gentleman in comic costume, best dressed boy in fancy costume, best dressed boy in comic costume, winner of barrel race and winner of boys' race. In which of these classes will you compete?

The Bill.

The total cost of the new Grand Trunk bridge was about $70,000. The iron work alone cost $25,000.

Personal.

Mr. Chas. S. Shaw, of Peterborough, will sing "The Gallants of England," by A. Scott Gatty, at Christ Church concert in Belleville on Thursday.

Frozen.

The water supply pipe to the organ at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church was found to be frozen on Sunday and the small organ used in the Sabbath School furnised the music.

The Commissioners.

The license commissioners of the West Riding of Peterborough will hold a meeting at Lakefield on Wednesday. Under the Scott Act the duties of these gentlemen are not at all laborious.

57th Battalion Concert.

The committee and all interested or taking part in the concert, are requested to meet in the armory at 8 o'clock this evening to make final arangements. Drill after the close of the meeting. 1d30

Clearing Sale at Cost.

At Bayeur's a fine opportunity is offered to buy boots and shoes. For one month a clearing sale will be held at actual cost This puts prices so low that every one can afford to boot themselves and save money. 1d30-1w6

The Assessors.

The assessors have lost no time this year in getting to work. They have commenced operations at the south end and they will call at every place in town, between this and the first day of May, when by lay they must return their roll.

At Home

under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the George Street Methodist Church will be held on Thursday evening, Feb. 16th, in the lecture room of the church. A very select programme may be expected. Refreshments served during the evening. Tickets, 25 cents each. 4d30

A Coming Event.

Efforts are being made to bring the Belleville Amateur Minstrels and the Oddfellows' Band here, at an early date. The performance given is said to rank with the best and in Belleville their entertainments are always attended by the elite of the town.

Blank Books.

Business men are asked to bear in mind that the REVIEW bindery is turning out the very best description of work in all lines of account books and ledgers. All orders finished up with despatch. Customers can select their own papers from a large and well assorted stock, and have any special printing desired. d108ed

Called to the Bar.

Mr. F. P. Henry, of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, has passed the Law Society examination for call to the Bar as Barrister, standing second in a list of twenty-two successful candidates. Mr. J. W. Bennett and Mr. A. E. Dixon, of Peterborough, also successfully passed the examination. We congratulate these young gentlemen on their success.

Those who saw the crowd at Kidd's Boot & Shoe store on Saturday must have thought he was selling below cost, but he wasn't. Same price all the time! Same price to every one.

A Test Case.

Market Clerk Doherty still has some trouble in collecting tolls. So far, since the Town Solicitor's opinion was given, no blunt refusals to pay have been met with until this morning, when a farmer named John H. Edmison refused to pay five cents on a load of wood, on the ground that it was illegal to charge it. He expressed his willingness to make a test case out of it and accordingly Market Clerk Doherty laid a charge against him and the case will come up at the Police Court to-morrow morning.

The Lock Bridge.

A meeting of the joint committee of the Town and County Councils was held at the Court House on Saturday afternoon. The business was the letting of the contract for the erection of the bridge at the lock There were really no tenders, but estimates of the probable cost were sent in. The contract for the erection of a peir and an abutment was let to Mr. Chas. Wynn for $5,600, The stone will be procured from Warsaw. The span will be 190 feet. The contract for the iron work was awarded to Mr. W. H. Law, of the Central Iron Bridge Works, for $31 per running foot, a total of $5,890.

Brevities.

—Port Hope holds another carnival on the 22nd of this month.

—Plumbers are at work in the Town offices changing the water supply.

—In London farmers are fined for peddling loads of wood about the streets.

—The new bridge was visited and viewed by large numbers of people yesterday.

—The painters put the finishing touches to the new Grand Trunk bridge to-day.

—Postmaster Rogers expects to get to work in the new post office in a short time.

—The corporation snow ploughs were called into requisition again this morning.

—Ice 27 inches thick, and as clear as crystal, was cut out of a flume, at Hilliard's mill, on Saturday.

—The Town Council meeting takes place on Monday next, not this evening as many appear to think.

—The "Zozo" company that played here last season are again on the road with "He, She, Him, Her."

—The date of the entertainment in the Masonic Hall is Tuesday, Feb. 7th, instead of Wednesday, as stated.

—A freight off the track near Carleton Place, on Sunday, delayed the C. P. R. early express for some hours.

—The Belleville system of waterworks cost $225,000, of which amount about $80,000 was expended for labor.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Ashburnham Village Council takes place this evening at 7.30 o'clock.

—The horsemen have received a hint to the effect that several Toronto fliers will compete in the Lindsay races.

—Regular meeting of the Young Men's Conservative Association to-morrow evening. Discussion of commercial union.

—Wood is about the only commodity offered on the market these days, but considerable grain is also moving just now.

—An adjourned meeting of the Trent Valley Canal Association takes place on Wednesday afternoon at the Council Chamber.

—Word was received this morning that the Peterborough horses, sent up to Lindsay, had reached their destination all right.

—The weather still continues fine and today a thaw set in that may next turn out to be the long expected "January" thaw.

—The sleighing is simply grand and every man, woman and child, who can procure a horse, may be seen driving on the streets.

—"Johnny B," the Kingston or Cape Vincent horse started in the races here, has been shipped back. He will not start at Lindsay.

—The Rev. F. H. Wallace, B.D., will occupy the pulpit of the George-st. Methodist Church next Sunday at the morning and evening services.

—A large attendance of farmers may be looked for at the Police Court in the morning, when a case for refusing to pay market tolls will come up.

—According to the Belleville Intelligencer the business being done on the Grand Junction will be largely increased now that trains are running over the "cut off."

—A steam fire engine man was in town to-day in the interests of his firm. He had heard that our town wanted to purchase another engine. It was a mistake.

—A number of the fakirs attracted here by the races are still in town. They will swoop down on Lindsay to-morrow and scoop in many hard earned dollars.

—The Port Hope Police Magistrate refuses to try Scott Act cases from the county and the Times advocates the appointment of a County Magistrate.

—There were half a dozen complaints from farmers, on Saturday, regarding the thimble riggers. People who bite at these games have but little sympathy from the general public.

—On Saturday Water-st., in the vicinity of Cavanagh's hotel, looks more like a horse fair than anything else. There are two Montreal buyers at the hotel and they are purchasing a large number of animals.

—Mr. Wm. Brandon, well known in Peterborough, was suppered at Haliburton on Friday night and presented with a gold watch, upon leaving the employment of Mr. J. M. Irwin to embark in business on his own account at Fenelon Falls.

—A new by-law governing the Fire Department has been prepared by the Town Solicitor and will be considered by the Fire, Water and Light Committee prior to being submitted to the Council at the next meeting.

—Port Hope is seeking to have the Ontario Government throw off a large amount of money due by the town. This business of asking this thing is becoming fashionable. Cobourg started it and we notice that many other places are following the example thus set.

No other medicine is so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, for the cure of coughs, colds, and all derangements of the respiratory organs. It relieves the asthmatic and consumptive, even in advanced stages of disease.

HALIBURTON COUNTY.

COUNTY COUNCIL.—The Council finished up its business on Wednesday and adjourned to meet at the call of the Warden. Amongst the business transacted was the following:—A memorial was passed asking the Ontario Government to build a bridge across Bear Creek in Glanmorgan and to repair the dam at the outlet of Kushog Lake A report was adopted expressing the opinion that it would be more equitable to leave out all farm stock from assessment than to continue the present unsatisfactory mode. The use of the town hall was granted to the Minden band free. A memorial was passed asking for a new Division Court at Cheddar for the township of Cheddar. Another memorial was passed asking the Ontario Government what action had been taken in regard to the complaint respecting the County registrar. The Grand Trunk railway was requested to comply with the terms of the bond given by the Victoria railway with reference to siddings and platforms at certain points between Kinmount and Haliburton. It was resolved that, in case of a reconstruction of county limits and a separation of a portion of the Muskoka townships from Victoria county, steps be taken to have the townships of Ridout and Franklin attached to Haliburton county and the Warden and Clerk were appointed a committee to look the matter.

RAISING THE WATERS.—The great works in this township undertaken by Mr. Boyd to raise the level of various creeks are drawing towards a completion. One dam will measure forty feet from main sill to the top. It will dam a great body of water and saves enormous expense in drawing logs. There are now about six hundred men employed in Boyd's shanties and they will get out enough logs to cut nearly thirty million feet of lumber. The woods are alive with men.

WEATHER NOTES.—January, as one of our winter months, has carried itself out in full vigor. Only twice did it rain, on the first and thirteenth, to the depth of 31-100 of an inch, being very light for January. Snow fell on 15 days to the depth of 11¼ inches, being also below the average, but for cold it exceeds our average. On 14 mornings the thermometer stood below zero, the coldest being on the morning of the 22nd, showing 28 degrees, and on 6 nights at sunset below zero; but from the 23rd to the 29th might well be styled the cold week, the thermometer being below zero each morning and twice at sundown. The last 4 days were accompanied by a piercing wind. Only on two days did the temperature rise above the freezing point, leaving the mean temperature of the month 11. 2 31 degrees. Although there was considerable wind the most sever gale was on the 13th. We had no auroral lights during the month. Probably they have got frozen up, or more likely the eclipse may have landed them on the shore of Seberia. The following are the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month, namely:—East, 5 days; south-west, 5 days; south-east, 7 days; west, 4 days; north, 3 days; north-east, 2 days; and north-west, 5 day.

"My little son, three years of age, was terribly afflicted with scrofula. His head was entirely covered with scrofulous sores, and his body showed many marks of the disease. A few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured him."—W. J. Beckett, Hymera, Ind.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button. It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

There is but one efficient way
To publish "WANTS" from day to day,
And that is through the REVIEW indeed,
That finds for every want and need
A prompt return and quick reply,
That never fails to satisfy,
And what is more its well to state
At very far from largest rate.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

More War Vessels for the Pacific.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—A special despatch from Ottawa to The Sun says: Admiral Henage, who assumed command of the British fleet in the Pacific, has, in his report to the British Government, drawn attention to the inefficiency and weakness of the squadron on the Pacific coast. As a result it is reported here that the Imperial Government has decided to add several vessels to the admiral's command. His orders for the coming season include a sharp lookout to see that the rights of British sealing vessels in Behring Sea are not interfered with in the future.

A $50,000 Fire in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—The two upper floors of the five-story building, No. 56 to 60 Wabash-avenue, were burned this morning and the rest of the structure and contents badly damaged; loss $90,000.

A Stone Hurled into a Parlor Car.

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—While the up-train from Montreal on the Canada Atlantic Railway was passing St. Polycarpe last night an unknown miscreant hurled a stone, which shattered a pane of glass of the parlor car. The passengers got a bad scare. The railway authorities are investigating the matter.

Eno Wants to Go Back to Gotham.

MONTREAL, Feb. 5.—John C. Eno arrived here yesterday and New York lawyers are also here negotiating for the return to Gotham of the exiled millionaire.

A Woman Prayed for Them.

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 5.—Rev. Ida C. Hutton opened the Senate with prayer yesterday afternoon, which is believed to be the first instance in the history of the country of such office being performed by a woman.

TORONTO TOPICS.

There was an exception to the usually crowded court room Saturday morning when the Criminal Assize Court was called to order. Comparatively few persons were present, but among those were seen friends and relatives of the prisoners about to be sentenced. At 10 o'clock the Grand Jury filed into the box, and, through the foreman, reported "no bill" against Alexander Manning, Henry Strathy and Richard Snelling for compounding a felony. "No bill" was also returned against Henry Strathy upon a second charge of the same kind. The finding of the grand jury appeared to be no surprise to any one from the conversation heard on all sides.

Israel Lucas and his wife Lizetta were arrested at 10 o'clock last night. Lucas is charged with bringing stolen money into Canada. He had been twice elected treasurer of Angelsiza County, Ohio. When the time came to renew his bonds, on Aug. 27 last, he quietly left Ohio and came to Toronto. Upon examination of his books it was found that he had stolen $31,000 of the county's funds.

On Saturday afternoon one of the Cosgrove Brewing Company's sleighs ran over a child named George T. Browning, aged 4, living in Cumberland-street. The little fellow was so seriously injured that he died yesterday morning at 12.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

CHAPTER VII.

Time, with lovers, "flies with swallows' wings;" they neither feel nor heed it as it passes, so all too full of haste the moments seem. They are to them replete with love, and happiness, and sweet content. To-day is an accomplished joy, to-morrow will dawn for no other purpose but to bring them together. So they think and so they believe.

Rodney has interviewed the old man, her uncle; has told him of his great and lasting love for this pearl among women; has described, in a very few words, and without bombast, his admiration for Mona; and Brian Scully (though with sufficient national pride to suppress all undue delight at the young man's proposal) has given a hearty consent to their union, and is in reality flattered and pleased beyond measure at this match for "his girl."

To his mother, however, he has sent no word of Mona, knowing only too well how the news of his approaching marriage with this "outer barbarian" (as she will certainly deem his darling) will be received. It is not cowardice that holds his pen, as were all the world to kneel at his feet and implore him or bribe him to renounce his love, all such pleading and bribing would be in vain. It is that, knowing argument to be useless, he puts off the evil hour that may bring pain to his mother to the last moment.

When she knows Mona she will love her,—who could help it? so he argues; and for this reason he keeps silence until such time as, his marriage being a fait accompli, hopeless expostulation will be of no avail, and will, therefore, be suppressed!

Meanwhile, the hours go "laden with golden grain." Every day makes Mona dearer and more dear, her sweet and guileless nature being one calculated to create, with growing knowledge, an increasing admiration and tenderness. Indeed, each happy afternoon spent with her serves but to forge another link in the chain that binds him to her.

To-day is so cool, so calm, so bright, that Geoffrey's heart grows glad within him as he walks along the road that leads to the farm, his gun upon his shoulder, his trusty dog at his heels.

From the cabins, pale wreaths of smoke rise slowly, scarce stirred by the passing wind. Going by one of these small tenements, before which the inevitable pig is wallowing in an unsavory pool, a voice comes to him, fresh and joyous, and plainly full of pleasure, that thrills through his whole being. It is to him what no other voice ever has been, or ever can be again. It is Mona's voice!

Again she calls to him from within.

"Is it you?" she says. "Come in here, Geoffrey. I want you."

She is sitting before a spinning-wheel, and is deftly drawing the wool through her fingers; brown little fingers they are, but none the less dear in his sight.

"I'm here," she cries, in the glad happy tones that have been ringing their changes in his heart all day.

An old crone is sitting over a turf fire that glows and burns dimly in its subdued fashion. Hanging over it is a three-legged pot, in which boil the "praties" for the "boys'" dinners, who will be coming home presently from their work.

"What luck to find you here," says Geoffrey, stooping over the industrious spinner, and (after the slightest hesitation) kissing her fondly in spite of the presence of the woman, who is regarding them with silent curiosity, largely mingled with admiration.

Mona, who has blushed rosy red at his kiss, is now beaming on her lover, and has drawn back her skirts to admit of his coming a little closer to her. He is not slow to avail himself of this invitation, and is now sitting with his arms thrown across the back of the wooden chair that holds Mona, and with eyes full of heartfelt gladness fixed upon her.

"You look like Marguerite. A very lovely Marguerite," says Geoffrey, idly, gazing at her rather dreamily.

"Except that my hair is rolled up, and is too dark, isn't it? I have read about her, and I once saw a picture of Marguerite in the gallery in Dublin, and it was very beautiful. I remember it brought tears to my eyes, and Aunt Anastasia said I was too fanciful to be happy. Her story is a very sad one, isn't it?"

"Very. And you are not a bit like her, after all," says Geoffrey, with sudden compunction, "because you are going to be as happy as the days are long, if I can make you so."

"One must not hope for perfect happiness on this earth," says Mona, gravely; "but at least I know," with a soft and trusting glance at him, "I shall be happier than most people."

"What a darling you are!" says Rodney, in a low tone; and then something else follows, that, had she seen it, would have caused the weather-beaten old person at the fire another thrill of tender recollection.

"What are you doing?" asks Geoffrey, presently, when they have returned to every day life.

"I am spinning flax for Betty, because she has rheumatism in her poor shoulder, and can do nothing, and this much flax must be finished by a certain time. I have nearly got through my portion now," says Mona; "and then we can go home."

"When I bring you to my home," says Geoffrey, "I shall have you painted in just that gown, and with a spinning-wheel before you; and it shall be hung in the gallery among the other—very inferior—beauties."

"Where?" says Mona, looking up quickly.

"Oh! at home, you know," says Mr. Rodney, quickly, discovering his mistake. For the moment he had forgotten his former declaration of poverty, or, at least, his consenting silence, when she had asked him about it.

"In the National Gallery, do you mean?" asks Mona, with a pretty, puzzled frown on her brow. "Oh, no, Geoffrey; I shouldn't like that at all. To be stared at by everybody—it wouldn't be nice, would it?"

Rodney laughs, in an inward fashion, biting his lip and looking down.

"Very well; you shan't be put there," he says. "But nevertheless you must be prepared for the fact that you will undoubtedly be stared at by the common herd, whether you are in the National Gallery or out of it."

"But why?" says Mona, trying to read his face. "Am I so different from other people?"

Scott's Emulsion of Pure

COD LIVER OIL, WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES.

For Children and Pulmonary Troubles.

Dr. W. S. Hoy, Point Pleasant, W.Va., says: "I have made a thorough test with Scott's Emulsion in Pulmonary Troubles and General Debility, and have been astonished at the good results; for children with Rickets or Marasmus it is unequalled." Put up in 50c. and $1 sizes.

POKING FUN!

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprises largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8 75, this is an all-wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3 75 and a pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits really nice and lot of them $1.95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPAR'S, where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver a misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

DAILY MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, Feb. 4.

The grain and produce markets at home to-day were fairly active and steady while abroad they were quiet and firm.

At the Board of Trade to-day No. 2 red winter was offered at 83c with 81c bid. No. 1 Manitoba hard 87c bid and No. 1 Northern 81c on track bid. For May delivery No. 1 Manitoba hard 87c was bid.

The car lots received at Chicago to-day were: Wheat 41, corn 153 and oats 109.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago Stock Yards to-day is: Estimated receipts 12,000, official yesterday 22,204, shipments 4577, left over about 13,000. Cattle receipts 2000. Market quiet. Receipts of hogs for the week were: 162,140, shipments 39,332, packing to date 1,482,000, last year 15,500.

LOCAL STREET MARKET.

The local market to-day was fairly active, and a firm tone prevailed. About 500 bushels of wheat offered and sold at 82c to 83c for fall, 77c to 81c for spring, and 73c to 74c for goose. Barley firm, with sales of 2300 bushels at 75c to 83c. Oats steady, 200 bushels selling at 46c to 48c. Peas remained at 65c to 70c. Hay in fair supply and prices firm; 25 loads sold at $10 to $12 for clover, and $13 to $15.50 for timothy. Straw quiet and prices steady, with sales at $10 to $12. Dressed hogs firm at $7.25 to $7.50. Beef $3 to $5 for forequarters, and $5 to $7.50 for hindquarters. Mutton $6.50 to $8; lamb at $9 to $10; veal $5.50 to $8.50.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The retail market to-day showed fair activity and prices were generally unchanged.

George W. Williams, the colored historian and the best known writer of his race, has just put the finishing touches to a drama, which he hopes to see performed on the stage before very long. The name of this play is "Panda," and the scene is laid in Africa. Panda, the hero, is said to be a second Othello in character and appearance. The horrors of a slave ship are reproduced, and one scene is devoted to a slave market in Charleston, S. C.

Benjamin Constant, the French painter, is a man of medium height, with bright brown eyes and a frank, genial face adorned with close cropped hair and beard. Spain and the Holy Land are his favorite sketching grounds. He is just now, however, engaged upon the decoration of the grand council chamber of the University of Paris—a work which will occupy him three years, and for which he is paid 30,000 francs, in payments of 10,000 francs a year.

THE MILITARY LOAN BILL.

BISMARCK'S OPINION OF THE EUROPEAN SITUATION.

So Far As France is Concerned, He Says the Prospect is More Peaceful, and Russia Has No Interest to Conquer Prussian or Austrian Provinces.

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—The Reichstag to-day proceeded with the first reading of the Military Loan Bill, and Prince Bismarck arose to address the House. He said:

"My object is to speak of the general situation of Europe. I may confine myself to referring to what I said on the same subject over a year ago. There has been very little change since then, when I feared war with France. Since then France has elected a peace-loving President and a pacific disposition has prevailed. I can therefore reassure the public that so far as France is concerned the prospect has become more peaceful."

"Regarding Russia, also I am of no other opinion than when I said that we have to apprehend no attack from Russia. I believe the Czar's word absolutely. The situation on the whole is not different from that of 1879. I grant that the concentration of Russian troops on the frontier may appear serious, but I perceive no cause or pretext for a Russian or a European war. Russia has no interest to conquer Prussian or Austrian provinces. Perhaps Russia speculates upon a turn taking place in the eastern question and desires her forces to act promptly and with greater weight. Perhaps Russia intends to render her diplomatic demands more effectual from the fact of having an army ready for war behind them. We, however, are only concerned in the eastern question in a secondary manner."

Prince Bismarck proceeded to review the relations between Prussia and Russia since 1848, and showed how frequently they had assumed a menacing aspect. He said that at all times the calmness displayed by the ministers on the Prussian side towards the threatening positions of Russian affairs—a position of which foreign countries had no idea—had succeeded in averting mischief.

"As early as 1863," he continued, "matters were in such a position that every body urged me to advise striking a blow. I waited quietly until we were struck. I believe we did well in this. Despite all indications of a storm a certain feeling of tranquility supervened owing to the intimate relations between the three emperors. Then, as now, however, we were constrained to augment and organize our forces so that in case of necessity we might stand forth a strong nation, making its power prevail by our strength, and so defending its authority, its dignity and its possessions."

"To effect this purpose," continued the Chancellor, "no sacrifice must or can be too heavy. The warlike tendencies of France and Russia drove us to defense. The pike in France and Russia compel us to become carp."

"Some people have sought to find an ultimatum or threat in the publication of the treaty. It is nothing of the kind. The treaty is the expression of the community of interests of the two contracting parties. This it was we wished the world to know.

"The strength we possess will reassure our public opinion and calm the nervousness of the bourses and the press. Our task is to strengthen this strength. When we undertake a war it must be a people's war which all approve, as in 1870. Neither consciousness of our own strength nor hope of victory can restrain us from continuing our peaceful efforts."

When Prince Bismarck resumed his seat Dr. Frankenstein moved that the Landwehr Bill be adopted en bloc, and that in view of the political situation there be no debate upon the Loan Bill. Herren Hellderof, Bennigsen and Behr supported the motion, and it was adopted. The Loan Bill was thereupon referred to the Budget Committee.

The House then proceeded to the second reading of the Landwehr Bill. Dr. Frankenstein moved and Herr Bennigsen seconded the adoption of the bill en bloc. The bill in its entirety then passed the second reading amid hearty cheers.

The Duty of France.

PARIS, Feb. 6.—The Temps, commenting on the European situation, says that two duties are imposed upon France: first, to arrange her domestic affairs and adopt the budget; second, to preserve absolute liberty of action with perfect coolness.

CASUALTY AT LONDON.

Shocking Accident at a G. T. R. Crossing—Death of One of the Victims.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—A shocking accident occurred about 6.45 this morning at the Burwell-street crossing of the Grand Trunk Railway. Mr. John Siggins of this city with his hired man, Johnson Wilson, drove up to the crossing in a sleigh and waited to allow an east-bound freight to pass. The train was a very long one and hid from view an incoming special from the east. As the last freight car passed Siggins started to drive across the track when his sleigh was struck by the special engine and smashed to fragments. In the collision Mr. Siggins had his collar bone broken and also received a scalp wound and some bad bruises. Wilson had his hand and leg crushed and sustained concussion or the brain. He was taken to the hospital, where he died at 3 p.m. Mr. Siggins' injuries, though severe, are not considered dangerous. The horse was carried some distance on the pilot, but was not hurt. The railway people say the special was ahead of time and running slower than usual.

Death of a Pioneer of London Township.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Mr. John Wheaton, an old and esteemed pioneer farmer, died to-day at his residence, Con. 1, London Township, in his 79th year. He was a Justice of the Peace, a prominent Reformer, a man of known integrity, and kindly disposition.

AN IMMORAL WAVE.

Theft, Wife-Beating, Burglary, Fraud and Attempted Suicide at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Feb. 6.—C. Reiger, hotelkeeper, corner of Hughson and Barton streets, reports that $49 was stolen from him on Saturday night. A boarder was also missed in the morning, and a man answering his description went to Buffalo on the early morning train.

Edward Jaggard, who was arrested in the Mulholland ranch last week, got into a rage with his wife yesterday, struck her in the face and smashed everything breakable in the house.

Burglars entered the house of J. Moran last night and carried away a pair of boots and 10 cents in money.

Alvin Potter, charged with obtaining a pair of ear-rings under false pretences, was sent for trial to the assizes at the Police Court to-day.

Mary Queen, with half-a-dozen aliases, was in the Police Court this morning on the charge of suicide, but was remanded until to-morrow. It is said she was formerly an actress.

SELECTED FOR SLAUGHTER.

London (Ont.) Officials' Heads in Danger—Tavern and Saloon Licenses.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—At to-night's meeting of the aldermen a special committee reported in favor of "bouncing" four of the old city officials and putting young men in their places. Those selected for slaughter are City Clerk Abbott, Street Commissioner Owens, Clerk of Committees Kearn and City Hall Janitor Manhenney. The report stated that this was only a preliminary step in the way of getting more work done for less money. The matter was staved off for a week and the impression prevails that it will not carry.

Notice was given of a bylaw to reduce the number of tavern and saloon licenses by fifteen and to raise their cost. The Council decided to let the medical faculty of the Western University have the Waterloo and York-street corner of the Central School grounds as a site for the proposed new medical college.

THE LABOR COMMISSION.

In Session at Montreal—Cigarmakers' Wages—Apprentices and What They Earn.

MONTREAL, Feb. 6.—Before the Labor Commission this afternoon several cigarmakers were examined. The men's wages, they stated, ran from $4 to $15 per week, the average being $4. They were taxed for the gas consumed whether they worked or not. Apprentices worked for $1 per week for the first year, $2 for the second and $3 for the third, but this was often eaten up by fines imposed. A case was instanced where an apprentice had worked fifty-seven hours and yet owed his employer 15 cents owing to the system of fines. Apprentices were beaten with sticks and, in one establishment, placed in a black-hole without food or drink for many hours.

The Walking Match Score.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—In the international walking match the score at 11 o'clock was: Guerrero 124 miles 3 laps, Alberts 129 miles 7 laps, Hegelman 112 miles 1 lap, Hart 127 miles 2 laps, Cartwright 105 miles 4 laps, Panchot 124 miles 6 laps, Golden 121 miles 6 laps, Moore 110 miles 3 laps, Herty 120 miles 3 laps, Day 114 miles, Hearn 105 miles 2 laps, Strokel 102 miles, Cox 108 miles, Connors 102 miles, Dillon 100 miles 9 laps, Noremac 100 miles 3 laps, Sinclair 100 miles 1 lap, Sullivan 100 miles 2 laps, Tyler 99 miles, Keeshoe 97 miles 4 laps, Lurkey 100 miles, Tilley 96 miles 4 laps, Elson 93 miles 1 lap, Stout 95 miles 5 laps, Johnson 96 miles 3 laps, Vint 94 miles 2 laps, Curran 92 miles 7 laps, Campana 70 miles 2 laps, Call ont, Newhart 80 miles 4 laps, Atwood 92 miles 7 laps, Burrell 79 miles 4 laps.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—In the Senate to-day Mr. Riddleberger (Va.) said he had in his hand a copy of the treaty between Prussia and Russia which, if the chairman would allow him to put it upon the record, would, he thought, come in very well at this time. It was placed upon the table. Taken in connection with Mr. Riddleberger's previous remarks, it is assumed that the paper is similar in its provisions to the British Treaty, which Mr. Riddleberger is anxious to have discussed in public.

Baseball Schedule Committee at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Feb. 6.—Representatives of the League and American Association Schedule Committees were in session at the Genesee until midnight and will not finish their work until to-morrow night. Their duty is practically to arrange two schedules, one for each organization and so that the interests of neither shall be injuriously affected. The utmost secrecy is maintained and the schedules when completed will not be made public until submitted to the joint meeting of the two associations in March.

A Former Torontonian Attempts Suicide.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 6.—Joseph Saunders, shoe cutter of Pingree & Smith's factory, tried to kill himself to-day by taking poison at the Revand House, where he was boarding. He was sent to the Harger Hospital with chances for life or death about equal. It is not known what kind of poison he took. He is 23 years old and formerly lived at Toronto.

Niagara-on-the-Lake Curlers Defeated at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Feb. 6.—Niagara-on-the-Lake sent a contingent of her curlers here to-day to try conclusions with the Buffalo curlers. The result was a victory for Buffalo by a score of 71 to 42.

Ben Butterworth's Reciprocity Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—In the House to-day Mr. Butterworth (Ohio) introduced a bill to extend the trade and commerce of the United States and to provide a full reciprocity between the United States and the Dominion of Canada.

Mr. Childs in Honor of John Milton.

A magnificent stained glass window in memory of Milton will shortly be placed in St. Margaret's Church. It is the gift of Mr. G. W. Childs of Philadelphia, who presented the drinking fountain to Stratford-on-Avon and the beautiful window in honor of Herbert and Cowper to Westminster Abbey. At the request of the Rector of St. Margaret's an inscription has been written for the Milton window by the American poet, Mr. J. Greenleaf Whittier, who has sent the following lines:

"The New World honors him whose lofty plea
For England's freedom made her own more sure,
Whose song, immortal as its theme, shall be
Their common freehold while both worlds endure."

The Raleigh window, presented to St. Margaret's by American citizens, is enriched by an inscription from the pen of Mr. J. R. Lowell, and the Caxton window, presented by the printers of London, has an inscription written for it by Lord Tennyson. Caxton and Raleigh lie buried in the church, and the wife and infant child of Milton, whose bans are recorded in the marriage register.

When Time Loiters.

Miss Prime: Doctors disagree as to which period of life seems the longest to mankind. What is your opinion, doctor?

Doctor (meditatively): Well, it varies. In women, for instance, the longest is between 29 and 30. I know in my wife's case ten years elapsed between her 29th and 30th birthday.

THE NEW PARCEL POST

BETWEEN THE DOMINION AND THE UNITED STATES.

No Sealed Packages Will be Accepted by the Authorities of Either Government—Instructions to the Collectors of Customs.

OTTAWA, Feb. 6.—The new instructions to collectors of customs will provide that with reference to all postoffice parcels containing dutiable goods sent to the custom houses by postmasters the parties to whom addressed must be notified by postal card, unless in case where promptly called for and duty paid. The collectors are instructed that they must not in any case change the address. With respect to parcels to be sent to other parts of Canada they are to return the package to the postmaster, taking a receipt therefor, thus relieving the customs officer of any further responsibility. The same rule must be observed with reference to parcels to be returned to the country from whence they came. They will first be returned to the postmaster who will forward them to the Postoffice Department at Ottawa to be dealt with by the dead letter branch. All parcels unclaimed must, at the end of each month, be returned to the postmaster from whom received, to be dealt with the same as in cases before mentioned.

The business of the registered letter and savings bank branches of the Ottawa Postoffice showed a very considerable increase in the year just ended. The total number of registered letters passing through the office was 340,886, an increase of 20,870. Of the total number 143,737 were mailed by the Government and 32,942 received. The deposits made in the city branch of the savings bank during the year amounted to $636,855. The amount of money orders issued was $178,940. The amount realized by the sale of postage stamps was $44,583.

A meeting of the Liberal Associations has been called for to-morrow evening. It is said that the object of the meeting is to discuss the advisability of asking the Local Government of Ontario to call Deputy-Sheriff Sherwood to account for alleged partisanship. Mr. Sherwood is a Conservative. The position is a good one and more than one local Reformer is said to have a longing eye on it.

In connection with the new parcel post convention between Canada and the United States, which is to be brought into operation at the beginning of the approaching month, it will be of interest to those who intend to take advantage of the new facilities offered to know that no sealed packages will be accepted either by the Canadian or American authorities. They must be protected in such a way as to allow the customs officers to make their inspection without any obstruction.

In the Exchequer Court this morning Mr. Justice Burbidge further postponed the case of the Crown v. the City of Ottawa, in which the Government is suing the corporation for the rent of certain lots on the Rideau Canal bank.

Sir John A. Macdonald, Sir Hector Langevin, Hon. Thos. White, Hon. J. A. Chapleau and Hon. John Costigan will probably attend the banquet to Sir Adolphe Caron in Quebec on Saturday evening.

A Cold World.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Much interest was shown in the proceedings yesterday at the resumed cross-examination of Mr. Campbell, the suspended Central Bank liquidator. The proceedings occupied nearly four hours, and the Master's court was thronged. The same counsel appeared as on Saturday, and as the argument before the Chancellor had been fixed for 11 o'clock today, and Mr. Maclennan, Q.C., wishes to examine Mr. Campbell on various points, an adjournment was made at 2 o'clock till to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. Bigelow applied for leave to defer election in the case of Israel Lucas and his wife Lizzetta, charged with bringing stolen money into Canada. He said he understood that steps would eventually be taken to have the male prisoner extradited.

Negotiations are in progress for the annexation of Parkdale to Toronto. A committee has been appointed to meet the city aldermen, and the joint gathering will discuss the question of annexation.

At a meeting of the Dry Goods section of the Board of Trade yesterday afternoon Hon. John Macdonald was elected chairman; S. Caldecott, deputy chairman; S. F. McKinnon, treasurer. Executive Committee—C. O. Anderson, S. Caldecott, John Macdonald, John Knox of Hamilton, Fred. Wyld, A. Darling and S. F. McKinnon.

Israel Lucas and his wife were in the Police Court yesterday. Lucas is the alleged defaulting treasurer of Angaliza County, Ohio, to the extent of $31,000, who was arrested in Toronto on Sunday night. Pending the arrival of witnesses from the Buckeye State, a remand was granted till to-day. The charge booked against him is bringing stolen money into Canada. Mrs. Lucas was liberated on the $500 bond of Thos. Blakely, with whom she and her husband have lived since their arrival in Toronto.

Policeman Walsh of the Agnes-street squad was before the Police Commissioners yesterday afternoon charged with ill-treating Thos. Gooderham while arresting him on a charge of sneak-thieving. Gooderham is now serving a term of imprisonment for the offence. The complainant was a reporter for an evening paper. Several witnesses were examined, and the commissioners exonerated Walsh of the charge of using unnecessary violence.

The Sensible Swede Treat.

There is an American custom that the Swedes do not seem to take to very kindly. This is the custom of "treating." The Swede is too thrifty to find delight in paying over and over again for "booze" which some one else will have the benefit—or curse—of. "No," says a gentleman who has lived in selection of Minnesota thickly populated with Scandinavians, "the average Swede or Norwegian never stands treat like an American. They have, however, what we Americans, living among them, used to call a "Swede treat," that is, every man pays for his own drink. A dozen of them will come up to the bar together and drink in unison, and with the best of feeling prevailing all around, but when it comes to settling every one of them goes to the bottom of his pocket for the price of the liquor he has personally absorbed. That's a "Swede treat."

NO GOOD FOR THE FARMERS.

UNDER the above heading the London Advertiser reprints the following from the Chicago Tribune:—

"The present tariff law cannot benefit the farmer because he is in direct competition with the cheapest labor in the world; because he produces more than the home market can consume; because his prices are fixed in Liverpool; and because he is buying at war-tariff rates and selling at free trade prices."

This may or may not prove that the United States tariff is an injustice to the farmers of that country. But it emphacizes a point that the farmers of Canada should consider when they are asked to support commercial union in order that they might be benefitted.

The United States farmers, says the Tribune, produce more than the home market can consume. This being so, how could the Canadian farmers dispose of their surplus to advantage in a market already filled to overflowing? The prices for the produce—or many kinds of it—are fixed in Liverpool, and admitting Canadian wheat, cheese, cattle, butter and other products into the United States free would not effect the prices in Liverpool and consequently would not make them any higher here. Not a little Canadian produce now reaches Liverpool by the way of the United States, and if commercial union would increase the flow in that channel it would not be to the advantage of either the Canadida farmer or his country.

But the United States farmers, says this authority, are buying at war-tariff rates—that is, at a higher tariff rate than is imposed in Canada. The tariff here is a revenue one, and that part of the revenue collected to meet interest or debt is in payment of improvements from which all derive benefit. What, then, would be gained by the farmers of Canada if they got free admittance to an overflowing market and obtained the privilege of buying at war-tariff rates? If the removal of the duties, on both sides, on those articles the prices of which are fixed in Liverpool would do no harm, it should be remembered in connection with that that commercial Union also involves an increase of duties on importations from all countries other than the United States, and also the free admittance into Canada of manufactured articles, which would injure factories in this country and injuriously effect the farmers' home market, the most important one. Commercial union is "no good for the farmers."

THE Montreal Herald complains that favoritism is shown by the Dominion Government in distributing reports, and seems to refer especially to the public accounts. This book has not reached all newspaper offices yet, as the REVIEW has not received it. If the books are sent out as they are made ready for mailing, it would be natural for them to reach some offices before they are received at others; but care should be taken, in justice to the press generally, not to have them in the hands of Ottawa correspondents and others for such a length of time before they are generally distributed that their contents are stale before they are seen. Last year the Ontario public accounts were not received until after the delivery of the budget speech.

THE New York World believes that if Congress should take the tax off fish the Commissioners would soon come to an agreement, and the difficulty would end quickly. Incidentally it admits that United States folly has brought about the difficulties, though certain Canadian journals would have Canada settle the matter on any terms the United States would accept.

LIBERAL journals think that Sir John Macdonald should have given the Dominion manhood suffrage, but in Mr. Mowat's case "this was a goal to be reached by a series of well considered [illegible] not by one great bound." Sir John Macdonald has a better reputation as a reformer than the so-called Reform—beg pardon, Liberal—Premier of Ontario.

THE DRY GOODS QUEEN.

Some of the Characteristics of the Merchant Princess of Paris.

In a Christmas packet from Paris Mrs. Correspondent Crawford sent the following to London Truth:

Madame Boucicaut was the greatest woman, possibly, of her century. She might have been about 70 when I last saw her, and was full-bosomed, broad-shouldered, fresh, hale active and, though nearly as rich as any Californian Silver King, unable to enjoy the rest she so well earned. She was of short stature, could never have been graceful, but must have had a charming face when young. In old age it was pleasant to the eye, and still gave the idea of abounding life. The eye at first seasned sharply, and then beamed out good nature. Madame Boucicaut as the time I speak of was a widow, and wore widow's mourning, but of a mitigated sort. She was of homely speech and address, but not vulgar. All the administration of the great Universal Provider was known to her, and she kept a close eye to all its departments. When she lost her husband she felt as if she had got into a world out of joint and void, but would not yield to her temptation to despair. The son, who was wanting in the great qualities of father and mother, set up before he married as the "banker" of a Neapolitan princess of non-royal birth, who is now seeing life as a globe-trotter, and seeking, is may be, adventures. Madame Boucicaut not long ago settled £30,000 apiece on each of this lady's children and paid her a lump sum to place them in a school of the old lady's choosing.

The pet charity of this Dry Goods Queen was an old man's asylum near her own beautiful suburban place at Fontnay aux Roses. What I am going to repeat is not flattering to the sex whose rights are women's wrongs. Said Madame Boucicaut: "There's nothing so helpless and in the way as an old man, whereas an old woman can always eke out a livelihood somehow, and she can get selfish relatives not to grudge her a place on the hearth by her natural activity and her sympathy with her grandchildren. With them she is really never old, and her tongue wags gayly all the time that she knits, or mends, or potters about the cooking stove, or nurses the baby. But the poor, stiff-limbed old man! God help him! I have my own father and grandfather still before my eyes, and my mother, too, who laundered and ironed until one day she sat down and went out, like a run-down candle, of old age."

This great woman had a charity budget larger than the civil list allowance of no matter what queen or empress consort. Her pen was always upon her check-book, and she thought nothing of making a gift of thousands of pounds. Nay, she could, without hanging back, sign one for £100,000 or £150,000. Her minor charities for some years were never under £70,000 a year, and few but those they helped or her accountants knew how this money went. She looked upon herself as a stewardess by providential appointment for the good of the poor of the vast fortune which she possessed. . . . . The priests of the Irish College here were the agents of the Dry Goods Queen in finding her counter assistants. Irish girls, according to her experience, had good morals, perception, taste and pliability, and they smartened up quickly, owing to their natural intelligence.

Madame Boucicaut held two-thirds of the entire shares of the Bon Marche after she turned it into a joint stock company, and £20,000 a year out of the general profits for rent. The other third was owned by her staff, which was enabled to buy it through gifts she and her husband made them, amounting in all to £300,000. Nobody, to the very humblest in that establishment, is unprovided for. The shareholders are debarred from selling shares to outsiders, or retaining them if they retire. This woman was a country laundress' daughter. Her early hits were due to her taste in making up lots of damaged silk and stuff into fancy articles. She bought a good deal of land near Cannes, and was planning a winter asylum for poor old people when she was carried away by sudden congestion of the lungs.

Enormous Profits of Undertaking.

A reporter the other day met a retired undertaker, and conversation turned on his late business:

"What is the profit in coffins?" he asked.

"Well, I ought not to tell tales out of school, but it will take more that one figure to count it, I will say. The only thing that prevents every undertaker in the United States from becoming a millionaire is that people won't die fast enough. Do you know that the highest-priced coffin in Georgia is a metallic, and costs $50? This casket is retailed all the way up from $125 to $300. There is a fair profit, too, on the cheaper grades of wooden caskets, ranging in price from $20 to $80—that is, if you consider from 300 to 500 per cent. a fair profit. The business, too, like all others, has its perquisites. The undertaker contracts with the livery stables to hire him carriages at $2.50 each, but he stipulates that, if they fail him, he must not let them go for less than $5. This latter figure is the price charged by the undertaker, and so, besides his hearse hire of $10 and profit on the casket and other funeral paraphernalia, he pockets a clear profit of $2.50 from every carriage that comes from a livery stable and accompanies the funeral procession."

A Cincinnati Bank in Difficulties.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 6.—The Metropolitan National Bank directors passed resolutions after 3 o'clock to-night to suspend operations. The bank is now in the hands of the Government. Vice-President De Camp has been arrested.

DOGS THAT KNOW SOMETHING.

R. M. Frazier, of Raleigh, N. C., lost a fine bird dog. Twenty-five days afterward the animal was found in an old pit, still alive, but so weak he could hardly stand.

The mail carrier between Calico, Cal., and Bismarck is a dog. The mail is fastened about his neck. In the last three years he has never missed a trip nor lost a letter.

An Irish terrier belonging to George Gaskin, of Babbacombe Beach, England, watches for mackerel, from a high bluff near the hotel, and barks and points when a school appears.

A pug and a Newfoundland dog belonging to a New Jersey gentlemen were seen to halt before a brook. The big dog took to the water, but the pug refused to do so. The Newfoundland then persuaded the pug to get upon his back, but he slid off when half way across, when the big dog yanked him out and set him on the opposite bank. Since then the pug has carried out of the house to the Newfoundland the choicest bits of his food, and he seems to enjoy seeing the big dog eat them.

Charles Roby, of Nelson county, Ky., has a hound so old that he is almost totally blind. In play recently some children placed upon his nose a pair of spectacles with a powerful lens. Instantly, according to the story, the dog began to romp as in his young days. Next day the spectacles were fastened securely before his eyes, and when the dogs were called for the chase he was in the lead. Now when the glasses are removed he whines, and he shows the greatest joy when they are replaced.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING
EPPS'S COCOA
BREAKFAST.
"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there was a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

At the Rink.

Skaters, attention. Band at the rink every Friday night. d151—tf.

Piano Tuning.

S. R. Huffman is in town. Orders left at Mr. McClelland's jewelry store will be promptly attended to. 3d31

On the Way.

Word has been received from the young men who recently left for railway work on the C.P.R. in the Northwest. They were all in the best of health and condition.

Scott Act Cases.

Messrs. M. Brousseau, E. Brown and Wm McGregor were charged with committing breaches of the Scott Act at the court this morning. They all pleaded guilty and were fined $100 and costs each.

D. and D.

A young man named Jason Eastland was before the Police Magistrate this morning, charged by P. C. Adams, with being drunk and disorderly in a public place. He pleaded guilty and was fined the customary $1 and costs.

Entertainment.

The Auburn Council Royal Temlars of Temperance will hold a musical and literary entertainment in the Auburn church on the evening of Tuesday, Feb, 7th. A good programme of songs, dialogues, readings etc., will be provided. 6d23

He Holds His Audience.

The London Free Press says:—"Mr. Belford seems to hold his audience spellbound by the combination of great magnetic force, perfect and graceful action, and masterly articulation. He never refers to a book, but seems to have studied his parts like a thorough actor." Opera House, Peterborough, Thursday, Feby. 9th. 1d31

The Market By-Law.

The test case regarding the Market By-Law came up at the Police Court this morning. Town Solicitor Edwards appeared for the prosecution and the defendant, Mr. John H. Edmison, was represented by Mr. W. A. Stratton. The facts were all admitted, the main contention being that the town by-law, under which the tolls are levied, is no good. Judgment will be given to-morrow morning.

Raising a Row.

Two young men named Geo. Fady and Lewis Johns were charged by officer Adams, at the Police Court, this morning, with disorderly conduct. From the evidence for the prosecution it appeared that the defendants were present at a meeting in the Salvation Army barracks. They raised a row, caught one of the girls around the waist and were ejected from the premises. One of the defendants was put in the box and denied all the allegations point-blank and the case was enlarged until to-morrow morning to allow other witnesses to be called.

Ceremonial Instruction.

There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of Otonabee Lodge, I. O. O. F., on Monday evening. Prof. J. S. Duer, of Cleveland, Ohio, as present and also visitors from Norwood, Lindsay, Port Perry and other places. After the initation of two candidates by the lodge team, Prof. Duer gave an exposition of the floor work as approved of by the Sovereign Grand Lodge and as originally taken from the Bible, the ceremony being founded upon incidents of Scripture history. Those present were highly delighted with the exemplification of the work. Afterwards Prof. Duer sang a couple of solos and gave a recitation, and short speeches were made by Bro. J. Stevenson, P. G., Bro. Roxburgh of Norwood, and other visiting brethren. At the close of the Lodge the visitors were invited to the Lodge dining hall, where refreshments were served. It is probable that Otonabee Lodge will secure the services of Prof. Duer again to give further instruction in the work.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

California Fruit.

Just received a fresh lot of California Currants at the Palace Grocery, also another lot of hand picked apples.

Only One.

According to the official report, John Atkinson, of Lakefield, is the only pupil from this county attending the Deaf and Dumb Institution at Belleville.

County Cases.

Police Magistrate Emison has several Scott Act cases, from the East Riding, for trial at an early date. The County P. M. does things so quietly that it is a rare thing for his convictions to appear in the newspapers.

Lindsay Races.

A large number of sporting men went up to Lindsay on the early trains to-day, to attend the races. All the Peterborough fliers, except "Gladstone," are entered for the different events and good races and fast time are confidently expected.

Protestant Home.

A concert in aid of the above institution, will be given at the St John's school room on Monday evening, February 13th, when the best local talent will take part. The cause is a good one and a bumper house may be expected. Tickets, 25 cents. d29 eod

Blank Books.

Business men are asked to bear in mind that the REVIEW bindery is turning out the very best description of work in all lines of account books and ledgers. All orders finished up with despatch. Customers can select their own papers from a large and well assorted stock, and have any special printing desired. d108ed

The Coming Social.

A social, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's Church, will be held on Tuesday evening, Feb. 7th, at the residence of Mrs. Adam Hall, London-st. A good programme has been provided. Refreshments will be served. Admission 25cts. All are cordially invited. 3d29

Taking Them Down.

There is one part of the law regarding the placarding of infectious diseases, that the medical men carry out to the letter. We refer to taking the placards down, when the patient is either killed or cured, as one medical man expressed it. To-day a blue ticket for diphtheria was taken down by Officer Adams.

Over the River.

The Ashburham Village fathers had a meeting on Monday night, but it was short and sweet. A by-law to exempt the Lindsay-Seldon Furniture Company from taxation for a term of years, was read a first time, and an account from Constable Craig for $26, for a plough, etc., was ordered to be paid, and the meeting adjourned.

Conservative Meeting.

A regular meeting of the Young Men's Conservative Association will be held in the club room, over Mr. Stethem's store, this evening, when the discussion of commercial union, introduced at the last meeting by Mr. Burnham, will be continued. All Conservatives young men should be present, and older Conservatives will be welcomed.

Substantial Progress.

Mount Hebron Encampment, No. 56, Peterborough, says the Dominion Oddfellow, is making substantial progress. An esteemed correspondent writes:—"We are now sixty-eight members in good standing, are out of debt, and have in Bank $250, other assets nearly $400, have several propositions on hand, and expect to increase our membership next night by three new members."

The New Post Office.

The Government Inspector has accepted the heating apparatus at the new post office, after some slight changes were made in the furnace. A couple of additional coils are to be put in, but yesterday the place was rather too warm. No definite date can be given yet, for the formal opening, but everything is now ready for Postmaster Rogers to take possession.

Tuesday Next.

On the fourteenth day of February, Tuesday next, the second carnival of the season will take place. A reference to the large posters will show that many new and attractive features have been added. The members of the Canton are bound to leave no stone unturned and the indications are that Tuesday's carnival will be the event of the season. Judging by the talk of the people who intend to go in costume, the dresses will be something fine, away ahead of those seen on any previous occasions.

In Trouble.

Port Hope Times:—"One of the government officials got into trouble a week ago yesterday, the end of which is not yet. It was kept rather quiet but is now no longer a secret. He hired a livery horse to drive to Peterborough on the day in question and thereby hangs the tail of expense. The driver was not fast. The official seems not to have been in fault; he took five hours to make the distance. But the horse took sick and has not been fit to be returned since. The official had to return by rail and leave the equine to a veterinary's care, where it yet remains. Now there is a bill for board, for the vet. and for the liverymen; the first two amount to $17 and the last, well we'll draw the curtin."

Decided Upon.

The "At Home" to be given by Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows will take place on Friday evening, February 10th. No invitations will be issued, thereby avoiding the possibility of overlooking any person, but tickets of admission can be procured from any member of Otonabee Lodge or at the stores of Messrs. Jno. McKee, Geo. Stethem, John Nugent, Macfarlane Wilson and G. C. Clark. Among the attractions in the musical part the public will be pleased to learn that Miss Annie Howden, of Millbrook, will appear and render some of her choicest vocal gems. The Peterborough Orchestra under Bandmaster Miller and Prof. Doucet will be present. Refreshments will be served. Undoubtedly this will be a very brilliant affair. 1d31

Another.

An elderly woman hailing from Trenton, where she was provided with a pass this far, was among the arrivals in town yesterday. She was sent back. This thing of sending vagrants here is becoming monotonous.

No other medicine is so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, for the cure of coughs, colds, and all derangements of the respiratory organs. It relieves the asthmatic and consumptive, even in advanced stages of disease.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS.

Mr. D. D. Gallelly Waited on and Handed a Well Filled Purse.

On Monday evening a deputation consisting of Messrs. J. B. McWilliams, D. H. Moore, W. A. Stratton, W. H. Hill and several other gentlemen waited upon Mr. D. D. Gallelly, at his residence and without more ado presented him with a well filled purse and the following address:—

D. D. Gallelly, Esq., Peterborough:

DEAR SIR,—A number of your personal friends, learning that you are about to remove from Peterborough, have decided not to allow the occasion to pass without taking the opportunity to give tangible expression of their esteem and also expression of their regret at the severance of personal relations, which the association of years with yourself have led them to prize very highly indeed.

During your long residence in Peterborough, your integrity of character, genial warmth of disposition, your general social equalities have won you warm friends among all classes of society. While you have in private life contributed to the interests of social gatherings, you have by the exercise of your vocal powers given delight at hundreds of public gatherings and by these means attracted to yourself a wide circle of friends, who, we are sure, will join with us in lamenting the departure from or town of a gentleman so highly appreciated and so worthy of appreciation as your self.

In earnest of our regrets and in recognition of your many sterling qualities of character, please accept this purse and with it our best wishes for unlimited and unvarying prosperity in the new sphere of action into which duty calls you.

Peterborough, 6th Feb., 1888.

The presentation was made by Mr. D. H. Moore, and Mr. Gallelly, who was taken entirely by surprise, replied as follows:—I cannot find words adequate to express the feelings of my heart at this unexpected kindness shown to me by this deputation and my fellow townsmen, whom you on this occasion represent. My tongue cleaves to the roof of my mouth, when if it would but obey the promptings of my heart, it would speak in language equal to, if not surpassing Demosthenes of old. However, you all know me sufficiently well not to expect an oration, as unfortunately I never possessed that gift, but I can confidently say you know how I appreciate this tangible proof of your sincere wishes for my welfare and will, while being lasts, remember this, to me, overwhelming manifestation of your appreciation of the part I have played for the last 17 years, as a citizen of Peterborough. I have now spent more than one-third of my life time in Peterborough and I have tried my best to do my best to play my part well as one of her citizens and put to the best use those talents, humble though they be, to help fill a niche where needed, and be at the disposal of my fellow citizens, either in public or private. This well filled purse and kind address and the disinterested interest manifested by my personal friends, in thus ministering to my wants before taking leave of me, is a sufficient proof that my services have been highly appreciated. Shakespeare truly says "There is a providence that shapes our ends rough hew them as we may." A more pointed illustration of the truth of the poet's words, I have never in my life time experienced than on this occasion. Much as I am attached to Peterborough and my friends in it, still I think I would have acted wrongly had I refused the liberal offer held out to me by my old friend in the North-West. Trusting that He who doeth all things well, will ever guide us in our life's battle, I beg leave to thank you again for your kindness to me in the past and present hour and your kind wishes for my welfare in the future.

The deputation were hospitably entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Gallelly and a few hours were pleasantly and profitably spent.

THE POOR TRUST.

Annual Meeting of the William Hall Protestant Poor Trust.

The annual meeting of the Trustees of the William Hall Peterborough Protestant Poor Trust, was held at the office of Mr. A. P. Poussette, on Monday evening.

Those present were Messrs. A. P. Poussette, in the chair, W. Paterson, jr., Wm. Yelland, A. Gillespie, Adam Hall and Alex. Stewart.

After rountine, Mr. A. Hall, Secretary-Treasurer, presented his financial statement for the eleven months ending on the 31st December, 1887. The receipts during the year, from all sources, were $4,668.67. The sum of $1,207 was paid out as relief and the cash balance on hand was $2,273.72

Mr. A. P. Poussette was re-elected chairman and Mr. Adam Hall, Secretary-Treasurer. Messrs. Poussette, Hall and Paterson were appointed the Investment Committee, and Messrs. Paterson, Poussette and Dr. R. W. Bell were appointed the relief committee with the first named as chairman. Messrs. J. H. Roper and J. A. Hall were re-appointed auditors and the Secretary was granted $60 for his services during the last year.

The meeting then adjourned.

Those who saw the crowd at Kidd's Boot & Shoe store on Saturday must have thought he was selling below cost, but he wasn't. Same price all the time! Same price to every one.

Red Cross Knight

A feature of the Battalion Concert on Tuesday, Feb. 21st, will be a chorus of 20 male voices, rendering "The Red Cross Knight." Bandmaster Miller has the chorus in training and is doing good work. Other features of the concert will prove attractive, and the whole programme will be one of rare merit. Make a note of the date and don't miss the engagement. 1d31

A Complaint.

Complaints are made by some of the west enders that the corporation snow ploughs do not call out in that direction frequently enough. There is no doubt that they cover a lot of ground in a day and people cannot expect the drivers to do impossibilities.

Personal.

Mr. E. S. Stevens, of the Sherbrooke Que., Examiner, brother of Mr. W. H. Stevens, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was in town to-day and gave the REVIEW office a call.

Civic.

The Finance, Fire, Water and Light and Market Committees are called for Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

The Smallest Rate.

There is but one efficient way
To publish "WANTS" from day to day,
And that is through the REVIEW, indeed,
That finds for every want and need
A prompt return and quick reply,
That never fails to satisfy,
And what is more its well to state
At very far from largest rate.

PRINCE ALBERT.

A Growing Town in the Northwest—Its Progress and its Needs.

DEAR SIR.—Having still a soft spot in my heart for my native town and my many friends living there, I would like to write a few lines concerning Prince Albert, if you can afford a small space in your valuable paper.

When I arrived here about nine years ago Prince Albert consisted of a few log buildings scattered along the bank of the Saskatchewan river, for a distance of six or seven miles. Now it is quite a flourishing town with a population of about two thousand inhabitants. The town is incorporated and elects six councillors and Mayor. The growth of Prince Albert has been steady and sure, no boom or inflation, like many of the towns along the C.P.R. The amount of building every year has been uniform. The amount of last year's building has not been published yet, but it is up into the hundreds of thousands, and from present prospects next summer will be even better, and when you consider, Mr. Editor, that it is situated about three hundred miles from any railroad, it speaks well for the push and enterprise of its inhabitants.

The past season has been a very favorable one for the agricultural interests of the country and the average yield of grain has been good, wheat, oats and barley averaging respectively about 30, 70 and 80 bushels per acre, some of the oldest and best farmers having enormous yields.

Our greatest drawback is the want of home industries, in which there are some good openings for a little capital. Every thing that is needed here must be brought from below, which is a constant drain on the circulating capital. In the course of a year or so there will be a good trade spring up with towns growing up around us, which will make Prince Albert a distributing point. Prince Albert has a grand future ahead of it and must take a foremost position among the cities of the Northwest Territory.

We have enjoyed a pleasant winter so far, not so cold as it has been in former years and every body seemed bent on enjoying themselves during the holidays.

Thanking you for your kindness, I will close by wishing you and your many readers a Happy New Year.

Yours truly,
ROBT. T. GOODFELLOW.
Prince Albert, N. W. T.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

There are those who say, however, that it would be a much greater loss to Blowitz's literary fertility should he be deprived of the services of Alger, his private secretary. Alger is a short, thin, red haired man, possessed of remarkable energy. It has been whispered that without Alger Blowitz would have difficulty in maintaining his present reputation.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

THE EXPENDITURE ON THE NEW PARLIAMENT BUIDDINGS.

The Contractors Have Been Paid $110,000 Up to Date—More Bills to Amend the Municipal Act—Returns From the Provincial Registrars of Deeds Wanted.

More than half the members were not present at the 30-minute session of the Legislature yesterday afternoon. All the Ministers, however, were in their places. There is a sense of depression hanging over the chamber, the lobbies and the smoking-room for which no one seems able to account. Even the restaurant is dull. The only fun about the House is the race for the new agricultural portfolio. The party whips are having what sport there is in this plum, which the Government will soon put in a pie to be grabbed for.

A couple of bills to amend the unfortunate Municipal Act were sent up for a first reading.

Mr. French moved for an order of the House for a return from each registrar of deeds in Ontario, showing the number of instruments registered against lands, which purport to have been made for the purpose of procuring credit on the sale of goods, or whereby a purchaser of goods merely represents that he owns certain lands.

The member for South Grenville said he made this motion because he had become aware of a number of mortgages being registered against farms in this province by a device of manufacturers of farm machinery. A stipulation was printed in very small type in the corner of agreements for the purchase of these machines which was practically a mortgage on the farmer's land. The farmer did not understand that he was giving a mortgage on his property. Mr. French did not think that a mortgage obtained in this way should be registered. To the reporters he gave a copy of one of these agreements, which reads:

I, John Smith, do hereby certify that I own and have a deed duly registered in my name of one hundred acres of land, being west half of lot 20, 6th con., Oxbow Township, County of Piscrap, the present cash value of which is not less than $——, on which there is no incumbrance, and the within indebtedness to the Fake Manufacturing Company shall be a charge upon the said land until fully paid. This statement is made to the Fake Manufacturing Company for the purpose of procuring credit from them for the machine mentioned in the within order, and the same is delivered by them on the faith thereof, subject to the condition contained in the within agreement.

Mr. Hardy said the expense of such a return would be very great. If Mr. French had any document or information which he could give the Government the matter would be looked into.

The motion was then allowed to stand.

Mr. Meredith moved for an order of the House for a return showing what progress, or other estimates, have been issued in favor of the contractors for the new parliament and departmental buildings, and the amount expended to date on account of such buildings.

The Commissioner of Public Works said that all the money that had been paid in 1886 was to be found in the Public Accounts of 1887, and all paid during last year would be found in the Public Accounts for this year, now being printed.

Mr. Meredith asked the Commissioner if he could state the amounts.

Mr. Fraser: The total amount paid contractors up to date is $100,075. Of this sum $9000 had been paid in 1886, and all the balance in 1887.

Mr. Graham moved that in the opinion of this House it is desirable that the reporters for the press be allowed to occupy the Press Galleries during the reading of prayers by Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Meredith: Perhaps the Government will take up this question.

The motion was not pressed.

Gossip of the Corridors.

Mrs. Mowat will give an "At Home" to members of the Assembly at her St. George street residence on Friday evening.

Mr. Clarke, the member-elect for East Northumberland, and Mr. Whitney, member-elect for Dundas, have not yet put in an appearance. Mr. Clarke was expected to take his seat yesterday. Mr. Whitney will be introduced on Friday.

It is said a debate may be looked for to-morrow. This is what the galleries are dying for.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Is different," says Rodney.

"That is what I am afraid of always," says Mona, a little wistfully.

"Don't be afraid. It is quite the correct thing to be eccentric nowadays. One is nowhere if not bizarre," says Rodney, laughing; "so I dare say you will find yourself the very height of the fashion."

"Now I think you are making fun of me," says Mona, smiling sweetly, and lifting her hand she pinches his ear lightly, and very softly, lest she should hurt him.

Here the old woman at the fire, who has been watching with anxious manner the contents of the iron pot, takes it off the fire, and sniffing its steaming contents, says, "Maybe ye'd ate a pratie, would ye, now?" and Mona and Geoffrey, with laughing eyes, sit down and do honest justice to the homely fare.

"It might be that ye'd take a dhrop of new milk, too," says Betty, on hospitable thoughts intent," placing before her visitors a little jug of milk she has all day been keeping apart, poor soul, for her own delectation.

Not knowing this, Mona and Geoffrey (whose flask is empty) accept the proffered milk, and make merry over their impromptu feast, while in the background the old woman smiles upon them and utters little kindly sentences.

Ten minutes later, having bidden their hostess a hearty farewell, they step out into the open air and walk towards the farm.

"You have never told me how many people are in your house," says Mona, presently. "Tell me now. I know about your mother, and," shyly, "about Nicholas; but is there any one else?"

"Well, Jack is home by this time, I suppose—that's my second brother; at least he was expected yesterday; and Violet Mansergh is very often there; and as a rule, you know, there is always somebody; and that's all."

"Is—is Violet Mansergh a pretty girl?" asks Mona, grasping instinctively at the fact that any one called Violet Mansergh may be a possible rival.

"Pretty? No. But she dresses very swagger, and always looks nice, and is generally correct all through," says Mr. Rodney, easily.

"I know," says Mona, sadly.

"She's the girl my mother wanted me to marry, you know," goes on Rodney, unobservant, as men always are, of the small signals of distress hung out by his companion.

"Oh, indeed!" says Mona; and then, with downcast eyes, "but I don't know, because you never told me before."

"I thought I did," says Geoffrey, waking slowly to a sense of the situation.

"Well, you didn't," says Mona. "Are you engaged to her?"

"If I was, how could I ask you to marry me?" returns he, in a tone so hurt that she grows abashed.

"I hope she isn't in love with you," she says, slowly.

"You may bet anything you like on that," says Geoffrey, cheerfully. "She cares for me just about as much as I care for her, which means exactly nothing."

"I am very glad," says Mona, in a low tone.

"Why, Mona?"

"Because I could not bear to think any one was made unhappy by me. It would seem as though some evil eye was resting on our love," says Mona, raising her thoughtful, earnest eyes to his. "It must be a sad thing when our happiness causes the misery of others."

"Yet even were it so you would love me, Mona?"

"I shall always love you," says the girl, with sweet seriousness, "better than life. But in that case I should always, too, have a regret."

"There is no need for regret, darling," says he. "I am heart whole, and I know no woman that loves me, or for whose affection I should ask, except yourself."

"I am indeed dear to you, I think," says Mona, softly and thankfully, growing a little pale through the intensity of her emotion.

"'Perdition catch my soul, but I do love thee,'" replies he, quite as softly.

Then she is pleased, and slips her hand into his, and goes along the quiet road beside him with a heart in which high jubilee holds sway. Yet after a few moments the smile fades from her mobile lips and a pensive expression takes its place.

"I think I'd like to see myself in a regular evening gown," she says, wistfully.

"So should I," says Rodney, eagerly, but incorrectly; "at least, not myself, but you—in something handsome, you know, open at the neck, and your pretty arms bare, as they were the first day I saw you."

"How you remember that, now!" says Mona, with a heavenly smile, and a faint pressure of the fingers that still rest in his. "Yes, I should like to be sure before I marry you that—that—fashionable clothes would become me. But of course," regretfully, "you will understand I haven't a gown of that sort. I once sat in Lady Crighton's room while her maid dressed her for dinner, so I know all about it."

She sighs, then looks at the sky, and—sighs again.

"And do you know," she says, with charming naïveté, not looking at him, but biting a blade of grass in a distractingly pretty and somewhat pensive fashion, "do you know her neck and arms are not a patch on mine?"

"You needn't tell me that. I'm positive they couldn't be named in the same day," says Geoffrey, enthusiastically, who never in his life saw Lady Crighton, or her neck or arms.

"No, they are not. Geoffrey, people look much better when they are beautifully dressed, don't they?"

"Some women in the great world overdo it," he replies, "and choose things and colors utterly unsuited to their style. They are slaves to fashion. But—

"'My love in her attire doth show her wit;
It doth so well become her.'"

"Ah, how you flatter!" says Mona.—Nevertheless, being a woman, and the flattery being directed to herself, she takes it kindly.

"No, you must not think that. To wear anything that becomes you must be the perfection of dressing. Why wear a Tam O'Shanter hat when one looks hideous in it? And then too much study spoils effect; you know what Herrick says:

"'A careless shoe-string, in whose tie
I see a wild civility,
Does more bewitch me than when art
Is too precise in every part.'"

"How pretty that is! Yet I should like you to see me, if only for once, as you have seen others," says Mona.

POKING FUN!

The Public are at the moment somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprises largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8.75, this is an all wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3 75 and a pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits really nice and lot of them $1.95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPARD'S, where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

DAILY MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, Feb. 5.

The grain and produce market to-day at home was quiet and steady, while the Chicago was dull and weaker. The European markets were generally quiet, but firm.

On call at the Board of Trade to-day: One car of Manitoba wheat, by sample, on the track sold at 78c. For No. 2 red winter 83½c was bid.

The car lots received at Chicago to-day were: Wheat 43, corn 203 and oats 112. Estimated receipts for Tuesday are: Wheat 95, corn 450 and oats 215 cars.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago Stock Yards to-day is: Estimated receipts 15,000, official on Saturday 13,468, shipments 3753, left over about 11,000. Cattle receipts 9000. Market quiet.

The visible supply shows a decrease in wheat of 634,542 bushels, oats 111,546 and an increase in corn of 679,369.

LOCAL STREET MARKET.

The local market to-day was quiet and prices steady. About 1000 bushels of barley sold at 76c to 82½c a bushel, 200 of wheat at 81c to 83c for fall, 77c to 81c for spring and 73c to 74c for goose, and 200 of oats at 46c to 47c. In general lines business was slack and prices stationary.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The retail market to-day was very dull and prices are without change.

THE CHANCELLOR'S SPEECH

EUROPEAN COMMENTS UPON PRINCE BISMARCK'S ADDRESS.

The Spectacle in the Reichstag—Fealty to the Cause of the Fatherland's Defence—Congratulations From All Parts of the Empire.

VIENNA, Feb. 7.—The Political Correspondence says that Prince Bismarck's speech yesterday shows that the appearance of the Austro-German treaty was not the percursor of a serious phase of political affairs. The central powers, the paper says, have no intention to demand that Russia disarm, but the earnest declarations of Prince Bismarck should prove that further armaments are not needed.

Fealty to Fatherland.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The Times' London despatch says: "Under the inspiration of Prince Bismarck's closing words about Germany's position, wedged between enemies, and her determination to seek or provoke no war, and to fight to the death if attacked, there was a spectacle rarely seen in the Reichstag before. The leaders of every one of the groups into which the body is divided rose and earnestly echoed his words, and swore fealty to the cause of the Fatherland's defence. The whole scene, as described by a Berlin despatch, must have been wonderfully dramatic and impressive.

Russia's Great Eastern Mission.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 7.—The Viedomosti says the publication of the Austro-German treaty is an act of political incivility and the treaty itself an act of perfidy and ingratitude towards the late Czar, to whom Germany was greatly indebted for her unity.

The Grashdanin, the official organ, insists that the treaty is offensive as well as defensive, and advocates Russia's abstention from all European counter alliances. Russia, it says, can have no dealings with Europe, not even with France, but must confine herself to her great eastern mission.

Hungarian Criticisms.

PESTH, Feb. 7.—Some of the journals here criticise the reference in Prince Bismarck's speech to Bulgaria. Well informed persons believe that Prince Bismarck's views in regard to that country coincide with those of Austria. The speech is regarded as a corroboration of the impression that the Austro-German treaty was published with a peaceful intention.

Other Treaties of Alliance.

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—Prince Bismarck in his speech referred to certain other powers with which Germany has concluded treaties of alliance similar to those between Germany and Austria and Germany and Italy. It is rumored to day that Spain, Roumania and Sweden are the countries referred to.

England and Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 7.—The Moscow Gazette proposes a nearer rapprochement with England and asserts that Lord Randolph Churchill on his recent visit conversed seriously with Russian statesmen on the necessity of England and Russia mutually guaranteeing themselves against the dangers from the central European league and Prince Bismarck's Cæsarism.

At the court ball last night the Czar was especially amiable to the foreign ambassadors. At supper Gen. von Schweinitz, the German Ambassador, was seated on the Empress' right and Count von Wolkenstein-Trostburg, the Austrian Ambassador, on the left.

The Chancellor Congratulated.

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—Prince Bismarck is receiving telegrams from all parts of the Empire congratulating him upon his speech and approving the views he expressed.

The Unscrupulous Teuton.

PARIS, Feb. 7.—The leading organs, including The Journal des Debats, The Paix and The Siecle credit Prince Bismarck with pacific intentions. The Radical papers demand that France enter into a defensive alliance against the "unscrupulous Teutons."

Russia's Pacific Aspiration.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 7.—In political and official circles here it is believed that the profoundly pacific tone of Prince Bismarck's speech, which agrees with Russia's aspirations, will produce an excellent and tranquillizing impression everywhere.

Emperor William's Approval.

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—Emperor William received Prince Bismarck to-day and expressed his approval of the latter's speech in the Reichstag yesterday.

German Opinion.

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—The North German Gazette says yesterday's manifestation in the Reichstag reflects not only the agreement of the whole German people with Bismarck's policy, but it also testifies to the unity and strength with which they are ready in every way to accomplish the task and act as guardians of the peace.

The National Zeitung says Prince Bismarck's declarations against every aggressive war are and will remain the permanent guiding star of the German people.

The Nossische Zeitung says it is impossible to build a golden bridge for peace in a more friendly manner than Prince Bismarck did in his speech yesterday.

Grand Lodge A. O. U. W. in Session.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 7.—The fifteenth annual meeting of the Grand Lodge A.O.U.W. began a three-days' session in Empire Hall here to-day. Representatives from 363 lodges of the order are present.

Shot His Wife and Himself.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 7.—A laborer named O'Neill quarreled with his wife this morning and shot and killed her. He then shot himself through the head. The wound is fatal.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

The Provincial Lawmakers Remain Thirty Minutes in Session.

TORONTO, Feb. 7.

The Legislature sat for a whole half hour yesterday afternoon. There was a full attendance of members and the galleries were crowded. The session was principally devoted to the introduction of bills. There was a little fun over Mr. Graham's resolution for the admission of the reporters to the gallery during prayers. A great deal of desk-pounding followed the reading of the resolution.

Mr. Graham said that in moving this he did not wish to insinuate that the reporters were particularly in need of hearing the prayers read—[hear, hear]—but he thought the custom was one which could not be defended. [A voice: "What?" Having closed doors during prayers. [Laughter.] There was an impression abroad that the House was exclusive at prayer time, and the only way to obviate it was to allow there porters to occupy their galleries. He only regretted that his motion was not wide enough to admit the public.

While Mr. Graham was speaking Mr. O'Connor, the seconder, slipped out, and the motion died on transit to the Speaker.

Mr. Meredith moved for a return of copies of all commissions of inquiry issued during the years 1886 and 1887; the subject of the inquiry in each case; the names of the commissioners, their salary or other remuneration, and a statement of the expenses of each such inquiry. Such return to show whether the commissioners or any of them held any, and if so, what other office or employment in the public service of the province. He was of opinion that Government employes should not be paid for such work.

The Attorney-General had no objection to the motion, but would explain that it had been the practice to employ the most competent persons available for this work, and in case of a government official's appointment extra expenses only were allowed.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. Meredith moved for a return of copies of all orders-in-council or other regulations, with regard to timber dues, passed since Jan. 1, 1886. He understood from the public press that pressure had been brought to bear on hon. gentlemen opposite to not make an increase in the dues this year, but had not been successful. He held that it would be of benefit to the lumber industry to have the dues settled definitely.

The motion was agreed to.

Hon. A. S. Hardy explained why it was that the press and public were not admitted during prayers. The first few minutes of the sessions were devoted to questions of privilege. If the public and press representatives were admitted and a question of privilege came up the galleries would have to be cleared and this would be annoying.

Mr. Meredith pointed out that the prayers as they were, did not apply especially to reporters. In case of the admission of reporters the prayers would have to be remodeled.

Hon. C. Fraser also explained the object of having prayers with closed doors.

Mr. Mowat said the prayers were printed and the reporters knew all about them. It was merely on account of the question of privilege, not a desire to keep anybody out, that the doors were closed.

These bills were introduced and read a first time:

By Mr. Phelps—An act to amend the Revised Statutes, cap. 72, respecting Police Magistrates.

By Mr. G. B. Smith—An act to amend the Municipal Act.

By Mr. Clarke (Wellington)—An act to amend the Municipal Act.

By Mr. Gibson (Hamilton)—An act to amend the acts respecting short forms of mortgages.

By Mr. Leys—An act respecting Trinity Church, Toronto.

By Mr. Garson—An act respecting the St. Catharines, Merriton and Thorold Street Railway.

By Mr. Stratton—An act to amend the act incorporating the Wm. Hall Peterboro Protestant Poor Trust.

By Mr. Morgan—An act respecting the South Norfolk Railway Company.

By Mr. Meredith—An act to renew the charter of the Saugeen Railway Company and to extend the time for the completion of the said railway.

THOSE TRENTON SCAMPS.

Smith and Bryson Looking Around Chicago for "Unquestionable Security."

TORONTO, Feb. 8.

The creditors, and they are numerous in all parts of Canada, of Smith & Bryson, the Trenton firm which assigned last week, are beginning to realize that they have been badly victimized. An examination of the books just concluded by a solicitor representing the 120 creditors shows that the estimate previously made of the probable returns from the estate has unfortunately been too large. If they realize 30 cents on the $1 the creditors believe they will do well. The assets, made up of a miscellaneous stock, are placed at $60,000, and the liabilities at $100,000. The firm was rated as A1 by a certain commercial agency up to the time of its assignment. They did a large cash business, but were in the habit of buying on long credits from anybody who would trust them. The failure was brought about by a systematic process of "milking" the business, extending over 12 months, and during that period $40,000 was taken.

The firm's indebtedness to Toronto houses is said to be about $50,000, or $15,000 more than Montreal merchants have lost. The principal creditors are Thibedeau & Co., Montreal, $8000; Gordon, McKay & Co., W. R. Brock & Co., and Tait, Burch & Co., Toronto, averaging $7000 each. The firm has many other creditors in Toronto for smaller amounts.

The announcement of the failure was an unpleasant surprise to the firm's creditors. On Jan. 27 Smith & Bryson mailed a circular to their creditors in which they announced their assignment to the sheriff of Hastings. "We do not see our way clear," they added, "to tide through the coming spring without asking our friends to come to our assistance, but in order to secure the necessary aid we are obliged to ask our creditors to accept 75 cents on the dollar of our indebtedness. With this concession on their part we can furnish unquestionable security, and with the business we now have established we feel sure of making it a success in future."

On the day following the assignment Smith came up from Trenton along with one of his Montreal creditors for the purpose of meeting the Toronto merchants to whom the firm was indebted. He disappeared the following day, without carrying out his object, and is now believed to be in Chicago, where he was joined by Bryson last week. They gave it out when leaving Trenton that they were going away to hunt up the "unquestionable security" referred to in their circular. The creditors will hold a meeting next week and appoint an assignee to wind up the estate.

MONTREAL WHITE SLAVES.

EVIDENCE TAKEN BY THE LABOR COMMISSION LAST NIGHT.

A Large Number of Cigarmakers and Apprentices Examined—Revolting Treatment of Boys and Girls in Cigar Factories—Wages and Fines.

MONTREAL, Feb. 7.—J. M. Fortier having denied the evidence given before the Labor Commission yesterday, the room was to-night crowded with cigarmakers anxious to back up the testimony of their fellow-employes.

Madame Goyotte, mother of the little boy spoken of yesterday, testified that her boy had been brought home four years ago suffering severely from a beating received at Fortier's. The boy has been in poor health ever since; he had only worked two years out of four since the assault was committed. She was a poor widow and depended on her children's earnings for support. She had no doubt that the poor health of the child was caused by the beating given him in the cigar factory.

Adelard Lavoie had seen Fortier's foreman strike a boy on the back with a mould cover, a board 22 inches long and 2½ inches thick. The foreman had then taken the boy by the hips and jumped him on the ground till the boy was unconscious. Witness took the boy to the window till he revived and then carried him home in a street car. Witness had seen other children brutally beaten at Fortier's. Had himself been put in the black hole, which is down cellar and built of mason work.

Joseph Gagnon, apprentice at Fortier's, a few weeks ago earned $1.75, and had 75 cents taken away in fines. Had been put in the black hole. Had been fined 75 cents for not performing his daily task of a certain stated quantity.

Charles Ware had an argument about a mould with a girl in Fortier's factory, and had been put in the black hole therefor and kept there two hours. Had been struck across the wrist with a mould.

Joseph Faille had been fined $2 in one week, when his earnings were only $4. There were no rules governing fines. They were left to the foreman. They were usually the amount of extra made. He had been fined 10 cents, and on asking the reason had it increased to 25 cents. He had paid $75 to $100 during his three years of apprenticeship.

Horace Laframboise worked at Goulet's, who employed no journeymen. He had been arrested and taken before the Recorder for showing another boy. He was acquitted. The same week he was fined $1. He knew no reason except getting acquitted.

Wm. Plante had been beaten by three foremen at Fortier's. His trowsers were taken down. He was previously put in the black-hole two hours. He felt the effects of the beating for a considerable time afterwards. He had been in the hole on two other occasions.

George Robinson had seen children beaten at other cigar factories, but knew of no other with a black-hole.

Joseph Fournier had seen Fortier beat a little girl of 15 because she refused to sweep. He threw her down, placed one knee on her and struck her with a mould cover. The girl cried bitterly, and when left could scarcely rise. Witness was then 20 years old, but did not feel strong enough to take the girl's part. This was four years ago. The girl was still employed at the same factory.

Edward Arcouette had been placed in the hole and beaten several times with the cover of a mould for laughing and talking. He got quite accustomed to this treatment, although it sometimes made him sick.

Jacques Claude worked as apprentice for three months and got $1 in all. At the end of the last week he owed the firm 20 cents for that week's work. He then feigned fits and was allowed to leave the factory.

The U.S. Tariff and the Farmers.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The Tribune will publish to-morrow the report of the committee selected to consider and report upon several thousand letters received by The Tribune from individual farmers, agricultural societies, clubs and granges regarding the influence of the tariff upon agricultural industry and the changes in tariff desired by farmers. The report concludes by recommending that all farmers' organizations and individual farmers who approve sign a petition to the Speaker of the House of Representatives for the more effectual protection of agriculture. The petition prays, among other things, for an increase of duty on barley, malt, potatoes, onions, cabbages, hay, eggs, fowls and other farm products, and the abolition of the sugar duty, with a bounty to home producers.

Fatal Accident at Petrolea.

PETROLEA, Feb. 7.—John McColl, aged 15 years, son of Mr. P. H. McColl, merchant of this town, was instantly killed here to-day. He was helping to erect a derrick, and one of the large poles fell down on him, striking him on the head.

A Cincinnati Bank President Arrested.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 7.—Wm. Means, President of the Metropolitan Bank, was arrested this afternoon for violation of the national banking law.

THE HALTON ELECTION.

Mr. Henderson, Conservative, Chosen by 149 Majority Over Mr. McLeod, Reformer.

MILTON, Feb. 7.—In the election for the House of Commons in Halton to-day Mr. Henderson, Conservative, was elected by a majority of 149 over Mr. McLeod, Reformer. Following are the majorities:

IRELAND AND THE VATICAN.

The Pope Not Opposed to the Irish People's Legitimate Aspirations.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The Tribune's London despatch says: Before the end of the week, possibly before he has had time to make his apologies in the House of Commons, Mr. Balfour will have been placed in a very awkward fix by Mr. Shaw-Lefevre. Practically he will have to chose whether he will carry out another eviction campaign for Lord Clanricarde or put Mr. Shaw-Lefevre, ex-Minister of the Crown, into prison, and with him Messrs. Bruner and Rowntree, members of Parliament, and Sir J. Carmichael, late Private Secretary to Mr. Gladstone. Lord Clanricarde is bent on war to the knife. His agent goes about bragging that he will pour out money without stint to crush the tenants. He has applied for 200 ejectment decrees within the past few days. In the six months to the end of January, 687 persons have been prosecuted under Balfour's Coercion Act, and of these 540 have been put in jail.

Moderate Views.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, speaking at Bristol last night, said he had no desire to rejoin the Ministry, and if he did so it would be at the wish of others. He still maintained that the Irish policy he advocated was absolutely antagonistic to Gladstone's scheme. He thought there was very little in the Government's program to test the bond that united the Conservatives and Liberal-Unionists. He urged reform of the church and of the House of Lords in the direction of the moderate views of all parties.

Ireland and the Vatican.

DUBLIN, Feb. 7.—Archbishop Macevilly, at the opening of the annual retreat in Tuam Cathedral to-day, declared that he had authority to deny the rumors that the Pope is opposed to the legitimate aspirations of the Irish people. The high position of His Holiness imposed reserve but he had never turned against Ireland.

A Warrant for Mr. Blane.

DUBLIN, Feb. 7.—Mr. Blane, M.P., left Armagh suddenly to-day for London. It is reported that a warrant has been issued for his arrest.

PERFECTLY SATISFIED.

A Hamilton Deputation at Montreal—The Smith-Oxley Seduction Case.

HAMILTON, Feb. 7.—A deputation from this city waited on Mr. Hickson, General Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, at Montreal, yesterday, and asked whether, in view of the amalgamation of the Northern and Northwestern line with the Grand Trunk, the privileges conferred on the City of Hamilton by that line will be continued. The deputation express themselves as perfectly satisfied with the result of the interview.

Mr. Schepp, the New York cocoa manufacturer, is in the city to-day. He intends starting a factory in Canada within the next month, and is looking through Hamilton with that end in view.

Frank Manere, brakeman on the Northern and Northwestern Railway, had two of his fingers taken off while coupling cars at Beeton on Monday. He lives at 7 Ferguson-avenue, and was brought home this morning.

At the Police Court this morning George Smith was arraigned on a charge of seducing his grand-daughter, Mary Elizabeth Oxley, in March last. He pleaded not guilty. The girl, who was 16 years old in May last, and who is very good looking, swore that Smith was the cause of her trouble. The evidence showed that Oxley and his wife, four or five daughters and Smith lived in the one house, in which there were only two bed-rooms, the old man and the four girls being compelled to occupy one room. Three witnesses were examined, and the defendant was committed to stand his trial at next Assizes.

Death of a South Ontario Ex-M.P.P.

OSHAWA, Feb. 7.—Mr. Abram Farewell, ex-M.P.P. for South Ontario, passed quietly away this morning at 5 o'clock at his residence at Harmony.

[Mr. Farewell was born in Harmony Dec. 21, 1812. In 1854 he was made a justice of the peace. In 1854 and again in 1865 he contested South Ontario for the Canadian Parliament unsuccessfully. In 1871 he contested the same riding for the Legislative Assembly and was elected. At an early period of his life he joined the Disciples' Church, and ever since has been a faithful member of that denomination. In politics he was a Liberal.]

Bonspiel at Kingston.

KINGSTON, Feb. 7.—The bonspiel of the Central Canada Curling Association was opened this morning by a match between Almonte and Carleton Place. Almonte won by 13 shots, the score being Almonte 46, Carleton Place 33. This afternoon's match, Arnprior v. Renfrew, resulted in a victory for the former, the score being Arnprior 47, Renfrew 26.

THE SIX MONTHS' LIMIT.

ELECTION CASES IN THE SUPREME COURT.

A Big Freight Steamer for the Grain Trade Between Port Arthur and Kingston—The Proposed School of Cavalry at Toronto.

OTTAWA, Feb. 7.—The Supreme Court will meet on Feb. 21. There are six election and nineteen other cases inscribed for hearing, besides five appeals from Exchequer Court decisions. The election cases are Glengarry, L'Assomption, Montmagny, Maskinonge and Quebec County, all of which are on the ground of the six months' limit, and Russell, which is on the ground of the insufficiency of the petition. It is understood that this latter case will be withdrawn when called.

A despatch from Pictou, N.S., says that a detective named Curless, who is employed by the Inland Revenue Department, has been arrested and committed for trial on a charge of perjury, preferred by some parties whom he was prosecuting for violation of the excise laws.

Mayor Stewart had an interview to-day with Hon. J. H. Pope, Minister of Railways and Canals, and urged upon him the necessity of the Government building a bridge across the Rideau Canal somewhere in the neighborhood of Somerset-street. It will be remembered that three years ago the Government assumed the maintenance of the three passenger bridges across the canal within the city limits, viz: Dufferin, Sappers and Maria streets. It is now represented that the city is growing so rapidly that another bridge south of the one at Maria-street is a necessity and that as the Government has agreed to maintain the existing bridges, it ought to build the new one. The Minister promised that the matter should receive consideration.

Lieut.-Governor Dewdney, Indian Commissioner, and Mr. H. H. Smith, Dominion Lands Agent at Winnipeg, are here on business with the Department of the Interior and Indian Affairs, principally with reference to the preparation of their annual reports and preparing for next week's work. The presence of the former in the city has revived the stories of his re-entry into political life on retiring from the Lieutenant-Governorship of the Northwest next May, in which position it is currently remarked he will be succeeded by Hon. Mr. Royal, although, of course, no official announcement has been made, nor is it at all likely to be made for some months to come. There is a very general impression that Mr. Dewdney will be called to the Senate as one of the representatives from the Northwest, and that on the rearrangement of the Cabinet, which will probably take place after the close of the session, so as to bring the acts of last year relating to the Department of Trade and Commerce and the appointment of a Solicitor-General into force, Mr. Dewdney will enter the Cabinet as the representative of the section west of Ontario. Some of the wise ones who profess to know, say that he will be Superintendent-General of Indian Affairs, which office will be made a separate one, and not held by one of the Ministers of other departments, as has hitherto been the case.

Mr. Thos. Marks of Port Arthur had an interview to-day with Hon. Mackenzie Bowell with reference to the importation of a steamer which is now being built it Scotland at a cost of over $100,000. She is intended for the grain trade between Port Arthur and Kingston and will be the largest freight vessel afloat on Lake Erie. On her arrival at Montreal she will be cut in half so as to pass through the St. Lawrence canals, and it was the intention of Mr. Marks to have her put together in an American port, but on the Minister of Customs pointing out that in that case he would have to pay duty on the amount of work done on the vessel in the United States and that the labor might be performed just as satisfactorily at Deseronto or some other Canadian port and the duty avoided, Mr. Marks looked favorably on the suggestion and will doubtless take advantage of it.

There appears to be a growing feeling in favor of the establishment of a school of cavalry at Toronto. Should the idea be carried into effect it is more than likely that a detachment in connection with the Royal Military College will be established, when the cadets in the senior classes can have the use of the horses for riding instruction.

The Post Office Department is taking active steps to provide for the increased business which it is expected will follow the establishment of the parcel post between Canada and the United States on March 1. The parcels office built in the yard of the Toronto Postoffice some time ago will be enlarged, and several rooms in the Montreal postoffice, now used by the Militia Department, will be taken possession of as speedily as possible by the postal authorities so that no delay may occur in handling the increased quantity of matter.

The enlistment of men for D School of Infantry, London, which opens on April 2, is getting on well. The required number has been secured but the officers have not yet been appointed.

Mr. Percy Woods expects to have the sharpshooters' monument to Privates Rogers and Osgoode completed in time to have it unveiled by His Excellency the Governor-General next October.

Sir Hector Langevin left for Quebec this afternoon. He will attend Lieut.-Gov. Angers ball to-morrow night and on Thursday will be the recepient of an address from the Young Conservatives of Quebec. On Saturday evening he will be present at the banquet to Sir Adolphe Caron and will return to the city on Monday.

OLD WORLD WORSHIP.

CRUCIFIXES AT THE CROSSROADS OF AUSTRIA AND BAVARIA.

The Muezzin on the Balcony of the Mohammedan Minaret—The Sanctimonious Persian—Fanatical Afghans—The Hindoos—Chinamen and Japanese.

Few things were more interesting to me than the different modes of worship that I saw among the various nations whose countries I traveled on my tour around the world on a bicycle. From the irreligious cowboy of the wild west, who prides himself on caring for neither God, man nor devil, to the gentle Hindoo penitent dragging his emaciated body hundreds of miles that he may die on the banks of the sacred Ganges, are many interesting forms of worship, many strange beliefs.

In traveling along the roads of Catholic Europe one of the most impressive things to the observant American is the big crucifixes erected at the crossroads.

As one gets farther eastward into Catholic Bavaria and Austria these crossroad crucifixes present a very curious appearance. Attached to the crosslike frame are seen saws, axes, plowshares, hayrakes, pitchforks, spades and all manner of agricultural implements. Sometimes the crucifixes are varied by snug little brick shrines containing images of the Virgin Mary, sundry of the saints and various Roman Catholic paraphernalia. Candles are burnt before the little doll like images of these wayside saints on holy days and votive offerings are made by the superstitious peasantry.

Five times a day, in Mohammedan countries, the muezzin goes up on to the balcony of the tall minaret and sings out in a voice that can be heard half a mile away: "There is no God but one God, and Mohammed is his prophet." Hearing this the devout Mussulman murmurs "Allah-il-Allah" in response, and pausing in whatever he may be doing he spreads his coat or something on the ground, slips his shoes off and, prostrating himself several times toward Mecca, recites sundry passages of the Koran. When the Mohammedan enters the sacred precincts of the mosque he leaves his shoes at the door and enters in his stockinged feet or in light slippers especially provided at the door by an attendant. The headgear is never removed by the Mussulmans for religious exercises, as with ourselves.

One of the most sanctimonious individuals in the world is the Persian. Belonging to the Shiah branch of the Mohammedan faith, the Persians fairly outdo the rest of the world, not excepting even our noble Christian selves, in considering themselves the elect of all the peoples of the earth. In passing a Christian in the bazars the Persian imam or seyced will gather his flowing gown closely about him, lest perchance it should brush against the infidel and contaminate him by the contact. These people, too, would as soon think of committing suicide as drinking water from the same cup as a Christian. The Persians are far more fanatical than the Turks. I have been inside plenty of Turkish mosques, and have stood on the minaret balcony with the muezzin and listened to him shouting the summons to prayer; but to penetrate into a Persian mosque would mean trouble.

Five times a day the Persian halts in whatever he may be doing, and, prostrating himself toward Mecca, mumbles his prayers. As a general thing he carries, stowed away in his hammerbund, a small oval cake of holy clay, from the sacred soil of Mecca, Meshed or Kerbella, which he places on the ground before him as he prays. Every time he prostrates himself he touches his forehead to the bit of sacred clay instead of the common earth. By this process he is supposed to absorb a certain portion of the spiritual advantages appertaining to the worshiper dwelling or visiting at the holy city itself.

More fanatical and dangerous, because less civilized and more warlike than their Persian neighbors, are the Afghans. These valiant and turbulent warriors of Islam present the extreme wing of Mussulman fanaticism and religious fervor these days. To that strange, wild country in southern Khorassan my mind wanders intuitively whenever I think of the Mohammedan religion and its faithful devotees. When at sunset the people would turn toward the west (Mecca being west from that country) and perform their customary prostrations and prayers they would fall to wondering among themselves why it was that I too did not follow suit. Why was it that I, of all the people there, omitted to bow my forehead to the ground and sing out, "There is no God save one God, and Mohammed is his prophet." I used to explain to them that most Christians devote one day out of seven to the worship of Allah, and appropriate the remaining six to their own use. At this they would regard me with greater astonishment than ever.

As we pursue our course through India the people who now stare in mute wonderment at the bicycle are heathens who will have none of the Christian or Islamite God. The gods they worship are numberless almost as the blades of grass in a meadow. The Hindoos have invested many things with the order of sanctity. The trees are sacred; rivers, mountains, birds and animals are objects of worship and veneration. Now and then I came across a tree, a neem, beel, peepul or banyan, streaked with red paint. This would be a tree especially selected for the purpose of worship as representing some particular god. The god the Hindoo travelers or outlying villagers could not have with them always, but they could always have the tree, and so by worshiping the tree, his representative, would they gain the ear of some hideous idol sitting in state in his chivala at Benares. A common sight would be that of a ring of dusky natives formed around a sacred tree, prostrating themselves and paying their devotions.

The natives of Bengal seemed to me to fall down and worship almost anything that contributed to their animal comforts. There is something grotesquely practical in paying one's devotion to a bowl of rice or a jar of arrack, and this is what the bland and worshipful Bengal villager does every day in the year.

The worship of John Chinaman is so mixed up with superstition and with heathenish rites and ceremonies for the propitiation of evil spirits that it would take a good sized volume to give any adequate idea of it at all. Joss sticks, lighted paper, firecrackers and all sorts of uncanny things are employed to protect the Celestial from the myriads of evil spirits inhabiting earth, air and water, and which are ever ready to pounce out and do him harm. The Japs—well, the Japs seemed to me comical, even at their devotions. The gentle followers of Buddhism and Shintoism seemed to me like happy children playing at being religious, just as they seemed to be playing at keeping shop, playing at being farmers, artisans, priests and boatmen.—Thomas Stevens in New York Mail and Express.

It may comfort some American to learn that the queen's railway coach doesn't begin to compare in luxuriousness with our American palace car, in which one can ride all day for $2. This ought to make a fellow more content to ride on an accommodation train. —Chicago News.

Fire at Listowel.

LISTOWEL, Feb. 7.—Fire broke out about 11.30 last night in a frame blacksmith and wagon shop owned by Robinson & White, which was totally destroyed, also a frame stable owned and occupied by R. F. Lustig; shop insured in Mercantile for $500. No insurance on contents or stable; loss $1200.

CURIOSITIES OF LIFE.

Mrs. Holloway Evans, of Marion county, S. C., has given birth to five children inside of one year.

A Petersburg, Va., patriarch, 75 years of age, is now living with his eighth wife, and is the happy father of thirty-six children.

Dr. H. A. Spencer, who died in Erie, Pa., Jan. 1, predicted a week before Christmas that his death would occur on New Year's day.

A man in Thomaston, Ga., is said to have caught 567 chimney swallows in one night by putting a board over the chimney where they came to roost.

Henry Dennison, hunting on the great Opeongo, Renfrew county, Ont., found in an old shanty a man who had lost his way and had not eaten anything in twenty-five days.

A well recently opened by Dr. H. Lane, of Portland, Ore., surprised its proprietor by changing the temperature of the water so that it now has in it twenty-five feet of boiling hot water.

In the cemetery of Menosha, O., is a tombstone of sixteen tons, cut in the form of a tree with birds and squirrels lodged in its branches, and ferns, flowers, an open book, and a scroll of music at the base.

After the battle of Spottsylvania, W. R. Mullins, of Union Point, Ga., picked up a knife and fork on the battle field. He took them home with him after the war, and from that day to this has never eaten a meal without them.

A negro thief was found lying dead near Wilmington, N. C., by the body of a hog he had stolen and killed. It was evident that while trying to carry the hog away he had strained himself and apparently died instantly of heart disease.

The wife of John Bradford, of Wilmington, Del., left her bed while fast asleep, walked from the chamber into the hall and fell down stairs, breaking her nose and sustaining other severe injuries. She had been dreaming at the time of a similar accident which had occurred to an acquaintance, a lady, a year ago.

DAUGHTERS OF EVE.

M. Maurice Bernhardt's wife is said to be particularly pretty and a clever artist.

In Morocco women who talk scandal are punished by having cayenne pepper rubbed into their lips.

Mrs. Garfield, mother of President Garfield, is 87 years old, but retains her mental faculties and is comparatively strong in body.

A girl employed as waiter in a Homer (Mich.) hotel, was bitten by a mad dog ten years ago and now has her second attack of hydrophobia.

Mrs. Charles Dickens, who is visiting this country with her husband, is described as a motherly, sweet faced little English woman of the true British type.

Mrs. Mary Gallagher, of South Bethlehem, Pa., is 104 years old, and recently danced a jig to the music of a violin. She belongs to the famous family of the L. H. G. Gallaghers.

Robert Louis Stevenson's wife has left the Adirondacks for a short period. She is now in Philadelphia for the first time in her life. She says she is impressed by the cleanliness of that city.

A young woman of Bangor, Me., who had been forbidden by a jealous suitor to go to a dance with a rival, had the jealous swain arrested and lodged in a cell, and she went to the dance with the other fellow.

A number of young ladies of Hastings, Neb., met in council recently and passed resolutions declining to attend balls with the young men unless the latter consent to supply them with invitations to the opera occasionally.

Miss Sallie Kennedy is said to be one of the most successful real estate agents in Washington. She succeeded to the business on the death of her father. During one week recently she is said to have realized several thousand dollars in commissions.

Signorina Tua, the accomplished violinist, was unfortunate in the time or the manner of her visit to this country. Her manager has paid her $5,000 forfeit money, and she has returned to Europe, where her performance meets with heartier appreciation than it has been accorded here.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there was a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

At the Rink.

Skaters, attention. Band at the rink every Friday night. d151—tf.

Piano Tuning.

Mr. Geo. Gumpricht is in town. Orders may be left at Mr. T. Menzies or Messrs Taylor & McDonald's store.

Another.

Four Committees will meet on Friday evening, the Streets and Bridge having been added to the others this afternoon.

Cleaned.

Terry Smith and his snow ploughs had lots of work to do this morning and they covered a large area of the town before the noon hour. It generally takes two days to clean all the sidewalks.

Curling.

Two curling matches are in progress as we go to press, at the Lansdowne Rink, between the Lindsay and Peterborough players, the seniors of each place playing two rinks a side and the juniors one.

From Grave to Gay.

The Ottawa Free Press says:—"Mr. Belford possesses a powerful, pleasing, and well trained voice, combined with great facial flexibility. He carries the audience from grave to gay, from the burlesque to the pathetic, in a way which probably no other elocutionist could accomplish." Opera House, Peterborough, Thursday evening, Feb. 9th. 1d32

Filling a Tank.

The large tank at the Central school that supplies the boiler with water for heating purposes, was pumped dry yesterday, for the first time in three years. It is usually kept full by the rain from the roofs of the buildings, but that article has been so scarce lately that sufficient could not be procured. A line of hose was attached to a neighboring hydrant and in a few minutes the tank was filled.

The "Royal" Flavoring Extracts are absolutely pure.

Winter Sports.

The Canadian winter affords opportunities for many kinds of excellent sports. Among the most fascinating of them is that of skating, and the most enjoyable sport of that kind is a successful fancy dress carnival. The carnival that will be held on Tuesday evening next promises to be one of the best ever held in Peterborough, the prizes offered being very liberal and the prize list arranged in a way that cannot fail to draw out new and elegant costumes. See the prizes in the window of Mr. A. McNeil's store, and prepare at once to secure one of them, if you haven't done so already. If you do not compete, be sure and reserve the date for attending the carnival to see the magnificent spectacle on ice.

Temperance Entertainment.

An entertainment held at Auburn on Tuesday evening was largely attended, a number being present from town and the house well filled. It was under the auspices of Auburn Council of Royal Templars of Temperance. Mr. W. Hartley presided and opened the proceedings with a short address. The following programme was then carried out:—Solo, Miss Jinks; recitation, Mr. R. Way; trio, Mrs. Craig, Miss Jinks and Mr. Edgcumbe; mind reading, Mr. J. Hendry; solo, Mrs. Alfred Johnston; dialogue, Mrs. Moore and Miss Kearns; solo, Miss Dormer; recitation, Miss Sanders; duet, Mrs. Craig and Mr. Edgcumbe; recitation, Mr. Cummings; dialogue, Miss Jinks, Miss Swinton and Mr. Bone; dialogue, Miss Jinks and Mr Gaskin. The programme was well carried out and several of the numbers were especially good. Mr. Hendry surprised the audience with several very successful experiments in mind reading. The entertainment concluded with the singing of "God Save the Queen."

Hick's Trial.

An effort is now being made to have the young man Hicks, accused of the larceny of wine and cigars from the Grand Central Hotel, tried before Judge Weller, without a jury, instead of waiting until the assizes.

At Home

under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the George Street Methodist Church will be held on Thursday evening, Feb. 16th, in the lecture room of the church. A very select programme may be expected. Refreshments served during the evening. Tickets 25 cents each. 4d30

Blank Books.

Business men are asked to bear in mind that the REVIEW bindery is turning out the very best description of work in all lines of account books and ledgers. All orders finished up with despatch. Customers can select their own papers from a large and well assorted stock, and have any special printing desired. d108ed

A Find.

Shortly after seven o'clock this morning a resident of Queen-st. found a horse wandering around that thoroughfare. The animal was hitched to a cutter in which were buffalo robes and a parcel of dry-goods. The find was handed over to Officer Adams, who placed the horse in a hotel stable, awaiting an owner, who was not long in turning up.

Until Monday.

The Market By-law case came up before the Police Magistrate again this morning. Mr. Edwards for the prosecution was ready to proceed, but Mr. Stratton for the defence asked for another adjournment until Monday, to allow him further time to look into the matter. Several points were then discussed after which Mr. Stratton's request was granted and it is probable that on Monday judgment will be given. It was rumored around the court that the defendant has been indemnified against all loss and that unless the decision is favorable to him an appeal will be taken to a higher court.

They Were Fined.

The two young men, Lewis Craig and George Fady were at the Police Court again this morning. Another member of the Salvation Army was sworn anent the incident of Fady throwing his arms around one of the Salvation lasses. He told the same story as the others, but Fady stuck to it that the Army people were not telling the truth, but the Magistrate believed them and imposed a fine of $2 and $3 costs each and in giving judgment he gave the public to distinctly understand that if the Salvationists laid charges against people for disturbing their religious services and the charges were proven he will deal severely with the offenders.

Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all diseases of the Lungs, are cured by using Allen's Lung Balsam.

Died at the Gaol.

An old man named Richard Dickson, who for many years resided in the township of Otonabee, and who was committed as a vagrant some months ago, died at the gaol this morning. He was aged about 90 and for some time he had been regarded as of unsound mind, as far as religious matters went, at least. As required by law, Dr. Bell, coroner, held an inquest this afternoon, at the gaol, when the jury, composed of six prisoners and six outsiders, after hearing the evidence of the gaol physician, the officials and some of the inmates returned a verdict that death resulted from natural causes. The deceased had many friends and relatives in both town and country.

Conservative Club.

A regular meeting of the Young Men's Conservative Association was held on Tuesday evening, President A. McNeil in the chair. After the transaction of routine business, the discussion of commercial union was continued by Messrs. S. H. Armstrong, A. McNeil, F. Foote and others, the meeting being unanimously opposed to the scheme. The next meeting will be held on the evening of the first Tuesday in March, when the subject of the feasibility and advantages of the Trent Valley waterway will be discussed. A committee was appointed to arrange for speakers. These meetings are held under the auspices of the Young Men's Club, but all Conservatives are invited to attend and take part in the discussions.

Otonabee Lodge at Home.

The arrangements for the Otonabee Lodge "At Home" are being pushed forward with great energy and the affair promises to be the most brilliant of the kind yet given, Miss Howden, Ontario's favorite soprano singer, will render some of her newest and favorite selections. A splendid orchestra has been engaged and will play new music. Instead of the main hall being seated throughout, the seats will be arranged in rows to permit of promenading during intervals. Refreshments will be served. No invitations will be issued. This will prevent the possibility of anyone being overlooked, but tickets of admission can be obtained from any member of the Lodge and at the stores of Messrs. John McKee, Geo. Stethem, A. Mercer & Co., John Nugent, G. C. Clarke, Macfarlane Wilson and Mills Bros.

The most Delightful Handkerchief Odor is "Lotus of the Nile."

County Orange Lodge.

The regular annual meeting of the West Peterborough County Orange Lodge, took place at the Orange Hall on Tuesday evening. There was a very large attendance, fully one hundred members being present. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

Bro. John Smith.....County Master
" Alex. Hamilton.Deputy County Master
" J. G. Weir.....Treasurer
" W. A. Stratton.....Secretary
" Wm. Graham.....Chaplain
" W. McLean.....Lecturer
" Sidney Hunter.....Deputy Lecturer
" James Moore.....Deputy Lecturer
" John Davidson....Director of Ceremonies

Among the prominent visitors present was Bro. James Robb, County Master of East Peterborough. County Master Smith and ex-County Master Weir were appointed delegates to attend the meeting of the Supreme Grand Lodge, in June next, at Winnipeg.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION DISCUSS THE FEE QUESTION

And Refer the Whole Matter to a Committee to Report—A Long Discussion on a Motion Made by Mr. Dumble—Some Minor Business Transacted.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education was held at the Board Room, on Tuesday evening.

Present, Messrs. Stevenson, in the chair, Burnham, Dumble, Wrighton, Denne, Hill, A. Rutherford, English, Hughes, O'Meara and Stratton.

The minutes of the two last meetings were read and confirmed.

Mr. DENNE inquired if any teachers on the staff were without proper certificates?

Mr. STEVENSON said he understood there were several.

Mr. A. RUTHERFORD said the doors of the school had been locked at 9 o'clock sharp each morning during the recent cold snap and that numbers of young children had been kept out in the cold. He did not consider this right and wanted an expression of opinion on the matter. He also complained that favoritism was shown to some pupils, coming from private schools, who were passed up over the heads of others.

Mr. DUMBLE said that the matter of keeping pupils out in the cold had been brought before the Supervision Committee and the doors had been left open of late.

Mr. J. H. LONG, Principal of the Institute, said that the teachers were bothered more by lateness than by all other irregularities. He had tried various plans to check it, but found that none worked as well as locking the doors. This evil was one of long standing and prevailed in Peterborough to a greater extent than in any other place that he knew of. He was willing to go back to the ten minute plan again, that is to close the doors at ten minutes after nine. With reference to the alleged favoritism, he explained that some pupils were brighter than others and he always liked to push them on, but no pupil had been promoted who was not fit for the higher forms.

Mr. RUTHERFORD asked if some of the forms were dismissed several hours earlier than usual on Thursday last?

Mr. STEVENSON had not heard anything of the matter.

Mr. SMITH, Principal of the Public Schools, said he had dismissed the scholars, who had finished their regular work, but not on account of the horse races.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Chas. D. Macdonald, Town Clerk, stating that the Town Council had appointed Messrs. Dumble and Weir as High School Trustees.—Received.

From Mr. John Corkery, stating that Mr. Jno. O'Meara had been appointed the representative of the Roman Catholic Separate School Board.—Received.

From Hon. G. W. Ross, agreeing to the proposition of the Board regarding Mr. Bean.—Received.

ATTENDANCE.

The following is the report of the attendance during January:—

| | On Roll. | Average. |
|---|---|---|
| Collegiate Institute | 198 | 178 |
| Central School | 678 | 591 |
| South Ward School | 234 | 208 |
| West Ward " | 170 | 141 |
| Auburn School | 27 | |

The fees collected during January were $155 for the Institute and $8 75 for the Public Schools, a total of $163.75.

ACCOUNTS.

Sergt.-Major Rundle.....$6 00
Ordered to be paid.

WANTS MORE MONEY.

Janitor Tighe applied for an increase of salary. The application was received and referred to the proper committee.

THEY DID NOTHING.

Mr. Dumble read a copy of the application sent to the County Council asking for a grant of $1,000 to the Institute and upon which no action was taken.

OUTSIDE PUPILS.

Mr. DUMBLE said that the number of pupils on the roll of the Institute now reached two hundred and in order to do justice to them all it was necessary to employ another teacher and build another school. There are now about 60 county pupils, of whom 16 come from Ashburnham. If these outsiders were not in attendance, the present staff would suffice and a large outlay would be saved the town. As it is now the masters are crowded with work and the children from the town are neglected, as those from the country undoubtedly work the hardest and receive more attention from the masters. The cramming system is in vogue here as elsewhere and the teachers of the County are now educated largely at the expense of the town ratepayers. Efforts had been made to have the government pass a bill to compel counties such as Peterborough to contribute a fair share of the expense incurred in maintaining Collegiate Institutes, but the government trimmed, probably with an eye to the votes of the farming community. Other places were moving in this matter, for instance, in London, where outside pupils are charged $40 per year, with a view of driving them away. Last year the town paid $4,375 to support the Institute. The average cost for pupil last year was $27.31. Town pupils cost $38.16 each and County pupils only paid $18, a difference of $20.16 or less than one-half of the amount paid for town pupils. The Ashburnham Council voted $150 and it cost us $409.65 to educate the pupils from that village, a clear loss to our town of $259.65. He concluded by reading the following resolution.

Moved by Mr. DUMBLE, seconded by Mr. DENNE,—That inasmuch as the number of pupils attending the Collegiate Institute is greater than can be effectively taught by the present staff and to employ another teacher implies an additional expenditure of about $900 a year, and the use of another room, which is not now available, and whereas the students in attendance from outside of the corporation are about one-fourth of all in attendance and the fees received with them is not one half of the average cost per head to the town of its own pupils, and whereas the chief aim of our Institute is to give a thorough education to children of residents, rather than to educate the children of non-residents for certificates, to the prejudice of resident pupils,

Therefore, be it resolved that after the summer vacation, no pupils from outside of the town shall be admitted to the Collegiate Institute except on condition of paying fees which shall fairly represent the actual per capita tax of the Institute pupils.

Mr. STRATTON expressed surprise at the sharp and sudden turn made by the previous speaker. The figures given looked well enough on paper, but he found that if we reduced the number of pupils in attendance, the cost would remain the same, while the Board would lose the fees now paid by the county pupils. He estimated that the expenditure of the county pupils in town reached a total of $5,000 per year. If Peterborough closed the school doors against outsiders, Lindsay, Cobourg and other places would step in and take our pupils from us. He thought that the fees now charged are reasonable and he would vote against increasing them. He thought that the schools are now running along smoothly and he deprecated any attempt to raise a cry of town against county. He could not see any necessity for another room and another teacher.

Dr. BURNHAM agreed with Mr. Stratton and suggested that the matter be referred to a special committee to inquire into it and report to the Board, the committee to consist of Messrs. Dumble, Stratton, McWilliams, A. Rutherford, Dr. Burnham and W. H. Hill. The suggestion was put in the shape of a motion and was seconded by Mr Hill.

Mr. A. RUTHERFORD could not agree with Mr. Dumble's statement of facts or figures. It is an unfortunate position that the town is placed in, in connection with this matter. He gave figures to show that the town is a gainer by having county pupils at our schools.

Mr. O'MEARA pointed out that the village of Ashburnham is greatly favored by the arrangement now in existence between the Board and the Village Council. He could not see why Ashburnham was treated differently to the other portions of the county.

Mr. J. H. LONG, Principal of the Institute, was next heard and quite a lively little tilt occurred between him and Mr. Dumble. He had not said that a new teacher would be needed at once, but he had said that if the attendance did not increase largely, by the midsummer vacation, a new teacher would not be necessary. He spoke strongly against shutting out the County pupils, on the ground that the money now received from them could not be made up from any other source, except taxation. He denied the assertion that town pupils are neglected, in order that teachers may be turned out for the county schools. At present there is no difficulty in handling the pupils and the same would be the case if fifty additional pupils were in attendance. This school is handicapped by the rather poor class of buildings and the heavy fees charged. The move proposed by Mr. Dumble he looked on as "cutting off your nose to spite your face."

Mr. DENNE would rather reduce the school and pay more taxes, than go on as at present.

Mr. HUGHES regarded Mr. Dumble's resolution as a perfectly fair one and it certainly looked ridiculous that we take in country pupils and educate them cheaper than we are educating our own children.

Mr. A. RUTHERFORD advocated looking into the matter carefully.

Mr. DUMBLE had been told by more than one teacher that more accommodation must soon be provided. He had been charged with inconsistency, but he failed to see how the charge can lie. True enough, he had advocaced getting in county pupils, but that was at a time when the rooms were not crowded, but now that there are sufficient town pupils to fill the rooms and employ the teaching staff, he was in favor of keeping out county pupils, whom we are educating at the expense of the ratepayers of the Town of Peterborough. It is now high time that we made the County quit milking us, as it has become a matter of dollars and cents, and now he wanted outside pupils to pay just as much, and no more, as town pupils pay. He had heard lots of fault found with the work done here, for which, however, he did not blame Mr. Long, who had not had charge long enough. At present our school is simply an institute by sufferance. He was willing to let his motion stand or refer it to a committee, but was bound to agitate the matter until we obtained redress.

Dr. Burnham's motion was put and carried and Mr. Dumble allowed his to stand.

CLOSING THE DOORS.

Moved by Mr. A. RUTHERFORD, seconded by Mr. DENNE,—that the matter of closing the school doors be referred to the School Supervision Committee and that in the meantime the Principal allow the doors to be kept open until after prayers.—Carried.

RAISING THE FEES.

Moved by Mr. WRIGHTON, seconded by Mr. HUGHES,—That the pupils from Ashburnham pay the same fees as the pupils from the other parts of the county.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned until Friday evening, February 17th, 1888.

Lindsay Trotting Races.

Tuesday was the first day of the annual winter trotting races at Lindsay. A peculiarly shaped track was provided and the attendance was fair, a large number from this section being in attendance. All the events were well contested but as the track was rather heavy the time made was not extra fast. The following is a summary of the different events.—

2.45 trot—

Strengthen and Preserve the Sight.

N. Stanley, of London, England, and Toronto will send a practical Optician to Peterborough, on Monday, Feby. 13th. He may be consulted at the agents of the house in Peterborough, Messrs. Ormond and Walsh. He will in every instance use the firm's celebrated Spectacles and Eyeglasses so well known to-day throughout the civilized world. There is no glimmering, wavering, dimness or other distressing sensations so common in many inferior grades at present in the market but they comfort, strengthen and preserve the sight. 3d32-1w6

Handsome Pictures.

There may now be seen in one of Mr. Thomas Kelly's handsome show windows a fine lithograph of the extensive premises of Messrs. McMaster & Darling, wholesale dry goods dealers, Toronto. It is certainly one of the finest pictures of the kind that we have seen. Mr. Kelly has also some regular gems in the hanger line, entitled the "First Lesson." They are all well worth seeing and Mr. Kelly will be pleased to show them to all comers.

The Relief of Ekowe.

One of the selections on the programme of the Battalion Concert, and to be rendered by the 57th Battalion Band is a descriptive fantasia entitled "The Relief of Ekowe" The fantasia during the course of performance brings out with startling distinctness the assembly, march, muster, preparation, alert, Zulu march, war cry, the advance.—Britons strike home, enemy in sight, commence firing, charge, pursuit. Hurrah! hurrah!! hurrah!!! 2d32

Killing Trees.

A citizen from the north end was raging mad yesterday. One of the snowploughs had barked some of his shade trees and he was looking for the driver, with blood in his eye. The new ploughs are rather too wide and this is not by any means an isolated case of the kind. Many people would rather shovel the snow off than have their trees destroyed.

The Auditors.

The Auditors of the town accounts have not yet settled down to work, but Auditor Hall was looking over the ground this afternoon.

Don't use any more nauseous purgatives such as Pills, Salts, &c., when you can get in Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters, a medicine that moves the Bowels gently, cleansing all impurities from the system and rendering the blood pure and cool. Sold by all Druggists.

Successful Social.

A social at the residence of Mrs. Adam Hall, London-st., on Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's church, was one of the most successful yet held. The attendance was extra large and the large residence was taxed to the utmost to accommodate all who attended. A lengthy programme of rare merit was presented, including contributions by our leading local musicians and singers. Prof. Parker's admirable performance on the piano and organ, an instrumental duet by Messrs. W. Sanderson, W. Lech, R. Tait and Jas. Best, piano solos by Miss Fairweather and Miss Annie Hall, and the singing of Mrs. Daly, Miss Cameron and Mr. Baguley were the principal features of the programme. Refreshments were served during the evening and the proceeds must have reached a handsome figure.

Trent Valley Canal.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Trent Valley Canal Association is in progress at the Council Chamber this afternoon. There is a good attendance from the different places interested and Mayor Stevenson, the President, occupies the chair.

Y. M. C. A. Convention.

The remainder of Secretary Stevens, report of the Y. M. C. A. Provincial convention has been received and is held over.

Perry Davis' Pain-Killer as a Diarrhœa and Dysentery remedy seldom ever fails.

Those who saw the crowd at Kidd's Boot & Shoe store on Saturday must have thought he was selling below cost, but he wasn't. Same price all the time! Same price to every one.

Brevities

—A Batchelor's Assembly will be held in Welsh's Hall, on Monday evening.

—The market by-law test case is about the only matter discussed on the market.

—Another of those popular hops takes place at the Parlor Roller rink, on Monday evening next.

—The spectators at the Board of Education last night were three head-masters and the Janitor.

—The general impression is that Janitor Tighe, of the Central School should have his salary increased.

—Mr. Dumble has taken up the matter of fees, in earnest and he is bound to push it until the town obtains justice.

—One of our popular vocalists, who is about to leave the ranks of single blessedness, is to be suppered by his friends.

—Valentines have made their appearance in some of the store windows. They appear to be playing out year after year.

—Quite a quantity of snow fell last night and for a time until the sidewalks were cleared, walking was decidedly uncomfortable.

—Another large delegation of sporting men left for the Lindsay races this morning. The party must have numbered nearly one hundred.

—A number of the snow shoers had a tramp out last night, but the weather was not to their liking and the tramp was a short one only.

—His Lordship Bishop Dowling lectures at Port Hope this evening. His subject will be "The Confessional as understood by the Catholic Church."

—The Rev. Dr. Jeffers, of Belleville, who was confined to his residence for three weeks by serious illness, was able to be about on Monday.

—Mr. D. D. Gallelly leaves for Winnipeg to-day. His future place of residence is not yet definitely fixed, but in the meantime his family will remain here.

—As will be seen by the report of the Lindsay races published in another column, the knowing ones were somewhat disappointed at the result of the race for the 2.45 class.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

—Mr. John Chrow returned from New Mexico, last night, where he had been to see his brother, Mr. Wm. Chrow, who had been seriously ill. He brought the sufferer as far as Kansas City, where on medical advice, he was placed in a hospital on Saturday last.

"My little son, three years of age, was terribly afflicted with scrofula. His head was entirely covered with scrofulous sores, and his body showed many marks of the disease. A few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured him.' —W. J. Beckett, Hymera, Ind.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Toronto Presbytery had a three hours' exciting discussion over the Deceased Wife's Sister question yesterday afternoon.

No action was taken last night by the Young Conservative Club in reference to the motion introduced at a previous meeting looking to the withdrawal of J. S. Lyon and S. T. Moore on account of their being also members of the Young Men's Liberal Club. The matter will come up at the next meeting. The debate was on "Prohibition."

There has been lately a good deal of buying up of small Central Bank deposits by speculators—or "sharks" as Liquidator Howland calls them. Mr. Howland yesterday told The World that many small depositors who wanted their money badly had been induced to sell out at 35 cents on the dollar. The bank is now in a position to pay depositors 10 cents on the dollar, but this cannot be done at present because of some formalities. There is every probability of the first dividend being 15 cents on the dollar. Mr. Howland spoke in a hopeful tone, to the effect that depositors should not be in a hurry to sell out at 35 cents.

Israel Lucas, the alleged defaulting treasurer of Anglaize County, Ohio, was arraigned before the Police Magistrate yesterday on a charge of bringing stolen money into Canada. He pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by a jury. He will get an examination on Friday.

Col. C. A. Layton, the Public Prosecutor of Anglaize, the sheriff and two county commissioners arrived in the city yesterday morning and will proceed to formulate charges of forgery against Lucas. If these charges are proven his extradition to the United States will be asked for. Lucas' peculations from the county are said to amount to over $31,000. The warrant on which he was arrested charges him with bringing stolen money into Canada, but this charge will be dropped if it is thought the forgery case can be substantiated. His wife, Lisetta, who is jointly held with him, is out on bail at $500.

Mr. Gladstone at Cannes.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Mr. Gladstone greatly enjoyed his visit to Cannes. The weather there has been almost summer-like. On Sunday he gave a dinner party, at which were present the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Baden, Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern, Prince Radziwill and Prince Hohenlohe. Yesterday he had a long conversation with the Emperor of Brazil, who is visiting Cannes.

The Crown Prince.

SAN REMO, Feb. 7.—Dr. Mackenzie, who arrived here to-day, proposes to return to London Thursday and report here again a fortnight hence. There is no immediate necessity for an operation, but it is feared it will be indispensable in the near future.

Mr. McRae, agent of the Hudson's Bay Company at West Lynne, has absconded, $300 short. He was speculating in flax seed.

Philadelphia's Poisonous Drinking.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—The captain and crew of the ship Standard, bound for San Francisco, now lying at the old navy yard, are seriously ill from the effects of drinking water taken from the harbor. The analysis of the water showed that it contained 30 per cent. of poisonous matter. The crew of the ship Rialto are sick, apparently from the same cause. The bark Lady Nairn, which sailed two weeks ago, is at the Delaware breakwater, her crew being sick and unable to go to sea.

Wreck of a British Barque.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—Advices have been received here to the effect that a vessel supposed to be the British iron barque Abercorn, bound from Maryport, Eng., to Portland, Oregon, was wrecked on the Washington Territory coast on the night of Feb. 1. The vessel had a cargo of iron ore, and the ship and cargo were valued at $120,000.

The Chinese Must Go.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 7.—A fierce war is being waged between the laundries of this city. They are washing collars and cuffs at the rate of two dozen for 1 cent, and shirts for 2 cents each. The Chinese laundries have refused to cut the rates, and declare they will quit rather than work for nothing. It is thought the fight is a scheme to run the Celestials out.

The Walking Match Score.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—At 10 p.m. the score in the six-day walking match was: Albert 223, Collins 145, Connors 172, Tilly 130, Vent 161, Day 196, Sinclair 160, Taylor 156, Hart 216, Stout 130, Buschor 221, Sullivan 156, Herty 212, Dillon 162, Guerrero 221, Strokel 200, Moore 130, Noremac 182, Golden 202.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"I should like it too. And it could be managed, couldn't it? I suppose I could get you a dress."

He says this quickly, yet fearfully. If she should take his proposal badly what shall he do? He stares with flattering persistency upon a distant donkey that adorns a neighboring field, and calmly awaits fate. It is for once kind to him. Mona, it is quite evident, fails to see impropriety in his speech.

"Could you?" she says, hopefully.—"How?"

Mr. Rodney, basely forsaking the donkey, returns to his mutton. "There must be a dressmaker in Dublin," he says, "and we could write to her. Don't you know one?"

"I don't, but I know Lady Mary and Miss Blake always get their things from a woman called Manning."

"Then Manning it shall be," says Geoffrey, gayly. "I'll run up to Dublin, and if you give me your measure I'll bring a gown back for you."

"Oh, no, don't," says Mona, earnestly, then she stops short, and blushes a faint sweet crimson.

"But why?" demands he, dense as men will be at times. Then, as she refuses to enlighten his ignorance, slowly the truth dawns upon him.

"Do you mean that you would really miss me if I left you for only one day?" he asks, delightedly. "Mona, tell me the truth."

"Well, then, sure you know I would," confesses she, shyly but honestly.—Whereupon rapture ensues that lasts for a full minute.

"Very well, then; I shan't leave you; but you shall have that dress all the same," he says.

And that evening Geoffrey indites a letter to Mrs. Manning, Grafton street, Dublin, that brings a smile to the lips of that cunning modiste.

CHAPTER VIII.

In due course the wonderful gown arrives, and is made welcome at the farm, where Geoffrey too puts in an appearance about two hours later.

Mona is down at the gate waiting for him, evidently brimful of information.

"Well, you have got it?" asks he, in a whisper.

"Yes, I have got it," also in a subdued whisper. "And, oh, Geoffrey, it is just too lovely! It's downright delicious; and satin, too! It must,"—reproachfully—"have cost a great deal, and after all you told me about being poor! But," with a sudden change of tone, forgetting reproach, and extravagance and everything, "it is exactly the color I love best, and what I have been dreaming of for years."

"Put it on you," says Geoffrey.

"What! now?" with some hesitation, yet plainly filled with an overwhelming desire to show herself to him without loss of time in the adorable gown. "If I should be seen! Well, never mind, I'll risk it. Go down to the little green glade in the wood, and I'll be with you before you can say Jack Robinson.

She disappears, and Geoffrey, obedient to orders, lounges off to the green glade, that now no longer owns rich coloring, but is strewn with leaves from the gaunt trees that stand in solemn order like grave sentries round it.

He might have invoked Jack Robinson a score of times had he so wished, he might even have gone for a very respectable walk, before his eyes are again gladdened by a sight of Mona. Minutes have given place to minutes many times, when, at length, a figure wrapped in a long cloak and with a light woolen shawl covering her head, comes quickly towards him across the rustic bridge, and under the leafless trees to where he is standing.

Glancing round fearfully for a moment, as though desirous of making sure that no strange eyes are watching her movements, she lets the loose cloak fall to the ground, and, taking with careful haste the covering from her head, slips like Cinderella from her ordinary garments into all the glories of a fete gown. She steps a little to one side, and, throwing up her head with a faint touch of coquetry that sits very sweetly on her, glances triumphantly at Geoffrey, as though fully conscious that she is looking as exquisite as a dream.

The dress is composed of satin of that peculiar pale blue that in some sidelights appears as white. It is open at the neck, and has no sleeves to speak of. As though some kindly fairy had indeed been at her beck and call, and had watched with careful eyes the cutting of the robe, it fits to a charm. Upon her head a little mob-cap, a very marvel of blue satin and old lace, rests lovingly, making still softer the soft tender face beneath it.

There is a sparkle in Mona's eyes, a slight severing of her lips, that bespeak satisfaction and betray her very full of innocent appreciation of her own beauty. She stands well back, with her head held proudly up, and with her hands lightly clasped before her. Her attitude is full of unstudied grace.

Geoffrey is quite dumb, and stands gazing at her, surprised at the amazing change a stuff, a color, can make in so short a time. Beautiful she always is in his sight, but he wonders that until now it never occurred to him what a sensation she is likely to create in the London world. When at last he does give way to speech, driven to break his curious silence by something in her face, he says nothing of the gown, but only this:

"Oh, Mona, will you always love me as you do now?"

His tone is full of sadness and longing and something akin to fear. As he gazes on and wonders at her marvelous beauty, for an instant (a most unworthy instant) he distrusts her. Yet surely never was more groundless doubt sustained, as one might know to look upon her eyes and mouth, for in the one lies honest love, and in the other firmness.

Her face changes. He has made no mention of the treasured gown, has said no little word of praise.

"I have disappointed you," she says, tremulously, tears rising quickly. "I am a failure! I am not like the others."

"You are the most beautiful woman I ever saw in all my life," returns Rodney, with some passion.

"Then you are really pleased? I am just what you want me to be? Oh! how you frightened me!" says the girl, laying her hand upon her heart with a pretty gesture of relief.

"Don't ask me to flatter you. You will get plenty to do that by and by," says Geoffrey, rather jealously, rather bitterly.

"By and by I shall be your wife," says Mona, archly, "and then my days for receiving flattery will be at an end. Sure you needn't grudge me a few pretty words now."

POKING FUN!

The Public are at the moment somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprised largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8.75, this is an all wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3 75 and a pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits really nice and lot of them $1.95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ⅓ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPAR'S, where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver s misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

VICEROY OF INDIA.

The Marquis of Lansdowne to Succeed Earl Dufferin—His Excellency's Successor.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The Marquis of Lansdowne, Governor-General of Canada, will succeed the Earl of Dufferin as Governor-General of India at the end of the present year. Lord Dufferin desiring for private reasons to return home.

Lord Stanley of Preston will be Lord Lansdowne's successor.

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—His Excellency the Governor-General authorizes the announcement that he has been offered by the Imperial Government and has accepted the position of Viceroy of India, as the successor of Lord Dufferin, whose term of office is about expiring. It is understood that His Excellency will leave Canada immediately after the close of the coming session of Parliament.

It is also stated on good authority that Lord Lansdowne will be succeeded in the Governor-Generalship of Canada by Lord Stanley of Preston, who will arrive here early in the summer.

The news of His Excellency's promotion in the Imperial service will doubtless be received with general satisfaction throughout Canada, where he has made himself extremely popular, and he will carry with him to his new sphere of usefulness the hearty good wishes of the great bulk of the Canadian people.

PEACE FULLY ASSURED.

So a St. Petersburg Organ Says—The Austro-German Treaty.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 8.—The Journal de St. Petersburg says: "As Prince Bismarck so emphasized the exclusively defensive character of the Austro-German alliance, and in terms which do honor to him, has expressed absolute confidence in the words of the Czar, whose pacific views have been distinctly declared, we may conclude that peace is fully assured. We prefer this peaceful guarantee to that of armaments, but we will not insist upon this point. Prince Bismarck having affirmed the right of each country to assure its own security with its own forces we also abstain from striking a balance between Russia and Germany's mutual services, often prompted by common interests which constitute the best basis for good relations between states. We will congratulate ourselves if this remains the future basis for relations between Germany and Russia."

Received With Derision.

VIENNA, Feb. 8.—The German party in the Reichsrath yesterday submitted a proposal to incorporate the Austro-German treaty of alliance into an Act of Parliament. The Czech representatives received the proposal with derision, and as the Government considers it unnecessary there is no chance of its being accepted. It is rumored that the delegations will soon be summoned to meet in extra session.

WHITE-GORDON.

A Fashionable Wedding in St. Andrew's Church, Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—St. Andrew's Church was the scene of a fashionable wedding this evening, when Miss Katie Gordon, daughter of Ald. Gordon, was united by the pastor of the church, Rev. W. T. Henidge, to Mr. Fred White of the Militia Department, son of Hon. Thos. White, Minister of the Interior.

The bridesmaids were Misses Jessie and Muriel Gordon, sisters of the bride, and Misses Emily and Laura White, sisters of the bridegroom. The groomsmen were Messrs. D. Campbell and R. S. White.

Among those present were Sir John and Lady Macdonald, Hon. Thos. White, Hon. John Carling, Hon. A. W. McLelan and several hundred of the leading citizens of Ottawa. After the ceremony was completed a splendid wedding dejeuner was served at the residence of Ald. Gordon.

The happy couple left to-night for New York and will probably take a trip to Bermuda before returning to Ottawa.

THE CROSSING ACCIDENT.

Inquest at London in the Case of the Victim of the G.T.R. Special.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The inquest in the case of Johnson Wilson, killed on Monday by a Grand Trunk special train at the Burwell-street crossing, was resumed to-night. John Loughnane, the crossing watchman, testified that he was not there when the train passed. John Petrie, yard watchman, heard the bell on the special and shouted and signalled to the men in the cutter, but they paid no attention. The train men all swore that the special was traveling about seven or eight miles an hour, but admitted having discussed the question of speed among themselves. The inquest was adjourned for two weeks, or until John Siggins, who was Wilson's companion in the sleigh, recovers sufficiently to give evidence.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S APPEAL.

Judgment Respecting the Railway Claims for Arrears of Subsidy.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—In the appeal of the Newfoundland Government respecting the claims of the Newfoundland Railway for arrears of subsidy, the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council held yesterday that the grants of lands were not dependent in any way on the completion of the whole line, but on the completion of each five-mile section the company's right to 25,000 acres became perfect and one sixty-eighth part of the whole cash subsidy became payable.

Life at Port Perry.

PORT PERRY, Feb. 7.—George Belford gave an evening of recitals in the Town Hall under the auspices of the S.O.E. to-night. This being his third visit to this place, he had a large audience, and, it is not necessary to say, a vastly pleased one.

K. of L. Lodge "Pride of the North" held their annual supper at the Oriental last night. Songs, speeches, etc., followed the demolition of sundry and divers oysters and concomitants.

GALT'S DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

A PRIVATE BANKER SHOT DEAD BY A DISSOLUTE FARMER.

The Latter Then Uses the Revolver on Himself with Fatal Effect—Henry Main and John Currie the Victims—The Entire Neighborhood Excited—The Inquest.

GALT, Feb. 8.—This quiet little town was to-day the scene of a murder and suicide of a most horrible nature, Henry Main, a private banker doing business by himself, having been shot dead by, it is supposed, John Currie, an unfortunate, dissolute man who a few minutes later was also found dead with a bullet in his head. Mr. Main, a man of 53 with a wife and four children, was until a few years ago a member of the livery stable firm of Main & Scrimger. He sold out the business and become a broker and private banker, and in this connection had dealings with Currie, who owned a small farm in the Township of Puslinch.

Currie, who also leaves a wife and four children, had become rather disappointed and was forced to mortgage his farm, the result being that last Saturday it was sold, and he and his family had no home. There is little doubt that Currie, desperate because of the loss of his farm, which he attributed to Main, entered the latter's office, a little two-roomed one, in a one-story frame building in Mill-street, and across from the Central Hotel, at 10.30 o'clock this morning, and shot him dead with a bullet from a 32-calibre revolver. The evidence tends to show that Currie immediately went into the driving shed of the Galt House, on Main-street, only 100 yards from Main's office, and there killed himself instantly by putting a bullet into his forehead.

The news quickly spread and the town became wildly agitated. Main's body was taken to his house at 1 o'clock, where it was received by his grief-stricken wife, a daughter of Frank Lowell of this town, while the remains of Currie were taken to a room in the Central Hotel.

At 4 o'clock, in the Town Hall, Coroner Brown opened an inquest on Main's body, Mr. James Scott being foreman of the jury. After viewing the remains the evidence of several witnesses was taken and the jury, as will be seen, found that Mr. Main's death was caused by a bullet, the only person against whom circumstantial evidence points being Currie, who, however, was not directly spoken of as the murderer.

The jury retired and in half-an-hour returned this verdict:

"That the deceased, Henry Main, came to his death by a bullet fired from a revolver in the hands of a party not positively known, but strong circumstantial evidence points to the deceased, John Currie, as the person who committed the deed." JOHN SCOTT, Foreman.

THE MURDERED MAN.

His Funeral to Take Place on Saturday—A Triple Murder Intended.

GALT, Feb. 8.—It has been decided that the funeral of Mr. Main shall take place here on Saturday at 4 o'clock, by which time it is expected that a large number of relatives will arrive. Charles Lowell of the Queen's Hotel here is Mrs. Main's brother, while other relatives of hers in the province are W. H. Cutten of Guelph, the Clements of Brantford, S. A. Dunbar of the Palmer House, Toronto, and the Swans of Port Perry. The deceased has a brother in Grand Rapids, Mich. Main was born near Hamilton, where the family is well known.

To-night the body of Currie was removed from the Central Hotel, because of fear on the part of the women in the house, to Undertaker Barber's shop, where The World saw it, stretched on a plank. The body was that of a stout, strongly-built farmer, with intelligent face covered with a heavy black beard. Blood flowed from a large hole in the top of the head. Up to a late hour his wife or children had not reached town. They would not learn of the horrible tragedy till Constable Gilchrist returned to the township. They will likely be here for the inquest to-morrow.

There is no doubt that Currie killed Main because of a real or fancied injury by the sale of the farm. On Nov. 25, 1885, he gave a mortgage to Robt. Forbes of Hespler, and at the time of the sale last Saturday the mortgage was not due but the interest was. In September last Currie assigned to the Acting-Sheriff of Wellington for the benefit of creditors, his liabilities being small and his assets almost nothing. The creditors met, and taking matters out of the Sheriff's hands appointed J. H. Irwin of Galt trustee.

Last Saturday, at the assignee's sale, the farm, being the south part of lot 2, 1st con., Puslinch, was sold by Strickland Bros., auctioneers, to a man named Bartles of that township for $1150. It consists of 71 acres, 45 being cleared. On it were a log house and barn. It is five miles from Galt and three from Hespeler.

Currie, it is said, intended a triple murder. Last night he was in several bar-rooms and had a few drinks. In more than one he said he was going to shoot three men: Main, Herbert Ball, a lawyer of this town, and J. H. Irwin, the private broker.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 8.—To an inquiry of Mr. Cruess as to whether the Government intend to place a sum in the estimates to purchase grass seeds to seed down the burned lands in Victoria, Hon. Mr. Ross replied that the case was not one requiring government attention, as it had been ascertained that there was no immediate suffering among the inhabitants.

Mr. Evanturel moved for an order of the House for a return showing the various sums expended in the last five years for colonization road purposes, the counties and districts in which the money was spent, the amount expended in each county respectively and the nature of the work performed. Also the amount, if any, spent for similar purposes since confederation in the counties of Prescott, Russell, Glengarry, Stormont and Dundas. The motion passed.

A Butter and Cheese Debate.

Mr. Wood (Hastings) moved that a select committee be appointed to consider and report as to the sufficiency of existing legislation for the formation and carrying on of the operations of companies for the manufacture of cheese and butter. And also to consider and report upon the best means to be adopted to secure the delivery by the patrons of such companies, of pure and unadulterated milk, the committee to be composed of Messieurs Awrey, Ballantyne, Bishop, Clancey, Dryden, Drury, Fell, Graham, Hammell, Miller, McKay, Waters and Wood (Hastings.)

Mr. Wood said he introduced the motion to further the promotion of cheese and butter factories. He intended to introduce a bill for the purpose, but when his intention became known so many communications came to him suggesting how the bill should be drawn that he gave it up and adopted this plan. The cheese industry was one of very great importance to this country—of such importance that it was fit and proper that the Legislature should give its assistance to the securing the delivery of pure milk at the factories. This assembly should encourage the industry in every possible way. The Government voted $1500 to the Eastern and Western Dairymen's Associations annually and, while he did not wish to in any degree detract from the credit due these associations, he was of opinion that much could be done to further the cheese and butter interests by this House itself, by moving to prevent the present practice of milk adulteration.

Mr. Wood believed that if the House assisted to stamp out this practice and give its assistance in the way he proposed, much good would be done. In looking over the reports he found that in 1887 there were 800 cheese factories with a total output of 66,500,000 pounds of cheese, valued at $7,000,000. He ascertained also that in 1883 (the latest statistics available) Canada supplied Great Britain $1,705,817 worth of butter while other countries supplied $57,163,848 worth, and Canada supplied $58,041,387 worth of cheese, while other countries supplied $143,525,461. In 1887 Canada supplied over $60,000,000.

There was, as could be seen, a much higher percentage of cheese sent from Canada than butter. This was accounted for by the excellence of the cheese and the questionable quality of the butter sent to the Old Country market, and while the value of cheese exports was large it was insignificant in comparison with the immense producing power of this country. At the Eastern Dairymen's Convention in 1887 Mr. Thos. McDonald gave some remarkable statistics. He says:

By the last decennial census of Canada, we had 1¾ millions of milch cows. Assuming the increase for the last five years to be equal to the increase for the five years preceding the last census, we would now have two million milch cows at an estimated value of $40 per head, which would show a direct dairy capital in Canada of $80,000,000. The annual yield from those cows, at an estimate of 4000 lbs. per head, per annum, which to my mind, is a low estimate, would give 8,000,000,000 lbs. of milk, and if converted into cheese on the basis of 10 lbs. of milk to 1 lb. of cheese, would show 800,000,000 lbs. of cheese, which, if sold at 10 cents per lb. would show $80,000,000, or a net profit of 100 per cent.

From this calculation it is evident that the dairying interest of Canada is paramount to all other industries, yielding a larger revenue for the capital employed than any other legitimate pursuit or enterprise. Even our banking institutions, with a combined capital of 59½ millions of dollars, and a combined rest of $16,000,000, only yield a net revenue of 3½ millions to the stockholders, or about 6 per cent. of the capital employed. Our export of butter and cheese in 1885, after supplying all the requirements of our home market, was about 18 millions, or nearly 25 per cent. of the capital employed. In this comparison I have not taken into account the labor employed nor the cost of grazing and feeding in either country, but assuming them to be relatively proportional we would find the results to vary very little from the figures given.

The manufacture of cheese was now reduced to the finest and best process which ingenuity, science and skill could bring forth. Mr. Whitton, one of the cheese instructors, says that it is not the manufacture of cheese which needs improving but the bringing to the manufacturers of a better quality of milk. To his mind the butter industry, though at present capable of great development, would always be handicapped by the cheese industry on account of the cheap plan upon which the manufacture of cheese can be carried on. The executive officer, who transacted the whole business of a factory, only got $100 a season. He was responsible for the finances, sometimes handling $40,000 to $50,000 during the season, as well as doing all the active business connected with it. He did not wish to belittle the butter industry, however, but to obtain means of furthering the interests of both butter and cheese making.

Bills Read a First Time.

These bills were sent up for a first reading:

Mr. Bronson—An act to amend the Municipal Act.

Mr. Widdifield—An act respecting the Methodist Church of Aurora.

Mr. Wylie—An act to incorporate the Village of Stayner, Simcoe County.

Mr. Bronson—An act to extend the limits of the City of Ottawa and to rearrange the wards.

Mr. Leys—An act respecting a certain agreement between the Midland Railway and the Town of Lindsay.

Mr. Dack—An act to amend the Municipal Act.

Mr. Bronson—An act to incorporate the Central Canada Exhibition Association.

Mr. Nairn—An act to amend the Bridges and Water Courses Act.

Mr. Leys—An act to incorporate the Peterboro and Chemong Lake Railway Company.

Mr. Leys—An act relating to the Toronto General Hospital.

Impersonation Should be Made a Crime.

President H. H. Dewart of the Young Liberals' club headed a deputation that waited upon the Attorney-General yesterday afternoon to urge that "impersonation" at municipal elections be made an offence. It will be remembered that Magistrate Denison discharged a man who was before him in January for this offence, because there was nothing in the statutes providing for a conviction. There is an English statute bearing on the subject, and the Attorney-General promised to look the matter up, and in the meantime invited the deputation to give him any assistance they could.

Enthusiastic Greeting to Mr. Gladstone.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Mr. Gladstone arrived at Dover this afternoon. He received a most enthusiastic greeting from a large crowd.

Joined the Gladstonites.

DUBLIN, Feb. 8.—There is great rejoicing here over the news that two English members of Parliament, Sir Thomas F. Grove and Mr. Benjamin Hingley, who have hitherto acted with the Liberal Unionists, have joined the Gladstone party.

THE CANADIAN SEALERS.

PENDING APPEAL THE VESSELS WILL NOT BE BONDED.

Belief That the Behring Sea Seizures Have Been Before the Fisheries Commission—Petition for Executive Clemency for Guard Rutledge's Murderer.

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—It is understood that the owners of the Canadian sealing vessels seized by the United States revenue cutters in Behring Sea last year have declined to bond their vessels pending the appeal which has been taken to the Supreme Court from the decision of the Alaska court. The bonding would have practically amounted to depositing in cash the value placed on the vessels and cargoes by the United States authorities, something like $75,000, as only American citizens would be accepted as bondsmen, and it would, of course, have been almost impossible for the Canadian owners to get such security. Their action, however, is said to have been caused by the belief that the Behring Sea seizures have been under consideration by the Fisheries Commisnon and will be included in any scheme of settlement proposed by the commission.

The Auditor-General has issued a circular to the Civil Service, making the announcement that all clerks failing to take the oath of allegiance within another month will have their names docked from the March pay list. Quite a number of the civil servants have not yet complied with the regulation.

A petition for the exercise of executive clemency in the case of Robert Neill, alias Thompson, sentenced to be hanged in Toronto on Feb 28 for the murder of Guard Rutledge of the Central Prison, has been received and it is probable that it will be acted upon in the course of a few days.

At the meeting of the Liberals of Ottawa last night it was decided to give Hon. Mr. Laurier a reception on the occasion of his arrival in the city to attend the opening of Parliament.

The annual meeting of the Dominion Alliance will take place in Ottawa on March 1 and 2, when it will be decided what legislation, if any, is to be asked for from the Dominion Parliament.

Mr. H. J. Beemer, President of the Gatineau Valley Railway Company, was in the city to-day. He says that the surveys for the road are nearly completed, and that construction will be commenced as soon as the snow disappears.

Mr. S. J. Jenkins, private secretary to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, returned from Washington to-day. It is generally believed that the commissioners will return early next week.

WINNIPEG NOMINATIONS.

To Take Place To-Day—Government Warning to Civil Service Employes.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 8.—The Winnipeg nominations for bye-elections take place to-morrow. Smart and Greenway will not be opposed, but Martin and Prendergast will be, with even chances of their defeat.

The Local Government have warned the civil service employes that as complaints have been made on account of their non-payment of personal debts, further complaints will be met with strong measures. This is significant, especially as the petty office of infants' guardian, held by a prominent Conservative barrister, has been taken from him and given to one of the faithful.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The City Council will send Hon. John Beverley Robinson to London to represent the city at the meeting of the Northern Railway proprietors to be held on Feb. 23.

The council of the Board of Trade has appointed this committee to have plans and estimates prepared for the proposed new building on the site of the Americas Hotel: H. N. Baird, W. R. Brock, H. W. Darling, J. L. Davidson, R. W. Elliot, Geo. Gooderham, W. Ince, A. B. Lee, W. S. Lee, Hon. John Macdonald, W. D. Mathews, jr., S. F. McKinnon, E. R. Osler and D. R. Wilkie.

The Erie Railway has placed an order for thirty new consolidation engines, with wide fire boxes; also 1000 coal cars and 300 box cars. The Hinckley Locomotive Works have commenced delivery of ten freight engines ordered a short time ago, which will be completed as rapidly as possible.

The annual meeting of the National Builders' Laborers' Union will commence on Monday next in Room D, Shaftesbury Hall. Delegates will be in attendance from all over Canada.

Yesterday afternoon had been fixed for the re-examination of Mr. Campbell in reference to the motion for his removal from his office, but as the Master was occupied with another case which was not concluded at the hour for adjournment, the Central Bank procedure was adjourned until 11 o'clock to-day.

A meeting of the creditors of Carl Kauffman, the suspended jobber of Front-street east, was held at the office of Assignee Townsend yesterday. Mr. Kauffman offered 25 cents on the dollar, with unsecured notes at 3, 6, 9 and 12 months. The assets amount to $9815, and the liabilities $14,270. The meeting was adjourned till to-morrow, the proposal to be considered then.

The Daily Review.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1888.

LAKEFIELD.

Correspondence of the Review.

C. E. T. S. BAND OF HOPE.—The fourth meeting of the season was held in the school house (old church) on Thursday, Feb. 2nd. There was a good attendance of members, and a few visitors. The following was the evening's entertainment:—"Young Lord Lochinvar," by F. Cartwright; "Jumping Jennie," by N. Baldwin; "Warrior Wolf," by L. Cartwright; "The Last Hymn," by J. Jackman; "Mr. Nobody," by W. Townsend; "Drink," by V. Bell; "I can't and I can," by S. Harthill. C. Ford and Seagram gave selections on the mouth organ and flute. Rev. Mr. Farncomb gave an address on the subject, "The boy is the father of the man." The next meeting will be held on the 16th, at 7 o'clock. Any young people, especially those who wish to join, are welcome.

A BLAZE.—"Fire! fire!" was the sound that greeted our ears at one o'clock on Wednesday, Feb. 1st. The villagers were thrown into a state of excitement, knowing how inadequate our fire protection is to cope with a large fire. It was soon made known that Mrs. J. R. Rodgers' barn was on fire. The fire brigade quickly had our small engine on the spot, with 100 pails to carry water. The fire brigade and citizens generally went to work with a good will, and the hook and ladder company made short work in demolishing a wood-shed connecting Mrs. Rodgers' house with the burning barn. The fire had made such headway by this time that all efforts were directed to preventing the fire spreading to Mr. Eastland's large stables, which were in very close proximity to the burning barn. In this they were successful and confined the fire to the barn. The Chronicle says this fire proves that our fire protection is ample for the protection of the village. To your correspondent's mind it was just the reverse and my reasons are as follows:—The fire occured on a very mild day; there was no wind. The adjoining buildings were all covered with snow. The villagers were all returning from dinner, and were on the spot at once and went to work with a will. The plentiful supply of water the Chronicle speaks of was obtained under great difficulty, as the wells of Mr. Pilkey, Mrs. Rodgers, Mrs. Coates and Mr. McIlmoyle were all pumped dry. Water was then carried from the wells of Messrs. R. Graham & Sons, Mr. J. O. Sherin, house and store, Mr. Harper's, Mr. D. Baptie's and Robt Cotton's wells, all of which were nearly dry, and there was serious talk of drawing water from the river in our sprinkling cart, and all that trouble over the burning of one empty small barn. Had the fire occurred last summer when over half the wells in the village were dry, when a great many of our people were carrying water from the river for domestic purposes, it would be hard to say where the fire would have ended. In fact I believe the loss that would have occurred would have been sufficient to have paid for a complete system of water works. I am surprised at the editor of the Chronicle, a young man, having so little enterprise as to advocate such a poor system of fire protection. I admit our "squirt guns" are better than nothing, yet next to nothing they are. I believe the sooner the village is put under proper fire protection the better it will be for the welfare of our beautiful and thriving village. I should feel very sorry to see our village devastated and our homes destroyed by fire.

METHODIST.—The usual quarterly meeting was held in Lakefield on Sunday last at 10.30 a. m. The Rev. Mr. Buckler preached the sermon in the morning and Rev. Mr. McFarlane in the evening.

FORESTERS' ANNIVERSARY.—Court Lakefield, C. O. F., will celebrate their anniversary on Sunday, 27th Feb., this year by having a sermon preached in the Presbyterian church, by the Rev. J. McEwen, instead of their annual oyster supper. Members of the Court will assemble at their rooms, and march in a body to the church.

THE Canadian Pacific railway ticket agency is at Henderson's drug store, Lakefield.

MISSIONARY ADDRESSES.—A series of addresses will be given this winter on missionary work by the following reverend gentlemen:—Mr. McEwen, Mr. Huff and Mr. McFarlane. The first address will be given by the Rev. Mr. McEwen in the Methodist Church on Wednesday evening, Feb. 15th. Subject, "Missionary Work in Africa," illustrated by a map of that country.

ELDERS ORDAINED.—The ordination of Elders took place in the Presbyterian church on Sunday last, Mr. Robt. Graham, Sr., Mr. D. Arnott and Mr. Wm. Graham being ordained.

ANOTHER MEDICO FOR LAKEFIELD.—Dr. J. R. Fraser, formerly of Metcalf, a brother of Dr. James Fraser, has decided to make Lakefield his home. Dr. J. R. will be associated with his brother, Dr. James Fraser. Dr. J. R. Fraser has been practicing medicine for the last ten years, in Metcalf, where he had a large and remunerative practice, but on account of the health of his family he decided to make a change. He selected Lakefield as his future home. We bid the doctor welcome to our fair village.

NEW LIVERY.—Mr. John Cooper is starting a livery business.

HENDERSON'S Syrup of Tar and Wild Cherry, will cure cough, cold and lung trouble.

BANQUETED.—The following is taken from the Daily Citizen of Ottawa:—On Thursday evening last an enjoyable evening was spent by the many friends of Dr. Fraser at a banquet tendered him on his departure from Metcalfe to take up his residence at Lakefield, Ont. The banquet was held in the Victoria Hall, about sixty guests sitting down. Mr. Ira Morgan, Reeve of Osgoode, presided, the vice chairs being taken by Messrs. James Whiteside and Robt. Dow. After justice had been done to the good things provided by "Mine Host" Snyder the toast list was in order. The usual toasts were enthusiastically received with musical honours. "The Army and Navy" was ably responded to by Lieuts. Imlay and Campbell, of the 56th Battalion. "Our Guest" was proposed by the chairman in a few well chosen words, the company rising and singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Dr. Fraser replied to the toast in feeling terms, and said that he would never forget the many friends he had made during his seven years' residence in Metcalfe. He duly appreciated the honour they had done him, and expressed his regret at having to leave the village. The principal reason of his doing so was the health of his family, and in moving to Lakefield he thought the warmer climate would be beneficial to them. "The Mercantile and Manufacturing Interests and the Agricultural and Municipal Institutions" were responded to by Messrs. J. M. Eastman, P. Timmins, Jas. Whiteside and others. The enjoyment of the evening was much enhanced by the rendering of some Scotch songs by Messrs. James McArthur Somers, William Eadie and Alex. McPherson. "The Ladies," found and able champion in Mr. P. Timmins, and the "Host and Hostess," brought the proceedings to a close at an early hour.

THE NEW STEAMER.—The Chronicle says that Capt. Eden is getting well advanced with his new steamer. One cannot but admire her appearance at first sight and as he is certainly sparing nothing to make her strong, comfortable and convenient to supply the wants of the travelling public, she may be expected to excel any craft we have placed eyes on in this locality. The vessel will have accomodation for about 50 persons with strong upper deck for passengers, and embrace all modern improvements in hull and machinery. One great advantage she will have will be a light draught of water, enabling it to approach all shallow places around our picturesque islands. We wish Capt. Eden all the success his enterprising effort deserves.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

REVIEWS.

ST. NICHOLAS is the King of Magazines for the young folk. Its fresh and attractive pages are replete with the cleanest literary matter and bright with illustrations. The February number is no exception to the rule that the publishers have made and rigidly live up to, that the best intellectual work and mechanical skill shall be laid under tribute in production of the magazine. Among the list of good things presented, Mrs. Burnett completes "Sara Crewe" by a very delightful "happy ending." Mr. Charles Henry Webb contributes a stirring account of the "Diamond-backs in Paradise," telling of the rattlesnakes encountered during a winter in Florida. In "The Story of an Old Bridge" will be found a historical sketch of London Bridge and the great events with which it has been connected, illustrated with drawings by Peters and Brennan, and by other pictures. The high tides in the Bay of Fundy are explained in an amusing story. "A Legend of Acadie," by C. F. Holder; and Lieut. Schwatka, in "How a Great Sioux Chief was Named," gives the origin of the name "Spotted Tail," and, incidentally, of other similar appellations. Other interesting matter completes the number.

THE CENTURY for February is a strong number and well sustained in every department. The literary menu—if the term is admissable—is so good that it is difficult to particularize.

Mr. Kennan's series receives a notable addition in the study of "A Russian Political Prison," a terribly pathetic description written from personal investigation and inquiry. Theodore Roosevelt writes, also in a popular vein, of "Ranche Life in the Far West," with intimate knowledge of his subject, which is largely the cowboy. His article tells just the things one wishes to know of the subject, and is fully and vigorously illustrated. "Pictorial Art on the Stage" is a subject upon which Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Blashfield throw much curious light, the theme being treated from an artistic point of view, with pictures by Mr. Blashfield and much entertaining information withal. "Living in Paris," a third illustrated paper of general interest, is by the late J. D. Osborne. The Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley, editor of "The Christain Advocate," adds to his papers on the Mind-Cure and similar phenomena, a curious study of "Astrology, Divination, and Coincidences." The fiction is by Edward Eggleston ("The Graysons"), by George W. Cable ("Au Large"), the conclusion of "The Dusantes," by F. R. Stockton, and a short story, "The Governor's Prerogative," by Octave Thanet. Miss Eggleston's illustration of "Mr. Britton and Big Bob" shows that in her we have a substantial addition to the list of illustrative artists. On the whole the Century is a monthly literary treat.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

MONTREAL CIGARMAKERS.

A SENSATION AT THE LABOR COMMISSION LAST NIGHT.

A Mould Board Produced—The Girl Who Was Beaten at Fortier's Testifies That it Was Because She Did Not Make Cigars Fast Enough.

MONTREAL, Feb. 8.—At the session of the Labor Commission to-night 300 cigarmakers crowded the room. There was a sensation when a cigar mould, the instrument used for beating children, was produced.

Georgina Louiselle, the girl alluded to last night as being brutally beaten, testified to being beaten by Fortier with the cover of a mould like the one produced. He threw her down, held her there and struck her. The foreman was present at the time of the assault. She was 13 at the time. The reason for beating her was that she only made 200 cigars; he claimed she could make more.

At this point Lawyer C. A. Geoffrion asked the privilege of questioning witnesses in the interest of his clients, Fortier and Goulet. The commission refused to permit lawyers to interfere in the proceedings. [Applause.]

John J. Rodgers, while working at Fortier's, had been put in the blackhole. He had his trousers taken down and was beaten with a piece of iron hoop. He was beaten for not making enough cigars.

Alex. McGregor, Fortier's manager, had seen boys chastised but not severely. They have an enclosure in the factory where refractory boys are confined. Some parents had given permission to have their children chastised. Fines run from 10 to 25 cents, but are usually remitted. He never knew of an instance where the fines exceeded the amount earned. Boys might be taken to the enclosure without his consent, but he has not heard of any such case. Apprentices were compelled to sign an agreement not to join any labor organization. Boys have been fined for not making enough cigars. Journeymen pay each 10 cents per week for gas when it is used.

Jules Chartrand had been placed in the black hole by McGregor, who barred the door with a piece of iron. He was kept there without food from 8 a.m. till 6 p.m. He had been in the Reformatory three years ago.

McGregor here got permission to ask if Chartrand's mother did not want him sent to the Reformatory, to which Chartrand replied, "No, but I wished to go myself because of the ill treatment I was receiving at the factory." Sensation.]

CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS.

Annual Meeting of the Association in Toronto—Satisfactory Reports—Election of Officers—Banquet at the Queen's.

TORONTO, Feb. 9.

The thirteenth annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association was held yesterday afternoon at their offices, Wellington-street west.

The President gave a review of the year's transactions. He also treated of the position and prospects of the association, which was extending its operations throughout the Dominion. New industries had been opened up and there were many causes of congratulation. The National Policy was eulogized and faith in the country enforced. Commercial Union was condemned and characterized as "a nebulous undefined something" which nobody yet fully understands. Mr. Cowan closed with a fine peroration, in which he hoped that Canada would be blessed with the same prosperity in the future that had marked it during the past ten years of the National Policy.

Mr. Frederick Nicholls read the secretary's report, in which, as the manufacturing industries of Canada had in certain quarters been systematically belittled and attacked, he gave reliable information as to the extent and value of these interests. He also condemned Commercial Union, referred to rectifications of tariff interpretation and reviewed foreign trade. References were also made to the impartial working of the Factory Act, to bank circulation and other topics of interest to manufacturers.

THE FINES SUSPENDED.

A Female Offender Against the Scott Act Before a London Magistrate.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Mary Bradshaw, a woman with a family of young children who is now serving a two months' sentence for breach of the Scott Act, was brought before Police Magistrate Noble to-day and pleaded guilty to a similar offence. She was fined $50 and costs, but the court suspended sentence during her good behavior and signed a petition to the Minister of Justice for her discharge.

The united St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society at their meeting to-night, after arranging for a curling contest for "beef and greens" on Friday and a banquet in the evening, took steps to form a local branch of the Order of Scottish Clans.

Assault Case at Goodwood.

GOODWOOD, Feb. 8.—An assault was committed upon A. Soper, agent of the Grand Trunk Railway here, last night about 6 o'clock. As Mr. Soper was on his way from tea, and within about twenty rods of the station, Elijah Jones of the Township of Brock accosted him and said: "Are you Mr. Soper?" He replied: "Yes, sir." Jones then struck Soper, bringing him to the ground and injuring his eye seriously. Jones was sentenced to-day to sixty days in Whitby Jail at hard labor. Mr. Soper is an active temperance worker, and has received several letters to the effect that he might be killed any day.

A Youthful Reprobate.

OSHAWA, Feb. 8.—A lad about 18 years of age named Gilby, from near the Oshawa Grand Trunk Railway station, was committed to the County Jail at Whitby to-day for a criminal assault on a 16-year-old girl named Wilkinson, from Cedardale.

No Cut Rates.

TORONTO, 8th December, 1888.

Messrs. Sailsbury & Bros., Peterborough.

GENTLEMEN.—Replying to your favor—The Home Library Association, have no rates from us, and we will fill no orders taken by anyone at cut rates.

Yours truly,
THOMAS W. DYAS.

Messrs. Sailsbury & Bros. have received letters from several newspapers to the same effect, still there are people foolish enough to give the publishers of Picturesque Canada $12.00 for a $5.00 atlas, and thus become members of an association which cannot do what it promises. 1d33.

At Fever Heat.

And still the talk is of the approaching carnival. More interest is taken in it every day and as Tuesday, February 14th draws nearer the excitement increases. The prizes for the various events, now on exhibition at Habilment Hall, are certainly the finest ever offered in Peterborough, and the window where they are shown is continually surrounded by an admiring throng. As a number of ladies and gentlemen from our neighboring towns and villages intend to enter the lists, the local masquers will have to look to their laurels. Remember the date, Tuesday next, February 14th, and make your arrangements accordingly.

St. Peter's Debating Society.

The regular weekly meeting of the members of St. Peter's Literary and Debating Society, was held at the Murray-st. Separate school, on Wednesday evening. President, J. D. McIlmoyle, occupied the chair, and there was a large attendance. The subject of debate was "Resolved that British Rule has been beneficial in India.' For the affirmative, the speakers were Messrs. C. E. Roach, Jas. J. Sheehy and Redmond Henry, while Messrs. Dr. Collins and Dr. Brennan, supported the negative. Mr. John O'Meara, who was to assist them, was absent, so that a larger share of the work than they expected fell on their shoulders. The speaking throughout was spirited and all who took part showed that they had thoroughly studied up the subject, particularly the leaders, who spoke at considerable length. The chairman in summing up commented on all the points made by the different speakers and gave his decision in favor of the negative. An interesting programme of songs, readings and recitations followed, in which several well known local amateurs took part. The subject for next week's debate will be "Resolved that the people of Ireland would be benefited in a great measure by some form of Home Government."

No other medicine is so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, for the cure of coughs, colds, and all derangements of the respiratory organs. It relieves the asthmatic and consumptive, even in advanced stages of disease

under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the George Street Methodist Church will be held on Thursday evening, Feb. 16th, in the lecture room of the church. A very select programme may be expected. Refreshments served during the evening. Tickets 25 cents each. 4d30

Those who saw the crowd at Kidd's Boot & Shoe store on Saturday must have thought he was selling below cost, but he wasn't. Same price all the time! Same price to every one.

The Relief of Ekowe.

One of the selections on the programme of the Battalion Concert, and to be rendered by the 57th Battalion Band is a descriptive fantasia entitled "The Relief of Ekowe" The fantasia during the course of performance brings out with startling distinctness the assembly, march, muster, preparation, alert, Zulu march, war cry, the advance.—Britons strike home, enemy in sight, commence firing, charge, pursuit. Hurrah! hurrah!! hurrah!!! 2d32

Masonic Notes.

It has been decided that the "At Home" to be given in the Masonic Hall, under the auspices of both of the local lodges, will be held on Thursday evening, Feby. 23rd. An energetic committee have the details in and and matters will be arranged in anticipation of a pleasant evening. Members will invite friends—perferably lady friends—and the occasion is looked forward to with pleasant anticipation.

A pleasant occasion to brethren of the Order was the gathering at the Masonic Hall on Tuesday night. W. Bro. H. Rush, occupied the chair. A large number of members were present, including several brethren from Lodges in the district. W Bro. W. Millar, of Lorne Lodge, Omemee, delivered a very interesting address on Freemasary, dwelling at length on the moral influence for good exerted by association with the craft. Rev. Bro. W. C. Bradshaw contributed a reading that well merited the marked attention that it received. A choir made up of members of the lodge, including Bros. Jacques, Brundrett, Watt, Cameron and Metherell, contributed to the success of the evening. Refreshments were served in the dining room after which a pleasant hour was spent in referring to past associations and recalling incidents connected with the progress of the craft locally during the past fifteen years. W. Bro. Ormond of Winnipeg and J. E. Gould, Uxbridge, gave short addresses which were well received,

Curlians.

Two curling matches took place on the Lansdowne Rink, on Wednesday afternoon, between Lindsay and Peterborough, each place scoring a win and a loss. The first match was between the juveniles, and the local youths were too much for the visitors, as the score shows:—

| Lindsay. | Peterborough. |
|---|---|
| T. McBurney | Alex. Robertson |
| E. Gregory | B. Boucher |
| H. Gladman | G. Boucher |
| J. McLennan, jr., s'k., 19 | W. Hamilton, s'k., 21 |

Peterborough thus wins by 2 shots.

In the match between the seniors, the Lindsay men displayed their cunning and won by 7 points as follows:—

A despatch was received on Wednesday evening from the Governor General's secretary announcing that the Truro, Nova Scotia Club and the Peterborough Club had been drawn to contend at Ottawa for the Governor-General's medals. The two clubs will mutually choose the date. Two rinks of each will play. It will be remembered that the same two clubs were drawn last year, but the Maritime provinces men could not get to Ottawa, so Lindsay and Peterborough played, the match resulting in a victory for the first named.

Two rinks from Campbellford may play here to-morrow.

A game between Keene and Lakefield, two rinks a side, for the Ontario Tankard is in progress here this afternoon.

Two rinks of fat men, Toronto vs. Eastern Ontario will be played here to-morrow for the heavy weight belt. The "jumbos" can turn out some good curlers. An effort is also being made to bring down two rinks of ordinary mortals from Toronto to play here at the same time against two Peterborough rinks.

An oyster match was played on Wednesday evening, resulting as follows, the players being all well known members of the local club. The following made up the rinks:

| | |
|---|---|
| R. Hall | D. Bellegham |
| G. Walker | T. P. Atrill |
| R. S. Davidson | C. McGill |
| W. G. Ferguson, s'k 11 | A. Hall, skip.....16 |

The Ferguson rink therefore purchased the oysters.

TRENT NAVIGATION.

MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE ASSOCIATION.

Two Members Added—Mr. Carnegie Appointed to Collect Evidence—Col. Deacon and Mr. Stevenson an Advisory Committee—To Meet next Time at Lindsay.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Trent Navigation Association was held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday afternoon.

There were present Mr. James Stevenson, M.P., Mayor of Peterborough, in the chair, Messrs. Thos. Walters, Mayor of Lindsay, Wm. Switzer, Warden of Simcoe County, J. B. Thompson, Mayor of Orillia, J. J. Brown, Reeve of Barrie, Col. Deacon, Lindsay, D. R. Murphy, Trenton, Rev. Wm. Logan, Fenelon Falls, R. C. Strickland, Lakefield, M. M. Boyd, Bobcaygeon, Geo. Hilliard, and John Carnegie, Peterborough.

The minutes of previous meetings were read and confirmed.

CHANGES IN THE COMMITTEE.

Mr. John Carnegie resigned his position as a member of the Executive Committee, and his resignation was accepted, he still continuing as Secretary.

Col. DEACON moved, seconded by Mr. WALTERS,—That Mr. Geo. Hilliard be added to the Committee in place of Mr. Carnegie, resigned.—Carried.

Mr. STRICKLAND moved, seconded by Mr. HILLIARD,—That the Reeve of Ashburnham be placed on the committee.—Carried.

THE FUNDS.

Mr. D. R. MURPHY reported that the town of Trenton had contributed $200 to the funds of the Association and they hoped that the townships of Sidney and Murray would each contribute $150, which would make $500.

Mr. WALTERS said that Victoria County had voted $1,000 on condition that the other counties voted the sums asked. In view of the action of Peterborough and Simcoe he believed there would be no difficulty in the condition attached.

Mr. CARNEGIE said that Simcoe county had unanimously voted $500, and the County and Town of Peterborough $1,000 and another $1,000 subject to the orders of a joint committee.

Several letters of regret on account of not being able to be present were read.

Col. DEACON said that he feared there would be difficulty in getting the money from Victoria unless the eastern portions —Northumberland and Hastings—did their part.

Mr. MURPHY explained the interests these counties had in the canal and said that there was a delicacy among the County Councillor sabout bringing up money matter at the first session. The Reeve of Murray had told him that he was surprised to find the Reeve of Hastings Village opposed to a grant. The County Councils had adjourned till June, and if the contributions from other Councils depended on their action the matter would be serious.

PREPARING FOR WORK.

Mr BOYD said that what they now needed was to get the committee into shape for work. He suggested the appointment of a sub-committee, as the members of this committee lived so far apart. He moved, seconded by Mr. Strickland, that Messrs. John Burnham, J. M. Irwin and D. W. Dumble be appointed a committee to attend to the collection of evidence, with Mr. Carnegie as Secretary and Mr. Stevenson as Treasurer, the sub-committee to report to this committee at intervals.

Col. DEACON said that they should let Northumberland and Hastings know that it was important that they should contribute. He thought it would be better, if they had a special committee, to select men from different sections.

Mr. BOYD said he named three gentlemen from Peterborough so that they could get together easily to do the work. What they did would be submitted to this committee for sanction.

Mr. MURPHY read an amendment to appoint three men as a sub-committee, one from the east, another from the west and the third from the centre, but it was not pressed. He said the resolution was in accordance with the views of citizens of Trenton, and by this means he thought the work would be more easily and thoroughly done.

Mr. STRICKLAND said the men scattered over the country could not well work together. He did not care if the committee were all from Lindsay; what he wanted was to have them close together so they could work.

Col. DEACON moved, seconded by Mr. WALTERS,—That a sub-committee consisting of the following gentlemen be appointed to procure evidence and compile statistics for submission to the consideration of the Royal Commission recently appointed by the Dominion Government as to the advisability of continuing the construction of the water route known as the Trent Valley Canal, said committee to have power to visit the different sections of the country, interested from time to time and co-operate with such local committees as may be appointed, in procuring the necessary information, viz., the Rev. Wm. Logan for the County of Victoria, J. Burnham, County of Peterborough, and J. J. Brown, County of Simcoe, and one to be appointed from the points on the route east of Peterborough, when it shall have been reported that the counties of Hastings and Northumberland or portions of the county municipalities have contributed the sum requested by circular issued from this Association, That the Chairman and Secretary be ex-officio members of the committee, and the President, Secretary and any one member shall be a quorum, said committee to report when necessary to the General Committee.

HOW IT WILL BE DONE.

Mr. THOMPSON moved in amendment to the amendment, seconded by Mr. SWITZER, —That the Secretary, Mr. Carnegie, be instructed to collect all evidence necessary to submit to the T. V. C. Commission, and that Col. Deacon of Lindsay, and Jas. Stevenson, M.P., be an advisory committee with power to expend money.

Mr. Boyd withdrew his motion and Col. Deacon offered to withdraw his amendment, but Mr. Murphy objected.

Mr. D. R. MURPHY moved in amendment that a representative from the east be added.

Mr. THOMPSON said that he had left his own section out of his motion, as he wanted no sectional feeling.

Mr. Thompson's motion was put and carried.

THE TREASURER.

Mr. BROWN moved, seconded by Mr. SWITZER,—That Mr. Stevenson be appointed Treasurer of the Executive Committee fund to be contributed by the municipalities.—Carried.

THE SECRETARY'S REMUNERATION.

The question of the Secretary's remuneration was brought up.

Mr. WALTERS said that the Secretary should be liberally paid for his services, but he thought it would be well to leave it in abeyance for a time.

Mr. LOGAN moved, seconded by Mr. THOMPSON,—That the sum of $500 be paid to Mr. Carnegie for services as Secretary of the Association.

Col. DEACON moved in amendment that the Secretary be paid $5 a day for time given to the work.

After brief discussion Col. Deacon withdrew his amendment and the motion was carried.

The meeting adjourned subject to the call of the chairman, the next meeting to be held at Lindsay.

WORK FOR YOUNG MEN.

Closing Services at the Young Men's Christain Association Convention.

FEBRUARY 3rd, 1888.—This evening's session of the Convention in the Association Hall was opened by a service of song led by the Toronto Association male chorus and orchestra. At 8 p. m. Mr. R. H. Holland, President Montreal Y. M. C. A., took the chair and after the usual opening exercise announced the first topic for the evening, viz., "The Importance of Evangalistic meetings for men only." Two papers were read on this subject, the 1st by D. A. Budge, of Montreal, and the 2nd by John B. Squire of Buffalo. A conversation upon the topic was conducted by Geo. A. Hall of New York.

The chairman of the Devotional Committee, Mr. Gartshore, announced the meetings for Saturday evening and Sunday and the session was closed.

The morning session was opened by Mr. G. M. Roger, of Peterborough, Vice-President of the Convention. Resolutions of sympathy were passed towards W. F. Orr, Secretary at St. Thomas, whose wife had passed away the day before; and H. F. Williams, International Secretary, who was called away from the Convention to the death bed of his father in the west.

The first paper for the morning was on "The extension of College Work," and read by T. B. Scott, Queen's University, Kingston. This was followed by a paper on "Reception Committee Work" by Mr. Kuhring of Ottawa. The convention freely discussed the latter paper and some very valuable suggestions were brought out.

The Committee appointed to consider the executive statement brought in their report, which was received and adopted.

Afternoon session. Address by Mayor Clarke, Bible reading by Hon. S. H. Blake.

The President of the Convention, Mr. Caldecott, occupied the chair. A paper was read on the value of Associate Membership, by W. H. Smith, Medical Students Association, Toronto. Mr. J. K. Unsworth, B. A., conducted the conversation which followered.

After singing "I need thee Every Hour," an illustrated Training Class was conducted by Mr. Frank M. Pratt, of Kingston. At its close the President said he had great pleasure in introducing the Chief Magistrate of Toronto, Mayor Clarke, who spoke as follows:—

During the afternoon Mayo Clarke was present and spoke as follows:—Mr. President and Chairman,—I felt honoured a few days ago when I received a communication inviting me to be present at one or more of your meetings, and I regret very much that owing to other engagements it was impossible for me at that time to accept the invitation, but yesterday afternoon I was more highly honored by having a deputation wait upon me at the City Hall.

I was constrained by the kindly and paternal invitation to break one or two appointments that I might be present this afternoon. I think it was incumbent upon me as the Chief Magistrate of the City of Toronto to be present, if possible. If I did not put in an appearance my absence might be misunderstood or misconstrued. I assure the gentlemen who are present that the Corporation of the City of Toronto are in sympathy with the work of the Association; that they desire that the richest blessing of Heaven may follow their labors.

I hope it is not too late to welcome you visitors to our Queen city. We are all justly proud of Toronto, and of its enviable notoriety amongst the cities of Canada. It is generally recognised that our people are a loyal people. It will be the aim of the corporation of 1888, as far as in them lies, to maintain the good name of the city. As a resident of Toronto I can recognise the good work which has been done by the Young Men's Christian Association of this city, and now you have come into more commodious and beautiful rooms I hope that its usefulness may be further increased. Holding the position that it occupies as a moral city, as a law-abiding city, yet there are many snares by which young men may be entrapped, and I know it is the aim of this Association and convention to learn how to best counteract these, and I hope that this conference will help you. I feel that I should not have occupied your time, but I again beg to extend you a welcome to the Queen City and I hope that you may be further strengthened and that you may learn better ideas of the way to propagate the work of the Association. I thank you for your kindly invitation and for the patient hearing you have given me.

He was frequently applauded and given a very warm reception. At the close of his address the Hon. S. H. Blake gave a very interesting Bible reading on the transfiguration.

EVENING SESSION.

The evening meeting was for young men only and was conducted by Mr. Claus Olundt, of New York. The subject was "What think ye of Christ?" Short addresses were made by John B. Squire, Buffalo, Frank Pratt, Kingston and W. H. Stevens, Peterborough.

The service was interesting and pointed, laying before young men the claims the Divine Saviour had upon their lives.

SUNDAY SERVICE.

At 9.30 the convention gathered in the Y. M. C. A. Lecture Hall for a consecration service. It was conducted by Mr. Hall of New York. Short pointed testimonies as to failures and weaknesses were followed by brief individual prayers for divine strength and guidance. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon a mass meeting for young men was held in the Association Hall conducted by D. A. Budge of Montreal and addressed by W. P. Crombie, evangelist; W. T. Chapman, Brantford, and W. H. Stevens, Peterborough. The subject was sin, its progressive character, etc., etc. At the close as the audience bowed in prayer numbers of young men manifested their desire to become Christians and prayer was offered by C. S. Gzwoski, Jr.

At 8.30 the farewell meeting was led by Mr. Hall of New York. Two minute addresses were made by S Caldecutt, President of the convention, Claus Olondt, C. S. Gzwoski, Jr., Rev. Hugh Johnston and others and one minute sentences of impressions of the convention were given by the various delegates. After spending over an hour thus the delegates joined hands and sang, "Blest be the Tie that binds our hearts in Christian Love." Rev. Hugh Johnston pronounced the benediction and the President declared the 18th Provincial Convention closed. For about half an hour hearty handshaking followed, the delegates gradually dispersing.

NOTES.

The hospitality of the Toronto people was more than could be expected, one delegate stating, "I regretted I had not capacity to take it all in." The convention was a grand success, sending the delegates home with renewed vigor to present the claims of Christ upon their fellows.

The President said the American delegates were good enough to be Canadians.

Peterborough was represented by Messrs. Geo. M. Roger, A. Clegg, C. W. Beal, R. H. Henderson, E. R. Wood and W. H. Stevens, Secretary.

Young Men's Parlor Conference.

About forty of the committee men and workers of the Young Men's Christian Association gathered in their parlor, Tuesday evening, for a conference concerning Association work, with Mr. A. Budge General Secretary, Y. M. C. A., Montreal, the oldest secretary in Canada. Mr. Geo. M. Roger occupied the chair and after the usual opening exercises introduced Mr. Budge to the meeting. Mr. Budge congratulated the Peterborough Association on the present condition of their work and delivered a telling address specially emphasizing the requisites for successful committee work. At the close of his address he conducted a conversation and asked and answered questions. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Budge for his visit and address, after which the members were introduced to him personally and the meeting dispersed.

"My little son, three years of age, was terribly afflicted with scrofula. His head was entirely covered with scrofulous sores, and his body showed many marks of the disease. A few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured him.' —W. J. Beckett, Hymers, Ind.

Brevities

—A noon prayer meeting is now held at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

—The C.P.R. evening train was over an hour late last evening.

—There were no cases for trial before the Police Magistrate this morning.

—The members of the Fire Brigade now boast of a glee club and a hunt club.

—There are several other Scott Act cases on the Police Court docket for Saturday.

—The regular meeting of the Town Council will take place on Monday evening next.

—The vacant lot north of Denne's old mill is now utilized by the corporation for piling wood on.

—The reading room of the Y.M.C.A. is largely patronized by the public and all are welcome.

—A despatch says that the C.P.R. will construct a line from Claremont to Sudbury Junction.

—The large majority of the Peterborough sports arrived home from the Lindsay races last evening.

—The thermometer last night registered 10 deg. below zero at the residence of Mr. Wm. English.

—Owing to his train being late yesterday Mr. D. D. Galletly deferred his departure for Winnipeg until to-day.

—The Trent Valley Canal commmissioners are ready to sit and their first meeting will probably take place at an early day.

—Peterborough is now experiencing a curling boom and the devotees of the besom and stones are in high glee accordingly.

—A bill regarding the Wm. Hall Protestant Poor Trust has been introduced into the Ontario Legislature and given its first reading.

—The regular weekly tramp of the members of the Y.M.C.A. snow shoe club did not take place last evening, but it will come off to-night.

—Four Committees of the Town Council will hold meetings this evening, Market, Fire, Water and Light, Street and Bridge and Finance.

—A Smithtown farmer has given employment to the man whose family were severely suffering from the want of the necessaries of life.

—There was a good turnout of the members of the Canton last night, when final instructions were given regarding the coming carnival.

—Mr. Ed. Brown was one of the judges at the Lindsay races. Dr. Coulter, an old resident of Peterborough, also officiated in the same capacity.

—Authorities differ as to how cold it was last night. Thermemetors ranged from 8 deg. to 14 deg. below zero. At noon to-day it marked 6 deg. below.

—Terry Smith has "Old Tom" one of the Fire department horses well trained and at the sound of the gong he now trots to his place as well as the best of them.

A farmer was looking for a lost buffalo robe last night, which he supposed had been stolen, but it was found lying under the cutter, which he had placed in a shed.

—The custom saw mills will be well supplied this winter and spring as the number of logs being brought in is extra large. They are of all kinds of wood from basswood to maple.

—With reference to destroying trees with the snow ploughs, the drivers state that they are as careful as possible, but in spite of their efforts a piece of ice or some other obstruction will turn the plough.

—The people of Peterborough are enjoying themselves hugely these times. Sleighing parties, socials and other like amusements are all the rage and many more are yet to come before Lent arrives.

LINDSAY RACES.

The Peterborough Horses Show Up Better, on the Second Day.

Wednesday was the second and last day of the Lindsay winter meeting. The weather was fine and the attendance large, while the track was in far better condition than on the preceding day. It will be observed that "Sleepy Dan," "Royal Jim" and "Willie W," the Peterborough horses that took part showed up well and succeeded in carrying off a fair share of the prize money. The following is a summary of the two events.

THREE MINUTE TROT.—Purse $70, divided. 1st $40, 2nd $20, 3rd $10.

| | |
|---|---|
| Sleepy Dan | 2 3 1 1 1 |
| Royal Jim | 3 2 3 3 3 |

On the previous day "F. O. P." had beaten "Sleepy Dan" and the rivalry between the owners was great. The race throughout the five heats was exciting from start to finish, and the crowd went almost wild with delight. Mr. H. Winch's trotter put in the three last heats and thus won a hard earned victory over worthy opponents. "Royal Jim" also showed well up in all the heats, particularly in the second. The best time made was 2.41.

THE FREE-FOR-ALL.—pacers and trotters. Purse, $125, divided. 1st $75, 2nd $30, 3rd $20.

| | |
|---|---|
| Mayflower | 1 1 1 |
| Willie W. | 2 2 2 |
| Storm | 3 3 3 |
| Louis D. | 4 4 4 |

Those present expected to see the fliers do some great work, but they were disappointed as the race was won by Mayflower in one, two, three order, the position of the trotters not being changed throughout the three heats. The winner was not pushed throughout and the best time was 2.43, thirteen seconds less than Mayflower trotted here.

To Save Life

Frequently requires prompt action. An hour's delay waiting for the doctor may be attended with serious consequences, especially in cases of Croup, Pneumonia, and other throat and lung troubles. Hence, no family should be without a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has proved itself, in thousands of cases, the best Emergency Medicine ever discovered. It gives prompt relief and prepares the way for a thorough cure, which is certain to be effected by its continued use.

S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga., says: "I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup in all cases. I have known the worst cases relieved in a very short time by its use; and I advise all families to use it in sudden emergencies, for coughs, croup, &c."

A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middletown, Tenn., says: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."

"I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," writes E. Bragdon, of Palestine, Texas, "believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died."

FROM SUDBURY TO CLAREMONT.

The Canadian Pacific Will Compete with the Grand Trunk in a New Line.

MONTREAL, Feb. 8.—At a meeting of the directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway to-day it was decided to construct a line from Sudbury Junction to Claremont, which will be practically an extension of the main line to Toronto, and will effect a saving in the district between Toronto and other Ontario points and the western section of the Canadian Pacific Railway of seventy miles and a corresponding saving to Sault Ste. Marie. Preliminary surveys will be commenced immediately and the work will be pushed with all speed. Hon. J. J. C. Abbott was elected a director.

TORONTO, Feb. 9.

The above despatch was received last night. Upon inquiries made of persons in the confidence of the Canadian Pacific Railway the announcement was confirmed. Having failed to secure the Northern because of the alleged exorbitant price asked, the Canadian Pacific Railway determined to build a line of its own, which was outlined six weeks ago when the Canadian Pacific Railway ceased its negotiations for the purchase of the Northern. The new road will be the most direct line from Toronto and all of Ontario west of Belleville to the "Soo" and the Northwest. It will be a rival of the Northern and will parallel the Grand Trunk's projected extension to the Soo.

THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

Read at the Ministerial Banquet Last Night—The Measures Proposed.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The Queen's speech was read at the ministerial banquet this evening.

The speech, after congratulating the country upon its pacific foreign relations, announces the intention of the Government to introduce a bill declaring squares and thoroughfares unsuitable for public gatherings; a bill of broad scope dealing with Irish land valuation and an English Local Government Bill.

The Heaps Cabinet Factory.

OSHAWA, Feb. 8.—The Heaps cabinet factory, for which a bylaw was passed on July 16 last, granting it a bonus of $15,000, exemption from taxes for ten years, and $500 per year to defray the expense of teaming its wares to and from the station of the Grand Trunk Railway until such time as a switch would be built from the station to the town, has now been pronounced a humbug. During part of the negotiations last summer John Cowan was Mayor of Oshawa, and being a shrewd business man, could not, in his conscience, agree to the stipulations which were being drawn out, and sooner than do so, resigned his position as Chief Magistrate of the town, for which he was censured by nine-tenths of the people. Now that the factory is at a standstill, the men idle, a good deal of wages unpaid, after Mr. Heaps getting $16,000 of the money, the ratepayers think that Mr. Cowan was right. In the meantime Mr. Heaps has laid out about $2500 on improvements, and the conundrum is where is the rest of the money gone?

The Walking Match.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—In the international walking match the score at 1 o'clock this morning was: Albert 348, Vint 250, Panchot 342, Herty 335, Guerrero 334, Hart 317, Moore 220, Golden 300, Strokel 291, Noremac 278, Dillon 268, Sullivan 225, Taylor 222, Collins 196, Steer 188.

DAILY MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, Feb. 8.

The grain and produce markets were moderately active and steady at home to-day and weaker in Chicago while the European markets were dull but generally firm.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago Stock Yards to-day are: Estimated receipts 18,000, official yesterday 13,726, shipments 6690, left over about 5500. Cattle receipts 9000. Market quiet and steady.

LOCAL STREET MARKET.

The local market to-day was fairly active at steady prices. Wheat somewhat easier, with sales of fall at 82c to 83c, spring at 76c to 81c, and goose at 72c to 74c. Barley firm, with sales of 5000 bushels at 74c to 75c. Oats steady, 300 bushels selling at 45c to 47c. Peas remained at 66c to 70c. Hay in fair offering and prices firm; 60 loads sold at $15 to $17 for clover, and $13 to $16 for timothy. Straw quiet and prices steady, with sales at $10 to $12. Dressed hogs firm at $7.25 to $7.50. Beef $3 to $5 for forequarters, and $5 to $7.50 for hindquarters. Mutton $6.50 to $8; lamb at $9 to $10; veal $5.50 to $8.50.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The retail market to-day was quiet and prices are unchanged.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Yes, that is true," he says, in a curious tone, in answer to her words, his eyes fixed moodily upon the ground.—Then suddenly he lifts his head, and as his gaze meets hers some of the truth and sweetness that belongs to her springs from her to him and restores him once again to his proper self.

He smiles, and, turning, kneels before her in mock humility that savors of very real homage. Taking her hand, he presses it to his lips.

"Will your majesty deign to confer some slight sign of favor upon a very devoted servant?"

His looks betray his wish. And Mona, stooping, very willing bestows upon him one of the sweetest little kisses imaginable.

"I doubt your queen lacks dignity," she says, with a quick blush, when she has achieved her tender crime.

"My queen lacks nothing," says Geoffrey. Then, as he feels the rising wind that is soughing through the barren trees, he says, hurriedly, "My darling, you will catch cold. Put on your wraps again."

"Just in one moment," says the wilful beauty. "But I must first look at myself altogether. I have only seen myself in little bits up to this, my glass is so small."

Running over to the river that flows swiftly but serenely a few yards from her, she leans over the bank and gazes down lingeringly and with love into the dark depths beneath that cast up to her her own fair image.

Geoffrey approaches her and taking her hand both lean over the brink and survey themselves in Nature's glass. The same thought fills them both. As they are there in the water so (pray they) "may we be together in life."

Yet all things in this passing world know an end. In one short moment the perfect picture is spoiled. A huge black dog, bursting through the underwood, flings himself lovingly upon Mona, threatening every moment to destroy her toilet.

"It is Mr. Moore's retriever!" cries Mona, hurriedly, in a startled tone. "I must run. Down, Fan! down! Oh, if he catches me here, in this dress, what will he think? Quick, Geoffrey, give me my shawl!"

She tucks up her dignified train in a most undignified haste, while Geoffrey covers up all the finery with the crimson shawl. The white cloud is once more thrown over the dainty cap, all the pretty coloring vanishes out of sight; and Mona, after one last lingering glance at Geoffrey, follows its example. She, too, flies across the rural bridge into the covert of her own small domain.

CHAPTER IX.

It is only yesterday that the lovers parted, and this is Sunday. Geoffrey, as true to Mona as the magnet to the loadstone, crosses the rustic bridge that leads into the Moore plantations, whither Bridget informs him, Mona has gone, and finds her sitting on a bank, laughing and trying to recover her breath—after an exciting chase after a young turkey which, evidently determined to spend his Sunday out, had wandered in this direction.

"I hardly think this is Sunday work," she says, lightly; "but the poor little thing would have died if left out all night."

"Yes, and might have haunted you ever after," says Geoffrey. "Come, let us go for a walk."

"To the old fort?" asks Mona, starting to her feet.

"Anywhere you like," answers Geoffrey.

So they start, in a lazy, happy-go-lucky fashion, for their walk, conversing as they go, of themselves principally, as all true lovers will.

But the fort, on this evening at least, is never reached. Mona, coming to a stile, seats herself comfortably on the top of it, and looks with mild content around.

"Are you going no farther?" asks Rodney, hoping sincerely she will say "No." She does say it.

"It is so nice here," she says, with a soft sigh, and a dreamy smile, whereupon he climbs and seats himself beside her. The evening is fine; the heavens promise to be fair; the earth beneath is calm and full of silence as becomes a Sabbath eve; yet, alas! Mona strikes a chord that presently flings harmony to the winds.

"Tell me about your mother," she says, folding her hands easily in her lap. "I mean—what is she like? Is she cold, or proud, or stand-off?" There is keen anxiety in her tone.

"Eh?" says Geoffrey, rather taken aback. "Cold" and "proud" he cannot deny, even to himself are words that suit his mother rather more than otherwise.

"I mean," says Mona, flushing a vivid scarlet, "is she stern?"

"Oh, no," says Geoffrey, hastily, recovering himself just in time; "she's all right, you know, my mother; and you'll like her awfully when—when you know her, and when—when she knows you."

"Will that take her long?" asks Mona, somewhat wistfully, feeling without understanding, some want in his voice.

"I don't see how it could take any one long," says Rodney.

"Ah! that is because you are a man, and because you love me," says this astute reader of humanity. "But women are so different. Suppose—suppose she never gets to like me?"

"Well, even that awful misfortune might be survived. We can live in our own home 'at ease,' as the old song says, until she comes to her senses. By the bye, do you know you have never asked me about your future home—my own place, Leighton Hall? and yet it is rather well worth asking about, because, though small, it is one of the oldest and prettiest places in the country."

"Leighton Hall," she repeats, slowly, fixing upon him her dark eyes that are always so full of truth and honesty. "But you told me you were poor; that a third son——"

"Wasn't much," interrupted Geoffrey, with an attempt at carelessness that rather falls through beneath the gaze of those searching eyes. "Well, no more he is, you know, as a rule, unless some kind relative comes to his assistance."

"But you told me no maiden aunt had ever come to your assistance," says Mona, remorsefully.

"In that I spoke the truth," says Mr. Rodney, with a shameless laugh, "because it was an uncle who left me some money."

"You have not been quite true with me," says Mona, in a curious way, never removing her gaze, and never returning his smile. "Are you rich, then, if you are not poor?"

Scott's Emulsion of Pure

COD LIVER OIL, WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES.

For Children and Pulmonary Troubles.

Dr. W. S. Hoy, Point Pleasant, W.Va., says: "I have made a thorough test with Scott's Emulsion in Pulmonary Troubles and General Debility, and have been astonished at the good results for children with Rickets or Marasmus it is unequalled." Put up in 50c and $1 sizes.

POKING FUN!

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprises largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8.75, this is an all wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown Before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3.75 and a pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits really nice and lot of them $1.95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPAR'S, where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver a misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

THE FURNITURE MAN FLEES.

J. H. Samo is Guilty of Forgery—Liquidator Campbell's Stock Looking Up.

TORONTO, Feb. 9.

J. H. Samo, late in the furniture business on Yonge-street, a man who has failed several times for large amounts, has absconded. He owes the defunct Central Bank some $20,000, most of which was got on paper now known to be forged. The names said to be forged are those of Messrs. Jacques, Valentine, Schmidt, Preston and Douglas. For over two weeks Messrs. Howland and Gooderham have known that the paper was "queer" and they directed Mr. Clark, who is acting for them in the bank, to keep an eye on him. Samo was under capias Tuesday, and Mr. Clark was instructed to have him arrested if he got free from the capias. Samo was seen in a Canadian Pacific Railway ticket office on Tuesday buying a ticket with a roll of bills before him. Mr. Clark missed his chance and the bird got away. Samo can be brought back for forgery, and it behooves the liquidators to see that he is sent for—but not at the expense of the poor creditors of the bank.

The partizans of Mr. Campbell, the suspended liquidator, are very outspoken against this neglect of Messrs. Howland, Gooderham and Clark in this matter, as they have been cognizant of the forgeries for some days.

Mr. Campbell's stock is going up and his friends predict that "he will turn the tables on his persecutors on Monday next." He has a large amount of sympathy in Montreal.

In his dealings with Messrs. Gooderham and Howland he was anxious to realise the assets and to turn over all criminal proceedings to the Attorney-General. Furthermore it now turns out that Mr. Campbell gave to his co-liquidators a book narrating the prosecution of the directors of the City of Glasgow Bank (a very similar case) and urged them to take a like course. They did not adopt his advice. Mr. Campbell claims that if this had been done the absconders would never have gotten away.

Mr. Campbell also says that he was friendly and frank with his co-liquidators; without a word of warning, and while professing friendship they sprung their charges on him. He accordingly thinks little of their Christian charity.

That Extradition Treaty With the U.S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Mr. Belmont, chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, said to an Associated Press reporter to-day that no clause permitting the extradition of a citizen of the United States for any political offence was included in the extradition treaty with Great Britain sent to the Senate.

THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

Lord Salisbury's Speech—Sympathy Expressed for the Crown Prince.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—In the House of Lords Lord Crawford moved the address in reply to the Queen's speech. The motion was seconded by Lord Armstrong.

Lord Salisbury in the course of debate referred to the Crown Prince of Germany. He said it was sad to learn that the heir of a great Empire, closely united with us in bonds of sympathy, stood in a situation of peril, everywhere exciting deep solicitude.

Regarding the great issues of peace or war now pending in Europe, Lord Salisbury said he would not pretend to give further information than was conveyed in the recent masterly speech of Prince Bismarck. The Berlin Treaty was highly acceptable, at the time it was concluded, to the English Government and remained so still. England had long had a policy in the east from which the Government did not intend to depart and which they would consistently uphold. They have interested themselves for four generations in the fate of Southeastern Europe and would not show themselves now more indifferent to those interests than the generations before them. [Cheers.] He attached great value to the assurances that peace would be maintained. [Hear, hear.]

In a brief reference to Ireland he charged Mr. Gladstone with misrepresenting the Conservative party in saying that they admitted that some kind of home rule must eventually be adopted. This was not true, and Mr. Gladstone would be the last man in the world to hear it if it had been true.

A COLD DAY'S FIRES.

Incendiarism at Cobourg Causes a Loss of $9000—Other Blazes.

COBOURG, Feb. 9.—About 10 o'clock last night a fire broke out in a building used by A. B. Appleby for storing and curing hides, situated in the northern part of the town. The building and contents were entirely destroyed; loss $9000, insured in the Royal for $6450. The fire is said to have been incendiary.

A Lindsay Photograph Gallery Destroyed.

LINDSAY, Feb. 9.—The photograph gallery occupied by H. Fowler was discovered to be in flames about 10 o'clock this morning. The building and contents are almost a total loss, insured in the London Assurance, building, $500; stock, $200. J. Hethick, barber, loss on furniture $200, fully insured in the London Assurance. W. McCarty, jeweler, loss on stock about $200, insured in the Waterloo Mutual.

A Narrow Escape.

THOROLD, Feb. 9.—About 1 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in a frame dwelling on Bridal-avenue here, owned by W. J. MacharneY and occupied by F. H. Mothersill, completely destroying the building and contents. Mr. Mothersill, who was alone in the house, had a narrow escape with his life, having to escape through an upstair window in his night clothes. Loss on the building, $600; insured for $300 in the British American. Loss on furniture, $300; insured for $200 in the Queen.

Perished in the Flames.

READING, Pa., Feb. 9.—Four frame dwellings at Kutztown were burned early this morning. John Hopp and his daughter, aged 15, and a son, aged 9, perished. It is thought the fire was caused by Hopp, who was intoxicated.

NOT KILLED.

But Site Brother Beaten—A Hamiltonians' Hard Head—Disgusting Criminality.

HAMILTON, Feb. 9.—There is no truth in the despatch in this morning's Toronto Globe about a lad named Fred Morrison being killed at the races here. His brother William got into an altercation and was given a severe beating.

Last evening as Robert McKillop, the electric light patrol, was proceeding up Queen-street, past Barton, with his horse and cutter, a coaster, containing Francis Somerville, his two sons and a stranger man, whose name could not be learned, came sweeping down Barton-street from the west. The front of the coaster ran between the fore and hind legs of the horse, and the forehead of the strange man struck the right shaft with such terrible force as to break it. One of Mr. Somerville's sons, a lad about 8 years of age, was struck in the forehead by a cork of one of the hind shoes of the animal, causing a very bad wound, and rendering the lad unconscious. Mr. Somerville and the other lad escaped injury, but the stranger was also for a time in an unconscious condition by the concussion with the shaft. Shortly afterwards, however, the latter revived and started off, and the extent of his injuries could not be ascertained.

Lewis G. Johnston, a young married man, was convicted on a charge of indecent exposure at the Police Court this morning. Sentence was deferred.

Funeral of the Late Mr. Farewell.

OSHAWA, Feb. 9.—The funeral of the late Abram Farewell, ex-M.P.P. for South Ontario, took place at Harmony to-day and was largely attended. Elder Fromer of Oshawa conducted the burial service.

Assaulted by a Chinese Laundryman.

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—Delia Durant, aged 21, living at No. 40 Dover-street, was criminally assaulted last night by Shing Kee, a Chinese laundryman, in his place of business, where she had called for her laundry.

OPENING OF THE SESSION.

THE IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT COMMENCES ITS LABORS.

Text of the Queen's Speech—Extended Speeches by Lord Salisbury and Mr. Gladstone—The Irish Question—Programme of the Parnellites.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—A large crowd gathered outside the Parliament House this morning, drawn thither by the opening of the session. Everything was quiet. The Queen's speech was read by Royal Commission. It is as follows:

My Lords and Gentlemen:

I continue to receive from all the powers cordial assurances of friendly sentiments, as well as of an earnest desire to maintain the peace of the world.

My officers, in conjunction with those of the Emperor of Russia, have completed the demarcation of the Afghanistan boundary in conformity with the terms of the convention of 1887. I trust the work thus concluded may tend to remove the possibility of a misunderstanding between the two powers regarding their Asian possessions.

Animated by a desire to prevent an effusion of blood I despatched a mission to the King of Abyssinia, with the hope of dissuading him from engaging in war with Italy. I deeply regret that my efforts were not successful.

The deliberations of the conference at Washington to adjust questions which have arisen between Canada and America are still progressing.

The negotiations commenced in 1885 in respect to the regulation of the Suez Canal have been brought to a conclusion so far as the points of difference between myself and the French Republic are concerned. I have also entered into an agreement with France for the protection of life and property in the New Hebrides by a joint naval commission.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The estimates for services for 1888 which will be laid before you have been framed with a due regard for economy. You will be asked to provide for the improvement of the defence of the ports and coaling stations rendered urgently necessary by the advance of military science, and also to sanction an arrangement providing for a special squadron to protect Australasian commerce, the cost of which will be partially borne by the colonies.

My Lords and Gentlemen:

The measures which at great labor you passed last session for the benefit of Ireland have been carefully carried into effect during the period since elapsed. The result of this legislation so far as tested by this short experience is satisfactory. Agrarian crime has diminished, and the powers of coercive conspiracies have sensibly abated. Measures tending to develop the resources of Ireland and to facilitate an increase in the number of proprietors of the soil will be laid before you. Your attention will be invited to the subject of local government in England. Measures will be submitted for dealing with it in combination with proposals for adjusting the relations between local and Imperial finance, and for mitigating the burdens imposed upon ratepayers.

The prospects of commerce are more hopeful than any which I have been able to point to in many years. I deeply regret that there has been no corresponding improvement observable in the condition of agriculture. I commend the interests of that great industry to your attentive care, hoping that means may be discovered to enable it to meet more effectively the difficulties under which it labors.

You will be invited to consider legislative proposals for cheapening the transfer of land; for modifying the procedure by which the tithe rent charge is collected; for promoting technical education; for preventing undue preferences in rates charged by railway companies on foreign and domestic produce; for remedying abuses in the formation of companies under the Limited Liability Act; for amending the law of liability of employers in case of accidents; for improving the position of Scottish universities; for regulating the borough police of Scotland; for diminishing the cost of private bill legislation.

In these and all other efforts you may make to promote the well being of my people, I pray you may be guided by the hand of Almighty God.

Mr. Parnell gave notice that he would introduce a bill to amend the Irish Land Law Amendment Act.

Mr. Gladstone, on entering the House of Commons, was loudly cheered. Lord Hartington at once left his seat and went and shook hands with him, when they sat down and entered into an animated conversation which lasted for some time.

Mr. Ritchie gave notice of the introduction of a Local Government bill.

Sir Charles Russell (Liberal) gave notice that he would move for an inquiry regarding the Trafalgar-square meetings and the limits of interference by the Government with public meetings generally.

Mr. Matthews, Home Secretary, in reply to a question, said that the convict Harkins had gained admission to the Speaker's gallery in August last under the name of McFinn. He was accompanied by Melville, alias Mercury. Both were admitted on an order obtained from an Irish member of Parliament. Melville not only entered the gallery, but also spent some time on the river terrace and in the House in company with his introducers. This case, he said, proved the necessity of an increase in the safeguards attending admission to the House of Commons. [Hear, hear.]

Mr. Wharton (Conservative) moved the address in reply to the Queen's speech. The motion was seconded by Col. Duncan.

Mr. Gladstone said that he rose to speak at this early stage of the debate, hoping that he might contribute to expedite the business before the House. He could congratulate the Government on some aspects of their foreign policy. The question of the Afghan boundary, so long a source of danger to two great empires, was settled—a great thing in itself—and he trusted that it would modify the jealousies regarding the territorial extensions of Russia. So far as he was aware no other cause for misunderstanding remained between the two nations. [Hear, hear.]

Referring to Ireland Mr. Gladstone said: "While the Opposition are anxious to expedite the business, the Government's policy in Ireland could not be lightly passed over. [Cheers.] The address declares that crimes of an agrarian character have diminished and that conspiracy has sensibly decreased through the careful execution of the Crimes Act. He was disposed to substitute for "careful" some very different word. [Cheers.] The whole subject of the administration of coercion must, through an amendment, be debated. He would not anticipate the debate, but could not pass over the assertion that the Irish people under coercion had become more reconciled to law. [Cheers.]

The royal speech promised local legislation for England. Why did the Government not redeem its promises of an extension of self-government to Ireland? The power of action of Dublin Castle had been increased and intensified, and the aspirations of the Irish for self-government had been suppressed or unheeded. [Cheers.]

Mr. Wm. Henry Smith, the Government leader, thanked Mr. Gladstone for his remarks. Concerning the Government's foreign policy he promised to lay before the House papers on various foreign negotiations. He was not prepared as yet to state the course the Government would adopt with reference to Sir Charles Russell's motion.

THE CROWN PRINCE.

Tracheotomy Performed Yesterday—The Operation Highly Successful.

SAN REMO, Feb. 9.—This afternoon Dr. Bramann successfully performed the operation of tracheotomy on the Crown Prince. The patient is progressing well. Drs. Mackenzie, Hovell, Schroeder and Krause were present during the operation. Dr. Mackenzie will send a report of the operation to the Emperor, which will be of a cheerful character.

The operation was performed at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Not a teaspoonful of blood was lost. At 11 o'clock to-night the Prince appeared quite easy.

THE OPERATION OF TRACHEOTOMY.

Tracheotomy, it may be explained, is a surgical operation by which the trachea or windpipe is opened. Tracheotomy may be performed with propriety in cases where admission of air into the lungs is obstructed either by disease or by a foreign body; and it has sometimes been tried with success to facilitate the inflation of the lungs in cases of suspended animation. The operation is not free from danger, and in the first class of cases, though giving marked temporary relief, it does nothing towards curing the disease itself. It consists in first making an incision in the median line of the throat, either below or above the thyroid gland, and dissecting down to the trachea, cautiously pushing aside the sterno-hyoid muscles and vessels lying in the vicinity, till the trachea is exposed. When the bleeding has ceased the trachea is opened by a vertical incision, and a portion of one or more of its rings removed; through the opening thus made a silver canula is introduced, which when obstructed by mucus may be removed, cleansed, and again inserted. If the obstruction to respiration is removed the canula may be withdrawn and the orifice allowed to heal, but if not the canula must continue to be worn. If the operation is performed to aid in restoring animation or to remove a foreign body, no canula need be inserted, and the wound should be closed as soon as the object is effected.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Preliminary Examination in the St. Thomas Forgery Case—Another Crossing Fatality.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 9.—The preliminary examination of Alfred Ridley on the charge of forgery was held at the Police Court this morning and resulted in the accused being committed for trial.

An accident occurred last night at the railway crossing of the Michgan Central Railroad one mile west of Kingsmill, by which John Doan of Mapleton, one of the oldest and best known residents of the county, came to his death. Mr. Doan had been to Aylmer and in returning home, while crossing the track, his sleigh was struck by the westbound freight in charge of Conductor Bentley. The sleigh was shattered to pieces and the horse so badly cut up that it had to be shot. Mr. Doan was found lying rolled up in his buffalo robe on the pilot of the engine. When Dr. Smith arrived he found the injured man past all hope. Death took place at 11.55 p.m. Deceased was 65 years of age and leaves a wife and two sons, John Doan of Belmont, and Titus, now in Michigan.

The Bachelor's Ball at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Feb. 9.—The annual bachelors' ball was held this evening in the Grand Opera House, and was a most pronounced success in every particular. The dresses of the ladies were exquisitely handsome, and the whole affair one of unusual brilliancy. Music was furnished by the Thirteenth Battalion string band, and an elegant spread was provided in the Garrick clubrooms. There were nearly 700 names on the invitation list, about one-third of whom were non-residents.

A number of guests were present from Toronto, among them being Miss Cawthra, Mr. Lyman Dwight, Mr. A. A. Macdonald, Miss Laidlaw, Miss MacDonald, Mr. Shaaly, Mr. Jack Macdonald, Mr. Joe Laidlaw, Mr. Stuart Morrison, Miss Evans, Miss Osler and Mr. J. Scott.

Millman Sentenced to be Hanged.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Feb. 9.—Millman, the murderer of the Tapley girl, was this afternoon sentenced by Judge Palmer to be hanged April 10.

INTERESTING ITEMS BY WIRE.

Beasley Brothers, a Chicago Board of Trade firm, have suspended.

Mr. McCreary (Ky.) reported a joint resolution to the House yesterday, for a conference to promote arbitration and encourage reciprocal commercial relations between the United States and Mexico, Central and South America and Brazil.

Mr. Edmunds (Vt.) reported a bill to the Senate yesterday to incorporate the Maritime Canal Company of Nicaragua.

Seven Indian Territory murderers were sentenced yesterday to be hanged on Friday, April 27.

John Janauschek a New Prague (Minn.) farmer, last night murdered his wife, shot his little daughter, and then committed suicide.

Several sacks containing dynamite have been discovered hidden in a field near Presburg, Hungary.

At the meeting of Parnellites in London yesterday a resolution was adopted thanking America for its generous support and praying for its continuance as one of the most important factors in bringing the struggle in Ireland to a close.

MR. FORTIER'S DEFENCE.

HIS EVIDENCE TAKEN BY THE LABOR COMMISSION.

He Did Beat the Loiselle Girl, But Her Mother Had Authorized Him to Correct Her—He Says There is a Conspiracy Against Him.

MONTREAL, Feb. 9.—J. M. Fortier, the man of whose factory so much has been said, was examined by the Labor Commission this afternoon. He denied any brutal assaults, but said correction has been applied to children of low age in his factory. He has instructed his foreman to correct apprentices. The Recorder authorized him to do this. Foreman Ryan had been before the Recorder for beating children.

He had himself beaten Georgina Loiselle, as she had testified. Her mother had authorized him to correct her. He took her over his knee, and she being too heavy for him to manage, fell on the floor, when he held her down and with the cover of a cigar mould beat her where it would do the least harm. He considered this according to the directions of the Recorder, who told him to hit where he would not hurt them. He held her down with his arm while he struck her. Witness thought it right to teach disobedient girls a lesson. He would not object to seeing his own daughter used in this way if she deserved it.

He could not contradict the statement of the boy, who said he was kicked by witness but could not remember the circumstance. He denied putting children in the black hole. Parents who could do nothing with their children brought them to him. They seem to consider the factory as a step on the road to the Reformatory.

He had been robbed by employes. In one case a female who worked for him was keeping three cigarmakers busy making cigars from tobacco stolen from his factory. He considers this the continuation of a conspiracy against him by union men.

Journeymen in his employ pay 10 cents a week for gas when the gas is in use. Fines on employes go into the cash box, but no special account is kept.

At the night session Edward Greaves and Charles Labelle stated they had entered planing factories between 10 and 11 years of age. Both lost parts of two fingers, when 14, working circular saws.

Secretary Blackeby was presented by the members of the commission with a beautiful silver-mounted meerschaum, as a token of their appreciation, this afternoon.

IN THE REICHSRATH.

Debate on the Bill to Prolong the Treaty With Germany.

VIENNA, Feb. 9.—The Reichsrath to-day began debate on the bill to prolong the treaty of commerce with Germany. Several speakers in the German group expressed satisfaction at the treaty of alliance with Germany. Premier von Taafe, replying to a remark that the policy of the present Government impeded the alliance, said that the Government entered office in August, 1879, and the treaty was concluded in October, at which time the present Cabinet had completely assumed the direction of affairs. The Government could not therefore have impeded the conception or conclusion of the treaty. He concluded:

"The relations with Germany which have now been upheld for nine years will, I hope, with God's help continue for a long time to come." [Cheers.]

A Brandenburger and a Soldier.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—In the course of a speech at the Brandenburg dinner Prince William of Prussia, heir presumptive to the crown, said: "I know that a section of the public, especially a section abroad, imputes to me a careless and thoughtless longing for war for the sake of glory. God preserve me from such criminal giddiness. I repudiate all such accusations with horror. I am a soldier—all the Brandenburgers are soldiers. I conclude with the words uttered by Prince Bismarck on Monday in the Reichstag, which showed the grand spectacle of popular representation locking hand in hand with the Government. I adapt to Brandenburg the sentence: 'We Brandenburgers only fear God and nothing else in this world.'"

The Military Loan Bill Passed.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—The Reichstag passed the Military Loan Bill. The passage of the bill was effected without debate. Only three members—Social Democrats—opposed the measure.

The Walking Match Score.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—In the walking match the scores at 1 o'clock were: Albert 450, Panchot 437, Herty 427, Guerrero 425, Hart 400, Golden 389, Moore 389, Strokel 355, Noremac 348, Dillon 346, Vint 301, Sullivan 278, Taylor 278, Tilley 248, Stout 171.

A Weary Journey.

Tramp—Madam, can you kindly assist a poor man, who has a long and wearisome journey before him?

Woman—Well, I dunno. Where are you going—to some far off graveyard?

Tramp—No, madam, I am on my way to Florida for the winter.—The Epoch.

MANUFACTURING PUBLIC OPINION.

Some time ago a reporter of the Detroit News went through Canada interviewing prominent gentlemen regarding their opinions on commercial union. It will be remembered that the News misrepresented many whose views it pretended to give, among those so misrepresented being several citizens of Peterborough. The Toronto Mail is now engaged in the same work of trying to put a little life into the commercial union movement. The editor of that paper recently telegraphed to Mr. Wiman that they had—probably in accordance with an understanding with him—secured interviews with fifty-two manufacturers.

A number of these interviews have been published. A noticeable fact in connection with them is that a very few, even in the cities visited, have their opinions reported in the Mail. Even if all the interviews were correctly reported, the small number of carefully selected manufacturers who speak favorably of the scheme would not do much towards galvanising it into renewed life. But even the interviews made public are not correctly given. One of the first men visited, Mr. Slater, of Brantford, denied the correctness of the interview and added that he was opposed to commercial union. Another, Mr. Simpson, of Berlin, denied having been interviewed at all, though the explanation is now given that it was a member of another firm in a similar business whose opinions were credited to Mr. Simpson. Mr. Thos. Todd, of Galt, writes to the Empire saying that he emphatically told the interviewer that he did not consider that commercial union would be beneficial to Canada as a whole.

In publishing letters as to these interviews the Empire adds:—"It may be added that the Mail has evidently not been supplied with the details of many interviews which its representative did have with manufacturers. The result did not suit the Mail's palate and the interviews are withheld. We have details of these suppressed interviews, which were decidedly racy. They show that the manufacturers with few exceptions are squarely against commercial union on public as well as private grounds. If the Mail had the slightest desire to do the fair thing by the people it would, without hesitation, give the public all the interviews; in short, it would tell the truth and shame the devil of faction which seems to have taken possession of it lately."

There is said to be an intrigue on the part of a section of the Democratic party to nominate Mr. Hill as the party candidate for President and Mr. Flower for Governor of New York, or, failing that, to nominate Mr. Randall for President and Mr. Hill for Governor, Mr. Flower to be Paymaster-General if they succeed. There is every probability, however, that President Cleveland will again be the Democratic candidate.

Still another seat lost the the Liberal party! Halton, which returned a liberal in 1882 and in which Mr. Waldie, Liberal, was elected by a majority of 9 last winter, now sends Mr. Henderson, Conservative, to Ottawa by a majority of 149. Wait a little till the Liberals begin charging Sir John with having arranged with Mr. Wiman to come over and trick them into the support of the commercial union fad!

Lecture.—A scientific lecture on the subject of "Creation and the Deluge," was delivered in Mr. Mathieson's Hall by Prof. J. W. Crouter, last Wednesday evening. Prof. Crouter was formerly of Cobourg, Ont.

Temperance.—The regular meeting of the Havelock branch of the Independant Order of Good Templars took place on Saturday evening last. This being the end of the quarter the election of officers for the ensuing quarter was an order of business. The following is a list of the officers installed:—

| | |
|---|---|
| Chief Templar | J. B Peake |
| Vice Templar | Ida Wilde |
| Secretary | W. Connaughty |
| Financial Secretary | Effie Wilde |
| Treasurer | H. Sullivan |
| Chaplain | C. Longmuir |
| Marshal | J. Johnston |
| Guard | Ella Waller |
| Sentinel | W. Johnston |
| Assistant Secretary | Ida Hart |
| Deputy Marshal | Sophia Weymark |
| Right Supporter | Wealthy Johnston |

Rev. J. McArthur, who has so ably and successfully filled the position of Worthy Chief Templar during the past term, will fill the office of Past Worthy Chief for the next term.

What is Talked About.—A rumor is afloat to the effect that Messrs. Patterson and Longmuir, of this place, intend opening a grocery store in what is known as old Havelock in the spring. Motto—"rock bottom prices." Penny buns for five cents.

Church Matters.—The Rev. Messrs. Fallis and Williams, Methodist ministers here, are engaged in special work in this place.

Fire.—At about 1.30 o'clock on Tuesday morning, Mr. Wm. Matthieson's steam saw mill caught fire and burned to the ground. Mr. Matthieson's property was valued at $3,000, and was insured for $1,500. We as a community deeply sympathize with him in this heavy loss.

OTONABEE.

Correspondence of the Review.

Obituary.—Mr. Robert Sealm Scollie, who died recently, was one of the oldest settlers of the township, as he came to Otonabee in 1838. He was highly esteemed by all his neighbors and acquaintances. He had been ailing for the past three years, but his last and fatal illness was short, about two months and a-half. He died very peacefully, like a little child going to rest. He had been a member of the English Church for years and longed for his Master's summons home. Before his death, on Wednesday, he spoke resignedly of his approaching end and longed to be free from pain and suffering, if it was God's will. The funeral was attended by a large number. The rector gave an appropriate and eloquent address, speaking for more than half an hour. There are only two old settlers left in this section of the country now, both of whom are women. We hope the present and future generations will be as hardy and as hearty as those who have passed away. The following lines were sent from New Orleans by a dear old comrade who saw the notice of Mr. Scollie's death in the Review:—

We have journey'd many a day
Upon an ocean wide,
Amidst the mist and spray
Of many a surging tide.
But, lo! the land is near,
For just beyond the foam
I see it bright and clear,
The light of home, sweet home.

The land of calmest rest,
Where suns no more go down,
A haven of the blest,
With bliss and glory crowned—
No more the storm, the dark,
The breakers and the foam;
No more the wail, for, hark!
We hear the songs of home.

Revival Services.—The evangelistic meetings held by Messrs. Crossley and Dewy was brought to a close on Feb. 1st. About 250 seekers went forward. The collections averaged about $10 per night.

Salvation Army.—The Salvation Army were reinforced on the evening of the 6th by the Captain and soldiers from Hastings. They had a march out by torchlight. They have done some good during the short time they have been here. The barracks are crowded every night.

Petitions.—Two petitions are going the rounds of the village, one asking the Council to reseat and whitewash the Town Hall, and the other asking that no license be granted to billiard or pool tables for the coming year.

Tea Meeting.—The Presbyterians are making preparations for their annual tea meeting to be held on the 20th Feb.

The Band Master.—Our efficient bandmaster, Mr. Archie Freeman, is in demand lately. He goes to Peterborough on Monday to play bass violin for the Irish Batchelors Ball and to-day has received an urgent request to go to Vancouver, B.C., to locate. But we are going to try to keep him here.

Y. M. C. A.—At a largely attended meeting in the Town Hall last evening it was decided to form a Young Men's Christian Association in this village. The Rev. Mr. Carmichael was called to the chair, and after considerable interesting voting, Mr. P. W. Stevenson was elected President, and Mr. H. Bewell, Secretary. A good committee was appointed to secure rooms and all the necessary instructions from Peterborough as to the correct way to carry on the good work. Thirty-five names were enrolled, giving the Association an encouraging start. This is one of the results of the good work done here by the evangelists, the Rev. Messrs. Crossley and Dewey. The next meeting is to be held on Feb. 14th, in the Templar's Hall.

KEENE.

A Freak of the Wind.—The wind performed a peculiar freak on Tuesday night, Feb. 7th. Snow had fallen, damp and heavy, and the strong wind seemed to have caught it and rolled it into numerous balls, which were seen scattered along the Grand Junction track from Birdsalls to Keene next morning. It looked as if a thousand or so boys had been at work rolling up snow balls.

Personal.—Mrs. Dr. Harrison's mother is very ill and it is feared that she cannot recover.

Scott Act.—Two Scott Act cases were tried by Police Magistrate Edmison on Monday. John Frost pleaded guilty to a charge of a first offence and was fined $50 and $8 costs. M. Kenelsy was also charged with a first offence, but the prosecution failed to prove it, though even the defendant's father and brother were put into the box to give evidence against him. County Attorney Wood appeared for the prosecution and Mr. John O'Meara for the defendant.

The Tankard Competition.—Two rinks of the Keene Curling Club went to Lakefield on Tuesday to play a match with the club of that village in the primary competition for the Ontario Tankard. The Lakefield curlers won by 8 shots. This leaves Keene one shot ahead of Lakefield in this season's play.

Rink Medal.—The first rink medal played for this season was won on Tuesday by Mr. R. B. McIntyre, who defeated Mr. R. N. English on the final draw.

Thirteen Point Game.—The curlers are playing out a competition in a thirteen point game for a club medal.

Briefs.—Our tinsmith has got right into business....The second carnival of the season is expected to be held on February 21st or 22nd.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Toronto, Feb. 10.

For the appointment of a select committee to enquire into the extent and nature of the timber and mineral resources of the Province and the best means within the control of its Legislature for the conservation of the former and the development of the latter, with power to send for persons, papers and documents; said committee to be composed of Messrs. Fraser, Conmee, Murray, Bronson, Clarke (Wellington), Freeman, French, Wood (Hastings), Clarke (H. E.), Clancey, Armstrong, Marter and the mover.

Such was the notice of motion that Mr. Meredith sent up to Col. Gillmor's desk to be placed on the order paper at the meeting of the Legislature yesterday afternoon. It is thought to be one of the most important moves that has been made this session, and is bound to prove of incalculable service to the people of the province in letting them know just how extensive and valuable is their undeveloped wealth. That the great banner Province of Ontario is rich in minerals and timber is known beyond a doubt. All that now remains for the Legislature is to take up and act in the spirit of Mr. Meredith's motion. The House on Wednesday, without a dissenting vote, sanctioned Mr. Woods' special committee to enquire into our dairy interests. Now for the mines. They are both worthy of the deepest enquiry.

Mr. Gibson (Hamilton), from the Private Bills Committee, presented its first report.

The Private Bills Committee, which met yesterday for the first time, was presided over by Mr. Gibson. The first bill taken up was that relating to the debt of the Town of Almonte. On this bill and on the two subsequent ones, relating to the debenture debt of the Town of Wingham and of the Village of Brussels, there was a good deal of discussion, turning on the liability to extravagance caused by the granting to these municipalities of too free borrowing powers and too long time for the payment of the debt. The Almonte bill was allowed to stand over in order that its promoters might confer with the member in charge of it, with the object of reducing the time of the debentures from 40 to 30 years.

The Brussels and Wingham bills were passed.

The bill to amend the act of incorporation of Trinity Medical School, Toronto, was next taken up. After considerable discussion several amendments to the act positioned for were adopted. One was to the effect that the name "Trinity Medical School" be changed to "Trinity Medical College." Another gives the corporation power to hold property to the value of $125,000 instead of $20,000, as at present. Another amendment, which was concurred in on the understanding that it should be sanctioned by the Minister of Education, was to the effect that the college was to have power to give certificates to persons passing examinations, irrespective of whether those persons were educated at that that college or elsewhere. The bill was reported to the House.

Mr. Evanturel introduced to the Premier a strong deputation from the east who are interested in having this road built, and who pressed upon Mr. Mowat the strong claim of Prescott for government aid in giving it a railroad. The principal members of the deputation were Sheriff Hager (Sheriff of Prescott, ex-M.P.P.), Hugh McMillan (M.P., of Vaudreuil), G. E. Mougneis, W. C. Edwards, John McLaurin and Bernard Kelly. Sheriff Hagar was the spokesman. He pointed out the importance of Prescott as a part of the province. The county did not possess a foot of railway. If the Ontario Government would aid them to the extent of some $2000 per mile, with the grant already given by the Federal Government and the Government of Quebec their road was an assured success. Otherwise they could not hope to seek connection with Montreal, the Capital and the Ottawa River.

Mr. Evanturel was particular in pointing out that the case of Prescott was an exceptional one; if the Government did not see its way clear to introduce a railway policy, it should certainly help the people of Prescott out.

Mr. Creighton asked whether the $500,000 Dominion bonds belonging to the province were disposed of pursuant to the advertisement calling for tenders, and if so, at what rate, and if not sold, the highest bid offered for them.

The Treasurer replied: $300,000 of the Dominion bonds were sold to the highest tenderer. They were sold at 106¼, according to the American or Canadian system of computation, or at 107 7-10 on the English system, the difference being that the interest is calculated in one case and in the other case it is not.

Hon. A. S. Hardy presented a report of the state of affairs of the Toronto General Trusts Company for 1887.

Mr. Meredith asked when the Revised Statutes would be distributed. He did not mean the Revised Statutes, but the honorable gentleman's revised Statutes.

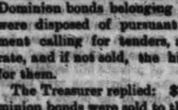
The Attorney-General—Have you not got a copy?

Mr. Meredith—I have; but when are they to be ready for general distribution?

The Attorney-General did not propose to have them generally distributed.

Mr. Meredith asked when the Public Accounts Committee was to be called together.

Hon. A. M. Ross replied that it could be called at any time. But it was not customary to summon the committee till the Public Accounts were brought down. He would be able to bring them down next Monday.



These bills were next up for a first reading:

Mr. Leys: An act respecting hire receipts.

Mr. Leys: An act to provide for the better protection of insectivorous and other birds.

Mr. Waters: An act to amend the Municipal Act.

BENSFORT.

Literary.—The Bensfort Literary Society had a crowded house on Thursday night. A good programme was presented and well carried out. The following young ladies took part in the programme:—Miss Annie McClelland, instrumental; Misses H. and L. Morrison, song and accompaniment; Miss Carrie Truscott, instrumental; Miss Maggie Galloway, reading and recitation. The subject for debate was "Resolved, that the steam engine has done more to civilize the world than the printing press." Messrs. E. Stinton, T. Truscott and I. Stephens for the affirmative, with Messrs. S. Smithson, I. Kerr, G. Nurse on the negative. After the debate the chairman gave the decision in favor of the steam engine.

Fancy Peas.—The farmers in this section are going very extensively into what is generally known as fancy pea growing, the seed being supplied principally by Port Home firms. The varieties most generally sown are the Early Kents, Yorkshire Heroes, Blue Imperials, etc., and on suitable soil are said to yield larger returns of profit than any other variety of grain.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

At the Rink.

Skaters, attention. Band at the rink every Friday night. d151—tf.

Tara's Hall.

A clarionette solo by a fine artiste at Otonabee Lodge, "At Home" to-night.

Piano Tuning.

Mr. Geo. Gumpricht is in town. Orders may be left at Mr. T. Menzies or Messrs Taylor & McDonald's store.

Central Canada Company.

A report of the annual meeting of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Co., held yesterday, is held over till to-morrow.

Quenched.

A live coal hopped out of one of the stoves at the Opera House last evening, and before it was observed it had burned a small hole in the floor. Some gentleman standing near, put the incipient blaze out with a dipper of water without in the least alarming the audience.

Should be Renewed.

The floors at the fire station are made of ordinary pine planks and the horses, during the winter, are shod extra sharply, the tramping of the heavy animals, while being trained, has so cut up the floor that a new one will soon be necessary. If a new one is laid it should be of some good hard wood, as pine is almost useless when horses trot over it so frequently.

Fine Photos.

Mr. R. M. Roy, of the G. T. R., an accomplished amateur photographer who makes a business of "taking" views of all important public events, has shown us two proofs of pictures taken at the recent races. One shows "Royal Jim" going at a 2.40 clip and is as lifelike as possible. The other shows two horses close together as they appeared when nearing the winning post. The pictures are really fine and but few professionals could do better work.

Strengthen and Preserve the Sight.

N. Stanley, of London, England, and Toronto will send a practical Optician to Peterborough, on Monday, Feby. 13th. He may be consulted at the agents of the house in Peterborough, Messrs. Ormond and Walsh. He will in every instance use the firm's celebrated Spectacles and Eyeglasses so well known to-day throughout the civilized world. There is no glimmering, wavering, dizziness or other distressing sensations so common in many inferior grades at present in the market but they comfort, strengthen and preserve the sight. 3d32-1w6

Wood or Iron?

One of the principal subjects that will receive attention at the next council meeting will be concerning the erection of new bridges, on Brock and Charlotte-sts. The bridges must be built and whether they will be of iron or wood, is where the hitch come in. The councillors appear to be pretty well divided in their opinions. The cost is the principle thing to be considered, and if, as some allege, a wooden bridge can be erected, to last for from 15 to 20 years at one-quarter or one-third the cost of an iron one, it will certainly be the cheapest. The whole matter is now being thoroughly studied up and authorities on the subject will doubtless be quoted.

Diphtheria at Kinmount.

Toronto World:—"Mr. Stratton, M. P. P., West Peterborough, Mr. Barron, M. P., North Victoria, and Mr. W. Galner, Warden of Haliburton, waited on the Provincial Treasurer on Wednesday forenoon to lay before him the deplorable state of things at Kinmount. The diphtheria epidemic, which was supposed to have disappeared, has broken out afresh, and a large number of children have succumbed to its ravages. In one school section eighteen have died, one family alone having six taken away. Hon. Mr. Ross said he would refer the matter to Dr. Bryce, Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, with instructions to afford speedy relief."

Cricket.

A meeting of the Cricket Club will be held in the post office block on Monday, 13th inst., at 8 o'clock p. m. Business very important. 2d34

No Invitations.

Remember no invitations are issued to the "At Home" of Otonabee Lodge, to night. Tickets of admission from members or at the door.

Serious Accident.

A young man named William Job, a resident of the south end of the town, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon, while working in a Dummer quarry, by being caught in a derrick, used for hoisting stone.

At Home

under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the George Street Methodist Church will be held on Thursday evening, Feb. 16th, in the lecture room of the church. A very select programme may be expected. Refreshments served during the evening. Tickets 25 cents each. 4d30

Those who saw the crowd at Kidd's Boot & Shoe store on Saturday must have thought he was selling below cost, but he wasn't. Same price all the time! Same price to every one.

The Snowshoers.

There was a fair turnout of the members of the Y. M. C. A. Snowshoe Club last evening. The route was from the rooms along Brock-st., across the river, along the boundary and home again across the Smith-st. bridge. The next tramp will take place on Monday evening, instead of Tuesday, on account of the carnival.

They Came Here.

It is no uncommon occurrence to see on our market at one time, farmers from the neighborhoods of Port Hope, Cobourg and Lindsay, who find that it pays them well to bring their produce here for sale. On Thursday three farmers residing only a few miles from Lindsay brought their barley to town and after disposing of their loads, they felt well repaid for their long and cold drive, by the extra price they received here.

Pretty Cool.

Last night was a cold one. Not a breath of wind was stirring and the cold, raw air fairly penetrated everything. We hear of people stating that water, flowers and other things froze last night where frost was never known to penetrate before. There is the usual difference in thermometers, but the self-registering one at the residence of the Rev. Mr. Clementi, one of the most accurate in town, reached 31 degrees below zero, the same figures as in the memorably cold Saturday, early in the present year. We are told of another good instrument that registered 29 and of another that went to 32.

First Class Games.

The members of our cricket club are one of the liveliest supporters of athletics that we have in town. They are bound to popularize the game in town and to that end they are taking time by the forelock. The energetic Secretary is now in communication with the various English and United States teams that propose visiting Canada this year, with a view to arranging matches in Peterborough. We are satisfied that games with first-class clubs would draw the public across the river, more frequently than has been the case for some years.

Sunday School Prizes.

On December 10th, 1887, Diocesan Sunday School examinations were held at St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Ashburnham, and the results are just announced, showing that a large percentage of those who wrote here passed. Miss Hettie Bennett secured Rowsell & Hutchinson's prize, for the scholar ranking highest on the catechism paper. In the honor list the following passed, in order of merit:—S. stands for scholar: 11 Miss Hettie Bennett, (S), 13 Mrs. Annie Jackson, (S), 17 Miss Pollie Denne, (S), 18 Miss Clara V. Shuter, (S), 20 Mr. Fred. G. Saunders, (S), 26 Miss Alice Hiam, (S), 30 Miss Kate Calcutt, (S), 31 Miss Elizabeth Price, (S), 32 Miss Nellie Macdonald, (S), and 35 Miss Juliet Orde, (S.)

Mr. Belford's Recital.

Mr. Geo. Belford, the young and talented English elocutionist, appeared at the Opera House last night before a large, critical and appreciative audience, all of whom were delighted with the evening's entertainment and amusement. Since his appearance here about two years ago Mr. Belford has made a marked advance and he now stands in the front rank of his profession. Mr. Belford uses no books or notes and the entertainment given by him is aptly termed a recital. The programme included eight pieces and gave him ample scope to display his abilities. It apparently makes no difference to him, whether the number was grave or gay, pathetic or humorous, he always carried the audience with him and kept them thoroughly interested from the beginning to the conclusion. Each of the eight numbers was rendered in such a masterly manner that the outbursts of applause were loud and long, while at times roars of laughter resounded throughout the building. Again, during the recital of pathetic pieces, the sound of a pin falling might have been heard, until the reciter had finished. Certain it is that the large audience was delighted and if ever Mr. Belford should visit Peterborough again, he can rest assured of being greeted by a bumper house.

THE ANNUAL MEETING

OF THE PETERBOROUGH REAL ESTATE INVESTMENT COMPANY.

The Directors' Report—Improved Business of the Company—The Election of Directors and Officers.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company (Limited) was held on Thursday afternoon. There were present, Mr. Richard Hall, President, and Messrs. D. W. Dumble, Jas. Stevenson M.P., Geo. A. Cox, Wm. Walsh, Wm. Cluxton, Dr. Fife, A. Cox, C. McGill, John Burnham, John Carnegie, A. P. Poussette, Albert Hall, W. H. Moore, Peterborough; H. J. Lefevre, Lakefield; N. Taylor, Jonathan Mann, Andrew Hall, Smith; J. R. Dundas, F. C. Taylor, Lindsay; R. Jaffray, Toronto; Z. Burnham, Otonabee, and Wm. Cummings, Ennismore; also Mr. W. J. Hall, the Inspector, and Mr. D. M. Sim, Secretary.

The notice calling the meeting was read by the Secretary.

ANNUAL REPORT.

The PRESIDENT read the report for the seven months ending December 31st, as follows:—

"For the purpose of having the Company's fiscal year terminate at the close of the Calendar year, instead of on the 31st May, as heretofore, the Directors beg to submit herewith a report of the operations of the Company for the seven months ending on the 31st of December, 1887, with Balance Sheet as at that date, and Auditors' certificate attached.

"The gross interest earnings for the seven months amounted to $48,020.24; this with Stock Premiums of $2,542 and $640.42 brought forward from Profit and Loss, enabled the Directors, after the payment of interest on Sterling and Currency Debentures and all expenses of management, including Glasgow Agents' commission on renewal of Debentures, to pay the half yearly dividend of $7,688, transfer $8,000 to the Reserve Fund and carry forward to the credit of Profit and Loss Account $2,656.46, a result that it is anticipated will be highly satisfactory to the Shareholders, indicating, as it does, marked improvement in the Company's position.

"During the seven months under review, the Subscribed Capital has been increased from $1,493,600 to $2,000,000; the paid up Capital from $298,720 to $349,360; the Reserve Fund from $15,000 to $23,000; the balance to credit of Profit and Loss from $640.42 to $2,656.46; the Mortgage Investment from $1 217,141 08 to $1,307,981.31.

"The Real Estate held for sale has been carefully revalued, and the amount at which it is now held in the accounts is believed to be quite within its actual cash value, and at a price which will in all probability be realized for it within the next twelve months. It may be remarked that the present rentals pay nearly 6 per cent on the price at which it is held.

"Very satisfactory progress has been made during the last year in the collection of interest arrears, reducing the amount of Real Estate on hand, and in the general improvement of the position of the Company.

"Respectfully submitted on behalf of the Directors.

"RICHARD HALL,
"President."

We hereby certify that we have carefully audited the Books and Accounts of the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company for the seven months ending 31st of Dec., 1887. The Postings and Balances of the Company's Ledgers have been examined; and we find the whole correct, and in accordance with the above statements. We have also inspected the Mortgages and other Securities, and find the aggregate thereof agrees with the amount under the head of "Investments."

CHAS. D MACDONALD,
EDG. PEARSE, } Auditors.

Peterborough, 8th February, 1888.

The PRESIDENT moved the adoption of the report.

MR. GEO. A. COX seconded the motion. He said that the report showed an improved state of the company's affairs, and some properties on which they had feared loss had realised full amounts. The company's position was even better than they had thought. Assets which had been marked off as bad turned out good. In reply to Mr. Poussette he said that of $92,000 of debentures which came due in December, $40,000 were renewed at 4½ per cent., while the rate hitherto paid on debentures had been five per cent. This would largely increase the earning power of the company.

MR. POUSSETTE said he was pleased to hear the Managing-Director say, in justice to the late management, that securities which had been considered poor, had been found to be good. Explanations which had been made during the past months had placed some matters in a different light from that in which they had been viewed. The showing in the report was very satisfactory. The company could be considered solid on its present basis, as in the accounts there was sufficient reserve to meet any losses.

The adoption of the report was carried.

BY-LAWS CONFIRMED.

By-laws making the business year terminate on Dec. 31st, and appointing the second Wednesday in February for holding the annual meeting were confirmed.

THE AUDITORS.

MR. DUMBLE moved, seconded by MR. STEVENSON,—That Messrs. Chas. D. Macdonald and Edg. Pearse be appointed auditors.—Carried.

THE DIRECTORS.

Messrs. Moore and Poussette were appointed scrutineers and the following Directors were unanimously elected:—Richard Hall, John Burnham, Wm. Cluxton, T. G. Hazlitt, Wm. Walsh, Geo. A. Cox, Robert Jaffray, H. J. Lefevre, C. McGill and J. R. Dundas.

VOTE OF THANKS.

MR. DUMBLE moved, seconded by MR. CUMMING,—That the thanks of the shareholders are due and are hereby tendered to the Managing Director and the officers of the company for their able management of the company's affairs.—Carried.

MR. COX briefly acknowledged the vote, as did also Mr. W. J. Hall, the Inspector.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE OFFICERS.

A meeting of the Directors was held immediately afterwards, at which the following officers were elected:—

PRESIDENT.—Richard Hall.
VICE-PRESIDENT.—Geo. A. Cox.
MANAGING DIRECTOR.—Geo. A. Cox.
INVESTMENT COMMITTEE.—Messrs. Rich'd Hall, Geo. A. Cox, W. Cluxton, W. Walsh, C. McGill and J. Burnham.

The juniors are now organized into four rinks and rink matches between them will be the order of the day.

A match between the Peterborough juniors and the Campbellford seniors, to take place at the last named village, at an early date, is now being arranged for.

A game in the Ontario Tankard competition between the Bobcaygeon and Lakefield clubs, two rinks each, was played at the Lansdowne rink yesterday. The Caygeon men had rather the best of the play on No. one rink, winning by a score of 27 to 7 and blanking the Lakefield players in each of the ten last ends. On the other rink the Bobcaygeon players got rather the worst of the deal. The following is the score:—

| Lakefield. | | Bobcaygeon. | |
|---|---|---|---|
| RINK NO. ONE. | | | |
| J. P. Strickland | | J. Switzer | |
| W. E. Strickland | | D. Gage | |
| Geo. Cochrane | | Wm. Gidley | |
| R. C. Strickland, skip | 20 | W. Boyd, skip | 15 |
| RINK NO. TWO. | | | |
| R. Graham | | Jno. Godfrey | |
| Jno. Clarin | | Geo. Eastland | |
| B. Postlethwaite | | Capt. Bottum | |
| B. Eden, skip | 7 | Wm. Reid, s'k | 27 |
| Total | 27 | Total | 42 |

Bobcaygeon wins by 15 shots.

A match is in progress this afternoon at the Lansdowne rink between four fat men from Toronto and four from Eastern Ontario. The Toronto players are Messrs. J. D. Henderson, T. McGaw, Capt. McCorquodale and John Wright, skip, while Eastern Ontario is represented by Messrs S. Baulkwell, Belleville; W. H. Morris Peterborough; Jos. Higinbotham, Bowmanville, and E. G. Burke, Campbellford, skip. The match is for four barrels of flour.

The following is the result of the second draw for the 13 point medal.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| W. Croft or Rogers | plays | J. Stanger |
| R. C. Strickland | " | R. Hall |
| W. H. Cluxton | " | H. Calcutt |
| R. S. Davidson | " | W. G. Ferguson |
| W. E. Matthews | " | E. A. Peck |
| Geo. Edmison | " | J. Crane |
| S. Clegg | " | J. McClelland |
| J. H. Long | " | A.E. McClelland |
| S. Bay | " | T. Rutherford |
| R. Neil or J. Stanger | " | A. Stevenson |
| D. Bellegnem | " | |

The draw must be finished by February 11th. Messrs. Attrill and Pentland have played, the latter winning by 13 to 12.

The following rinks played a game last night for a barrel of flour for the Protestant Home:—

| | |
|---|---|
| Jno. McLelland | J. D. Baptie |
| J. Connal | G. W. Hatton |
| J. Pentland | T. Rutherford |
| T. P. Attrill, s'k 16 | W. G. Ferguson, s'k 11 |

Ferguson's rink thus lost by 5 points.

The second draw for the 13 point medal has been made and the games are now in progress.

Rather than disappoint the Bobcaygeon men, who were spoiling for a match, after their win from Lakefield, two rinks of Peterborough players were organized last night and a friendly game took place, resulting as follows:—

| Peterborough. | | Bobcaygeon. | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Rink No. 1. | | | |
| J. Stanger | | J. Switzer | |
| W. H. Cluxton | | D. Gage | |
| G. Walker | | Wm. Gidley | |
| C. McGill, Skip | 13 | W. Boyd, Skip | 7 |
| Rink No. 2. | | | |
| G. Davidson | | Geo. Ordrey | |
| D. Bellegham | | Geo. Eastland | |
| S. Clegg | | Capt. Bottom | |
| G. Brown, Skip | 13 | Wm. Reid, Skip | 13 |

Peterborough wins by 6 shots.

Two rinks from Campbellford will play a friendly game with two local rinks to-night, Messrs. A. Hall and W. G. Ferguson will skip for Peterborough.

Nothing further has yet been heard regarding the match at Ottawa, but something definite is expected in a day or two.

Matrimonial.

On Wednesday, Miss Ella Cox, eldest daughter of Mr. Aaron Cox, was united in marriage to Mr. P. H. Pearce, of Marmora. The Rev. Mr. Tovell officiated. The bride was supported by Miss Nellie Davis, Uxbridge, and Miss Minnie Cox and Miss Coon, and the groom was assisted by Messrs. J. P. Dunning, Toronto, and Geo. Cox and Fred Pearce. The wedding took place at the residence of the bride's father in the presence of a large number of invited guests. The wedding presents were numerous, handsome and costly. The happy couple left for a trip to Toronto and Niagara. We extend our congratulations.

At Port Hope.

His Lordship Bishop Dowling lectured at Port Hope on Wednesday evening, and the local papers refer in highly flattering terms to the lecturer and the lecture. The Times says:—"His Lordship's name does not belie his nationality and the good humor circling his mouth and the twinkle in his eyes at once gained for him the good will of his auditors. A large portion of Irish eloquence is his. He has the most consummate control of speech and emphasizes his flights of feeling or flashes of humor by instantaneous assumption of solemnity or humor."

The Guide says:—"The Bishop is a fine appearing gentleman, with a good flow of language and pleasing delivery. While all the audience might not agree with the lecture, there was not one offensive reference made to any other church."

Personal.

Miss Howden, the favorite soprano singer, arrived on the G.T.R. noon train today. She will sing at the Otonabee Lodge "At Home" this evening. During her stay in town she will be the guest of Mrs. Lundy and Miss Lundy, Ashburnham.

Mr. F. C. Taylor, of Lindsay, a former well known resident of Peterborough, was in town on business yesterday.

Mr. M. Flannigan, the popular City Clerk of Kingston, who has probably held office longer than any other civic official in Canada, is here on a visit to his daughter Mrs. (Dr.) O'Sullivan. He has many warm friends in Peterborough who are pleased to see the old gentleman looking so hale and hearty.

An Appointment.

In view of the fact that the Rev. Father Brown, of Port Hope, has officiated for 25 years in his priestly office, His Lordship Bishop Dowling has been pleased to confer upon him the title of Vicar-General of the Diocese of Peterborough. On the occasion of his Silver Jubilee his parishoners presented him with an appropriate address and a silver set.

Brevities.

—Hon. Billa Flint, of Belleville, was 83 years old on Thursday.

—Peterborough musicans take part in a concert at Campbellford this evening.

—A dog was run over and killed on Hunter-st. last evening, by one of the hotel omnibuses.

—Two cows were roaming at large near the town buildings last night, when the committee meetings had adjourned.

—The bill to permit the Grand Trunk to run their line to Chemong Lake is now before the Ontario Legislature.

—There is some talk of reviving the old project of running a railway line from Peterborough to Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls, by way of Chemong Lake.

—Nothing difinite has been arranged about the visit of the Belleville amateur minstrels to Peterborough. They perform in their own city on Monday next.

—The river is again frozen up tight for the second time this winter. This is a straw that points out the fact that the weather has been extremely cold.

—Even the ladies now appear to take an interest in the curling matches and among the spectators when a game is in progress are noticed a goodly number of the fair sex.

—Messrs. Long Bros. will superintend the serving of the refreshments at the "At Home," this evening, but the friends, especially the lady friends, of Otonabee Lodge are generously furnishing the necessary refreshments.

—Eight or nine members of the Town Council paid a visit of inspection to the fire hall last evening to see how things looked. The performance of "old Tom" pleased and surprised them and if the other four horses were as well trained as him, Terry and his animals would be indispensible to the town.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW

To Save Life

Frequently requires prompt action. An hour's delay waiting for the doctor may be attended with serious consequences, especially in cases of Croup, Pneumonia, and other throat and lung troubles. Hence, no family should be without a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has proved itself, in thousands of cases, the best Emergency Medicine ever discovered. It gives prompt relief and prepares the way for a thorough cure, which is certain to be effected by its continued use.

S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga., says: "I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup in all cases. I have known the worst cases relieved in a very short time by its use; and I advise all families to use it in sudden emergencies, for coughs, croup, &c."

A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middletown, Tenn., says: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."

"I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," writes E. Bragdon, of Palestine, Texas, "believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died."

THAT SMUGGLED OPIUM.

CANADA'S REVENUE HAS NOT SUFFERED BY THE FRAUD.

The Loss is Uncle Sam's—The Governor-General Congratulated Upon His Appointment to the Viceroyship of India—Ottawa Aldermen's Incomes.

OTTAWA, Feb. 9.—With reference to the $25,000 worth of opium which was smuggled into the United States by parties operating at Brockville the Commissioner of Customs says the Canadian revenue has not suffered any loss by the fraud. Duty at the rate of $1 per pound was collected at a port on the Pacific. The duty on this article entering the United States is placed at $5 per pound, so that a very large sum is saved to the importers by the smuggling process which has just been brought to light. During the past year only $2 worth of opium for smoking purposes was imported into Canada, but of the drug there was entered for consumption 107,515 pounds, which was valued at $337,286. While the Canadian authorities do not like the idea of Canadian ports being made a blind for the carrying on of illegitimate trade, in this case they are powerless to prevent it.

An order-in-council was passed some time ago authorizing the placing in the estimates to be submitted to Parliament a sum sufficient to pay F. B. McNames & Co. the $15,000 and interest recommended by a committee of the House last year, to be given them in settlement of their claim in connection with the Esquimalt graving dock.

His Excellency the Governor-General was to-day the recipient of many congratulations on his appointment to the Viceroyship of India, a number of them being in the shape of cablegrams and telegrams.

The publication of the income assessment for the City of Ottawa has disclosed the fact that our aldermen are not bloated plutocrats, if the returns are correct, as only three of them have incomes amounting to $5000, one $2000, one $1800, one $1500, two $1200, two $800, one $600, two $400, one $300, one $200, and Aldermen Henri and O'Leary return no income at all. Mayor Stewart is assessed at $3000.

FIFTY BELOW ZERO.

The Fourth Coldest Month on Record at Toronto—The Weather at Other Points.

TORONTO, Feb. 10.

Jack Frost had a royal time of it yesterday. He had everything his own way and played his pranks right merrily. He, however, favored Toronto, for he only gave us a touch of 16° below zero, whilst he let the Manitobans feel 50°, the denizens of Port Arthur 38°, the Ottawa Valley 34°. In Minnesota the temperature was 34° and along Lake Michigan 36°.

As recorded at the Observatory yesterday the registers were.

| | Below. |
|---|---|
| 6 a.m. | 6° |
| 8 " | 5° |
| 2 p.m. | 5° |
| 4 " | 7° |
| 11 " | 16° |

The probabilities at midnight were that the cold wave had, as far as Ontario is concerned, spent itself.

This is, taken generally, the coldest wave which Canada has experienced for 15 years. In the Ottawa Valley it was computed that during the night a minimum of 50° below zero would be reached.

The cold has been more widespread during the past few days than ever recorded. The wave extended from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic coast, and down to the 35th parallel, which includes all except the Southern States. There was one remarkable exception, that of Montana, where the temperature yesterday was as high as zero. Severe snow storms raged at Calgary, Medicine Hat and district and a severe rain and snow storm on the Atlantic coast. The present cold is the effect of a great anticyclone from the northern portion of the continent, where it has now moderated, and Canada may be expected to follow suit.

At Toronto, for the month of January, the mean temperature was 15°, being 7° lower than the average of 43 years, and 5° lower than the average for January, 1887. The highest temperature, 41°, occurred on Jan. 13, and the lowest, 11° below zero, on Jan. 22. The past four weeks here have been the fourth coldest on record, these in which the frost has been more intense being corresponding weeks in 1857, 1879

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"I am a long way off being rich," says the young man who is palpably amused, in spite of a valiant effort to suppress all outward signs of enjoyment. "I'm awfully poor when compared with some fellows. I dare say I must come in for something when my other uncle dies, but at present I have only fifteen hundred pounds a year."

"Only!" says Mona. "Do you know, Mr. Moore has no more than that, and we think him very rich indeed! No, you have not been open with me; you should have told me. I haven't ever thought of you to myself as being a rich man. Now, I shall have to begin and think of you all over again in quite another light." She is evidently deeply aggrieved.

"But, my darling child, I can't help the fact that George Rodney left me the Hall," says Geoffrey, deprecatingly, reducing the space between them to a mere nothing, and slipping his arm round her waist. "And if I was a beggar on the face of the earth, I could not love you more than I do, nor could you, I hope"—reproachfully—"love me better either."

The reproachful ring in his voice does its intended work. The soft heart throws out resentment, and once more gives shelter to gentle thoughts alone. She even consents to Rodney's laying his cheek against hers, and faintly returns the pressure of his hand.

"Yet I think you should have told me," she whispers, as a last fading censure. "Do you know you have made me very unhappy?"

"Oh, no, I haven't, now," says Rodney, reassuringly. "You don't look a bit unhappy; you look as sweet as an angel."

"You never saw an angel, so you can't say," says Mona, still sadly severe. "And I am unhappy. How will your mother, Mrs. Rodney, like your marrying me, when you might marry so many other people—that Miss Mansergh, for instance."

"Oh, nonsense!" says Rodney, who is in high good-humor and can see no rocks ahead. "When my mother sees you she will fall in love with you on the spot, as will everybody else. But look here, you know, you musn't call her Mrs. Rodney."

"Why?" says Mona. "I couldn't well call her anything else until I know her."

"That isn't her name at all," says Geoffrey. "My father was a baronet, you know; she is Lady Rodney."

"What!" says Mona. And then she grows quite pale, and, slipping off the stile, stands a few yards away from him.

"That puts an end to everything," she says, in a dreadful little voice that goes to his heart, "at once. I could never face any one with a title. What will she say when she hears you are going to marry a farmer's niece? It is shameful of you," says Mona, with as much indignation as if the young man opposite to her, who is making strenuous but vain efforts to speak, had just been convicted of some heinous crime. "It is disgraceful. I wonder at you! That is twice you have deceived me."

"If you would only hear me——"

"I have heard too much already. I won't listen to any more. 'Lady Rodney!' I dare say"—with awful meaning in her tone—"you have got a title too!" Then, sternly, "Have you?"

"No, no, indeed. I give you my honor, no," says Geoffrey, very earnestly, feeling that Fate has been more kind to him in that she has denied him a handle to his name.

"You are sure?"—doubtfully.

"Utterly certain."

"And your brother?"

"Jack is only Mr. Rodney too."

"I don't mean him,"—severely. "I mean the brother you call 'Old Nick'—Old Nick indeed!" with suppressed anger.

"Oh, he is only called Sir Nicholas. Nobody thinks much of that. A baronet is really never of the slightest importance," says Geoffrey, anxiously, feeling exactly as if he were making an apology for his brother.

"That is not correct," says Mona. "We have a baronet here, Sir Owen O'Connor, and he is thought a great deal of. I know all about it. Even Lady Mary would have married him if he had asked her, though his hair is the color of an orange. Mr. Rodney"—laying a dreadful stress upon the prefix to his name—"go back to England and"—tragically—"forget me!"

"I shall do nothing of the kind," says Mr. Rodney, indignantly. "And if you address me in that way again I shall cut my throat."

"Much better do that"—gloomily—"than marry me. Nothing comes of unequal marriages but worry, and despair, and misery, and death," says Mona, in a fearful tone, emphasizing each prophetic word with a dismal nod.

"You've been reading novels," says Rodney, contemptuously.

"No, I haven't," says Mona, indignantly.

"Then you are out of your mind," says Rodney.

"No, I am not. Anything but that; and to be rude"—slowly—"answers no purpose. But I have some common sense, I hope."

"I hate women with common sense. In plainer language it means no heart."

"Now you speak sensibly. The sooner you begin to hate me the better."

"A nice time to offer such advice as that," says Rodney, moodily. "But I shan't take it, Mona,"—seizing her hands and speaking more in passionate excitement than even in love—"say at once you will marry me and keep your word."

"Nothing on earth shall induce me to say that," says Mona, solemnly. "Nothing!"

"Then don't!" says Rodney, furiously, and, flinging her hands from him, he turns and strides savagely down the hill, and is lost to sight round the corner.

"Dear me," says Mona, throwing up her dainty head, and with a petulant gesture, flinging the offending grass from her, "what an escape I have had! How his mother would have hated me! Surely I should count it lucky that I discovered all about her in time. Because really it doesn't so very much matter; I dare say I shall manage to be quite perfectly happy again, after a little bit, just as I have been all my life—before he came. And when he is gone"—she pauses, chokes back with stern determination a very heavy sigh, and then goes on hastily with a suspicious bitterness, "What a temper he has! Horrid! The way he flung away my hand, as if he detested me, and flounced down that hill, as if he hoped never to set eyes on me again! With no 'good-bye,' or 'by your leave,' or 'with your leave,' or a word of farewell, or a backward glance, or anything! I do hope he has taken me at my word, and that he will go straight back, without seeing me again, to his own odious country."

POKING FUN!

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprises largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8.75, this is an all wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3 75 and a pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys Suits really nice and lot of them $1.95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPARD'S, where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

TORONTO TOPICS.

The police, so far, have been unable to glean any tidings of Samo's whereabouts further than that he bought a ticket for British Columbia late on Tuesday night and drove out of town to take the North Bay express at some way-station.

Hon. John Beverley Robinson, accompanied by Mrs. Robinson, left the city yesterday for England to attend the meeting of the bondholders and shareholders of the Northern Railway on behalf of the City of Toronto.

The examination of Liquidator Campbell was concluded before the Master-in-Ordinary yesterday. The arguments on the petition to shelve Mr. Campbell will be heard on Monday morning before the Chancellor.

A stormy meeting of the creditors of C. L. Van Worner was held yesterday. A statement was submitted by assignee Garland, showing the assets to be about $18,000, and liabilities $50,000.

An Imperial Messenger.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—Emperor William had an interview to-day with Count Radolinski, and the Count will start for San Remo to-night.

A Life for a Life.

UTICA, N.Y., Feb. 9.—Clement Arthur Day was hanged at the jail at 10.25 this morning for the murder of his paramour, Johanna Ross Cross, on the Black River Canal, near Boonville, June 9, 1887.

THREE BIRD STORIES.

A Georgia man had a pure white hen. Recently she began molting, and every white feather that dropped out was replaced by a black one, and now she is clad in deep black from bill to tail.

Hundreds of English sparrows are being dragged from their nests or roosts beneath the cornices of the high buildings in Columbus, Ind., by large flocks of screech owls, that carry them away and devour them.

For the fifth year a common crow has come with the first snow to the home of a correspondent of The London Field. He will take a piece of fat from the hand. There was a heavy fall of snow on Dec. 11, and the bird then appeared for the first time this season, received his breakfast and departed. He returned again with the first severe weather.

A QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE.

Messrs. O'Brien and Pyne, Nationalist M.P.s, Arrested—Rent Reductions Granted.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—A circular, emanating from the heads of the Parnellite party, has been privately circulated among the Nationalist members of Parliament, requesting them to observe the greatest caution in introducing strangers into Parliament. It is reported that in consequence of the revelations made in the recent dynamiters' trial, the Speaker is considering a rule to make members responsible for the conduct of strangers whom they introduce.

Reductions Granted.

DUBLIN, Feb. 10.—The landlords of the Kingstown estates have granted all the reductions demanded in 1886, under the Plan of Campaign, and have agreed to reinstate the evicted tenants, including the Mitchellstown shopkeepers, and to forego all the legal costs. They will also offer the property for sale.

In the Court of Queen's Bench to-day the verdict rendered by the coroner's jury in the case of the police officers charged with the Mitchellstown riots was set aside on the ground that the jury was chosen informally.

Fourteen persons, including two members of the Municipal Council, have been arrested at Galway for disorderly conduct on the night of the arrest of Mr. Blunt. They were bailed. Other arrests are expected. Great excitement prevails.

Nationalist M.P.'s Arrested.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The police to-day arrested Patrick O'Brien, Nationalist M.P., outside of the Parliament Buildings, mistaking him for Mr. Gilhooly, M.P. for West Cork, for whose arrest a warrant has been issued. Mr. O'Brien was taken to Scotland Yard where he was recognized by officials and released.

J. D. Pyne, Nationalist member for West Waterford, was arrested on alighting from a cab alongside of the House of Commons. Mr. Pyne was driven in a cab to Scotland Yard. He will be taken to Dublin to-night.

After a consultation with Mr. Parnell Mr. O'Brien obtained the consent of the Irish leaders to raise a question of privilege in the House of Commons on Monday next with regard to the arrest of Mr. Pyne and himself.

RAILWAYS ALARMED.

Proposal to Cut off Canadian Competition in Interstate Freight Transportation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee held a special meeting to-day to listen to an argument by Gen. J. H. Wilson, a distinguished railroad builder and manager, on the subject of the competition of Canadian railroads in carrying freight from one point in the United States to another.

Gen. Wilson urged an amendment of the Interstate Commerce Act to provide that goods shipped in bond from any point in the United States across the Canadian border and designed to be returned to another point in the United States, shall be subject to duties on their return. This amendment would virtually cut off the present Canadian competition in the interstate freight transportation of this country. This competition is increasing steadily and very rapidly and deprives this Government of the power to properly regulate Interstate Commerce without injuring our own roads and transferring business to those of Canada.

The legislation proposed is upon the same principle as that of the navigation laws, by which this Government seeks to prevent foreign nations from having equal advantages with the United States in the carrying trade by vessels.

The political effect would simply be that of demonstrating to Canada how much more thoroughly her interests are identified with the United States than with Great Britain.

He argued earnestly as to the necessity for such modification of the law for many commercial reasons.

The C.P.R. Signs Circular "A."

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—At a meeting in Commissioner Fink's office to-day it was learned that the Canadian Pacific had signed joint circular "A," referring to the abolishment of payments of commissions to agents selling tickets in trunk line territory. The tickets of the road will be placed in all trunk line offices to-morrow.

The Soo Line's Differential.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 10.—An official of the "Soo" route confirms the report that Commissioner Fink has allowed the "Soo" a differential of ten cents under the Chicago routes. In accordance with this agreement the Soo road announces an 85 cent rate from Minneapolis to Boston and New York, to meet the 95-cent rate of the Chicago lines.

LORD STANLEY OF PRESTON.

To Enter Upon His Duties as Governor-General in March.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The Marquis of Lansdowne will leave Canada in March. Lord Stanley has been instructed to enter upon his duties as Governor-General in the same month. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach will probably re-enter the Cabinet as President of the Board of Trade.

The Viceroy Eulogizes His Successor.

CALCUTTA, Feb. 10.—The Viceroy, referring to his resignation, declared that the step was imperative and due to private reasons. There had never been any difference between him and the Government, and the latter had always generously supported him. The time was opportune for him to resign, there being an outlook of prosperit rand peace.

He warmly eulogized his successor, Lord Lansdowne, predicting that his appointment would be gladly received and that he would earn universal popularity.

ROBT. NEIL WILL SWING.

EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY IN HIS BEHALF REFUSED.

It is Said that Mr. Skinner, M.P. for St. John, N.B., Will Support the Government During the Coming Session—Conference of Postoffice Inspectors.

OTTAWA, Feb. 10.—It is understood that an examination of the evidence in the case of Robert Neil, alias Thompson, under sentence of death for the murder of Guard Rutledge in the Central Prison, has led to the decision that the law be allowed to take its course, and Neil will therefore be hanged on Feb. 28.

Tenders will be received by the Public Works Department up to March 8 for the erection of a postoffice and custom house at Prescott.

Messrs. Towle & Watson of the Inland Revenue Department have been deputed by the Government to obtain samples of river and drinking water from all over the Dominion and forward them to Ottawa for analysis, the idea being to obtain information with respect to the composition of the different waters. Mr. Towle is at present discharging this duty in the Province of Quebec, whilst Mr. Watson is going through the lower provinces. Ottawa water will be sampled bye-and-bye.

The Journal gives currency to a rumor that Mr. C. N. Skinner of St. John, N.B., will support the Government during the coming session of Parliament.

The Senate and Commons chambers, Speaker's apartments, etc., are being put in order for the session and will be all ready in a few days.

Several more of the departmental reports are completed and in the hands of the binder, and will probably be distributed in a few days. The first to be given out will probably be the Auditor-General's report and the Post office and Inland Revenue will speedily follow.

The officials of the Secretary of States Department say there is no truth in the statement telegraphed to a New York paper that important state papers with reference to the fisheries case have been stolen.

Mr. Sweetnam, inspector of postoffices, Toronto, and Mr. French, inspector for the Ottawa division, had a long conference with Deputy Postmaster-General Griffin to-day, the object of which was to arrange the details of the parcel post system shortly to be introduced between Canada and the United States.

TO-DAY'S CANADA GAZETTE.

Inland Revenue Statement—Notices to Mariners—A Toronto Corporation—C.P.R. Branches.

OTTAWA, Feb. 10.—To-morrow's Canada Gazette will contain the return of Edward Gaylor Prior to represent Victoria, B.C., in the Commons.

Mr. L. G. Houle of Victoriaville, P.Q., has been appointed revising officer for the county of Arthabaska, and Mr. L. A. Audette, registrar of the Exchequer Court, a commissioner to administer oaths in connection with proceedings before the Supreme and Exchequer Courts.

An unrevised statement of Inland Revenue for January shows the total amount of revenue accrued to have been $494,753, of which $482,840 was from excise.

The Department of Marine published notices relating to the range lights and buoys in Toronto Harbor, the Saturna Island, B.C., light, the Port Colborne range lights, and the re-establishment of a Port Claire and Dorval light. The Marine Department also gives notice that from the opening of navigation in 1888 the gas-lighted buoy on the west end of Margaret Island, below Quebec, referred to in the notice to mariners No. 29 of 1887, will be moored on a patch with twenty feet of water, recently found by Staff-Commander Maxwell, R.N., two cables' length to the south-westward of the former site of the red can buoys.

Notice is given of application for letters patent incorporating the British America Land and Investment Company of Toronto, with a capital of $500,000. The names of the applicants are: Thomas Long, Charles Cameron, John Joseph Long of Collingwood, Thomas Milburn, Theophilus R. Earl, William Reily of Toronto, and Samuel Wesley of Bartie.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company gives notice of application to Parliament for an act to extend the limit of the amount of bonds which it may issue in respect of a branch line to be constructed from a point at or near Sudbury to a point at or near Claremont and in respect of any other branch to be hereafter constructed, and to authorize the issue of debenture stock therein in lieu of bonds.

Notice is given of application to incorporate the Gaspe Board of Trade.

Nominations in Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 10.—At the bye nominations yesterday Premier Greenway in Mountain and Minister of Public Works Smith in Brandon were elected by acclamation. Attorney-General Martin and W. P. Smith were nominated in Portage. Augustus Nolin and Provincial Secretary Prendergast were nominated in La Verandrye. It is stated that efforts were made to buy off Nolin but were ineffectual.

Assaulted by Footpads.

OTTAWA, Feb. 10.—P. Chilton, night clerk in the postoffice, was found last night by persons returning from revival services lying in a pool of blood on the snow. He had, when going to work, been struck by some blunt instrument on the head. The object of assault was evidently robbery, as his pockets were emptied of what little cash he had. He has not yet recovered consciousness and may die. It is thought the outrage was perpetrated by hard characters who have come to attend the horse races.

Killed by the Shock.

MONTREAL, Feb. 10.—Mrs. Saunders, wife of James Saunders, who was killed by a block of ice falling on him last week, died this morning from the effects of a shock received on that occasion. An infant born shortly before the accident died last night.

Halton Scott Act Convention.

MILTON, Feb. 10.—In response to the call of the executive a large number of the prominent workers in the cause of prohibition met at 10 o'clock to-day in the Methodist Church to consider the situation and take steps to perfect the organization to defeat the movement for the repeal of the Scott Act, which is to be voted on March 1.

Knifton's Challenge Accepted.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—John L. Sullivan has accepted the offer of Jack Knifton to stand before him for two rounds in a contest of six rounds.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 10.

The Legislature only sat long enough yesterday afternoon to witness the introduction of Mr. James P. Whitney, the Conservative member-elect for Dundas, and for the transaction of routine. Mr. Whitney was chaperoned while he made his bow to the Speaker by Mr. Creighton and Mr. French.

The bill introduced by Mr. Gibson (Huron) respecting the debt of the town of Brussels, was given its second reading and referred to a committee of the whole.

Hon. A. S. Hardy brought down a return showing the number of vacancies since 1884 in the offices of county crown-attorney, sheriff and registrar of deeds, how the vacancies occurred, when filled and by whom filled.

Bills for First Reading.

These bills were sent up for first readings:

Mr. Leys—An act to legalize a certain bylaw of the Town of Sault Ste. Marie.

Mr. Fell—An act respecting a railway debenture debt of the Township of Bexley.

Mr. Ingram—An act to amend the act to provide for the payment of witnesses for the Crown.

Mr. Clancy—An act to amend the Municipal Act.

Hon. A. S. Hardy—An act respecting bylaw 402 of the City of Brantford.

Mr. Meredith—An act to enable Holy Trinity Cathedral, London, to sell certain lands.

Mr. Smith—An act respecting the incorporation of the village of East Toronto.

Mr. Gibson (Huron)—An act to amend chapter 115, Revised Statutes of Ontario.

Mr. Murray—An act to amend the Municipal Act.

Mr. Bronson—An act to enable the Orphan's Home of Ottawa to borrow money.

Mr. Tooley—An act to consolidate the debts of and to extend the limits of London West.

Petitions and Notices of Motion.

Among the petitions and notices of motion were these:

By Mr. Ballantyne—For the incorporation of the Village of Tavistock.

By Mr. Monk—That the assessment of lands in townships be made in March instead of in April.

By Mr. Bronson—That power be given to the City of Ottawa to borrow $225,000 in order that the rate of interest on the present indebtedness may be reduced and that necessary public works be undertaken.

By Mr. Garson—For legislation to repeal the act empowering municipal councils to grant bonuses to factories and exempt them from taxation.

By Mr. Meredith—For a uniform method of weighing grain and produce.

By Mr. Freeman—For the division of the township of Walsingham, Norfolk, into two sections.

By Mr. Meredith—On behalf of the Ministerial Association of London, asking the support of the House for Mr. Fraser's early closing bill.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

Mr. Meredith—Enquiry of the Government—1. Whether any general or other record of the proceedings of the conference of certain members of the Executive Council of this and certain other of the provinces, held in Quebec in October last, was kept. 2. If any such journal or other record was kept, if it is the intention to lay a copy of it before the House?

Mr. French—Enquiry of the Ministry,—Whether in view of the recent considerable increase in the jurisdiction of the Division Courts, and the narrowing down thereby of the County Courts, it is the intention of the Government during the present session to abolish the present jurisdiction of the County Courts and transfer such jurisdiction to the Division Courts, or, on the other hand, to barely increase the present jurisdiction of the County Courts.

The Friendly Societies' Act.

A deputation from the Independent Order of Oddfellows waited on the Attorney-General yesterday. The delegation come to protest against the Friendly Societies' Act, which is being circulated but which has not been introduced in the House. They objected to it because it would interfere with the well established rights of Friendly Societies; it would limit the insurance risk to be carried to $2000, and this would strike a serious blow at the Foresters, Good Templars, Royal Arcanum and other societies, which carry $3000 risks. It would also compel societies to carry the risk for thirty days after a member had been suspended, and the delegation thought this an unfair provision, as a suspended member could not be asked for dues as he would practically be carried free. The provision for auditing the accounts at the request of twenty-five members they objected to on the ground of expense, but would not press the objection if the twenty-five members paid for the audit. Another objection was taken to the bill on the ground that it would free the member from all obligation except from what was printed on the back of the policy. They held that the policy holder was bound by everything contained in the constitution, and it was too much to expect that they should print the whole constitution on the back of a policy. No mention was made in the bill providing for the suspension of members for murder and other serious crimes. This was not desirable.

Murdered by Robbers.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 10.—Mrs. L. Fortier, a small grocery keeper in Carrollton was murdered last night, the object being robbery.

BRITAIN'S PARLIAMENT.

LAST NIGHT'S PROCEEDINGS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The Crimes Act Again to the Fore—Mr. Balfour Asserts That the Government's Coercion Policy Has Been Successful.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—In the House of Commons this evening Right Hon. Sir James Fergusson, Parliamentary Secretary for the Foreign Office, said he could not reassure the House regarding the condition of the German Crown Prince beyond stating that he was getting on as well as could be expected.

Referring to England's position towards the European powers, Mr. Fergusson said that no agreement pledging material action by the country had been entered into with any power. By material action he meant military responsibility.

Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, continuing the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech, commented on the changed tone of Mr. Gladstone, as manifested in his speech of last evening. "Where," he asked, "was the impassioned orator who used all the resources of rhetoric to inflame the public mind against the law and against policemen?"

Mr. Gladstone here interrupted the speaker, saying that there was not an item of foundation for such assertions.

Mr. Balfour, continuing, recalled the inciting language in Mr. Gladstone's Nottingham speech, and said that he did not complain of, but rather congratulated, Mr. Gladstone on his change of tone. He would have liked it if all the speakers of the Opposition had followed Mr. Gladstone's example; and he would have liked it still better if they had refrained from attending meetings of Irish tenants and from conniving at violence against officers of the law. Grave reflections had been cast upon resident magistrates in Ireland. It was true that they were dependent for appointment upon the Executive Government, but out of a total of seventy-three magistrates Earl Spencer had had appointed or approved sixty when he revised the list.

Referring to statistics he said that the number of persons tried under the Crimes Act was 650, of whom 229 were acquitted. In 1886 the number of agrarian offences reached a total of 2196, while in 1887 the total was only 1537. The total number of cases of ordinary crime reached 1863 in 1886, and in 1887 it was 1503. The number of agrarian offences for the six months ending January, 1887, was 455, and for the same period ending January, 1888, it was 264, a decrease of 30 per cent. The statistics of boycotting especially showed the striking results of the Crimes Act. The number of persons being boycotted at the end of July, 1887, was 870, whereas now it was only 202. The Government's efforts to protect persons from the boycotters had been notably successful in Counties Clare and Kerry, where the National League had been suppressed. People now traveling in Ireland declared that the condition of the country was greatly improved, and the judges' charges confirmed this opinion.

The Government were engaged in an old struggle, but never before had any Government arrayed against it the forces recognized by the Opposition. [Cheers from the Irish members.] He reprobated the mendacious vituperation resorted to by certain members of the Opposition. It was a blemish on politics, and ought to help no cause. He claimed that the figures adduced justified coercion and proved that the Government's policy had been successful. [Cheers.]

Mr. John Morley said the House would infer from Mr. Balfour's speech the temper in which he administered coercion. [Parnellite cheers.] Regarding the Irish criminal statistics, he said the period showing a decrease in crime included the six months' calm during which eviction notices could not be executed. The diminution of boycotting was due not to coercion but to an entirely changed state of feeling and a deeper sense of responsibility toward the Liberal members who were co-workers with the Irish to obtain justice for Ireland. [Cries of "Hear, hear."] The Irish party was now assured that it would ultimately realize its aspirations. If it should ever be deprived of that hope the effects of coercion in aggravated social disorders would become painfully apparent.

Mr. Edward P. Harrington, member for West Kerry, called Mr. Balfour's speech a "choice example of his mendacity." The Speaker called upon Mr. Harrington to withdraw the expression. Mr. Harrington acquiesced, but said he did so under command.

Mr. Harrington, continuing, said that the Government manipulated the figures relating to crime. Everybody conversant with the affairs of Ireland knew that the magistrates administered the Crimes Act and did all they could to irritate the people. Mr. Balfour's regime had oppressed the people and had tried to suppress those vindicating the people's rights. But the principles of liberty would be fought for until they triumphed.

The Government assented to Mr. Gladstone's suggestion to give him two days for the discussion of the motion concerning the Trafalgar-square meetings.

Mr. Parnell moved the adjournment of the debate and the motion was agreed to.

LOCAL FINANCIAL COMPANIES.

The stability of financial institutions is an important consideration in a business community. The report of the Canada Central Loan and Savings Company for the year ending on December 31st, published in another column, is one that should be gratifying to those immediately interested in that company and also to the people of Peterborough generally, who are pleased to see this young and vigorous company prosper. The Directors' report shows that a little less than $3,000 due as interest on the large investment of a million and a quarter of dollars remained unpaid, which is strong testimony of the carefulness with which investments are made and good evidence of the value of the securities. It also indicates a better financial position among those who have borrowed than might have been expected this year, considering the unsatisfactory results of last year's harvesting and the general monetary stringency. The year's operations enabled the company to pay two dividends to the shareholders, equal to six per cent. per annum, and also to add $10,000 to the reserve fund, equal to another two per cent. on the stock. The reserve fund now amounts to $70,000, and the management has shown a wise regard for the interests of the shareholders in providing this fund to meet any losses that may occur. Any such institution is liable to some losses, and the prudent course has been followed of being prepared to meet them, should they occur, without interfering with the business of the company. The steady business done by the company during the year proved that it enjoyed the confidence of the public, those having money to invest as well as those who wished to borrow. Its progress has been steady and though a comparatively young institution it has taken a prominent position. Its manager and directors are well known in the business world, men of sagacity and financial ability, in whose hands the success of the company will continue to increase.

On the same day the annual meeting of the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company was held, the end of the business year having been changed from May to December 31st. The Directors' report for the seven months since the end of the last year was of an encouraging character. The half-yearly dividend of nearly $8,000 was paid and the sum of $8,000 added to the reserve fund. The value as an asset of the real estate held by the company is shown by the fact that the rental is sufficient to pay a good interest on the money value put upon it. There is an improvement in the company's affairs and its business is established on such a basis that renewed prosperity is assured.

OMEMEE.

Fire.—About half past twelve o'clock on Thursday night last two vacant houses on Mary-st. owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robé, of Fenelon Falls, were destroyed by fire. The fire was started in the house on the corner and soon spread to the other which was only about fifteen feet further east. A crowd of spectators were soon at the scene, but as there was very little water to be had, no effort was made to put out the flames. Fortunately there was not much wind or the consequences might have been far more serious. The fire was no doubt the work of an incendiary, and as will be seen by bills and advertisement the council will pay one hundred dollars reward for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who set the fire.—Herald.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CENTRAL CANADA COMPANY.

A Satisfactory Report of the Business of the Year—The Election of Directors and Officers of the Company.

The annual meeting of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company was held at the Board room on Thursday afternoon. There were present, Mr. Geo. A. Cox, President, in the chair, Mr. D. M. Sim, Secretary, and Messrs. J. R. Dundas and F. C. Taylor, Lindsay, R. Jaffray, Toronto, D. W. Dumble, Dr. Caldwell, Richard Hall and Wm. Cluxton, Peterborough.

The Secretary read the motion calling the meeting and the minutes of the last annual meeting.

ANNUAL REPORT.

Mr. Cox read the annual report as follows:—

"The Directors, in submitting their Fourth Annual Statement, with the Balance Sheet, as at 31st December, 1887, and Auditors' Certificate attached, have pleasure in reporting another year of steady progress, such as they trust will be satisfactory to the Shareholders.

"The interest earnings for the year amounted to $81,778.12; this enabled the Directors, after providing for the interest on deposits and debentures, and the payment of all expenses of management, to declare two half-yearly dividends at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, amounting to $30,000, to transfer $10,000 to the Reserve fund, which now amounts to $70,000, and carry forward to the credit of Profit and Loss account $3,151.97.

"During the year two properties came into the Company's possession by foreclosure. They have both been disposed of at a loss of only $392.08, and that amount has been deducted from the profits of the year.

"Notwithstanding the unsatisfactory experience of the Agricultural community during the last season, and the general stringency in the money market, the interest on loans continue to be paid with such promptitude, that of the amount due and overdue on the 31st of December, only $2,974.34 remains unpaid at this date upon investments of over a million and a quarter of dollars.

"There continues to be a steady demand for loans upon first-class security and at a somewhat higher rate of interest than prevailed at the beginning of the year.

"Respectfully submitted on behalf of the Directors.

"Geo. A. Cox,
President."

We hereby certify that we have carefully audited the Books and Accounts of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company, of Ontario, for the year ending 31st December, 1887. The Postings and Balances of the Company's Ledgers have been examined, and we find the whole correct, and in accordance with the above statements. We have also inspected the Mortgages and other Securities, and find the aggregate thereof agrees with the amount under the head of "Securities."

J. H. Roper,
Chas. D. Macdonald, } Auditors.

Peterborough, February 6th, 1888.

The President in moving the adoption of the report said:—The report and statements that are in the hands of the shareholders explain the operations of the Company during the past year. There is nothing in these statements that calls for any special remark, but it is gratifying to know that we have had another year of steady progress, that the shareholders have had their usual cash dividend of 6 per cent. and an addition to the reserve fund equal to a further 2 per cent. on the paid up capital, that our loans have proved to be of a highly satisfactory character, as evidenced by the prompt payment of interest during a period of severe depression, and that we have continued to enjoy the confidence of our debenture-holders, notwithstanding the unusual disturbance in financial circles caused by the difficulties and failures of other moneyed institutions during the year. It is, we think, cause for congratulation that in our fourth annual statement we are able to report a fully paid up cash capital of half a million dollars, a reserve fund equal to fourteen per cent. of the capital, and investments of over a million and a quarter of dollars. These figures, while small as compared with some of the older institutions, will, I am satisfied, compare very favorably with the fourth annual report of the largest and most successful company in the country. With these remarks I have pleasure in moving the adoption of the report.

Mr. Dundas seconded the adoption of the report, which was carried.

AUDITORS.

Dr. Caldwell moved, seconded by Mr. Jaffray,—That Messrs. J. H. Roper and Chas. D. Macdonald be the auditors for 1888.—Carried.

ELECTION OF DIRECTORS.

Dr. Caldwell and Mr. Sim were appointed scrutineers, and the ballot was taken for the election of Directors, resulting in the election of the following:—Messrs. Geo. A. Cox, J. R. Dundas, J. M. Ferris, Wm. Cluxton, Richard Hall, Jas. Stevenson, D. W. Dumble, Wm. Goodersham, Robert Jaffray, F. C. Taylor and E. S. Vinden.

The meeting then adjourned.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors the following officers were elected:—

President—Geo. A. Cox.
1st Vice-President—J. R. Dundas.
2nd Vice-President—Richard Hall.
Investment Committee—Messrs. Geo. A. Cox, J. R. Dundas, Richard Hall, D. W. Dumble and W. Cluxton.

U. S. A. DESERTERS.

Two Privates From Fort Niagara Seek the Seclusion of Hamilton.

Hamilton, Feb. 10.—Wm. Stein and A. Somerville, deserters from the 11th U.S. Infantry, are in the city. They say they could not stand the petty discipline at Fort Niagara. Somerville was courtmartialled twice while stationed there. They came to Canada on Tuesday.

William Fairweather, while drunk yesterday, allowed his horse to stand in the market square all day without a covering. He was fined $8.50 at the Police Court this morning.

The firemen were called out this morning to a fire at the Thompson House. It was caused by an overheated stovepipe setting fire to the floor.

The house of Charles Bakie was entered Wednesday evening between 8 and 10 o'clock and a lady's gold watch and chain stolen. Entrance was effected by raising the front window.

The Police Magistrate decided this morning to reopen the case of Louis G. Johnston, the young man convicted yesterday of indecent exposure. It is claimed that Johnston when tried yesterday was stupid from the effects of blows received at the hands of Wm. Carroll, who arrested him. The case will be heard again on Monday. Carroll was charged with assault and his case will also be heard on Monday.

Teemer Defeats Hamm and McKay.

Trenton, Fla., Feb. 10.—A single scull race took place to-day in Charlotte Harbor here for a purse of $1000 and the championship of America. The rowers were John Teemer of Pittsburg, Albert Hamm of Boston and John McKay of Halifax, N.S. A great crowd of people were present. The day was bright, warm and beautiful.

The men were in good condition and a fine start was made at 4.32. For the first mile the contest was very even, Hamm leading to the turn, which he made in 10.30. Teemer followed in 10.30, McKay in 10.35.

The water was rough and the rowers had to row nearly half a mile from a direct line to the turn. After turning Teemer took the lead, followed by McKay and Hamm. These positions were maintained to the close of the race. At the half Teemer had forged five lengths ahead, but McKay and Hamm closed upon him, and the finish was exciting in the extreme. Teemer won in 20.04, McKay second, 20.08, and Hamm last, 20.10.

The three men will row here again to-morrow for a purse of $600, and will row at Jacksonville for the sub-tropical exposition stakes.

The Week's Failures.

New York, Feb. 10.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported to Dun, Wiman & Co., number for the United States 237 and for Canada 52, or a total of 289 as compared with a total of 279 last week and 317 the week previous. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 267, made up of 231 failures in the United States and 36 in Canada. The feature this week is the unusual number of failures in the Dominion of Canada, 52, being nearly double the usual weekly average.

An Earthquake in Northern Ohio.

Cincinnati, Feb. 10.—Reports from Tiffin, Sandusky and Put-in-Bay say an earthquake shock startled the inhabitants shortly before 10 o'clock this morning. No damage was done.

TORONTO TOPICS.

James H. Samo, the furniture dealer who left Toronto last Tuesday, was arrested at Port Arthur yesterday morning. He will be brought back to Toronto.

The case of Israel Lucas and his wife, the alleged Ohio boodlers, has been settled out of court.

DAILY MARKET REVIEW.

Toronto, Feb. 10.

The local grain and produce market to-day was steady, with moderate business, while Chicago was easier and European markets steady and firm.

On call at the Board of Trade to-day: For No. 1 red winter 80c bid, and No. 2 red winter was offered at 85c and 84c on track bid.

The car lots received at Chicago to-day were: Wheat 36, corn 113 and oats 46.

In Chicago to-day wheat, corn, oats and lard opened higher and closed from last night ¼ lower on wheat at 80¾, ¼ higher on corn at 51¾c, unchanged on oats at 31¾c, 20c lower on pork and unchanged on lard at $7.32 bid, all for the May option.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago Stock Yards to-day is: Estimated receipts 18,000, official yesterday 20,600, shipments 6801, left over 3600. Cattle receipts 6800. Market steady and firmer.

LOCAL STREET MARKET.

Business on the local market to-day was firm and prices steady. About 200 bushels of wheat offered and sold at 83c to 85c for fall, 77c to 81c for spring, and 74c for goose. Barley steady, with sales of 1000 bushels at 73c to 80½c. One load of oats sold at 27c. Peas remained at 65c to 70c. Hay in fair offering and prices firm; 40 loads sold at $10 to $12 for clover, and $13 to $13.50 for timothy. Straw quiet and prices steady, with sales at $10 to $12. Dressed hogs firm at $7.25 to $7.50. Beef $3 to $5 for forequarters, and $5 to $7.50 for hindquarters. Mutton $6.50 to $8; lamb at $9 to $10; veal $5.50 to $8.50.

Enlarging Their Borders.

The curling fraternity of Peterborough will be interested in learning that the Lindsay Curling Club have decided to build a new rink, of handsome design and in keeping with the progress that the town is now making. A large and convenient piece of property has been secured, about two blocks from the railway station and centrally situated. On this the new rink will be built, 110x170 feet—in fact a duplicate of the rink at Peterborough. The centre of the rink will be used for skating, while on either side will be reserved space for two rinks, four in all. Work will commence on the building early in the spring and to be completed for next season's use. When the new rink is opened, the Peterborough club can enjoy the novelty of sending up six rinks to polish off the Lindsay's on their native ice. Peterborough club desires to congratulate their friends and apponents, the Lindsay's on the prosperous state of that club's finances and to hope that many a well fought match will be played together under the new roof.

Complimentary Supper.

On Friday evening Mr. Thomas Dunn, the well known and popular vocalist, was entertained at a complimentary supper at the "Hub," on the eve of his approaching marriage. Dr. Kincaid occupied the chair and was ably supported by Mr. J. P. Dunn, as vice-chairman. About thirty gentlemen sat down to a table that did credit to the house. After disposing of the edibles, the customary loyal toasts were disposed of in quick order, until that of "Our Guest" was given, when Mr. A. McNeil read the following address:

To Thomas Dunn, Esq., Peterborough.

DEAR SIR,—A number of your friends and admirers, aware that a great crisis has arrived in your life, you being about to leave the ranks of those that are singly blest to follow the example of the great majority of mankind, who like Father Adam, have been doubly blest, we cannot permit this auspicious opportunity—which we hope will never return—to pass by without giving you a small evidence of our esteem of you as a man and a friend, as well as our appreciation of you as an accomplished and deservedly popular vocalist who has been ever ready to respond in the most kind and liberal manner to the numerous requests made for your valuable services, which have been the delight of many an audience, not only here but in many other localities where you are well and favorably known. Be pleased to receive this small expression of our regard for you, which we trust will be honored with a place among your household goods; and we hope that you and the lady you have chosen for your life-partner may long be spared to cheer each other through the varied scenes that shall fill up the years of a life which shall be, we hope, both long, prosperous and happy.

Signed on behalf of your numerous friends.

At the proper time Mr. Dunn was presented with a solid silver tea service and made an appropriate reply.

"AT HOME."

An Entertainment in the Rooms of the Otonabee Lodge, I.O.O.F.

The entertainment held in the rooms of Otonabee Lodge, I.O.O.F. on Friday night was very well attended, considering the counter attractions on that evening. The seats in the hall were arranged in the centre of the room, giving room for moving about during the intermission. The spacious dining room was tastely decorated with flags and illuminated with Chinese lanterns.

Dr. Bell, G.W. occupied the chair. He opened the proceedings with a brief speech and explained the charitable object of the entertainment. The Peterborough Orchestra then played an overture, "Chevelier Breton" (Hermann), which was well received. The orchestra is composed of good musicians who bring sweet music out of their excellent instruments. Later they gave a selection from "The Mascot" (Ripley). Mr. Thomas Dunn sang "The Storm Fiend" (Roeckle), a splendid song. Mr. Dunn was in excellent voice and sang with his usual good effect. Miss Louise Yokome gave a violin solo, "4th Air Varie, Theme de Mercadente" (Dancia), with piano accompaniment by Prof. Doucet. This young lady is an accomplished player of the stringed instrument and she was warmly applauded. Miss Howden, of Millbrook, sang "Come to Me" (Denza). This lady is a favorite in Peterborough, as she is wherever she sings, her fine soprano voice captivating the audiences. She was welcomed with generous applause and in response to an encore sang "Creep into Bed, my Baby" (Belasco), a pretty solo.

An intermission followed, during which refreshments were served in the decorated and illuminated dining room, and some time was pleasantly spent in conversation.

The second part of the programme opened with a pianoforte solo, "Les Rameaux" (Leyback), by Miss McDonald, who has previously delighted Peterborough audiences with her excellent playing, and did so again on this occasion. Mr. Thos. Dunn sang "On the Rolling Wave," and responded to a decided encore with "The Gay Hussar." Miss Howden sang "Our last Waltz" (Milloy). The last number was a selection by the orchestra, "Tara's Hall" (Clements), with clarionet solo, a delightful piece of music excellently rendered. The National Anthem by the orchestra concluded this part of the evening's enjoyment.

The company then assembled in the dining room where, with music furnished by the orchestra, some time was pleasantly spent in a social way.

AMONG THE CURLERS.

Toronto Wins the Heavy-Weight Championship and the Flour.

Yesterday afternoon a match took place on the Landsdowne rink, between four heavy weight curlers from Toronto, and four belonging to Eeastern Ontario. The stakes were four barrels of flour. Eastern Ontario was represented by Messrs. S. Baulkwell, Belleville; W.H.Morris, Peterborough; Jos. Ruebottom, Bowmanville, and E. G. Burk, of Campbellford, skip.

The play commenced shortly before one o'clock, but before a stone was thrown, skip Burk objected to Mr. Wright acting as skip for the Toronto team, on the ground that Mr. McGaw issued the challenge and he had accepted it with the understanding that the skips were to be McGaw and Burk. Some parleying took place, but the Toronto men were firm and refused to go ahead unless "Jack" Wright skipped their rink. Then it was proposed that "Joe" Rue-bottom skip the Eastern rink, but this would not suit, so rather than disappoint the visitors, skip Burk played his rink under protest.

From the very beginning it was plainly seen that the Toronto men had the game in their own hands and could win as they chose. Wright is one of the finest skips to be found in Canada, while Mr. Burk, who may be a very fair skip for a village club, found the company altogether too fast for him and at no time during the match had his men a chance of winning.

The play throughout was of a fair order. The players were all good natured and good shots on each side were liberally applauded by all the curlers, while the unlucky wight who happened to make "a hog" or a bad shot was given the laugh by all hands.

The players are said to average 250 pounds each and for size "Jumbo" Morris certainly showed up the best. Nearly every fat man in town went down to see the game and the players and during the afternoon four local "babies" could have been chosen out of the spectators, who would have outweighed any four of the players.

As may be imagined the players did not exert themselves any more than was necessary, but at the same time some of them were as light on their feet as any of their light weight brethren and frisked about as playfully as Mary's little lamb.

The following is the score:—

| EASTERN ONTARIO. | TORONTO. |
|---|---|
| Rink No. 1. | |
| S. Baulkwell | J. D. Henderson |
| W. H. Morris | T. McGaw |
| Jos. Ruebottom | Capt. McCorquodale |
| E. G. Burk, s'k., 12 | John Wright, s'k., 24 |
| Rink No. 2. | |
| R. Hall | G. Eakins |
| G. Walker | B. Fauquier |
| R. S. Davidson | D. Kerr |
| W. G. Ferguson, s'k..26 | D. Dinwoodie, s'k..6 |
| Total.....46 | Total.....30 |

Toronto thus wins by 12 shots.

After the game Mr. Thos. McGaw presented Judge Weller, President of the local club, with an order for two barrels of flour, to be disposed of as he saw fit.

The weights of the players are given as follows:—Toronto—Henderson, 240; McGaw, 265; McCorquodal, 236 and, Wright, 262. Total, 1,003. Eastern Ontario, Baulkwell, 258; Morris, 264; Ruebottom, 253, and Burk, 246. Total, 1,021. Average, Toronto 250¾, Eastern Ontario 255¼ and average all around 253.

Toronto's fat men appear to have been well satisfied with their match here, as all the city papers speak well of the town. The Mail says:—"The Toronto men speak in the highest terms of the treatment they received at the hands of the people of Peterborough."

In the evening a game was played between Campbellford and Peterborough, two rinks a side, resulting in an easy victory for the home players, as will be seen by the annexed score:—

| PETERBOROUGH. | CAMPBELLFORD. |
|---|---|
| Rink No. 1. | |
| D. Belleghem | R. Dinwoodie |
| J. D. Baptie | C. Gillespie |
| C. McGill | C. Smith |
| A. Hall, s'k., 20 | E. Gaudrie, s'k., 15 |
| Rink No. 2. | |
| R. Hall | G. Eakins |
| G. Walker | B. Fauquier |
| R. S. Davidson | D. Kerr |
| W. G. Ferguson, s'k..26 | D. Dinwoodie, s'k..6 |
| Total.....46 | Total.....23 |

Peterborough wins by 23 shots.

The defeated fat men yesterday, announced their intention of challenging the victors to play a return match at Toronto, with Burk and McGaw as skips.

Iron Versus Wood.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—I was much amused on reading that part of your article re the town bridges, which says "Some allege a wooden bridge can be erected at one-quarter, or one-third the cost of an iron one." One can scarcely believe there are people living in this iron age who are so ignorant. But I suppose in the discussion of this subject the persons who know the least about the principle of such structures will have the most to say, and will make any kind of wild cat guesses for the sake of being considered wise. Talk is cheap and every person is allowed to indulge. Therefore, I will come down to business and make the following proposition:—

I will give fifty dollars to any institution in town the Mayor shall decide upon, if any person will furnish a plan for a wooden bridge (property proportioned to sustain the traffic) and demonstrate that it can be built for one half the cost of an iron bridge of equal strength.

Or I will give another fifty dollars to any charitable purpose if the said bridge after being built and kept in proper repair, suitable for traffic for twenty years, does not cost one and one quarter times the first cost of the iron structure.

This is a bona fide offer and the person who undertakes the task will lose nothing but his time, UM. DEKKO.

Peterborough, Feb. 11th, 1888.

Wanted, A Theatre.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—The people of this town are either stupid or very long-suffering in some ways. The dramatic representations of any people are a large part of both their instruction and amusement. However, in Peterborough, where there is considerable wealth, one must be content to witness good things in themselves made ridiculous by the inadaquate surroundings of the Opera House (save the mark!) That place might have done 20 years ago, or it might do now for Warsaw, but the music-loving, drama-loving citizens of Peterborough are entitled to something better. In case of fire there is no escape unless it be by jumping 50 feet down into the market through a door made to silence the restless inspector who insisted on the carrying out (?) of the law. Several of us were thinking at Mr. Belford's that the "Fall of the Pemberton Mill" could be easily repeated here. Why can we not have a theatre? A stock company could easily be formed here and a theatre capable of holding 1,400 people might be built for $14,000. The expense is all on the inside. And then, just think of the citizens of a city huddling like a lot of school boys round an antiquated wood-stove—and the scenery! But forgive me, I may not further go. Before I finish, however, let me tell you that the sound-properties of a plaster-hall destroy the beauty of anything. Let the public hear what is thought by the public of some change in this style of things operatic.

Yours, &c.,
HOPE ON.

P.S. Let me add that if ever I suffer from the negligence of the town's fire inspector, and I live, Peterborough will dance to the tune of dollars and damages—that's certain.

To Save Life

Frequently requires prompt action. An hour's delay waiting for the doctor may be attended with serious consequences, especially in cases of Croup, Pneumonia, and other throat and lung troubles. Hence, no family should be without a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has proved itself, in thousands of cases, the best Emergency Medicine ever discovered. It gives prompt relief and prepares the way for a thorough cure, which is certain to be effected by its continued use."

S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga., says: "I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup in all cases. I have known the worst cases relieved in a very short time by its use; and I advise all families to use it in sudden emergencies, for coughs, croup, &c."

A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middletown, Tenn., says: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."

"I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," writes E. Bragdon, of Palestine, Texas, "believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died."

CRUELTY ON SHIPBOARD.

THE MACEDON'S CREW TELL A TALE OF SUFFERING.

Five Unfortunates Said to Have Succumbed to Their Tortures—The Steward's Feet Bitten Off by a Shark—The Story Not Credited at St. John, N.B.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 10.—The Record has this account of the voyage of the ship Macedon from Philadelphia to Hiogo, in which, as shown by the finding of a court of enquiry, the crew were subjected to most cruel treatment:

The Macedon left this port on May 19, 1887, in command of J. W. Jones, master, and after a voyage of 218 days reached her destination on Dec. 22, with her crew reduced in number by death and disease, and the survivors half dazed from the brutal treatment to which they had been subjected at the hands of the ship's officers. Five unfortunates succumbed to their tortures and were thrown overboard.

On the arrival of the Macedon at Hiogo, out of a total surviving complement of seventeen persons on board thirteen were suffering from scurvy, only the master, mate, cook and steward having been exempted from the symptoms of that dreaded disease. Charges of gross tyranny were formulated at Hiogo against Clarence N. Cox, the mate, and C. F. Beveridge, the boatswain, and a naval court with James Troup, British Consul, as president, was organized to investigate the complaints.

The evidence showed that Edward Grant, eight days before his death, was tied up to the mast by Cox and was kept at work until the morning of the day before he died. John Miller was lost overboard on Oct. 7, and the master allowed the man to sink without making any effort to rescue him. On Nov. 19, while suffering from scurvy, Jas. Armstrong was sent aloft on the mizzenmast by the boatswain to scrape the mast, a task that was not of an urgent nature. While performing this duty Armstrong fell to the deck and died of his injuries. Alvin Chapel and Angelo Bianchi died of scurvy. For Bianchi were reserved the most shocking acts of cruelty, he having been dragged along the deck on several occasions by Cox and Beveridge, while in a dying condition.

The outbreak of scurvy was shown to be due to a gross violation of the English statutes requiring the use of lime or lime juice, and to a deficiency in the quantity of other anti-scorbutics in the food supplied for so long a voyage.

The mate and boatswain were held to answer before the British Consul in Japan for their gross ill-usage of Grant, Bianchi and Armstrong. In the treatment of the survivors of the crew by Cox and Beveridge, the court found nothing to justify a charge of gross tyranny, though the accused men "had been on occasions unjustifiably harsh." The master and his officers were all reprimanded for cruel treatment, and were required to pay the statutory fines for failing to serve out the anti-scorbutics regularly and for non-entry in the official log of the ship's crew.

During the voyage one of the steward's feet was bitten off by a shark when the ship was thrown on her beam ends by a sudden squall.

The Report Disbelieved.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 10.—The story of brutality on board the St. John ship Macedon, as telegraphed from Philadelphia, is believed here to be exaggerated. William Shannon & Co., the owners, say it cannot be true. Captain Jones b[illegible], Digby, N.S., and is a brother of the member of the Dominion Commons from that county. He bears an excellent character.

Scott Act Convictions in East Middlesex.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—For the quarter ending Jan. 31 Scott Act fines have been levied in East Middlesex to the extent of $1550, eight bakekeepers went to jail two months each in default, and ten fines of $100 each were imposed.

No other medicine is so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, for the cure of coughs, colds, and all derangements of the respiratory organs. It relieves the asthmatic and consumptive, even in advanced stages of disease.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

She turns and casts a last lingering glance upon the sloping hill down which her sweetheart, filled with angry thoughts, had gone. And as she so stands, with her hand to her forehead, after a little while a slow smile of conscious power comes to her lips and tarries round them, as though fond of its resting place.

Her lips part. An expression that is half gladness, half amusement, brightens her eyes.

"I wonder," she says to herself, softly, "whether he will be with me at the usual hour to-morrow, or—a little earlier!"

Then she gathers up her gown and runs swiftly back to the farm.

CHAPTER X.

To Rodney, last night is one ever to be remembered as being a period almost without end, and as a perfect specimen of how seven hours can be made to feel like twenty-one.

His love at this moment—which is closing upon noon—is standing in her cool dairy upon business thoughts intent, yet with a certain look of expectation upon her face—a listening look may best express it.

Suddenly a bell rings in the distance. This is the signal for the men to cease from work and go to their dinners. It must be two o'clock.

Two o'clock! Mona's brows contract. So late!—the day is slipping from her, and as yet no word, no sign.

"The bell stops, and a loud knock at the hall-door takes its place. Was ever sweeter sound heard anywhere? So he has come back to her! Now anxiety is at an end and joy reigns, born of the knowledge that by his speedy surrender he has proved himself her own indeed, and she herself indispensable to his content.

"'Tis the English gentleman, miss—Misther Rodney. He wants to see ye," says the fair Bridget, putting her head in at the door-way, and speaking in a hushed tone.

"Very well; show him in here," says Mona. There is acrimony in her tone, but laughter in her eyes.

Rodney, standing on the threshold at the end of the small hall, can hear distinctly all that passes.

"Here, miss—in the dairy? Law, Miss Mona, don't."

"Why?" demands her mistress somewhat haughtily. "I suppose even the English gentleman, as you call him, can see butter without dying! Show him in at once."

"But in that apron, miss, and wid yer arms bare-like, an' widout yer purty blue bow; law, Miss Mona, have sinse, an' don't ye now."

"Show Mr. Rodney in here, Bridget," says Mona, unflinchingly, not looking at the distressed maid, or indeed at anything but the unobservant butter. And Bridget, with a sigh that strongly resembles the snort of a war-horse, ushers Mr. Rodney into the dairy.

"You?" says Mona, with extreme hauteur, and an unpleasant amount of well-feigned astonishment.

"Yes," replies he, slowly, as though regretful that he cannot deny his own identity.

"And what has brought you?"

"An overwhelming desire to see you again," returns this wise young man, in a tone that is absolutely abject.

Mona says nothing, she only turns her head completely away from him; as if to conceal something. Is it a smile? —he cannot tell.

At this Mr. Rodney moves a shade closer to her.

"What a very charming dairy," he says, mildly.

"Very uncomfortable for you, I fear, after your long ride," says Mona, coldly, but courteously. "Why don't you go into the parlor? I am sure you will find it pleasanter there."

"I am sure I should not," says Mr. Rodney.

"More comfortable, at least."

"I am quite comfortable, thank you."

"But you have nothing to sit on."

"Neither have you."

"Oh, I have my work to do; and, besides, I often prefer standing."

"So do I, often—very often," says Mr. Rodney, sadly still, but genially.

"Are you sure?"—with cold severity. "It is only two days ago, since you told me you loved nothing better than an easy chair. There is really no reason why you should remain here."

"There is—a reason not to be surpassed. And as to the parlor"—in a melancholy tone—"I could not be happy there, or anywhere, just at present. Unless, indeed,"—this is in a very low but carefully distinct tone—"it be here."

A pause. Mona mechanically but absently goes on with her work, avoiding all interchange of glances with her deceitful lover. The deceitful lover is plainly meditating a fresh attack. Presently he overturns an empty churn and seats himself on the top of it in a dejected fashion.

"I never saw the easy chair I could compare with this," he says, as though to himself, his voice full of truth.

This is just a little too much. Mona gives way. Standing well back from her butter, she lets her pretty, rounded, bare arms fall lightly before her to their full length, and as her fingers clasp each other she turns to Rodney and breaks into a peal of laughter sweet as music.

At this he would have drawn her into his arms, hoping her gayety may mean forgiveness and free absolution for all things said and done the day before; but she recoils from him.

"No, no," she says; "all is different now, you know, and you should never have come here again at all; but"—with charming inconsequence—"why did you go away last evening without bidding me good-night?"

"My heart was broken, and by you; that was why. How could you say the cruel things you did? To tell me it would be better for me to cut my throat than marry you! That was abominable of you, Mona, wasn't it now? And to make me believe you meant it all, too!" says this astute young man.

"I did mean that. Of course I cannot marry you," says Mona, but rather weakly. The night has left her in a somewhat wavering frame of mind.

"If you can say that again now, in cold blood, after so many hours of thought, you must indeed be heartless," says Rodney; "and"—standing up—"I may as well go."

He moves towards the door with "pride in his port, defiance in his eye," as Goldsmith would say.

"Well, well, wait for one moment," says Mona, showing the white feather at last, and holding out to him one slim little hand. He seizes it with avidity, and then, placing his arm around her waist with audacious boldness, gives her an honest kiss, which she returns with equal honesty.

To be Continued.

Don't use any more nauseous purgatives such as Pills, Salts, &c., when you can get in Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters, a medicine that moves the Bowels gently, cleansing all impurities from the system and rendering the blood pure and cool. Sold by all Druggists.

POKING FUN!

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprises largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8.75, this is an all wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3 75 and 4 pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys Suits really nice and lot of them $1.95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods. Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ⅓ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPARD'S, where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

SHEPPARD

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

POPULAR SYMPATHY.

For the Crown Prince—His Condition Said to Cause no Uneasiness.

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—The Crown Prince slept well last night. He takes food easily, and his general condition is satisfactory. Despatches from San Remo were awaited with the keenest interest to-day. There was a great popular demonstration of sympathy in front of the Imperial Palace, where crowds of people were assembled all day in spite of the heavy rain. The Emperor and Empress appeared at frequent intervals and bowed to the salutations of the people.

Minister von Boetticher announced in the Reichstag to-day that the condition of the Crown Prince did not cause any uneasiness.

It is reported that Dr. Schrooder has been summoned to San Remo to attend a consultation as to the advisability of performing a radical operation upon the Crown Prince.

The Crown Prince passed a good day and is cheerful.

ITALY'S NAVY.

The Armament at Naples Said to Have Assumed Extraordinary Proportions.

ROME, Feb. 10.—It is semi-officially denied that Italy is bound under her treaty with Austria to send troops to Bulgaria in support of Austria, in case the latter undertakes a campaign in the Balkans.

The Tribune announces that every vessel in the navy has been ordered to be in readiness for active service, and that the naval armaments at Naples have assumed extraordinary proportions in accordance with cipher instructions from the Government.

The Troops to be Withdrawn.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—A despatch from Rome to The Chronicle says the Government has virtually decided to withdraw from Egypt all Italian troops now there, except such as are absolutely necessary to hold the positions at Massowah and places in that vicinity.

Preparing for an Emergency.

PESTH, Feb. 10.—Prime Minister Von Tisza explained in Parliament yesterday that the Government had issued gold rentes because it was uncertain when events might compel an appeal to the home market with paper rentes.

The Anti-Socialist Bill in Committee.

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—The Reichstag Committee on the Anti-Socialist Bill to-day decided in favor of prolonging for two years the operations of the existing law on the subject and rejected the Government's proposals.

HONORING BRAVERY.

Presentation to Canadian Sailors Who Risked Their Lives For Others.

GODERICH, Feb. 12.—Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock there was a large gathering at the Town Hall to witness the presentation of medals to the captain and crew of the Goderich life boat from the American Government. On the morning of Dec. 9, 1885, it was discovered that the American schooner A. C. Maxwell of Cleveland, laden with iron ore and bound from Escanaba to Cleveland, was driven on the shoals a couple of miles south of Goderich, where she lay helpless, with the waves breaking over her. Captain Wm. Babb and the crew—Dan McIvor, Neil McIver, Malcolm McDonald, John McDonald, John McLean and Thomas Finn—started for the wreck, and after much difficulty succeeded in saving the entire crew. Captain Babb received a gold medal and each of the men a silver one. The American Consul delivered the address of presentation.

THE NEW SAULT MAIL ROUTE.

A Service Established to Go Into Operation March 5 Next.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Postoffice Department has established railway mail service on the Minneapolis, Sault Ste. Marie and Atlantic Railway from Bruce, Wis., to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., where it will connect with the Canadian Pacific Railway, thus making a new through line from Minneapolis, St. Paul and the northern peninsula of Michigan to the Atlantic seaboard. The new service will go into operation March 5 next.

Lake Connection for the Soo Line.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 12.—The Lehigh Valley line has made an alliance with the "Soo" road and will build two steel steamers to ply between Buffalo and Gladstone, Mich., the Soo road's lake port. These will carry coal westward and flour eastward.

TORONTO TOPICS.

A. T. Kerr, who at one time was a stock broker at Scott and Front-streets, was arrested on Saturday night on a charge of fraudulently obtaining from the Central Bank of Canada the sum of $450. Although his friends made strenuous efforts to have him released on bail, the request was refused by the magistrate.

There are suspicious circumstances connected with the death of the girl Annie Dogger, who was fatally burned at No. 30 Davies-avenue on Friday morning. An inquest was held on Saturday morning at the hospital, but owing to the absence of a material witness, in fact the only one who could tell whether there was foul play or not connected with the death of the unfortunate girl, it was adjourned till Tuesday evening.

The Central Bank Investigation.

TORONTO, Feb. 13.—On Saturday Liquidators Howland and Gooderham filed affidavits in answer to Mr. Campbell's allegations, denying these categorically. Simon Magnus Davis also recounted his transactions with Barnett, Baxter and Campbell, whilst Solicitor Henry O'Brien and Accountant Lye keep on extenuating and explaining.

Many shareholders think that the best solution of the matter would be to cut the Gordian knot and let the three Incompatibles resign. There would then be a fresh selection and the work proceed. In the meantime the law's delays are irksome and expensive and are not tending to anything like a pacific solution. The personal element in the controversy increases, whilst the commercial aspect of the concern is depreciated.

Cracksmen Arrested at Windsor.

DETROIT, Feb. 12.—About a week ago a safe was cracked in Bothwell and $200 in money and about $30 worth of stamps stolen. Yesterday two hard looking citizens canvassed the entire business part of Windsor in an effort to sell stamps at half price. They at last tried to sell the stamps to Postmaster Wigle, who had them arrested. They were searched and upon one of them was found $30 worth of stamps. They gave the names of Edward H. McAllister and Lister B. French.

Wolves Escape From Sanger's Circus.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—A pack of caged wolves escaped from Sanger's circus to-day. The elephants, camels, horses and other animals became mad with terror and were liberated with difficulty. The wolves were trapped in a stable where they furiously devoured a horse already slain. They still fiercely defy capture.

Balloons for the Italian Expedition.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—It has been ascertained that a man named Templer, employed in the balloon department at Chatham, sold secrets of the department to Italy and furnished plans of the English balloon to a Birmingham maker, who constructed similar ones for the Italian expedition. One has already been sent to Massowah.

Italy's Ministry Expected to Resign.

ROME, Feb. 12.—The Senate to-day rejected by a vote of 60 to 32 a bill empowering the Government to reorganize the central administration. Signor Crispi having announced that he would accept the passage of this bill as a vote of confidence, the Ministry is expected to resign.

Scati's Entrenchments.

MASSOWAH, Feb. 12.—The work of entrenching Scati will be finished by March 1, and an advance will then be made toward Fort Jangea. A quantity of cattle has been purchased from the natives. Rasalula has arrived at Asmara.

New York Bucket Shops Raided.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—A general raid was made yesterday on all the bucket shops in New-street, Broad-street and lower Broadway. The proprietors or men conducting the business were arrested.

MUSCOVITE AND TEUTON.

MILITARY ACTIVITY CONTINUES ON EVERY SIDE.

The Peace Illusion Produced by the Iron Chancellor's Speech Has Faded Away—Berlin Official Circles Believe War Imminent—The Czar Pacific But Powerless

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—The peace illusion with which Bismarck's speech invested the situation has passed away. It is beginning to be realized that there was nothing really peaceful in the speech beyond leaving the Czar the alternative of peace or war, while pointing out the road along which Russia can retire if the Czar feels himself safe in retreating.

St. Petersburg advices published in Saturday's National Zeitung assert that the Czar eulogizes within his own circle Prince Bismarck's remarks, but that Russian official opinion holds that the Chancellor's words and diplomacy are irreconcilable. The Austro-German league of peace continues to be in the eyes of the Czar's advisers an offensive alliance against Russia, requiring unabated preparations for the inevitable war, and an alliance to counterpoise the league. If the official press of Berlin were permitted to give frank utterance of its opinion on the situation it would be found to concur in Russia's convictions.

The North German Gazette goes into the subject at length. It says the conflict still exists and is undiminished in intensity, although Prince Bismarck's speech relieved the minds of the people from fear of an immediate conflict. This is only partially correct, for while the public are somewhat reassured regarding the imminence of war, official and diplomatic circles are not. The sincerity of the Czar's desire for peace is not doubted, but though his professions are not suspected it is known that influences around him, which he appears to be unable to resist, continue to work in the direction of war. The present Czar has even less control of affairs than his father had. He is now guided largely by the advice of M. Sinovieff, director of the Asiatic department of the Foreign Office. M. Sinovieff is a prominent Pan-Slavist and an old friend of the late M. Katkoff.

Subjected, through personal influences, to the war tendency of a majority of the Council of the Empire and to the anti-German policy of a majority of the ministry, it is impossible for the Czar to retrace his steps, which are leading to a collision with the allied powers. Nor do the Berlin and Vienna Governments expect him to do so, despite their ostentatious efforts toward conciliation.

A semi-official communication published in The Politische Correspondence of Vienna, briefly summing up and elucidating Prince Bismarck's speech, says he had neither a threatening nor an appeasing object. The appearance of the treaty and Prince Bismarck's comments thereon were intended for future historical reference. Should a breach of the peace eventually arise the entire burden, as well as the terrible responsibility, will fall exclusively upon Russia.

Military activity continues in full swing on every side.

LORD SALISBURY CRITICIZED.

A Frenchman's Opinion Regarding a Recent Utterance of the Premier.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—M. John Lemoinne, in an article in the Journal des Debats criticising the assertion made in the House of Lords by Lord Salisbury, the English Premier, that the only danger to British interests in Southeastern Europe might arise from some adventurous or illegal action on the part of Russia, asks if England is ready to wash her hands of the Bulgarian illegal revolution, which was a flagrant violation of the Berlin treaty. The article says, "Prince Bismarck has admitted that according to the spirit of the treaty Bulgaria is morally dependent upon Russia. England may protest, but what Lord Salisbury calls illegality would be simply a return to the legal status the Berlin Congress created. An agreement upon the question is as remote as ever. The agitation is smoldering in one corner of Europe and will one day rekindle the everlasting Eastern question, from which point of view Lord Salisbury's language is less reassuring than Prince Bismarck's."

Preparations for an Emergency.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The British War Office has issued an order directing that a statement be prepared at each military centre, detailing the facilities for summoning the reserves and strengthening the battalions from the depots within forty-eight hours in the event of the mobilization of the army becoming necessary.

The Silver Fete.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The Prince and Princess of Wales have declined all proposals for a public celebration in their honor on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, but give countenance to the "silver fete," which will take place in the Horticultural Gardens, Kensington, during the week following the anniversary, the proceeds of which are to be given to the Victoria Hospital for Children.

RATHER GLOOMY.

Prince Frederick William's Prospects of Recovery Are Not of the Best.

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—The condition of the Crown Prince absorbs national interest. The official bulletins give but scant information, and the doctors are universally reticent in response to private inquiries.

Authentic details of the operation disclose the fact that it was hurriedly decided to perform it under chloroform. The operation lasted twenty minutes. The last words the Crown Prince spoke were addressed to the doctors bidding them to share his courage. Since the operation he has written a few words, expressing his sense of relief and ease.

The discussion as to the real nature of the Crown Prince's ailment has been resumed. Dr. Bergman's visit to San Remo is expressly for the purpose of reporting to the Emperor the latest phase of the case. Meanwhile the German doctors who have been consulted since the first indications of the malady, continue to hold the opinion that the disease is cancer associated with perichondritis. The Crown Prince's life may be prolonged under favorable conditions for two or three years without the ablation of the larynx.

The Emperor and Prince William were intensely affected pending the result of the operation. Prince William did not sleep throughout Thursday night and proposed to instantly depart for San Remo, but Prince Bismarck opposed this step on the ground that it would add to the public excitement and sense of danger. Princess William, who is now near confinement, joined in the effort to induce Prince William to remain in Berlin.

An Encouraging Report.

SAN REMO, Feb. 12.—The Crown Prince arose this afternoon and sat up several hours. He is exceedingly well and lively.

A $50,000 Blaze at Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Feb. 12.—Fire broke out early this morning in the big three-story and basement frame boarding-house, Nos. 105 and 107 Clark-street. It was totally destroyed in about an hour's time. The boarders, most of whom had not time to dress, endeavored to escape with their goods, as best they might, out into the icy streets. Several were severely injured by jumping from the windows. The loss was $50,000.

MR. COHNFELD'S HORSES.

A Settlement Arrived at by the Minister of Customs.

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—The seizure made last month of some horses and several sets of gold and silver mounted harness, horse clothing, etc., from Mr. Isidore Cohnfeld of New York, at the port of Toronto, for undervaluation and false entry, was settled on Saturday by the Minister of Customs. According to the statement made the undervaluation amounted to something over $2000, but after the receipt of further evidence from the importer the Minister consented to submit the case to appraisement by experts. These were selected by the Collector of Customs at Toronto, and in the evidence presented by them there was apparently some error made in valuation, the amount adjudged being considered altogether too low by the department. The collector was therefore instructed to submit the case to two merchants engaged in the same business, and who handled goods similar to those seized and who were consequently, in the nature of things, more familiar with the value of such articles. The award submitted by the second appraisers was considered to have erred in the opposite extreme, and, after a careful estimation, the Minister decided to make a reduction upon the second appraisement, which would be about midway between the two. Under the decision then arrived at Mr. Cohnfeld will be called upon to pay a little over $500 as extra duty and fine, to which ruling he has consented.

Dominion Analyst Macfarlane is at present engaged in testing the various samples of coffee sold in Canada, with a view of determining the nature and extent of adulteration. The bulletin setting forth the result will shortly be issued.

Hon. R. W. Scott will, on Thursday next, present before Acting Deputy Minister of Justice Power the objections to the issue of proclamations ordering elections for the repeal of the Canada Temperance Act in the counties of Bruce and Huron.

Father Whelan, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, to-day delivered a sermon which promised to revive the stories about the alleged immorality existing here. There were in his parish, he said, four houses where young girls and women lose their honor, and dance houses on all the roads leading out of the city. The frequenters of these houses included Catholics and people who move in the highest circles of society.

SIR ADOLPH BANQUETED.

An Enthusiastic Gathering in the Ancient Capital—Sir John's Speech.

QUEBEC, Feb. 12.—The banquet in Music Hall tendered to Sir A. P. Caron Saturday night surpassed the most sanguine expectations of the promoters. Long before the time tickets were at a premium. There were 400 present, among whom were Sir John Macdonald, Hon. Messrs. Langevin, Costigan and White, five senators and ten M.P.s. The galleries were packed with ladies.

Sir Adolphe made a long speech in French and English, principally on local topics. He repeatedly referred to Sir Hector as his chief.

Sir John was received with the greatest enthusiasm and wild cheering. He thanked the audience for the tribute paid to his colleague, Sir Adolphe, whom he styled one of his boys. He then referred to the pleasure it gave him to be in Quebec where he had first met his faithful French Conservative friends and where the great Confederation was created. He made a touching reference to the late Sir G. E. Cartier, whose mantle fell most worthily, he said, upon the shoulders of Sir Hector Langevin. This announcement was greeted with great cheers. He spoke in the highest terms of Sir Hector's devotion, through good and vile report, to the Conservative cause and to his leaders.

He spoke at some length upon the Quebec bridge scheme and provincial matters, and then made a slashing attack upon the course taken by The Toronto Mail. He complained bitterly of the ingratitude of its proprietors. His remarks were cheered to the echo.

Sir John made a very witty after-dinner speech, but made no important reference or new disclosures concerning the fishery question or Commercial Union.

Speeches were also made by Sir Hector Langevin, Hon. Messrs. White, Costigan and others. Hon. Mr. Chapleau sent a letter of regret.

Sir John and the other ministers left for Ottawa this afternoon, and were given a grand send-off.

Voted to Go to Work.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Feb. 12.—Operations will be resumed at Kehley Run Colliery to-morrow full handed. A meeting of Kehley Run Assembly Knights of Labor was held this afternoon and the men voted to go to work.

OPIUM SMUGGLING.

Uncle Sam Defrauded at Frisco—A Large Quantity Seized in York State.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—The local papers publish a statement to the effect that the bark Halcyon was fitted out by parties in this city last spring, ostensibly for a sealing expedition in the Arctic waters, but in reality the vessel was intended for use in smuggling opium. It is claimed that the Halcyon obtained large quantities of opium, presumably from ports in British Columbia, and brought it down as far as Drake's Bay, where it was loaded on smaller vessels and taken to San Francisco under cover of night. It is claimed that several hundred thousand dollars' worth of opium was thus smuggled into this port.

Smuggled Opium Seized in New York.

WATERTOWN, N.Y., Feb. 12.—Near Philadelphia, this county, yesterday seventy-eight packages, containing 720 pounds of prepared opium of the highest quality, were found in the barn of E. Gardner, who was arrested at Redwood Tuesday night and from whom about 1200 pounds of opium was taken by customs officials at that time.

THE U. S. INTERSTATE BILL

A FOOL'S PROPOSAL AIMED AT CANADIAN RAILROADS.

The Discussion at Washington—Canada to be Forced into Annexation—Wait Till the West is Heard From—Result as Viewed by Canada.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—There was quite a discussion before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee yesterday affecting Canadian interests. Briefly, the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific do not come under the Interstate law; nevertheless, according to United States law goods may be sent from a point in the United States, across Canada in bond, for delivery at another point in the first-named country. Over fifty roads and companies are now bonded under the act of 1886 and allowed to take goods through Canada. The list includes the Grand Trunk, the Canadian Pacific, the Michigan Southern, Wells, Fargo & Co., Pennsylvania, New York Central, Erie, in fact, all the big transportation companies. A return from Secretary Fairchild shows that the revenue has been fully protected against frauds in this matter.

General J. H. Wilson appeared before the committee and advocated absolute prohibition of the shipping of American goods over Canadian roads. He alleged that the Canadians would not allow their goods to be bonded through the United States. [This is an error, as goods are often bonded between Ontario and Manitoba.] What the American roads complained of most was not the freight they lost to the Grand Trunk Railway and Canadian Pacific Railway, but that these latter did not come under the Interstate law. Wilson went on to show that his proposal would force Canadians into annexation—under his proposal they would soon be bankrupt.

Senator Hiscock asked if the proposed change would not result in raising the rates of freight to American shippers. Mr. Wilson thought not. So did Senator Reagan.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—In reference to the above The Tribune correspondent at Washington says that the committee are likely to report remedial provisions, as the expressions were unanimous in favor of putting a stop to the Canadian favoritism complained of.

The Sun goes further and raises a howl over the subject. It insists on the adoption of this clause:

"And nothing in this act shall be construed to allow any common carrier to receive any freight in the United States to be carried in sealed cars or in bond by railway through a foreign country to any other place in the United States free of duty; and all laws and regulations which have been construed to permit such practice are hereby repealed."

The Sun lays special stress on a statement that the Canadian Government refuses to allow Manitoba wheat to be bonded through the United States.

A DESPERATE GIRL.

Lizzie Close of Whitby Shoots Herself at a Detroit Hotel.

DETROIT, Feb. 12.—Lizzie Close is an attractive girl of 20 years, who recently came to this city from Whitby and found a place as waitress at the Cass-avenue Hotel. She performed her duties last evening as usual and afterward went out and remained unusually late, not returning until midnight. When she came in she went to her room where her bedfellow, Katie Carey, was already asleep. Just what her movements were can only be conjectured, as Miss Carey was awakened by the shot. When first observed the desperate young woman was lying on the floor, moaning in agony. The house was at once aroused and the unfortunate's injuries hastily enquired into. She had removed her hat, but retained her cloak, and seems to have made the rash attempt the moment she entered the room, being evidently in a desperate frame of mind from what had occurred during the time she was away. The revolver was a new thirty-eight caliber weapon and had been aimed directly at the heart.

Harper Hospital ambulance was called and the sufferer removed to that institution for treatment. Dr. McLean found that the ball had entered at the left nipple and, striking a rib, had swerved and passed round on the outside of the thorax. It could plainly be distinguished by the touch and was found to have lodged near the spine. The indications are that no serious results are to be apprehended. The cause of the rash attempt on the part of the girl is supposed to have been disappointment in a love affair.

IT WAS A LOCKOUT.

So Says John L. Lee, a Leading Railroad Strike Sympathizer.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The special committee of the House to investigate the Reading Railroad strike got to work shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. John L. Lee of Philadelphia, a sympathizer with the railroad strikers, was the first witness. Mr. Lee said that he did not consider that there was any strike on the Reading Road; it was a lockout. Five crews, he said, refused to move cars at Port Richmond, and General Superintendent Sweigart discharged them without giving them a hearing. There was an agreement that no man should be discharged except after a fair hearing. When the superintendent refused to reinstate the men, pending a hearing, a general going out followed.

Hugh McGarvey of the Lehigh region testified that he had been a miner nearly all his life, but for two or three years past had been engaged in other business. He said that the immediate cause of the strike in the Lehigh region was that the basis of prices was too low. Miners would hardly average $450 per annum as their earnings.

MAKE UP YOUR MINDS.

During the Provincial election campaign the Hon. Edward Blake spoke on behalf of his friend the Hon. Oliver Mowat in the Opera House here. Of course, Mr. Blake once said that the members of the Provincial Government should not interfere in Dominion elections, but he offered no objection when Mr. Mowat adjourned the Legislature in order that he and other members might assist Mr. Blake in the Dominion elections. It will be remembered that Mr. Mowat also gave an address in the Opera House, and that he there declared that the National Policy was not an issue. Mr. Blake had settled that at Malvern. But nothwithstanding the Malvern speech of the Dominion leader, and the statements of the Provincial Premier, on the platforms in the country the candidates and speakers continued to point out the "iniquities" of protection in general and the National Policy in particular. It was not an easy matter to talk to these gentlemen. If they were met in a town or where protection was favored, they pointed to Malvern and said they would not remove the protection; but where they thought free trade talk would be acceptable, they were opponents of the National Policy. There was one leading Liberal who, we believe, consistently opposed the National Policy, and that probably was why Sir Richard Cartwright was given appointments in villages and smaller towns, where his free trade or revenue tariff opinions were thought to be less likely to injure the party. Cold and wet, the valaint Sir Richard drove miles to attend meetings at smaller places, but passed silently through towns and cities. But the inconsistencies of the Liberal campaigners availed them not. The people understood them.

Now the Liberals are discussing what their policy should be. The Globe says free trade, but other Liberal papers deride the suggestion and even say unpleasant things of the suggestor. Conservative papers have commented on this family disagreement and the Globe says they are praising that portion of the Liberal press that wish to retain the "policy" of—well, of revenue tariff or Malvern protection, as suits the locality. That is where the Globe is wrong. A straight issue gives an opportunity for intelligent discussion and for ascertaining the views of the people. Tergiversation and trickery can be checkmated and overcome—witness the result of the last election—but really an encounter with straightforward opponents would be more satisfactory, and, besides—this is a consideration that influences us in asking the Liberal party to "make up its mind" as to a policy, but we fear it will also influence that party in opposition to the Globe's wishes—it would doubly insure Conservative success if the party came out squarely and boldly on a free trade platform. Whether the Liberal platform will be free trade, commercial annexation or something else, by all means let the party make up its mind as to what it will ask the people to adopt, or cease to treat the tariff as a political issue. If the present tariff policy of Canada is wrong, there must be a remedy, and it is the duty of those who think it wrong to name the remedy.

The lumbermen's association of Ontario has passed a resolution in favor of commercial union. We may now expect to hear the Caldwells, and Campbells, and Gilmours, and Boyds, and McLarens, and all the other lumber kings declared to be annexationists.—Brockville Recorder.

Don't expect too much, though, you might not be far astray if you gave Mr. Charlton, M.P., that name. But the meeting was held in private and the names of those present were not given. One lumberman, at any rate, whose name figured in the report of the meeting, and is also used by the Recorder, was not present.

The laborer, to whom champagne is a necessity of life, was taxed [illegible] per cent, while our railway [illegible] who reveled in coal oil, paid 66 per cent. for the luxury!—London Advertiser.

The discerning reader will perhaps detect intended sarcasm in the above paragraph. But a great many people in Canada pay no duty on coal oil, and those who do use the dutiable article pay the same tax as was collected under the Reform Government.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

ALBERT BEATS THE RECORD.

The End of the Walking Match—Teemer Wins Again—General Sporting Notes.

New York, Feb. 11.—Madison-square Garden was densely packed to-night to witness the close of the six-days' contest. Great crowds were at the doors clamoring for admittance, but unable to enter. Shortly before 3 o'clock Albert completed the last lap of the 510 miles which put him even with the record of Fitzgerald and entered upon a field absolutely his own. Albert's pleasure as he broke the record was somewhat marred by a brewing company serving him with an attachment for $125. The men who served the attachment tried to take him from the track a little before 9 o'clock, but were persuaded to let him remain finally. Albert stayed on the track until the expiration of the 142d hour, when he retired, leaving two laps of his 622d mile unfinished. Of the fifty-four men who started in the race a week ago only thirteen were in at the finish, and eight of these covered more than 525 miles. The winner finished the freshest man in the race. During the week he rested nineteen hours twenty-six minutes and fifty seconds, and his actual score in 141 hours was 621 miles and 1320 yards. The final score is as follows: Albert 621½, Herty 582, Guerrero 546, Hart 546, Golden 533, Moore 531, Strokel 526, Noremac 525, Dillon 510, Sullivan 383, Taylor 357, Tilly 320, Stout 207.

An estimate of the gate money to be received by the men who covered 525 miles and over is as follows: Albert $4800, Herty $3000, Guerrero $1000, Hart $900, Golden $720, Moore $480, Strokel $360, and Noremac $240. Total $11,500.

Another Victory for Teemer.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 12.—The 5-mile sculling race at Punta Garda Saturday for $600 was witnessed by another great crowd. The men were in excellent condition, but the water was rough. Teemer took the lead at the start and hel it throughout, McKay and Hamm holding well together. The second quarter was rowed against a strong wind. On the second turn Hamm's boat became waterlogged and he pulled to the shore and afterwards rowed over the course. Time: Teemer 41.46, McKay 41.50. Owing to rough water the distance was estimated at six miles.

The Scott Act's Moral Influence.

Kingston, Feb. 12.—An English Church minister, Rev. Mr. Young of Renfrew, says that both what he had witnessed and heard had caused him to come to the conclusion that the Scott Act, as it is now enforced, does not exert a good moral influence. He believes that a worse state of things could not exist. Speaking of the quantity of the liquor consumed in the village, he said that about 10,000 gallons less was taken out of bond than formerly, but there is 20,000 gallons more received by freight and express.

TORONTO MARKETS.

Toronto, Feb. 11.

Grain and Produce.

The grain and produce markets to-day both at home and abroad were somewhat firmer all round, though there was little activity.

On call at the Board of Trade to-day: No. 1 red winter was offered at 97c the year and 93c cash bid, No. 1 Manitoba hard offered at 91c, with 89c bid.

The car lots received at Chicago to-day were: Wheat 445, corn 146 and oats 79.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago Stock Yards to-day is: Estimated receipts 12,000, official yesterday 21,473, shipments 8474, left over 6000. Cattle receipts 2000. Market steady. The receipts of hogs for the week were 98,646, shipments 5458. Packing to date 1,583,000, last year 1,532,000.

LOCAL STREET MARKET.

Activity prevailed in almost every line of trade in produce and stock on the local market this morning, but prices varied very little. The grain transactions were: 300 bushels wheat at 80c to 82c for fall, 1 cent lower than the highes yesterday; 76c to 81c for spring, and 72c to 73c for goose. Barley was easier; 2500 bushels were sold at 73c to 78½c, being a drop of 2 cents on yesterday's prices. One hundred bushels of oats were sold at 40c to 40c.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The retail market to-day was fairly active at steady prices.

LIVERPOOL MARKET.

Liverpool reports to-day: Wheat quiet and steady, poor demand, holders offer moderately, corn quiet, poor demand. Prices: Spring wheat 6s 6d to 6s 7d; red winter 6s 6d to 6s 8d; No. 1 Cal. 6s 6d to 6s 8d; corn 4s 10d; peas 5s 5d; pork 67s 6d; lard 39s 9d; bacon 38s 9d; cheese 58s 6d.

OSWEGO BARLEY MARKET.

Oswego reports barley to-day quiet and unchanged at the following prices: No. 2ex. Can. 93, No. 1 Can. 96, No. 1 Bright 99.

The London Markets.

London, Feb. 12.—Discount was easy during the past week at 1½ to 1¾. Business on the Stock Exchange was extremely inactive. Foreign securities soon lost the advance resulting from Prince Bismarck's speech. In American railroad securities business continued to be limited, but toward the end of the week there were symptoms of an upward reaction.

The Czar's Commission.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 12.—The Czar has ordered the formation of a commission for the remodeling of the laws respecting the Imperial family, so as to authorize the morganatic marriages of the younger members of the family under certain conditions.

Attempted Outrage Near Oshawa.

Oshawa, Feb. 12.—Another attempt at criminal assault was made north of the town a couple of nights ago. A young woman while returning home from town was seized by a brute, who was frightened away by a cutter which came along.

The Freight War.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—The rate war was continued yesterday. The general managers and other prominent officials are unanimously of opinion that the war will not be settled within three months.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

REALM OF THE DIME.

THE BOWERY AS SEEN DURING AN AFTERNOON STROLL.

What You Can Buy for Ten Cents—Getting Over a Spree—Flotsam and Jetsam of the Human Tide—Peeps at the Shows.

The Bowery is the realm of the dime. For a dime, having first made your will, you can get one of Fred's dinners, consisting of soup, meat, potatoes, vegetables and coffee. You can get, after buying an accident policy, two unclean shaves for ten cents or one shave with bay rum and a clean towel. You can buy a lot of chestnuts, fresh roasted at the stands or old and mossgrown in the gaudy temples of Momus. You can buy shoestrings, suspenders or a handkerchief from Samuels of Posen of all ages, colors and previous conditions of servitude. You can get a milk punch with an egg in it, provided you do not exact cow's milk and hen's eggs in your purchase. You will be foolish if you exact them. To enjoy the Bowery you must take it as it is, believe in all its shams, accept its mermaid, give credence to its living statue, gaze in wonder at its lobster man and in awe at its fat ladies. There is no particular fun to be found in looking behind the cards in any walk in life, and this is truer of the Bowery than of most other places.

Your first dime will go to a young man who approaches you shivering. His hat is wrecked and stained, his shirt very dirty and his clothing is in rags. He has just got over an incipient attack of "the shakes," their dismal horrors having made more hideous the gutter in which he reposed while the elevated trains thundered over his head through the long hours of the night. His face is red and his nose shines. "I say, mister," he will say, "give me a dime to get somethin' to eat with, will yer? I'm an educated man. Just gettin' over a spree. I believe in being laconic. Brevity is the soul of wit. What do you think about it?" he nervously rattles off.

"Do you want a drink?"

"Yes."

You give him the dime. He goes for his drink. The white angel of philanthropy, hovering over the Young Men's Christian association opposite, frowns at this encouragement of vice. Nevertheless, you feel that the Recording Angel will look at the matter differently.

A "chippie" stares at him in scorn as he reels away. The Bowery is the roosting place and feeding ground of the little "chippies." They are a prominent part of the flotsam and jetsam in the human tide that ebbs and flows constantly in this great canal in the center of a great city. They are not necessarily disreputable, though they would like to be successfully so. They skip along the pavements in their sailor hats—fashionable sailor hats, for they live in a country in which high and low, rich and poor, and all the other tritenesses that describe the social extremes, dress according to the same set fashions. The "chippie's" complexion is dull. Her veins are full of the beer that she drank over night in some smoke filled saloon with sawdust on the floor. The "chippie" knows little happiness. Her brown niggerhead sacque is in a perpetual state of age, and the pockets are giving way from the constant weight of her hands.

The fat lady gets your second dime. She is in a museum whose outside is ablaze with paint—red, blue and yellow. On its front are blazoned monstrosities of all kinds—human and animal. As you enter the door a British museum of scents and a Cesnola collection of smells come trooping at you with the profusion of cherubs in a Vatican fresco. The bouquet of the balmy raccoon, and the essence of the confiding little monkey mingle democratically with the cheap cologne of the Circassian person, and the odor of newly dispensed paint. The fat lady is at her post, or rather on her four posts. She is a handsome fat lady. She has brown eyes, a small mouth and pretty teeth. She has square yards of arm and billows of bust. There are feathers in her hair and a circus tent of brown silk dress about her sylphide figure. She confesses to 19 summers, though you inwardly doubt that the most industrious vitality could have reared this structure in twice the time. She is from Ohio, she says, and that explains it. She is unmarried. There were twenty-eight fat ladies in the show when she got her medal, she continues, and of them all only three are unmarried.

She chats familiarly with the Circassian lady in a red dress and frizzled hair, recently from the Ural mountains of Pennsylvania. Most of the Circassian ladies come from Pennsylvania. At other times she calls on the tattooed girl across the way, who is rather a pitiful sight. She was a pretty little girl before they jabbed needles in her white skin and marked her indelibly on legs and arms with blurred and uncouth drawings in red and blue. She has nice eyes and a modest manner. She must have been fair to look at before they made her a perpetual monstrosity. She has a pretty neck, with the symmetrical curve of young womanhood, but the neck now wears a necklace of hideous blue leaves that no autumn ever will alter and only one winter—the enduring one—ever move. It cost $150, she says. Her father made her do it. Did it hurt? Yes. It hurt a good deal, and she was sick for two weeks once while it was going on. She takes no pride in it. She endures it, perhaps, to buy her father's gin.

Galatea gets your next dime. She comes to life in another museum. The showman darkens the hall, goes to a small platform with a black screen above it. In the center of the screen is a square hole, and into this you gaze while he says:

"You've all heard, ladies and genelm'n, of the story of Pygmalion and the Galatea. Pygmalion was an artist, or a sculptur, rather, an' him bein' pretty eccentric couldn't find no woman what he wanted for to marry, so he up an' chisels a bust, an' the bust was the Galatea. This here is the bust, genelm'n."

A white light shines in the box and a white bust appears. It is painted life size, in white, on a slide of black, and looks quite statuesque. While you stare at its chalky features and closed eyes the showman continues:

"Pygmalion got stuck on the bust an' set all day a lookin' at it till he got a little loose in the upper story an' prayed to the gods to change the Galatea into a woman. The Galatea will now change into a woman, genelm'n. Watch the color come in her cheeks and the winkin' of her eyes. There's no flies on them eyes, genelm'n. Yer can see for yourselves."

The white bust fades into a woman's head and neck, round and loving. She reddens cosmetically, and opens and shuts a pair of startling black eyes very naturally. She does ten cents' worth of mailing as he goes on:

"Pygmalion wanted for to marry the Galatea, but she wouldn't have it. She was a high roller and he was only a poor artist. She wanted some feller that would put up silks and diamonds for her, and consequently she changed back into marble again once more."

She truly does so. The chalky bust is once more in the box and the "Galatea" is pulling on a waterproof behind the scenes, while Pygmalion, in a brown mustache and a cigar, waits to take his winking and blushing "Galatea" to dinner.—New York Times.

She Missed It.

They met; he proposed; but she scouted the thought;
With passionate ardor his words they were fraught;
She guessed that again he would fall on his knee
And madly implore her to smile on his plea—
But he was too fly. —Tid-Bits.

I have a quantity of Superior HONEY, last season's produce. It ought to sell well for it is a splendid article.

Pure, delicious, well put up and moderate in price. Sold either in the comb or extracted.

Here are the prices:—

White comb honey — — 20c per lb
Dark comb honey — — 15c per lb
Extracted honey — — 12½c per lb.

Put up in packages, different sizes, and at 12½c., 15c., 20c., and 25c.

Housekeepers will find on trial that this honey is an excellent substitute for preserves and jellies and one cheerfully welcomed.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

At the Rink.

Skaters, attention. Band at the rink every Friday night. d151—tf.

Piano Tuning.

Mr. Geo. Gumpricht is in town. Orders may be left at Mr. T. Menzies or Messrs Taylor & McDonald's store.

Smoke Rubidge's Derby Cigarettes.

Plans.

The Town clerk has procured for the use of the public and the assessors, copies of all registered plans. They are very handy and will be frequently used.

New Arrivals.

Teas, Sugars, Syrups and Fruits at the Palace Grocery. Elliott & Tierney's coffee is the best, fresh ground by water power while you wita.

Journalistic.

The Lindsay Warder has added a new steel boiler from Evans & Redpath's works, Omemee, to its plant, by which it is enabed to print the paper more rapidly. The Warder is evidently prospering.

At the Rockies.

The carpenters who left Peterborough recently to work on the Canadian Pacific arrived at Canmore, their destination, on February 6th, none the worse for their trip. There was no snow in the valley, except in patches, nor had they seen any on the other side of Calgary. The weather was mild.

Personal.

The Millbrook Reporter says:—"Miss Annie Howden has again honored Millbrook this time by carrying off the scholarship at the Toronto Conservatory of Music. Fourteen competitors entered. The scholarship means one year's gratuitous vocal instruction from Signor d'Auria. Miss Howden's many friends, both in Millbrook and elsewhere, naturally feel much elated over her success."

The Central Bank.

It is now authoritatively announced that the shareholders of the unfortunate Central Bank will be liable for double the amount of the par value of their shares. Mrs. (Jas) Stevenson is the only shareholder residing in Peterborough and her stock amounts to $1,000. Messrs Currie & Sons and W. H. Currie, of Omemee, are holders of $500 each of stock. Several Port Perry people are also nipped, but residents of Toronto and Guelph appear to be the worst sufferers.

Derby Cigarettes 5c. Package.

A Neat Trotting Sleigh.

The neatest thing in the line of trotting sleighs ever seen in Lindsay or perhaps elsewhere, says the Post, is just receiving the finishing touches in the painting room of Hamilton's factory. The weight of the sleigh complete is 36 lbs., whilst that of the ordinary one is about 60 lbs. The extra lightness is obtained principally by substituting thin steel braces and stays for the iron usually employed, thus retaining strength at the same time dispensing with superfluous weight. The owner of the beauty is Mr. F. J. Daly, of Peterborough the proud possessor of the pacer Billy W.

Protestant Home Concert.

The following is the programme of the concert in aid of Protestant Home to be given on Monday, 13th Feb. at St. John's Church School room.

Queen's College Endowment.

A telegram from Kingston says that Mrs. R. Nicholls, of Peterborough, has forwarded to that city $1,500 cash towards Queen's Jubilee endowment fund.

The Judges.

The following ladies and gentlemen have consented to act as judges at the carnival to-morrow evening: Mrs. Hon. R. Hamilton, Mrs. Sherwood, Hon. Robert Hamilton and Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers.

Band Officers.

The officers of the Fire Brigade Band for 1888 have all been re-elected as follows:—

PRESIDENT—E. McCabe.
SECRETARY—W. Beatty.
TREASURER—Jos. Chitowe.

Pushing it.

On Saturday, at Toronto, a rule nisi was granted in the case of Cochrane v. Ambrose, to quash a conviction under the Canada Temperance Act. The case will probably be argued in a short time. Mr. R. E. Wood, County Attorney, will have charge of the case for the respondent.

Cigarettes de Athlete du Rubidge.

Those who saw the crowd at Kidd's Boot & Shoe store on Saturday must have thought he was selling below cost, but he wasn't. Same price all the time! Same price to every one.

Blank Books.

Business men are asked to bear in mind that the REVIEW bindery is turning out the very best description of work in all lines of account books and ledgers. All orders finished up with despatch. Customers can select their own papers from a large and well assorted stock, and have any specia printing desired. d108ed

One Day More.

The second grand carnival of the season will take place at the Lansdowne rink to-morrow evening and it is expected to eclipse in every respect any similar affair ever held here. Everything is ready and the largest turnout of maskers and the best dresses yet seen may be looked for. A long programme of events, including an exhibition drill by the members of the Canton and a characteristic curling match, will be carried out. It takes place to-morrow evening.

Promoted.

Port Hope Guide.—"The genial and gentlemanly agent of the Grand Trunk Railway here, Mr. H. V. Fairbairn, has, we are pleased to learn, been promoted to Point Edward station, one of the most important stations on the road. 'He will fill the bill' every time. While we rejoice on Mr. Fairbairn's behalf, we, with all the business men in town, regret that we are losing him, and nope that his successor may be as good a man. Mr. Fairbairn leaves for his new home on Saturday evening, or at the latest, Monday morning. Mr. Thos. Bell and Mr. Colvin are left in temporary charge of the business here."

A Smash.

On Saturday evening as a freight train on the C.P.R., was nearing the place known as Baxter's, a couple of miles east of Peterborough, a coupling pin broke and half a dozen empty cars were left standing on the track. The engineer, as soon as he discovered the accident, stopped his train and commenced to back up to take the runaways. There was evidently too much steam on and a pitch in resulted. One flat car was knocked clean through a box car and made into kindling wood. Several other cars were also damaged and the locomotive had to be sent to Toronto for repairs. A brakeman who was standing on the forward part of the train was tossed in the air and lit in a snow bank without sustaining any injury. The track was cleared on Sunday and the wrecked cars brought to the depot here.

Local Legal.

At Osgoode Hall, Toronto, on Saturday, judgment was given in the case of Cox v. Cavanagh. This was an action regarding the Cavanagh hotel property. Plaintiff brought an action of ejectment against the defendant. At the trial in Peterborough the jury found a verdict for defendant. The plaintiff then moved to set aside the verdict. The chief questions at issue were as to the existence of an agreement for a lease of ten years to defendant, and as to the validity of such agreement, it being a verbal one and not having been performed by either party, except by the payment of an increased rental, the defendant having been in previous occupation. Judgment was given in favor of defendant on both questions and the verdict for defendant sustained. Moss, Q. C., and D. W. Dumble, Peterborough, for plaintiff, for motion; G. H. Watson, Toronto, and W. H. Moore, Peterborough, for defendant, contra.

An Interesting Document.

We were shown on Saturday a piece of parchment, stained and worn by time and handling, reading as follows:—

£333 6s. 8d. YORK, 8th October, 1828.

Received from Messrs. Hall and Lee of New York, eight hundred and thirty-three pounds, six shillings and eight pence currency, being the first instalment of the purchase money for the Government mill at Peterborough, sold to them the 10th day of September last for two thousand five hundred pounds currency.

P. ROBINSON.

York of course is now Toronto. The property referred to is now owned by the Dickson Company, and for many years one of the grist mills was known as Hall's mill and was a few years ago destroyed by fire. Mr. John Hall was the father of Mr. John J. Hall. He died at Hall's Bridge in 1883. P. Robinson was the founder of our town, after whom it was named, and uncle of Ex-Lieutenant-Governor Robinson, of Ontario.

THE MARKET BY-LAW.

The Police Magistrate Decides That Wood Must Pay Toll.

The test case of Doharty v. Edmison, regarding the validity of the Market By-law, was disposed of this morning at the court by Police Magistrate Dumble.

The point at issue was as to whether or not the market clerk could collect a toll of five cents on each load of wood offered for sale on the square. Mr. E. B. Edwards for the prosecution and Mr. W. A. Stratton for the defendant argued the case at considerable length. Mr. Stratton contended that under the statute, the by-law was invalid and that no toll could be collected on wood as it is not an agricultural product or agricultural produce. Mr. Edwards argued that the by-law as it stands is perfectly lawful under the statute of 1882.

The Magistrate in giving judgment said that the by-law provided that articles might be sold anywhere in the town other than on the market without the payment of tolls, but if farmers took their produce to the market, where facilities were provided for disposing of goods, where a large number of sellers congregated, and where police protection was provided, it was but fair that they should pay the tolls provided by law. The market square he regarded as a great convenience for both vendor and purchaser. It is in fact a large, open, out door shop. The by-law does not require wood to be measured unless either the buyer or the seller demands that it be done. The toll of five cents is not for measuring, but for using the square. In this case no person had demanded that the wood be measured, but the Market Clerk had done it of his own accord. He held that wood is an agricultural product and found that the by-law was perfectly valid. At the request of Mr. Edwards, a nominal fine of $1 and costs was imposed.

THE UPRIGHT MAN.

Described by the Rev. Prof. Wallace—Methodist Quarterly Services.

The quarterly services of the George-st. Methodist Church were held on Sunday. The love feast was held at 9.30 o'clock in the morning. At 11 o'clock the Rev. Prof. Wallace, of Victoria University, conducted the public service. His sermon was based on the fifteenth Psalm. It was refreshing, he said, to turn to the strong morality of the Psalms. They praised virtue and their denunciations of sin were scathing. They were an antidote to the sickly sentimentalism that sang sweet songs and forgot to be honest or just. There was too much hope without purity and faith without works. There was no Christian life without the Christian virtues. The spirit of the question in the first verse withered all self-righteousness. Only that man who had a living faith in God, which permeated his whole being, was acceptable. What were the elements of a Christian character? Uprightness was one. An upright man was straightforward in his intentions and purposes, had fixed principles and feared only God. Righteousness was the very thing he worked at; he aimed always to do God's will. The inward sympathy of his personality was with truth and righteousness, and he spoke the truth because he loved the truth. He would not injure his neighbor nor try to create a false impression regarding his neighbor. The true Christian was free from slander, recrimination and the imputing of wrong motives to others. He would not listen to backbiting, much less circulate slander. While they might admire a man who succeeded, they should not worship success. Success was not always honorably attained. Sometimes they saw a serpent on a high rock aswell as the eagle, the former having reached the eminence by crawling, twisting and wriggling. An upright man would always apply the test of morality. His word is reliable, and though he might be anxious to succeed and to make money, he would be more anxious to do right. "He that puteth not out his own money to usury." This meant interest, which was forbidden to the Jews by their civil law on account of their circumstances. There was nothing in the law of Christ against taking reasonable interest, but there was against usury. It was as reasonable to pay for the use of money as for the assistance of another's brains or labor, but it was wrong to take exhorbitant interest. The upright man would not allow himself to be defiled with a bribe. Thank God! they had a judiciary that was almost without exception above taking a bribe, and they should pray that they would soon have an electorate, the judges of the administration, above being bribed. "God give us a race of Christian politicians," said the preacher, "and voters who will loathe such abominable sin." The character of the man who lived uprightly was based upon immovable principles and could not change. Institutions might go down with a crash, but he had built on Christ and could not be moved. He would not practice policy or cunning; he would be true, trust in God and do the right.

At the evening service Prof. Wallace again occupied the pulpit and preached an able sermon, taking his text from Malichi iii-16. Afterwards a reception service was held, conducted by the Rev. Prof. Wallace and the Rev. S. J. Thompson, when thirty-seven new members were received. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was then administered.

REVIEWS.

NORTH'S MUSICAL JOURNAL for 1888 gives every promise of a vast improvement over previous years if the early numbers is any criterion. Eight more pages of literature have been permanently added, thus making it the largest and most complete musical publication in existence. Its neat typographical appearance certainly does the publishers and printers much credit, while its table of contents is of such a varied and interesting character as to be highly appreciated by every musical person, and we are all musical to a certain degree. The musical numbers in each month are very brilliant and are alone worth more than a year's subscription. The literary matter includes Foreign and Domestic Musical News; Editorial Comment and Local Musical News and many others interesting features. Subscription only $1.00 a year. Specimen copy, 10 cents. ## BANQUETTED.

Dr. J. Earle Jenner Honored at Picton Before Coming to Peterborough.

The Picton Times says:—"Dr. J. Earle Jenner was tendered a banquet at the Globe Temperance Hotel on Monday evening, on the occasion of his departure for Peterborough for the practice of his profession. Mr. John H. Allan occupied the chair. The supper was elegantly served and the company enjoyed themselves even more than usual on such festive occasions. A peculiarly happy and witty frame of mind seemed to have struck the various speakers. The usual toasts were made and responded to. An address was read by Mr. Edmund Roblin and a beautiful clock was presented to the guest of the evening. Dr. Jenner responded feelingly at some length and thanked his friends in well chosen terms. The following is the address:—

To John Earle Jenner, Esq., M. D.

DEAR SIR:—Your friends in Picton, on the eve of your departure from their midst, salute you with heartiest wishes for a long and useful career. It cannot but be gratifying to know that you have succeeded in establishing many friendships among us in the brief period of three years which three score shall not obliterate. To discuss at length or even to enumerate the kind offices and worthy deeds which leave us so much your debtors, would be needless for us as it would be abhorrent to yourself. As a physician, as an official, as a citizen, as a man, we have marked in you a steady purpose and a consistent attachment to duty, qualities which must in the future sphere of your labors compel the approval which they have earned in this. In doing you this scant justice we know at least that we are setting up for you credentials which we shall not be compelled to retract in the least particular. A broad recommendation to all with whom your future brings you into contact and the thought that so many eyes will watch with keen interest the unfolding of that future may serve to antagonize the trivial disappointments which will crop up in the path of fortune's best favorites.

We leave to you to read in the faces of all present the sincere regret we feel at your departure. Believing as we do that qualities such as yours will shine out the brighter while illumining a larger field it would be selfish in us to throw our regrets into bold relief; but we assure you that the proceedings of this evening have been instituted as much to convey to you our sense of loss as to encourage you with the prophecy of our hearty good wishes.

We very much deplore the fact that Mrs. Jenner's stay has been so brief with us, and that we should be robbed of her society at the very moment we have learned to appreciate its value. Since she is ex officio the better half we trust fortune may lavish upon her the large half of all we have wished for yourself, and that you may both think kindly of the place where began for you a happy wedded life.

As a memorial of the friendship you have won and of the freight of golden opinions you bear from us, we beg your acceptance of this little gift and we offer no apology for its very modest intrinsic worth, knowing that you will think of it only as the vehicle of our sincerest regards for Mrs. Jenner and yourself. Signed on behalf of your friends by

J. H. ALLAN, Chairman.

Brevities.

—Port Hope holds another carnival on the 22nd of February.

—Social assemblies are all the rage. There are two this evening.

—A regular meeting of the Town Council will take place this evening.

—The livery stables must have done a rushing business on Sunday.

—One tramp occupied quarters at the Police Station on Sunday night.

—Several important matters will come before the Town Council to-night.

—Several loads of extra fine oats were sold on the market to-day at 44 cents.

—The second carnival of the season takes place at the Lansdowne Rink to-morrow night.

—It is said that an appeal will be taken against the decision in the wood measuring case.

—The weatherwise predict that the long delayed "January" thaw has reached town at last.

—The Young People's Association of the George-st. Church give a free entertainment this evening.

—The members of the Y. M. C. A. snowshoe club will have their regular weekly tramp this evening.

—Messrs. Stabler & Donnel are furnishing the fittings for Mr. Hackett's shop. They are something extra.

—A number of horses were shipped to Montreal, on Saturday evening, from Cavanagh's repository.

—A couple of pet deer owned by Mr. T. G. Hazlitt are great objects of interest to the children in that locality.

—Kingston sports will hold an ice trotting meeting on the 21st and 22nd of February. Liberal purses are offered.

—A row that took place at the rink the other evening is likely to be ventilated at the Police Court at an early day.

—The annual meeting of the West Riding Agricultural Society will take place at the old Music Hall, on Saturday afternoon next.

—Quite a large number of prominent farmers were at the Police Court this morning to hear the judgment in the market by-law case.

—Market Clerk Doharty is the best pleased man in town. This is the first time that he has had any trouble since he secured the market.

—On Sunday, Feb. 26th, the Rev. Dr. McDonald and the Rev. Mr. Hiwairi, of Japan, will preach missionary sermons in the George-st. Church.

—Head master Long, of the Collegiate Institute, is much pleased with the military drill at the schools and he finds that the boys are much benefitted by it.

—Remember you must hand in your card with name and character assumed to the doorkeeper, at the carnival to-morrow night, if you desire to figure it the papers.

ELMFIELD.

AN OLD BRIDGE.—It may not be known to some of the residents of Emily that before the present floating bridge was built over Pigeon lake, the settlers of the eastern part of the township had already a means of crossing to the Peterborough side. Though rude in construction it yet afforded the means of a more direct route to Peterborough than by the present bridge. On the flooding of the marsh by the building of the Buckhorn dam this rustic structure was swept away. When valuators from the government came to reimburse settlers for their loss by the drowned lands the loss of the bridge was overlooked, although it was said that a new one would have been constructed by the order of the valuators had it been pressed on their notice. And thus an old landmark has passed into oblivion and only affords a connecting link for the stories of the "oldest inhabitants."

CORRESPONDENCE.

While correspondents will be allowed space to discuss questions of public interest, the Review does not hold itself responsible for the opinions expressed.

The Fire Brigade.

The Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—The Times this morning in a local makes a charge against the members of the fire brigade of bulldozing the Council into increasing their pay. This charge I wish to deny. We have asked the Council most respectfully, to pay us what in our opinion would be a just remuneration for services rendered, making no threats, as alleged by the Times. It is, I believe, the intention of the brigade to resign if their request be not granted. But I think the Council, from the past record of the brigade, should not give credit to a rumor, that they would do anything so detrimental to the interests of the town as to resign peremptorily. Such is not our intention, but to give the Council ample time to replace us if they think it is in the interests of the town to do so. This I do not think comes under the head of bulldozing.

Yours, &c.,
FIREMAN.

Peterborough, Feb. 13th, 1888.

MINDEN.

CHEESE.—Minden is to have a cheese factory. Messrs. M. Brown and James Mortimer visited Victoria county this week to arrange for the establishment of the factory. The matter is in good hands and with Messrs. Brown and Mortimer attending to it the best that can be done will be done.

WHAT THEY WEAR.

Military effects are noticeable in the season's millinery.

Colors are extensively used in the decoration of black toilets.

Glove stretchers of oxidised silver are worn as a pendant to the chatelaine.

Pretty demi-trained toilets for young ladies are of white wool braided with silver.

Venetian green and terra cotta are combined in some of the newest tailor gowns.

Charming evening toilets have lace skirts, with moire bodices with sashes to match.

White and gold and pale blue and silver are favorite combinations for evening bonnets.

Young ladies trim their black silk gowns very effectively with silver and cut jet gimps.

Bonnets of dark green velvet are spangled with jet and trimmed with black moire ribbon.

Dainty home toilets are almost invariably made with a belted corsage of some description.

Pale and deep tan plush skirts are worn with winter dresses of various colors and fabrics.

Ocean gray and old silver are neutral colors which are much admired for cloth tailor made gowns.

A new gold horseshoe brooch is formed by several smaller horseshoes, set with rubies or other stones.

Laces, silk and passementeries and jet galloon are the favorite garnitures for black faille dresses.

Cashmere bonnets, with pinked edges and caps sewn inside, are in vogue for babies and little girls.

Beige, tan, bronze, golden brown and all the tawny yellow shades are very fashionable the present season.

New cloth bonnets matching cloth dresses are covered with passementerie like that used to trim the dress.

Theatre bonnets of cashmere, with pinked edges and full gathered fronts, are pretty and generally becoming.

Bridesmaids who follow the newest fashion carry walking sticks of ebony and silver, to which bouquets are attached.

A Paris correspondent writes that fur trims everything in spite of all imitations. The real article is always so expensive and so different that the fashion grows and thrives.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

William F. Bowker, Erie, Pa., was cured of nervousness and sleeplessness by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for about two months, during which time his weight increased over twenty pounds.

GAGGED BY MASKED MEN.

THE EXPERIENCE OF WATCHMAN PURVIS ON SATURDAY NIGHT.

Three Men Enter Polson's Iron Works and Make an Unsuccessful Attempt to Blow Open the Safe—Bound and Gagged for Six Hours.

TORONTO, Feb. 13.

James Purvis, 147 Centre-street, is the night watchman in Polson's Iron Works on the Esplanade, foot of Sherbourne-street. At 10.25 o'clock Saturday night whilst making his rounds he was approached from behind by three masked men, knocked down, gagged and securely bound. Then the masked men went to work in what proved to be an unsuccessful attempt to blow open the safe in the office. Powder was several times placed in the hole drilled by the thieves and ignited, but without effecting their object. After working for two hours the thieves gave up the job in disgust. Before leaving the premises they carried Purvis, who was still gagged and bound, into the office and placed him near the stove, covered him with a coat and left him, with the remark that they did not want him to suffer from the cold.

After the departure of the thieves Purvis began to endeavor to extricate himself and succeeded in doing so at 1.30 o'clock. He turned in an alarm to the Police Protective Association's office, but it was not answered till 4.45, when a diminutive office boy appeared upon the scene. The boy was sent by the watchman for Mr. William Polson, who made an examination of the office and found that nothing of value had been taken.

The police were notified of the occurrence at 8 o'clock yesterday, and at 10 o'clock last night Detectives Burrows and Davis arrested Thomas Burns, who lives in Walker's-lane, and is employed in the foundry, and George Wilson, alias Anderson, alias Melrick, of 99 Sherbourne-street, for the offence. Wilson is an old jail bird. He, with "Squib" Mitchell, Jacobs and others escaped from the jail in 1881. He was recently sentenced to 30 days for this and for his connection with the gang who attempted to burglarize Simpson's store on Yonge-street. In December, 1886, he was convicted of receiving stolen goods in Stratford and got a year.

Mr. Polson and Nightwatchman Purvis seem to think that the men in charge of the Police Protective Association's office are blameable for the manner in which they acted under the circumstances. Purvis turned in his last alarm at 10.15, and when he failed to turn in the next at 11.15 it was the duty of the office to have inquired into the matter, but it was not till after 4 o'clock, as stated, and long after the watchman rang a double alarm, that a boy was sent to the foundry.

The United States Education Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Education Bill still remains the unfinished business of the Senate, but there is a unanimous understanding that it shall be disposed of next Wednesday.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Now let us talk no more nonsense," says Rodney, tenderly. "We belong to each other, and always shall, and that is the solution of the whole matter."

"Is it?" she says a little wistfully. "You think so now, but if afterwards you should know regret, or——"

"Oh, if—if—if!" interrupts he. "Is it that you are afraid for yourself. Remember there is 'beggary in the love that can be reckoned.'"

"That is true," says Mona; "but it does not apply to me; and it is for you only I fear. Let me say just this; I have thought it all over; there were many hours in which to think, because I could not sleep——"

"Neither could I," puts in Geoffrey. "But it was hard on you, my darling."

"And this is what I would say; in one year from this I will marry you, if"—with a faint tremble in her tone—"you then still care to marry me. But not before."

"A year! An eternity!"

"No; only twelve months,"—hastily; "say no more now; my mind is quite made up."

"Last week, Mona, you gave me your promise to marry me before Christmas; can you break it now? Do you know what an old writer says? 'Thou ought-est to be nice even to superstition in keeping thy promises; and therefore thou shouldest be equally cautious in making them.' Now, you have made yours in all good faith, how can you break it again?"

"Ah! then I did not know all," says Mona. "That was your fault. No; if I consent to do you this injury you shall at least have time to think it over."

"Do you distrust me?" says Rodney—this time really hurt, because his love for her is in reality deep and strong and thorough.

"No,"—slowly—"I do not. If I did, I should not love you as—as I do."

"It is all very absurd," says Rodney, impatiently. "If a year, or two, or twenty, were to go by, it would be all the same; I should love you then as I love you to-day, and no other woman. Be reasonable, darling; give up this absurd idea."

"Impossible!" says Mona.

"Impossible is a word only to be found in the dictionary of fools. You are not a fool, and I think you hardly know why you are insisting on it."

"I do know," says Mona. "First, because I would have you weigh everything carefully, and——"

"Yes, and——"

"You know your mother will object to me," says Mona, with an effort, speaking hurriedly, whilst a little fleck of scarlet flames into her cheeks.

"Stuff!" says Mr. Rodney; "that is only piling Ossa upon Pelion; it will bring you no nearer the clouds. Say you will go back to the old arrangement and marry me next month, or at least the month after."

"No."

She stands away from him, and looks at him with a face so pale, yet so earnest and intense, that he feels it will be unwise to argue further with her just now. So instead he takes both her hands and draws her to his side again."

"Oh, Mona, if you could only know how wretched I was all last night," he says; "I never put in such a bad time in my life."

"Yes; I can understand you," said Mona, softly, "for I too was miserable."

"Do you recollect all you said, or one-half of it? You said it would be well if I hated you."

"That was very nasty of me," confesses Mona. "Yet," with a sigh, "perhaps I was right."

"Now, that is nastier," says Geoffrey; "unsay it."

"I will," says the girl, impulsively, with quick tears in her eyes. "Don't hate me, my dearest, unless you wish to kill me, for that would be the end of it."

"I have a great mind to say something uncivil to you, if only to punish you for your coldness," says Geoffrey, lightly, cheered by her evident sincerity. "But I shall refrain, lest a second quarrel be the result, and I have endured so much during these past few hours that

'As I am a Christian faithful man,
I would not spend another such a night
Though 'twere to buy a world of happy days.'

From the hour I parted from you till I saw you again I felt downright suicidal."

"But you didn't cut your throat, after all," says Mona, with a wicked little grimace.

"Well, no; but I dare say I shall before I am done with you. Besides, it occurred to me I might as well have a last look at you before consigning my body to the grave."

"And an unhallowed grave, too. And so you really felt miserable when angry with me? How do you feel now?" She is looking up at him with love and content and an adorable touch of coquetry in her pretty face.

"I feel that I am happier than I know," quotes he, softly, folding her closely to his heart.

So peace is restored, and presently, forsaking the pats of butter and the dairy, they wander forth into the open air, to catch the last mild breezes that belong to the dying day.

CHAPTER XI.

"And you really mustn't think us such very big people," says Geoffrey, in a deprecating tone, "because we are anything but that, and, in fact,"—with a sharp contraction of the brow that betokens inward grief—"there is rather a cloud over us just now."

"A cloud?" says Mona. And I think in her inmost heart she is rather glad than otherwise that her lover's people are not on the top rung of the ladder.

"Yes—in a regular hole, you know," says Mr. Rodney. "It is rather a complicated story, but the truth is, my grandfather hated his eldest son—my uncle who went to Australia—like poison, and when dying left all the property—none of which was entailed—to his second son, my father."

"That was a little unfair, wasn't it?" says Mona. "Why didn't he divide it?"

"Well, that's just it," returns he. "But, you see, he didn't. He willed the whole thing to my father. He had a long conversation with my mother the very night before his death, in which he mentioned this will, and where it was locked up, and all about it; yet the curious part of the whole matter is this, that on the morning after his death, when they made search for this will, it was nowhere to be found! Nor have we heard tale or tidings of it ever since. Though of the fact that it was duly signed, sealed and delivered, there is no doubt."

"How strange!" says Mona. "But how then did you manage?"

POKING FUN!

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS! 33⅓ CENTS!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprises largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled, don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $6.75, this is an all wool coat, well made and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's size, regular price $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3 75 and a pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys Suits really nice and lot of them $1.95, and an overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPARD'S, where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

HAMILTON AND THE G. T. R.

The Ambitious City's Interests Protected—The Clara Louise Incendiary Case.

HAMILTON, Feb. 12.—F. Mackelcan, Q.C., city solicitor, returned yesterday afternoon from Montreal, whither he had gone for the purpose of arranging an agreement between the corporation of Hamilton and the Grand Trunk Railway Company by which the interests of the city should not suffer by the amalgamation of the Grand Trunk and the Hamilton and Northwestern railways. Mr. Mackelcan's mission was successful. An agreement was made and was signed by Mr. Hickson. The exact terms of the agreement are not yet known, but it is understood that they protect Hamilton's interests sufficiently.

John Eastwood has been elected President and E. Overell Vice-President of the Hamilton and Wentworth Booksellers' and Stationers' Association. The President and Vice-President will represent the association at the Ontario Booksellers' Association, which will meet in Toronto on Feb. 15.

The money for the construction of the new tree road to Dundas is all subscribed, and the right of way granted.

The crowd of young men and boys who were arrested on suspicion of having set fire to the old boat Clara Louise, on Tuesday night last, were arraigned at the Police Court yesterday morning. The cases were allowed to stand until Tuesday, the Magistrate refusing to take bail. Six of the defendants were charged by Richard England with the larceny of a quantity of oranges, figs, cakes, apples and tobacco. Lacey, Harris, Hyde and McLaren were committed for trial on this charge at the next Assizes. Bail was refused for all. Robert Lacey was also charged with feloniously assaulting and attempting to rob Mr. England. The case was allowed to stand until Tuesday.

Mary Queen, who attempted to commit suicide by hanging herself in her cell on Feb. 2, was sentenced by the Police Magistrate yesterday to twenty-three months in the Mercer Reformatory.

Death of a Prominent Montreal Q.C.

MONTREAL, Feb. 12.—W. H. Kerr, Q.C., died to-day of pneumonia. The late Mr. Kerr was one of the most prominent lawyers in Montreal. He was born in 1826, admitted to the Bar in 1847, made a Q.C. in 1873, and Batonnier-General of the Bar of the Province of Quebec in 1877. He was professor of International law at McGill University.

The Daily Review.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1888.

A "MARTYR'S" OVATION.

Mr. Sullivan, M.P., Enthusiastically Received in London—"Irish Volunteers."

LONDON, Feb. 13.—T. D. Sullivan, M.P., arrived in London this morning and received an ovation from 10,000 persons at Euston Station. He was escorted by an immense procession to Hyde Park, where a meeting in his honor was held. At 3.30 o'clock there were 40,000 persons assembled there.

In reply to an address Mr. Sullivan said that the Government's wretched attempts at coercion had not suppressed or frightened any one. Irish patriots had been imprisoned because they had disregarded a law which Englishmen would have trampled under foot. The Tory reign of terror, he declared, was doomed to speedy extinction.

Between Two Fires.

DUBLIN, Feb. 13.—Michael Davitt, in a speech at Dalkey yesterday, said that for every year the Government withheld Home Rule from Ireland they would have to swallow a leek of Radical legislation. Lord Salisbury was between two fires, but Home Rule would be the wiser, and in the long run the safest settlement for him and his class.

The Irish Volunteers.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—A morning paper says: The Irish Volunteers, a secret order recently organized to furnish men in Ireland the means to wage warfare against England, is said to have several thousand members all over this country and to be in communication with the friends of Ireland on the other side. It is believed that all constitutional agitation is useless, and announces "physical force" as its platform. It will have a public meeting a week from next Sunday.

THE MUNICIPAL ACT.

Little London's Council Will Ask for an Amendment—Serious Accident.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The Board of Aldermen to-night, by a vote of 11 to 6, adopted a report to the effect that the Legislature be asked to amend the Municipal Act so as to make it punishable for a voter to cast his ballot for chief magistrate in more than one ward, or to personate a voter or offer any consideration for a vote or vote for chief magistrate in any other ward than the one in which he (the voter) resides.

A Dorchester farmer named McGaw drove over Victoria Bridge to-day with a load of wood and had just got across when his sleigh slid to one side, throwing him into the ravine. He received serious injuries of the spine, arms and legs.

The aldermen also took up the proposition laid over from last meeting to dispense with the services of several city officials. The result was that Secretary of Committees Keary and Assistant City Clerk Kingston were bounced by a vote of 8 to 7, the former to receive half a year's salary as a bonus.

The proposal to reduce the number of licenses and increase their price was voted down, 10 to 5.

AMONG THE PEDS.

Prize Winners in the Recent Contest Receive Their Checks.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—The prize winners in the recent pedestrian contest received checks for the amounts due them to-day. The manager's statement showed 43,631 tickets sold, receipts $22,528, of which $11,264 goes to the walkers. Of this $880 goes to eleven men, who get a few dollars each. The remainder, $10,784, is divided as follows: Albert $4313, Herty $2696, Guerrero $1294, Hart $862, Golden $647, Moore $431, Strokel $323, Noremac $215. Albert also receives $1000 more for breaking the record.

The money of the management in bank has been attached by Wm. O'Brien, Wm. Carney and James Kennedy, who claim they were under contract to receive $1000 each for services at the Gardens.

Albert a Canuck.

OTTAWA, Feb. 13.—John Edward Albertie, or Albert, as the American papers call the winner of the pedestrian contest in New York, lived for a time in this city. His father is said to be P. Albert, a resident of Lower Town. Albertie was born in Brockville, Ont., thirty-seven years ago. He learned the confectionery business here, leaving for New York some years ago.

A SLENDER MAJORITY.

Premier Tirard's Request for a Credit Adopted by a Vote of 264 to 256.

PARIS, Feb. 13.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day M. Etienne, Under Secretary for the Colonies, stated that the actual expenses on Indo-China account would not exceed 70,000,000 francs.

M. DeLafosse (Right) and M. Perrin (Radical) maintained that the occupation of Tonquin would be a danger to France as long as the threatenings of war resounded on the frontier.

Premier Tirard declared that if the vote upon the question implied the evacuation of Tonquin the Government declined to be responsible, but if it simply signified a request to effect economies the ministry were prepared to adopt the course indicated. He called upon the Chamber for a credit of 19,900,000 francs, or 200,000 francs less than was originally asked. The credit was adopted by 264 to 256.

Congress Seeks More Light.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—In the House to-day Mr. Chipman (Mich.), from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported the resolution calling upon the Treasury Department for information relative to the alleged refusal of the Canadian authorities to allow American vessels, when in distress in Canadian canals or waters, to seek assistance from American wrecking or tugging companies. Adopted.

THE ARRESTED MEMBERS

ARE THE SUBJECT OF A DISCUSSION IN THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

Mr. O'Brien's Arrest, the Speaker Holds Constituted a Breach of Privilege, and the Home Secretary Apologizes For the Indignity—Mr. Parnell's Amendment.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Mr. Picton (Liberal) directed attention in the House of Commons to-day to the arrests in London last week of Messrs. Pyne, Patrick, O'Brien and Gilhooly, Irish members of Parliament, which he claimed constituted a breach of privilege.

The Speaker in reply said that Messrs. Pyne and Gilhooly were arrested on a criminal warrant. In their case no breach of privilege had been committed. The arrest of Mr. O'Brien, however, was a breach of privilege.

Mr. Matthews, Home Secretary, apologized for the indignity to which Mr. O'Brien had been subjected. The occurrence was an unfortunate one.

Sir R. E. Webster, Attorney-General, denied that any privilege existed. Explanations and apologies had been given, and if they did not suffice to satisfy Mr. O'Brien he could prosecute a remedy elsewhere.

Mr. Picton was not satisfied with the Attorney-General's opinion. Parliament, he said, must clearly vindicate its rights. He therefore moved that the "wrongful arrest of Mr. O'Brien when leaving the House of Commons was a breach of a privilege of Parliament."

Mr. McLaran (Radical) in seconding the motion referred to the arrests of Messrs. Gilhooly and Pyne within the precincts of the House of Commons.

The Speaker reminded Mr. McLaran that the cases of these gentlemen were not before the House.

The Attorney-General moved an amendment to the effect that the House regretted the indignity to Mr. O'Brien, but considering that it was a mistake, did not thind it necessary to proceed further.

Mr. Gladstone admitted that as far as an apology was concerned the Home Secretary had done all that could be expected. But Mr. O'Brien was not only arrested within the precincts of the House, but was seized by a constable without a warrant. The circumstances afforded reasonable grounds for a reference of the case to the Committee on Privileges. The incident was not merely an innocent error; it was either careless or worse procedure, which demanded an inquiry. If the Attorney-General persisted in his amendment, and, if it was carried, he would move that it be referred to the Committee on Privileges.

Sir Edward Clarke, Solicitor-General, announced that the Government could not adopt Mr. Gladstone's suggestion, there being no breach of privilege and nothing to refer to the committee.

Mr. Parnell said that the Government would have taken a different course if it had been an English member, and would have sent a detective who knew the member wanted. He protested against the duties which the Government now thrust upon the constables guarding Parliament. Surely it was a question of privilege whether members were entitled to go to and from the House without being molested.

W. H. Smith, the Conservative leader, denied that the Government imposed duties of espionage upon any officers of the House.

John Morley (Liberal) intimated that the Opposition would allow Mr. Picton's motion to be negatived without a division. He then moved that the matter be referred to the Committee on Privileges. The motion was rejected —216 to 151.

Mr. James C. Flynn (Nationalist) resumed debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech.

Mr. Parnell said that his party in these days had a special interest in facilitating business and were prepared to go further than the Government in new rules to expedite legislation.

Mr. Parnell concluded by moving the following amendment: "Humbly to represent to Her Majesty that only the remedial portion of the last session's Irish legislation tended to diminish crime, whereas the repressive measures had done much to alienate the sympathy and respect of Her Majesty's Irish subjects for the laws, and that the administration of the Crimes Act as well as much of the general action of the executive has been harsh and partial."

The Solicitor-General for Ireland replied on behalf of the Government that Mr. Parnell's remarks were not relevant to the amendment and that his charges were trivial.

On motion of Sir G. O. Trevelyan the debate was adjourned.

THE CZAR'S APPRECIATION.

The Russian Ambassador at Berlin Has an Interview With Bismarck.

BERLIN, Feb. 13.—The National Zeitung says that Count Schouvaloff, the Russian Ambassador, in an interview, lasting an hour, with Prince Bismarck yesterday, expressed the Czar's high appreciation of the Prince's recent speech in the Reichstag.

England Against the Aggressor.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The Standard says it will do good if all Europe becomes convinced that Lord Salisbury's policy is to support the Triple Alliance as long as it means peace, and that if peace be broken by an outside power the weight of England will be thrown against the aggressor.

"The Heart of France".

PARIS, Feb. 13.—M. Flourens, Minister of Foreign Affairs, who is visiting the towns on the Italian frontier, reached Briancon to-day. In reply to the congratulations of the mayor on his diplomatic successes, he said:

"The merit thereof belongs to the whole country, for it is felt on the other side of the frontier that it is the heart of France which beats in that of France's Foreign Minister. It is to these patriotic sentiments and our attachment to free institutions that our military successes should be attributed if the frontier were attacked."

Ross Defeats Bubear.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The sculling race between Wallace Ross of America and George Bubear of England for the championship of England, a challenge cup and a stake of £400, took place to-day over the Thames course from Putney to Mortlake. Ross had the Surrey side of the river and led throughout. At Hammersmith, two miles from the start, he was ten lengths ahead. He then eased up and won by six lengths. Time, 20 min. 16 sec.

Dr. Mackenzie's Views.

SAN REMO, Feb. 13.—Dr. Mackenzie, at the request of the Crown Prince, sent to the Emperor a report of his views of the Prince's condition. The doctor says it is impossible at present to affirm that any other disease exists than chronic inflammation of the larynx, combined with perichondritis.

Italian Forces in Position Near Degali.

ROME, Feb. 13.—Advices from Massowah say the railway has been completed to Degali and regular trains are running over it. The Italian military depot has been transferred to Degali. Gen. Gene's brigade, with the artillery, has taken up a position two kilometres west of Degali.

THE CENTRAL BANK INQUIRY.

Beginning the Argument on the Petition for Mr. Campbell's Removal.

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—The argument on the petition of the liquidators for the removal of Archibald Campbell from his position as liquidator of the Central Bank began yesterday morning at 11 o'clock before Chancellor Boyd at Osgoode Hall. Mr. W. A. Foster, Q.C., appeared for Liquidators Howland and Gooderham, and opened the proceedings by reading the affidavit on which the petition was based.

Mr. James Maclennan, Q.C., who represented Mr. Campbell, opened his side of the case by reading the affidavit in reply made by Mr. Campbell. Mr. Bain followed by reading affidavits from W. W. Ogilvie, Isaac Henry Stearnes, A. Henderson and George Hague, speaking highly of A. Campbell as an authority in financial matters. Mr. Bain then read the evidence taken before Special Examiner Bruce in support of his contention that the burning of the circulation was an entirely regular proceeding, and in reference to the Barnett draft negotiated through the Dominion Bank. Then Mr. Bain took up the transcript of Liquidator Gooderham's evidence before the Master-in-Ordinary, when he was examined on his affidavit.

Briefly and chronologically summarized the order of yesterday was as follows: Mr. Foster read in extenso Messrs. Howland and Gooderham's petition for Mr. Archibald Campbell's removal, to which as a counterblast Mr. Bain read the suspended liquidator's long affidavit in reply. This was bolstered with the affidavits of Mr. Campbell's colleagues in the Exchange Bank liquidation, and the whole of the evidence taken before Examiner Bruce. Affidavits from Messrs. James E. Ellis, Robert Cuthbert, R. W. Kleizer and other Toronto jewelers were also read, upholding Mr. Campbell's judgment in disposing of the diamonds amongst the Central Bank's assets. Then Mr. Kappele took up the task and read the record of the day and a half's examination of Mr. Gooderham before Master Hodgins. This occupied the court till two o'clock, when a brief adjournment was made for lunch.

After the court resumed Mr. Bain again took up the elocutionary role, and with manifest gusto read his own poser to Mr. Gooderham and the latter's sometimes blunt and anon straightforward answers. Then came the turn of Mr. Clarke, who read the rebutting affidavits of Messrs. Howland and Gooderham, and those of Solicitor O'Brien, Accountant Lye, Magnus Davis and others.

The affidavit of Charles Swabey, law student in the office of Mr. Foster, Q.C., was read in reference to various requests which had legally been made on Mr. Campbell which he had disregarded.

Mr. Foster then took up the reading of Mr. Campbell's depositions before the Master and had not concluded when the court rose.

R. I. G. Barnett was seen at the Morton House, New York, last week. He says he is willing to come to Toronto and give evidence, provided he is given a safe conduct to return.

TORONTO TOPICS.

A petition asking the Governor-General to extend executive clemency towards John R. Gamble, at present lying in Toronto jail under sentence of death, is being circulated through out the city for signature. Mr. W. G. Murdoch, his counsel, will leave for the capital on Thursday night to present the petition to the Governor-General and make an appeal for a commutation of the sentence.

The inspectors of the estate of the suspended firm, W. J. McMaster & Co., meet to-day, and it is expected they will arrive at a conclusion as to the settlement of the firm's affairs.

Another effort will be made to save Robert Neil, the convict murderer of Guard Rutledge, from the gallows. A cablegram has been received from Neil's relatives in Ireland, saying to ask for a reprieve, as insanity was hereditary in his family, and affidavits will be sent by mail.

Judgment was delivered yesterday in the West Middlesex election case, voiding the election of Dr. Wm. F. Roome, Conservative, who defeated Mr. D. M. Cameron in February, 1887. Application was made for the prosecution of several parties for corrupt practices. The consideration of the Court was reserved.

Customs Seizure at St. Thomas.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 13.—Customs Detective John Goss arrived in this city from Toronto on Friday last and effected a seizure of a jewel which was intended for presentation to one of the members of a secret society in this city. The order had been given to a local jeweler, and he had sent for it by a Michigan Central Railroad brakeman. The article was found in the brakeman's possession on the arrival of the train.

The side rod of engine, No. 402, M.C.R., broke at Taylor last night, wrecking the cab, and a piece of iron struck Engineer J. Doyell, badly bruising him. Fireman Ferguson jumped and was slightly injured.

An Aged Lady's Sudden Death

GANANOQUE, Feb. 13.—Mrs Ann Taylor, mother of George Taylor, M.P., died very suddenly yesterday morning while the rest of the family were at church. Mrs. Taylor was in her 73rd year.

THE EXPERIMENTAL FARM

TO BE LOCATED AT INDIAN HEAD, IN WEST ASSINIBOIA.

Argument on the Petition for Repeal of the Scott Act in Huron County—Hon. Mr. Foster Returns to the Capital—"B" Battery "Deserters."

OTTAWA, Feb. 13.—The Government to-day decided on locating the experimental farm for the Northwest at Indian Head in West Assiniboia. The locality is a central and convenient one, and the land is reported to be excellent.

Hon W. R. Scott to-day argued before Mr. A. Power, Acting Deputy Minister of Justice, the objections raised by the temperance people of the County of Huron to the petition presented for the repeal of the Canada Temperance Act in the county. Mr. Scott raised some technical objections, but confined himself mainly to attacking the genuineness of the signatures and questioning whether the signers were electors. After J. A. Emil, counsel for the petitioners, had replied, the Acting Deputy Minister took the matter into consideration, and will report to the Minister of Justice.

Hon. Mr. Foster, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, returned from Washington to-day. He, of course, declined to say anything about the progress of the negotiations except that he expected they would be concluded speedily and that Sir Chas. Tupper and Hon. Mr. Thompson would probably be home before the end of the week.

Col. Mansarzh of the Imperial Brigade of Artillery, Tuperary, who is at the Russell, states that "C" Battery, stationed at Victoria, B.C., is one of the finest batteries he has ever seen. "The artillerymen," he added, "can compare favorably with those in the same branch of the Imperial service."

The Militia Department has not received any information with reference to the six desertions from "B" Battery, Kingston, which, it is stated in The Mail of Saturday, had taken place since Feb. 1. In the returns up to Jan. 31 there were three cases of "absent without leave," but these would not become deserters until the twenty-one days' grace allowed the offenders had expired.

Sir John and the other ministers who went to Quebec to attend the banquet to Sir A. P. Caron returned to the city to-day.

Mr. John Page, Chief Government engineer of Canada, will to-morrow hear evidence in the claim of Mr. Goodwin for extras in connection with his contract on the Trent Valley Canal. On Thursday he will take up the case of Mann & Co.

The Collector of Customs at St. Stephens, N.B., has seized a span of horses and quantity of meal smuggled into Canada from the State of Maine by a St. Stephens merchant. A fine of $50 only was imposed, owing to the poverty of the smuggler. The facilities for smuggling at this port are so great that the department are obliged to administer the law with rigor to secure anything like a legitimate revenue.

A RUNAWAY AT HAMILTON.

The Pumping Engine Test—Central School Enlargement—Burglars get $53.

HAMILTON, Feb. 13.—Mr. Thomas Easterbrook of East Flamboro was driving home with his daughter on Saturday when the horse ran away at the foot of Macnab street. They were thrown out, Mr. Easterbrook receiving painful bruises and being rendered insensible. The cutter was smashed to pieces.

The six-day test of the pumping engine machinery at the Beach was completed yesterday. Our 4,000,000 gallons a day was pumped with ease.

The Building Committee of the Board of Education purposes putting another story on the Central School and building a large wing in rear of it. The extra accommodation is to make room for almost 1000 more scholars.

Burglars entered the house of Mr. John O. Taylor last night and secured $53 and some odd change.

The Johnston indecent exposure case was heard again in the Police Court this morning. Decision was reserved until to-morrow.

At the Police Court this afternoon the charge preferred by E. A. Colquhoun against Duncan Macnabb, for the destruction of eleven valuable sheep by the Spitz dog of defendant, came up for hearing. The case will occupy more than one day for trial.

Serious Accident to a G. T. R. Conductor.

MONTREAL, Feb. 13.—A conductor of the Grand Trunk Railway named Crawford Atkinson, while passing over Wellington street crossing, was knocked over by a passing train. He had his eye knocked out, his ear torn off, his face badly bruised, and several ugly cuts on his head. He was removed to the General Hospital, where he is in a dangerous state.

The County of Seguin.

MCKELLAR, Feb. 13.—A meeting was held here Saturday evening to discuss the county formation. Seguin was chosen as a proposed name for the new county. A resolution was adopted to petition the Provincial Government to give the district a county formation immediately, with Parry Sound as the county town.

PEACE OR WAR.

Europe has not yet decided whether war will bloom with the flowers in the spring or not. Prince Bismarck's speech quieted the agitation momentarily, but, while it was not bellicose, it was not of such a reassuring nature that fear of the breaking out of hostilities could be altogether put aside. He, however, emphasized what was already plain, that peace or war depended upon the actions of the autocratic ruler of Russia. In this connection an incident that occurred on the eve of the Russo-Turkish conflict of 1877 is recalled. It is said that in the Austrian archives there exists a despatch from the then Austrian Minister to Russia, in which he states that on the previous night the Czar directed him to report that he did not wish or intend to attack Turkey. Within a week after this declaration Russia opened the campaign. In view of this the present Czar's professions of a desire for continued peace are not entirely depended on. Yet, although appearances are not favorable to peace, it is not forgotton that frequently war clouds loom up and are dispelled, and the hope may still be entertained that the awful horrors of a conflict between the great nations of Europe may be averted.

A SECRET BALLOT WANTED.

A PETITION has been presented to the Ontario Legislature asking to have the law regarding balloting in provincial elections so changed that the ballot will be secret. The prayer of the petition should be granted. According to the Dominion law, under which Dominion elections are held, when a voter's ballot is deposited in the box there is no way of finding out from it how he voted. It is absolutely secret. But in the provincial elections, by the system of numbering the ballots, any person who has access to the ballots and the records can tell how any or every elector marked his ballot. This is contrary to the spirit of the principle of voting by ballot. It is unfair to the voter and to the public—if any one is to be in a position to ascertain how the votes were cast the voting should be open. Attention has frequently been called to this matter, but Mr. Mowat and his colleagues refuse to make a move towards making the change, and we have little hope that the petition, though presented by a Liberal member, will have any effect. The change is one that is needed, however.

THE second convention under the auspices of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 29th. The first convention was interesting and instructive, and there will probably be an increased attendance at the coming meetings.

HALIBURTON.

CURLING COMBINATION.—A big combination for curling is spoken of for next winter. The idea is to organize Clubs at Fenelon, Kinmount and here, then a continual series of matches can be played, Lindsay being included in the circuit, the railway giving a comfortable and easy means of conveyance between the various places.

ANOTHER SUMMER RESORT.—There is a rumour that a joint stock company is to be formed for the purpose of building a large brick hotel, of first class accommodation, and suitable for the summer holiday business. It is a good idea and it is to be hoped it will be carried out. The beauties of the Swiss scenery of Haliburton are bound to be acknowledged in time, and then all the accomodation that can be provided will be eagerly sought.—Independent.

TOWNSHIP COUNCIL.—The council met in Warsaw on Feb. 4th. All the members present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The Reeve was appointed to attend the adjourned land sale in the interests of the Township. On motion, the auditors's report, as finally audited by council, was adopted, and the Clerk was instructed to have 200 copies of the detailed statement printed for distribution. Henry A. Moore and Richard Crowe were appointed to advertise for the necessary timber for Robb's bridge. The ling orders were granted:—To Benj auditor for 1887, $5; to Edward McIlveen, Sr., auditor for 1887, $5. The council adjourned to the 17th of March next.

The Tunnel at Libby Prison.

The March Century will contain the story of "Colonel Rose's Tunnel at Libby Prison," told by one of the one hundred and nine Union officers who escaped on the night of February 9, 1864. The successful construction of this tunnel, dug from a dark corner of the cellar of the prison, through fifty feet of solid earth,—the only tools being two wooden chisels and a wooden spittoon in which to carry out the dirt,—was one of the most remarkable incidents of the war.

DISTRICT NOTES.

News of the Midland District Condensed From Contemporaries.

—There is not an empty dwelling house in Millbrook.

—Horses about Coldwater are affected with an epidemic disease.

—Hamilton township offers $250 reward for the conviction of grain thieves.

—Wm. Clarke, of Thurlow, was seriously injured on Feb. 8th by a vicious bull.

—Mrs. Thos. Nicholls, sr., of Wesleyville, had her arm broken by a cutter upsetting.

—John O'Connell's dwelling, Sidney, was burned on Tuesday night. Small insurance.

Hamilton Johnston has charge of the Healey's Falls, Seymour, ferry this year.

—D. McDougall, late Principal of the Beaverton high school, has gone to Medicine Hat, N.W.T.

—Diphtheria broke out at the Penatanguishene Reformatory and sixty were ill, but none died.

—Fenelon Falls had three exciting runaways last week. One of the horses of Mr. Chesham's Bobcaygeon stage was injured.

—The C. P. R. Northwest exhibition car is now taking in the places on the Grand Trunk lines.

—An old man named Bombridge, aged 85 years, residing near Bowmanville, recently married a girl aged 15 years of age.

—Samuel Smith, of Hamilton township, was tried at Cobourg on Wednesday on a charge of stealing grain and was acquitted.

—A two year old son of Wm. Green, of Lotus, ate some magenta dye and was very ill from the effects. A physician brought him around.

—It is said a rich pocket has been discovered in the Richardson gold mine which is guarded day and night with a posse of armed men.

—Able Finkle, of Sidney, was attacked with appoplexy one night last week, followed by partial paralysis, and was found in his barn. He has since died.

—The mills at Little Bob (Bobcaygeon) will probably commence running about the 1st of April. The stock of logs will last until the new stock comes down from Burnt River. The season of cutting will be longer than usual.

—Mrs. Doble has sued Brock township for $2,000. A horse became frightened as it approached the railway track and she was thrown out and injured. The road was raised and she sues the township because there were not rails on each side.

—Robt. Walker, aged 60, of Thurlow, went out to the barn one night last week, and not returning members of the family went out and found him dead. There was a mark on his temple, and it is supposed that he fell and struck his head.

—Mrs. John Schryver, of Napanee, has received notice that the U. S. government has granted her a pension of $12 a month on account of her son recently deceased who contracted his illness while in the American military service.

—Mrs. Clendennan living alone near Manilla was found Wednesday by Mr. N. McDonald on the 8th line of Mariposa in a helpless condition. He immediately procured assistance and had her removed to his house and every means used to restore her, but to no avail, as she died shortly after and before the doctor arrived. It is supposed that she had wandered from her home without sufficient clothing although having plenty, and become benumbed with cold.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

LUMBERING.—This has been a fine season for the lumbermen. Everything is going on like clock work here—No. 1 camp, Brooks & Co. The snow is moderately deep, with no crust to cut the horses' feet, no water and solid ice. Cutting and hauling can be done to advantage. The weather is delightful.

LINDSAY.

HIGH AND MODEL SCHOOLS.—The board of education has appointed Mr. Broderick of Morrisburg to the position of head master of the model school and principal of the public schools, and Mr. Carlyle, of Woodstock, to the position of assistant master in the high school.

FIRE.—An alarm of fire was sounded Thursday morning about 10 o'clock, when it was discovered that the McDonnell block, opposite the Daly house, was on fire. The flames broke out in Fowler's photograph gallery, but is said to have been caused by a defective chimney in the building next door west. The fire got between the ceiling and the roof and it was found almost impossible to get at it, the roof being of galvanized iron. A couple of hours elapsed before it was thoroughly quenched, and the gallery was completely wrecked.

THE DIPHTHERIA CASE.—Dr. Frost of Kinmount was brought before P.M.O'Leary on Tuesday on two complaints laid by Chief Constible Bell for the Lindsay board of health. The first was for not reporting a case of diphtheria to the Summerville board of health; and the second for allowing the patient to go at large. The last complaint was taken up and the evidence so far given shewed Dr. Frost was called up Sunday night to attend Hugh Graham, who had come into the village from a lumber camp, that he pronounced it a case of diphtheria and told the man to go back to camp. Monday morning when Dr. Frost went to see his patient he was gone. The township council appointed a board of health last year, but had not done so this year, though they have now taken action. The case has been adjourned to receive Hugh Graham's evidence as to whether he was told to come to Lindsay or not. Mr. Barron for Dr. Frost; A. P. Devlin for the prosecution—Post.

No other spring medicine has won for itself such universal confidence as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is the most powerful combination of vegetable alteratives ever offered to the public, and is acknowledged by the medical profession to be the best blood purifier.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The controversy at Cornell College in the class for '90, as to whether liquors should be provided for the banquet, was recently renewed and decided in the negative.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

A serious accident occurred in an uptown house the other night by a misplaced switch. The owner's husband stepped upon it and ran a hairpin into his foot to the depth of an inch.

M. Jules Simon says that most of the wretchedness prevailing among the French poor might be done away with if they would take to a more solid diet and live in healthier rooms.

DR. A. S. KIRKPATRICK, Van Wert, O., says "I have used it with the most brilliant success in chronic nervous headaches, hectic fever with profuse night sweats, impotence, nervousness, etc."

The Smallest Rate.

There is but one efficient way
To publish "WANTS" from day to day,
And that is through the REVIEW, indeed,
That finds for every want and need
A prompt return and quick reply,
That never fails to satisfy,
And what is more its well to state
At very far from largest rate.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 13.—Before petitions were presented to the Legislature this afternoon Mr. Richard Clarke, the newly-elected member for East Northumberland, was introduced, amid applause from the Government benches, by Hon. Mr. Hardy and Mr. Awrey, and took his seat on the back row of the Opposition side, next to Mr. Whitney.

These bills were sent up for a first reading:

Mr. Bronson—An act to amend the act incorporating the St. Patrick's Society, Ottawa.

Mr. Phelps—An act to amend the game laws.

Mr. Rorke—An act to incorporate the Town of Markdale.

Mr. H. E. Clarke—An act to amend the Methodist Church Act, 1884.

Mr. McLaughlin—An act respecting the issue of debentures by the Town of Bowmanville.

Mr. Waters—An act to amend the Assessment Act.

Hon. C. Fraser—An act to provide for the union of the townships of Front of Young and Front of Esset.

Mr. Thomas Nairn, M.P.P. for East Elgin, introduced a bill seriously affecting the interests of a large number of manufacturers, traders and dealers. The bill is in connection with the conditional sale of chattels. One of the sweeping clauses provides that all agreements for lien on goods must be in writing and registered.

Mr. Meredith moved for a return showing the amounts paid to each judge or other officer whose fees have been commuted in lieu of his fees, since they were commuted; and showing also, the fees received by the province which, but for such commutation, would have been received by such judge or other officer, such return to show the respective amounts in each year separately. In support of his motion Mr. Meredith explained his object to be to discover whether the system of commuting had worked well or otherwise. Hon. Mr. Mowat said he was not able to say how the system had worked out in practice. The return was in preparation, in expectation of the motion, and he had no objection to its passage. The motion was adopted. Mr. Waters moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Municipal Act. He explained that the amendment sought was to provide machinery by which rivers separating two municipalities, which have become obstructed, may be cleaned out. The second clause of his bill was to provide that actions brought against corporations should be decided by Courts of Arbitration. The bill was read a second time, and will go to the Municipal Committee. The Attorney-General brought down a message from the Lieutenant-Governor, transmitting the estimates, and announced that the Provincial Treasurer would make his financial statement to-morrow. Hon. Mr. Hardy laid on the table the annual report of the Minister of Education; also the public accounts, and the House adjourned.

New Year's Gift.

I remember, I remember,
The slippers, Blue and white,
Jasw Embroidered O'er with roses,
Most unnaturally bright.
Each year my wife presents them,
And I thank her with a smile,
While inwardly I wonder
If she bought them with my pile.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other cause. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

AGENTS WANTED to canvass for Advertising Patronage. A small amount of work done with tact and intelligence may produce a considerable income. Agents earn several hundred dollars in commissions in a single season and incur no personal responsibility. Enquire at the nearest newspaper office and learn that ours is the best known and best equipped establishment for placing advertisements in newspapers and conveying to advertisers the information which they require in order to make their investments wisely and profitably. "By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there was a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

It Kicked.

Shortly before the meeting hour of the Council last night, the electric light in the chamber was turned on as usual. It burned up brightly for a few minutes and suddenly went out, or the next thing to it. It was thought that some person had been fooling with the switch and various means were tried to get a light, as the Councillors were standing around ready to take their seats. Suddenly, however, the carbons touched again and all was as bright as daylight.

New Law Office.

Mr. J. W. Bennett, barrister, etc., has opened an office on Hunter-st. in which he will carry on the business of his profession. Mr. Bennett commenced the study of law in the office of Messrs. Poussette & Roger and became managing clerk of the legal department. He was nearly a year in the office of Messrs. Falconbridge & Barwick, Toronto, and for some time had charge of the office of the Town and County Solicitor, Mr. Edwards, during his absence in England. Mr. Bennett will no doubt be successful in the profession in which he has made so good a beginning and we wish him success.

Personal.

Miss Sanderson went to Toronto this morning to attend the annual meeting of the Grand Council of Ontario of the Royal Templars of Temperance.

Rev. W. J. Ford, of Essex Centre, was in town to-day looking up old friends. Rev. Mr. Ford goes to Cobourg on Wednesday where he will deliver an address at Victoria College. Rev. Mr. Ford is a graduate from the REVIEW office, having given up the practice of the art preservative many years ago.

Sprained His Ancle.

On Monday evening word reached the police station that a young boy had been badly abused at the north end of the town, and that among other injuries one of his legs had been broken by a kick from a companion. Inquiry revealed the fact that a boy named Geo. Masters, aged 17 years, had been playing with another youth named Johnston, at George and Dublin-sts. and had been thrown down spraining his right ancle. Young Masters complained that he had been hurt and was unable to move, but the others thought he was only shamming and one of them kicked him and threw snow in his face. He laid for quite a time until a passer by picked him up and carried him into the house of Mr. John Barclay, where the boy has been stopping for some weeks. Dr. Kincaid attended to his injuries and an order for his removal to the hospital was procured to-day. The injured boy is very small and slight for his age. His father's name is Geo. Masters, a shoemaker, who was well known here some years ago.

To the Band.

The band will appear in military uniform and parade this evening at 7.30 p. m., sharp.

F. W. MILLAR,
Bandmaster.

They are Coming.

Commissioner Coombs and Father Phillippe, the converted Roman Catholic Priest, will address a meeting in the Opera House, Wednesday, Feb. 15th, under the auspicis of the Salvation Army. Tickets 10 cts. and 25 cts. To be had from officers and members of the Army, and at the door. 3d35

Athlete Cigarettes 10 cts. Package.

Phew!

Those who were compelled to sit in the Council Chamber for any length of time last night were loud in their complaints regarding the almost intolerable stench that prevailed. The town stable, in which five horses are kept, is just in the rear of the committee room and the horsey smell was as strong as it is around a livery stable. The Board of Health will be called on to take steps in the matter at once. If it is so bad now, one can hardly imagine what it will be during the hot summer months.

TO OUR FRIENDS.

WE would announce to our many friends that the "At Home" to be held on Thursday evening next in the Lecture Room of the George-st. Methodist Church promises to be the most attractive one we have yet given. The programme is very choice. Refreshments served during the evening. Doors open at half past seven. Tickets twenty five cents, to be had at Miss Sanderson's store and at the door.

A Row.

The police were called to the Salvation Army barracks last night to quell a row. Peace and quietness resigned supreme when officers McGinty and Pidgeon arrived on the scene. It was found that a number of young men were misconducing themselves and upon their refusing to quiet down, the officers of the Army undertook to eject the noisy youths. All went out quietly except one, and he showed fight and was only pitched out after considerable trouble. He will probably be called on to interview the Police Magistrate.

Town Boarders.

There was some kicking at the Council last night regarding the "star" boarders, whom the town is called upon to pay for. As was pointed out, frequently bills are sent in from people for keeping indigents. These people had no authority for keeping the boarders at the expense of the town and it was pretty generally understood that in future all such bills will be ignored. People have been in the habit of coming to town, going to a boarding house and after remaining there for a time stating that they have no money and the next move is to send the bill into the Town Council and demand payment.

Y. P. A. Entertainment.

An entertainment was held in the lecture room of the George-st. Methodist Church on Monday evening under the auspices of the Young People's Association, and it was largely attended. Mr. Bean, President of the Association, occupied the chair. The entertainment was opened by the singing of a hymn, and the following programme followed:—Recitation, Miss C. Gamble; instrumental dust, Misses Smart and Jones; solo, Miss Glass, instrumental solo, Miss Nellie Wrighton; recitation, Miss Clara Green; song; Mr. Chas. Baguley; reading, Miss Irwin; instrumental solo, Prof. Dingle, and solo, Miss Miller. The National Anthem closed a very pleasant and satisfactory entertainment.

Charity Concert.

A concert in aid of the Peterborough Protestant Home, took place at St. John's Church School room, on Monday evening. The attendance was good, the receipts at the door reaching the handsome total of $45. An unusually attractive programme was presented and heartily enjoyed by those present. In each part Mrs. M. Dunsford and Mrs. J. Lewis played a piano duet and Mr. G. Dunsford a harp solo. Songs were given by Mrs. H. C. Stapleton, Mrs. Seward and Mr. A. Davis, a reading by Mr. F. J. Lewis, a duet, piano and flute, by Miss and Mr. Halliday and a piano solo by Mrs. Smith. All the performers acquitted themselves in a highly creditable manner and were loudly applauded.

Young Bachelors' Social.

A social assembly under the auspices of the Young Batchelors was held on Monday evening, St. Valentine's eve, in Welsh's hall. The hall was prettily decorated. A large motto, "Welcome," was hung at the upper end of the room and other mottoes were on the sides, while bunting was neatly stretched along the ceiling and festooned. Pretty Chinese lanterns illuminated the room. Music was furnished by Mannell's orchestra, and between fifty and sixty couples assembled and enjoyed themselves heartily during the night. Supper was served in Mr. Welsh's restaurant and did credit to that establishment. The arrangements were carefully attended to by a competent committee, and the assembly was one of the most enjoyable occasions of the kind of the season.

The Carters' Tariff.

The proposition made by the carters to the Town Council on Monday evening may be summed up as follows. They express their willingness to pay the sums of $10 and $5 per year, as license, for two horses and horse respectively. They ask the adoption of the following tariff:

For every hour complete, two horses..... .75
" " " " one horse..... .50
For every half hour, or fraction, two horses .50
" " " " one horse. .3

The by-law now in force was passed in 1880. It exacts a license fee of $2 and fixes the tariff as follows:—

Carters, for carts or other licensed vehicles for a quarter of a mile, to charge not more than fifteen cents. For half a mile not more than twenty cents. For three quarters of a mile, not more than twenty-five cents. To any part of the town, further than three-quarters of a mile, not more than thirty cents.

A Lengthy Meeting of the Civic Legislators—Several By-laws Passed—Numbering the Houses and Sinking a Town Well—Miscellaneous Business.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held last evening.

Present, Mayor Stevenson, in the chair, and Councillors Cahill, Davidson, Winch, Kelly, McNeil, Hall, Yelland, Moore, Douglas, Langford, Kendry and Hartley.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Mr. E. B. Edwards, Town Solicitor, with reference to the Market By-law, stating that the by-law is valid and recommending that all kinds of grain and wood be exempted from toll, with a view of attracting farmers here.—Market Committee.

From Mr. Edg. Pearse, enclosing annual financial statement of the Town Trust Commissioners and asking for the issue of debentures to retire some now falling due.

From Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., enclosing a copy of the bill regarding the Chemong Lake Railway and asking the Council to direct him what action they proposed taking to protect the interests of the Bethune-st. property owners.—Received.

From the carters and truckmen asking for amendments to the by-law, at present governing them.—Received.

From Mr. Albert Jones, applying for the position of engineer of the steam fire engine etc.—Appointment Committee.

From Mr. Jos. Gonyea, asking for time to pay his taxes.—Charity Committee.

From Mr. Anthony Thomas applying for a position on the police force.—Appointment Committee.

The report was received and adopted.

THE MARKET.

Councillor MCNEIL, Chairman, read and submitted the following report:—

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Market Committee beg leave to report that they have taken into consideration the communication of the Market Clerk re farmers refusing to pay toll as provided by the market by-law.

In view of the fact that Mr. E. B. Edwards, Town Solicitor, has given his opinion that the market by-law is valid, and a test case adjudicated upon this day, your own Police Magistrate upholding the validity of the by-law, your committee regret the loss of revenue by Mr. Doharty, and are of opinion that the tolls at present charged are in accordance with the law and hope that the parties enjoying the privileges of the market will recognize the benefits they derive.

Respectfully submitted,
ANDREW MCNEIL,
Chairman.

February 13th, 1888.

The report was received and adopted.

CHARITY.

Councillor HALL, Chairman, read and submitted the following report:—

To the Mayor and Town Council:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Charity Committee beg leave to report as follows:—

The amount expended in charity during January was $105.95, divided as follows:—

| | |
|---|---|
| First Ward | $44 80 |
| Second " | 25 70 |
| Third " | 17 00 |
| Fourth " | 17 75 |

We also recommend that the board account of John Duval for Wesley Haggard of $22 be paid in orders on the town, less the amount he has received to date.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
ADAM HALL,
Chairman.

February 13th, 1888.

THE FIRE BRIGADE.

The Council went into committee of the whole to consider a by-law amending the Fire By-Law, with Councillor Hartley in the chair. Chairman McNeil took charge of the By-law.

On the second reading Councillor Yelland said he thought that 18 men would not be sufficient and that the proposed increase in salary was too much of an upward jump.

Mayor STEVENSON pointed out that some provision should be made so that another "division" of the funds could not be made.

Councillor CAHILL thought that twelve men would be sufficient, with the drivers, engineer and police always on hand to assist. The salary of $50 he did not object to, but he was inclined to save $300 a year, if possible.

Councillor MOORE also favored contraction, instead of inflation. He also favored that a clause be inserted in the by-law requiring the chief to make a quarterly report to the Council, regarding the men and the work they do.

Councillor KENDRY did not think that eighteen men were too many in case of a big fire and they earned the $50 a year many times over during a year.

Councillor DAVIDSON said that under the new regulations "a divide" could not take place.

Councillor MCNEIL pointed out that the Fire, Water and Light committee could suspend or disabuse any member of the brigade who did not perform his duty.

Mayor STEVENSON spoke in favor of quarterly reports and thought the men should be paid half yearly by the Town Treasurer.

Councillor MCNEIL also referred to the "divide" and told how it occurred. He found that the general impression throughout the town was that the men should be better paid and the $50 a year is small enough, for the work they are called upon to perform. The men are all good and reliable firemen and it would be difficult to fill their places.

Councillor YELLAND wanted to know if the Chief could expel a fireman?

Councillor MCNEIL replied that he could.

Councillor MOORE read a section of the old by-law requiring the Chief Engineer to make a report every four months to the Council, regarding the men and the apparatus, a thing he declared that had been utterly neglected in the past and he suggested that a quarterly report be provided for in the future.

Councillor CAHILL advocated half yearly reports and payments, providing at the same time that any retiring member may be paid when leaving, receiving his pay for the time he worked. As it now stands a member may work faithfully for eleven months and be suspended and thus lose all his pay.

Councillor MCNEIL said that the quarterly payment plan had been tried and it had failed.

The members then got down to work and fixed the strength of the brigade at 18 men and one Chief Engineer, the Captain to be Assistant Chief. The salaries to be Chief, $100, Assistant Chief $25 and 18 men at $50 each per annum, the salaries to be paid half yearly by the Town Treasurer, all fines to be paid to the Treasurer of the Brigade. The Chief is to report to the Council semi-annually on the condition of the Brigade, the fire apparatus and the buildings, the reports to be made in June and December.

The committee then rose and the by-law was read a third time, signed, sealed and passed.

THE CARTERS.

Councillor MOORE introduced a by-law relating to the licensing of carters and truckmen, which was read a first time.

The Council went into committee on the second reading of the by-law, with Councillor Kendry in the chair.

While the by-law was being read, the Clerk pointed out that if the by-law was passed as it read, there would be no license for hucksters, etc.

The committee then rose and asked permission to sit again.

A NEW AUDITOR.

A by-law was passed appointing Mr. W. A. Stratton, as Town Auditor, in the place and stead of Mr. James Stratton, who is unable to act owing to illness.

NUMBERING THE HOUSES.

Moved by Councillor LANGFORD, seconded by Councillor CAHILL,—That in the opinion of this council, the time has arrived when steps should be taken to number the houses, lots and shops of, at least, the principal portions of the town. Be it therefore resolved that the matter be referred to a special committee to report upon the subject, the committee to consist of Messrs. Davidson, Kelly, Moore, Kendry and Cahill.—Carried.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Moved by Councillor CAHILL, seconded by Councillor DAVIDSON—That the Board of Health for the current year be composed as follows:—Messrs. Mayor Stevenson, Dr. Fife, Edg. Pearse, R. W. Errett, and Councillors Yelland, Hall, Winch, Hartley, Moore and Cahill, and that the Chairman call a meeting at an early date for the purpose of having the town put in as good a sanitary condition as possible, at the earliest possible date.—Carried.

A TOWN WELL.

Moved by Councillor DAVIDSON, seconded by Councillor LANGFORD—That the Fire, Water and Light Committee have power to sink a bored well at some convenient place, for the purpose of procuring good drinking water.

Councillor DOUGLAS raised a point of order, as the motion involved an expenditure of money.

Several Councillors spoke on the matter, all agreeing that the motion was rather vague. The subject of water was talked about from all the different stand points and Councillor Yelland advocated the erection of a watering trough, on the market square. The estimated cost of a well one hundred feet deep was placed at $100.

The matter was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee to report.

A TAX MATTER.

Moved by Councillor YELLAND, and seconded by Councillor HARTLEY,—That the taxes of Geo. W. Coon, Mrs. M. Thornton and Mrs. J. Sovais, less the school rates, be remitted.—Carried.

The meeting adjourned just as the town clock tolled the hour of eleven, to meet in two weeks.

Rather Cool.

On Monday evening a rather curious complaint was lodged at the police station regarding the loss of a valuable silver watch. From the story told by the young man who is short of his ticker, it appears that he was the victim of misplaced confidence to a marked degree. On Saturday afternoon in company with his best girl, he was in a photograph gallery having his "pictur took." While waiting for the photograph two shantymen, who were also looking for pictures, got into conversation with him. The talk turned on watches and the young man offered to make a dicker. One of the strangers took the watch in his hand to examine it and just then the pictures for the owner of the watch were finished. In company with his lady friend he took them to a window to critically examine them. He became so engrossed in pointing out their many fine points that he forgot all about his watch, but the man who had it did not and with his companion he quietly slipped off and has not been seen since. The man who lost the watch, at first regarded the matter as a joke, but after waiting until Monday evening he came to the conclusion that he had been done for and so informed the police.

Those who saw the crowd at Kidd's Boot & Shoe store on Saturday must have thought he was selling below cost, but he wasn't. Same price all the time! Same price to every one.

At the Parlor Rink.

The second of those enjoyable social assemblies, of the season, took place at the Parlor Roller Rink, Water-st., on Monday evening, when, at the invitation of Mr. H. W. and Mrs. R. Kent, about one hundred and twenty couples assembled. The building was handsomely decorated with flags, bunting, etc., and the lighting arrangements were something extra, so that the whole place was in one blaze. The music was supplied by Prof. Doucet's orchestra and the catering, under the capable management of Mr. Wm. Bowman was all that the most fastidious could desire. A long programme was carried out and dancing did not cease until an early hour in the morning, when all left for home thoroughly satisfied with the evening's enjoyment and recreation.

This is the Night.

Everything is now in readiness for the grand carnival, under the auspices of the canton, to take place at the rink to-night and something far superior to the usual run of such affairs is confidently looked for. Unusual preparations have been made and those on a gigantic scale, so that the spectacle promises to be well worth witnessing. The rink is handsomely decorated, the ice in the finest condition, the arrangements all perfect and all that now remains is for the public to crowd the rink to-night.

As a toilet article, Ayer's Hair Vigor stands unrivaled. It cleanses the scalp and removes dandruff, cures itching humors, restores the original color to faded and gray hair, and promotes its growth.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Curling.

The great annual match the City of Toronto and County of York v. the rest of Ontario, was set down to take place at Toronto to-day. A rink composed of Messrs. D Belleghem, R. Fair, C. McGill and Geo. Brown, skip, left last night to take part in the game.

The Largest Yet.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. snowshoe club had their largest turnout of the season, on Monday evening. The snow was in splendid condition and the longest tramp yet held was enjoyed. The route was across Dickson's dam and over the country as far as Ashburnham, where the trampers were entertained to supper at the residence of Mr. John Moore and thence marched to their hall again.

Brevities.

—To-morrow will be Ash Wednesday, the first day of lent.

—There were four weddings at St. Peter's Cathedral this afternoon.

—The thaw is here and the man with the empty cistern rejoices.

—There were no cases for trial at the Police Court this morning.

—Mayor Stevenson is acting as Police Magistrate for a day or two.

—A strong delegation of carters were at the Council meeting last night.

—The carnival will take place this evening and every person should attend.

—A small girl named Rogers was run over yesterday afternoon, but escaped injury.

—To-day is commonly known as Shrove Tuesday or more commonly "Pancake Night."

—This is St. Valentine's Day; but the post office clerks do not find much difference.

—Conductor Stanton now says he can make the run from Peterborough in two and a half hours.

—Mr. Wm. Job, who was so seriously injured at a Warsaw quarry the other day, is getting along nicely.

—The drivers of two sleighs, on Simcoe-st., miscalculated to-day, and a collision resulted, but no harm was done.

—The Town Council observed the 11 o'clock rule last night. They adjourned about one minute to that hour.

—A member of the Council last night appeared at the meeting in a full dress suit. His fellow legislators were not jealous.

—Coun. Langford has taken steps to have the houses numbered. It would certainly be a great convenience to have it done.

—A small boy was knocked down by a passing hack on Aylmer-st. last evening. He was not hurt. It is hard to kill a boy.

—Belleville is moving in baseball matters for the coming season. The manager of the club is now taking a trip to pick up players.

—The town pump project does not appear to meet with much favor as the waterworks water is considered good enough by ordinary mortals.

—There was a fair turnout of the members of the 57th battalion at the armory last night. The men were put through a course of sword and bayonet exercise.

—One of a team of horses drawing a load of wood on George-st, north this morning, slipped and fell. The harness had to be cut before the animal was liberated.

—Mr. Goodwin, who had the contract for the Trent Valley Canal works at Barlegh, &c., has put in a large claim for extras. Government engineers are now investigating the matter.

—The Grand Trunk Viaduct at Port Hope is being strengthened by the addition of heavy iron spans. This is necessary on account of the great increase in weight of the locomotives during the last few years.

—Owing to the numerous counter attractions no meeting of the cricket club was held on Monday evening. Those present talked over club matters in an informal manner and adjourned to meet in the post office block on Monday evening next.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

William F. Bowker, Erie, Pa., was cured of nervousness and sleeplessness by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for about two months, during which time his weight increased over twenty pounds.

THE PLUMED KNIGHT.

His Declination of the Presidential Nomination Not Due to Ill Health.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 13.—Chairman Jones of the Republican National Committee asserts that Mr. Blaine's declination is not due to ill health, as had been stated, but is entirely owing to the fact that Mr. Blaine is charmed with his literary work, and desires rest and quiet that he may pursue his latest vocation untroubled. Postmaster Manley of Augusta, Me., (Blaine's home), a warm personal friend, says that Blaine's letter does not alter the situation. He believes that if the National Convention is of the opinion that Blaine can best unite the party, and that belief nominates him, the patriotism of the plumed knight will not permit him to decline to lead the Republicans in the forthcoming contest. Mr. Manley's views are endorsed by many leading Republicans.

M'LEISH'S MURDERERS.

To be Hanged June 13—The Brandon Compromise—The Call's Proposition.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 13.—Gaddy and Racette, the murderers of McLeish, were sentenced to-day to be hanged June 13. Racette senior was discharged.

The proposal of compromise made by the Brandon Conservatives is not meeting with popular favor. The Call this morning urges the purchase of the monopoly right from the Canadian Pacific by the Government, both in Manitoba and the Northwest. The Sun to-night speaks favorably of the proposition.

Turtle Mountain Conservatives in convention denounced the compromise proposal, and condemned the action of the Brandon Conservatives in renouncing Norquay.

An Address to Dr. McLellan.

LISTOWEL, Feb. 13.—Dr. McLellan of Toronto delivered a lecture in connection with the High School of the town on Friday. The occasion being of special interest to the pupils, they took advantage of his visit to them to present him with an address expressive of their appreciation of the fact that our educational system, of which every loyal Canadian may well be proud, is largely the result of deep study and arduous toil on his part.

Cheese Makers in Council.

MAPOC, Feb. 13.—A meeting of the presidents of cheese factories was held here Saturday to consider the bill before the Ontario Legislature regarding cheese factories. Twenty-six factories were represented. A deputation was appointed to appear before the committee of the House when notified and explain the difficulties attending cheese making and what amendments to the present law are required, etc.

The Captain Mistook the Light.

BATHEAD, N.J., Feb. 13.—The bark Fairmount, from Antwerp for New York, stranded here yesterday. The life-saving crews rescued the seventeen men on board with great difficulty. The captain mistook the Barnegat light for Five Island, which caused the disaster.

An Exile in Luck.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Feb. 13.—Captain Frederick D'Osmond, an exiled Frenchman, for many years resident here and a well-known caterer, has become heir to an estate of $175,000, located in his own country. Osmond is a descendant of Count Henry D'Osmond.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Well, just such a mistake made a difference to us, as, shortly after my grandfather went off the hooks, we received what we believed to be authenticated tidings of my uncle's death."

"Yes," says Mona, who looks, and is, intensely interested.

"Well, belief, however strong, goes a short way sometimes. An uncommon short way with us."

"But your uncle's death made it all right, didn't it?"

"No, it didn't; it made it all wrong. But for that lie we should not be in the predicament in which we now find ourselves. You will understand me better when I tell you that the other day a young man turned up who declares himself to be my uncle George's son, and heir to his land and title. That was a blow. And, as this wretched will is not forthcoming, I fear he will inherit everything. We are disputing it, of course, and are looking high and low for the missing will that should have been sought for at the first. But it is very shaky, the whole affair."

"It is terrible," says Mona, with such earnestness that he could have hugged her on the spot.

"It is very hard on Nick," he says, disconsolately. "He is engaged to one of the dearest little girls possible, but of course if this affair terminates in favor of"—he hesitates palpably, then says, with an effort—"my cousin, the engagement comes to an end."

"But why?" says Mona.

"Well, he won't be exactly a catch after that, you know," says Rodney, sadly. "Poor old Nick! it will be a come-down for him after all these years."

"But do you mean to tell me that the girl he loves will give him up just because fortune is frowning on him?" asks Mona, slowly. "Sure she couldn't be so mean as that."

"It won't be her fault; but of course her people will object, which amounts to the same thing. She can't go against her people, you know."

"I don't know," says Mona, unconvinced. "I would go against all the people in the world rather than be bad to you. And to forsake him, too, at the very time when he will most want sympathy, at the very hour of his great trouble. Oh! that is shameful! I shall not like her, I think."

"I am sure you will, notwithstanding. She is the gayest creature imaginable, just such another as yourself. You may not get on well with Violet Mansergh, who is somewhat reserved, but I know you will be quite friends with Dottie."

"I really wish Nick didn't like her so much," continues Geoffrey, sadly. "It will cut him up more than all the rest, if he has to give her up."

"Geoffrey," says Mona, in a low tone, slipping her hand into his in a half-shamed fashion, "I have five hundred pounds of my own; would it—would it be of any use to Sir Nicholas?"

Rodney is deeply moved.

"No, darling, no; I am afraid not," he says, very gently. But for the poor child's tender earnestness and good faith, he could almost have felt some faint amusement; but this offering of hers is to him a sacred thing, and to treat her words as a jest is a thought far from him.

It is growing dusk; the shades of night are falling fast. Down from the mountain's top the shadows are creeping stealthily; all around is growing dim, and vague, and mysterious, in the uncertain light.

Slowly, hand in hand, they saunter along, when in an instant two men, who have evidently been hiding in a ditch, jump up before them and confront Rodney. Mona recognizes the two men with whom she remonstrated on the night elected for the Maxwell murder.

"You, Ryan?" says Mona, with an attempt at unconcern, but her tone is absolutely frozen with fear.

"You see me," says the man, sullenly, "an' ye may guess my errand." He fingers the trigger of his gun in a terribly significant manner as he speaks.

"I do guess it," she answers slowly. "Well, kill us both, if it must be so." She lays her arms round Rodney's neck as she speaks, even before he can imagine her meaning, and hides her face on his breast.

"Stand back!" says Ryan, savagely. "Stand back, I tell ye, unless ye want a hole in yer own skin, for his last moment is come."

"Let me go, Mona," says Geoffrey, forcing her arms from round him and almost flinging her to one side. It is the first and last time he ever treats a woman with roughness.

"Ha! that's right," says Ryan. "You hold her, Carthy, while I give this English gentleman a lesson that will carry him to the other world. I'll teach him how to balk me of my prey a second time. D'ye think I didn't know about Maxwell, eh? an' that my life is in yer keepin'! But yours is in mine now," with a villainous leer, "an' I wouldn't give a thraneen for it."

Carthy, having caught Mona's arms from behind just a little above the elbow, holds her as in a vise.

"Now say a short prayer," says Ryan, leveling his gun; "for yer last hour has come."

"Has it," says Rodney, fiercely.—"Then I'll make the most of it," and before the other can find time to fire, he flings himself upon him, and grasps his throat with murderous force.

In an instant they are locked in each other's arms. Ryan wrestles violently, but is scarcely a match for Rodney, whose youth and training tell, and who is actually fighting for dear life. In the confusion the gun goes off, and the bullet, passing by Rodney's arm, tears away a piece of the coat with it, and also part of the flesh.

To and fro they sway, and then both men fall heavily to the ground. Presently they are on their feet again, but this time Rodney is master of the unloaded gun.

Advancing he raises it, and, holding it by the barrel, brings it down with all his might upon his enemy's skull. Ryan reels, staggers, and once more licks the dust.

Carthy, having by this time freed himself from Mona's detaining grasp—who, seeing the turn affairs have taken, clung to him with all her strength, and so hampered his efforts to go to his companion's assistance,—comes to the front, but seeing his whilom accomplice stretched apparently lifeless upon the ground, his courage (what he has of it), like Bob Acres', oozes out through his palms, and a curious shaking, that surely can't be fear, takes possession of his knees.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

A Brantford Philanthropist's Death.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 13.—John H. Stratford, one of the wealthiest citizens of Brantford, died suddenly last night from hemorrhage of the lungs. A few years ago he built a magnificent hospital, called it the John H. Stratford Hospital, and presented it to the city of Brantford.

The Cornwall Cotton Mill Strike Ended.

CORNWALL, Feb. 13.—The Stormont and Canada Cotton Company's mill started to work here this morning, the managers and the employes having come to terms on Saturday afternoon. The employes are to receive higher wages than any other cotton mill in Canada.

Fire at Collingwood.

COLLINGWOOD, Feb. 13.—On Saturday afternoon fire broke out in a brick dwelling house on Pine street, owned by Peter Smith and occupied by two tenants. The dwelling was only partially destroyed. Loss $500. The cause was a defective chimney.

The Avalanche's Victims.

VIENNA, Feb. 13.—Two thousand men are still continuing their efforts to rescue the passengers on the mail train on the Arlberge Railway, which was buried by an avalanche.

GASTRONOMICAL TID BITS.

The shooting season ended Jan. 1, in several states, which means "ice box and clandestine game."

Ice cream in the form of alphabetical blocks, such as the children play with, is the latest.

Anglomaniacs are the only ones who deny American plum pudding is equal to the imported.

Game that requires to be served as a "salmi" is usually the kind best to forego the pleasure of eating.

Frozen food of any kind, all intelligent diners agree, is an abomination. And this is particularly true of fish.

One of the Parisian restaurant keepers hangs out a placard reading: "Kakes de buckwheat du Americaine," and fancies he leads the procession.

At some of the most fashionable dinner parties in London American cheese is served with lettuce, and is esteemed a luxury beyond the domestic article.

Consomme in cups at a Chicago luncheon was a novelty to one of the lady guests, who called the waiter and politely requested "three lumps of sugar, please."

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TUESDAY, Feb. 14.—The following bills were introduced and received a first reading: An act to amend the Assessment Act; an act to authorize the trustees of the Toronto Burying Ground to sell certain lands; an act to amend the Municipal Act; an act to confirm certain mortgages made by the churchwardens of Christ Church, Hamilton; an act to amend the General Road Company's Act.

Treasurer Ross' Financial Statement.

Hon A. M. Ross, Provincial Treasurer, on rising to make his financial statement, reviewed first of all the receipts of the year, which he enumerated under the following heads:

| | |
|---|---|
| Subsidy and grant from Dominion | $1,196,872 |
| Interest on capital and debts due by the Dominion | 279,111 |
| Interest on investments | 45,745 |
| Crown Lands Department | 1,113,142 |
| Algoma taxes | 16,247 |
| Law stamps | 68,439 |
| Licenses | 202,455 |
| Education Department | 24,807 |
| Public institutions | 34,094 |
| Casual revenue | 37,262 |
| Insurance companies' assessment | 2,966 |
| Removal of patients | 4,360 |
| Drainage works assessments | 23,794 |
| Municipal Loan Fund | 25,000 |
| | $3,113,211 |

These were the ordinary receipts, to which are to be added the extraordinary receipts, as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Ordinary receipts | $3,123,211 |
| Drainage debentures | 33,270 |
| Tile drainage debentures | 4,980 |
| Mimico lots—re mortgage | 200 |
| Annuities | 242,638 |
| New Parliament buildings fund—sale of land | 122,211 |
| Sale of bonds | 320,423 |
| Total receipts | $3,846,934 |

Referring to the receipts from crown lands the speaker said the minister of that department was to be congratulated on the splendid returns realized from the recent timber sales. From that sale $399,958 was realized. The hon. gentleman anticipated the objection that would probably be raised in this connection—that the province was living on its capital. He thought the resources of the province should be used for the benefit of the present generation. To quote the well known words: "What has posterity done for us?" The receipts from licenses show an increase of $10,000 over the previous year. The item $25,000, under Municipal Loan Fund, was received from Cobourg in liquidation of its municipal debt, and the Treasurer also announced the Government had agreed to accept debentures to the amount of $4850 in lieu of the St. Catharines debt of $7000. These two matters finally close the Government's connection with the Municipal Loan Fund.

The New Parliament Buildings Fund was made up of receipts from the sale of part of the asylum property. This property covered 80 acres, of which 50 were sold at an average price of $3377 an acre. The balance of the land will not be put in the market for some time, as it is required for brickmaking in connection with the Central Prison. The expenditure for the year on the new Parliament Buildings was $164,678. The sale of the $300,000 worth of bonds (which realized 106½) was necessary on account of this expense on the new buildings, but no sale would have been necessary had the Government been able to anticipate such splendid results from the sale of the timber limits. The estimate of that sale was not one-third of what had actually been realized, and the cash payment made at the time of the sale was much larger proportionately than at any other sale.

The speaker then reviewed the expenditure of the year in detail, the totals showing the ordinary expenditure to be $2,864,713 and the extraordinary expenditure $389,599. Among the items he referred to was that of immigration. The amount expended on this account was becoming smaller from year to year. In 1884 it was $43,303, while last year it was only $11,795, and it would be still further reduced from year to year. On the item of expenditure for agriculture the hon. gentlemen referred to the creamery department in connection with the college. Last year it was self-sustaining and afforded a profit of $404 to be distributed among the patrons. The prices realized by the farmers at their doors for sufficient cream to make one pound of butter was in May 14 cents; June, 14 cents; July, 16 cents; August, September, October, 17 cents

The total ordinary receipts of the year exceeded the total ordinary expenditure by $258,497. [Hear, hear.] The province expended during the year $221,058 less than it was estimated would be expended. So that reckoning the excessive receipts and decreased expenditure the province was really $556,143 better off than he anticipated it would be when he made his statement a year ago. [Applause.]

He was sorry to report that little progress had been made in settling the disputed accounts between the province and Dominion. Something, however, had been accomplished looking towards a settlement, and that was the appointment of an arbitration of judges to settle the Upper Canada improvement fund question and the common school fund. In regard to the first of these questions, the province would probably not receive any benefit from the arbitration, and in order that municipalities which were interested in that fund should have no ground of complaint, he advised them to employ special counsel to work with the counsel employed by the province when this question came before the arbitration. These are the only important questions at issue between Ontario and Quebec.

He then came to the proposed operations for 1888. The estimates asked for $195,195 for civil government; last year the amount asked was $191,765. For legislation $122,050 was asked, against $123,600 last year. The demand for administration of justice was $364,296, against $372,965 last year. For education $580,062 was asked, against $578,258 last year. Public institution maintenance demanded $268,422 — increase of $12,500 over last year's grant. For several years they had expressed the hope that the present accommodation for the unfortunate people who were inmates of these institutions was sufficient for some years to come, but they found it a necessity from year to year to provide more. The increase was on account of expenditures on institutions in Hamilton and Orillia. All that was asked for immigration purposes was $7700, a decrease of $9200 from last year. It was proposed to confine immigration enterprises to Liverpool and the circulation of literature. The amount asked for agriculture was $136,131, against $139,836 last year. The reduction was due to the withdrawal of the grant to aid the Provincial Exhibition, the Government being undecided as to the wisdom of continuing the support of that Exhibition.

Mr. Meredith—Is it the policy of the Government to reduce the grant $4500?

Hon. Mr. Ross replied that the usual grant in aid of holding the exhibition had not been put in the estimates. The Government would ask the opinion of the House as to the wisdom of continuing to aid the Provincial Exhibition.

Hospitals and charities called for $113,277 against $106,121 last year, and repairs, etc., $62,976 against $56,580 last year. This year $281,412 was asked for the public buildings account, nearly $32,000 less than that of last year. The estimate for public works was $50,196, nearly $11,000 less than that of last year. The estimated expenditure on colonization roads was $15,950 less than that of last year. The charges on crown lands were to be $101,900, an increase of $5000 over last year, the increase being caused by precautionary measures to prevent forest fires. Refunds would be $27,954, an increase of $3956 over those of last year. The estimate for statute consolidation was $21,500, against $33,650 of last year. It might be of interest to state that the cost of consolidation so far was $47,765, which with this year's $21,500 made a total of $69,265. The 1877 statute consolidation cost $73,787. The miscellaneous account was $68,100 against $137,095, the decrease being due to there being no election accounts to pay as there were last year. There were two items requiring explanation. The amount asked for the enforcement of the Canada Temperance Act was $25,000. In 1887 they asked for $11,400 but they spent $24,596. Sometimes they heard their temperance friends find fault that the Government was not in earnest in the enforcement of the act. The expenditure set down for 1888 for this item ought to satisfy them on that point. He might say that the enforcement of the act was much more onerous on the Government than on the municipalities, who were responsible for the passing of the act. While the Government had to pay out money to enforce the act the municipalities, under an order-in-council passed by the Dominion Government, actually made money out of it. In the Scott Act account the Government lost a revenue of $124,000 and paid out $24,596 for enforcement, a total loss of $148,596. He contended that the Dominion Government should revoke this order-in-council, under the provisions of which the fines were not applied for the purposes of enforcement, and that a measure should be brought in to set apart the fines for that purpose. The other item was that of insurance on government buildings. Upon the policy of insuring the public buildings in private companies there had been a difference of opinion. The fire occurring in the kitchen of the main part of the London Asylum resulted in a loss of $17,000. The insurance was carried by about thirty companies, and all but two, the Queen City and the Hand-in-Hand, refused to pay damages on the ground that the kitchen had not been insured. They had paid their premiums on the understanding that it was insured. Altogether from 1867 the Government had paid premiums to the amount of $133,594 and had received for losses $58,603. On a consideration of the whole matter they had concluded not to place any amount in the estimates for outside insurance. They will do their own insurance. Altogether they asked for $2,088,724 for ordinary expenditure, and $3,288,906 for ordinary and extraordinary.

The estimated receipts were as follows:

| | 1888. | 1887. |
|---|---|---|
| Dominion subsidy | $1,196,872 | $1,196,872 |
| Interest on capital, etc. | 279,111 | |
| Interest on investments | 40,000 | |
| | 319,111 | 319,111 |
| Crown lands | 74,600 | |
| Clergy lands | 7,000 | |
| Common school lands | 16,000 | |
| Grammar school lands | 2,000 | |
| Woods and forests | 1,300,000 | |
| | 1,399,600 | 748,000 |
| Public institutions | 123,800 | 98,250 |
| Educational department | 25,000 | 24,307 |
| Casual revenue | 35,000 | 37,262 |
| Licenses | 195,000 | 202,455 |
| Law stamps | 66,000 | 68,439 |
| Algoma taxes | 15,000 | 15,247 |
| Drainage assessment | 24,000 | 23,749 |
| Municipal loan fund | 4,350 | 25,000 |
| Insurance companies assessment | 3,000 | 2,966 |
| Assessment counties, removing lunatics | 6,000 | 4,360 |
| | $3,123,211 | $3,403,233 |
| Total estimated ordinary receipts | | $3,403,242 |
| Total estimates, ordinary | | 2,088,724 |
| Surplus | | 414,518 |
| Capital expenditure | | 300,182 |
| Leaving net surplus | | 114,336 |

In reference to railway annuities, he said it would be recollected that the Government had power, if we ever have an increase in subsidy or other revenue, to pay the certificates off in cash, but at the same time they would take the authority to replace these certificates as they fell due by new ones at a rate not exceeding 5 per cent., and we calculate on 4½ and perhaps 4 per cent. Sometimes the unexpected happened, and now they were going to use this power. The expenditure on the Parliament Buildings would be met by $325,007 got from various sources. He trusted by close economy to again keep within the estimates at the end of the year.

Hamilton and the G.T.R.

HAMILTON, Feb. 14.—The agreement between the city and the Grand Trunk Railway was endorsed by the City Council last night. It provides that Hamilton shall not be discriminated against in the matter of freight rates, and is considered, on the whole, a favorable arrangement to the city.

In the Clara Louise arson case this morning, Hyde, Schaupp and Harris were committed for trial. The others were remanded.

The magistrate this morning fined Lewis G. Johnston $40 or six months in the Central Prison for indecent exposure.

Political Gossip From Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 14.—The indications are that while Martin will have a close run in Portage, Prendergast will be beaten in La Verandrye. Nothing will be done regarding Jones' seat till after Thursday's election. If Martin is defeated a general election follows.

Greenway and Jones left for Portage La Prairie this afternoon to address a meeting on behalf of Martin to-night.

The Nicaragua Canal.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The House Committee on Commerce to-day decided to report favorably the bill to charter the Nicaragua Canal Company. The committee inserted amendments requiring a majority of the directors to be American citizens, and providing that the president of the company shall be a citizen and resident of the United States.

Terrible Accident in Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 14.—A steam engine used in hoisting girders on the elevated railroad now being built, fell on top of a Reid-avenue horse-car this morning, killing four persons and injuring fifteen others. The killed are Chas. Kershner, Michael McCauley, workmen on the elevated; Patrick Clark, citizen; Thos. Thompson, car driver.

THE DOMINION DEFENCES.

A COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO REPORT ON THEIR CONDITION.

The Appeal in the Russell Election Case to be Withdrawn—Poultry and Pet Stock Exhibition at the Capital—Customs Seizure at Windsor.

OTTAWA, Feb. 14.—On the recommendation of the Minister of Militia Major-General Middleton, Adjutant-General Powell, Major-General Oliver of Kingston, and Lieut.-Col. Irwin have been appointed a committee to report on the condition of Canadian defence and suggest a means of improvement. A force of military graduates will be commissioned to make a survey of the Dominion for military purposes.

Messrs. Geddes and Trowell, who are interested in the California investigation now under the consideration of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, yesterday interviewed Hon. Mr. Foster. No decision has as yet been arrived at.

Mr. John Page, Chief Engineer of Canals, yesterday heard evidence on the claim of Mr. Geo. Goodwin for extras in connection with his Trent Valley contract.

Officer Walters of the customs service has seized a quantity of safety rein holders at the port of Windsor.

Hon. John Carling and Prof. Saunders will attend the farmers' meeting at Bell's Corners on Friday.

Collingwood Schreiber has left for Toronto.

Mr. N. F. Davin, M.P., Regina, is in the city.

J. J. Curran, M.P., was in the city to-day.

The appeal from the decision of Judge Osler in the Russell election case will be withdrawn by Mr. Edwards, the unseated member, and as soon as the judge's report is forwarded a writ for a new election will be issued.

A Cabinet Council meeting was held to-day, but nothing of importance transpired.

The fifth annual exhibition of the Eastern Ontario Poultry and Pet Stock Association opened here to-day. It promises to be a decided success.

T. G. Mankin, under arrest for forgery here, carried on a poultry and stock raising business. The forgeries so far being investigated are notes for $445, $300, $600 and $1250. His goods and chattels were sold to-day by Bailiff Whitten.

Mr. Burgess, Deputy Minister of Interior, who has been ill for some time past, is recovering.

AFFAIRS OF THE BIG FAIR.

Annual Meeting of the Industrial Exhibition Association—The New Officers.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.

Sitting in the chairs of the City Fathers the members of the Industrial Exhibition Association held their annual meeting yesterday afternoon. President Withrow was in the chair. The attendance was large.

The meeting took up the question of securing a portion of Garrison Common for exhibition purposes. Ald. Maughan said there could be obtained a magnificent range at Port Credit. There a range of 1200 yards could be bought, with a hill forming a natural butt.

President Withrow thought the city should provide the Ontario Rifle Association with a suitable ground. The association had undoubtedly the prior right to the ground.

On motion of Donald C. Ridout and W. B Hamilton the Exhibition Committee of the City Council was requested to communicate with the Ontario Rifle Association and others interested to see on what terms the Exhibition Association will be permitted to occupy a portion of the Common.

These gentlemen were elected directors for 1888: J. J. Withrow, W. F. McMaster, A. Smith, W. Christie, W. Rennie, W. B. Hamilton, W. S. Lee, Jas. Crocker, Geo. Leslie, jr., Col. John Gray, R. Davies, P. G. Close, J. E. Mitchell, Geo. Wair, D. C. Ridout, Geo. Booth, R. Saunders, R. W. Elliott, Ald. E. W. Barton, Ald. J. B. Boustead.

A number of committees on the various exhibits were appointed.

Provision was made for the auditing of this year's accounts, and the meeting adjourned.

These officers were elected at an after meeting of the directors:

President, Mr. J. J. Withrow.
Vice-Presidents, Capt. W. F. McMaster and William Rennie.

Frederick Nicholls and J. C. Edwards were appointed honorary directors.

TORONTO TOPICS.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.

At the General Hospital last night, before Coroner Duncan, the jury, having heard the evidence of Annie Biggar, which threw no additional light on the enquiry, returned this verdict.

That the deceased, Annie Dogger, came to her death from the result of shock to the system from extensive injury caused by burning, originating by the upsetting of a lamp in the house occupied by Thomas Saunders on Davis-avenue, the cause of which upsetting there is no evidence to show.

The Montreal Detective Department yesterday took charge of a man named William Burns at his father's house on the charge of robbing his employers, McArthur, Gowinlock & Co., of Toronto, of a quantity of furs. Burns acknowledged his guilt, and some of the goods were found in his possession. He promises to make some interesting disclosures as to where and to whom he disposed of the goods. Burns will be brought to Toronto.

BRITAIN'S LAWMAKERS.

The Debate on the Address Continued in the House of Commons.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Sir James Ferguson, Under Foreign Secretary, explained in the House of Commons to-day that in stating recently that the British Government was not pledged to military action in behalf of any European power, he implied naval action also. Beyond the treaties known to the country none existed. He declined to produce the correspondence with European governments.

Mr. Labouchere asked if any engagement other than a treaty had been made.

Sir James Ferguson replied that he was not in a position to give a further answer.

Sir G. O. Trevelyan then resumed the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech. He contended that the Coercion Act had done little to suppress crime but a great deal to alienate and shock public opinion. The conviction of twelve members of the House of Commons would happily do more than anything else to bring about a settlement of the Irish question.

Major Saunderson taunted Sir George with shirking an explanation of his change of opinion.

Newspaper Prosecutions to Cease.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—At a Cabinet Council held to-day it was decided to instruct the Irish Executive to cease prosecuting newspapers for publishing reports of meetings of suppressed branches of the league.

Arrangements have been made for a division on the Parnell amendment on Thursday. The Conservative whips are confident that they will have a majority of 85 on the division.

Hon. Joseph Chamberlain says that he hopes to resume his place in the House of Commons by March 2. His friends state that the fisheries negotiations are certain of a successful result.

Mr. Labouchere said that Major Saunderson was the mouthpiece of a Conservative cave which had been formed to compel a reluctant Government to protect the interests of Irish landlords. His speech was evidence of the failure of coercion, because he demanded more coercion. [Cheers.] Naturally the Government, in order to retain the country's support, said that continued coercion would lead the Irish to abandon Home Rule and erect statues to an eminent uncle and his nephew. [Laughter.] The Government's platitudes were worthy of Caiaphas and Pontius Pilate. Indeed if there had been a press in Jerusalem the organs of the Pharisees and Sadducees would doubtless have said the best part of the people were on the side of Pilate and only the scum on the other side. He concluded with a severe attack upon the Government with reference to the Mitchellstown affair, which he said demanded a strict inquiry.

Thos. W. Russell (Liberal Unionist), member for Tyrone, said he was disappointed with the Parnellites. To be sure they remembered Mitchellstown, but they appeared to have forgotten Tullamore, about which they made such a fuss during the recess.

Mr. Clancy replied on behalf of the Parnellites.

A Bulletin From San Remo.

SAN REMO, Feb. 14.—A bulletin says the Crown Prince, besides taking liquid food, was able to eat a sandwich to-day. He has also spoken, although the doctors forbade him.

This evening the Crown Prince partook of solid food and appeared to enjoy it.

Another Crossing Accident at London, Ont.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—A coal handler named Anthony King, in the employ of the Grand Trunk Railway, was run over shortly after midnight at the Wellington-street crossing of the railway and had his leg cut off. He was taken to the hospital.

Cork's Mayor Convicted of Assault.

CORK, Feb. 14.—The Mayor has been convicted of the charge of assaulting a police sergeant at a Plan of Campaign meeting and sentenced to fourteen days' imprisonment.

An Illinois Lynching.

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill., Feb. 14.—Alonzo Holly, colored, who ravished a white woman at St. John's two months ago, was taken from jail by a mob last night and lynched.

The Tall Twister's Bouquet.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Senator Riddleberger's desk was adorned to-day with a handsome national flag of flowers sent by the Clan-Na-Gael of New York.

Proposed Railway Extension.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The Rock Island proposes to extend its lines 1200 miles, running extensions to Denver and the Gulf of Mexico.

Evictions in Gotham.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Jacoby and Bookman, cigar manufacturers, to-day evicted the families of twenty-seven of their striking employes.

A wildcat measuring 3 ft. 4 in. from point to tip and 1 ft. 10 in. high was shot in Mr. Hugh Sproule's sheep stable, at Amaranth, last week.

RAILWAY HISTORY.

The completion and success of the Canadian Pacific Railway, of which Canadians naturally and with good reason feel proud, has tended to obliterate the remembrance of the other great Canadian railway. The Montreal Witness recalls the circumstances under which the Grand Trunk was inaugurated and devotes considerable space to an interesting history of the enterprise.

Prior to 1849 the Canadian Government had expended $20,000,000 in improving navigation, but these works, though among the finest in the world, were insufficient to compete with United States railways. In that year an Act was passed offering encouragement to railway enterprises, which resulted in the commencement of the Great Western, the Northern and the St. Lawrence and Atlantic. In 1851 another Act was passed making provision for the construction of a "Main Trunk Line" throughout the whole length of the province. Assistance was sought in England, and in April, 1853, the original prospectus of the Grand Trunk Railway Company was issued in London. It proposed to raise a total capital of £9,500,000 sterling to construct 964 miles of railway and to annex the Atlantic and St. Lawrence, a line of 148 miles running through Maine from Island Pond to Portland, a total of 1,112 miles. The lines then in progress to be amalgamated were: The Grand Trunk Railway of Canada East, 142 miles; Quebec and Richmond, 96; St. Lawrence and Atlantic, 144; Grand Junction, 50; Toronto and Guelph, 51. The directorate in Canada included members of the Government, and S. P. Bidder was the general manager.

About fifteen thousand men and two thousand horses were engaged on the various sections, and the line was opened from Montreal to Portland in 1853, from Richmond to Quebec in 1854, from Montreal to Toronto in 1856 and through to Sarnia in 1859. The total cost of building the lines, including the erection of the Victoria Bridge, amounted to about £9,500 per mile. The services of Robert Stevenson, the eminent English engineer, were secured in the erection of the bridge, which ranks among the finest specimens of engineering skill in the world, and cost over $7,000,000. The first passenger train passed through it in December, 1859, and it was formally opened by the Prince of Wales in 1860.

The Witness shows the progress of the company's business by the following interesting comparisons:—At the time of amalgamation the rolling stock taken over consisted of 34 engines, 33 first and second class cars, 15 baggage cars, and 459 freight cars. At the present time the rolling stock of the Company consists of 709 engines, 361 first class cars, 217 second class, 69 post office cars, 131 baggage cars, with 18,005 freight cars and 49 snow ploughs. The enormous increase of traffic can easily be seen from the following figures:—

| | 1854. | 1887. |
|---|---|---|
| No. of passengers | 117,806 | 5,535,097 |
| Tons of freight | 116,571 | 6,942,194 |
| Passenger receipts | $153,920 | $5,583,555 |
| Mails and express rec'ts | 29,380 | 637,545 |
| Freight receipts | 299,290 | 12,216,600 |

The working expenses in 1854 amounted to $361,760, and in 1887 to $12,568,910. In 1862 the length of the Company's lines in running order was 1,090; in 1872 it was 1,377 miles; in 1882 it was 1,406 miles, and in 1887 it was 1,537 miles, besides 529 leased and partially owned, and 852 miles leased or rented, making a total length in 1887 of 2,918 miles.

In 1862 Mr. C. J. Brydges was appointed managing director and the prospects of the company brightened. In 1874 Mr. Joseph Hickson, the present manager, succeeded Mr Brydges, and the uniform standard guage was shortly after adopted on the various lines of the system. Mr. Hickson had been sent to Canada in 1861, and had successively filled the offices of accountant and secretary with marked ability and success, and his promotion was a matter of universal congratulation. The Grand Trunk having leased the lines of the Midland Railway system operates them, and in 1882 the Great Western was incorporated with the Grand Trunk. Within the last few days the absorption of the Northern and Northwestern lines has been accomplished, adding 450 miles to the Grand Trunk system. It is intended next season to extend the double track as far as possible to Toronto and arrangements are being made to commence a new line to the Sault next spring.

The number of people directly employed by the Company is about 15,000, besides an innumerable army of temporary hands and others engaged by business firms constantly connected with the Company. About 5,000 mechanics are employed at the various shops along the line. In addition there are nearly 1,700 engineers and firemen. The shop buildings at Point St. Charles covers an actual space of over nine acres—this being entirely irrespective of the other buildings for freight, general offices and cattle sheds. Since the year 1880 the Company has built at its workshops at Point St. Charles, 130 new locomotives and several thousand new cars of all descriptions, and in addition to this these shops turn out from general repairs per day one locomotive, one passenger car and nine freight cars. The shop buildings and running sheds of the Company at the various stations of the line are valued at over $1,000,000 and the machinery at nearly $600,000.

It will be seen that the Grand Trunk, having been begun in the early days, has developed with the country into a vast railway system, and it has materially assisted in the development of the country.

PORT HOPE.

THIGH BROKEN.—On Sunday evening between half-past six and seven o'clock, Mr. James Tisdell, of Hamilton township, was driving down the Cobourg road between King and Mill streets, when a train on the viaduct startled his horse. It went around the corner at the Turner House too fast, and overturned the cutter. Mr. Tisdell was thrown out and had one of his thighs broken. The fractured was temporarily set by Dr. Powers and Clemesha, and the sufferer was then removed to his home, where the operation was completed.—Times

CONCERT.—A concert was held in School Section No 3, on Friday evening, Feb. 11th, by the pupils of that section, under the management of our efficient teacher, Miss Young. The schoolhouse, although a large one, was well crowded with people. The concert lasted from 7 o'clock until 12 o'clock and was a grand success, considering the cold weather that prevented several of the pupils from attending. Miss Young deserves great praise for the able manner in which she conducted the concert. Besides, as a teacher, she has done some lively work during the past year, having promoted every scholar to a higher class and that was not done until they were well able to fill the higher position they were placed in.

HYMENEAL.—Married, on Tuesday, Feb. 7th, by the Reverend Father Kelly, Mr. Thomas Hickey, of east Emily, to Miss. Ellie Carew, of Ennismore. Mr. Hickey is one of the popular young men of east Emily, he never will regret crossing the boundary line into Ennismore for the lady of his choice.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

NORTH MONAGHAN.

Correspondence of the Review.

HYMENEAL.—On Wednesday, Feb. 8th, Mr. Wm. Robson, of North Monaghan, and Miss Sarah Ann Wilson, daughter of Mr Thos. Wilson, also of North Monaghan were united in marriage at the parsonage at Springville, by the Rev. Wm. Bennett. Miss Mary Wilson, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. John Fowler assisted the groom. After the ceremony they returned to the residence of the groom, where they were met by friends to the number of fifty couples. Tea was served, and the company enjoyed themselves for some hours. Mr. and Mrs. Robson have the best wishes of a large circle of friends. The bride received a large number of valuable presents, including the following:—Mrs. Wm. Robinson, dinner set; Mrs. and Miss Burney, bed room set; Mr. James Ferguson, bed room set; Mr. John Fowler, plush covered album; Miss Mary Wilson, tea set; Mr. Louis Whitfield, oil painting; Mr. R. Watson, oil painting; Mr. Wm. Whitfield, parlor lamp; Mrs. Spilsbury, oil painting; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dobbin, china set; Mrs. Fry, crystal water pitcher; Miss Lillico and brother, silver cake basket; Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson, silver butter cooler; Miss Fry, pair vases; Mr. James Fowler, pair vases; Miss Ellie Wilson, pair vases; Miss Armstrong, pair vases; Mr. Joseph Green, woollen table cover; Mrs. James Fowler, pair lace curtains; Mr. A. Wilson, glass butter cooler, silver handle; Miss Gillespie, glass butter cooler, silver handle; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fowler, glass butter cooler, silver handle; Mr. Macfarlane Wilson (China Hall), fruit dish, silver handle; Miss E. J. Wilson, bed room suite; Miss Lizzie Fowler, pair linen towels; Miss Bella Robson, pillow shams; Mr. Wm. Brasley, silver tea pot; Mrs. J. B. Nicholls, silver tea pot; Mr. Geo. Ward, silver spoon holder; Miss Maggie Chambers, bracket; Mr. R. Chambers, preserve dish; Mr. Frank Campbell, silver pickle stand; Mr. Richard Gillies and Miss Edith Gillies, silver pickle stand; Mr. Geo. Young, silver pickle stand; Mr. and Miss Clark, toilet set; Miss Annie Patten, album; Mrs. R. H. Nesbitt, album; Miss Mima Ferguson, lamp; Mrs. J. Payne, preserve dish; Mr. and Mrs. James Dobbin, silver cheese dish; Mrs. Wm. Robson, half dozen knives and forks; Mrs. David Galloway, goblets; Mr. and Mrs. Cooney, egg dish; Mr. Wm. Robson (the groom), dozen silver knives and forks; Mr. T. Lillico, vegetable dish; Mr. and Mrs. Stinson, set preserve dishes; Messrs. Clark brothers, glass butter cooler, silver handle.

CHILDREN IN FACTORIES.

YESTERDAY'S EVIDENCE BEFORE THE LABOR COMMISSION.

Boys and Girls of Tender Age Working Over Fourteen Hours a Day in Montreal Establishments and Earning so Little They Cannot Buy Shoes.

MONTREAL, Feb. 14.—Before the Labor Commission to-night Joseph Gelarneau, 13, Adolphe Dion, 13, and a boy of 14, apprentice cigarmakers, testified that they had worked at the trade 18 months, 25 months, and 15 months respectively.

The next witness, a Hochelaga factory operative, said a number of children worked there. There were some there now of 10, who had been in the factory two years. He had known the factory to work thirteen hours a day. There were children working there now barefoot. Children are sought for in the Saguenay district by agents of the factory. The promises made by these agents were not always fulfilled. The company guarantees bills for board and groceries in some cases. A girl taking a piece of toilet paper for curling her hair is fined 20 cents, and for a second offence discharged. Very few employes but are fined 75 cents to $1 each fortnight.

Witness submitted the pay envelopes of four females. The first had fortnightly pay $12.60, fine $1; the second pay $12.55, fine 75 cents; the third pay $10.55, fine 25 cents; the fourth pay $6.33, fine 40 cents. In one weave room fines average $50 per month.

In the busy season work is carried on from 6.25 a.m. to 9 p.m. Children work the same hours as others. Occasionally half an hour is given for tea, but usually no time is allowed between 12.45 and 9.

Boys with bare feet have to pass through a passage containing snow. They earn so little money they cannot afford shoes and use them only to walk home and to the factory. Not one-quarter can read and write.

The employes, on engagement, have to sign a contract binding themselves to work on religious holidays. If they refuse to so work all moneys coming to them are forfeited to the company.

Gilbert Gagand, a former employe of the Hochelaga factory, corroborated the previous witness. He has had children working under him 8 years old, and has seen these children working from 6.30 a.m. to 9 p.m. with only 45 minutes' intermission. Witness has seen the foreman kick a boy often. Witness got a stick and took the boys' part. His own child has been ill-treated there. Fines are imposed on children; to his knowledge a young girl was fined $1 one day, whose wages were but 40 cents.

EXECUTIVE HEALTH OFFICERS.

Dr. J. Coventry of Windsor Opens Their Second Annual Meeting.

TORONTO, Feb 15.

There were just twenty-five members of the Ontario Association of Executive Health Officers present at the opening session of that most important body's second annual meeting in the Normal School Theatre yesterday afternoon. The theatre seemed for once dark and gloomy, and the twenty-five health men were almost lost. But they huddled together and sat on the front benches.

The President, Dr. J. Coventry of Windsor, occupied the chair while the Secretary, Dr. P. H. Bryce, was in his place. After routine business, Dr. C. S. Elliott, chairman of the Committee on House and Land Drainage and Disposal of Sewage, presented a report dealing fully with the nature and effects of sewage gas. It was called an arch enemy of the human race. Dependence was not to be placed entirely in architects, contractors and plumbers, but the people should be taught what proper drainage is.

Ald. Drayton, chairman of the Toronto Board of Health, read an interesting paper on "City Sewage." He urged the building of house sewage pipes so that they could be easily got at.

This was followed up by an exhaustive discussion of the sewage question, many of the members taking part, telling what their experience had been and suggesting remedies.

The chairman of the Committee on Ventilation of Houses, Schools and Public Halls was not present to make a report, but Dr. Cassidy, a member of the committee, was called on and gave an impromptu but interesting address. He spoke especially of the bad ventilation of schools. A long discussion followed.

The afternoon session was concluded by the reading and discussion of papers on "Adulteration and Unwholesome Supply of Food," presented by Dr. McLellan; "Sources and Contamination of Milk Supply." Dr. Lundy; and "Recent Methods in Milk Analysis," Dr. Nesbitt.

In the evening an address of welcome was given by Ald. Drayton, chairman of the Toronto Local Board of Health. Dr. Coventry of Windsor delivered an able address reviewing the year's progress and emphasizing the work of the association. An address on "The Duty of the State in Investigating the Causes of Disease," followed from Professor Victor C. Vaughan, of the Laboratory of Hygiene, Ann Harbor, Mich. Professor R. Ramsay Wright of University College, Toronto, read a paper on "Methods of Biological Analysis of Drinking Water." Dr. Barrows moved and Dr. Lundy seconded and it was unanimously carried:

That in view of the provincial interests involved in both the maintenance of the public health and of the economic loss which follows the produce of epidemic diseases, and the desirability of taking every effective measure to lessen such prevalence; that while at present the Government has established a Provincial Board of Health and armed local boards with powers to carry on sanitary work, yet the many questions which are constantly demanding solution by local boards, and which, owing to the lack of experience and facilities, are referred to the Provincial Board of Health, which, owing to the officers, whose time is only partially given to public health, are not placed in such a position to give to local boards that assistance to be desired only by local investigation and practical experiment; be it resolved, that this association appoint a committee to bring these views before the Attorney-General and the Minister of Agriculture and urge the great necessity of placing provincial boards in a position to give practical support to the efforts of local boards to improve public health.

The chairman nominated the following committee: Drs. Oldright, Sweetland, Burrows, Griffen, Lundy, McLellan and Drayton.

On the motion of Dr. Byrce a vote of thanks was given to the readers of the papers.

Dr. McMahon, M.P.P., promised to introduce the deputation to the Minister to-day.

The South Victoria (Dominion) election petition against the return of Mr. Adam Hudspeth, Q.C., was yesterday withdrawn.

Her Answer.

She asked for time her choice to make;
I gave consent for her sweet sake;
For weeks I waited for her word
To free me from my fears absurd.

My heart beat high with joy and hope,
As quick I seized the envelope;
Alas, alas, for my regards!
Her answer was—their wedding cards.
—Life.

Omaha Man—Want to borrow another quarter, eh! You told me some time ago you were going to Washington to get a job.

Tramp—I went there and applied for the job, but I couldn't pass the civil service examinations. They said I didn't know enough to come in when it rained.

"What job did you apply for?"

"Fourth assistant cleaner of congressional spittoons. But you needn't be afraid to lend me money. I've got a job in view."

"Oh, you have? What is it?"

"A man is to be tried for his life and I've been drawn on the jury."—Omaha World.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

The managers of the carnivals would confer a favor on the public who patronize them if the ice was kept clear during the races and drill. A Small Fire.

About ten o'clock on Tuesday night an alarm of fire was sounded on the town bell. The men and apparatus were soon on the way to the saddlery shop of Mr. Wm. Metcalf, Hunter-st., one door west of Mercer's tailoring establishment. A dense smoke filled the building and it was thought that the entire inside was on fire. The firemen soon gained an entrance and found that a piece of the baseboard near the stove was in flames. A line of hose was promptly laid from the hydrant near the corner, but the contents of two Babcock extinguishers were sufficient to quench the blaze and remove all danger. The fire started behind a stove where the kindling is placed at night to be handy for the following morning. It is supposed that a spark from the stove alighted on the light wood and ignited it. About three feet of the baseboard was burned and no further damage was done, the stock not being injured in the least. Mr. Metcalf has a policy on his stock in the Liverpool and London and Globe Company and the building is also insured.

Checker Match.

A checker match is in progress this afternoon, at the C. P. R. Hotel, between Messrs. R. Oryell, Lindsay, and T. Marr, for $25 a side. A couple of Lindsay friends accompanied Mr. Oryell.

Thawing Out.

Manager "Dick" Martin, of the Water Company, had his boiler out to-day thawing out frozen services and seeing that all the fire hydrants are kept in proper condition for use in case of fire.

Lively Work.

Within one minute after the fire alarm sounded last night, the firemen were on their way to the scene of the blaze and in thirty seconds later the two Babcocks were at work and in less than ten minutes from the first tap of the bell, the fire was out and the brigade on the way back to the fire station.

The Market.

The extremely cold weather had a depressing effect on the market to-day and the attendance was small. Beef, hay and wood were the principal commodities offered for sale. The butter, egg and poultry market was but poorly patronized and prices all around ruled at about the same figures as previously quoted.

Perfectly charming is what the ladies say about "Lotus of the Nile" Perfume.

New Harness.

It is understood that it is the intention of the Fire, Water and Light Committee to place a team of horses on the hose wagon. As it is now the wagon is so heavy that one horse draws it with great difficulty, but with two horses double the amount of hose can be carried with ease. Assistant Chief Craig leaves for Toronto this evening to see about the necessary double harness.

TO OUR FRIENDS.

*WE would announce to our many friends that the "At Home" to be held on Thursday evening next in the Lecture Room of the George-st. Scott Act Cases.

County Police Magistrate Edmison held a court in the Ashburnham Town Hall, on Tuesday afternoon, to dispose of some cases for infractions of the Canada Temperance Act. Inspector Darling was the complainant in each case and he was represented by County Attorney Wood. James Lindsay, of Apsley, in the township of Anstruther, was fined $50 and costs. Mrs. Betsy Ann Wilson, of Burleigh, was also fined $50 and costs while the case against Robert McCauley, of Burleigh, was dismissed with costs. A few days previously Henry Fox, of the township of Otonabee, was fined $50 and costs for a similar offence.

Teachers' Examination.

The English literature lessons from the High School Reader upon which Ontario candidates for third class teachers' certificates will be examined in July, 1888, are those beginning respectively on pages 62, 83, 88, 127, 147, 284, 208, 356; in verse on pages 40, 121, 272, 336, 401, 437, and the three pieces by Tennyson, 370 to 377. In Latin the limit is Cæsar, Bellum Gallicum I, 1 to 33; in French, De Fiva's Introductory French Reader, and in German, the High School German Reader (Grimm Kinderund-Hans Marchen.) The English literature for the second class examination is Cowper's Task, books III and IV, and Coleridge's Life of Sir Alexander Ball. The Latin for second class is Cicero In Catilinam I, Virgil Æneid I, and Cæsar Bellum Gallicum I, 1-33; the French, Un Philosophe sous les Toits; and the German, Das Kalte Herz and Schiller's Der Gang nach dem Eisenhammer.

Croup and Throat and Lung Troubles are treated successfully with Allen's Lung Balsam.

Matrimonial.

The marriage of Mr. Thomas Dunn and Miss McDonald, took place at St. Peter's Cathedral, on Tuesday afternoon. The groom was supported by Mr. Alex. Elliott and Miss Hurley acted as bridesmaid. The bride and her maid looked charming and such was the verdict of the large number who were present at the ceremony. The bride received a large number of costly and elegant presents and the happy couple left on the 5.15 G. T. R. train, to spend the honeymoon. We extend our congratulation and wish them long life and prosperity.

On the same day, another similar event took place, also at the cathedral, the parties interested being Mr. Leger Letellier and Miss. Laplante, daughter of the late Mr. Toussant Laplante. The Rev. Father Rudkins officiated and the wedding was celebrated only in the presence of some of the near relatives of the contracting parties. After partaking of a wedding breakfast at the residence of Mr. A. Letellier, the bride and groom took the C. P. R. train for Quebec, followed by the good wishes of a large circle of admiring friends.

Curlisms.

—The following curling clubs take part in the final draw for the Ontario Tankard:—Belleville, Bowmanville, Bright, Collingwood, Chesley, Galt, Hamilton Caledonian, Paris, Thamesville, Toronto, Toronto Granite, Woodstock and Wroxter. Play commenced at Toronto this morning.

—In the great bonspell at Toronto, on Tuesday, the County of York and City of Toronto v. Ontario, resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of 557 to 529.

—The deciding match between Peterborough and Halifax for the Governor-General's prize in the stone playing series, will be played on the Governor-General's rink, Ottawa, on Friday, the 25th inst. It will thus be seen that it is Halifax, not Truro, as before announced, that will compete against our two rinks.

—The rink from the Peterborough Club that went up to take part in the Toronto bonspell, were drawn to play on open ice, at the Moss Park rink, and as the ice was too soft and the water too deep no game took place. The Bobcaygeon players were also disappointed in the same way.

—For the third year in succession the Peterborough players, who have gone up to take part in the annual bonspell, at Toronto, have been disappointed and had to return home without playing a game. Next year the Peterborough men will look before they leap.

THE SECOND CARNIVAL.

A MERRY AND MOTLEY THRONG AT THE RINK

A Huge Success in Every Respect—Large Attendance of Maskers and Spectators —Those Awarded Prizes by the Judges.

The second grand skating carnival of the season, under the auspices of Canton Peterborough No 13, took place at the Lansdowne rink last evening and as was anticipated it far eclipsed its predecessor, in every respect.

The weather was fine and mild compared with what it was on the previous occasion and in consequence spectators and maskers turned out in large numbers and seldom, if ever, on such an occasion has the rink held as large a crowd.

The decorations were something extra and were handsome indeed. The word "Welcome," in large letters first met the eye upon entering and around the sides of the gallery were hung mottoes of the I.O. O. F., interspersed here and there with tastefully and artistically painted emblems. Festoons of evergreens and bannerettes were placed where they looked best and British and American flags and bunting were tastefully hung in various portions of the building. At the east side of the rink was placed the judges stand in the shape of a tent made of flags, the floor being covered with rugs and robes and a handsome suite of furniture afforded seating accommodation.

The full band of the 57th Battalion occupied the usual place and during the evening discoursed excellent music, without stint, to the great delight of all who were present.

As a general thing the spectators chose to look on from the gallery, from which place an uninterrupted view of all that was going on on the ice below could be obtained.

At eight o'clock those in costume were allowed on the ice and the scene was at once animated and beautiful. The varied costumes of the merry maskers presented an ever changing panorama as they glided over the ice and it was as if the spectators were looking through some huge kaleidoscope.

The costumes in variety and get up were far superior to those at the last carnival and though, perhaps more elaborate may have been seen here on previous occasions, we are inclined to think that for variety and taste displayed, the costumes of Tuesday night have never been excelled in Peterborough.

Although some nondescript and cheap dresses were to be seen, these varieties were not nearly so noticeable as usual. Of course the dude, the nigger, the volunteer and the old woman were on hand in good force, but the typical Irishman, the Indian Chief and the What is It? had but few representatives to the great relief of those who were acting the part of onlookers and critics.

A noticeable feature was the large number of the younger generation who took part, a large majority of those who were in costume being of tender years, but the characters they assumed and the manner in which they dressed did them infinite credit.

Those on the ice were the most democratic crowd imaginable. Kings were seen hobnobbing with peasants and Charles II. of England, was observed talking to an Indian from the Canadian Northwest. An Eskimo and a Turk were coon companions, while a butterfly and a bottle labelled "Moxie" stuck together as though they were fond of each other. As usual the military men had a monopoly of the ladies but several sailors were in their wake and saw that the redcoats did not carry off all the honors in that respect. An Italian bandit, about as fierce looking as could be imagined appeared to have a great regard for Uncle Sam, while a diminutive fairy with her wand, kept all the wild and noisy boys in check. English and American dudes, clowns, lacrosse players, loud voiced newsboys, frisky negroes and sedate kings, Highlanders and a donkey frisked about in all directions having for their partners Gipsy girls, Spanish ladies, Jewesses, Snowshoers, while a Russian Princess was frequently observed watching the representatives of British royalty.

The following is the list of those in costume, who obeyed the request to hand in their cards:—

In addition to those mentioned below as receiving prizes, it should be mentioned that a Northwest Indian and an Eskimo were among the best on the ice. The Hon. Robert Hamilton, who has seen many of both, stated that each was true to life, the Indian so much so, that he almost felt like addressing him in his own language.

THE PRIZE WINNERS.

Mrs. (Hon. R.) Hamilton, Mrs. Sherwood, Mrs. Lewis, Hon. R. Hamilton and Col. H. C. Rogers, who officiated as judges, after much consideration awarded the following prizes:—

LADIES.

BEST REPRESENTATION OF THE QUEENS OF ENGLAND—None competed.
BEST COURT LADY—None competed.
BEST CHARACTER—Miss B. Coe, "Prisms."
BEST CHARACTER, COMIC—Miss Nellie Galley, "Crazy Patchwork."
BEST COMIC CHARACTER, GIRLS—Miss M. McFarlane, "Old Woman who lived in a Shoe."
BEST DRESSED CHILD—Miss Google Lundy, "Fairy."

GENTLEMEN.

BEST KING OF ENGLAND—Mr. A. E. Thompson, "Charles II."
BEST HIGHLANDER—Mr. M. B. Fee.
BEST COMIC CHARACTER—Mr. W. Logan, "Donkey."
BEST COSTUME, BOYS—Mr. C. McFarlane, "Cavalier."
BEST COMIC, BOYS—P. Roper, "Butterfly."
BEST COSTUME, GENTLEMEN, GENERAL—F. Corkery, "Charles II."
SPECIAL (awarded by the judges)—E. Bysh, "A Northwest Indian."

THE RACES.

The barrel race brought out four competitors, but only two finished. They were very evenly matched and the winner had but little to spare. 1st Milton Minors; 2nd — Barrie.

The race for boys, five times around the rink, was started with about a dozen boys, but only two had any show. Gus. Sawers, jr., was the winner.

THE DRILL.

The members of the Canton gave an exhibition drill on the ice, including the "silent manual exercise." It was performed in an almost perfect manner, but the interference of the skaters spoiled the effect of it, as far as many of the spectators were concerned.

The arrangements all through were almost perfect and the result must be highly satisfactory to the officers and members of the Canton, who worked so hard and successfully. A third carnival will probably take place at an early date, which will soon be announced.

A BLAZE AT MILLBROOK.

Destroys Three Blocks and Does $30,000 Damage.

Shortly before nine o'clock on Tuesday evening fire was discovered in the premises of Mr. A. Armstrong, used as a dry goods store, at the village of Millbrook. The fire had gained considerable headway when it was first seen and as a high wind prevailed it spread with great rapidity. The other stores in the same block, were occupied by Messrs. F. Bateson, saddler; A. Lang, general store; Moffat Bros., butchers; and Wm. Coombe, tailor. All these places were burned to the ground and three families, who occupied apartments on the second and third storeys, were compelled to move out in quick order.

In the meantime the firemen with a small steamer and a hand fire engine, assisted by nearly all the male villagers, were battling bravely with the flames, but they were handicapped by the short supply of hose and despite their great efforts the fire continued to spread.

The stores of Messrs. Dr. Turner, drugs; Robert Deyell, drugs; the law office of Cruikshank & Weeks and the rooms of J. Deyell, who resided upstairs were destroyed. The fire was stopped about 11 p.m. at Howland's grocery store, which was somewhat damaged. The total loss is estimated at $30,000 and the insurance is not yet known.

The buildings destroyed were all on the north side of the main street and were of a good substantial class, three storey brick. Three blocks were in all swept away and the village now presents a desolate appearance.

Some twelve or fifteen years ago a disastrous fire also visited the village, but it was really a blessing in disguise, as the old frame buildings burned were replaced by handsome brick structures.

No accidents of any serious character are reported as having occurred.

While the fire was in progress a despatch was received here, asking that a supply of hose be sent down on the 8.50 express. The hose was got ready and taken to the depot, but the train had left. At any rate the hose would not have been of any use, as the couplings used in Millbrook and Peterborough have different threads.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Cole, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

William F. Bowker, Erie, Pa., was cured of nervousness and sleeplessness by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for about two months, during which time his weight increased over twenty pounds.

THE TWO CONDEMNED MEN

EFFORTS BEING MADE TO SAVE THEIR LIVES.

A Big Petition Being Prepared in John Gamble's Favor—Robert Neil's Lawyer Will Ask for a Respite to Enable Him to Show There is Insanity in The Case.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.

Toronto Jail contains to-day two men condemned to death—Robert Neil, alias Thompson, sentenced to die on Feb. 28 for the murder of Guard John Rutledge at the Central Prison on Jan. 13; and John Gamble, sentenced to hang on March 6 for the death by criminal operation of the young woman Lizzie Bray. Both men are under the strictest surveillance that Governor Green can place over them. Neil, who understood from a conversation with Mr. W. H. Howland on Saturday that the Executive would not extend its clemency, is naturally depressed. As for Gamble it may be said that there has been so much sympathy expressed for him that he is confident of having his severe sentence commuted.

A Reprieve for Neil.

Mr. N. G. Bigelow, counsel for Robert Neil, who is sentenced to die by the rope on Feb. 28 for the murder of Guard John Rutledge at the Central Prison, was seen by a reporter last night. Mr. Bigelow has just returned to town from a business trip eastwards. He said that application would at once be made to the Government, through the Secretary of State, for a respite in order to give Neil another chance. An effort will be made to show that Neil is eccentric—and perhaps insane—and also that similar characteristics have existed in the family. A number of letters have been received from Neil's family in the north of Ireland, and it is intended that every effort will be made to obtain for him a respite, and perhaps a commutation.

A Petition in Favor of Gamble.

Mr. W. G. Murdoch, the counsel for John Gamble, sentenced to be hanged on March 6 for the murder, by abortion, of Lizzie Bray, is active in an effort to have the unfortunate man's sentence commuted. A petition for clemency was circulated yesterday, and already it has over 2000 names. Another petition is being circulated in Bowmanville, the former home of Gamble and the town where his relatives now live.

Gamble, although under sentence of death, bears up well, and he feels assured that the sentence will not be carried out.

Mr. Murdock will leave for Ottawa to-morrow night to present to the Government the petitions for commutation.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

Moreover, he has never before had a gun in his own keeping; and the sensation, though novel, is not so enchanting as he had fondly hoped it might have been. He is plainly shy about the managing of it, and in his heart is not quite sure which end of it goes off. However, he lifts it with trembling fingers, and deliberately covers Rodney.

Mona, whose Irish blood by this time is at its hottest, on finding herself powerless to restrain the movements of Carthy any longer, had rushed to the wall near, and, made strong by love and excitement, had torn from its top a heavy stone.

Now, turning back, she aims carefully for Carthy's head, and flings the missile from her. A woman's eye in such cases is seldom sure, and now the stone meant for his head falls short, and hitting his arm, knocks the gun from his nerveless fingers.

This brings the skirmish to an end. Carthy, seeing all is lost, caves in, and, regardless of the prostrate figure of his companion, jumps hurriedly over the low wall, and disappears in the nightmist that is rolling up from the bay.

Rodney, lifting the gun, takes as sure aim as he can at the form of the departing hero; but evidently the bullet misses its mark, as no sound of fear or pain comes to disturb the utter silence of the evening.

Then he turns to Mona.

"You have saved my life," he says, in a tone that trembles for the first time this evening, "my love! my brave girl! But what an ordeal for you!"

"I felt nothing, nothing but the one thing that I was powerless to help you," says Mona, passionately; "that was bitter."

"What spirit, what courage, you displayed! At first I feared you would faint——"

"While you still lived? While I might be of some use to you? No!" says Mona, her eyes gleaming. "To myself I said, there will be time enough for that later on." Then, with a little dry sob, "There will be time to die later on."

Here her eyes fall upon Ryan's motionless figure, and a shudder passes over her.

"Is he dead?" she asks, in a whisper, pointing without looking at their late foe. Rodney, stooping, lays his hand on the ruffian's heart.

"No, he breathes," he says. "He will live, no doubt. Vermin are hard to kill. And if he does die," bitterly, "what matter? Dog! Let him lie there! The road is too good a place for him."

"Come home," says Mona, faintly.—Now the actual danger is past, terror creeps over her, rendering her a prey to imaginary sights and sounds. "There may be others. Do not delay."

In ignorance of the fact that Geoffrey has been hurt in the fray, she lays her hand upon the injured arm. Instinctively he shrinks from the touch.

"What is it?" she says, fearfully, and then, "Your coat is wet—I feel it. Oh, Geoffrey, look at your shirt. It is blood!" Her tone is full of horror.—"What have they done to you?" she says, pitifully. "You are hurt, wounded!"

"It can't be much," says Geoffrey, who, to confess the truth, is by this time feeling a little sick and faint. "I never knew I was touched till now. Come, let us go back to the farm."

"I wonder you do not hate me," says Mona, with a broken-hearted sob, "when you remember I am of the same blood as these wretches."

"Hate you!" replies he, with a smile of ineffable fondness, "my preserver and my love!"

She is comforted in a small degree by his words, but fear and depression still hold her captive. She insists upon his leaning on her, and he, seeing she is bent on being of some service to him, lays his hand lightly on her shoulder, and so they go slowly homeward.

CHAPTER XII.

Old Brian Scully is in his parlor, and comes to meet them as they enter the hall—his pipe behind his back.

"Come in, come in," he begins cheerily; and then, catching sight of Mona's pale face, stops short. "Why, what has come to ye?" cries he, aghast, glancing from his niece to Rodney's discolored shirt and torn coat; "what has happened?"

"It was Tim Ryan," returns Mona, wearily, feeling unequal to a long story just at present.

"Eh, but this is bad news!" says old Scully; evidently terrified and disheartened by his niece's words. "Where will it all end? Come in, Misther Rodney; let me look at ye, boy. No, not a word out of ye now till ye taste something. 'Tis in bits ye are; an' a good coat it was this mornin'. There's the whisky, Mona, agra, an' there's the wather. Oh! the black villain! Let me examine ye, me son. Why, there's blood on ye. Oh! the murthering thief!"

"Where's the dochter, at all, at all," continues he, turning to Biddy, who is standing open-mouthed in the doorway.

"Troth, sir, he is on the top of Carrigfoddha mountain to-night, an' won't be home till mornin'."

"What's to be done," says old Brian, sadly. "Can't ye do something for him?"

"Sure Miss Mona can," says Biddy, turning to her mistress, and standing in the doorway in her favorite position—that is, with her bare arms akimbo, and her head to one side like a magpie. "She's raal clever at dhressin', an' docthorin', an' that."

"Oh, no, I'm not clever," says Mona; "but,"—nervously and with downcast eyes, addressing Geoffrey—"I might perhaps be able to make you a little more comfortable."

A strange feeling of shyness is weighing upon her. Her stalwart English lover is standing close beside her, having risen from his chair with his eyes on hers, and in his shirt-sleeves looking more than usually handsome because of his pallor. How shall she bare the arm of this young Adonis?—how help to heal his wound?

She hesitates, though betraying no vulgar awkwardness or silly mauvaise honte. Indeed, the only sign of emotion she does show is a soft slow blush, that, mounting quickly, tips even her little ears with pink.

"Let her thry," says old Brian, in his soft, Irish brogue, that comes kindly from his tongue. "She's mighty clever about most things."

"I hardly like to ask her to do it," says the young man. "Perhaps it will make you unhappy—may shock you," he says to her, with some anxiety.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 14.

The grain and produce markets are generally firm and steady, though rather quiet.

On call at the Board of Trade: No. 1 red winter 82c bid, No. 2 red winter 84c on the track bid, No. 1 Manitoba hard offered at 91c and 88c bid.

The car lots received at Chicago to-day were: Winter wheat 7, spring wheat 48, corn 346, oats 171, rye 9 and barley 75.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago Stock Yards to-day is: Estimated receipts 19,000, official yesterday 14,361, shipments 4839, left over about 3000. Cattle receipts 5000. Market stronger.

Robt. Cochran received the following despatch by private wire from the New York Produce Exchange to-day: Wheat lower but steady. May 91¼ bid. Trading fairly active. Crowd bought early, now selling. Exports doing very little.

LOCAL STREET MARKET.

Business on the local market to-day was moderate. About 300 bushels of wheat offered and sold at 80c to 82c for fall, 81c for spring, and 72c to 75c for goose. Barley unchanged, with sales of 2000 bushels at 73c to 75c. Oats unchanged. 300 bushels selling at 46c to 47c. Peas are quoted at 69c to 70c. ## MR. CAMPBELL MUST GO.

THE CHANCELLOR'S DECISION REGARDING THE LIQUIDATOR'S CASE.

A Meeting of the Creditors of the Bank to be Called to Nominate Another Liquidator—Mr. Campbell Eligible—The Work of Liquidation Not to be Interrupted.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—Chancellor Boyd delivered judgment yesterday in the case of suspended Liquidator Campbell. The judgment is an elaborate and exhaustive review of the case, and covers every point raised. Mr. Campbell's colleagues will proceed with the work of liquidation until a third liquidator has been appointed by the creditors of the bank at a special meeting to be called for that purpose.

Following is the text of His Lordship's decision:

"My judgment is this: So far as I am concerned I do not take the responsibility of continuing Mr. Campbell in his position as liquidator. The proceedings tell against him, and I must have regard to the stand which the other two liquidators have taken against him. It is now for the creditors to say what they will do.

"Therefore I direct that the office of liquidator occupied by Mr. Campbell be vacated, and that a meeting of the creditors be called for the purpose of nominating a person to fill this third liquidatorship, without prejudice to Mr. Campbell being nominated for the office. The time and place of meeting will be settled by the Master.

"I do not dispose of the question of costs at present.

"There need be no suspension in dealing with the accounts by the other liquidators, Messrs. Howland and Gooderham. Their proceedings will go on as at present, in the meanwhile."

THE FIRST DIVIDEND.

The Central Bank Will Soon Pay a Fifteen Per Cent. Instalment.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—Messrs. Howland and Goodgham, liquidators of the Central Bank, waited on the Master-in-Ordinary yesterday morning and informed him that the funds in their possession justified them in the belief that they would be able to declare a dividend to the depositors, amounting to at least fifteen cents on the dollar, as soon after March 1 as a proper record of claims can be made out. The Master gave the required order.

No Dealings With Barnett.

In a letter received yesterday from Mr. E. S. Cox by a personal friend, Mr. Cox says: "I see Barnett has been interviewed and mentions me. Now remember this, I never had any thing of any kind to do with Barnett, directly or indirectly, and he knows nothing about me or my transactions."

Provincial Health Officers.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—The Medical Health Officers concluded their convention yesterday in the Normal School.

The report of Committee No. 5, on water supplies and their pollution, was presented by E. Griffith, M.D., the chairman of the committee.

Prof. W. Oldright, M.A., M.D., of the University Medical Faculty, read a paper on the "Cremation of Town Refuse."

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Dr. Burrows; 1st Vice-President, Dr. Griffin; 2nd Vice-President, Dr. McLellan, Preston. Drs. Tracey, Lundy, Cassidy, Deacon and Sweetland were appointed on the Executive Committee.

An Alleged Connection of the C.P.R.

ALBANY, N.Y., Feb. 15.—In the State Senate to-day Mr. Erwin's bill giving the Schenectady and Ogdensburg Railway Company the right to operate steam barges, floats and boats came up on its final passage. Mr. McLaughlin read statements that the Schenectady and Ogdensburg was a connection of the Canadian Pacific, and under the provisions of the bill the Canadian Pacific could control the shipment of grain and merchandise from Sault Ste. Marie to Ogdensburg by way of the Welland instead of the Erie or Oswego Canals, and possibly to Boston instead of New York. The bill was recommitted to the Railway Committee for hearing.

The Parkhill Brute Lodged in Jail.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Allan Patton, who is charged with criminally assaulting a girl of 15 or 16 while out cutter riding at Parkhill, was lodged in the jail here to-day. The girl's name is Hannah Rowe, and she was in the employ of Mr. Simon McLeod, Warden of Middlesex, who laid the information in the case. According to the testimony the assault was a most brutal one. Miss Rowe in her endeavors to escape from Patton jumped from the sleigh and sprained her ankle.

Death at Monte Carlo of a Cobourg Lady.

COBOURG, Feb. 15.—A cablegram from Monte Carlo has brought the tidings of the death of Mrs. Rosamond, wife of Wm. Rosamond, President of the Cobourg Woolen Manufacturing Company. Mrs. Rosamond was the eldest daughter of Col. Skill, a retired officer in Her Majesty's army. She was 29 years of age and was held in high esteem.

Suspected Murder by Poisoning at Ayr.

AYR, Feb. 15.—Coroner Brown of Galt will hold an inquest to-morrow on the death of Wm. Perrin who died here suddenly on Feb. 14. Owing to the suspicious circumstance connected with the case, which point to poison by strychnine, foul play is suspected, and Mrs. John Russell, Mrs. Wm. Perrin, wife of deceased, and a man named Scott, have been placed under arrest.

DEBATING THE ADDRESS.

THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE CRIMES ACT DENOUNCED.

Sir Col. King-Harman Declares That the National League is Losing Power—William O'Brien and John Dillon Make Their First Appearance for the Session.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech was resumed in the House of Commons to-day by John Ellis (Liberal), who supported Parnell's amendment. He denied that the decrease of crime in Ireland was owing to the Crimes Act and asserted that the returns submitted by the Government to support that claim were valueless, inasmuch as they failed to give details which would enable the identification of any of the cases they cited. He condemned the action of the Irish magistrates, many of whom were unqualified for the positions they occupied, while others had been guilty of arbitrary conduct. The administration of the Crimes Act reeked with petty malignity and calculated tyranny. [Cheers from the Irish members.] If the Government would assent to the appointment of a select committee of inquiry he promised that ample evidence of maladministration of the act would be forthcoming. The National League was stronger than ever and the spirit of the Irish people remained unbroken, the reason being that they were convinced that when the facts were known the electors would sweep away the present mockery called the Government of Ireland. [Irish cheers.]

Col. King-Harman (Conservative) declared that the events of the past few months showed that the league was losing power. No real attempts were now made to hold meetings in the proclaimed districts.

Herbert Gladstone taunted the Government with the utter failure of their attempt to prevent the progress of the Plan of Campaign or to suppress the National League.

On motion of Wm. O'Brien the debate was adjourned. Mr. O'Brien will resume the discussion to-morrow.

William O'Brien and John Dillon made their appearance in the House to-day for the first time this session. They were warmly greeted.

THE CROWN PRINCE.

His Condition Unchanged—Anxiety for the Crown Princess.

SAN REMO, Feb. 15.—The local and general condition of the Crown Prince is unchanged.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—A London despatch says that the Queen is very anxious about the German Crown Princess, who may not much longer be able to bear the severe mental strain to which she has been subjected during the last nine months, and there are signs that her nervous system is getting seriously out of order. The Princess was in a state of perfect distraction on Wednesday and Thursday of last week, and after the operation had been pronounced inevitable, she appeared almost bereft of reason, and had to be guarded in her own rooms until it was over, after which she recovered her composure.

EXTENSIVE FIRES.

Foundry and Cooper Shop Destroyed at Chatham—The Millbrook Disaster.

CHATHAM, Feb. 15.—Fire early this morning destroyed the cooper shop of Andrew Irwin and the machine shops and foundry of McKeough & Trotter. Irwin's loss is $1,200 on building and $1,500 on stock, insurance $1000; McKeough & Trotter loss $20,000, insured in Waterloo Mutual for $1000, Glasgow and London $1000, British America $1000. A Michigan Central box car, which stood on the track close to the foundry, is a total loss.

Millbrook's Losses.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 15.—The principal losses by last night's fire, which was caused by the bursting of a lamp, are: Lang, groceries, $1,500, insured $500; Armstrong, dry goods, $1500, insured $1000; S. Battson, harness, $1000, insured $700; Moffatt, boots and shoes, $300, no insurance; Coombs, tailor, $4000, insured $2000; Mulligan block $4000, insured $2000.

Quebec's Little Blaze.

QUEBEC, Feb. 15.—The fire which originated in the gas works to-day was got under control at the start, only about $300 damage being done; covered by insurance.

A Big Fire at Elmira.

ELMIRA, N.Y., Feb. 15.—The entire building of The Elmira Advertiser was burned to-night. Nothing was saved but a few files. The bindery, composing room and editorial employes all had narrow escapes. The Sunday Tidings office, next door south of The Advertiser, was also destroyed. The Advertiser's loss is from $50,000 to $70,000, insurance $30,000; H. G. Besey, laundry, loss $2000; insured; Sunday Tidings loss $7000; insurance $2550; J. M. Robinson & Sons loss $30,000, insurance $24,000; Miss Anderson, dressmaking, loss $2300, no insurance; loss on the two buildings destroyed besides The Advertiser and Robinson's buildings $30000, insurance $9500; Arnot estate loss on Robinson building $25,000, insured $20,000.

ONTARIO GRAND LODGE, A.O.U.W.

Tenth Annual Session in Progress at Hamilton—Grand Recorder's Report.

HAMILTON, Feb. 15.—The tenth annual session of the Ontario Grand Lodge, A.O.U.W., opened here this morning, and at roll call 335 representatives responded to their names. Grand Master H. R. Taylor of Whitby stated that on Dec. 31, 1887, there were in Ontario 220 lodges, with a membership of 14,003. During the year 39 deaths had occurred and $178,000 had been paid to the widows and orphans of the deceased brothers.

Grand Recorder M. D. Calder's report showed total cash received during the year $193,955, an increase of $20,545 over last year. There have been 17 lodges organized during the year, with an average membership of 17.

Last night the Wentworth graduates and undergraduates of Toronto University held their first annual dinner, about thirty-five being present.

Albert Logan of Toronto, agent, was charged at the Police Court this morning with the larceny of a watch from J. W. Bigger. Logan claimed that he won the watch from Bigger on a bet and was allowed to go, the watch being returned to Bigger.

Not so Bad After all.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 15.—Grossly exaggerated reports have been published recently in a local newspaper and widely copied regarding the number of illegitimate children born in London, it being stated that no less than 138 cases had been treated in the City Hospital during the past year. At to-night's meeting of the Hospital Trust Superintendent Balfour presented a report showing that 33 cases of child birth were treated at the hospital during the year. Of these 2 were married women and the majority, he believed, were from outside localities, the hospital being taken advantage of for this purpose by the entire western peninsula.

Death of an American Editor.

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 15.—D. R. Locke ("Petroleum V. Nasby") died at his residence in this city of consumption and a complication of organic troubles this morning.

THE FISHERIES COMMISSION.

A Treaty Relating Exclusively to the Fisheries Signed Last Night.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—After almost daily sessions for the past two weeks the Fisheries Commissioners at 7 o'clock to-night completed their labors and signed a treaty which, it is believed, will result in a satisfactory settlement of the disputes that have existed for almost a century between this Government and Great Britain over the North Atlantic fisheries. The treaty is signed by all six of the commissioners, and is said to have their full concurrence. It will be sent to the President to-morrow for transmittal to the Senate.

Before the treaty can take effect it must have the ratification of the Queen of Great Britain, the Dominion of Canada and the Province of Newfoundland as well as of the Senate of the United States.

Although the treaty will not at present be made public it can be stated that it relates exclusively to the disputes concerning the fisheries of the North Atlantic coast and does not include any provisions concerning the Behring Sea trouble or Commercial Reciprocity.

The treaty, it may also be added, does not contemplate the admission of fish into the United States free of duty.

Secretary Bayard said to-night that he could not, because of his official position, make known the contents of the treaty, but that it was his earnest wish that it should be given to the press by those having the right to make such disposition of it and that every line of it should be published.

The dispute, he said, was of long standing and had come to him by inheritance when he assumed the duties of Secretary of State. He had used his best endeavors to reach a satisfactory agreement with the Government of Great Britain, and believed that he had succeeded so far as it lay in his power to effect a settlement.

A London Journal's Comments.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The Standard, referring to the signing of the fisheries treaty at Washington, congratulates the commissioners and assumes that should the Senate refuse to ratify the treaty President Cleveland would use his constitutional prerogative to make a provisional arrangement with Canada on the basis of the treaty, which would serve the same purpose, in the hope that the next Senate elected would finally ratify the treaty.

THE SUPREME COURT.

Ontario Cases Inscribed for Hearing—Election Appeals—Counsel and Agents.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—The following Ontario cases have been inscribed for hearing in the Supreme Court:

O'Brien v. the Queen—Robinson & O'Brien for appellant; Stewart, Chrysler & Godfrey, agents; Bain, Laidlaw & Kerr for respondent; A. Ferguson, agent.

Cauchon, et al. v. Langelier (Montmorenci)—J. G. Bosse for appellant; Pinhey, Christie & Christie, agents; Montambault, Langelier, Langelier & Taschereau for respondent; McIntyre, Lewis & Code, agents.

A NEW FLOATING PALACE.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC STEAMSHIP CO.'S BIG VESSEL.

The Capital's Projected Farewell to the Governor-General—The Date of His Excellency's Departure Not Yet Fixed, but it Will not be in March.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—Captain Irving of Victoria, B. C., is at the Russell. He is on his way to Glasgow, Scotland, to inspect a big steamer now building there for the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company. The vessel, which is to be a floating palace, will cost $250,000, and will be completed in July. The steamer goes to the Pacific via Capel Horn.

The Manitoba and Northwestern Railway.

Mr. C. F. Bridges, vice-president, and Mr. Eden, land agent of the Manitoba and Northwestern Railway, Winnipeg, are in town. The object of their mission, it is understood, is to request the Government to accept the building of twenty miles of mail line of railway this year instead of fifty miles which is called for by the charter. The matter is one the Railway Committee of the House of Commons will likely have to deal with. The construction of twenty miles, it is claimed, will be amply sufficient for the requirements of settlers along the projected route.

Father Paradis' Cases.

The Gilmour-Paradis case, or rather nine cases, will be argued before the Privy Council in May or June, when Mr. Rochon, M.P.P., attorney for plaintiff in the court below, will probably go to England for the final hearing and argument. He states that he feels confident of success in this final appeal, as the five judges of the Queen's Bench (appeal side) confirmed the judgment given in the first instance by Mr. Justice Wurtele in the Superior Court at Aylmer.

The Poultry Exhibition.

Hon. John Carling, Minister of Agriculture, visited the poultry show this afternoon and was accompanied by Prof. Saunders. They were shown through the place and the minister examined the various classes closely. He will recommend that a collection of the choice birds be purchased for the experimental farm. A collection of eggs will be purchased also. Mr. Carling will do all in his power to encourage the poultry raisers and expressed himself delighted with the exhibition and thought the collection of birds was very creditable to the association.

Proposed Farewell to His Excellency.

In view of the fact that His Excellency Lord Lansdowne's removal from Canada has been officially announced, Mayor Stewart wrote offering, on behalf of the citizens of the Capital, a farewell reception, to be given on the eve of His Excellency's departure, and also congratulating him on his appointment as Viceroy of India. The Mayor yesterday received a letter from Capt. Streatfield which states that the Mayor's communication had been laid before Lord Lansdowne, who desired to thank His Worship for his congratulation and to accept the reception tendered him in the name of the citizens.

The letter states that there is no truth in the rumor recently published that His Excellency's departure would take place in March, and that Lord Lansdowne did not anticipate that it would be necessary for him to leave until near the natural end of his term of office. For these reasons His Excellency did not think it would be wise to fix any date for the public reception at present.

The reception will take the form of either a dinner or a ball, probably the latter.

Fishery Matters.

In consideration of the stormy weather which recently prevailed on the Atlantic coast the Minister of Fisheries has extended the close season for smelt fishing from Feb. 14 to Feb. 28.

The fishery bounty claims are being scheduled by the Fisheries Department with all possible despatch, with a view to their early payment.

A regulation has been adopted by which owners or masters of vessels intending to fish and claim bounty for the present season are required, before proceeding on their fishing voyage, to procure a license from the nearest collector of customs or fishery officer. The object of this license is to enable the department to keep trace of the vessels so engaged and is a declaration that the vessel is about to proceed to such a destination, which must be sent in with the claim at the end of the season.

Personal Notes.

Mayor Stewart and Ald. McVeity, Gordon, Ernst and Henderson left for Toronto this evening in connection with the Annexation Bill before the Ontario Legislature.

Mr. Cochrane, M.P., is in the city.

Rev. Mr. Herridge is ill.

J. S. Hall, M.P., had an interview with the Minister of Customs to-day regarding the duty to which dynamite should be subjected.

The Cabinet will meet in council to-morrow.

Has Albert a Twin Brother?

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 15.—A local sporting man named Chas. Bibbins offers to bet $2000 against $2000 that James Albert did not walk 621 miles in the recent race in the Madison square Garden and that he cannot walk 500 miles in six days. It is understood that if the bet is accepted Bibbins will undertake to prove that 621 miles were accomplished by Albert and a twin brother who looks precisely like him, walking alternately.

LAKEFIELD.

Correspondence of the Review.

FURNACE ADDED.—Mr. D. Arnott has been fitting Medill Bros'. dry goods store with a furnace.

SALES.—Mr. Geo. McIlmoyle, our popular auctioneer, has a number of sales advertised.

EVENT OF THE SEASON.—The band will give their annual concert and entertainment on Monday next, Feb. 20th. A fifty minute farce is to wind up the evening's enjoyment. Special scenery for the occasion is being painted by Mr. Geo. Scrimger, artist. The Lakefield orchestra will make their first appearance; also two recitations will be given during the evening. A special feature will be that four prizes will be given to the parties holding lucky tickets. The prizes are as follows:—1st prize, 100 lbs flour, $3.50; 2nd prize, 4 lbs. tea, $2.00; 3rd prize, set dishes, $1.50; 4th prize, glass tea set, $1.00. Our boys of the band have been very liberal in the dispensing of their sweet strains of music. I think for their encouragement the citizens of the village should give them a bumper house on Monday night next and show the band that their efforts are appreciated.

ILL.—Your correspondent is very sorry to report that Mrs. McEwen has been very ill for some time past.

CONTRACT LET.—Mr. F. Lillicrap has awarded the contract for building his new brick house to Mr. Thos. Gordon. Contract price, $1,850.

BETTER THAN TORONTO "THE GOOD."—Lakefield is the quintessence of sobriety. She is on her good behaviour, no constable being required. So some of the city father's think.

REAL ESTATE PURCHASE.—Mr. David Gillespie, farmer, of Smith, has bought a farm in the County of Huron. Price paid, $3,600! Success, David.

CIVIC COMMITTEES.—The Reeve on Monday night last gave the Road and Bridge Committee great credit for the way they have taken hold of their work, but thought the Finance Committee required stirring up.

NEEDING ATTENTION.—The Douro road-master, Mr. Jury, would do well to look a little better after his beat, as the roads are nearly impassible. If any accident happens it may cost the Douro Council more to settle it than to keep their road in proper repair.

THE SIDEWALKS.—Our snow plough man must not think that the outside ratepayers have not the right to the benefit of the snow plough. They have just the same rights as any of the ratepayers of the village and he must not forget to open all the streets in the village when required.

WITH THE BEST INTENTIONS.—The Lakefield citizens are very hard to please regarding railroad accommodation. For example, they are not satisfied though the G. T. R. Co. wishing to give our citizens the full value for their money, in the way of a ride, back all around the beautiful town of Peterborough and stop every five minutes to let the passengers have the benefit of the scenery. They also stop at Hazlett's lumber piles so they can gain information regarding quality of lumber and how to pile lumber. At Nassau they stop from half an hour to an hour, to let passengers take a stroll around the city. In wandering through the different streets, and inspecting the beautiful buildings, sometimes they have strolled to Lakefield and inform the inhabitants here that the train is taking a rest at the town of Nassau, for the benefit of the passengers. Regarding the fire to keep the passengers warm, the G. T. R. is afraid passengers, with the great excitement of viewing the wonderful scenery, would become overheated with a fire, and require a drink of water, thereby compelling the train to stop and the obliging conductor to go to a farm house to procure water, as none is ever kept in the water tank in the car. The G. T. R. has nothing but the welfare of its passengers at heart.

CORNER LOAFERS—take warning! The County Constables are watching you, and are going to take a list of names of those who make it a habit of obstructing the Queen's highway, and have them published, and also bring those who practice loafing before the J.P.

COUNCIL MEETING.—A regular meeting of the Council took place Monday night, Feb. 13th. Present, the Reeve in chair, and Councillors Henderson, Nelson and Moore. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. It was moved by Councillor Henderson, and seconded by Councillor Nelson,—that the following accounts as recommended by the finance committee, be paid and that the Reeve's order be issued for the the same:—

| | |
|---|---|
| Gerald Fitzgerald, fire department | $ 5 00 |
| Hugh Fitzgerald, gravel on Park-st | 10 00 |
| G. R. Chapin, table | 2 50 |
| P. Baptie & Son, work | 6 50 |
| Hugh Fitzgerald, clearing snow | 10 00 |
| Total | $34 00 |

The Road and Bridge committee gave in their report and it was adopted by the Council. It was moved by Councillor Henderson and seconded by Councillor Nelson,—That a general committee be appointed, consisting of Councillors Moore and Hull.—Carried. A communication was read from the assessors asking instructions regarding the assessing of the village; also a verbal communication from the Douro Council regarding the opinions of a road leading into the village and asking the Lakefield Council for a grant of money to assist the Douro Council in the undertaking. It was moved by Councillor Nelson, seconded by Councillor Henderson,—That the request of the deputation from the Douro Council be received and referred to the Road and Bridge Committee, that they report at next meeting.—Carried. It was moved by Councillor Henderson and seconded by Councillor Moore,—That the communication of Messrs. Griffin and Hendren, Assessors, be received, and regarding the questions of assessment, that they be instructed to go by the Assessment Act.—Carried. A by-law to repeal by-law No. 91 and amend by-law No. 80, to fix the Clerk's salary at $50 per annum, received its several readings and was sealed and signed by the Reeve and Clerk. It was moved by Councillor Henderson and seconded by Councillor Moore,—That the Auditors' report be received and the Clerk is hereby instructed to have 200 copies of the Auditors report printed.—Carried. The Council then adjourned to meet at the call of the Reeve.

FINED.—An unruly tongue cost a young farmer a very dear penny. James Bickle was brought before Magistrate Hall on Tuesday by young Mr. Jury for using abusive language toward him on the street in Lakefield on Feb. 7th. He was fined $5 and $3 cost; total $8. On the same day in the afternoon a charge was preferred by Constable Cochrane before Magistrate Edmison against the same James Bickle for using profane and obscene language on the streets of Lakefield. James again was fined $5 and $6.15 costs; total, $11.15; grand total, for James' unruly tongue, $19.15. Magistrate Edmison warned him that the punishment could have been made $50 and costs or six months imprisonment with or without hard labor according to the discretion of the Magistrate. Your correspondent is glad that our County Constables are taking such a decided stand in this matter, and hopes that this warning will be sufficient to keep our streets clear both of old and young men who think so little of themselves as to lower their manhood by using profane language. The County Constables are determined to root this evil out, as well as the corner loafers.

SCOTT ACT CASES.—Magistrate Edmison was in the village on Tuesday last to hear charges preferred by Inspector Darling against Mr. McCauley, Burleigh road, and Mr. Wilson, Burleigh road, for the violation of the Scott Act. Both pleaded guilty and were fined $50 and costs. Mr. Lindsay, of Apsley, was charged with the same offence, but proved himself not guilty. The case was dismissed.

PREVENTION BETTER THAN CURE.—Another warning to Lakefield. Millbrook had a $15,000 fire. Lakefieldites, prepare; your time is sure to come. A $15,000 fire would build three systems of fire protection.

A LOSS.—Mrs. Capt. Fort was unfortunate enough to lose her gold watch and chain between Lakefield and Peterborough on Tuesday last.

PUBLIC SCHOOL BOARD.—A regular meeting of the Lakefield Public School Board was held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday, Feb. 14th. All the members were present. The minutes of the last two meetings were read and confirmed. A communication was received from the Head Master enclosing the report for the month of Janury. The total number of names on the roll was 267, and the average attendance for the month was 224. It was moved by Mr. Smith and seconded by Mr. Cochrane,—That the Head Master's report be received.—Carried. It was moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Graham, and carried,—That the following accounts be paid:—

| | |
|---|---|
| W. McDonald | $ 1 02 |
| G. A. Milner | 3 45 |
| R. & G. Strickland | 2 00 |
| Fortye & Phelan | 1 60 |

It was moved by Mr. Dench and seconded by Mr. Cochrane,—That the necessary repairs be referred to the Property Committee with power to act.—Carried. It was moved by Mr. Graham and seconded by Mr. Cochrane,—That all parties attending the school must take up all the subjects in each class and department that may seem proper to the teacher.—Carried. It was moved by Mr. Cochrane and seconded by Mr. Abbott.—That the matter of James Graham's account be referred to the Minister of Education and that the Secretary write Mr. Graham to that effect.—Carried. The meeting then adjourned.

SPRINGVILLE.

Correspondence of the Review.

A SERMON.—The Rev. Mr. Tovell preached the missionary sermon in Fraserville Church on Sunday evening last.

FUNERAL.—Matthew Lattimer, the youngest son of the late Joseph Lattimer, of South Monaghan, died on Monday morning after a severe illness. The funeral took place on Wednesday, the remains being interred in the Forest Chapel burying ground.

OUR CHEESE FACTORY.—We understand that Mr. Roberts has not succeeded in obtaining a guarantee of sufficient patronage to the cheese factory and consequently will not proceed.

A FRACAS.—The slumberers of our usually quiet village were aroused last week in the small hours of the morning, not by the usual Thomas cat squabble, but by a pair of almost equally ignorant barbarians who were having a mill. One of them chewed the other's hand. Pity they were not brought before the Captain.

HORSE LOST.—Mr. Robert Thompson lost a good horse by sudden sickness on Monday.

BENSFORT.

Correspondence of the Review.

NEW CHEESE FACTORY.—Mr. W. A. Pue having rented his farm in Dummer, near Norwood, he and his brother, Mr. J. T. Pue, are going to build a new cheese factory here. The expect to arrive here in the first week in March and will at once commence the erection of the factory. The building will be 25x30 and the factory will be equipped to make cheese from the milk of four hundred cows. There is no cheese factory within ten miles of the place where this one is to be started, and there should be a good field for it to be profitable both for the Messrs. Pue and for the farmers of this section. Mr. Stevenson, who was cheese maker in the Woodland, Percy, factory last year, has been engaged for the Bensfort factory, and the fact that he had not a cull during last season speaks well for his ability as a maker. Success to the new industry.

SOUTH DUMMER.

Correspondence of the Review.

LUMBERING.—There is a large business doing on the river Ouse this winter in lumbering, cedar being the principal wood. Mr. Brackenridge is the buyer. We understand that he has a contract for 200,000 ft. It is quite a boon for those along the creek.

SPECIAL SERVICES.—Revival services have commenced in the South Dummer Church and are ably conducted by the Rev. Mr. Anderson, the pastor.

COAL OIL.—Indications of the coal oil have been found on the farm of Mr. Charles Bussw, in the 9th concession of Dunmer. Water on the farm had an oily taste and stones taken from the well when put into the fire would burn. A gentleman from Sarnia interested in oil has been dowa investigating the matter.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Yesterday was a busy one with the Legislature. For about three hours the House devoted itself assiduously to the business which had accumulated on the order paper. The feature of the sitting was the advancement of several important bills a stage. Although the House did not hold an evening session it may be fairly claimed that they did a good day's work. All the members except three or four were in their places. The adjournment was at 5.50.

Mr. Meredith asked whether any journal or other record of the proceedings of the conference of certain members of the executive councils of this and certain other of the provinces held in Quebec in October last was kept. If any such journal or other record was kept, if it is the intention to lay a copy of it before the House.

The Attorney-General said—I believe that a journal or other record of the proceedings of the conference was kept. A copy of it has been sent to every member of the House.

Mr. French asked whether, in view of the recent considerable increase of jurisdiction of the division courts and the narrowing down thereby of the jurisdiction of the county courts, it is the intention of the Government, during this session, to abolish the present jurisdiction of county courts and transfer such jurisdiction to the division courts, or, on the other hand, to largely increase the present jurisdiction of the county courts.

The Attorney-General—It is not the intention of the Government at the present session to introduce any measure with reference to the question asked by the hon. member for Grenville.

Mr. Blyth moved for an address to the Lieutenant-Governor praying that he will cause to be laid before this House a return of copies of all orders in council with respect to the investment of sinking funds of municipalities under the provisions of the Municipal Act. He contended that though, according to law, the municipalities were permitted to invest money they had on hand in chartered banks, trust companies, first mortgages on real estate, municipal debentures, provincial and Dominion securities, the modes of investment were not what was desired. Investment in trust companies was insecure, and he knew of two municipalities, one of which had lost $24,000 and the other $14,000 by depositing in the Central Bank. What they wanted was a government savings bank, where the municipalities could deposit. The Government was borrowing from other sources and it might just as well borrow from the municipalities, and at the same time confer a boon on them by keeping their money till it was required. Hon. A. M. Ross intimated that the Government would not establish such an institution. There were sufficient means afforded to municipalities, when care and discretion were exercised, for safe and permanent investment of funds. He had no objection to the motion passing.

Mr. Lees' bill to amend the General Road Companies Act, was taken up. It gave power to county councils, upon the petition of one hundred ratepayers, to have arbitrators appointed to decide upon what benefit the abolition of tolls upon roads running through townships or to towns or villages, would be. It gave the arbitrators power to assess interested municipalities their fair share towards the purchase of such roads. On the completion of the purchase all tolls were to be abolished. The Attorney-General said this was an important matter. It was very desirable that all tolls on roads used by the public should be abolished. However it would be well to allow the road companies an opportunity to appear and give any suggestion they might have to offer. The bill was given a second reading, and referred to the Municipal Committee.

Dr. McKay's bill "for the prevention of accidents by fire in hotels and public buildings" provides that hotel proprietors shall build iron ladders or stairways on the outside of the building above the first story; that a rope fire escape shall be kept in each bedroom above the ground floor, and that any hotel man found not complying with the law shall be subject to a fine of not less than $20 or more than $200. The bill was read a second time and referred to a committee composed of Messrs. Hardy, Meredith, H. E. Clarke, Wood (Brant), Gibson (Hamilton), Guthrie, Craig, Ingram, Fraser and Metcalfe.

These bills were introduced and read a first time:

Mr. Bronson—An act to amend the Railway Act of Ontario.

Mr. Lees—An act respecting the Town of Parkdale.

Hon. G. W. Ross—An act respecting the endowment of University College and Upper Canada College.

Mr. Monk—An act to amend the Assessment Act.

Mr. Conmee—An act respecting the Town of Port Arthur and townships adjacent to the town.

Around the Lobbies.

The biggest deputation of the session entered the Attorney-General's presence at 6.30 o'clock last evening. There were about fifty altogether, from different parts of Parry Sound and Muskoka districts. They came to protest against the proposal to form a county or counties for municipal purposes, out of these districts. They wanted districts for judicial purposes only. There were two plans of division proposed. A. R. Town, Hugh Hunter, James Sharpe, R. H. Menzies, E. O. Taylor, Wm. A. Kelsey of The Burk's Falls Arrow, Henry Muir, Wm. Brisbin, Geo. Morrison and others from the vicinity of Burk's Falls, wanted Parry Sound divided into two districts, east and west. The dividing line would be west by the Townships of McMurrich, Ryerson, Chapman, Pringle and Patterson. The western district would have twenty-seven townships and the eastern twenty-three. Charles Kinton, H. P. May, J. W. Jacob, F. W. Clearwater of The Huntsville Forester, Dr. Howland, John Paget and a large following wanted the district divided north and south by the "Scott Act line," which runs north from Bracebridge, and make provisional counties of each division, with the provision that they shall be made full fledged counties when the townships demand it. Parry Sound would be, according to their plan, the capital of Parry Sound, and Huntsville, of Muskoka.

Hon. A. S. Hardy went to Brantford yesterday to attend the funeral of the late John H. Stratford.

RELATING TO NOTES.

Notes dated Sunday are void.

Notes given by minors are void.

Notes obtained by fraud, or given by an intoxicated person, cannot be collected.

Notes falling due on Sunday, or on a legal holiday, must be paid the day previous.

A joint note is one signed by two or more persons, who each becomes liable for the whole amount.

An indorser has a right of action against all whose names were previously on a note indorsed by him.

Deposits of money in a bank, placed to the credit of depositors, are always subject to their check for full amount due.

The maker of a note that is lost or stolen is not released from payment if the amount and consideration can be proven.

Three days' grace are allowed on all time notes, after the time for payment expires; if not then paid, the indorser, if any, should be legally notified, to be holden.

A negotiable note must be made payable either to bearer, or be properly indorsed by the person to whose order it is made. If the indorser wishes to avoid responsibility, he can indorse "without recourse."

Demand notes are payable on presentation without grace, and bear legal interest, after a demand has been made, if not so written. An indorser on a demand note is holden only for a limited time, variable in different states.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there was a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

At the Rink.

Skaters, attention. Band at the rink every Friday night. d151—tf.

Board Education.

A special meeting of the Board of Education will be held at the Board Room on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The question of fees for county pupils will, it is understood, receive further attention.

Personal.

Mr. John O'Donnel, a former well known resident of Peterborough, who for many years carried on business here, now general travelling agent for the Etna Life Insurance Company, is visiting town.

Cigarettes de Athlete du Rubidge.

A New Alarm.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company have of late been testing a new electric alarm, designed to take the place of the ordinary bell rope now in use. It has given such great satisfaction that it will probably at an early date be adopted on all the passenger trains on the line.

R. T. of T.

At the annual meeting of the Grand Council of the Royal Templars of Temperance, held at Toronto, on Wednesday, Miss M. J. Sanderson, of Peterborough, was elected Grand Deputy Herald and the Rev. W. Burns, of Warkworth, Grand Chaplain. The next annual meeting will be held at London.

Derby Cigarettes 5c. Package.

Cleared.

The line of the Canadian Pacific railway east of Peterborough has been badly blocked by snow during the last few days. The western section also suffered somewhat from the same cause. Snowploughs and scrapers have been going up and down the line at short intervals and the road is now clear.

It was Cold.

The Rev. Mr. Clementi's thermometer registered 20 below zero last night, 7 lower than it reached on the preceding night. The majority of people will be surprised to learn this fact as the cold last night was not felt nearly so much as on the night before. The wind, no doubt, accounts for the difference.

Athlete Cigarettes 10 cts. Package.

No Debate.

The regular weekly meeting of St. Peter's Literary and Debating Society, was held at the Murray-st. Separate school on Wednesday evening. There was a good attendance and the President, Mr. J. D. McIlmoyle, occupied the chair. Owing to the fact that the gentleman who was to lead the negative, was suddenly called away to Hamilton, the debate was postponed until the next meeting. An excellent programme of readings, songs and recitations was carried out and a pleasant and profitable evening was spent.

The New Temple.

The new temple for the Salvation Army is to be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible. The old buildings on the site are now being removed and some of the brick is on the ground. The Temple will be of red brick, two storeys high and will present a bold front, with a small tower in the centre, to Simcoe-st. The main part of the building will have seating accommodation for one thousand people and in addition quarters will be provided for the officers and apartments for the Divisional staff. In appearance the building will resemble the large temple, on Adelaide-st., Toronto, but, of course, it will be on a much smaller scale.

A Hoax.

The Times this morning contained an item stating that the Rosain House, Toronto, had been burned, and that several persons had perished in the flames. The story was wholly without foundation and was the result of a practical joke played on our contemporary. It appears that about one o'clock a.m. the telephone rang, and some person unknown, imparted the information published. The telephone company employees are in no way to blame as the message was not sent from the central office. As there were several Peterborough people at the hotel much uneasiness was felt until it was learned that the story was a canard. The publisher of the Times requests us to state that the item got into the paper through a mistake, that he regrets that such an item should have appeared, and also that he has adopted measures to prevent any possibility of such a thing recurring.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Board of Health.

A meeting of the newly formed Board of Health will be held at an early date. It is probable that considerable work will be done this year.

An Addition to the Programme.

In addition to the programme as already announced Mr. Dingle, organist George-st. Methodist Church, will play an instrumental selection at the At Home, to be given in the Sabbath School room this (Thursday) evening.

Remember the

The Assessors.

The assessors have already covered considerable ground and they are now busy distributing assessment schedules. By special instructions from the Ontario Government, they are collecting a full list of the births and deaths that occurred in town during the year.

For the Babcocks.

The Babcock fire extinguishers recently placed on the hook and ladder truck are very useful little affairs and already they have paid for themselves many times over. The stock of charges received with them is about exhausted and another supply will be ordered from Montreal at once.

Vital Statistics.

It may not be generally known that under the new Registration Act, it is made compulsory on the part of Municipal Clerks to prosecute all persons who refuse or neglect to register births, marriages or deaths. We notice that in St. Thomas, the law is being strictly enforced. The lowest penalty in each case is $20 and costs. Those interested should note this fact.

"At Home"

That Harness.

In reference to the item regarding double harness for the fire department, we should have stated that the members of the brigade propose to pay for the new harness out of their own funds, and the Council will not be called on to contribute. The object of visiting Toronto is to see the double harness in use there for the police patrol wagons. If suitable for our purposes and the harness can be made here, a local man will get the job.

Smoke Rubidge's Derby Cigarettes.

The Date.

The minds of the merry makers can now rest at ease. The third, and probably the last grand carnival of the season, under the auspices of Canton Peterborough, will take place at the Lansdowne rink, on Friday evening, March 9th. An efficient committee has been struck and the programme they promise to present to the amusement loving public, promises to eclipse all their former efforts. Full particulars will be announced in a few days and in the meantime it behooves all who intend to take part, to cogitate and prepare their costumes.

To-night

How it Started.

It was at first reported that the Millbrook fire started from a spark shot out by a stove on a pile of dry wood, but now it is learned that it was caused by a lamp explosion, on the premises of Mr. Archibald Campbell, in the Comb's block. Mr. Armstrong is a very aged man and found it impossible to extinguish the flames, until they had gained such headway that the disastrous conflagration resulted. On the following morning the fire broke out afresh and the services of the firemen were again called into requisition to prevent further damage.

A Vagrant Cow.

For the last week or more a vagrant cow has been wandering about the vicinity of the town offices, occasionally paying visits to the yards of the residents in that locality and picking up anything eatable that might be laying around loose. The owner was notified to keep her shut up, but he paid no attention to the warning and yesterday afternoon Officer Adams placed the animal in pound, and now the owner waxeth wroth and threatens all kinds of things. Complaints regarding cows are never very frequent during the winter months, but this year only one or two have been lodged. Next summer the pounds will all be put in a good safe condition and owners will find it cheaper to pay for pasturage than put up for poundage fees.

at the George-st.

Curlians.

Lindsay defeated Bobcaygeon, two rinks aside, on Wednesday evening, by a score of 46 to 23, the same figures by the way, that Peterborough defeated Campbellford by the other evening.

The competition for the Ontario Tankard at Toronto, will be finished to-day. The clubs from this vicinity that competed were Belleville and Bowmanville. In the first draw Belleville defeated Woodstock by 17 shots and in the second they defeated Wroxeter by one shot, while Galt retired Bowmanville by 9 shots. In the final Toronto plays Galt and Belleville is pitted against Thamesville. Then the winners in these matches will play the final game for the Tankard.

—On or about the 21st of February, the Belleville and Ogdensburg curlers will play at Kingston for a caledonial medal.

Those who saw the crowd at Kidd's Boot & Shoe store on Saturday must have thought he was selling below cost, but he wasn't. Same price all the time! Same price to every one.

Methodist Church.

The Schools.

The report of the Minister of Education for 1887 shows that the total number of registered pupils in the public schools, in 1886 was 487,496, of whom 257,030 were boys and 230,466 girls. The total number registered in 1885 was 472,458; in 1884, 466,917; in 1883, 464,369; in 1882, 471,512; in 1881, 476,268; in 1880, 483,045; in 1879, 487,012; in 1878, 493,-615; in 1877, 496,860; in 1876, 490,537. The teachers numbered 7,364, 4637 females and 2,727 males. The average salaries paid male teachers, in towns, was $617 and females $368. There are 5454 school houses in the province. The cost per pupil, on the basis of teacher's salaries, was, in towns, $3.16. There are 109 High Schools and 24 Collegiate Institutes. The latter have an average of 7 teachers each and the average number of pupils to each teacher is 40. No less than 51 of the High Schools charge fees, and the amount collected in 1887 was $47,444.

Swearing.

Last night two young men were observed in the vicinity of the Central Park, who were fairly making the air blue with their profanity. It is a pity that they were not recognized, so that the Police Magistrate could have a chat with them.

Scott Act Fines.

The Ontario Government has sent a circular to the Town Treasurer asking for a statement of the total amount of money received by the town, in the way of Scott Act fines, from May 1st, 1886, to January 1st, 1888. The same information is being demanded from all the municipalities where the Act is in force.

Slippery.

The sidewalks and crossings just now are covered with a coating of ice and it is only with difficulty that pedestrians can travel. A town by-law provides that the sidewalks on such occasions be sprinkled with ashes or sawdust, but, as is the case with many other by-laws, it is a dead letter.

Blank Books.

Business men are asked to bear in mind that the Review bindery is turning out the very best description of work in all lines of account books and ledgers. All orders finished up with despatch. Customers can select their own papers from a large and well assorted stock, and have any specia printing desired. d108ed

Derby Cigarettes at Rubidge's.

Coming Cases.

Although Mayor Stevenson, as acting Police Magistrate, has not tried any cases at the Police Court, during the past week, he has been quietly preparing a batch for P. M. Dumble and to-morrow morning that gentleman will be called in to dispose of three charges of assault, a joint affair, one case of abusive language and one case for disturbing religious worship. On Saturday he will have for trial two cases for breaches of the Canadian Temperance Act, one first offence and one second offence.

A Distinguished Soldier.

The 57th Battalion concert next Tuesday evening will be the most unique and novel ever held in Peterborough. Besides first-class amateur singing (the best in the regiment), the military features of the programme comprise bayonet and sword exercises, manual and firing, fencing, tableaux, etc. Lieut.-Col. Villiers, D. A. G., has promised to attend, and the presence of a soldier of such renown will lend eclat to the occasion. Tickets and plan of Hall at Hartley's. 1d39

The Checker Match.

The checker match on Wednesday between Messrs. R. Oryell, Lindsay, and Thomas Marr, Peterborough, had an unsatisfactory manner. The match was for $25 a side, the winner of the most games out of twenty-one to take the money. Ten games were played on Wednesday night, each man winning four and the other two being drawn. At 11 o'clock it was decided to stop playing and commence again at 8 o'clock this morning. At the appointed hour Mr. Marr was on hand, but his opponent failed to show up until an hour afterwards and then he stated that he was not prepared to continue the match, and after some parleying the match and the stakes were drawn.

Brevities.

—There were several private assemblies on Tuesday night.

—The C.P.R. train from the east last evening was several hours late.

—The Chairman of the Belleville Board of Education feasted the members on oysters.

—The docket at the Police Court this morning was a blank. No cases since Monday.

—A couple of the town teams are kept busy most of the time delivering charity wood.

—Eli Perkins, the celebrated American humorist, lectures at Port Hope on Friday night.

—"Cannonading" is what a citizen calls the cracking of the sidewalks with the frost.

—Police Magistrate Edmison has a couple of Scott Act cases for trial at Norwood to-day.

—The "noon" trains on both the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk, were delayed to-day by the snow.

—During lent services will be held at St. Peter's Cathedral, each Wednesday and Friday evening.

—The Canadian Pacific Railway car, which visited Peterborough some months ago, is again in this vicinity.

—The system of waterworks having been adopted by the Belleville council, the fire department will be re-organized.

—"Johnnie B," the Kingston horse that could not trot a little bit here, won in the 2.35 class at Ganauoque on Tuesday.

—The Belleville bicycle club are after the Dominion meet. Already they have $250 of the necessary $400 subscribed.

—A skating carnival takes place at Millbrook this evening and we understand that a number from Peterborough will attend.

—A horse attached to a grocery delivery sleigh, yesterday evening took a notion to travel on the sidewalk, and, of course, a crowd assembled.

—A large sleigh loaded with Salvationists from Lakefield arrived in town last night. The members of the army attended the meeting at the Opera House.

—There are two cases for breach of promises for trial at the coming Cobourg assizes. One lady estimates her damages at the modest figure of $10,000.

—Councillor Langford is spying out the land for street numbering purposes. On George-st. a number will have to be assigned to every twenty feet frontage, it is thought. The usual frontage is twenty five feet.

—Mr. B. T. Hemly, store-keeper in the Midland shops at Port Hope, prior to his removal to Lindsay, was presented with an address and an Oxford teacher's Bible, by the Young People's Christain Society of the First Presbyterian Church.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

Three Persons Killed and Several Injured Near Hamilton.

By Telegraph to the Review.

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 16.—A fearful accident occurred on the Grand Trunk railway four miles from Hamilton on the Toronto branch, at half past one o'clock to-day. Three employees were killed and several passengers were injured. No further particulars yet.

The Salvationists.

On Wednesday evening the Opera House was well filled to hear an address from Father Phillipe de Sailliers, a converted Roman Catholic Priest. He was accompanied by Commissioner Coombs and Staff-Lieut. Paul, of Toronto, the latter of whom interpreted, as the Father speaks only in French. Father Phillipe is a venerable looking man, and a fluent speaker. He told how for tairty years he had been a Priest of the Roman Catholic Church. For several years he had been connected with Notre Dame Cath edral, Montreal, and one evening he was passing by the Salvation Army barracks. He was attracted by the music and went in and remained until the end of the services. He was deeply impressed, but did not attend another meeting until about eleven months afterwards, when through the aid of a French Canadian woman, he was converted and retired from the priesthood, and about one year he has been connected with the Army. He pointed out many things in connection with the Roman Catholic religion that he condemned, dwelling on the subject of the confessional at some length. He was followed by Commissioner Coombs in a short address, who gave interesting statistics regarding the work of the Army in the Dominion and in other lands, pointing out the great and good work they are accomplishing among a class that the other religious bodies do not reach. Father Phillipe is now in a tour of the Dominion and will visit all the posts of the Army.

THE MARKETS.

The British Cattle Markets.

The Gazette's cable of Tuesday says:—"The British cattle markets have failed to make any improvement, in fact, as is usual during the Lenton season, the markets are unfavorably affected, and the immediate prospects of the trade are poor for that reason. Our special cables show no change in the position and hold out no hope of improvement, demand having continued weak, although receipts have been light and the market not over-supplied. Prices, however, have remained unchanged, but tend to favor buyers. Prime Canadian steers are at 11½c., good to choice at 11c., poor to medium at 10c., and inferior and bulls at 8½c. @9c. These prices are calculated on the basis of of 480 in the £."

The Montreal Cattle Market.

The Montreal Gazette reports in reference to the local market during the latter part of last and beginning of this week that there was not much change, business being quiet. The market opened steady for good cattle, but later there was a weaker feeling and prices were generally lower owing to the supply being in excess of the demand, and a number were left over unsold. In export cattle more business was done, there being a better demand for shippers, who bought some of the best offered, but the general feeling was weaker and orders had a downward tendency. There were five car loads of extra fine cattle shipped to Boston this week for export. There was a fair demand for butchers' cattle, of which the offerings were large and a good business was done. Good export cattle, averaging 1,250 @ 1,400 lbs., sold at 4c.@ 4½c, medium export, averaging from 1,100 @1,200 lbs., sold at 3½c@4c.; good butchers, from $1,000@1,100 lbs., at 3½@4c.; medium at 2½c.@3c., and culls at 2c @2½c. per lb. live weight. There was more enquiry for steers, of which the weights were larger. There were forty-five calves offered, which met with a good demand at from $5@$10 each as to quality.

A Good Outlook for Cheese.

Private cables from England report that a certain irregular operator has sold 10,000 boxes for March delivery at 55s.@56s. If such reports be true, the question arises where the cheese is to come from. It is reasonably certain that the stocks in Europe are not heavy, that the States can spare but few, and that Canada cannot be relied on for more than 50,000 boxes. About three months' consumption is ahead, although prices can hardly be expected to go much higher, it is believed that the wind up will not see them any lower.

HASTINGS.

TELEPHONIC.—Arrangements are in progress to extend the telephone system to this and adjacent villages.

CHANGED PROPRIETORS.—The Simpson House changed proprietors suddenly and unexpectedly last Friday night, or early on Saturday morning. The Messrs. Simpson are replaced by Mr. Spillman, late of Bobcaygeon.

PRESENTATION.—On Tuesday evening a deputation representing the Hastings Presbyterian congregation, consisting of the Rev. D. A. Thompon, Mr. James Moore, Senr., and Mr. F. W. Powlds, waited on Mrs. Wm. Fowlds and presented her with a handsome gold watch as a token of their appreciation of her services as organist for the past sixteen years. Mr. Thompson read an address to which Mr. Wm. Fowlds made a suitable reply on behalf of Mrs. Fowlds.

NORTH MONAGHAN.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Council met pursuant to adjournment on February 13th, 1888, all the members present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The Auditors report was received and adopted and the Clerk instructed to have the abstract published as required by law and have 100 copies of the detailed statement printed for distribution. A by-law appointing a Clerk, Treasurer, Assessor, Collector and Caretaker of the Town Hall received its second and third readings and was signed and sealed. All the old officers were reappointed except the Collector, who declined to accept office, and Robert Goodfellow was appointed in his place. Same salaries as last year. On motion of Mr. Johnston, seconded by Mr. McIntosh, the following accounts were ordered to be paid:—

KEENE.

Correspondence of the Review.

METHODIST.—Mr. Griffin, Superintendent of the George-st. Methodist Sunday School, Peterborough, gave a very interesting sermon on Sunday evening last in the Methodist Church here, in the absence of the Rev. Mr. Johnson, who was preaching at Campbellford.

VISIT.—Dr. John C. Moffatt, of Smith's Falls, paid a visit to Keene on Saturday last. Practice in Smith's Falls appears to agree with the doctor.

CURLIANA.—The Keene Club does not like the way they have been treated by Campbellford curlers, who were too sick to play in Keene, but were able to go to Peterborough where they were badly defeated. Mr. R. B. McIntyre won the first rink medal played for this season... The first draw for a 12 point medal open to the club is now completed after several very close and exciting contests. The second draw is now under way, but we will not give the names until next draw.... The Keene curlers are anxious to get on matches with neighboring clubs, especially Lakefield, Bobcaygeon and Millbrook, not excepting Peterborough.

PUBLIC HEALTH.—This is a very healthy locality, at least at present. Very few are sick, and our undertaker, Mr. Mather, reports business in that line very dull.

BUILDING.—Mr. Geo. Read's houses (old Presbyterian Church) are nearly completed and Mr. Bryce will commence operations on two more for him at an early date.

CARNIVAL.—The second and last carnival will be held in the Keene Curling and Skating Rink Co's. rink here on Friday, February 24th. A large and varied collection of prizes are on exhibition in Mr. R. English's shop window. Remember the date and look out for large posters. Prizes as usual. The judges will be selected from a distance. All parties must hand in their name and character to the door-keepr, Mr. McIntyre. One of the features will be a curling match for specially constructed besoms for the winning rink.

PERSONAL.—Our genial miller, Mr. Gullett, leaves next week for Roddon Mills. We will miss Herbert.

ELOCUTIONARY.—Miss Frane, an accomplished elocutionist, formerly of the Whitby Ladies' College and the Ottawa Ladies' College, will give a series of readings, &c., in the Town Hall, Keene, on Wednesday evening, Feb. 22nd. The proceeds will be in aid of the Methodist Church. Miss Frane is very highly commended as an elocutionist by the press of the province.

What a Time

People formerly had, trying to swallow the old-fashioned pill with its film of magnesia vainly disguising its bitterness; and what a contrast to Ayer's Pills, that have been well called "medicated sugar-plums"—the only fear being that patients may be tempted into taking too many at a dose. But the directions are plain and should be strictly followed.

J. T. Teller, M. D., of Chittenango, N. Y., expresses exactly what hundreds have written at greater length. He says: "Ayer's Cathartic Pills are highly appreciated. They are perfect in form and coating, and their effects are all that the most careful physician could desire. They have supplanted all the Pills formerly popular here, and I think it must be long before any other can be made that will at all compare with them. Those who buy your pills get full value for their money."

"Safe, pleasant, and certain in their action," is the concise testimony of Dr. George E. Walker, of Martinsville, Virginia.

"Ayer's Pills outsell all similar preparations. The public having once used them, will have no others."—Berry, Venable & Collier, Atlanta, Ga.

NEIL AND GAMBLE.

Messrs. Howland and Gooderham Have a Talk with the Former.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—Governor Green had very little news to impart yesterday concerning Neil and Gamble, the two condemned murderers who have been sentenced to be hung on Feb. 23 and March 6 respectively. The jail is terribly overcrowded and it puts the Governor to his best wits to provide accommodation for all the unfortunates who are sent to him. At first Neil and Gamble were confined in the same cell, but for a few days past they have been separated. The Governor, considering Gamble's case not so serious, has placed him in the long corridor with the other male prisoners, while Neil is solitarily confined in a cell and watched by two guards.

The Governor said that Gamble, learning that great efforts were being made to procure for him a commutation, is not discouraged but has every hope. His counsel, Mr. Murdoch, leaves for Ottawa to-night with a big petition.

As for Neil, he remains silent and solitary. On Sunday Mr. W. H. Howland had a long talk with him regarding his spiritual welfare. Neil, who had heretofore been defiant, became somewhat softened. Last night Mr. Howland and Mr. Wm. Gooderham visited the jail and talked with Neil for an hour.

A Backer for Rowell.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The Turf, Field and Farm says: "A gentleman who has backed Rowell in nearly all of his races has left $1000 at this office to match the English pedestrian against Albert under the conditions cabled on Tuesday from London to the New York press."

Fatal Colliery Explosion.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 14.—A double explosion took place in Wyoming colliery of the Lehigh Coal Company at Port Bowkley late this afternoon. Five miners were badly burned. Jacob Monahan and John Boyle were fatally injured.

U. S. Consular Agency at Nanaimo.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The Secretary of State has directed the establishment of a United States consular agency at Nanaimo, B. C., for the benefit of American commerce which is said to be growing in that locality.

The Shenandoah Collieries.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Feb. 14.—Zerbey & Co.'s colliery resumed work to-day on the same terms as the other individual operators. The Kehley Run and Wm. Penn collieries are daily turning away miners applying for work. The Reading miners are still idle.

TORONTO TOPICS.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.

Jacob B. Huber, the alleged forger from Lancaster, Pa., was again brought before Judge Macdougall to-day to show cause why he should not be extradited, but the private prosecutor announced his inability to proceed, and requested a further enlargement. Mr. Bigelow protested that his client had been detained in jail since Jan. 9, and so far no evidence whatever had been brought against him. The Judge gave the prosecution twenty-four hours in which to produce their evidence.

The Ontario Booksellers' Association held their semi-annual meeting yesterday, President Sharpe in the chair. Nothing was done regarding the copyright law. With regard to postage on periodicals, etc., between Canada and the States, the association decided that, in view of present arrangements, no action should be taken. A deputation will be sent eastwards to form minor organizations.

A Canadian Pacific Railway engineering party left Cooksville yesterday to survey a route for the railway's new line from that point to Hamilton. It is expected that the C.P.R. will have trains running between Toronto and the Niagara River before this year is out.

The benchers of the Law Society propose to have the portraits of Chief Justices Galt and Armour painted, with their permission.

Mr. Justice Robertson was engaged yesterday in the Master's court room hearing the case of Township of Nottawasaga v. the Hamilton and Northwestern Railway. This is an action to enforce an agreement entered into by defendants as a condition of obtaining a bonus from plaintiffs [illegible] station at Avening, and for damages for not doing so. The Northern Railway was made a party defendant. Judgment was reserved.

The Chancery Divisional Court sittings will begin to-day.

Mr. Sano, the ex-furniture dealer and alleged forger, arrived here yesterday from Port Arthur in charge of Detective Slemin. He was taken to the Agnes-street Police Station, where he spent the night. No application for bail would be entertained. He will appear before the Magistrate this morning.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"NO, IT will not shock me," returns Mona, quietly; whereupon he sits down, and Biddy puts a basin on the table, and Mona, with trembling fingers, takes a scissors, and cuts away the shirt-sleeve from his wounded arm. Then she bathes it.

After a moment she turns deadly pale, and says, in a faint tone, "I know I am hurting you; I feel it." And in truth I believe the tender heart does feel it, much more than he does. There is an expression that amounts to agony in her beautiful eyes.

"You hurt me!" he says, in a peculiar tone, that is not so peculiar but it fully satisfies her.

And now Mona knows no more nervousness, but with steady and practiced hand binds up his arm, and when all is finished pushes him gently (very gently) from her, and "with heart on her lips, and soul within her eyes," surveys with pride her handiwork.

"Now I hope you will feel less pain," she says, with modest triumph.

"I feel no pain," returns he, gallantly.

"Well said!" cries the old man from the chimney-corner, slapping his knee with delight; "well said, indeed! It reminds me of the ould days when we'd swear to any lie to please the lass we loved. Ay, very good, very good."

At this Mona and Geoffrey break into silent laughter, being overcome by the insinuation about lying.

"Come here, an' sit down, lad," says old Scully, unknowing of their secret mirth, an' tell me all about it, from start to finish—that Ryan's a thundering rogue—while Mona sees about a bed for ye."

"Oh, no," says Rodney, hastily, "I have given quite too much trouble already. I assure you I am quite well enough now to ride back again to Bantry."

"To Bantry," says Mona, growing white again,—"to-night! Oh, do you want to kill me and yourself?"

"She has reason," says the old man earnestly and approvingly, rounding his sentence after the French fashion, as the Irish so often will; "she has said it," he goes on, "she always does say it; she has brains, has my colleen. Ye don't stir out of this house to-night, Mr. Rodney; so make up yer mind to it. With Tim Ryan abroad, an' probably picked up an' carried home by this time, the counthry will be all abroad, an' no safe thravelin' for man or baste. Here's a cosy sate for ye by the fire; sit down, lad, an' take life aisy."

"If I was quite sure I shouldn't be dreadfully in the way," says Geoffrey, turning to Mona, she being mistress of the ceremonies.

"Be quite sure," returns she, smiling.

"An' to-morrow ye can go into Bantry an' prosecute that scoundrel Ryan," says Scully, "an' have yer arm properly looked afther."

"So I can," says Geoffrey. Then, not for any special reason, but because, through very love of her, he is always looking at her, he turns his eyes on Mona. She is standing by the table, with her head bent down.

"Yes, to-morrow you can have your arm re-dressed," she says, in a low tone, that savors of sadness; and then he knows that she does not want him to prosecute Ryan.

"I think I'll let Ryan alone," he says, instantly, turning to her uncle and addressing him solely, as though to prove himself ignorant of Mona's secret wish. "I have given him enough to last him some time." Yet the girl reads him through and through, and is deeply grateful to him for this quick concession to her unspoken desire.

"Well, well, you're a good lad at heart," says Scully. "Mona, look after him for a while, until I see that lazy spalpeen of mine an' get him to put a good bed undher Mr. Rodney's horse."

When the old man has gone, Mona goes quickly up to her lover, and, laying her hand upon his arm,—a hand that seems by some miraculous means to have grown whiter of late,—says, gratefully:

"I know why you said that about Ryan, and I thank you for it. I should not like to think it was your word transported him."

"Yet, I am letting him go free that he may be the perpetrator of even greater crimes."

"You err, nevertheless, on the side of mercy, if you err at all; and—perhaps there may be no other crimes. He may have had his lesson this evening—a lasting one. To-morrow I shall go to his cabin, and——"

"Now, once for all, Mona," interrupts he, with determination, "I strictly forbid you ever to go to Ryan's cabin again."

"It is the first time he has ever used the tone of authority towards her, and involuntarily she shrinks from him, and glances up at him from under her long lashes in a half-frightened, half-reproachful fashion, as might an offended child.

Following her, he takes both her hands, and, holding them closely, draws her back to her former position beside him.

"Forgive me; it was an ugly word," he says; "I take it back. I shall never forbid you to do anything, Mona, if my doing so must bring that look into your eyes. Yet surely there are moments in every woman's life when the man who loves her, and whom she loves, may claim from her obedience, when it is for her own good. However, let that pass. I now entreat you not to go again to Ryan's cabin."

Releasing her hands from his firm grasp, the girl lays them lightly crossed upon her breast, and looks up at him with perfect trust:

"Nay," she says, very sweetly and gravely, "you mistake me. I am glad to obey you. I shall not go to Ryan's house again."

There is both dignity and tenderness in her tone. She gazes at him earnestly for a moment, and then suddenly slips one arm round his neck.

"Geoffrey," she says, with a visible effort.

"Yes, darling."

"I want you to do something for my sake."

"I will do anything, my own."

"It is for my sake; but it will break my heart."

"Mona! what are you going to say to me?"

"I want you to leave Ireland,—not next month, or next week, but at once. To-morrow, if possible."

"But why, darling?"

"Because you are not safe here; your life is in danger. Once Ryan is recovered, he will not be content to see you living, knowing his life is in your hands; every hour you will be in danger. Whatever it may cost me, you must go."

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

RELIGIOUS GLEANINGS.

Revivalist E. P. Hammond is holding meetings in Southern California.

A new Scotch Presbyterian church, erected by Sir Peter Coats, has just been dedicated in Algiers.

There have been 1,500 conversions since 1881 on the Mosquito coast, in Central America, due to the labors of Moravian missionaries.

In two London churches actors have been invited to read the lessons for several successive Sundays lately, with great satisfaction to the audiences.

Rev. Dr. Arthur Little, of Chicago, has been designated to preach the annual sermon at the next year's meeting of the American Missionary association at Providence, R. I.

The restoration of the old brick church at Smithfield, Va., supposed to be the oldest church in Virginia, is nearly completed. The church was built in 1632, and used continuously for two centuries.

By the formation of Societies of Christian Endeavor from among the young people of localities in New England, a number of almost dead churches in rural districts have been revived, and have become stronger than ever before.

William Reed, of Pittsburg, Pa., the eccentric locator of oil and minerals by means of divining rods, who was drowned recently on the New Jersey coast, left the greater part of his estate of $350,000 for the benefit of students for the ministry, struggling churches and missions.

Ex-Minister Taylor, who recently returned to America from Liberia, in speaking of missionary work in Africa, said recently: "I boarded with a civilized man who had three children and a wife. The man belonged to one church, the wife to another and each of the three children to a different one. Why? 'Oh,' he said, 'when the societies send over good things we can get some of all.' That father had only one regret, and that is that he had no more children."

The Daily Review.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1888.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—After routine the Attorney-General moved that the House ratify an order-in-Council, with reference to the application of the Prison Gate Mission for the discharge of a certain mortgage dated Jan. 24, 1863, made by Samuel G. Ridout and Rebecca, his wife, to the late Andrew Mercer to secure the payment of £410 with interest at 6 per cent., such mortgage being part of the escheated estate of the said Mercer, and directing that the lands covered by said mortgage be released and discharged therefrom.

The resolution was carried.

Bill No. 62 of the Attorney-General, respecting ancillary probates and letters of administration, received a second reading.

The Attorney-General moved the second reading of his bill respecting the maintenance of wives deserted by their husbands. He pointed out that under the present law a husband who has deserted his wife may be sentenced to imprisonment for a term of three years. This, however, does not in any way assist the wife if left in a destitute condition. The terms of the bill provide that if the husband has property a regular allowance be given to the wife as a means of support, and that the case be dealt with by the magistrates as at present. Mr. Meredith, while agreeing in the main with the terms of the bill, thought that the matter should be dealt with by the County Judge and exceptions made in the case of a wife guilty of adultery. The motion, however, was allowed to pass without opposition.

Bill No. 78, respecting arbitration with the Province of Quebec, was read a second time.

When the educational estimates were being considered at the evening session Mr. Gibson (Huron) said that too much money was being spent ($92,100 was asked this year) on high schools and collegiate institutes. He said that each pupil in these schools got $20 out of the people while those in public schools got only $1. He stood there to speak for the masses while the high schools were only for the classes.

The Minister of Education made a vigorous defence of the system of supporting high schools liberally because of the benefit which accrued to the coming teacher, the coming business man, and the coming farmer.

Messrs. Clancy and Balfour spoke and then Mr. Gibson spoke again. Mr. Waters, in a way, sided with Mr. Gibson. There was more discussion and the item ($92,100) was passed.

The Committee on Private Bills will meet in Room 16 at 10.30 this forenoon. The Standing Orders Committee will meet in Room 12 at 11 o'clock. The Railway Committee will meet in the Library at 11 and the Public Accounts Committee will meet in the Treasurer's office at the same time. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the Printing Committee will meet in the Accountant's office and at 2.30 the special committee on dairying will meet in Room 16.

TORONTO TOPICS.

A largely attended meeting of the creditors of C. L. Van Wormer was held yesterday afternoon, at which the inspectors reported that the valuations of the stock are about 10 per cent. too high. Mr. Van Wormer then made an offer to compromise with all creditors at 25 cents on the dollar, payable in three, six, nine and twelve months. There were a number of additional claims fyled, and a number of others are expected that will swell the amount to over $55,000. After a long discussion the creditors decided to accept his offer to compromise at 25 cents on the dollar.

As the Hon. Mr. Thompson, Minister of Justice, will not return to Ottawa from Washington until Friday, Mr. W. G. Murdoch, counsel for John R. Gamble, will not start for the Capital till to-morrow night with the petition praying for executive clemency on behalf of the condemned man.

James H. Samo was charged that he did on Aug. 2, last year, feloniously and with intent to defraud, forge the name of Alexander Telfer, to a promissory note to wit the sum of $183. A second count in the information charged him with uttering the note in question. To the charge Mr. Samo pleaded not guilty. The Magistrate remanded the prisoner till to-morrow without bail.

Messrs. Howland and Gooderham were at their places yesterday, and a large amount of business in relation to the winding-up of the bank was transacted. The claims of creditors are fast coming in, the accounts are gradually being straightened, and it is expected that a first dividend of 25 cents on the dollar to the depositors will be declared next month.

ONTARIO FIRES.

An Hotel at Feversham and a Livery Stable at Mt. Forest Destroyed.

MAXWELL, Feb. 16.—Yesterday afternoon the hotel owned and occupied by Robert McGirr in Feversham, three miles from this village, was destroyed by fire. The origin of the fire is supposed to be accidental. No insurance. The loss was $600.

Nine Horses Burnt at Mt. Forest.

MOUNT FOREST, Feb. 16.—At 4 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Tuckey's livery stable. The entire building was destroyed with all its contents, including nine horses. No insurance on building. Contents insured for $1000.

AWFUL DEATHS AT THE Y

TWO MEN KILLED IN A COLLISION AT THE JUNCTION CUT.

Fireman Robert Archibald and Baggage man Thomas Rodin of Hamilton the Victims—The Grand Trunk's Pacific Express and a Freight Train do the Colliding.

TORONTO, Feb. 17.

A lamentable and serious collision occurred on the Toronto branch of the Grand Trunk Railway, about 1½ miles west of the Hamilton station just before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, resulting in the death of two men and probably fatal injuries of two others. The trains, a freight which left Point Edward early in the morning, and the Pacific express from Toronto, due at Hamilton at 1.45, came together under a small bridge and just past a fifty-foot embankment in what is locally known as the "Junction Cut."

The express was made up of a parlor car, two passenger coaches, smoker, express and baggage cars, and was manned by Thomas Hutchinson, driver; Robert Archibald, fireman; John Edmonson, conductor, and Thomas Peden, baggageman, all of Hamilton. The freight was composed of twenty cars, and was officered as follows: J. C. Robinson, engineer, Stratford; Thomas Howe, fireman, Stratford; David Vince, conductor, Point Edward, and Robert Peacock, brakeman, Point Edward.

Both trains were going at a good rate of speed, and came together with terrific force. The engines left the track, digging their way together into the soft clay embankment. When the locomotives met the long baggage car attached to the express took a flying leap completely over both engines and scooted down the drain toward the adjoining gully fifty feet away. The express car made a desperate effort to follow.

The front of the freight train was rammed under the express car, and when the latter descended two wheat cars were smashed and their contents strewn about. The smoker rolled off the trucks and fell against the supports of the overhead bridge. The last of the passenger coaches kept the track, and strange to say none of the freight cars left it.

Engineer Robinson, Fireman Howe and Brakeman Peacock were in the cab of the freight when the engine of the express, rounding the sharp curve, warned them that a collision was inevitable. They immediately jumped and rolled down the deep embankment, which they had almost passed. The driver and fireman escaped with slight injuries.

It was the baggage car, in its terrible leap, that did the murderous work. Fireman Archibald, of the Toronto train, in attempting to jump off his engine, was caught by the flying car, and carried down the embankment, and horribly mangled. Peacock, the brakeman of the freight, fell when half way down the slope, but as he regained his feet the car came rushing down upon him, and knocked him senseless. His injuries consist of a scalp wound, which laid bare nearly half the skull. Driver Hutchinson, of the Toronto train, was in the act of jumping when the shock occurred, and his escape was most miraculous. Just how it happened he or no one else can tell, but when the passengers came upon the scene he was lying insensible on top of one of the freight cars. Baggageman Peden was crushed to death when the car collapsed at the foot of the hill.

The wreck, a couple of hours afterward, was an appalling spectacle. The express car, after the two wheat-laden cars were drawn from under it, took fire and was entirely consumed.

The disaster is attributed to the negligence of the conductor of the freight, who ordered his engineer to proceed before the expected express had passed them at the junction of the main line and the Toronto branch, or, as it is called, the "Y."

Warrants were issued for the arrest of the officers of the freight train, but it is reported that the conductor has fled. The engineer considers that officer responsible. An inquest will be held, probably to-morrow night.

Both of the men who were killed live at Hamilton. Archibald is a son of Robert Archibald, mechanical superintendent of the locomotive department at Hamilton. He leaves a wife and two children. Peden is also married. Their remains were sent to Hamilton.

Superintendent Stiff and a staff of physicians arrived as speedily as possible from Hamilton and were prepared to give every assistance necessary. Driver Hutchinson is very badly injured about the head and was taken to a house near by. His recovery is very doubtful. Brakeman Peacock was sent to the Hamilton Hospital where he was reported to be doing well at a late hour last night.

The loss to the company will be very heavy. A gang of men were at work all last night clearing away the wreck.

The trains from Hamilton for Toronto and vice versa were all sent around by Burlington Beach over the Hamilton and Northwestern. It is expected the track will be clear this morning.

The Pacific Express, which leaves Toronto for Hamilton at 12.20, is one of the heaviest trains that goes out of this city. It is generally crowded, and was well filled yesterday. The only passenger who received injuries worth mentioning was Peter Clarke of Buffalo, one of his hands being badly cut by broken glass.

Thrown From the Track.

WATERTOWN, N.Y., Feb. 16.—A freight train collided with the north-bound express train on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg Railway this noon at Canton. The express car was thrown from the track and one passenger coach badly damaged. One man was killed. Papers on his person indicate that he is D. S. Hiller of Syracuse. One man was hurt.

A Brakeman Killed.

GALENA, Ill., Feb. 16.—A freight train on the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City Road broke through a bridge near here yesterday. Six loaded cars plunged into the creek and were smashed to pieces. Brakeman Barney Donnelly was killed. The bridge was completed four weeks ago.

the Late Mgr. Bruyere's Obsequies.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The remains of the late Mgr. Bruyere, Vicar-General of the London Diocese, were interred to-day beneath the sanctuary of St. Peter's Cathedral with imposing and solemn ceremonies. The services began last evening, when 2000 worshippers were present. Father Flannery of St. Thomas preached an eloquent discourse from Luke xiv, 23. Among the large number of clergymen present were Very Rev. Father Rooney and Rev. Father Lennon of Toronto.

THE FISHERIES TREATY.

The United States Said to Have Received All They Asked—The London Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The fisheries treaty was the subject of much speculation and discussion at the Capital to-day.

While declining to give any specific information as to its provisions, Secretary Bayard to-night said to an Associated Press reporter that for many years the great contentions among American fishermen had been for a fair and just construction of the treaty of 1818, and that the present treaty had been framed by the American negotiators with a view to meet the needs and necessities of our fishermen, and he believed that if the treaty is ratified that end will have been accomplished.

From a trustworthy source it is learned that to our fishermen are secured all the commercial privileges for which they have been contending, with the exception of the right to purchase bait in Canadian waters, which is expressly withheld. Their right to enter Canadian ports for fuel, water and repairs is conceded. Certain bays which are specified are to remain under the exclusive jurisdiction of Canada. There is nothing in the provisions of the treaty, it is said, which necessitates the removal of the duty on Canadian fish or in any way changes our tariff system.

In its important features the treaty, it is stated, is favorable to the United States, and while new and valuable privileges have been acquired, this has been done without any costly sacrifice on our part.

Secretary Bayard said to-night that published reports purporting to give the essential features of the treaty were unauthorized and wholly wrong.

The American negotiators left for their homes to-day.

Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Chamberlain will remain in Washington a few days longer. The latter expects to sail for England is about a week.

Opinions of the London Press.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The Times says: "It is a triumph for Mr. Chamberlain's diplomatic skill that he has been able to reconcile conflicting interests so far in the teeth of rancorous and unscrupulous opposition and anti English fanaticism."

The Daily News, commenting on the fisheries treaty, says that it is rather a one-sided compact. "Canada has made concessions, and therefore the treaty hardly contains the promise of a durable settlement. But perhaps it is the best possible agreement, and if it commends itself to Canada it will win general approval here."

The Post contents itself with congratulating the commissioners, especially Mr. Chamberlain, upon the conclusion of their difficult task.

THE MANITOBA BYE-ELECTIONS.

Attorney-General Martin Defeats Mr. Smith —Meagre Returns From La Verandrye.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 16.—Contrary to general expectation Attorney-General Martin was elected in Portage la Prairie to-day by a large majority. With all the polling places heard from but one, the vote stands:

| | |
|---|---|
| Martin | 267 |
| Smith | 162 |
| Majority for Martin | 105 |

This polling place will not materially alter the result.

Only two places in La Verandrye have been heard from, one of which gives Prendergast 59 majority where he obtained 47 last election. Another gives Nolin 1 majority where Prendergast's opponent had 3 last time. This indicates Prendergast's election.

A prominent Government official, it is said, has skipped to Minneapolis, fearing investigation into the accounts of the last Government.

The Ontario Grand Lodge at Hamilton—Election of Officers.

HAMILTON, Feb. 16.—The Grand Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen resumed its session this morning. The exemplification of the secret work of the order was performed by P. D. G. M. Inwood of Toronto in a perfect manner, for which he was given a hearty vote of thanks.

These officers were elected:

Grand Master—Daniel Spry, Barrie, (accl.).
Grand Foreman—Rev. E. P. Crawford, M.A., Brockville, (accl.).
Grand Overseer—John Milne, Essex Centre.
Grand Recorder—M. D. Carder, St. Thomas, (accl.).
Grand Receiver—James Rushton, Ridgetown, (accl.).

Death of David Gillies of Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Feb. 16.—David Gillies died at his home in this city at an early hour this morning. Mr. Gillies was born in Renton, Dumbartonshire, Scotland, in 1840. He came to Hamilton in 1853, and after receiving his education entered the employ of his uncle, Mr. Buntin, wholesale paper dealer. As soon as he became of age he was taken into the firm as a partner, and the firm of Buntin, Gillies & Co. has been for twenty years among the best known in the city. Mr. Gillies married a sister of Mr. Wm. Hendrie. Deceased's wife, two sons and two daughters survive him.

MR. O'BRIEN'S CONSCIENCE.

HE SAYS THAT IT IS EASIER THAN MR. BALFOUR'S.

Mr. James Fergusson States in the Imperial House that the Government Believe the Fisheries Treaty to be Satisfactory—Resumption of the Debate on the Address.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Labouchere asked if any despatch from the British Ambassador at Berlin suggested that England gave assurances to Italy which would induce her to enter the Austro-German alliance.

Sir James Fergusson, Under Foreign Secretary, replied that he must again decline to produce correspondence between the British Government and foreign powers regarding affairs in Europe. "The House," he said, "would recognize that at the present time it would be unwise to produce such correspondence."

Mr. Labouchere thereupon gave notice that he would offer an amendment to the address, "That the House be informed definitely that no correspondence exchanged with Italy had resulted in binding action on the British Government in the event of war between Italy and France, or, if any assurances had been given, that they be communicated to the House." [Cheers.]

In reply to a question by Mr. Gourley Sir James Fergusson said he was happy to inform the House that a telegram from Mr. Chamberlain reported that a fisheries treaty had been signed at Washington. This treaty the Government believed to be satisfactory, although they were as yet unaware of the precise terms. He could not admit that the difference regarding the American fisheries amounted to serious dispute. He said that questions relative to Alaska had been discussed by the plenipotentiaries at Washington but he was not yet aware of the result.

Hon. W. H. Smith intimated that the Government did not think it advisable at present to appoint a committee on grants to the Royal Family, as suggested by Mr. Gladstone.

Mr. Wm. O'Brien resumed the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech. He said that Mr. Balfour had failed to smash the Irish organization, or to weaken the spirit of the Irish people, or to degrade them in the eyes of the world. "Abject discomfiture and disgrace had attended the Crimes Act, the operation of which proved it to be one of the most horrible measures ever directed against human liberties."

Regarding his own imprisonment, he did not feel wounded nor in the least degraded. With all his jaunty bravery Balfour's conscience was not as easy as his own. When he was in prison he resented and felt keenly the letter which Mr. Balfour wrote conveying the stealthy, loathsome insinuation that he sheltered himself whilst in prison under the plea of illness. Now they were face to face, and he challenged the Government to produce the prison doctors to prove the truth of the insinuation. [Parnellite cheers.]

It had been asserted that imprisoned leaguers had tried to secure a distinction between the treatment given to imprisoned members of Parliament and that given to imprisoned peasants. But there was not a little of foundation for the assertion. What the imprisoned members complained of was the moral torture inflicted upon them from which ordinary criminals were exempt. When the Government asked them to voluntarily acknowledge their kindship with criminals they answered, "We will die first. You will have to learn the difference between representatives of the criminal classes and Irish political prisoners, even if it takes coroners' juries to announce the distinction."

Reverting to the failure of coercion, he declared that the Crimes Act had not stamped out a single village club. The Plan of Campaign was uncrippled, every evicted tenant had been restored and every shilling of law costs incurred had been repaid as indemnity by the landlords. [Cheers.]

The Government's new rules of procedure provide that the House of Commons shall sit from 3 p.m. until 1 a.m., with a dinner hour; that the closure rule may be applied if there is a majority of 100, instead of 200 as at present, in favor of such notice, and that the Speaker may suspend for the sitting grossly disorderly members. Other rules greatly increase the Speaker's powers. Committees to deal with bills relating to law, trade, shipping and manufactures are revived.

A Gladstonian Elected in Dundee.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The election in Dundee to-day resulted in the election of the Gladstonian candidate, Mr. Firth, by a vote of 7856 to 4217 for Gen. Sir H. D. Daly, the Unionist nominee. At the last election Mr. Lacita (Liberal) polled 8216 votes and Gen. Daly 3346.

PROVINCIAL FINANCES.

For the first time in several years the Provincial Treasurer had a surplus instead of a deficit to report to the House at this session. Year after year while professing that the surplus of assets kept up, the Government has had an excess of expenditure over receipts, though the revenue was swollen by the sale of timber and the borrowing of money.

For 1887 the Treasurer professes to have a surplus of ordinary receipts over ordinary expenditure of $258,000, but to show this result he includes the proceeds of the timber sale, $399,000, which, if it were deducted and classed with the extraordinary receipts, would show a deficit in the ordinary accounts of $141,000. The total revenue and expenditure shows an apparent excess of the former of $392,000. This is extraordinary, considering that the usual result of the year's transactions has been a balance on the opposite side of the ledger, but when the accounts are investigated the surprise gives place to astonishment. Not only is the $399,000 received from the timber sale counted and also the sale of certificates, but $300,000 worth of Dominion bonds, bearing interest at 6 per cent., have been disposed of and $320,000 added to the revenue in that way. Any person whose predecessors had left him a large amount of valuable real estate and money invested in good securities should be able to easily make ends meet by simply selling the real estate and disposing of the securities. This is what our Government has done and claims credit for doing. The Government has a balance in the bank bearing interest at 4 per cent., but they have not now the $300,000 worth of bonds which brought 6 per. cent.

The statement of the assets and liabilities of the Province given by the Treasurer was made up the same way as his former statements and by simply leaving out large liabilities and counting as assets large sums that could not be realized, he was able to claim, as usual, a large surplus of assets over liabilities.

These methods of financing make smoothe sailing for the members of the Government, but they are not methods that can be commended on any sound business principles and are calculated to deceive the people as to the true state of their affairs.

A NOVEL TEAM.—Mr. John McCann, who resides in the northern part of Seymour, is at present, says the Herald, driving a team composed of a horse and an ox harnessed together. He has trained the ox with bit in his mouth, the same as a horse, and the two trot off together before a sleigh as well as a team of horses. Mr. McCann is drawing cedar from near Mud Lake to Blairton station, a distance of 2½ miles, and makes three trips per day. He says the ox thrives on one-half the quantity of food required for the horse, and does his work as well.

Mr. Frank Brabant has a team in his camp driven by [illegible] that drew a load of 41 logs [illegible] average from the woods to the dump and he also says that the number of logs drawn for the week ending Feb. 11th, was 6,920 of 12½ average. The average number of teams drawing were 16. The boys of Mr. Chas. Reynold's camp might now show their oats. We learn that the Messrs. Strickland's work, all on the ice, is 9,000,000 feet. COUNCIL MEETING.—A meeting of the Village Council was held on the evening of February 13th. After disposing of some matters laid over from the last meeting, a largely signed petition was handed in by Rev. J. Carmichael and Dr. Ford, praying that no license be granted for billiard or pool tables during 1888. Councillor Raddon held that it would not be wise to grant the prayer of the petition. He was of the opinion that taking away the license would not stop the playing of such games. He thought the Council should be able to deal with the question without the aid of a petition. He believed the object of it was to take the responsibility off the Council. Councillor Breathen claimed that a request of over half of the ratepayers should be a good guide for the Council in this matter. He was in favor of no license if the people wished it. He did not believe in taking the financial aspect of the question into consideration. Councillor Reynolds spoke briefly in favor of no license. Councillor Cummings had grave doubts whether the petition was a wise one, but in view of its size and weight he would let the petitioners take the responsibility and vote no license. It was finally moved by Councillor Reynolds and seconded by Councillor Breathen,—That the prayer of the petition be granted.—Carried, Councillor Raddon voting against it. The council has decided to spend $80 in improvements on the interior of the Town Hall.

DIPHTHERIA IN KINMOUNT.

The following letter appears in the Toronto Empire:—

SIR,—Having had my attention drawn to an article in a recent issue of the World of your city respecting the prevalence of diphtheria in this locality, will you kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to place the matter correctly before the public.

There have been but two fatal cases of diphtheria in my practice during the last nine months, both of which occurred during November. The families to which the patients respectively belonged resided about four miles apart. Nor has there been any other cases of this disease during those nine months, either in this village or within an eight-mile radius of it. During this time diphtheria has shown itself in five residences within the above distance, the scene of one of these outbreaks being a lumber camp. In all cases prompt isolation was resorted to and all possible proper precautions taken to confine the outbreak to the infected habitations.

At the present time there is not a known case of diphtheria within four miles of this place. By inserting the above you will confer a real favor upon this community and especially oblige those having outside business relations.

BELLEVILLE.

FROZEN TO DEATH.—About nine o'clock on Tuesday morning, John Corcoran of this city, says the Intelligencer, took a horse and cutter from O'Brien's livery stable, to drive to a place about five miles beyond Stoco. On Wednesday afternoon a telegram reached the city, stating that his body had been found in the long swamp near Stoco, frozen. The deceased was about 45 years of age. For many years he was employed by Mr. Job Lingham as a lumberman, but lately has been feeding cattle for Mr. F. R. Lingham at Superior City, Wis. A horse and cutter arrived in Tweed on Wednesday morning unattended, coming from the direction of Stoco, across the ice. In the swamp the body was found, frozen stiff. Mr. Huyck, who recognized Mr. O'Brien's horse and thought he knew the man, telegraphed Mr. O'Brien, who notified Mrs. Corcoran. A double sleigh was sent out to Tweed the same evening, to bring the body to the city. A sister of the deceased accompanied it.

The Fisheries Treaty Opinion at the Capital Concerning the Result of the Commission's Labors—Hon. Frank Smith's Resignation Withdrawn.

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—Some time ago the officers of the Ottawa League of the Rose forwarded to the Prince of Wales copies of the platform of the society, with the intimation that the league would consider it a great honor if he would accept the position of honorary patron. A reply has been received from the Prince of Wales' secretary to the effect that His Highness has made it a rule not to become connected in any capacity with a society formed for political purposes.

The lumber company in which Mr. E. H. Bronson, M.P.P., is a member, it is said, has just concluded the purchase of a timber limit in California of which the price is $1,000,000, and he is now negotiating for the purchase of another at a similar sum. These timber lands are said to be the best in the Golden State, and are covered with a growth of cedar of almost incredible dimensions, being from four to five feet in diameter at the stump and hundreds of feet high, straight and without a knot.

The settlement of the fisheries question is the great topic of conversation to-day. A Cabinet Council was held this afternoon, at which the matter was discussed. There appears to be a consensus of opinion among those in a position to understand the real position of affairs, that the treaty, when the text is published, will show that the commission approached the differences in a fair spirit and framed its provisions with a desire to remove for all time sources of trouble. Hon. Mr. Foster said to your correspondent to-day:

"I cannot say yet what the basis of agreement is, but I think it will be found satisfactory. The text will be submitted to the United States Senate without delay, and I hardly think the result will be discussed here until the final report is submitted to Parliament through the Canadian plenipotentiary with all papers appertaining to it."

The Producers' Spring Outlook Hopeful.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Feb. 16.—The American Rural Home summarizes its special crop report from all sections of the country as follows: No wheat is moving and farmers are holding it at a premium. In a general way the prospect is hopeful for wheat growers in this country. There was a large movement in corn during January and prices continue firm. In Illinois prices average from 45 to 50 cents. In Nebraska corn has sold from 30 to 45 cents. The cattle industry shows little improvement and receipts continue heavy and prices low. As a whole the spring outlook to the producers is extremely [illegible].

Conversazione.

A Masonic Conversazione will be held in the Masonic Hall, on Thursday, February 23rd, from 8 to 11 o'clock. Those who were at the last entertainment under the same auspices will learn of the coming event with pleasure.

Curling Notes.

A match between Lindsay and Peterborough will probably take place, at Lindsay, during the coming week.

Several of the neighboring clubs are anxious to get on matches with Peterborough.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson was to take part in a Scottish counties match, at Toronto, today.

The Double Track.

It is stated that the Grand Trunk hopes to make good progress this coming season in the way of double-tracking the line between Toronto and Montreal. By constructing two or three link lines between various portions of the Midland system and the Napanee and Tamworth, a relief line for the Grand Trunk main line will be secured as far as Kingston. Substantial work will be done in the way of double-tracking between Kingston and Montreal.

Police Court.

An assault case and one for abusive language, arising out of a fracas that occurred at the skating rink, occupied the attention of the Police Magistrate for over an hour this morning. Half a dozen witnesses were sworn and the evidence was of the most conflicting character regarding the part that some of the defendants took in the alleged assault. The Magistrate declined to give a decision and enlarged the case until to-morrow morning to secure the attendance of more witnesses.

Scott Act Fines.

Fox Hunters.

Foxes are unusually numerous this year and some of the good shots are having excellent sport. One young man has killed half a dozen in the last ten days and he finds that the fur business pays. Yesterday morning a farmer from the fourth line of Smith came to town and said that one of those exceedingly rare animals, a black fox, was prowling about his farm and creating havoc among his poultry. A party was organized and went out, but they were not successful in bagging the game. In the evening Reynard was seen again and today the sports went out once more to try their luck, but we have not yet heard how they succeeded. The skin of a pure black fox is said to be worth in the neighborhood of $100.

Personal.

Miss M. J. Sanderson, Peterborough, has been appointed a delegate to the Dominion Council of the Royal Templars of Temperance. She was the only lady delegate present at the Toronto meeting.

Mr. W. R. Callaway, of Toronto, district Passenger Agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was in town yesterday evening.

Mr. Virgil Lee, barrister, a young man who was born in Peterborough and educated here, has recently been appointed chief clerk in the Criminal Courts, at Chicago, a position with a good salary attached. "Virges" many friends will be pleased to learn that he is prospering.

Lindsay Post:—"Miss L. Begley, of Peterborough, passed through town for Orillia, where she sang at the C. M. B. A. concert the same evening. Her rich and cultivated voice made her, as usual, the favorite of the evening."

Mrs. John Bertram, of Toronto, is in town on a visit and is the guest of Mrs. E. E. Henderson.

St. Patrick's Day.

The Hon. Dr. Sullivan, of Kingston, will deliver a lecture in the Opera House, Peterborough, on St. Patrick's night, under the auspices of the C.M.B.A.

Fined.

Before County Police Magistrate Edmison, at Norwood, yesterday, Messrs. O. Brennan and H. Drain, jr., pleaded guilty to charges of violating the Scott Act. Brennan was fined $100 and costs and Drain $50 and costs, the fines to be paid in ten days.

Want Them Reduced.

The holders of licenses for billiard and pool tables have presented a lengthy petition to the Town License Committee, asking that the fees at present charged be reduced. The license now paid is $50 for each table. The year expires on the first day of March.

The Auditors.

Town Auditor W. A. Stratton took the necessary declaration to-day and in company with Mr. J. J. Hall, has commenced work in earnest at auditing the books of the town, the Town Trust Commissioners and the Board of Education. It is the intention to push the work ahead as rapidly as possible.

Needed.

Ever since the town took possession of the new council chamber there has been great trouble with the door, particularly during the cold weather. It would not remain unlocked for any length of time and had to be kept open to allow people in and out. Yesterday, however, a patent appliance was attached to it that is likely to fill the bill and prevent further trouble.

A Lindsay View.

Lindsay Post: "Peterborough is getting to be quite enterprising. It has resolved to dig a town well on the market square. The resolution does not say that a town pump is to be provided; but that is probably understood. Having a well, though, is a step in the right direction. The next move will be to get the Peterburghers to drink more water."

Disturbing Religious Worship.

A young man named Charles Stenson was charged at the Police Court this morning by Officer Adams, with disturbing religious worship at the Salvation Army barracks on Monday last. He pleade not guilty. Four witnesses were sworn and testified that the defendant and others got into an altercation during the services and disturbed the congregation by wrangling and using profane language. The magistrate fined the defendant $5 and costs and announced that the was bound to put down rowdyism at religious gatherings. In the present case he inflicted only a small fine, but the next offender who was brought before him need not expect to get off so easily.

The New Harness.

Assistant-Chief Craig and Mr. W. J. Devlin have returned from Toronto, after inspecting the harness in use in the fire halls in that city. Foreman Frank Smith of the Lombard-st. Hall, took them in charge and showed them everything worth seeing, for which they desire to return thanks. It was decided to procure a set of harness, the same as Toronto uses, which that city adopted as the standard after trying pretty nearly every kind made, and if it is good enough for the Toronto, surely it will be good enough for Peterborough. Mr. Devlin thoroughly inspected the workmanship and purchased collars and hames of the latest pattern, of the kind that will fit any horse, and the rest of the work will be done in Peterborough. The harness will be used in drawing the hose wagon and with a good lively team in front the machine should get over the ground at a rapid rate.

Belleville Left Out.

In the Ontario tankard competition at Toronto on Thursday morning a protest of Mr. Gibson, M.P.P., president of the Wroxeter club, that they were not entitled to lose their game with Belleville, as they were not ten minutes late as claimed, was laid before the Executive Committee at the Granite rink, and after consultation among themselves and with the competing skips it was decided not to allow Belleville the single shot which that club had counted. Consequently Belleville's majority of one was eliminated and the match was declared a draw, and the rinks were ordered to play another end, which was done, when Mr. Biggar's rink scored one point for Belleville and Mr. Bone's two for Wroxeter, thus giving the match to Wroxeter by a single shot. Thus Belleville fell in the second draw and Wroxeter remained to compete with Thamesville. In the final, Galt defeated Toronto by 6shots, Wroxeter fell before Thamesville by 9 shots and finally Thamesville defeated Galt by 17 shots and won the Tankard.

A Hall Stripped.

Some of the members of the recently organized King William Lodge of True Blues, were rather surprised upon visiting their hall, just over the telephone exchange, this morning. They found that the doors of the anti-room and the main entrance to the hall had been forced and that a carpet, measuring about twenty-five feet by twenty feet, a $90 banner and four large pictures had been carried away by parties unknown, while a large streamer bearing the words "No Ross Bible," was laying on the floor. The doors had been forced with kicks as the marks on the wood plainly indicate. This is the second time that this hall has been entered and goods removed during the last six months, and as may be imagined the members of the Lodge are not at all pleased. It is a well known fact that since the No Ross Bible episode at the Post Office corner the best of feeling has not prevailed among all the members of the order and the True Blues are quite outspoken in referring to the last night's doings as an outcome of the event referred to. The police have the matter in hand and are now investigating it.

FOR THE SECOND TIME.

The Premises of Mr. W. J. Minore, Simcoe st., Entered by Burglars.

"Midnight mechanics" appear to regard Mr. W. J. Minore as fair game. Last night, for the second time in two months, his premises on Simcoe-st. were entered by burglars and a large number of cigars carried off.

It will be remembered that upon the previous occasion, nothing but cigars was carried away. The same was the case last night.

When an employee went down to work this morning he found the side door, opening into the lane between the biscuit factory and the Lock Works, wide open, and further investigation revealed the fact that a large pane of glass in one of the windows of the front door had been broken. It was at once seen that a number of boxes of cigars had been carried off, but how many could not be told until Mr. Minore arrived.

It was seen that the light of glass had been broken by a blow from the outside, as fragments were scattered about the floor. An opening about 14 inches high and 24 inches wide had been made, sufficiently large to admit the body of a large sized man. Once inside it was plain sailing. The side door was opened, the boxes of cigars taken from the shelves and placed in flour bags, so it is supposed, from the fact that the marks of the bags were plainly discernable on the floor and three bags are missing.

Mr. Minore cannot tell exactly how many boxes of cigars were taken, but he estimates his loss at from $75 to $150. The brands taken were "La Captiva" and "Creme de la Creme," the best in the shop, and were a portion of a consignment received from Montreal and placed on the shelves during the previous day. It is supposed that between three and four thousand cigars were taken altogether.

The matter was at once reported to the police, but beyond the finding of a chisel in the lane and a brace and bit on Simcoe Street, in front of the residence of Mayor Stevenson, the police are just as much in the dark regarding the perpetrators as the general public are.

THE TOOLS.

The tools found at Minore's were taken to the police station, where they were soon identified as the property of some of the workmen at D. Belleghem's furniture factory. There it was found that an entrance had been effected by smashing a pane of glass in one of the engine house windows and then walking up into the workshop. The thief or thieves had the choice of a large assortment of tools, from which they took those they regarded as best suited to their purpose. Nothing else whatever was disturbed at Mr. Belleghem's.

Officers Pidgeon and McGinty were on duty, but they knew nothing about the burglaries until they heard the news this morning.

There is no doubt that the centre of the town is not properly lighted after 12 o'clock, and if it was it would be a good deal easier to detect thieves.

The "At Home."

A very pleasant and successful entertainment was held in the George-st. Methodist Church on Thursday night under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. In keeping with the character of the entertainment, an "At Home," sofas, tables and chairs were arranged about the rooms in groups, lace curtains adorned the windows and draped the pillars, and pictures and other ornaments brightened the walls. Mr. A. E. Scott occupied the chair and presided in a creditable manner. The numbers on the programme did not follow each other very quickly, the intervals being filled up with a buzz of conversation and "at home" chatting. The Peterborough Amateur Orchestra was present, thirteen strong, and furnished excellent instrumental music. This orchestra, led by Mr. Butcher, is a good organization and their selections during the evening were much appreciated. Mr. A. L. Davis sang a solo, "Wedding Morn," in his well known pleasing manner and was warmly applauded. Mrs. Daly, ever a favorite, followed with a song and was loudly encored, responding with, "Within a Mile o' Edinbro Toun." Six "impromptu addresses" followed. The young men selected for this ordeal were given a minute and a half to speak and each one got his subject in a sealed envelope in a hat as he went on the platform. The speakers were the Rev. J. S. Thompson and Messrs. Dobbin, Schofield, Dixon, Armstrong, Stevens and Scott. This part of the programme caused considerable amusement, Mr. W. A. Dixon's speech being especially good. The Rev. Wm. Ford, of Essex Centre, who in his youthful days was a member of this church, gave a short address, referring to the time twenty years ago when he was a member of the congregation. An intermission followed, during which refreshments were served, tables being set in a class room for that purpose, laden with good things and waited on by ladies of the congregation, assisted by some of the young men. After the intermission Mr. G. Mulligan sang a solo and was deservedly encored. The chairman gave an amusing recitation, and Mr. F. H. Dobbin read Burdette's "Denominational Railroads." A mail quartette, Messrs. Stevens, Henderson, Baguley and Jones, sang "Come where the Lilies Bloom," in an excellent manner, and were compelled to respond to an encore. The National Anthem by the orchestra brought to a close a very enjoyable entertainment.

BASEBALL GOSSIP.

Clarkson, the noted Chicago pitcher, says he would like to see Mike Kelly with a Chicago uniform in right field.

Mr. J. W. Spalding says the Cincinnatis will be the showiest team on the ball field next season, with their many colored uniforms.

Smiling Mickey Welch will be found with a New York uniform on, notwithstanding all rumors to the contrary.

From all appearances the remainder of the New York combination will sojourn on the Pacific slope for some time yet. The climate agrees with them.

There will be an interesting fight between the Brooklyn and Cincinnati clubs next season for first place. However, the chances are in favor of the latter.

Silver King is looked upon as the star twirler of the St. Louis Browns for the season of 1888, and will be expected to do the bulk of the work for that club.

Manager Phillips, of the Pittsburg club, announces that nearly all his spring dates have been arranged. He has a few left, and any club desiring games should communicate with him.

The fifty cent gate admission to the American association games is creating quite a stir in the different cities which contain Association clubs. It is thought that the scheme will not be a success.

It is now believed that Manager Williams will take his Cleveland club south in the spring. Should he do so he will open at Macon, Ga., on or about March 15. He will meet other clubs down there.

Big Dave Foutz, one of Brooklyn's new pitchers for next season, is doing some tall work in the box this winter for the St. Louis combination, now in California. It is hoped he will keep it up next season.

A Cause of Clerks' Dishonesty.

I firmly believe that more than one-half of the defalcations and breaches of trust among clerks are caused by the silent teachings of dishonest merchants. I do not mean to excuse the clerks who permit themselves to be influenced by such teachings, but I wish to put the first blame where it belongs—and, in meting out punishment to the offenders, ideal justice would consign them both to the penitentiary.

Everybody must deplore the morality that permits false weights and false prices; that puts a "three pound" label on a forty-two ounce package; that sells fifty per cent. of spoiled flour and worse than spoiled buckwheat as "pure" mustard and "pure" pepper; that laughs at the sharp trick of false weights inserted in bills of lading to defraud the railroad and steamship companies; that applauds the successful bribery of a custom house examiner of dutiable goods; that chuckles at the clever imitation of a competitor's trade mark; that twists and turns and prevaricates to avoid the payment of taxes justly due the commonwealth for its blessings of liberty and protection; that does, in a word, everything that is low and mean and degrading, and nothing that is fair and true and just. I say morality of this sort is not the atmosphere in which to bring up a youth. Should he survive it all, and come out of it pure and true, it will be because he has within him the mettle of a true man, and not because of his surroundings.—Frank Grafton in The Epoch.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

What a Time

People formerly had, trying to swallow the old-fashioned pill with its film of magnesia vainly disguising its bitterness; and what a contrast to Ayer's Pills, that have been well called "medicated sugar-plums"—the only fear being that patients may be tempted into taking too many at a dose. But the directions are plain and should be strictly followed.

J. T. Teller, M. D., of Chittenango, N. Y., expresses exactly what hundreds have written at greater length. He says: "Ayer's Cathartic Pills are highly appreciated. They are perfect in form and coating, and their effects are all that the most careful physician could desire. They have supplanted all the Pills formerly popular here, and I think it must be long before any other can be made that will at all compare with them. Those who buy your pills get full value for their money."

"Safe, pleasant, and certain in their action," is the concise testimony of Dr. George E. Walker, of Martinsville, Virginia.

"Ayer's Pills outsell all similar preparations. The public having once used them, will have no others."—Berry, Venable & Collier, Atlanta, Ga.

MR. PYNE'S MISFORTUNE.

Hit on the Head by a Stone Thrown at the Police—Mr. Gilhooly Bailed.

DUBLIN, Feb. 16.—While Mr. Pyne, who was rearrested yesterday at Kilmacthomas immediately after admission to bail pending an appeal from his sentence of three months' imprisonment for violating the Crimes Act, was being taken to the depot for conveyance to Clonmel, a large mob congregated and stoned the police. One of the missiles struck Mr. Pyne on the head, severely injuring him. Upon his arrival at Clonmel Mr. Pyne was taken before a magistrate, who remanded him for a week without bail to answer the second charge.

The Court of Queen's Bench has liberated Mr. Gilhooly, M.P., on bail.

Wanted in Chicago.

STILLWATER, Minn., Feb. 16.—A convict here, known as Dr. August Towsky, has been identified as John G. Zalowski, who six years ago, while a resident of Chicago, took out policies upon his life for $8500 and suddenly disappeared, his wife showing a note from him stating that he was about to drown himself. Part of his clothes were found upon one of the lake piers. His wife recovered judgment for the amount of the life insurance. After leaving Chicago he married another woman at Chaska under the name of Towsky, and was sent to the penitentiary for attempting to murder her because she refused to act in collusion with him to defraud an insurance company. He will be taken to Chicago.

Collingwood Banquets Mr. McCarthy, M.P.

COLLINGWOOD, Feb. 16.—The public banquet tendered to Dalton McCarthy, Q.C., M.P. for North Simcoe, by the people of Collingwood and the adjoining towns this morning was a great success. Fully 250 persons assembled in the Music Hall to do honor to the guest of the evening. Mr. Thomas Long, ex-M.P.P., occupied the chair. The usual toasts were responded to.

The Agreement Ratified by the H. and N.-W.

HAMILTON, Feb. 16.—At a special general meeting of the Board of Directors of the Hamilton and Northwestern Railway to-day the agreement between the Grand Trunk Railway, the Northern Railway and the Hamilton and Northwestern Railway was ratified by a unanimous vote.

HIS REST DISTURBED.

The Crown Prince Has a Fit of Coughing—Dr. Mackenzie's Report.

SAN REMO, Feb. 16.—The Crown Prince's rest last night was much disturbed by coughing. Otherwise his condition is unaltered.

Laryngotomy Talked Of.

BERLIN, Feb. 16.—Full reports concerning the condition of the Crown Prince, issued by Prof. Virchow and Dr. Mackenzie, state that the disease with which he is afflicted is not of a cancerous nature.

The incision in the Crown Prince's throat is almost healed. The doctors now fear that laryngotomy will be unavoidable, and they are discussing whether partial or complete removal of the larynx will be advisable. The present treatment will be continued three months and the question of an operation decided afterward.

There is much excitement in the lobby of the Reichstag owing to the rumor that a bill is to be submitted for the purpose of transferring the regency to Prince William in case of the relinquishment of the throne by the Emperor.

The Lancet says: "Dr. Mackenzie's report will not do much to allay the anxiety concerning the Crown Prince. The diagnosis has been uncertain since May and continues to be uncertain."

Dr. Mackenzie's Protest.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—A despatch from San Remo says Dr. Mackenzie has protested against the course of treatment pursued by the German doctors in the case of the Crown Prince.

The Prince of Wales receives regular bulletins regarding the Crown Prince's condition. It is rumored that the operation of laryngotomy is about to be performed.

Buried by an Avalanche.

VIENNA, Feb. 16.—Seven persons were buried by the avalanche which blocked one end of the St. Gotsard tunnel.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"That's awful nonsense, you know," says Rodney, lightly. "When he sees I haven't taken any steps about arresting him, he will forget all about it, and bear no further ill-will."

"You don't understand this people as I do. I tell you he will never forgive his downfall the other night, or the thought that he is in your power."

"Well, at all events, I shan't go one moment before I said I should," says Rodney.

"It is now my turn to demand obedience," says Mona, with a little wan attempt at a smile. "Will you make every hour of my life unhappy? Can I live in the thought that each minute may bring me evil news of you,—may bring me tidings of your death?" Here she gives way to a passionate burst of grief, and clings closer to him, as though with her soft arms to shield him from all danger. Her tears touched him.

"Well, I will go," he says, "on one condition—that you come with me."

"Impossible!" drawing back from him. "How could I be ready? and, besides, I have said I will not marry you until a year goes by. How can I break my word?"

"That word should never have been said. It is better broken."

"Oh, no."

"Very well. I shall not ask you to break it. But I shall stay on here. And if," says this artful young man, in a purposely doleful tone, "anything should happen, it will——"

"Don't say it! don't!" cries Mona, in agony, stopping his mouth with her hand. "Do not! Yes, I give in. I will go with you. I will marry you any time you like, the sooner the better,"—feverishly; "anything to save your life!"

This is hardly complimentary, but Geoffrey passes it over.

"This day week, then," he says, having heard, and taken to heart the wisdom of, the old maxim about striking while the iron is hot.

"Very well," says Mona, who is pale and thoughtful.

And then old Brian comes in, and Geoffrey opens out to him his newly devised plan; and after awhile the old farmer, with tears in his eyes, and a strange quiver in his voice that cuts through Mona's heart, gives his consent, and murmurs a blessing on this hasty marriage that is to deprive him of all he best loves on earth.

And so they are married, and last words are spoken, and adieux said, and sad tears fall, and for many days her own land knows Mona no more.

CHAPTER XIII.

In the house of Rodney there is mourning and woe. Horror has fallen upon it, and something that touches on disgrace. Lady Rodney, leaning back in her chair with her scented handkerchief pressed close to her eyes, sobs aloud and refuses to be comforted.

"Oh! Nicholas, it can't be true! it really can't," she says, alluding to the news contained in a letter Sir Nicholas is reading with a puzzled brow.

He is a tall young man, about thirty-two, yet looking younger, with a somewhat sallow complexion, large, dreamy brown eyes, and very fine sleek black hair.

Just now his forehead is drawn up into a deep frown, as he reads the fatal letter that has reduced his mother to a Niobe. Another young man, his brother, Captain Rodney, who is two or three years younger than he, is looking over his shoulder, while a slight, brown-haired, very aristocratic-looking girl is endeavoring, in a soft, modulated voice, to convey comfort to Lady Rodney.

Violet is growing as nearly frightened as good breeding will permit at the protracted sobbing, when Sir Nicholas speaks.

"It is inconceivable!" he says to nobody in particular. "What on earth does he mean?" He turns the letter round and round between his fingers as though it were a bombshell; though, indeed, he need not, at this stage of the proceedings, have been at all afraid of it, as it has gone off long ago and reduced Lady Rodney to atoms. "I shouldn't have thought Geoffrey was that sort of fellow."

"But what is it?" asks Miss Mansergh from behind Lady Rodney's chair, just a little impatiently.

"Why, Geoffrey's been and gone and got married," says Jack Rodney, pulling his long fair moustache and speaking rather awkwardly. It has been several times hinted to him, since his return from India, that, Violet Mansergh being reserved for his brother Geoffrey, any of his attentions in that quarter will be eyed by the family with disfavor. And now to tell her of her quondam lover's defection is not pleasant. Nevertheless he watches her calmly as he speaks.

"Is that all?" says Violet, in a tone of surprise, certainly, but as certainly in one of relief.

"No, it is not all," breaks in Sir Nicholas. "It appears from this," touching the bombshell, "that he has married a —a—a young woman of very inferior birth."

"Oh! that is really shocking," says Violet, with a curl of her very short upper lip.

"I do hope she isn't the under-housemaid," says Jack, moodily.

"It is worse," says Lady Rodney, in a stifled tone, coming out for a brief instant from behind the deluged handkerchief. "He has married a common farmer's niece!"

"Well, you know that's better than a farmer's common niece," says Jack, consolingly.

"What does he say about it?" asks Violet.

Sir Nicholas again applies himself to the deciphering of the detested letter. "'He would have written before, but saw no good in making a fuss beforehand,'" he reads slowly.

"Well, there's a good deal of sense in that," says Jack.

"'Quite the loveliest girl in the world,' with a heavy stroke under the 'quite.' That's always so, you know; nothing new or striking about that." Sir Nicholas all through is speaking in a tone uniformly moody and disgusted.

"It is a point in her favor, nevertheless," says Jack, who is again looking over his shoulder at the letter.

"'She is charming at all points,'" goes on Sir Nicholas, deliberately screwing his glass into his eye, "'with a mind as sweet as her face.' Oh, it is absurd!" says Sir Nicholas, impatiently. "He is evidently in the last stage of imbecility. Hopelessly bewitched."

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1888.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 17.—The following bills were introduced and read a first time:

An act to amend the act respecting insurance companies; an act to incorporate the Ottawa, Arnprior and Renfrew Railway Company; an act respecting the Port Arthur, Duluth and Western Railway Company; an act to legalize certain bylaws of the Town of Berlin; an act respecting a certain railway debenture of the Town of Thorold; an act to amend the act respecting cemetery companies; an act to amend the Municipal Act; an act to amend the Registry Act; an act to incorporate the Village of Chester; an act to confirm certain railway agreements; an act respecting Industrial Farms and Houses of Industry; an act to amend the act incorporating the Brockville, Westport and Sault Ste. Marie Railway Company; an act to amend the act incorporating the Ottawa and Thousand Island Railway Company.

Mr. Clancy inquired whether copies of certain resolutions passed by this House on April 22, 1887, were sent to the Right Hon. William Ewart Gladstone, M.P., and Charles Stewart Parnell, Esq., M.P., or either of them, as directed by this House; whether any acknowledgment has been made of the receipt of said copies by the gentlemen to whom they were directed to be sent, or either of them; and, if so, what are the contents of such reply or replies?

The Attorney-General replied that the resolution had been forwarded, but no official acknowledgement of their arrival had been received.

Mr. Clancy moved that all returns ordered by the House should be brought down as early as possible consistent with a due regard to the public service, and that it is to be regretted that many returns ordered by this House during the last Parliament have not yet been brought down, thereby depriving the members of this House of the means of obtaining important and useful information.

Hon. Mr. Fraser said it was always the practice of the Government to bring down returns as soon as possible, but in many cases this could not be done during the session in which the returns were asked for. He moved in amendment to strike out the last clause of the resolution.

Mr. Meredith said the mover of the resolution had suffered session after session through the failure of the Commissioner of Public Works to keep his promise to bring down returns asked for, quoted from the journals of the House in opposition to the contention of the mover of the amendment, and stated him for intimating that the motion would be defeated, not because it was improper or impolitic, but because the Government had a large and submissive majority.

The amendment was adopted after some further discussion.

Around the Lobbies.

The Attorney-General presented a petition to the House praying for the exemption of all personal property from taxation, excepting taxable income.

The Attorney-General has set a day for debating the Quebec resolutions. Thursday next, he says, would be a good day. They'll all be fresh for the fray then after their little jaunt to Guelph.

Among the experts to be summoned before the Butter and Cheese Committee on Tuesday are Messrs. Cleland and Drake, Listowel; McPherson and McLeod, Cornwall, and the presidents and vice-presidents of the Eastern and Western Dairymen's Associations.

The Private Bills Committee met yesterday forenoon. The bill to extend the limits of Ottawa occupied most of the time. The territory which the bill proposed to incorporate with the city was curtailed considerably. It was decided that land used within the annexed district for gardening purposes should not be taxed any higher than at present till it was divided into building lots. Another amendment made was to the effect that where water pipes run by property in the annexed district the water tax shall not be imposed unless water is used by the owners or tenants. According to the city by-law the property would have to pay water rates whether water was used or not, in cases where mains ran by the property. The Central Canada Exhibition Association Bill was passed. The Toronto Industrial Bill was taken up, but after some discussion was allowed to stand.

Mr. Wood's (Hastings) Committee on Butter and Cheese, is getting along rapidly with the work in hand.

The members of the sub-committee appointed to arrange a set of questions to be submitted to cheese manufactures throughout the country have completed their task. With these questions they propose to send the bill drafted for introduction to the Dominion Parliament by the Western Dairymen's Association, with the object of inviting criticism of its details. About a thousand of the circulars containing the questions will be issued. The General Committee which met in room 16 yesterday endorsed the sub-committee's work and appointed two others. The duty of one was to draft a set of rules and regulations which can be recommended to all factory men for patrons to sign, thus enabling summary dealing with those found adulterating the milk. The other committee was instructed to draft a bill providing a simple means of incorporating cheese manufacturing companies. The committee will have the testimony of cheese and butter experts placed before it on Tuesday next. The work that is being done is of very great importance, and will be watched with interest by those engaged in the industry all over the province.

MR. BALFOUR'S ELOQUENCE

AN EXHAUSTIVE REPLY TO MR. O'BRIEN'S ATTACK.

The Chief Secretary Declares it a Sickening Thing That Members of Parliament Should Deserve Imprisonment—A Question of Avoirdupois.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—In the House of Commons last night Sir Richard Webster, Attorney-General, said that Mr. O'Brien's speech was doubtless animated by some real passion, but it was impossible to doubt that there was a deal of acting about it. At any rate if it was not acting it was neither more nor less than incitement to violation of law. Mr. O'Brien had said that the Conservative majority in 1885 was secured by foul means. That must mean an alliance between Mr. Parnell and the Conservatives. But that had been denied by Lord Salisbury, Lord Randolph Churchill and Baron St. Oswald, and also by Mr. Parnell himself in a letter dated Jan. 31 to the Attorney-General. The Attorney-General here read the letter to the House.

Mr. Parnell here interposed that the letter in question was correct so far as he was concerned, but he did not at that time know of the negotiations between Lord St. Oswald and Mr. McCarthy. The latter, said Mr. Parnell, had stated that Lord St. Oswald had informed him that if the Conservatives came into power coercion would be dropped.

Sir Richard then proceeded to defend the administration of the Crimes Act.

On motion of Mr. Balfour the debate was adjourned.

Mr. Balfour Makes an Eloquent Speech.

In the House of Commons this evening Mr. Balfour resumed the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech. He commented upon the vehement character of Mr. O'Brien's attack last evening, and said that it was nothing but what he (Balfour) is accustomed to from the same quarter in the weekly onslaughts in United Ireland.

He had been told that he took a strange pleasure in mere purposeless human suffering which to his languid life imparted a delicious excitement. He consoled himself with the reflection that attacks of even a worse character had been made upon Mr. O'Brien's present allies. "United Ireland," Mr. Balfour said, "had compared Sir G. O. Trevelyan to a skunk, a cuttlefish and a hangman. Mr. O'Brien had likewise drawn a comparison between Mr. Gladstone and Judas Iscariot, and for continuous weeks United Ireland had insinuated, aye, more than insinuated, that Mr. Trevelyan and Earl Spencer had conspired to shield men guilty of the most horrible and nameless crimes." [Hear! hear!]

Mr. O'Brien: "I never did; I stated that the result of their misguided action was to shield those persons, but I never alleged that they did so wilfully."

Mr. Balfour said he could refer to the words of United Ireland to prove his statement. (Cries of "Quote.")

Mr. Balfour replied: "Certainly not." He said he would never think of sullying his lips by repeating such language as had been used toward Sir G. Trevelyan and Earl Spencer in July, 1885. Blame from the source whence such foulness proceeded was indeed the highest praise. ["Hear, hear."]

Proceeding to compare the Crimes Acts of 1882 and 1887, Mr. Balfour maintained that the latter did not, while the former did, create new crimes.

Mr. O'Brien had boasted that his advice to the people of Mitchellstown, combined with a portion of public opinion in England, had saved the people from wholesale evictions. Government action, Mr. Balfour declared, had been modified by neither.

Mr. O'Brien rose to explain that his advice to the Mitchellstown people applied to a special case. He denied that he had in any other instance counselled resistance to the law.

Mr. Balfour, referring to the imprisonment of members of the House, twitted Sir G. O. Trevelyan with making a weak remark to the effect that it was a sickening thing for members of Parliament to be imprisoned. "It was a sickening thing that they should deserve it," said Mr. Balfour, "and it would have been much worse if the Government had given the leading violators of the law a special privilege to defy it with impunity."

Complaint had been made of a letter he wrote during Mr. O'Brien's imprisonment at a time when Mr. O'Brien's friends were spreading every kind of calumny regarding his treatment, with the object of stirring the passions of the British democracy. All the letter stated was that Mr. O'Brien was suffering from weak lungs and an excitable disposition.

Regarding the tortures in the prisons he requested the English prison inspectors to make a special inquiry with the result of showing that it was utterly untrue that there was any harshness in the treatment. As a matter of fact Mr. O'Brien's health improved in prison. [Cries of Hear, hear.] He was two pounds heavier when he left than when he went in.

Mr. O'Brien: "That is inaccurate, I was five pounds lighter."

Mr. Balfour said he could lay upon the table of the House the official records on the rise and fall of Mr. O'Brien's weight. [Laughter.]

Turning to the operation of the Crimes Act, Mr. Balfour contended that the condition of Ireland had immensely improved as compared with its condition during the period of the Gladstone Government.

The Parnellites had not altered their morality, although the Liberals had altered theirs. What a spectacle did the Liberals now present! Who, a short time ago, would have supposed that a single man on the front Opposition bench would advocate forcible resistance to the police! [Cheers.] He was pained at the progress of degradation in the Liberal party, the members of which now rose to the height of indignation only when denouncing judges, magistrates and the police. [Hear, hear.] Under great difficulties and much obloquy these officials stood between society in Ireland and utter ruin, and fearlessly executed their duties. And they had their reward in the respect and admiration of every true friend of liberty and order. [Prolonged cheering.]

Mr. Gladstone's Reply.

Mr. Gladstone followed Mr. Balfour. He said he found little in the Chief Secretary's speech that tended to assist them in getting at the truth of the questions before the House.

The Liberals, he continued, were called Separationists because they wished to give effect to the natural aspirations of Ireland, while having supreme regard for the unity of the Empire.

Mr. Gladstone declined to accept as authentic the Government statistics of crime under the Coercion Act until the cases cited were thoroughly investigated. The only case given in detail had been met with a point blank contradiction.

The Irish nation and the growing English popular feeling was on the side of Home Rule. To delay the settlement of a question of this kind was dangerous in the extreme.

"Let the Government bethink themselves and consent to legislate for Ireland, as they did for England and Scotland, in accordance with the constitutionally expressed wishes and permanent convictions of the people, and thus at last present to the world the blessed spectacle of a truly and not a nominally united Empire." [Loud cheers.]

The Amendment Defeated, 311 to 229.

A division on the amendment was then taken. The amendment was rejected by a vote of 311 to 229.

The division was conducted on strict party lines. All the Liberal-Unionists present voted with the Government.

THE CONTENTS OF THE CASH BOX.

The Liquidators to Count the Amount in the Central Bank Vaults.

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—Another chapter to the Central Bank story was opened yesterday morning before the Master-in-Ordinary when the contending forces in the liquidation agreed to count the treasury.

Mr. Archibald Campbell attended with Mr. S. Bain, Q.C., and Mr. Kappelle. Mr. J. H. Coyne appeared for the liquidators, Messrs. Howland and Gooderham. It only took a few minutes for the counsel to agree that the counting of the treasury be proceeded forthwith in the presence of a teller, to be appointed by a committee representing all parties interested.

Directly the counting of the treasury has been concluded and the result reported to the court, Mr. Campbell will be asked to hand over the keys now in his possession.

Regarding the election of Mr. Campbell's successor, the date is to be fixed by the Master-in-Ordinary as soon as Chancellor Boyd sends down the order.

Application was made before the Chancellor to confirm the writ of garnishee issued by the Sault Ste. Marie branch of the Central Bank against certain debtors in that locality. Application granted.

The latest development in Central Bank affairs is the discovery of a shortage to the extent of nearly $4000 in the books of Accountant Webster of the Guelph branch. Of this amount $3000 was appropriated in one swoop. The entries in the books were altered by Webster so as to cover up his transactions, and only came to light the other day when an examination was made. Webster is well connected in Guelph. His father was the late Registrar of the County of Wellington.

The liquidators of the bank, upon the discovery of the defalcation, called upon the London Guarantee and Accident Company, of which Mr. A. T. McCord is manager, and in which Webster was "bonded" for $5000, to make good the shortage. Manager McCord last night sent one of his officers along with Mr. Ross of the Central Bank to Guelph to arrange a settlement with Webster, whose friends, it is said, have agreed to come to his rescue.

ECHOES OF THE CRASH.

Further Particulars With Reference to the Collision at the Junction Cut.

HAMILTON, Feb. 17.—When the Chief of Police was instructed yesterday as to how the fatal accident at the Y had been caused, he thought it would be wise to detain the trainmen of the freight here until after the inquest. Driver Robinson and Fireman Howe reported at the Grand Trunk station and were told that they must remain here, but Conductor Vance, who is the one wanted more particularly, could not be found. After leaving the wreck he walked along the track in the direction of the city, and, it is said, he was afterwards seen to branch off the track and disappear. Chief McKinnon wired to all stations to look out for him and detain him, but no word has yet been heard of him. The city officers have been on the look out too, but think he is not around here. The Grand Trunk Railway officials think he has left the country.

The funerals of Archibald and Peden will take place on Sunday.

Driver Thomas Hutchison is getting along nicely at his home, and will be able to be about before long.

Brakeman Peacock, who is at the Hospital, is also doing well. He is better to-day than it was thought he could be. The injuries to his head are very serious, but it is thought they will not prove fatal.

The loss to the company is estimated at $50,000.

The work of clearing away the wreck was completed at 5 o'clock this morning.

An Ottawa Abraham.

OTTAWA, Feb. 17.—Mr. Thomas Cundell, a well-known contractor, was driving with his wife and little girl on Rideau street to-day, when all at once he seized the child with both hands and commenced choking her. The agonized outcry of the child and mother speedily attracted the attention of a crowd, amongst whom were Sheriff Sweetland, Deputy Sheriff Sherwood and Detective Montgomery, who speedily liberated the child from its perilous position. Mr. Cundell gave as an explanation of his strange conduct, that "he wanted to take the child up to the Salvation Army barracks and sacrifice it to God."

A Toronto Deputation at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Feb. 17.—The Toronto deputation, headed by Mayor Clarke, interviewed Jos. Hickson, General Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, to-day, with reference to amalgamation of the Grand Trunk and Northern and Northwestern lines, and the way in which Toronto would be affected thereby. Mayor Clarke stated that the interview was of a very satisfactory nature, and the deputation feel quite satisfied with Mr. Hickson's answer.

The Local Governments Bill.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The new Local Government Bill, in its final form, as unanimously passed by the Cabinet, creates new county boards on a purely elective basis. These boards are to have entire control of police forces within their jurisdiction, and they are also to issue annual publicans' licenses. The adoption of the principle of local option is accompanied with a provision for the compensation of publicans for the loss of their licenses, unless these privileges are to be annulled in consequence of violations of the law.

THE FISHERIES TREATY.

AMERICAN REPORTS NOT CREDITED AT THE CAPITAL.

It is Believed That an Interpretation Has Been Placed Upon the Treaty of 1818 Which Will Prove a Source of Satisfaction to Both Countries.

OTTAWA, Feb. 17.—The American reports from Washington regarding the text of the fisheries treaty are regarded here as altogether misleading when it is made to appear that the concessions granted by the British and Canadian plenipotentiaries sacrificed Canada's interests.

The statement made by The New York Herald and other American papers that "it is practically an American victory, inasmuch as the main point of contention, the right to touch and trade, has been conceded to the United States," should be taken cum grano salis.

When the terms of the treaty come before Parliament for consideration it will not be surprising to find that the previsions have been improperly interpreted, and the same may be said of the reference to the headland question and the three-mile limit.

As to the question of supplies as a basis of operation there is also, it is understood, a misapprehension.

As already stated it is, therefore, manifestly unfair to discuss the results until the final report of the plenipotentiaries has been made public. That report will in all probability be presented to Council by Sir Charles Tupper on Monday next.

It is safe to presume, however, that the terms of the treaty of 1818 have been carefully defined and an interpretation placed thereon which cannot but prove a source of satisfaction to the people of both countries.

Sir John will say nothing more with reference to the matter than was stated in my despatch last night. He thinks it advisable to await the presentation of Sir Charles Tupper's report.

Lord Salisbury's Promise.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—In the House of Lords to-day Lord Salisbury promised to submit the fisheries treaty just signed at Washington to Parliament as soon as the Government receives it.

Tried To Kill the Inspector.

DUBLIN, Feb. 17.—A packet containing gunpowder, to which was attached a leaden ball, was thrown into the house of Inspector Kelley at Skibbereen to-day. An explosion followed, wrecking the furniture and filling the house with choking fumes, from which the inmates barely escaped with their lives.

The windows in the house of Mr. MacKay, the Crown Solicitor of County Donegal, were smashed by unknown persons on Wednesday. Mr. MacKay was in Falcarragh at the time of the outrage, prosecuting the case against Father Stephens, who was convicted of inciting tenants not to pay rent.

Death of a Well Known Actress.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Lizzie Kelsey, the well known actress, is dead and buried. She came to this country in 1865 with Pauline Markham and Lisa Weber and other famous beauties. Their first appearance was in "The Black Crook," which took the country by storm, under the management of Jarrett and Palmer. She was for many years a favorite ballet dancer in New York and other cities, where her beauty attracted a train of admirers. Of recent years she has been playing leading parts in melodramas. She made quite a sensation years ago by offering an impromptu prayer over the newly-made grave of her aged mother in the presence of many noted members of the profession.

A Runaway Train.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Feb. 17.—Last night a copper train of thirty cars on the Duluth and South Shore Railroad got out of control of the men at the Prince mine, five miles above this city, and came thundering down the heavy grade at a rate of over a mile a minute. Nine cars of heavy timber were in the train, and at the third crossing the timbers began to fly, and shot through the air like lightning. Buildings were demolished and cars thrown from the track in every direction. The engine stopped 200 feet from a sharp curve. The engineer and fireman stuck to their posts. The conductor and brakesmen cut loose the caboose and escaped.

The Chatham Dynamiter Held for Trial.

CHATHAM, Feb. 17.—The trial of James Macey, the dynamiter, was continued this morning. The Chief of Police gave evidence as to finding the prisoner's boots and making examination of the tracks in the light snow from the Royal Exchange Hotel to the house where the explosion occurred. Every track fitted the boots exactly. He also found a loaded revolver under the prisoner's pillow and a four-foot fuse and four dynamite cartridge caps under the mattress. On this evidence the prisoner was remanded for trial at the approaching assizes.

Conflicting Reports from Massowah.

ROME, Feb. 17.—A despatch from Massowah says: "Reports have been received here that the Dervishes and Abyssinian troops have had an encounter between Galabat and Gondar. Both sides are said to have lost heavily. The news is conflicting."

The Election in Southwark.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—An election for member of Parliament was held in the west division of Southwark to-day, resulting in the return of Mr. Causton, the Gladstonian candidate. The vote was: Causton 3633, Beddall (Unionist) 2444.

THE FISHERIES.

The announcement that the Fisheries Commissioners have come to an agreement on the question at issue between Canada and the United States, and have signed a treaty, conveys important information. The fishery dispute, though referring more particularly to the Maritime Provinces, was one in which the whole Dominion was interested and out of it considerable ill feeling has grown, though the bitter feeling exhibited by the fishermen of the Eastern States was not manifested so strongly in other parts of that country. Recognising that the dispute was one that it was in the interests of both countries to have settled, the Imperial Government appointed three Commissioners, the Rt. Hon. Jos. Chamberlain, Sir Lionel West and Sir Charles Tupper, to meet three Commissioners appointed by the United States Government. The result has been a new treaty covering the disputed points, which will have to be ratified by the Dominion Parliament and United States Senate.

The treaty has not yet been made public. The reports regarding it, purporting to give an outline of the treaty, are from United States sources and are not to be relied upon; and until the text of the document is given to the public it will not be known with certainty what the agreement is. The reports published, if they are not very wide of the truth, show that the United States fishermen will not be allowed privileges for which they contended. The contention on the part of the United States the that "three mile limit" should follow the sinuosities of the shore, has evidently not been allowed, but it seems apparent that regarding this part of the treaty, at any rate, the newspaper correspondents have not received correct information. The restriction regarding the right to purchase bate, which troubled United States fishermen, is to remain, and the fishing vessels will not be considered the same as trading vessels, although this was one of the points strongly urged against the course pursued last year by the Dominion Government. Certain privileges are, according to the reports, accorded the fishing vessels, including those of purchasing ice and stores and transhipping cargoes, but to obtain them a license has to be purchased, and a proviso is inserted looking to the removal of the United States duty on fish, which must be dealt with by Congress. The reports regarding the treaty, being from United States sources, are plainly colored to favor that nation, and the publication of the treaty will be awaited with interest.

It is amusing to see Canadian papers which argued that the Canadian Government was wrong in its view of the Convention of 1818 and its enforcement, now berating the Government and Sir Charles Tupper, though even their own statements regarding the treaty do not show that Canada has conceded as much as they have before contended she must and should. It appears certain that nothing was done as to reciprocal trade relations. It was not expected that such matters would be dealt with, as it was announced by journals friendly to the Cleveland Administration that the United States Government would refuse to consider the two subjects together.

It is not probable that the public will have long to wait before knowing the terms of the treaty, in view of the early assembling of the Dominion Parliament.

MINDEN.

BURNED TO DEATH.—On Friday night Wm. Hull, of Ingolsby, with whom resided his mother, nearly 80 years of age, went to a neighbor's on an errand. While he was away the house took fire. He saw the flames—they were seen at Minden an Haliburton—and arrived at the same time as a neighbor. They were too late; the house was a mass of flames. They searched around for the old lady, but she had perished in the fire. She had been feeble in mind and body and did not get out of the house and perished.

CHEESE FACTORY.—Mr. Brown reports that everything is satisfactory for the establishment of a cheese factory here. Success to the enterprise.

DISTEMPER.—This disease is now prevalent among horses in this county, a large number of sheaty teams being laid up. Mr. Thomas Sharpe lost a valuable colt on Friday last.

As a toilet article, Ayer's Hair Vigor stands unrivaled. It cleanses the scalp and removes dandruff, cures itching humors, restores the original color to faded and gray hair, and promotes its growth.

GIRLS AMONG BONDS.

AN INDUSTRY IN WHICH WOMEN ARE SUPERIOR TO MEN.

The Way Good Looking Young Ladies Make and Handle Millions—Their Work and Their Pay—Intricacies of Banknote and Bond Engraving.

"These are the girls who make money," remarked a gentleman as a long line of girls came laughing and chatting out of a big building. They were happy and cheerful and as handsomely dressed and jauntily arrayed as if they were just making their exit from a matinee. A reporter ventured up to the eighth floor of the big building to see the money making process.

Seated at their desks in the company's office are the young ladies who act as accountants and timekeepers. They are experts at figures and the whole business of the department has been reduced to such a system that almost at a glance the cost of everything that enters into the work, even to the gum on the back of a stamp, can be ascertained.

A door to the left was opened, and disclosed to view ten or a dozen girls engaged in verifying numbers and counting perfected work. Here great skill and quick perception are required. Sharp eyes run with the speed of lightning down the long rows of coupons and verify the numbers, while other eyes, equally as quick, examine each sheet and it is passed along or tossed out as imperfect, until the finished work reaches the "counter," by whom it is bundled, marked and certified with her signature. It then goes to the great safe, where it is receipted for, and the work is finished.

MILLIONS OF SECURITIES.

Standing in this safe, surrounded by millions of securities, including many of the South and Central American republics, as well as those of innumerable corporations in the United States and Europe, the process of engraving and printing was explained from the time the blank paper left the stock room until it reached this safe in its finished condition. The whole business is conducted on a series of orders and receipts, and not a sheet or scrap of paper can go astray from the time it enters the establishment until it is ready for delivery. Indeed, when the safes and fireproof vaults are locked at night there isn't paper enough about the establishment for a mouse to make a bed.

Although European competition is large this country secures the better class of bond and banknote work, for in no other land has engraving in this special line reached such perfection. Today the money makers of the United States stand at the head of the list, its inventive genius having solved many of the problems of defeating the imitator and the counterfeiter. Here, for instance, is a bond of Cuba. On the back is a map of the island, and in the net of scroll work the word "Cuba" is woven 6,000 times. It is, however, but a sample of many others, the counterfeiting of which is absolutely impossible. In the passage of each one of these sheets of paper through the house it has been subjected to fifty-two countings from as many different persons. Every spoiled and defective sheet has also been accounted for.

The engraving rooms, where skillful artists were at their work; the process by which the engraved plates were transferred to the steel press plates and hardened; the geometrical lathe for engraving scroll work, which cannot be duplicated by hand; the printing and the ink rooms—all were visited, as were also the great iron vaults, containing hundreds of perfect plates, from which an average of 10,000,000 each of securities have been printed.

IN THE ENGRAVING ROOMS.

And except in the heavier parts of the business and in the engraving rooms the girls who make money were everywhere. They were met in the halls and rooms of the building, their arms burdened with bundles of securities, which they were transporting on their way to perfection, the amount in hand being great enough to make them millionaires; in the rooms running numbering machines, as counters, pinners, flyers; and in the press room, where each girl was assisting "her man" in running the press, by damping, laying and flying the sheet, while "her man" applied the ink, prepared the plate and did the presswork. In this department each girl speaks of the pressman as "her man," the two working together, and when one is absent the other, perforce, is idle also. In fact, whenever girls are employed in the mechanical department of making money, they appear as man's assistant and helpmate. In the tower of the building there was a perfect beehive of girls hard at work examining and preparing the money on the tables before them, and happy and cheerful looking ladies they were, too, as were about all employed in the establishment.

There, too, you find pure, unadulterated democracy. The girl who is engaged in counting $10,000 bonds and examining their coupons does not think herself a bit more elevated than the one who is assorting ten cent notes, nor does she believe herself justified in drawing invidious distinctions. She knows in this mimicry, as in real life, the whirligig of time may throw the bonds into the lap of her companion, and give her the small change as a portion.

The very character of the work precludes the possibly of much talking. The eye, the touch and the mind must be intent on the task in hand, for negligence or inattention is certain to be detected at the next stage the money takes in transit.

"Why do you employ girls in the process of money making instead of men and boys?" asked the reporter of his guide.

"Because they are quicker of perception, have a more delicate sense of touch and are more tractable than boys. In fact, a girl of 17, if suited to our employ, has the fixed habits of a man of 25, combined with greater expertness. Then they have a deeper sense of duty, do exactly as they are instructed, and are in every way more reliable than boys, or even very young men."—New York Star.

Jamaica's Agricultural Text Book.

The government of Jamaica offers a premium of $500 for the production of the best practical elementary text book of tropical agriculture specially applicable to Jamaica, and embodying the first principles of agriculture. It is stated that the object of the manual is to create in the mind of the young an early and intelligent interest in the soil and its products, and particular attention is to be paid to simplicity, brevity and freedom, as far as possible, from technical terms. It is desired that the propagation and cultivation of tropical economic plants should have due prominence. Manuscripts are to be forwarded to the government of Jamaica on or before the 1st of August, 1888.—Frank Leslie's.

Apparatus for Timing Horses.

A Hartford man has invented an apparatus for timing horses. A clock with three hands—minute, second and a quarter second—is started by the official timer. When the winning horse touches the wire the clock is stopped by electricity. At the same instant the current opens a camera which photographs the horse and the clock face.—New York Sun.

A Bundle of Letters.

The manager of a Louisville theatre has in his possession a bundle of manuscript that would make a sensation if given to the public. It is composed of over 500 letters written by well known men about town to the fascinating fairies of the footlights.—New York Evening World.

LINDSAY.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES.—The circumstances connected with the Kinmount diphtheria case and the desirability of having better precautionary measures adopted up north were brought before the provincial health authorities, and as a result Dr. Bryce of Toronto, secretary of the provincial board, telegraphed to Dr. Curry of Minden; Mr. Prust, secretary of the local board; Mr. Mahon, secretary of the Snowdon board; and others to meet him at Lindsay last Friday. They came down, and with Col. Deacon, chairman of the Lindsay board; Judge Dean; Mr. Barron, M. P.; Dr. Burrows and others fully discussed the situation. The importance of adopting thorough and energetic measures was recognized; and the necessity of making arrangements of a permanent nature was admitted. Isolated hospitals will have to be erected by municipalities, at convenient centres, the expense thereof to be levied in proportion to assessment. The next point is that each municipality should pay the charges for its own patients sent to the central hospital. Patients from outside places such as the shanties should in every case be isolated by the local board of health in whose jurisdiction they occur. The charges for maintenance and physicians' services should, in such cases, be borne by the patient himself or by the lumber company in whose employment he may be, or where there is no such provision, then the provincial board of health may be fairly called upon to pay. The local hospitals should make application under the general hospitals act for a government subsidy of 40c. a day for all patients. The various representatives of the local health boards requested Mr. Barron and Dr. Bryce to urge upon the government the adoption of the plan herein outlined, as being reasonable and fair, and as promising to be effective and thorough.—Post.

HALIBURTON.

THE RACES.—The races on Tuesday and Wednesday passed off smoothly and were largely attended. On Tuesday the Green Race was run to a conclusion, the starters were, Briggs' Buckskin, Wm. McKelvey's Snowflake and J. Ellis' Bay colt, Snowflake took 1st, 3rd and 4th heats, Ellis taking second place. The County Race brought out four horses, and three heats were run, Kellatt's George, J. Ellis' Nellie S, Gorrie's Jennie and Young's bay gelding Tom. Two heats were taken by George, and Nellie S. one. This race had to be postponed till Wednesday on account of Tom losing a shoe. Wednesday was a capital day's sport, and was a fine exhibition of trotting. The County race was continued and resulted in Kellat's horse being first, Ellis' second and Gorrie's third. Tom ran well but fell a little short. Open race—This was a very exciting race. Mayflower 1st and 3rd heats and the race, and F. O. P. 2nd place. F. O. P. cut its leg and thus gave the race to Mayflower. Ellis third. Named race—Gorrie's 1st, Young's 2nd, Morrow's Step-and-fetch-it 3rd. The last race of the meet was a dog race and caused more fun and amusement than any of the others. Bernard Stewart's dog, Tippoo, came in first, Mr. Thompson's Driver 2nd, Paul's dog 3rd. The time was very fast, and the contest was most exciting.

The Assizes.

The spring Assize Court will be held in Peterborough on Monday, April 9th, and at Lindsay on the following Monday, before Mr. Justice Falconbridge, and at Cobourg on Tuesday, April 17th, before Mr. Justice Street.

The Institute.

Principal Long says that with the present vacant room at the Institute filled with seats, the building will accommodate 304 pupils. As the average attendance is only about 200, it will thus be seen that there is plenty of room without erecting a new building.

Look Out For Them.

An exchange says that condition powders for making hens lay are being sold to the farmers at 25c. per small package. A farmer who bought a package on opening it discovered it to contain nothing but bran, and ran after the agent and made him return the money. Bran is not a bad food for hens, but 25 cents for a quarter of a pound is rather too much to pay for it.

A Dangerous Bed.

On Friday evening while a young man was on his way to Ashburnham, he found an inebriated individual laying across the Canadian Pacific Railway track, close to a culvert, at the foot of Lake-st., Ashburnham. He was fast asleep and upon being awakened and his dangerous position explained to him, he was profuse in his thanks. It was fortunate indeed that he was discovered as a train was due in a few minutes. This is the second case of a similar character that we have heard of during the last week.

Police Court.

The assault case adjourned from yesterday came before the court again this morning. The evidence of several witnesses was taken and the facts brought out somewhat clearer. The evidence went to show that two small boys were scuffling at the rink when a young man came in and endeavored to start a fight between the youngsters. A bystander interfered and knocked the head of the stirrer of strife through a pane of glass. The Magistrate imposed a fine of $2 and costs.

Handed Back.

On Tuesday an item appeared in the REVIEW, regarding a watch transaction in a photograph gallery, detailing how a young man had lost his time piece in a very simple manner. This afternoon a man appeared at the Police Station and stated to Officer Adams that he had seen "a piece" in the REVIEW saying that a watch had been stolen. He handed the watch to the officer and said that he had been looking for the owner for a week to hand him back his property. It appears that the person who lost the watch left the gallery before the man who was looking at the ticker.

An Error.

In our issue of yesterday we stated that the annual meeting of the West Riding Agricultural Society was to take place to-day. That was an error, as it does not take place until Saturday next, February 25th.

Don't Forget

Growing Less.

The government grant to the Collegiate Institute for the last half year was only $661.25. The revenue from this source is growing beautifully less each year, although the attendance of pupils shows a steady increase.

Remarkable.

It is remarkable what little interest the general public take in the proceedings of the School Board. At the meeting last night, there was but one spectator and he was a comparative stranger. It shows that the people are willing to trust the newspapers for reports of the proceedings.

Omemee Races.

A two day's ice meeting will take place at Omemee on Tuesday and Wednesday next. The track is of the "kite" order and is laid out on the Pigeon river. Purses to the amount of $240 are offered. Some Peterborough horses will compete.

The 57th Battalion

Not Yet.

On the day that the Police Magistrate gave his dicision in the market by-law case, there was considerable talk about carrying an appeal to the highest courts "in the realm" and it was said that some gentlemen of means had offered to defray all expenses of an appeal. Now, however, things have quieted down somewhat and no talk of an appeal is heard.

And now a pauper, all the way from the County of Middlesex, has settled in Peterborough and our already overburdened town is compelled to support him and his family. He claims to have friends in the vicinity of Ottawa, but he refuses a pass to that city. He is a "stayer" too and says that Peterborough is one of the finest places in Canada. It certainly is the haven for vagrants from all over the Dominion.

A New Scheme.

By this time next year, says the Whitby Chronicle, a railroad will be running from Claremont (Ontario County) to Sudbury, on the C. P. R. west of Lake Nipissing. The C. P. R. is bound to have the shortest route to the Northwest. As soon as possible afterwards a spur line will run from Claremont to Whitby, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Newcastle, Port Hope and Cobourg. The great Northwest is drawing nearer every day.

A Good Scheme.

The idea to form a High School section out of the Town of Peterborough, Village of Ashburnham and the townships of North Monaghan, Smith, Otonabee and Douro, apparently meets with considerable favor. At present the townships named are compelled to contribute to the support of the Norwood High School, from which they derive no benefit whatever. The majority of the County pupils attending our Institute come from the neighboring townships and if the scheme proposed is adopted, it will make things lighter for all concerned.

Truer It Is.

By some unexplainable means it became noised abroad that the final contest for the Governor-General's medal was to be between Halifax, N.S., and Peterborough, but Secretary McGill received a communication from Truro, Nova Scotia, asking the Peterborough players to be on hand at Ottawa, on Friday next, the date fixed by the Governor-General for playing off the tie. It is rather a remarkable fact that the same two clubs were drawn last year to contend for the same trophy. Although called a medal, the prize really is a tankard. The players to represent Peterborough will be chosen early in the coming week.

Feb. 21st,

Hoop of Gold.

On Wednesday and Thursday next, Wilson Day's new company will present the great play "Hoop of Gold" at the Opera House. The Kingston Whig in the course of a long notice of the company and the play says that the house was crowded from pit to dome and that every person present was well pleased. The plot is a good one and the play is filled with humorous incidents and thrilling sensenations. The cast is said to be perfect and the Whig states that it could not be any means be improved upon. The play throughout is excellent and it will please the most fastidious. The scenery, painted specially for this company, is out of the usual run. Mr. Day is well known to theatre goers in Peterborough and we have no doubt that he will be greeted with crowded houses, on Wednesday and Thursday next. 1d41

In Bradburn's

Personal.

The Omemee Herald says:—"Mr. Wm Thompson, of Peterborough, was in Omemee this week looking after the interests of the Sun Life Insurance Company of Canada. As there are no restrictions as regards residence, travel, cause of death or occupation, we consider it one of the best companies now doing business in Canada."

In its report of the Orange concert at Omemee the Herald says:—"Miss D. Cottingham has not yet made for herself the name that Miss Howden has, but her rich contralto voice charmed and delighted the large audience, and we have no hesitation in saying that a bright future is in store for her as a singer."

Mrs. John Wells, sr., Dublin-st., was taken ill very suddenly on Thursday last, and she now lies in a critical condition.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

THE FEES OF COUNTY PUPILS SLIGHTLY INCREASED.

Janitor Tighe also Comes in for a Lift—An Effort to form a new High School Division—The North Ward School and a new Institute.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Education was held at the Board room on Friday evening.

Present, Messrs. Stevenson, Chairman, Dumble, Hill, Denne, McWilliams, Wrighton, Weir, English, Hughes, Burnham, O'Meara, Stratton.

Dr. Burnham inquired what the meeting was for? Did they meet as a Board or as a Committee on Appointments to consider the motion regarding Collegiate Institute fees, referred at the last meeting of the Board?

The CHAIRMAN said the understanding was that they would meet first as a committee and afterwards as a Board.

IN COMMITTEE.

On motion of Mr. O'MEARA seconded by Mr. MCWILLIAMS, the Board went into a Committee on Appointments with Mr. Dumble in the chair.

IN REGULAR SESSION.

After discussing the matter the committee rose.

Mr. DUMBLE reported that the committee had decided to charge a fee of $2.50 per month to each County pupil attending the Collegiate Institute, to commence on the first day of March, 1888, until further consideration.

The report was unanimously adopted.

THE JANITOR'S SALARY.

Mr. STRATTON said that the janitor had asked for an increase of salary.

Mr. DUMBLE thought the present salary of $450 for the janitor was small, but at the same time he would like to see the schools kept cleaner.

Moved by Mr. STRATTON, seconded by Mr. WEIR,—that the Janitor's salary be $500 per year from the first day of January, 1888.—Carried.

A NEW SCHEME.

Moved by Mr. DUMBLE, seconded by Mr. BURNHAM.—That the Chairman of the Board and the chairman of the several committees be a committee to invite the adjoining municipalities to unite with the town to form a High School district in connection with and for the support of our Collegiate Institute, on such terms as may be equitable.—Carried.

A SALARY MATTER.

Mr. BURNHAM asked if anything had been done regarding the demand made by Mr. Rowan?

The CHAIRMAN said Mr. Rowan had been paid for all the time he had taught.

The matter was allowed to drop.

UP NORTH.

Mr. DUMBLE inquired if anything had been done in reference to the North Ward school?

Mr. DENNE said he never expected to see a school built up in that section.

The CHAIRMAN thought a school should be built up there to accommodate the small pupils.

Mr. WRIGHTON gave expression to the opinion that the Board should consider the matter of a new institute.

Mr. DUMBLE pointed out that many places are building new High Schools and one is badly needed here, as the present building has long been condemned.

Mr. WRIGHTON proposed that instead of spending $6,000 or $7,000 on a new school in the North Ward, the sum be doubled and a proper Institute erected.

Mr. STRATTON thought that the time was not ripe for the north end school yet.

The question dropped and the Board adjourned.

Scott Act Cases.

Inspector Cochrane had two Scott Act cases before the Police Magistrate this morning, but both proved to be blanks. In one case half a dozen witnesses were sworn and all that was elicited was the fact that persons had brought in bottled ale and drank it on the premises, even supplying their own corkscrews. In the other a gentleman ordered some liquor from Toronto for a friend. Both cases were dismissed without costs. County Attorney Wood appeared for the prosecution and Mr. W. A. Stratton for the defence.

Next.

On Friday evening, the 9th of March, the third carnival of the season will take place. The programme is now being prepared and the public may expect something that will astonish them. Many new and attractive features will be introduced, and the members of the Canton fully intend that the last shall be the best. Bear in mind the date, March 9th, and see that you make no other engagements for that evening.

The New Post Office.

Postmaster Rogers does not care about moving into his new quarters until everything is fixed to his liking. Several things, such as sorting racks, have not yet been placed in position, but it is probable that the work of removal will be commenced next week, so as to have everything in readiness by the first of March.

A volunteer of the 57th Battalion was out to-day in full uniform distributing copies of the programme for the military concert on Tuesday night next. The bayonet and sword squads were practising last night in the drill shed for the concert and a rehearsal will be held in the Opera House on Monday evening.

Bought His Own.

On the market this morning a dealer in hides, etc., purchased some sheepskins and after examining them closely he came to the conclusion that they came off sheep owned by him, that he had lost some months ago. He knew them by the peculiar marks.

Court of Chancery.

At Last.

One of the most sought after trophies among the curlers of Canada is the Scottish counties' medal. For a number of years the trophy has been held by the lads from Lanarkshire and time after time the natives of Stirlingshire have attempted to wrest it from them, without success. This year, however, the folks from the neighborhood of Bannockburn were successful and won by a score of 37 to 30. Mr. W. G. Ferguson was vice-skip of one of the winning rinks, the skip being our old friend, Mr. Robert Jaffray, of Toronto.

This is the Place.

Among the farmers on the market this morning was one residing within two miles of Cobourg. He had a load of apples and found no difficulty in disposing of his goods. As he remarked himself, he made eight or ten dollars by coming here, instead of going to his county town. The same story is heard almost every day. We have undoubtedly one of the best markets to be found in the Province and the sellers know it and hence those who are wise come to Peterborough.

Canadian Voyageurs.

C. H. Farnham has written out of his best studies of wild life for Harper's Magazine for March under the title of "Canadian Voyageurs on the Saguenay." A romantic lot are these frontiersmen, and nobody knows their peculiarities of looks, habit and thought better than Mr. Farnham. The article is full of fine touches in filling in, and bold strokes in outline. The descriptions of scenery along the Saguenay and at Lake St. John, its head waters, will interest all people who take to the woods in summer. A good many Americans from the East have fished in these waters, and judging from this article, the tales which they told of the wonderful beauty of the trip were not exaggerated. Mr. Farnham's work is supplemented by charming pictures drawn by Howard Pyle, A. B. Frost, C. Graham and L. Joutel. These artists catch the spirit of the Saguenay with wonderful cleverness.

Several holes were bored in the door of the safe, and in doing so the "bit" was broken, which no doubt caused the burglars to suspend operations, as they left without securing anything, but the safe was left in such a condition that it could not be opened until the arrival of a man from the factory, Toronto, where it was made. Friday being pay day at the factory, the burglars doubtless thought to make a haul.—Sentinel-Star.

Insurance Catechism.

Why should I insure my life?

Answer—To secure the future support, comfort and education of my family is as much my duty as the providing of their present daily needs. With the sudden changes of fortune almost daily occurring among my business friends, I see no other way of making for them any absolutely certain provision except through the plan of life insurance. Sensible people universally insure against loss from fire, and are perfectly satisfied that the premiums paid year after year are never returned to them. In a life insurance company all premiums are returned with a high rate of interest at some time, for death is certain. Besides the monetary value of my life to my family, in what I daily produce for them, is worth far more than houses, store or goods, saying nothing of the fact that there are about five chances of my dying during the year to one of my house or store burning.

With whom should I insure?

Answer—With E. E. HENDERSON, General Agent, Peterborough.

Why?—Because you will be insured in a thoroughly reliable, safe and honorable Company, at lowest rates.

What a Time

People formerly had, trying to swallow the old-fashioned pill with its film of magnesia vainly disguising its bitterness; and what a contrast to Ayer's Pills, that have been well called "sugar-plated sugar-plums"—the only fear being that patients may be tempted into taking too many at a dose. But the directions are plain and should be strictly followed.

J. T. Teller, M. D., of Chittenango, N. Y., expresses exactly what hundreds have written at greater length. He says: "Ayer's Cathartic Pills are highly appreciated. They are perfect in form and coating, and their effects are all that the most careful physician could desire. They have supplanted all the Pills formerly popular here, and I think it must be long before any other can be made that will at all compare with them. Those who buy your pills get full value for their money."

"Safe, pleasant, and certain in their action," is the concise testimony of Dr. George E. Walker, of Martinsville, Virginia.

"Ayer's Pills outsell all similar preparations. The public having once used them, will have no others."—Berry, Venable & Collier, Atlanta, Ga.

STATEMENT OF IMPORTS.

AMOUNT OF DUTY COLLECTED DURING THE LAST MONTH.

Applications for Situations in the New Printing Bureau—The Experimental Farm for the Northwest—C.P.R. Arbitration—Tenders for Indian Supplies.

OTTAWA, Feb. 17.—The statement of goods entered for consumption during the month of January is:

| | |
|---|---|
| Total dutiable goods | $4,778,481 |
| Free goods | 1,643,591 |
| Coin and bullion | 41,306 |
| Total | $6,463,378 |
| Duty collected | 1,483,565 |

The Inland Revenue for the month of January reached $694,702.

The circulation and specie report shows a total note circulation of $15,826,979, excess of specie $3,083,681.

The work of setting up new voters' lists for the entire Dominion under the Franchise Act will be commenced in a few days. About a dozen printers will be employed at the outset. The number will be increased to eighty at the end of a year or so. Until then a dozen men can do the work, as the new type from the foundry is only coming at the rate of about 10,000 pounds a month.

The Secretary of State is having his life rendered a burden by daily applications for jobs in the new printing bureau. Mr. Chapleau wants the new bureau to be national in character, and he proposes to select the printers from the various provinces according to population.

The experimental farm for the Northwest, to be located at Indian Head, forms a portion of the great Bell farm. It consists of one section of 640 acres, fronting for a mile along the Canadian Pacific Railway track. The purchase price has not transpired. The land is said to be in a good state of cultivation, permitting Prof. Saunders to commence experiments in the spring. There are a number of buildings, including stables, on the farm, which also contains several small lakes.

The arbitrators commissioned to investigate the claim of the Canadian Pacific Railway in connection with the British Columbia section of the work met to-day at 11 o'clock in the Western Block. There were present Chancellor Boyd and Messrs. Keeler and Gregory. The Canadian Pacific was represented by ex-Judge Clark, Q.C., their solicitor, and Messrs. W. Cassels, Q.C., and Blackstock. The Government case is in the hands of Messrs. C. Robinson, Q.C., Osler, Q.C., and W. D. Hogg.

The first point considered was whether the board should proceed with the taking of evidence or first visit British Columbia. The conclusion arrived at was to go on with that part of the evidence which could be taken with advantage now, and some time early in March pay a visit to the Pacific province, to examine the work done upon the ground, and subsequently proceed with the evidence. Upon this basis they spent the greater part of the day in reading the contract and examining the various documents connected with the work performed.

It is understood that ex-Lieut.-Gov. Trutch will be the first witness examined.

The Department of Indian Affairs have invited tenders for the supply of flour at the following Indian agencies in the Northwest Territories: The Narrows, Lake Manitoba, Birtle, Moose Mountain, Crooked Lake, Assiniboine Reserve, File Hills, Muscowpetung's Reserve, Touchwood Hills, Mastowasi's Reserve, Duck Lake, Battleford, Onion Lake, Victoria, Edmonton, Peace Hills, Blood Reserve, Blackfoot Crossing, Sarcee Reserve.

Hon. Wm. Macdougall has returned to the city after several weeks' absence in Washington.

Mr. A. W. Ross, M.P. for Lisgar, had an interview to-day with Sir Adolphe Caron, Minister of Militia, on official business.

Messrs. Girouard and Curran, M.P.'s, were in the city to-day transacting departmental business.

Sir Chas. Tupper and Hon. Mr. Thompson are expected to come to the city this evening.

Fire at St. Thomas.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 17.—The frame residence of Arch. McIntyre, late License Inspector for East Elgin, was discovered on fire about 2 o'clock this afternoon. The building is nearly a total loss. The furniture was badly damaged by removal. No insurance. The fire started from an attempt made by Mr. McIntyre to thaw out a frozen pipe with live coals.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"And a very good thing, too," says Jack, tolerantly; "it won't last, you know, so he may as well have it strong while he is about it."

"What do you know about it?" says Sir Nicholas, turning the tables in the most unexpected fashion upon his brother, and looking decidedly ruffled, for no reason that one can see, considering that it is he himself that is condemning the whole matter so heartily. "As he is married to her, I sincerely trust his affection for her may be deep and lasting, and not misplaced. She may be a very charming girl."

"She may," says Jack. "Well, go on. What more does he say?"

"'He will write again. And he is sure we shall all love her when we see her.' That is another sentence that goes without telling. They are always sure of that beforehand. 'They absolutely arrange our feelings for us! I hope he will be as certain of it this time six months, for all our sakes."

"Poor girl! I feel honestly sorry for her," says Jack, with a mild sigh.—"What an awful ass he has made of himself!"

"And 'he is happier now than he has ever been in all his life before.' Pshaw!" exclaims Sir Nicholas, shutting up the letter impatiently. "He is mad!"

"Where does he write from?" asks Violet.

"From the Louvre. They are in Paris."

"He has been married a whole fortnight and has never deigned to tell his own mother of it until now," says Lady Rodney, hysterically.

"A whole fortnight! And he is as much in love with her as ever! Oh! she can't be half bad," says Captain Rodney, hopefully.

"Well, I hope he has married a good girl, at all events," says Sir Nicholas, presently, with a sigh. But at this reasonable hope Lady Rodney once more gives way to bitter sobs.

"Oh, to think Geoffrey should marry 'a good girl!'" she says, weeping sadly. "One would think you were speaking of a servant! Oh, it is too cruel!" Here she rises and makes for the door, but on the threshold pauses to confront Sir Nicholas with angry eyes. "To hope the wretched boy had married a 'good girl!'" she says, indignantly; "I never heard such an inhuman wish from one brother to another."

She withers Sir Nicholas with a parting glance, and then quits the room, Violet in her train, leaving her eldest son entirely puzzled.

"What does she mean?" asks he of his brother, who is distinctly amused. "Does she wish poor old Geoff had married a bad one? I confess myself at fault."

And so does Captain Rodney.

Meantime, Violet is having rather a bad time in the boudoir. Lady Rodney refuses to see light anywhere, and talks on in a disjointed fashion about this disgrace that has befallen the family.

"Of course I shall never receive her; that is out of the question, Violet; I could not support it."

"But she will be living only six miles from you, and the county will surely call, and that will not be nice for you," says Violet.

"I don't care about the county. It must think what it likes; and when it knows her it will sympathize with me. Oh! what a name! Scully! Was there ever so dreadful a name?"

"It is not a bad name in Ireland. There are very good people of that name—the Vincent Scullys,—everybody has heard of them," says Violet, gently. But her friend will not consent to hear anything that may soften the thought of Mona. The girl has entrapped her son, has basely captured him and made him her own beyond redemption; and what words can be bad enough to convey her hatred of the woman who has done this deed.

"I meant him for you," she says, in an ill-advised moment, addressing the girl who is bending over her couch, assiduously and tenderly applying eau-de-cologne to her temples. It is just a little too much. Miss Mansergh fails to see the compliment in this remark. She draws her breath a little quickly, and as the color comes her temper goes.

"Dear Lady Rodney, you are really too kind," she says, in a tone soft and measured as usual, but without the sweetness. In her heart there is something that amounts as nearly to indignant anger as so thoroughly well-bred and well-regulated a girl can feel. "You are better, I think," she says, calmly, without any settled foundation for the thought; and then she lays down the perfume-bottle, takes up her handkerchief, and, with a last unimportant word or two, walks out of the room.

CHAPTER XIV.

It is the 14th of December, and "bitter chill." Geoffrey, springing down from the dog-cart that has been sent to the station to meet him, brushes the frost from his hair, and stamps his feet upon the stone steps.

Sir Nicholas, who has come out to meet him, gives him a hearty handshake, and a smile that would have been charming if it had not been funereal. Altogether his expression is such as might suit the death-bed of a beloved friend. His countenance is of an unseemly length, and he plainly looks on Geoffrey as one who has fallen upon evil days.

He had left Mona in the morning at Grosvenor, and had run down to have it out with his mother and get her permission to bring Mona to the Towers to be introduced to her and his brothers. This he preferred to any formal calling on their parts.

"You see, our own house is rather out of repair from being untenanted for so long, and will hardly be ready for us for a month or two," he said to Mona; "I think I will run down to the Towers and tell my mother we will go to her for a little while."

Of course this was on the day after their return to England, before his own people knew of their arrival.

"I shall like that very much," Mona had returned, not dreaming of the ordeal that awaited her,—because in such cases even the very best men will be deceitful, and Geoffrey had rather led her to believe that his mother would be charmed with her, and that she was more pleased than otherwise at their marriage.

"Well, mother?" says Geoffrey, when he has gained her room and received her kiss, which is not exactly all it ought to be after a five months' separation. He is her son, and of course she loves him, but—as she tells herself—there are some things hard to forgive.

"Of course it was a surprise to you," he says.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

The German Anti-Socialist Bill Rejected

BERLIN, Feb. 17.—The Reichstag has rejected the Government's anti-Socialist Bill and prolonged the existing laws for two years. The vote on the last mentioned measure was by acclamation.

The Bank of France.

PARIS, Feb. 17.—The Chamber of Deputies has rejected by a vote of 323 to 199, the proposal of M. Sans Leroy of urgency for his motion for the appointment of a committee to inquire into questions connected with the charter of the Bank of France.

An Improvement Visible.

SAN REMO, Feb. 17.—Dr. Mackenzie and the other physicians made a laryngoscopical examination of the Crown Prince's throat to-night, which showed great improvement in the larynx since the operation of tracheotomy was performed. The Prince passed a better day.

A Manitoba Official Skips Across the Line

WINNIPEG, Feb. 17.—Gideon Bordeau, Queen's Printer and Deputy Provincial Secretary, skipped across the line Wednesday. The defalcation is about $2,500 and he leaves $2000 private debts. Bordeau is a brother-in-law of Hon. Mr. Larivière.

An International Greeting.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—At the twenty-second annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. of the State of New York to-day a telegram of greeting was read from the Canada Y.M.C.A. College Association of Toronto.

Daniel Wilson's Trial.

PARIS, Feb. 17.—The trial of Daniel Wilson began before the Correctional Tribunal yesterday. Not one new fact was elicited. The trial was concluded to-day.

Happy Sir Hector.

OTTAWA, Feb. 17.—It is rumored here that Sir Hector Langevin will shortly lead to the hymeneal altar the widow of an ex-government employe.

Result of the Manitoba Bye-Elections.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 17.—Attorney-General Martin's majority is 128, and Mr. Prendergast's 104, with one small poll to hear from.

Lord Dufferin Will Go to Italy.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—Lord Dufferin has accepted the post of Ambassador to Italy.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported to Dun, Wiman & Co., number for the United States 238 and for Canada 37, a total of 275, as compared with a total of 289 last week and 279 the week previous to the last. The figures for the corresponding week last year were 267 failures—231 in the United States and 36 in Canada. The failures in Canada still seem to be unusually numerous.

THE CARRYING OF N.-W. GRAIN.

The Winnipeg Board of Trade Agitating for More Cars.

TORONTO, Feb. 20.

The scarcity of cars for the conveying of grain from the Northwest to the east has been agitating the Winnipeg Board of Trade for some time, and that body being anxious to have the railways provide a greater supply have asked the assistance of the Toronto Board. Lengthy resolutions were adopted and copies forwarded to Toronto's Board of Trade, which replied:

Resolutions received. State total number cars of grain shipped direct from Winnipeg in past six months and to what extent there has been a deficit in supply of cars there.

The Winnipeg Board last Friday wired Secretary Wills of the local board thus:

Impossible to procure information asked for. Our board will gladly defray expenses of any one of the following members of your board to immediately come up and examine into the state of affairs: President Matthews, Wm. Inch, A. M. Smith, ex-Mayor Howland, Senator Macdonald, H. W. Darling, W. R. Brock.

The question of whether one of the gentlemen named will be delegated to go to Winnipeg will be discussed at the meeting of the Board's Council to-morrow afternoon, when a good deal of other business will be taken up, including a petition from the St. Catharines and Niagara Central Railway regarding arbitration, and the filling of the place of Mr. E. Gurney, who has resigned from the Board of Arbitration because of business pressure.

At a meeting of the Board of Arbitration of the Board of Trade on Saturday the case of Chapman v. Hall, which was referred back by a committee of five to which it had been referred for settlement, was, by advice of the solicitor and in accordance with the Act of Incorporation, placed in the hands of a committee, consisting of Messrs. W. Galbraith, A. J. Seink and J. H. G. Hagarty.

It is proposed that Secretary E. A. Wills of the Board of Trade, shall be made a J. P., in lieu for the City of Toronto only. This is deemed necessary because of the many witnesses who have to be sworn before the Board of Arbitration of that body. The Attorney-General, through Mr. John Dove, M.P.P., has expressed his willingness, and the matter will come before the Board's Council to-morrow afternoon.

EMINENT AMERICAN EXILES.

How Two of the Most Noted and Their Families Employ Their Time.

HALIFAX, Feb. 19.—Billy Maloney, ex-boodler of New York, stood on the deck of the Vancouver yesterday waving adieux to friends as the steamer sailed off for Liverpool. He takes with him his second son Ned, whom he will leave in Germany for an education after the two have tramped pretty well around the world. They contemplate an extended tour. Except his younger daughter, who is attending school near Montreal with the daughters of Keenan, Maloney's family is all in New York. Maloney will visit Jerusalem and expects to do Egypt with ex-Mayor Carter Harrison of Chicago. He seemed to be in the best of spirits and good health. He has dropped the "rosy" for some time, and says he means to keep it dropped. When asked about returning to New York ultimately, he said it was very likely he would, because all his associations were still there, although he felt homelike in Canada because his father had lived there many years before going to the United States.

Keenan is living luxuriously in Montreal on an income of perhaps $30,000 a year from his brewery and real estate investments. He is now going ahead on his eight new houses on Sherbrook-street that will cost at least $150,000. His family still live at the Windsor with the Dempseys, while DeLacey and his family are on MacKay street.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

The Alaska Boundary—A Survey to be Made—Progress With the Estimates.

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—Dr. Dawson, assistant director of the geological survey, will remain in Washington for some days, comparing notes with Prof. Dall with respect to the boundary between British Columbia and Alaska. It is understood, however, that before any definite boundary shall be agreed upon the Governments of both countries will have a thorough survey made.

There was a meeting of Council yesterday, at which it is understood considerable progress was made with the estimates. Daily sittings will commence to-morrow, and continue until the end of the session.

An Unsuccessful Attempt at Train Wrecking.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 19.—A dastardly attempt to wreck a Michigan Central Railroad freight train was made yesterday afternoon, a short distance east of Amherstburg. Some fiend had placed a steel rail across the track a few minutes before the arrival of the train. The engine struck the rail but fortunately very little damage was done, as neither engine nor cars were derailed. It is supposed the obstruction was placed there for the purpose of plunder. The officers of the company are investigating.

Jewelry Robbery at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Feb. 19.—Early this morning burglars entered the jewelry store of Henry Augermann, 39 Genesee street, cut through the back of the safe and secured $2000 worth of gold watches, rings and other jewelry. They entered through a rear window, which was unfastened. There is no clue to the thieves.

British Columbia's Mining Development.

VICTORIA, Feb. 19.—A bill has been introduced into the House of Assembly, giving the same rights to foreign companies as to provincial. The measure is for the purpose of protecting foreign capital awaiting investment in mineral wealth. It is expected that there will be a wonderful development of gold and silver ores during the coming year.

THE FISHERIES TREATY.

NOTHING DEFINITE TO BE KNOWN FOR SOME DAYS.

Sir Charles Tupper Interviewed—Free Fish, Free Lumber, Free Salt and Free Coal Said to be Conceded—All Reports Hitherto Published Are Inaccurate.

OTTAWA, Feb. 20.

As yet no authentic information has been given to the press as to the contents of the treaty just concluded at Washington. All the reports published so far are guess-work, and the comments based thereon utterly untrustworthy. The understanding among the commissioners was that the contents of the treaty were only to be divulged in the regular and proper way, viz., that a copy of the treaty be sent to the United States Senate, to the Canadian Parliament and the British Parliament, and thus leave its publication to which ever of these bodies in the natural order of its business first "received" it or took it up. From our interview with Sir Charles Tupper it is not unlikely that it will first see the light at Ottawa.

There is, however, no reason for supposing that Canada has got some out of the diplomatic wrestle with at least even honors. Indeed, from all we can learn she has gained valuable concessions, especially if it be true that the Cleveland administration has pledged itself to secure legislation admitting Canadian salt, coal, lumber and fish free into the United States.

Sir Charles Tupper Interviewed.

MONTREAL, Feb. 19.—Sir Charles Tupper and Lady Tupper arrived from Washington to-day and registered at the Windsor. Sir Charles is in splendid health and spirits. He was seen by your correspondent this morning and made an important and authoritative statement as to the rumors published in the press of Canada and the States as to the nature of the agreement arrived at by the Fishery Conference.

"What is your opinion, Sir Charles, of the agreement arrived at?"

Sir Charles replied: "I am very glad that after a long and close discussion of the whole question the representatives of both countries have been enabled to arrive at a conclusion which I believe is one that will be found equitable in respect to all parties concerned. It is of the greatest importance to Canada as well as to the United States that nothing should interfere with the intimate commercial relations which have so long existed, and which, I am satisfied, may be very greatly extended with advantage to both countries."

From this hint your correspondent is of opinion that certain Canadian products are to be admitted free into the United States.

"Could you give me any idea of the scope of the treaty which the commissioners have signed?"

"I would be failing in the respect due to Parliament if I were to make public the treaty which we have signed before it is submitted to the Canadian House of Commons."

"When do you expect that will be?"

"The treaty will be laid on the table of the House of Commons at the earliest moment that the forms of the House will permit after the opening of the session."

"I may say, however," added Sir Charles, "that almost every statement which has been made by the press both in Canada and the United States proves how well the obligations of secrecy have been observed by the commissioners and all the parties concerned. The surmises that have been hazarded on the subject are characterized by the grossest inaccuracy. I do not make an exception in favor of any of the newspaper reports which have appeared. Up to the present the press surmises about the treaty prove the absolute ignorance of the party making them and their inability to obtain any correct information whatever."

"Has not the treaty been cabled to England?"

"No," replied Sir Charles. "The draft of the treaty is going to England by mail and will be laid on the table of the English House of Commons as soon as received. Probably it will be published first to the Canadian Parliament, as such an understanding was arrived at by the British commissioners. I informed the Conference that the treaty would be laid on the table of the Canadian House as soon as it met.

"Mr. Bayard and President Cleveland have requested the United States Senate to give the treaty immediate publicity, contrary to their usual practice. I cannot say what the Senate will do, as the request of the President to make it public does not ensure its immediate publicity. All will depend on the decision of the Senate with regard to the President's suggestion, whether the treaty is published at Ottawa or Washington first."

"Have you hopes that the treaty will be approved by the United States Senate?"

"Yes. I have hope that it will be adopted by the Senate, although it is extremely difficult to induce a majority of the Senate, who are opposed to the President and the Administration, to permit the Government to accomplish anything."

"Were the relations friendly between the Commissioners?"

"Most friendly. The relations of all the plenipotentiaries, both of Great Britain and the United States, have been most cordial throughout the deliberation. I am satisfied that one and all were animated by a sincere desire to find such a solution of the controversy as might fairly be accepted by the people of both countries."

"What do you think of the reception you met with in Washington?"

"Nothing could exceed the hospitality and the courtesy which the members of the commission and those associated with them received from all parties, from the President downwards."

"The services of Hon. Mr. Thompson, Minister of Justice, who was practically the legal guide of the British side of the conference, were, I need not say, of the highest possible value. His acute knowledge of all the questions at issue and his high legal attainments inspired the American plenipotentiaries with the greatest possible confidence in the soundness of the opinions given by the honorable gentleman."

"The presence of Hon. Mr. Foster, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who has a thorough knowledge of everything relating to the question, was also of very great value to us on many occasions. Mr. Foster has mastered in a most thorough manner everything relating to the fisheries."

Sir Charles Tupper continued: "The intimate intercourse we have had with the leading public men of both political parties in the United States has, I am satisfied, disabused their minds of a great many erroneous impressions in regard to Canada, and will conduce greatly to a better understanding of the mutual interests of both countries in the future."

"Mr. Thompson and I had the honor of a long private interview with President Cleveland on the occasion of our taking leave, and we were greatly pleased with the deep interest which he manifested in the work of the conference and the gratification he expressed on the fact of our having been enabled to arrive at a mutual understanding. President Cleveland believed that the treaty would entirely set at rest all the causes of irritation that have been existing in relation to the vexed question of fisheries."

Sir Charles leaves for Ottawa Monday morning.

The Minister of Justice Interviewed.

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—Hon. Mr. Thompson, Minister of Justice, returned from Washington last night. In conversation with your correspondent to-day he said that he had had a pleasant trip and that he considered the result of the Fisheries Commission satisfactory.

He declined to enter into any discussion of the terms of the treaty, as he did not feel at liberty to say anything about them until the matter had been discussed at a full meeting of Council, which would probably be to-morrow after the return of Sir Charles Tupper. He would say this much, however:

"The reports published in some American and Canadian papers of the terms of the treaty, in which it was represented that the arrangement made was entirely in favor of the Americans, were inaccurate. When the terms of the proposed treaty were made public it would be found that concessions had been made on both sides."

Expected by the U. S. Senate To-Day.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—It is expected that the fisheries treaty will be laid before the Senate to-morrow. It is the intention of some Senators to ask that the treaty be made public at once, and a majority is doubtless in favor of such a course, but as the "precedents and traditions" of the Senate are against it the result is doubtful. It has happened before that when both the Senate and the State Department are willing or desirous to have a matter of this kind made public, neither felt at liberty to take the initiative, and no way of accomplishing the publication was offered, except to have the matter cabled from some country whose precedents were less embarrassing.

An American Account.

From The New York Herald, Feb. 18.

The following is substantially and correctly the full text of the recently signed Fisheries Treaty:

Within a marine league from the shore—three miles—Canada is to have exclusive jurisdiction. This comprises the so-called inshore fisheries. The limit remains at three miles, as originally fixed by the Treaty of 1818.

The headland question is finally disposed of. It is not true, as stated in some papers, that when a bay is more than eight miles wide the line of demarcation is to be drawn from headland to headland. The bay must be at least ten miles across. Within that point American fishermen may go, but they cannot fish. In all other cases the three mile limit is to follow the contour of the shore line.

An international survey of the limit is provided for. All parties are to be equally represented, and thus the common and the exclusively Canadian waters will be clearly defined for the first time, and hereafter there can be no controversy as to what waters Americans may fish in.

In case of stress of weather American vessels may go anywhere they see fit and take shelter in the nearest Canadian harbor.

By the terms of the treaty the United States specifically concede to Canada the right to exclude Americans from buying bait in any of her ports.

Under the terms of the treaty American fishermen may go into any and all Canadian ports for all other supplies except bait, and to ship and tranship the catch to American markets in bond. Of course the customary tonnage tax will have to be paid.

To establish the fact that Canada has a right to determine what vessels and under what regulations they shall enter her ports the Canadian Commissioner contended that these vessels should should first obtain a license, but this is a simply "O. K. license." It is provided that no charge or fee will be exacted for these licenses. They will be in the form of the Canadian authorities approving or writing "O. K." on American customs officers permits to touch and trade in Canada.

There is a reciprocal or retaliatory clause in the treaty. It provides that Canadian fishermen shall have every privilege in United States ports that Americans have in theirs, and no others.

It is also provided as a concession to Canada that the Administration will strive to secure Congressional action for the free entry or full interchange of salt, coal and lumber from the Dominion; but this is not a requisite to the perfection of the treaty. The President's message practically recommends that these commodities be put on the free list and the majority of the Ways and Means Committee also favor this scheme.

The Administration is very anxious to secure the complete ratification of the treaty in time for the opening of the spring fishing season, but should the treaty not be ratified by that time its provisions will at any rate go into temporary effect, as it was agreed by the High Joint Commissioners to observe its provisions and spirit pending ratification by the Senate or until that body had finally rejected it.

The Fishery Commissioners to be Banqueted

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The date for the Canadian Club banquet to the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Sir Charles Tupper and the other Fishery Commissioners and their associates has been fixed for Friday, March 2, at the Hotel Brunswick, New York City. Arrangements are being inaugurated of a very complete character for the banquet and it will at least be an elegant affair. A large number of prominent Americans are anxious to participate and representative Canadians are expected from the various provinces. Applications for tickets should be forwarded at once to Erastus Wiman, President of the Canadian Club, New York City.

Banker Ellstaetter's Luck.

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—Banker Ellstaetter of Karlsruhe has accepted the office of Minister of Finance in Baden. He is the first Jew to attain a ministerial position in Germany.

THE DEMANDS OF THE CZAR

HIS DESIRES REGARDING BULGARIA DEFINITELY DECLARED.

A Substantial Recognition Asked of the Right of Russia to Control Bulgaria and Roumelia—Belief That the Proposal Will be Summarily Rejected.

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—Prince Bismarck has obtained from Count Schouvaloff, the Russian Ambassador, a definite declaration of the Czar's demands with reference to Bulgaria. No secret is made of the exact character of the proposals nor of the official opinion that they will be summarily rejected. The Czar asks a substantial recognition of the right of Russia to control Bulgaria and Roumelia. Prince Ferdinand and the Sobranje are to be wiped out and a Russian commissioner with a Turkish colleague is to re-organize the Government and the army and to control the elections for a new Sobranje. Russia further claims the right to occupy the principality until the Czar deems it proper to withdraw his troops. The nature of these demands aggravates the situation. It is reported that Prince Bismarck has advised Count Schouvaloff to urge the Russian Government to refrain from officially presenting them to Austria, on the ground that they would certainly meet with peremptory rejection without discussion.

The military preparations of Austria are approaching a condition of readiness. Austria and Germany can abide by events, accepting Russia's signal for war or waiting for an opportune moment for attack.

As an adjunct to the treaty of alliance, a plan has been agreed upon for co-operation of the allied forces. When the campaign opens there will be three armies in the field. One, consisting of the first or East Prussian corps, the fourth or West Prussian corps, the fifth or Posen corps, and the sixth or Silesian corps, will be under command of Prince William. The second army, led by the King of Saxony, will consist of the Saxon contingent and the Austrian troops stationed in Galicia and Bohemia. The third army, under the Archduke Albrecht of Austria, will be composed of the bulk of the Hungarian and Austrian troops, and will form the southern corps.

If France enters the field this plan will be modified, but the German and Italian armies mobilized are relied upon to dispose of the French. The acceleration of the Italian naval preparations is due to urgent representations from Berlin.

The splendid health of the Emperor relieves the question of the regency for the time being. The Emperor devotes fourteen hours daily to his duties, beginning at 9 o'clock a. m. and ending at 11 p. m. If the Crown Prince gets worse the Emperor will go to San Remo.

The Russian Press Optimistic.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 19.—The Russian press is becoming more optimistic in its view of the situation in Europe, owing to what it considers to be proofs of Prince Bismarck's intention to expedite the settlement of the Bulgarian question.

Russia's Feeler.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—It is semi-officially announced that Russia will shortly request the signers of the Berlin treaty to notify the Porte that the election of Prince Ferdinand as Prince of Bulgaria was illegal.

Hopeful of Peace.

BUCHAREST, Feb. 19.—The King in his speech on the opening of Parliament said that although there is reason to believe that peace will be maintained, it is the duty of the Government to increase the country's strength at home in order to enable is to face the future with confidence.

THE JURY DISAGREED.

Unsatisfactory Termination of Mr. Hunt's Case Against Police Magistrate Byrne.

DUBLIN, Feb. 19.—James Lloyd, a delegate from the Home Rule Committee, was arrested at Ennis yesterday for inciting the tenants to adopt the Plan of Campaign.

The case of Wilfred Hunt against Police Magistrate Byrne of Loughrea for false imprisonment resulted in a disagreement of the jury.

San Remo's Royal Sufferer.

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—The official bulletin regarding the condition of the Crown Prince to-day says: "The wound in the throat presents a more favorable appearance and is gradually closing. The cough is the same as yesterday. There is a little more expectoration. The patient's appetite is excellent." Other reports say that the cough is troublesome and that the expectoration is tinged with blood.

MIDNIGHT.—The Crown Prince is somewhat better. It is denied that the doctors in attendance upon him are at variance regarding the nature of his malady. This question is not touched at the consultations. Dr. Mackenzie's daughter has arrived. Her coming is held to indicate that the doctor will make a prolonged stay. The Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Baden have departed.

The Paris Mystery.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—The young man, Ernest Blake, who received serious injuries last Tuesday from the hands of some rascal, is still unconscious. It was reported yesterday that Blake was sensible for a few seconds last night and gave the name of John Gilbert, who was suspected of foul play at the time. The Chief of Police at Rochester has informed the police here that he has detained Gilbert, and that he will be handed over to the Paris authorities for examination.

THE ONTARIO SURPLUS.

A CONTEMPORARY asks, "How does it happen that the surplus in the Ontario Treasury is larger now than it was when Sandfield Macdonald left office?" A brief and correct answer to the enquiry is, that the surplus in the treasury is not larger, but smaller. A succession of deficits has assisted in reducing the surplus which the Mowat Administration found in the treasury when they took office, and it is only by deception that they can lead the people to believe that they have saved money for the Province. If it is still contended that the Mowat Government has, by keeping the expenditure within the revenue, increased the cash surplus which was in the treasury when John Sandfield Macdonald resigned, will our contemporary explain in what year the money was saved, and at what time and how it was invested? If the Government has received into the treasury money which they did not spend, and which they have invested for the benefit of the Province, the information we ask should not be hard to furnish. Neither would it, in that case, be difficult to tell the total sum of the investments thus made by the Government and the amount of interest received from investments made by Mr. Mowat and his colleagues. But the information will not be forthcoming, and Mr. Mowat's admirers will not explain to what extent the the credit of the Province has been pledged by his Government.

IN A NUTSHELL.

THE Hamilton Spectator thus neatly condenses into a nutshell the arguments for commercial union with the United States:—"Protection is an evil because it makes articles of consumption dearer than they would be under free trade. The proof is that in the United States, where protective duties are higher than in Canada, goods are dearer than in Canada.

"Commercial union with the United States is necessary, because with commercial union we could buy cheap goods in the United States where they are dearer than they are in Canada.

"Commercial union with the United States would benefit Canada, because it would stop the purchase of goods in Great Britain, where free trade has made them cheap, and compel us to buy in the United States, where protection has made them dear.

"The nation from which we do not buy will not buy from us. Consequently, if we do not buy goods in Britain, Britain will not buy grain, cheese, cattle and lumber in Canada. We shall then be compelled to sell all our agricultural and other surplus products in the United States, which already produces more of such articles than the people can consume."

DISTRICT NOTES.

News of the Midland District Condensed from Contemporaries.

—There are several cases of diphtheria in Mariposa.

—Kenney's school house in Ops township was burned on Thursday night.

—A salvage corps is being formed in connection with the Oshawa fire department.

—The Whitby Agricultural Society presented its Secretary, John Willis, with a fur coat.

—A son of George Pearsal, of Cannington, had three fingers of his right hand cut off by a straw cutter on Wednesday.

—The new head master of the Lindsay High School, Mr. W. Carlyle, is a grandnephew of the celebrated Thomas Carlyle.

—S. Swanton, of Fenelon Falls, dropped from his pocket the other evening a roll of bills amounting to $80. It was not recovered.

—John Bennett, of Ops, while attending to his horse in a church shed on Sunday, was kicked by another horse and his thigh bone was broken.

—Six people are in Whitby gaol for violation of the Scott Act. Two men are from Goodwood, and two women and one man from Gamebridge.

—Two deaths from diphtheria have occurred at the Penetanguishene reformatory. There are other cases in the village and the schools have been closed.

—A barn in Pickering belonging to Mr. Richardson was burned on Thursday, together with four horses, nine cattle and all his fodder and grain. Insurance, $1,000.

—Robert Wood will open a machine shop and ... the building used in connection with the Hall works at Whitby.

—The Orillia people are endeavoring to boom a new county scheme, with that place as county town, but the people at Midland, Tay, Oro and Medante will strongly object to a new county as proposed.

—Mayor McGee, of Oshawa, had his fur coat and cap stolen on Friday afternoon last, from the hall of his residence. On Saturday afternoon he found his furs in a Toronto pawn shop, and redeemed them.

CENTRAL BANK AFFAIRS.

The Vacant Liquidatorship — Arrangements for the Election.

TORONTO, Feb. 20.

Mr. Foster, Q.C., for the two liquidators, and Mr. Kappele for Mr. Campbell, appeared before Master Hodgins at Osgoode Hall on Saturday and discussed arrangements for the meeting of creditors to elect a third liquidator, owing to Mr. Campbell's office being declared vacant. It was agreed that the meeting shall be held on either Feb. 28 or 29, (not probably on the latter date), in the Board of Trade rooms, if they can be secured. Several names were suggested of parties to act as chairman, but no appointment was made, and until the Master is able to secure the consent of one or other to act, the names are withheld. The hour of meeting will be 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and admission will be by ticket. Tickets will be issued at the office of the bank to all who have filed bona fide claims with the liquidators, and will be numbered and initialled by an officer of the bank. The ticket will bear the name of the creditor to whom it is issued, and he will on that ticket write the name of the candidate for whom he proposes to vote and hand it in to the tellers. Proxies will be allowed, but no one will be permitted to hold a proxy unless himself a bona fide creditor and entitled to vote by virtue of having filed his claim. The meeting will be open to the press.

Messrs. Howland and Gooderham and the chief officials of the bank commenced counting the notes in the treasury on Saturday. As the counting proceeds a snip is taken off the notes, which effectually mutilates them. The work is an onerous and tedious operation, and it is expected to occupy several days.

An old friend who visited Mr. David Blain at Avon Springs, N.Y., the other day found him in the poorest of health, suffering both from nervous prostration and severe kidney affection. He sleeps but little and seldom goes out. His visitor induced him to take a drive that toned him up for the time; but Mr. Blain is a very sick man. Whatever may have been his misjudgments in regard to the unfortunate Central Bank no one has ever hinted that Mr. Blain was other than the most upright of men. Few have more good acts to their credit and less bad ones. He has still any number of friends in Toronto and Canada who desire to see him restored in health.

Business on 'Change at London Dull.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Business on the stock Exchange during the week continued stagnant with no sign of coming activity. Foreign securities were in disfavor owing to the European outlook. American railroad securities were very much depressed until the end of the week when there were slight symptoms of a revival. The amount of floating stock is so small that even a little buying soon affects quotations.

A Hamburg Scandal.

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—Pastor Wansok of Hamburg, the head of a refuge for fallen women in that city, has been arrested for converting the refuge into a harem and allowing the inmates to indulge in secret debauches. Other directors of the refuge are implicated.

THE LATEST MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 20.

Grain and produce was fairly active, and steady in the local markets to-day while abroad the markets were generally steady and firm.

The car lots received at Chicago to-day were: Wheat 15, spring wheat 31, corn 211, oats 105, rye 3 and barley 35.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago Stock Yards to-day is: Estimated receipts 9000, official yesterday 23,188, shipments 7071, left over about 10,000. Receipts for week 116,113, shipments 40,974, packing to date 1,622,000, last year 1,620,000. Cattle receipts 2000. Market steady.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

There was a very good market to-day. There was a brisk demand for products generally and prices were steady. As has been the case for the past two weeks, the market was overstocked with meat. The dairy business was not as satisfactory to sellers as it has been for some days past. Poultry was scarce. On the grain market prices remained unchanged. Over 1200 bushels of barley were sold, and the sales in wheat and oats were 400 bushels and 300 bushels respectively. There were no peas in.

LIVERPOOL MARKET.

Liverpool reports to-day: Wheat steady; poor demand, holders offer moderately; corn steady, poor demand. Prices: Spring wheat 6s 7d to 6s 8d; red winter 6s 7d to 6s 8d; No. 1 Cal. 6s 8d to 6s 9d; corn 4s 2½d; peas, 5s 5d; pork 62s 9d; lard 36s 3d; bacon 32s 3da cheese 55s 6d.

OSWEGO BARLEY MARKET.

Oswego reports barley to-day quiet at the following prices: No. 2 ex. Can. 92, No. 1 Can. 96, No. 1 Bright 98c.

The Oil Market.

The New York oil market was weaker to-day, opening at 90c, which was the highest price of the day, then declined to 88½c, and closed at 89c bid.

In Oil City to-day oil opened at 88½ and touched 90 and 82.

The Weather in the Northwest.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 19.—Despatches from Calgary, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge and Fort McLeod report the weather warm and the snow all disappeared. There have been chinook winds for the last three days, which have carried off all the snow. Cattle are thriving splendidly on the ranch. The thermometer ranges from 55° to 70°. A genuine thaw has set in in Manitoba, and it appears as if the back of the winter was broken.

They Didn't Elope.

HAMILTON, Feb. 19.—A young man employed by the electric light company tried to elope last night with a colored woman who lives on Park-street. They were met at the station by Sergt. Pinch and Constable Watson, who offered such good advice to them that they wavered in their rash purpose and returned. The color-blind young man had bought two tickets for Buffalo.

Wentworth Farmers' Institute.

HAMILTON, Feb. 19.—The annual meeting of the Wentworth Farmers' Institute was held here yesterday morning. Chairman Fuller stated that the Executive Committee had decided that it was not desirable that Commercial Union should be discussed at future meetings of the institute. Mr. Henderson of Beverley read an interesting paper on the breeding of heavy draught horses.

The Persian Housewife.

The Persian lady is a good housewife. She rises with the dawn, she is liberal in her housekeeping, kind to her servants—a little profuse, perhaps, but then living is cheap in the east. The keys of everything are in the keeping of the mistress of the house, and she is usually exact in her accounts. All the vast stock of conserves and sweetmeats, syrups for the preparation of sherbets and pickles in endless variety are either prepared by her own fingers or under her eyes. Nor does she disdain to be confectioner and maker of pastry. As evening approaches—the long and elaborate Persian dinner being partaken of among the upper classes by the sexes apart—she prepares to entertain her husband; she will play to him upon the lute or harmonica; she will sing to him or read him to sleep with poetry, or she will play with him at backgammon or chess, or recite to him long stories in the style of "The Arabian Nights." When he is sick she nurses him, and it is her pride to see that his wardrobe is well supplied and his servants well clad. She will intrigue for him, plead for him, and has been known to die for him. She will even carry her complaisance so far as to find another wife for him.—St. James' Gazette.

A "Decoy" Cow.

A farmer living near Dickinson, Dak., has a cow that is used as a decoy in loading cattle in cars. She will "make friends" of the steers in a yard, and at a given signal lead them up the incline that projects from the car toward the yard. Her owner receives more for her services than any two men at the station receive.—Chicago Times.

Tricks in New York Barrooms.

"Some of the saloon tricks are very ingenious and amusing," said a Broadway bartender. "Most people practice them merely for the fun of the thing, but not a few exercise their ingenuity for the sake of winning bets. A man came in here the other night and had some whisky. He drained the glass containing the water and turned it upside down on the counter. A few drops of water remained in the glass. The man offered to bet any one a V that he couldn't guess the number of drops left in the glass. Several bystanders, who thought they could count the drops, backed their opinions. The man covered all the bets. The guesses were all the way from three to eight drops. When the money was all up the man took the glass and walked over to one of the mirrors. With a quick, nervous movement, that made the water scatter, he threw the contents of the glass against the mirror. The men who made the guesses gazed with astonishment and disgust, for there on the surface of the mirror were at least 200 distinct drops of water.

"I was once taken in myself by one of these tricks. A green looking fellow bought a cigar and asked for a light. He pretended to be used to the wooden lighters, and laughed at me when I pointed to the spirit lamp and the wire stoppers. 'Never mind,' said he. 'I'll light it with this,' and he pulled out a crisp $50 note.

"I never like to be bluffed, so dared him to do it. 'I'll bet you a bottle of wine,' he replied. 'Do you hear me speak?'

"'Yes,' said I, 'it's a go.'

"I don't know how he rolled that bill, but he lit his cigar without burning more than a sixteenth of an inch off the one end.

"When there's any betting going on here now the bartender is satisfied with holding the stakes."—New York Evening Sun.

Her Proposal.

She gently took his passive hand,
And tenderly she placed
Her arm, without a reprimand,
About his willing waist.

She drew him close; a reverent kiss
Upon his brow she pressed.
He yielded, and a new found bliss
Set all her fears at rest.

Then in a wild, impassioned way,
Her love for him she told,
And begged of him that he would say
She'd not been over bold.

Without him all her life, she said,
Would be a desert drear;
If he said "No," she'd never wed—
At least till next Leap Year.

Blushing, he heard her bravely through,
And then he cooed: "Oh, is!
This is so awful sudden, Sue!
You'll have to ask my ma!"

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there was a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Where to Look.

Policy holders in the Life Association of Canada, which went under a couple of years ago, should make application for their dividends to Mr. W. Fitzgerald, Superintendent of Insurance, Ottawa.

Thawed Out.

The steam boiler of the water company was called into requisition on Saturday night to thaw out the water service to the skating rink. It was frozen clean across the street to the main. It was thawed all right after several hours work.

Peculiar.

At an early hour on Sunday morning Officer McGinty heard a great commotion among the fire horses. He went in and found that one of the horses had got his halter caught between the hoof and the shoe. He was liberated after some trouble

Masonic.

On Thursday evening next a conversazione under the auspices of a joint committee of the Masonic Lodges, will take place at the handsome Masonic Hall, Water Street. No invitations will be issued, but each member has the privilege of bringing with him his family or some personal friends.

Easter.

Easter will fall on the first day of April this year—nine days earlier than last year. The 22nd day of March is the earliest possible day upon which it can fall and it fell on that day in 1818, for the last time in about 200 years. The latest easter occurred in 1886, the 25th of April, and it will not fall on that date again until 1943.

Grand Trunk Dividends.

A cable despatch of the Globe says:—"I am officially informed to-day that the Grand Trunk accounts for the past half-year show a balance available for dividends of £340,000, permitting the payment of the full dividend of four per cent. on the guaranteed stock, four per cent. for the half-year on the first preference, making five per cent. for the whole year, also about one-third per cent. for the half-year on the second perference."

The Hose Wagon.

Since the adoption of a hose wagon here instead of the ordinary reel, it has given every satisfaction and in consequence the fire departments of our neighboring towns have taken considerable interest in our machine and numerous letters of inquiry have been received. Now, Cobourg has fallen in love with it and a builder from that town was here the other day taking measurements. It has been found here that when horses are used as the motive power, the wagon possesses many advantages over the ordinary reel.

Trent Navigation.

The Trenton Courier says:—"The Township council of Murray has refused to give any money towards procuring information to be laid before the commissioners on the merits of the Trent Valley canal. The Township of Sidney has refused to make a grant till they have consulted their constituents which means an indefinite postponement. The Township had a good example set them by the town of Trenton and could well afford $100 towards the project. There are no sections along the line that will be more benefitted. Their action may prejudice the action of the Dominion government against the canal, a matter that will be a source of regret to these townships for years to come and may require many times the amount to agitate up to the same vantage ground, if once the project is even temporarily abandoned."

For China.

Mud Lake Races.

Efforts are being made to hold a race meeting on Chemong Lake, at Bridgenorth, at an early date, probably Monday or Tuesday next. The promoters are now canvassing for subscriptions and so far they have met with the most encouraging success.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities as reported from Toronto are as follows:—Lakes—Strong winds and gales, gradually shifting to west and north; cloudy and mild, with rain, turning colder to-night or to-morrow, with light snow falls.

New Safes.

Mr. Joseph Langford has the contract for putting a new safe into the Metropolitan Grocery and taking the old one out. The job is a difficult one, as the heavy iron chests will have to be taken and put in through one of the rear windows. The old safe will be placed in the Bishop's palace.

Canal Bridge at Fenelon.

The Fenelon Falls Gazette says:—"Some of the material for the swing bridge arrived by rail a few days ago, and was drawn over from the station by Mr. Edward's teams. We hear that the bridge is to be finished in three weeks, which must necessarily mean that it will be commenced almost immediately"

Without a Driver.

On Saturday evening a horse attached to a cutter, but without a driver, trotted slowly down the centre of George-st. The animal was stopped near the corner of Simcoe and tied to a post until the owner turned up. He had gone into a store and left his horse untied and the animal walked off, quite naturally.

The Methodist Church.

A bill is now before the Ontario Legislature, seeking amendments to the act of 1884, referring to the Methodist Church of Canada. Power is asked for the corporation of the church, or any of its committees, to issue debentures, the payment of which will be secured, by mortgages given on the real estate under the control of the church.

New Division.

All freight for points west of Carleton Junction from Montreal and east of there, and freight from points west of Carleton Junction destined to Montreal and east of that city, will in future be forwarded via Smith's Falls and the short line. This will necessitate the running of extra crews and will be a big boon to Smith's Falls, also makes a new divisional point between Chalk river and that place.

The Carnival.

Once more the talk is of the coming carnival, and the chevaliers of the Canton are making great efforts to wind up the season with the grandest display of all. All the most attractive features of the last two will be retained and many new ones added. The programme is in course of preparation and the public will soon be enlightened. The date chosen is Friday evening, March 9th, and our readers should make a note of it.

An Aldermanic Mistake.

"I don't want that committee called," remarked one councillor this morning, but "I do" replied another. Explanations followed and it turned out that Councillor number one harbored the opinion that he was chairman of the committee in question, while it turned out upon reference to the official list that he was not even a member of it, while Councillor number two learned that he was the chairman and the proper person to call the Committee together, so his mandate was law and the meeting will take place.

Smoke Rubidge's Derby Cigarettes.

A Robbery.

On Saturday a young lady reported to Officer Adams, that the sum of twelve dollars had been stolen from her on the previous day. It appears that she occupies rooms in the boarding house of Mrs. Morgan, Hunter-st. east. She left the money in a purse and placed it in her muff, leaving the latter standing on a table in her room. On the following morning the money was gone and it was found that access had been gained to the house by opening a window and in leaving the thief or thieves unlocked the front door and walked out. Nothing else was carried off, but several leaves were torn from a book and strewn about the floor. Whoever committed the theft was evidently well acquainted with the premises.

Municipal.

Among the acts to amend the Municipal Act before the Ontario Legislature is one providing as follows:—"The council of every town, township and incorporated village shall hold a meeting on the fifteenth day of December in each year or if such day happen to be a Sunday then on the Saturday previous, and shall immediately thereafter publish a detailed statement of receipts and expenditure for the portion of the year ending on the day of such meeting; together with a statement of the assets and liabilities and uncollected taxes. The said statements shall be signed by the mayor or reeve and by the treasurer, and shall be published forthwith in one or more newspapers of the municipality (if any) and in such other newspapers circulated in the municipality, as the council may direct.

"Instead of publishing the said statement, the council may cause the same to be posted up, not later than the twentieth day of December, at the offices of the clerk and of the treasurer as well as at all the post offices in the municipality, and at not less than twelve other conspicuous places therein."

Brevities.

—The exodus to see the Omemee races commences in the morning.

—Spring, the small boy, marbles and alleys are here. These signs never fail.

—Lindsay is seeking to get legislation to issue debentures for sewerage purposes.

—The thaw has now set in with vengeance and sloppy streets and sidewalks prevail.

—Another patent closing machine has been placed on the door of the Town Clerk's office.

—Rubbers are in demand and the shoe dealers are perfectly satisfied that such is the case.

—The Water Company's steam boiler can raise so much steam that it almost looks like a fog.

—Efforts are being made to re-submit the Scott Act in the County of Prince Edward.

—If you want to see the planet Mercury, you must get up before the sun on the 30th day of March.

—The Port Hope curlers defeated the Millbrook club by 16 shots at Port Hope on Friday night.

—Fast driving was rather prevalent on the streets yesterday afternoon, but mainly in the outskirts.

—The assessors are still hard at work in number one ward, where they expect to finish at an early day.

—The Water Company is preparing to put in a large number of services during the coming summer.

—A meeting of the Committee on Appointments is next in order to appoint officials for the coming year.

—There was a large attendance of True Blues and Prentice Boys at the Police Court this morning.

—An opium pipe, bought in Oregon by Mr. "Bob" Smith, is on exhibition in Mr. Fred. Potvin's window.

—The police now hold a charter warrant for a True Blue lodge, at least so far it has not been claimed by any person.

—Farmers are doing double work these days in drawing in wood. They are afraid of the sleighing giving out.

—Preparations are being made to rebuild at least some of the blocks recently destroyed by fire at Millbrook.

—Messrs Crossley and Hunter, the noted evangelists, are to open a series of meetings at Belleville, at an early date.

—Captain Bertha Smith, formerly in charge of the Salvation Army corps here is now stationed at Bowmanville.

—The thaw has loosened the ice on many of the George-st. roofs and pedestrians are careful to keep close to the buildings.

—The Grand Trunk rails at the north end are getting rusty. No trains have run up there since the new bridge was opened.

—The village of Millbrook was largely represented in town to-day. Peterborough is almost regarded as their county town.

—The young man who lost his watch in a photograph gallery recently, received his property from Officer Adams this morning.

—The Town Council will meet on Monday evening next, as the prices of local licenses must be fixed before March 1st in each year.

—The trotter "F. O. P." was in town on Sunday, preparatory to leaving for Omemee, when he will start in the races there.

—The gutters and the entrances to the sewer have been cleaned out and the surface water can now find an outlet to the river.

—On Saturday Mr. Jos. Redmond sold and Mr. Wm. Denoon purchased, 2,100 lbs. of Durham bull, at 3 cents per pound, live weight.

—Already the sunfish show that they are fully alive to the increasing warmth, and the sunny sides of buildings were lined with them to-day.

—The Salvationists paraded in strong force on the streets on Sunday night. The turnout was the largest we have seen for some months.

—Three loads of wood decorated the market square this morning, so that it will be seen that the genial John did not make his fortune to-day.

—We notice that exchanges are warning the public against raised 5's of the Bank of British North America. It would be well to look out for them.

—Merchants and others in the centre of the town have no excuse now for not having clean sidewalks. The ice can now be very easily removed.

—Work on the new hotel for Mr. T. O'Keagh is progressing rapidly and the interior is commencing to look something like what is intended.

—The curlers are not at all satisfied with the present weather outlook, but covered ice is always good long after outside ice is useless for curling purpose.

—The ice harvest still continues, but the quantity that yet remains to be drawn, is small. All the large establishments were filled up some time ago.

—The number of through trains on the Canadian Pacific that pass through Peterborough, particularly on Sundays, shows a steady increase month after month.

—A few days like this and wheeled vehicles will again be fashionable in Peterborough. The sleighing, in the country, always last longer than in the town.

—The meeting of the Otonabee Canoe Club, announced for to-morrow evening, has been postponed until Wednesday evening on account of the military concert.

—Terry Smith is casting his eyes around to purchase a new team suitable for drawing the hose wagon. A fine pair owned near Rice Lake are being looked after.

—The wicket editor of the Deseronto Tribune says: "You could easily tell that 1888 was leap year without counting up. It just looks like three women after one man."

—Complaints are made that transient traders are plying their business in the outskirts. Any persons called on by these gentry should lose no time in informing the police.

—The Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, rector, preached an interesting sermon at St. Luke's Church last evening on the observance of Lent. There was a large congregation.

—A meeting of the Central Farmers' Institute will be held at Toronto on February 21st and 22nd. We understand that a number from Peterborough and vicinity intend to be present.

—Two rinks of Lindsay Educationalists, trustees and teachers, played two rinks of the Granites, at Toronto, on Saturday and defeated the city men by 10 points, the score standing 39 to 29.

—Millbrook Reporter:—"J. W. Fishers, V. S., and H. Nesbitt, we understand, have purchased, for a handsome price, that imported Clydesdale Stallion Johnny Cope from Wm. M. Fair, Esq., Peterborough."

—A meeting of the members of the cricket club is called for this evening, to take place in the post office block. The desirability of procuring the services of a first-class professional coach will be discussed.

—"Peterborough, says the Lindsay Post, is getting to be quite enterprising. It has resolved to dig a town well on the market square. The resolution does not say that a town pump is to be provided; but that is probably understood. Having a well, though, is a step in the right direction. The next move will be to get the Peterboroughers to drink more water." This comment is refreshing, coming from a Scott Act town where, it is stated, last week the Chief of Police arrested a cow in the East Ward, on information laid by the inspector that the cow had a couple of horns in her.

The True Blue Difficulty.

There was another chapter in the True Blue Lodge affair, on Saturday. A young man named Ernest Stephenson, a member of King William Lodge, swore out a search warrant alleging that some of the articles, stolen from the lodge room last August, were concealed on the premises of Mr. Robert Wainwright. Officer Adams executed the warrant during the afternoon and hanging on the wall of a small room in rear of the shop was found the charter warrant of McWilliams Lodge of True Blues. The warrant was taken and Mr. Wainwright was put under arrest, but was not detained upon promising to appear at the Police Court this morning. Shortly after ten o'clock, P. M. Dumble took his seat on the bench and found the court room packed. County Attorney Wood appeared for the crown and Mr. John O'Meara for the defendant, who pleaded not guilty. The name of the informant was called three times, but he did not respond. The Magistrate then asked if any person in the court could give evidence in the case, but no person came to the front. He then announced that he had no other course open except to dismiss the case. Mr. O'Meara at once arose to his feet and made a highly indignant speech, claiming that his client courted the fullest investigation and would not be satisfied without a thorough inquiry being made. He claimed that the warrant found was left in Mr. Wainwright's shop on the 12th of July last, by the young man who laid the present charge, and that the whole affair arose from a malicious feeling. The Magistrate said that the defendant left the court without the slightest stain or stigma on his good character and Mr. Wainwright was so well known throughout the town that the present charge would not do him any harm. He explained that he was compelled to take charges like the present, when they were properly sworn to. He dismissed the case with costs against the complainant, giving Mr. Wainwright an honorable discharge.

Difficulty of Convicting Bribers.

"I had an opportunity once," said Johnston Beggs to a St. Louis reporter recently, "to find out how hard it was to convict a legislator of bribe taking, or another man of bribe giving. I was foreman of a grand jury three years ago which was investigating reports that a railroad bill had passed the house of delegates by bribery. We had a large number of witnesses before us, and when we got through with our work every man of us was firmly convinced that at least twelve of these delegates had taken bribes. But we didn't indict a single one of them, because we knew that a petit jury would not convict on the evidence we had. The delegates and the corporation agents who did the bribing managed their transactions so cunningly that all the evidence we could obtain was purely circumstantial, as long as the bribers and the legislators kept their mouths shut.

"We found that in all the cases of bribery the negotiations were conducted in the same way. First the man who was managing the bill got a lobbyist and intimated to him that he wanted the delegate's vote. The lobbyist made his own bargain with the legislator, and on a certain day, at a certain hour, both would be seated together in a private office with two entrances. When a peculiar knock sounded on the door the two would leave the room and go into the other. The railroad man entered, put a bundle of money in the pocket of a coat hanging on the wall, gave a signal rap on the table and went out. The lobbyist and legislator returned, got the money and made their divide. The legislator and the railroad man hadn't seen each other and possibly never knew each other by sight, but the delegate had his money and the other had the vote he wanted. Of course, any delegate mixed up in this sort of a transaction would be convicted of bribe taking in any honest man's mind, but an incident like this couldn't be conclusive evidence against a legislator in a court, and that is why our grand jury didn't give the public then a big scandal."—Chicago Times.

Insurance Catechism.

Why should I insure my life?

Answer—To secure the future support, comfort and education of my family is as much my duty as the providing of their present daily needs. With the sudden changes of fortune almost daily occurring among my business friends, I see no other way of making for them any absolutely certain provision except through the plan of life insurance. Sensible people universally insure against loss from fire, and are perfectly satisfied that the premiums paid year after year are never returned to them. In a life insurance company all premiums are returned with a high rate of interest at some time, for death is certain. Besides the monetary value of my life to my family, in what I daily produce for them, is worth far more than houses, store or goods, saving nothing of the fact that there are about five chances of my dying, leaving the year to one of my house or store burning.

With whom should I insure?

Answer—With E. B. HENDERSON, General Agent, Peterborough.

Why?—Because you will be insured in a thoroughly reliable, safe and honorable Company, at lowest rates.

OFFICE—Over Tully's Drug store, George-st.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 21 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reëstablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

IS A CRISIS IMMINENT?

BRITISH POLITICAL CIRCLES SAID TO BE UNEASY.

The Queen's Private Secretary Visits the Premier and the Government Leader in the House of Commons—A Significant Incident—The Edinburgh Election.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Much uneasiness prevails in political circles. Col. Ponsonby, the Queen's Private Secretary, has recently paid several visits to Lord Salisbury and Mr. W. H. Smith, the Government leader in the House of Commons. Such visits are unusual except when a crisis is imminent.

After the Cabinet Council yesterday Mr. Balfour, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, walked to the Irish office. He was evidently greatly excited. Although the weather was bitterly cold he was hatless and walked with his hands clasped to his head. He was followed by two detectives.

A Home Rule Convert Re-elected.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Thomas Ryburn Buchanan, (Gladstonian), was re-elected yesterday to the House of Commons for the west division of Edinburgh, receiving 3294 votes against 3248 for his opponent, Mr. Buchanan was formerly opposed to Irish Home Rule, and was elected to Parliament by the Unionists. Some months ago he announced his conversion and gave notice that on the re-assembling of Parliament he would resign and seek re-election as a Gladstonian and Home Ruler. At the previous election the vote was: Buchanan (Liberal-Unionist), 3983; Wallace (Home Ruler), 2292.

WINNIPEG CONSERVATIVES.

A Lively Political Gathering—Mr. Scarth Defeated for the Presidency.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 19.—The annual meeting of the Conservative Association of this city on Friday was one of the most disorderly political gatherings on record. A determined effort was made by the opponents of Mr. Scarth to oust him from the presidency, and it was successfully done by a majority of five votes for Mr. Hespeler, the nominee of the Anti-Disallowancers. It was claimed that nine ballots cast for Scarth were thrown in by one person, and were not counted. This intensified the disorder and except the election of Mulvey and Van Allen as vice-presidents nothing was done.

A very strong resolution condemning the continuance of disallowance was read, but no vote was taken on it.

Frank Clarke was declared re-elected, but this was contradicted, and the meeting broke up in great disorder. Several times there was danger of free fights and one man was ejected forcibly.

Mr. Scarth said he was beaten by Grits and mentioned several persons who never cast a Conservative vote in their lives.

The chances are another association will be formed.

Mr. Scarth left for Ottawa last night and a large number of friends accompanied him to the station and gave him an enthusiastic send off.

The Anti-disallowancers are talking of asking him to resign his seat in the Commons.

It is said ex-Attorney-General Hamilton, who left Saturday for St. Paul, has resigned his seat in the Legislature. This will probably give the seat to Treasurer Jones. A writ will be issued this week either for Shoal Lake or South Winnipeg.

Mr. Greenway will be banqueted at Morden on Tuesday.

Commercial Travelers and the Railways.

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—At a meeting of the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association last night the directors submitted a form of guarantee to relieve the railways from all responsibility for loss, damages, etc., in consideration of the special rates granted to members of the association, which was adopted, and will be forwarded to the railways at once. If this form is accepted by the railways it will settle the recent dispute which they had with the railways.

American [illegible] at Geneva.

GENEVA, Feb. 18.—Leon Chyte and Joseph Martin, alias Graves, of Chicago, and Reginald Chambers of New York, a book-maker, were arrested here yesterday on the charge of robbery. The amount stolen was £640. Chyle and Martin were convicted and sentenced to two years' imprisonment each. Chambers was acquitted.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"It was more than a surprise." That is a mild word," says Lady Rodney. "It was, and must always be, a lasting grief," she goes on, in a low tone.

"I should have written to you about it sooner," he says, at last, apologetically, hoping half his mother's resentment arises from a sense of his own negligence, "but I felt you would object, and so put it off from day to day."

"I heard of it soon enough," returns his mother, gloomily, without lifting her eyes from the tiny feathered fire-screen she is holding. "Too soon! That sort of thing seldom tarries. 'For evil news rides post, while good news baits.'"

"Wait till you see her," says Geoffrey, after a little pause, with full faith in his own recipe.

"I don't want to see her," is the unflinching and most ungracious reply.

"My dear mother, don't say that," entreats the young man, earnestly, going over to her and placing his arm round her neck. He is her favorite son, of which he is quite aware, and so hopes on. "What is it you object to?"

"To everything! How could you think of bringing a daughter-in-law of—of—her description to your mother?"

"How can you describe her, when you have not seen her?"

"She is not a lady," says Lady Rodney, as though that should terminate the argument.

"It entirely depends on what you consider a lady," says Geoffrey, calmly, keeping his temper wonderfully, more indeed for Mona's sake than his own. "You think a few grandfathers and an old name make one, I dare say it does. It ought, you know, though I could tell you of several striking exceptions to that rule. But I also believe in a nobility that belongs alone to nature.—And Mona is as surely a gentlewoman in thought and deed as though all the blood of all the Howards was in her veins."

"I did not expect you would say anything else," returns she, coldly. "Is she quite without blood?"

"Her mother was of good family, I believe."

"You believe!" with ineffable disgust. "And have you not even taken the trouble to make sure? How late in life you have developed a trusting disposition!"

"One might do worse than put faith in Mona," says Geoffrey, quickly. "She is worthy of all trust. And she is quite charming,—quite. And the very prettiest girl I ever saw. You know you adore beauty, mother," insinuatingly,—"and she is sure to create a furor when presented."

"Presented!" repeats Lady Rodney, in a dreadful tone. "And would you present a low Irish girl to your sovereign? And just now, too, when the whole horrid nation is in such disrepute?"

"You mustn't call her names, you know; she is my wife," says Rodney, gently, but with dignity,—"the woman I love and honor most on earth. When you see her you will understand how the word 'low' could never apply to her. She looks quite correct, and is perfectly lovely."

"You are in love," returns his mother, contemptuously. "At present you can see no fault in her; but later on, when you come to compare her with other women in your own set, when you see them together, I only hope you will see no difference between them, and feel no regret."

Then there is another pause, rather longer than the last. Lady Rodney trifles with the fan in a somewhat excited fashion, and Geoffrey gazes, manlike, at his boots. At last his mother breaks the silence.

"Is she—is she noisy?" she asks, in a faltering tone.

"Well, she can laugh, if you mean that," says Geoffrey, somewhat superciliously. And then, as though overcome with some recollection in which the poor little criminal who is before the bar bore a humorous part, he lays his head down upon the mantel-piece and gives way to hearty laughter himself.

"I understand," says Lady Rodney, faintly, feeling her burden is greater than she can bear. "She is, without telling, a young woman who laughs uproariously at everything,—no matter what,—and takes good care her vulgarity shall be read by all who run."

Now, I can't explain why, but I never knew a young man who was not annoyed when the girl he loved was spoken of as a "young woman." Geoffrey takes it as a deliberate insult.

"There is a limit to everything—even my patience," he says, not looking at his mother. "Mona is myself, and even from you, my mother, whom I love and reverence, I will not take a disparaging word of her."

There is a look upon his face that recalls to her his dead father, and Lady Rodney grows silent. The husband of her youth had been dear to her, in a way, until age had soured him, and this one of all his three children most closely resembled him, both in form and in feature; hence, perhaps, her love for him. She lowers her eyes, and a slow blush—for the blood rises with difficulty in the old—suffuses her face.

And then Geoffrey, marking all this, is vexed within himself, and, going over to her, lays his arm once more around her neck, and presses his cheek to hers.

"Don't let us quarrel," he says, lovingly.

"Oh, Geoffrey, how could you do it?" she says, reproachfully, alluding to his marriage; "you whom I have so loved. What would your poor father have thought had he lived to see this unhappy day? You must have been mad."

"Well perhaps I was," says Geoffrey, easily; "we are all mad on one subject or another, you know; mine may be Mona. She is an excuse for madness, certainly. At all events, I know I am happy, which quite carries out your theory, because, as Dryden says,

"There is a pleasure sure
In being mad, which none but madmen know."

I wish you would not take it so absurdly to heart. I haven't married an heiress, I know; but the whole world does not hinge on money."

"There was Violet," says Lady Rodney.

"I wouldn't have suited her at all," says Geoffrey. "I should have bored her to extinction, even if she had condescended to look at me, which I am sure she never would."

"I wish you had never gone to Ireland!" says Lady Rodney, deeply depressed. "My heart misgave me when you went, though I never anticipated such a climax to my fears. What possessed you to fall in love with her?"

"She is pretty to walk with,
And witty to talk with,
And pleasant, too, to think on."

quotes Geoffrey, lightly. "Are not these three reasons sufficient? If not, I could tell you a score of others. I may bring her down to see you?"

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver s misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Ex-Ald. John James was thrown from his cutter Saturday evening while crossing the avalanches of ice in King-street opposite Murray's. He was painfully injured and will be confined to his residence for a few days.

The Minister of Marine having fully considered the evidence in regard to the California disaster in Lake Michigan last October, has decided to suspend Capt. Trowell's certificate until Oct. 7 next, and Mate Legault's until Aug. 1. The Minister adjudges Capt. Trowell to have lacked judgment, first, in not placing shipping boards in the vessel, and, second, when heavy weather was experienced and the vessel was difficult to steer, in not making for the shelter of Beaver Harbor. Trowell's pluck in staying by his vessel to the last is commended, and is in striking contrast to Legault's conduct, who was one of the first to take to the boats.

George Shea, with several aliases, the burglar who was found in the residence of W. J. Brown, at 396 Bathurst-street, Friday night, pleaded guilty in the Police Court Saturday to housebreaking. Magistrate Denison booked him to the penitentiary for three years.

Death of an Aged Londoner.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Mr. Richard J. Evans of H.M. Customs died last night at his residence here, aged 70 years. Deceased was a native of Nenagh, Ireland. He came to Canada in 1831 and settled in London. He was one of the oldest Masons in the city. A widow and grown up family of four survive him. He bore an unblemished reputation.

King John Disquieted.

A PLEA FOR NEIL'S LIFE.

Mr. W. H. Howland's Open Letter to the Minister of Justice.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.

Sheriff Mowat has been officially informed by the Department of Justice at Ottawa of its decision not to interfere with the sentence of death passed upon Robert Neil, who will therefore be hanged on Tuesday next, Feb. 28. The decision of the Department was communicated by Mr. Power, Acting Deputy of Minister Thompson. The decision was sent to Governor Green and made known to Neil. Lawyer Bigelow said yesterday there was nothing new in the case, but awaits an answer from the Department of Justice to the appeal that came from Ireland for a reprieve of the sentence until documents on the way from the Green Isle arrive.

Mr. W. H. Howland, who is looking after the condemned man's spiritual welfare, has addressed an open letter to the Minister of Justice in his behalf. The letter is dated Feb. 20 and reads:

SIR: I have been visiting the convict Neil for some time past and have given time and consideration to his case which has resulted in my forming certain conclusions, and I now submit them respectfully for your examination:

The convict is only a boy of 18. He tells me, and I think truthfully, that since he was 10 years of age he has been a waif, associating with vagabonds and criminals. In all that time he says he does not remember a solitary instance (except while in the Central Prison here) in which a kind word has been spoken to him or a helping hand extended from those in a position to benefit or arrest him in his criminal courses. He has not in all that time had the influence of a respectable woman.

It seems to me that the question arises as to who is really responsible for this boy becoming at 18 a desperate criminal and under sentence of death for murder. It has always been my view that a boy under age becoming a waif and consorting with criminals for food and shelter should be cared for by the state; that he has not arrived at an age of moral responsibility and should not justly be held accountable for his actions to the same extent that others of fuller age or more suitable surroundings are held, and should be taken out from these associations and be placed with environments which would give him a chance to become a law-abiding and self-sustaining citizen of the state.

This view has been adopted by the State of Massachusetts and, I believe other American States, and by Great Britain to the extent in her case of an expenditure of £20,000 sterling per annum on industrial schools through which the presentation of boys as criminals before the courts has been reduced, according to Sir Thomas Chambers, Recorder of London, fully 75 per cent. in the last fifteen years.

In the Dominion of Canada at present, with the exception of the small institution in Halifax, and the one recently opened in Toronto, whose present capacity is only fifty-six, the governments of this country, local and general, have made no provision for the redemption of any boy waifs from criminal influences and surroundings. There are now in Toronto hundreds of incipient criminals under the same influences as Neil, undoubtedly training for a criminal life.

Now, sir, I claim that the responsibility for this state of things lies with the state, and that until the state recognises and acts on its true duty in this matter the Executive clemency might be exercised in the case of boys who may incur the death penalty when the surrounding circumstances, after careful inquiry, show that the boy has been left under criminal influences certain to produce the character afterward developed, and that his helplessness under the circumstances offers good ground for not visiting him with the fullest responsibility of the act committed while yet physically and mentally immature.

In Neil's case I can state with assurance that while he makes no profession of having been as yet changed by the influence of religion, he has awakened from that reckless, death-like state which his moral nature was in, and that he also realizes the wickedness of the act which places him in his present dreadful condition. From being a reckless, violent prisoner he has become patient, accessible and kindly, and is full, I believe, of real regret and sorrow for his act and its consequences to the widow and the children of his victim. He says that his intention was not to kill, but to wound. I would submit, sir, that under these circumstances the law will gain nothing in force or effect from hanging this hitherto irresponsible and criminally trained boy of 18, and that in his changed condition of mind, now patient, regretful and restgned—Justice might as well slaughter a sheep. May I ask you to consider these circumstances and submit to His Excellency this case again for his earnest consideration?

THE PULPIT AND THE PRESS.

Papers Read Before Hamilton Clergymen Yesterday—A Fatal Fall.

HAMILTON, Feb. 20.—At the meeting of the Ministerial Association this morning Rev. J. W. Cooley read a paper on "The Relation of the Pulpit to the Press," and Mr. J. G. Buchanan, city editor of The Times, one on "The Relation of the Daily Newspaper to the Pulpit." Rev. Dr. Hunter, in moving a vote of thanks to both gentlemen, said that he believed the newspapers were among the best friends of the pulpit, and that as a general thing the leading Canadian newspapers were true in their purpose and desire.

John McIntosh's 5-year-old son Vernon, who was run over Friday and had his leg broken in two places, died from the effects of his injuries this morning.

A few days ago Mrs. Langdon, aged 60 years, slipped and fell on an icy place in the yard of her residence and received injuries which resulted in her death yesterday. She leaves a family of four sons and four daughters.

While Mrs. McCarthy was going to early mass yesterday she slipped on the ice and broke her ankle. She lay in the cold for nearly an hour before help came.

James McKenna, James Sutton and Charles Numory, machinists, ranging from 18 to 22 years of age, were each fined $10 and costs or sixty days in jail in the Police Court this morning for cruelty to two livery horses yesterday.

On charges of vagrancy a young woman named Ann Walker was sent by the Police Magistrate this morning to the Mercer Reformatory for twenty months, and 12-year-old Richard Kells to the Boys' Reformatory for three years.

Milton's Memorial.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Archdeacon Farrar yesterday morning, before a large and distinguished congregation, including the American Minister, many judges and barristers, members of parliament and peers, preached a special sermon in connection with the unveiling of the Milton memorial window.

SERVED WITH A PROTEST.

OTTAWA'S MAYORALTY ELECTION IN THE COURTS.

New Parcel Post Arrangement With the United Kingdom—Customs Seizures at Windsor—St. Regis Dispute Settled—Personal Notes from the Capital.

OTTAWA, Feb. 20.—An arrangement has been effected between the postal authorities of the United Kingdom and Canada for an extension of the weight of parcels to be carried by mail in the future. The maximum heretofore has been three pounds; by the new arrangement this has been increased to four pounds. As the postage is rated at so much per pound, no change in the tariff will be necessary which will be as follows: From Ontario 35 cents per pound, Quebec and Maritime Provinces 30 cents, Manitoba 40 cents, British Columbia 45 cents.

At 4 o'clock to-day Mayor Stewart was served with a protest against his return as Mayor of Ottawa. The protest is entered by Mr. Brown's committee, which charges personal bribery as well as bribery by agents.

Customs Officer McGlashan has seized at the port of Windsor a span of horses and a carriage, which were used in the smuggling of a quantity of dry goods from the United States. Customs Officer Gibson has also effected a seizure at the same port of a Winchester rifle and a box of cartridges, both of which have been reported to the department here.

The dispute between the St. Regis Indians and the white settlers of Dundee has been settled by the Superintendent-General of Indian Affairs on the recommendation of the commission. The Indians accept $50,000 from the settlers to be controlled by the Government for their benefit, in consideration of which they surrender their titles.

It is understood that His Lordship the Bishop of Rimouski, has been created a Count of the Holy Roman Empire by His Holiness, Pope Leo. The distinguished prelate is a brother of Sir Hector Langevin, Minister of Public Works.

Hon. J. C. Aikins, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, arrived to-night.

Sir Charles Tupper arrived by the Canada Atlantic this evening.

Hon. Frank Smith, who is to resume his sittings at the council board, arrived here to-day from Toronto. He interviewed a number of Cabinet Ministers.

CLOSING UP THE CENTRAL.

Counting the Treasury of the Broken Bank.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—The counting of the treasury of the Central Bank was in progress yesterday. Liquidator Campbell occupied a seat at the table, and kept an eye on the proceedings in his own interest. Liquidators Howland and Gooderham were also on hand, one or other being present all the time, and frequently both were on duty. At noon Mr. Gooderham stated that the count would not be concluded before to-night, although it was being conducted as rapidly as possible. "In fact," he remarked, with a side glance at the deposed liquidator, "there is nothing but peace and contention."

Before the Master nothing transpired yesterday morning. No further applications were made to him, and he had consequently made no definite arrangements for the coming meeting.

The examinations of the liquidators on Saturday disclosed an apparent shortage of over $3000 in the accounts of the accountant at Guelph, and they have notified the Guarantee Company, whose bond for Mr. Webster they hold, of the fact.

All the claims against the Central Bank were handed in yesterday. They number nearly 9000 and will be examined as soon as possible. A statement has to be given to the Master-in-Ordinary by Thursday next, following which it is expected a dividend of 25 per cent. to the depositors will be declared. The large amount of money being daily received encourages the hope of a further dividend in April.

Mr. Frank Turner, C.E., has issued the following circular:

CENTRAL BANK—NOTICE TO SHAREHOLDERS.

Those shareholders who are in favor of forming a combination to protect their interests in the liquidation of the above institution will please communicate with the undersigned, who will call a meeting in Toronto of those interested, as soon as a sufficient number of gentlemen inform me of their willingness to co-operate in the expense of employing counsel to watch the proceedings in the courts and take action on their behalf if necessary.

FRANK TURNER, C.E., Secretary pro tem, Brassdale P.O., North Toronto.

Accompanying the circular is the following form:

I ——— of ——— in the County of ———, do hereby agree to and will contribute, pro rata for the number of shares held by me in the Central Bank of Canada, to the total sum of the cost in establishing a combination and paying the expenses of counsel and solicitors to protect my interest before the courts in any action in the matter of the said Central Bank in our behalf.

A Would-be Montreal Bigamist.

MONTREAL, Feb. 20.—The bartender of a saloon on St. Lawrence Main-street got into trouble yesterday. It seems that he is living apart from his wife, and for some time has been boarding with a highly respectable family. He won the affections of the eldest daughter, a handsome girl, and became engaged to her. The ring was bought, and they were to have been married as soon as the man started in business for himself with $3000, which he said he had in the bank. The girl's father learned yesterday that the man's wife was still alive, and the scoundrel coolly admitted the fact, whereupon the irate father gave him a sound thrashing and wound up by kicking him out of the house.

Kalakaua's Veto.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—The Supreme Court of Hawaii has decided that under the constitution of 1887 the King's right to veto is a personal one and that he is not required to consult his Cabinet in exercising that right.

Funeral of Editor Meany at New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—The funeral of Stephen J. Meany, the journalist and Irish patriot, took place this morning at St. James' Catholic Church. The body will be taken to Ireland for burial.

The Miners' Strike Practically Over.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—The officials of the Reading Company said this afternoon that the strike in their mines was practically over. The resumption of work to-day was quite general.

Suicide of a Methodist Minister.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 20.—The Rev. S. H. Cole, a Methodist minister, committed suicide this morning by taking poison.

Serious Illness of Mr. A. Robertson, M.P.

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 20.—Mr. Alex Robertson, M.P., is in critical health. Last night he passed into a semi-conscious state, and to-day there was no visible improvement.

McGarigle Still at St. Kitts.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 20.—McGarigle, the absconding treasurer of Cook County, who escaped from prison in Chicago last summer and created so much excitement, is still in this neighborhood. It is reported he will take up his residence here.

THE IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

A Bill to be Introduced Creating a Department of Agriculture.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—In the House of Commons this evening Sir James Ferguson, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, declared that there was no truth whatever in the report that any military or naval action was being taken or contemplated against Venezuela. Referring to the New Hebrides, he stated that the French troops would evacuate the Islands within four months from Nov. 10 last, the date the agreement was signed.

Mr. Chaplin resumed the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech. He commented on the prolonged depression in agriculture and said that the subject was of greater importance than the Irish question, forming perhaps the greatest problem of the age. The loss by deficient agricultural values was estimated for the year 1885 at £42,800,000, and it could not now be less than £50,000,000.

Lord John Manners, Vice-President of the Committee of Council on Agriculture, admitted the terrible condition of agriculture, but said the Government had no specific against its depression. He hoped the improvement of general trade, symptoms of which were now apparent, would lead to an improvement in the condition of the farming interests. Too little attention has been hitherto given officially to agriculture. The Government, therefore, had decided to ask the House to give its assent to a bill creating a Department of Agriculture.

Returned Without Opposition.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach who sought re-election to Parliament for the west division of Bristol on his acceptance of the office of President of the Board of Trade, has been returned without opposition.

RUSSIA'S MENACE.

Austria Not Likely to Yield to the Muscovites' Insistence.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The Standard, discussing the position in Europe, says: "With so many friends as she now has, why should Austria yield to Russia's menace? We imagine that the unofficial negotiations now in progress will make it quite sure that if Russia formally reopens the Bulgarian question the result will be either a fresh rebuff or war."

A Casus Belli.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 20.—Roumania has notified the Porte that Austria has given her assurance that a Russian violation of Roumanian territory would be considered a movement against Austria, and would form a casus belli.

England's Views.

VIENNA, Feb. 20.—The Posther Lloyd says a memorandum of England's views on the Eastern question has been sent to Austria and Italy, and they found to be identical with those of Austria and Italy.

The Movement of Troops.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Thirty-six trains, conveying troops, have left Odessa in the direction of Kischeneff.

GERMANY'S ROYAL INVALID.

There Is Said To Be No Hope For the Crown Prince's Recovery.

BERLIN, Feb. 20.—It is stated that Dr. Mackenzie is dissatisfied with the canula inserted in the Crown Prince's throat by Dr. Bramann because it causes irritation.

The Cause of the Inflammation.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The Standard's correspondent at San Remo says the blood-tinged expectoration is due to tubes scratching the back of the trachea and causing inflammation, which it was desirable to avoid. Several laryngoscopic examinations have been made since Friday, showing a notable improvement.

Depressing Cables.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—German bankers have received cables informing them that there is no hope for the recovery of the Crown Prince.

An Unprecedented Appointment.

BERLIN, Feb. 20.—It is asserted that Herr Von Zlatrow, the head of one of the departments of the Home Ministry, is to be appointed a reporting councillor to Prince William. No prince, except the heir to the throne, has ever had such a councillor allotted to him.

INCENDIARY FIRES.

Two Conflagrations at Cobourg—Four Valuable Horses Burnt.

COBOURG, Feb. 20.—About 2 o'clock yesterday morning fires broke out simultaneously in a house owned and occupied by W. Carswell, boot maker, and a stable owned by D. Rooney and occupied by M. Fox, feed merchant. The barn and contents, including four valuable horses, were entirely destroyed. The fire in Carswell's house was extinguished after a hard fight; loss $300, insured for $200. Rooney's loss is $1000, insured for $600. Fox's loss is $600, no insurance. Both fires were the work of incendiaries.

Fire at Lindsay.

LINDSAY, Feb. 20.—The frame residence owned and occupied by Stephen Oliver was totally destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock this morning. Cause of fire unknown. Insured in the Hartford of Connecticut for $300.

Sundridge's Sunday Blaze.

SUNDRIDGE, Feb. 20.—The dwelling-house of George Seidswand, shoemaker, was completely consumed by fire yesterday morning, along with part of the contents; loss $800 to $1000, no insurance.

Victims of The Louisiana Lottery.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20.—F. B. Poupart and Puser, clerks of this city, disposed of bonds and consols to the amount of $20,000 belonging to the Cotton Exchange and fled the city. Poupart left a letter addressed to his employer, the treasurer of the Exchange, in which he said that he had been driven to crime by the Louisiana State lottery.

SIR JOHN IS SATISFIED.

THE FISHERIES TREATY READ AT A CABINET COUNCIL.

The United States Senate Also Listen to Its Terms, But Are Prevented by Their Rules From Publishing the Contents of the Document.

OTTAWA, Feb. 20.—There was a meeting of Council this afternoon, at which it is understood that although Sir Charles Tupper had not arrived, a copy of the Fisheries Treaty was presented and discussed.

It is understood that the treaty is shorter than was anticipated and deals only with the fisheries question.

Sir John said in conversation this evening that if the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne was carried on Friday night the treaty would be laid on the table immediately after. In that case it will be published in full in Saturday morning's paper.

Sir John, of course, declined to give any intimation as to what the terms of the treaty were, but expressed himself as satisfied with them.

"To be Printed in Confidence."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The Senate to-day in secret session listened to the reading of the Fishery Treaty and then for an hour there ensued an earnest but unsuccessful struggle to make it public.

The lead in this matter was taken by Senator Frye (Me.), who is anxious that his constituents shall be informed authoritatively as to what they have to hope for or fear from the matter. The motion was gallantly supported, and would have been successful but for the discovery that the Senate is powerless in face of its own rules to do what it desires. To publish the document now would require a change of rules, and to make a change or even to discuss a proposal to make a change requires a day's notice. Hence, as the matter is expected to come from Ottawa within a day or two, the Senate contents itself with sending the treaty to the public printer "to be printed in confidence."

The provisions of the document are said to be very much as the papers have already stated them. That which seems to have fastened itself most firmly upon the senatorial memory as the hasty reading was progressing is the provision that the privilege of going into Canadian ports to buy bait shall be withheld by Canada unless the United States Congress passes laws for the free admission of fish and oil.

The document is commented upon by one side as practically conceding that the Canadian contention has been correct as to the interpretation of the treaty of 1818. Upon the other hand Senators friendly to the Administration express the opinion that all has been accomplished by the department that could be expected, and that a quarrel which has lasted over half a century has thus been brought to an end.

INSOLVENCY AND ABSCONDERS.

What the Board of Trade's Dry Goods Section Has to Say.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.

The wholesale dry goods section of the Board of Trade met yesterday afternoon, Mr. Stapleton Caldecott presiding. This resolution was adopted regarding an insolvency law:

In harmony with the uniform deliverance of the Board of Trade for the past five years or more on the subject of insolvency legislation, the dry goods section would urge upon the council the importance of memorializing the Dominion Government to facilitate the passing at the approaching session of Parliament of such a measure as that embodied in the bill reported by the Committee of the House, presided over by the Hon. J. J. C. Abbott, governing the equitable distribution of insolvent debtors' estates and applicable to all the provinces of the Dominion.

And this regarding absconding debtors:

In the opinion of this section it is desirable in the interests of trade and commerce the provisions of the Extradition Treaty between the United States and Canada should be extended so as to include the cases of absconding fraudulent debtors. It is further the opinion of this section that the law of Canada should be so amended as to prevent this country becoming a refuge for the absconding fraudulent debtors of other countries, and the council of the board is therefore requested to make such representations in the proper quarter as will secure these ends.

Both resolutions will be submitted to the board's council which meets this afternoon.

An Unlikely Story.

SAINT PAUL, Feb. 20.—The Pioneer Press has received further reports of terrible distress among the Indians in the Northwest. Rev. W. Spendlove, a missionary, has reached Winnipeg from north of Mackenzie River. At Peace River he heard of cases where Indians had died of starvation and had then been eaten by their comrades. Deer have been very scarce for the past two years.

A Ball Player in Trouble.

BUFFALO, Feb. 20.—Elton Chamberlain, the well-known ball player, who at one time pitched for the Hamilton team while it was in the Canadian League, was fined $20 by Magistrate King in the Police Court to-day on a charge of having assaulted Miss May Kennall on Friday night.

They Want Canadian Roads.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 20.—The Minneapolis and Duluth Boards of Trade have passed resolutions protesting against any retaliatory legislation being introduced at Washington which will keep Canadian roads out of the United States.

Death of a Nonagenarian.

OTTAWA, Feb. 20.—Dr. D. L. Dubord of Fitzroy Harbor is dead. He was a schoolmate of Father Chiniquy's at the college in Quebec, and was within a few months of 90 at the time of his death.

FARMING IN CANADA.

Mr. Carling, the Minister of Agriculture in the Dominion Cabinet, accompanied by several members of the Experimental Farm staff, attended a meeting at Bell's Corners in Carleton County last week. The speech delivered by Mr. Carling on the occasion was one of considerable interest and was in a commendable patriotic strain. The Minister dealt with the present position of Canadian farmers at some length and the facts he presented were such as, while they refuted assertions of the commercial union agitators, should be a source of gratification to Canadians who wish their country well. He pointed out the large increase in the exports of some of the chief lines of farm produce, and quoted the prices of staple grains in Canadian and United States markets. The market prices showed that the farmers of Canada would not gain, but lose, by commercial union, as the prices of these articles were higher in the Toronto and Montreal markets than they were in Buffalo and Detroit. Referring to the statement regarding mortgages on farms, he said that he had looked into the matter and from the returns of mortgages on real estate as made by loan companies to the Government he found that the total sum of the encumbrances of this character in the Dominion did not amount to 9 per cent. of the total value of farm property in Ontario alone. Further, the per centage of the number of mortgages on which compulsory proceedings were taken in 1886 was less than in 1880, showing an increased ability to meet obligations. Contrasting the position of the Canadian farmers with those of the United States, he said that from the last published report of the United States Commissioner of Agriculture it was learned than in New York State 30 per cent. of the farms were mortgaged and one farmer in every twenty was hopelessly in debt. In other States the mortgages on farms were as follows:—Pennsylvania, 15 per cent.; Ohio, 25; Michigan, 25; Illinois, 25 and Missouri, 30; while some of the Southern States were very much worse off.

The savings on deposit in the post office and government savings banks and with loan and building societies had, Mr. Carling pointed out, increased since 1880 by $34,039,823. The general manager of the post office savings banks had made an investigation and found that not only were farmers the chief depositors so far as numbers were concerned, but they had to their credit more than three times as much as any other class. The value of farm property in Ontario had, according to the reports of the Ontario Bureau of Industries, increased from 1882 to 1886 by $107,000,000.

These facts show that the farmers are not being impoverished and are not "hopeless and helpless," as the United States and other commercial union advocates would have us believe. It may be that the farmers do not always receive a return sufficient to compensate them for the labor expended and capital invested in their farms, especially in seasons like the last, when the harvest was not a good one, but the evidence shows that commercial union would not be of benefit to them, and the figures quoted by Mr. Carling shows that the country has been misrepresented for party purposes.

COBOURG.

Firebugs.—About half past one o'clock Sunday morning some prowling firebugs set fire to two buildings in Cobourg within fifty feet of each other. A shoemaker named Carswell and Capt. Rooney were the victims. Carswell's shoe shop in the front of his dwelling was burned and Capt. Rooney's stable with four horses and a cow. Cobourg has earned an unenviable reputation for incendiarism.

MILLBROOK.

Elected.—The election of a councillor to fill Mr. Anderson's place among the Village Fathers took place on Wednesday last. It passed off quietly and, as was generally expected, Mr. Robt. S. Lancashire was elected.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria,

It is now an imperial regulation in Brazil that persons who die from yellow fever shall be cremated, the state bearing the whole expense.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Mr. J. H. Scholes, the representative of the Toronto Trades and Labor Council in England, is at the Queen's, having arrived from Ottawa last night. Mr. Scholes is a manufacturer in Matlock, Eng., but is best known in Canada for the frequent complimentary notices given him in the Legislative Committee's reports at the Trade and Labor Council's meetings for his efforts in connection with the labor classes of Canada. During his stay in Toronto Mr. Scholes will be entertained by the Trades and Labor Council. Mr. Scholes says he has endeavored to counteract the influence of shipping agents and agents of immigration societies in misrepresenting the condition of the labor market in Canada. He opposes assisted passages, because it enables men who never saw a farm, or women who know nothing of household work, to get to this country.

The Jas. H. Samo forgery cases were again before the Police Court yesterday. It was given in evidence that the note endorsed by Thos. Bartram was a forgery and that the proceeds were placed to the prisoner's account, but no evidence was furnished that Mr. Samo had negotiated the paper. In the Thos. Thornton matter, Mr. Thornton stated he would not swear that the note was not drawn for $135 when he signed it. In the Armstrong case, Mr. Armstrong swore he signed a note for $25 but could not say whether the $235 note produced was the one he signed. Mr. Barwick, counsel for the prosecution, intimated that he had 25 separate charges against the accused, and asked that final judgment be withheld till the hearing of all. The magistrate declined to accede to the request. He committed the prisoner for trial in the Bartram case, dismissed the Thornton case and enlarged the other case. Messrs. Bigelow and Murdoch appeared for Samo, who was remanded until to-morrow without bail.

Rev. P. McF. McLeod, ex-pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, accompanied by his family, left last night by the North Bay train to take charge of St. Andrew's Church, Victoria, B.C. He was escorted to the City Hall Station at the foot of West Market-street by Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, Rev. G. M. Milligan, Mr. J. K. Macdonald, Mr. Andrew Jaffray, and many members of his old congregation, and the Y.P.A. of the Central. The clergymen left him at the Northern, but the young people accompanied him as far as Union Station, where after hearty handshakings and mutual wishes of prosperity they parted in the hopes of a happy meeting in the future.

Ald. Frankland had a lengthy interview last night at the Walker House with Murray Pettit, A. H. Pettit, E. B. Smyth, Winona; R. B. Nelles, Grimsby; F. W. Wilson, Chatham; Andrew Haines, Aaron Cole, W. D. Gregory, St. Catharines; Dr. Warren, Niagara and Thomas Shaw, Hamilton, all large fruit growers in Western Ontario. These gentlemen were anxious to ascertain if they would be furnished room in the proposed Agricultural Hall for the sale of their fruit, which under the present system of handling was badly damaged. With suitable accommodation they claimed Toronto could secure the bulk of the western trade which now went to Montreal. On the advice of Ald. Frankland a committee will this morning present their views to the Mayor.

THE LATEST MARKETS.

Toronto, Feb. 20.

Grain and Produce.

The grain and produce markets at home today were dull and steady, while in Chicago the market was fairly active, but weaker. The European markets are generally firm and steady.

On call at the Board of Trade to-day: No.

The car lots received at Chicago yesterday were: Winter wheat 9, spring wheat 50, corn 502, oats 169, rye 8 and barley 62.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago Stock Yards to-day is: Estimated receipts 19,000, official on Saturday 8436, shipments 6310, left over about 4000. Cattle receipts 7500. Market stronger.

The visible supply shows a decrease in wheat of 721,441 bushels, in corn 59,093, and oats 228,141.

In Chicago to-day the market was fairly active, and though lower than Saturday it was a good firm market, pork being the strong feature. Wheat, corn and oats opened unchanged and declined, closing ½ on wheat and corn and ½ lower on oats than Saturday. Pork opened 3c higher at $14.20 and was very strong, closing at that price. Lard opened unchanged at $7.62, and closed at that figure, All for the May option. A prominent speculator on the local Board of Trade advises speculators to buy wheat.

LOCAL STREET MARKET.

The local market to-day was dull, there being practically no offerings of grain, hay or straw. One load of hay sold at $15. Dressed hogs are quoted at $7.25. Beef $3 to $5 for forequarters, and $5 to $7.50 for hindquarters. Mutton $6.50 to $8; lamb at $9 to $10; veal $5.50 to $8.50.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The retail market was quiet, and prices show but little change. Beef, 12c to 14c; sirloin steak at 13c to 14c; steak 10c to 11c. Mutton, legs and chops, 12c to 13c; round inferior cuts 8c to 10c. Legends in the Plate Glass.

A funny fellow who owns a diamond has been creating amusement for himself and wrath in the breasts of his victims by cutting various legends into the plate glass fronts of stores at Battle Creek. Among his favorite inscriptions are: "Saloon," in bold characters, for drug stores; "Undertaker two doors west," for doctors' offices; "Poker room up stairs," for saloon windows; "We are all liars," for clothing stores, and "Come early and avoid the rush," for banks.—Chicago News.

AGAINST THE WORLD.

THE ANGLO-SAXON RACE AND ITS GREAT ACHIEVEMENTS.

It Has Contributed More Toward Accomplishing the Results of Modern Civilization Than All the Other Races—Why This Is True.

The Anglo-Saxon race, with its co-operative Celtic branches, may be pardoned for being a little selfcomplacent and egotistical. It is younger in its career than any other European race, and during many centuries it lacked the territorial advantages possessed by its rivals, and it still lacks their advantages in population. Yet it has accomplished more in the chief exploits that go to make up national greatness, and contributed more to the achievements of modern civilization than all the other races combined. It has given a uniform language to more than 100,000,000 of people, a language enriched by a literature which, upon the whole, from Chaucer to Herbert Spencer, in science, philosophy, history, law, poetry, romance and criticism, rivals, if it does not surpass, the literature of all the other modern nations of Continental Europe.

This declaration may cause an Italian, a Frenchman, a German, or a dweller upon the Iberian peninsula to stand aghast; but we know the literature of those people better than they know Anglo-Saxon literature. It has contributed nearly all the important inventions that add to the comfort and convenience of modern society. Obliterate the effects of its mechanical and scientific devices from the face of modern civilization, and the world would seem to fall into almost mediæval simplicity in a single day. Even the art of printing, a Chinese art originally, but credited to continental Europe as its almost solitary great contribution to the inventive arts that have influenced modern civilization favorably, owes its chief utility to the devices of Anglo-Saxons.

AGAINST THE WORLD.

Finally, the Anglo-Saxon countries count their wealth in comparison with the combined wealth of all other countries that are intelligent enough to count statistically, and if the balance be not in their favor the estimate will be so nearly equal that it would be hard to tell to which side the preponderance inclines. In almost everything that speaks of achievement save the musical and fine arts, it is the Anglo-Saxon race against the world, and in most practical things it is the Anglo-Saxon race alone, and there is no competitor. Why is this true?

If we trace the growth of Anglo-Saxon civilization we find the answer to this question. The race advances more rapidly than other races, because it makes use of better agencies for promoting the interests of society than its rivals and cultivates a more stolid spirit of self dependence. From the reign of the earlier English kings down to the American revolution, and following through all the earlier and later years of our own republic, there has been a persistent and an almost intermittent contest in favor of personal independence and the right to inaugurate, carry forward and control personal affairs without let or hindrance from superior authority. The traits implied in this contest have not found their most adequate expression in England. The emancipation of Englishmen, struggling to obtain a firm foothold among the continually crumbling debris of feudal institutions, has been a slow process. But it has been continuous, and in all Anglo-Saxon communities the individual and society have long been the first objects of consideration, the government being held only as their dependent and servant. The former lead, and the latter, through its official representatives, whether hereditary or chosen, is only expected to follow and sustain.—William Nelson Black in New York Sun.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there was a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

BANKERS.—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce
SOLICITORS.—Dumble & Leonard.

TO DEPOSITERS.—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS.—The five and ten years five per cent debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,310,223.69, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS.—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate Security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest. The Mortgage may be paid by yearly instalments or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed. Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

Opened Her Trunk.

Yesterday evening a girl informed Officer Adams that some person had opened her trunk at her boarding house, in the south end of the town. Several articles of wearing apparel, dear to the female heart, were carried off, but the loss was trivial.

Walking.

Walking is becoming a fashionable exercise in Peterborough, as well as other places. Last night two parties were out and walked several miles. The exercise is beneficial and is preferred by many to snowshoeing.

Obituary.

Mrs. Harrison, wife of Mr. E. B. Harrison, Superintendent of Schools for the County of Kent, died at the residence of her son, Dr. Harrison, of Keene, on Monday. The cause of death was that dread disease consumption. The deceased was a a sister of Mr. John Sallsbury, of Cobourg, and aunt of Mr. W. Sallsbury, of Peterborough. The body will be forwarded to Ridgetown for burial by the C. P. R. this evening.

An Assault Case.

On Monday evening, Mr. David Doig, residing near the Roman Catholic Cemetery, was assaulted by an employee named Geo. Penny, who was under the influence of liquor. Mr. Doig was struck in the face and had one of his eyes painted and closed before he knocked his assailant down with a neck yoke. Penny was tied up with a rope and held until Officer McGinty appeared and locked him up. At the Police Court this morning he was fined $5 and $4 costs or 15 days in gaol. He had no wealth and is now doing time.

The Cricket Club.

A meeting of the members of the Peterborough cricket club was held on Monday night at the rooms in the post office block. There was a very fair attendance. The question of securing the services of a professional coach and caretaker of the ground for the season of 1888, was discussed at considerable length, but nothing definite was done and the matter will probably be left in abeyance until the annual meeting. A committee was appointed to arrange for a supper and it was decided to hold the annual meeting on the evening of Monday, March 19th. The club is a good strong one and during the coming season it is the intention to play a large number of first-class matches if the necessary arrangements can be completed.

A Debate at Lindsay.

An invitation has been received by the local association from the Lindsay branch, that a "team" from the Peterborough Y. M.C.A. should go to Lindsay and on an evening to be arranged further on, and there and then enter into debate with the Lindsay association team on a subject to be selected. It is probable that a "team"—not a rink—from here will comply with the invitation, and learnedly and eloquently rastle with the Scugogers on their native banks. The selection of a subject for debate opens up a wide field for speculation and as the choice rests with the Peterborough philosphers they will no doubt pitch on something learned, scientific, philological, calling for great minds to successfully handle. It is understood that applications will now be received for places on the team and that a sort of civil service exam. may be instituted to test the ability and resources of the applicants.

Personal.

Mr. John Bertram returned to Toronto yesterday, but Mrs Bertram remains in town for a few days.

Fine Photography.

In Sallsbury's window there may be seen another of Mr. R. M. Roy's admirable photographs. It represents the great yacht Thistle, under full sail in the race for the America cup. It was taken by Mr. Roy and the services of Mr. Workman were called in to do the coloring. It is certainly an admirable piece of work.

From the Roofs.

On Monday evening falls of snow and ice from the mansard roofs were frequent. In front of the Bank of Toronto two ladies had a narrow escape from being injured and in front of the town offices a large, black dog was struck by the descending ice and stretched out on the sidewalk. If the authorities expect other people to clean off their roofs, they should set a good example by starting first.

Wilson Day.

The Wilson Day Company opens a two nights engagement at the Opera House tomorrow evening, when for the first time in Peterborough will be presented "Hoop of Gold." Our exchanges speak in high terms of praise of the company and the play and lovers of the drama may expect a rich treat. On Thursday evening "Monte Christo" will hold the boards.

From the Woods.

The various shanties in the northern lumbering districts are commencing to break up, having finished the season's work somewhat earlier than usual. Yesterday evening foreman Pat Mahar and his men arrived in town. They had been working for Mr. M. Boyd, of Bobcaygeon, and the cut was fully equal to the average. Some of the other firms will work as long as possible, but in the course of a few weeks all the camps will be broken up and the great majority of the men will remain in Peterborough until they engage for the river and saw mill work.

On Thursday Night.

Last night a meeting was held of the committee who have in hand details of the coming "At Home" to be given in the Masonic Hall on Thursday evening. This committee comprises zealous and energetic members and a thoroughly enjoyable time may be looked forward to by all who shall participate. It is proposed to handsomely decorate the interior of the Hall and Chapter room and to have the entertainment particularly one of a social character. To facilitate arrangements the hall will be open all day on Thursday and any contributions in the way of flowers, pictures or decorations that members wish to place at service of the committee will be received and carefully taken care of. Refreshments will be served during the evening and a choice literary and musical programme carried out. Friends of members of the Order will no doubt be glad to avail themselves of the opportunity to enjoy the evening, and a cordial invitation is extended to all visiting brethren to be present.

The Saved Army.

About four years ago the Saved Army first invaded Peterborough. The Salvation Army had made its appearance in Canada some time before that, but had not established a detachment in the town, and the Saved Army, which had been organized at or in the vicinity of Kingston, pushed ahead into a number of places, Peterborough being one of them. The Opera House was engaged for their meetings and for some weeks was not large enough to accommodate the crowds who flocked to the services. But the interest was not sustained and a variety of circumstances weakened the Saved Army, in Peterborough and in other places, so that little was heard of it here or elsewhere. Still, however, their work was continued in a few towns and villages, and meetings were held here regularly in the old Music Hall. On Monday night at the regular meeting the question of disbanding the Army here was considered and that course was finally decided upon. Meetings, called salvation meetings, will still be held on Tuesday and Friday evenings and on Sunday afternoon, conducted by some who were members of the Army, but Saved Army meetings, as such, are at an end in Peterborough.

Curling Notes.

A match for a barrel of flour to be presented to the Protestant Home, was played on Monday night with the following result:—

| | |
|---|---|
| R. Hall | D. Belleghem |
| A. McNeil | J. D. Baptie |
| G. Walker | C. McGill |
| W. G. Ferguson, s'k. | 9 Adam Hall, skip... 18 |

Skip Adam Hall has so far won five barrels of flour this season and his rink stands prepared to play another rink in town.

The match between Peterborough and Truro for the Governor-General's medal, takes place at Ottawa, on Friday. Messrs. W. G. Ferguson and Sam Ray will skip. Skip Ray has not yet completed his rink, but Messrs. Adam Hall, R. S. Davidson, C. McGill and W. G. Ferguson will compose the other.

Skip Adam Hall and skip R. C. Strickland, of Lakefield, are playing for a bag of flour this afternoon.

To-night skip Rutherford will play the Lakefield men for the usual sack of flour.

The rinks for Ottawa will leave on Thursday evening reaching the city early in the morning. In the afternoon they will play Truro, N. S., and in the evening a match with Ottawa will probably be arranged.

The rinks that are to uphold us at Ottawa will probably be fixed to-night and will practice steadily until they leave.

OUR NEW POST OFFICE.

ERECTED AT A COST OF ABOUT THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Is now Ready for Occupation and will be Open to the Public in the Course of the next Few Days.

Peterborough's new post office is finished and ready for occupation. For many years the want of a proper place for the distribution of mail matter was felt, until at last the Government came to the rescue and the handsome building at Water and Hunter-sts. is the result.

The building is of red brick with carved stones trimmings, and is of the Queen Anne style of architecture. It is handsome, commodious and commanding in appearance and is certainly an ornament to the town. The design was furnished by the Public Works Department, Ottawa and is in keeping with similar structures in other places.

It is 50x60 feet and 52 feet high to the mansard roof. The greatest frontage is on Hunter-st. At the south east corner is a tower 14x14 feet and 65 feet high and to the north is a yard 60x35, enclosed by a high brick fence.

The brick was furnished by Mr. Mark Curtis and the work of laying them was done by Mr. Edward Webb. The quality of the brick has been referred to frequently before and suffice it to state that the Government engineer pronounced them equal in every respect to the best he had ever seen. Mr. Webb's portion of the work was performed in a first-class manner and it will long remain as a standing advertisement for his handiwork.

The stone used in the basement, the foundation and for trimmings was brought from Belleville by Mr. James Stewart, of Trenton and the carving was done by Mr. Thomas, of Ottawa, and a couple of assistants.

The post office proper is on the ground floor and access is gained by two large doors in the tower, one opening north and the other west. The floor of the tower is covered with tile work laid down by Mr. Geo. Curtis, who also did the slating on the mansard roof.

Upon entering you find yourself in a lobby 22x30 feet, with the boxes and deliveries the full length at the north side of you. There are 940 lock boxes and 60 drawers, a total of 1,000. There are no call boxes, except those at the general delivery. The box and drawer fronts are of the standard government pattern and with the necessary fittings, were manufactured by a Montreal firm.

The general delivery is of horseshoe shape with glass panels and everything is so conveniently arranged, that one clerk will be enabled to perform the work that it took two or three to do in the old building.

In the lobby are provided two desks for the use of the general public. To the right of the main entrance will be the stamp vendor's counter, and here all stamps will have to be purchased, as under the new regime the postmaster will have nothing whatever to do with the sale of stamps, postal cards or wrappers. Mr. W. Sallsbury has been selected to look after matters here and a good choice has been made.

North of the lobby will be found the money order and registered letter departments, each distinct from the others. The fittings around the different departments are of polished brass and plate glass.

North from the last named divisions is a room for the private use of the postmaster and behind the barrier formed by the long line of boxes, is a space 32x40 feet, where the clerks will work. Here are two opening desks, a large wardrobe, a stationery cupboard, opening tables, preliminary sorting frames, bag racks and all the et ceteras to be found in any first-class office. The mails will be taken in and despatched from a rear entrance opening into the yard, while a hugh vault, of J. & J. Taylor's make, affords ample security for valuables.

The main floor is without partitions, large iron columns, made by Messrs. J. Whyte & Co., serving as supports. The whole place is admirably lighted by numerous large plate glass windows during daylight and after dark gas is used.

The floors are all of solid maple, from the Ontario Canoe Company, and the fittings of the boxes were made by Messrs. Scrimgeour & Renwick, of Stratford. The fittings are all of black ash.

At the south west side of the building is a blank entrance utilized for drops and in the spring a pavement will be laid down on the south and east sides of the premises.

Upstairs are the caretaker's apartments, which are large and cheerful and to them and the private portion of the office, entrance is gained by a door near the north east end of the building. Each of the doors is approached by a flight of solid stone steps.

The basement is 50x60 feet, with a nine foot ceiling and a cement floor. Here are the boiler room, fuel room, water closets, etc. Hot water is used for heating purposes and it is distributed to all quarters by pipes and radiators. The furnace, boiler, etc., was manufactured by Messrs C. Garth & Co., of Montreal and was placed in position by Messrs. McAndrew & Noble, who did all the plumbing.

The contract was awarded to and the work completed by Alderman John E. Askwith, of Ottawa, a gentleman who has had considerable experience in such kind of work, as may be gathered from the fact that he constructed the public buildings at Chatham, Stratford and Niagara Falls, and at present he is building the printing bureau, at the Dominion capital. That he has carried out his contract fully is admitted by all, but a large measure of the praise should be given to Mr. R. Fotheringham, superintendent for the contractor, under whose orders all work was carried out. Mr. Thomas Rutherford, as Clerk for the Public Works Department, also kept an eye on things to see that they were performed as agreed upon.

Mr. John E. Belcher, as resident architect had considerable to do and at his suggestion various changes were made for the better.

Among the local men, not already mentioned, who had sub-contracts, were Messrs. J. D. Baptie, carpenter work, etc.; Alex. Rogers, painting and glazing; Wm. Whitehair, plastering, Henry Sherwood masonry and Breeze and Bain, galvanized iron work and gas fitting.

The total cost, including extras, was about $30,000.

The premises are ready for occupation, and by the first of March, it is expected that things will be in running order. Mr. John Irwin, as caretaker, has been in charge since January 1st, 1888.

Brevities.

—News is about as scarce as hen's teeth.

—The curlers were out in full force yesterday and last night.

—The attendance on the market this morning was very good.

The Town Auditors are hard at work and are making good progress.

—Another change. Thaw yesterday. Everything frozen up hard to-day.

—Quite appropriately the REVIEW drawer at the new post office is numbered A.

—A meeting of the License Committee of the Town Council is called for this evening.

—The work of decorating the Opera House for the military concert was finished to-day.

—March winds may now be looked for and in consequence the ladies are wearing veils.

—The hose wagon and hook and ladder truck were out for a practice spin this morning.

—The majority of the merchants took advantage of the thaw to clean the ice off their sidewalks.

—Tax collector Cumming is having a difficult job this year to gather the "tail end" of the town rates.

—Quite a number of sporting men went up to Omemee to-day To-morrow, however, will be the big day.

—The number of red coats seen on the streets just now give the town a decidedly military appearance.

—Two Lindsay damsels in a beastly state of intoxication promenaded on George-st. yesterday afternoon.

—The Peterborough horses to take part in the Omemee races went up yesterday and this morning.

—Dr. Morris, a patent medicine man who resided in Peterborough for many years, was in town yesterday.

—It is estimated that it will cost the Province of Ontario about $35,000 to enforce the Scott Act this year.

—Baby carriages on wheels are now seen on the streets. This is regarded as one of the surest signs of spring.

—Those who so desire it can obtain the same numbered boxes in the new post office as they had in the old.

—Pedestrians appear to prefer the ridges on the road to the sidewalks for walking purposes just now.

—Mr. Alex. Robinson, M.P., of Belleville, is in a critical condition and fears are entertained that he will not recover.

—A row occurred last night in an underground place up George-st. No person was hurt that we have learned of.

—The annual meeting of the Otonabee Canoe club takes place to-morrow evening. A full attendance is requested.

—Trains ran up the Grand Trunk track at the north end of the town this morning, for the first time in some weeks.

—The ice on the river and lake is becoming honey-combed in many places and it shows signs of coming dissolution.

—The True Blue matter is still occasioning much talk and threats of suits and counter suits are heard in different quarters.

—A boy carrying a large framed picture slipped on the sidewalk in front of the arcade this morning and smashed the glass.

—The carters and others whose business requires them to draw heavy loads are preparing to replace their bobsleighs with wheels.

—The charges for the Babcock fire extinguishers have arrived. It costs just seventy-five cents each time one is discharged —Dame rumor has it that one of our most eligible young bachelors is about to become a benedict, and 'tis said that the affair will come off to-morrow.

—A man from the vicinity of Picton was in town to-day looking for a horse stolen from him him some weeks ago. He was unsuccessful in his search.

—On Sunday evening some person dropped a lighted cigar through an iron grating, in front of a Port Hope shop. A blaze resulted, but no harm was done.

—Col. Villiers is on a tour of inspection, looking after the military stores at the headquarters of each battalion. He will be present at the concert here this evening.

—The Ramblers bicycle club, of Belleville, have raised $370 of the necessary $400 to secure the next annual meet of the Dominion Wheelman's Association, for that city.

—Belleville will be lighted by electricity in the future. The gas and coal oil lamps all to be discarded. It is estimated that the city will save $1,000 per year by this move.

—"Sleepy Dan" has not been worked since the races at Lindsay, and although he is not in condition, it is expected that he will make his opponents trot at Omemee.

—It is the intention of the Ontario Government to furnish each Justice of the Peace with the two volumes of the new Revised Statutes, as soon as they are ready for distribution.

—Kingston races take place on Wednesday and Thursday and a meeting at Prescott will be held on March 1st, 2nd and 3rd. No Peterborough horses will compete at either place.

—Captain Geo. Crawford, of the well known Steamer Norseman, has resigned the command of that boat owing to other engagements at Kingston. His successor has not yet been named.

—Mr. Hiram Gillett died at Buffalo, N.Y., on Sunday, aged about 70 years. For many years the deceased was the leading merchant of Port Hope and he erected and owned at one time the St. Lawrence Hall block.

—A landlord from the south end complained this morning that a tenant of his had left the house in the most filthy state imaginable. Judging by the description a dirty pig pen would be quite clean compared with the place in question.

Two Watches.

The prize list for the Canton carnival on March 9th is not yet completed, but among the articles that will be offered for competition will be two valuable articles. In the afternoon the children's carnival will take place when the rink will be lighted by electricity. Among the many attractions for the evening will be a performance by an amateur minstrel company, embracing in its membership some of the best talent in town. The date is Friday, March 9th, and full particulars will be announced at an early date.

A Change.

For years the law regarding the refusal of a man to support his wife and family has needed amendment, and a bill for that purpose has received a second reading in the Ontario House. Heretofore, a man found guilty of the charge has been committed to gaol, making matters as bad as ever they were, but under the Act, any Police Magistrate or two Justices of the Peace, if the evidence justifies it, can order a man to pay any sum not exceeding $10 per week, for the support of his family.

And that is through the REVIEW indeed,
That finds for every want and need

That never fails to satisfy.
And what is more its well to state
At very far from largest rate.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the large air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

Insurance Catechism.

—(:o:)—

Why should I insure my life?

Answer—To secure the future support, comfort and education of my family is as much my duty as the providing of their present daily needs. With the sudden changes of fortune almost daily occurring among my business friends, I see no other way of making for them any absolutely certain provision except through the plan of life insurance. Sensible people universally insure against loss from fire, and are perfectly satisfied that the premiums paid year after year are never returned to them. In a life insurance company all premiums are returned with a high rate of interest at some time, for death is certain. Besides the monetary value of my life to my family, in what I daily produce for them, is worth far more than houses, store or goods, saying nothing of the fact that there are about five chances of my dying during the year to one of my house or store burning.

With whom should I insure?

Answer—With E. E. HENDERSON, General Agent, Peterborough.

Why?—Because you will be insured in a thoroughly reliable, safe and honorable Company, at lowest rates.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 21 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reëstablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

LISTLESS LEGISLATORS.

SCANT AND DRY PROCEEDINGS IN THE HOUSE YESTERDAY.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.

The proceedings at the Legislature yesterday were scant and dry, and the listlessness of the members did not improve the situation. Once only was there a murmur of applause. That was when Mr. Waters read a petition of "Whereas it has pleased this honorable body heretofore to confer the right of the franchise in respect to municipal matters upon widows and unmarried women possessing the necessary property qualifications; and that, whereas that right has been exercised by a large number with undeniably good results, in the opinion of this Assembly the same privileges should be conferred in respect to electing members of this Assembly." The dryness from this time forward was conspicuous, particularly when bush fires and short forms of mortgages were the subject of discussion. The session came to an end at 5.15.

Before the orders of the day were called Mr. Ingram asked permission to deny his paternity of Bill No. 22, respecting the incorporation of the Brockville, Westport and Sault Ste. Marie Railway. The official report of the proceedings set him down as the father of the bill.

Mr. French asked whether it was the intention of the Government to furnish to each magistrate, free of charge, the two volumes of new revised statutes, or merely a separate volume containing the municipal law and the laws relating to the duties of justices of the peace?

The Attorney-General: It is not the intention of the Government to furnish magistrates with separate volumes of the municipal law and laws relating to the duties of justices of the peace. It is the intention of the Government to furnish acting magistrates, free of charge, with two volumes of the new revised statutes. We are now considering to whom the revised statutes should be sent, but have not yet completed the list.

Mr. French's bill to authorize the appointment of "fire guardians" was read a second time and referred to the Municipal Committee. It provided for the appointment by municipal councils of a sufficient number of residents in the municipality to prevent bush fires. No person would be allowed to set fire to any brush heap or fallow from June 1 to Oct. 1 without first getting the permission in writing of the "fire guardian" resident nearest to him. This permission would not be used in cases where a man was summoned before the court to answer for negligence in setting out fires, but not getting it would be prima facie evidence of negligence. The matter was debated by several members on both sides.

Mr. Gibson, Hamilton, brought up his bill relating to "Short forms of mortgages," notwithstanding what the Attorney-General said in reply to the member for Carleton a day or two ago. "It was rather bold," he explained, "to bring it up in the teeth of the Government, "but he would like to have the matter ventilated a little. Mr. Gibson led off in the ventilation and ventilated away for about ½ of an hour.

The way his ventilation mystified everybody (except, perhaps, the Attorney General), was something marvelous. Even the Minister of Education quietly acknowledged to The World after the House adjourned, that he did not know what the hon. member for Hamilton was talking about, further than it had something to do with mortgages. The bill provides for the confirmation of titles given under assignees' sales of land at foreclosure of mortgages. The law gives power to mortgagees to sell without notice when that agreement is made between the parties, but it does not give that power to assignees. Some time ago lands were sold under these conditions by assignees and the Chancery Court held the title bad. Hence the present bill. The bill also provided for future titles of this kind being valid.

Mr. Gibson contended that at present the assignees in the case he cited were in a box. They could not give notice in the ordinary way as this only provided for cases where notice was necessary. In these cases the express stipulation between the parties was that notice was unnecessary. The Attorney-General declined to give retrospective legislation validating titles that the courts had decided to be bad. He also declined to give assignees power to summarily dispose of mortgaged lands. He favored the reference of the bill to committee, which was done after the measure received its second reading.

Mr. Dack's bill amending the Municipal Act was read a second time and referred to the Municipal Committee.

The House went into committee of the whole on Bill No. 13, respecting the debt of the town of Brussels. It, together with Bill No. 1, respecting certain Trinity Church (Toronto) lands, passed through the hands of the committee without amendment.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"It will be very bitter to me, but of course you must come here," says Lady Rodney, who is afraid of the county and what it will say if it discovers she is at loggerheads with her son and his bride. But there is no welcome in her tone. And Geoffrey, greatly discouraged, yet determined to part friends with her for Mona's sake,—and trusting to the latter's sweetness to make all things straight in the future,—after a few more desultory remarks takes his departure, with the understanding on both sides that he and his wife are to come to the Towers on the Friday following and take up their quarters there until Leighton Hall is ready to receive them.

Getting back to the Grosvenor, he runs lightly up the stairs to the sitting-room, and, opening the door very gently, bent in a boyish fashion on giving her a "rise,"—enters softly, and looks around for his darling.

At the farthest end of the room, near a window, lying back in an arm-chair, lies Mona, sound asleep.

One hand is beneath her cheek,—that is soft and moist as a child's might be in innocent slumber,—the other is thrown above her head. She is exquisite in her abandon, but very pale, and her breath comes unevenly.

Geoffrey, stooping over her to wake her with a kiss, marks all this, and also that her eyelids are tinged with pink, as though from excessive weeping.

Half alarmed, he lays his hand gently on her shoulder, and, as she struggles quickly into life again, he draws her into his arms.

"Ah, it is you!" cries she, her face growing glad again.

"Yes; but you have been crying, darling! What has happened?"

"Oh, nothing," says Mona, flushing. "I suppose I was lonely. Don't mind me. Tell me all about yourself and your visit."

"Not until you tell me what made you cry."

"Sure you know I'd tell you if there was anything to tell," replies she evasively.

"Then do so," returns he, quite gravely, not to be deceived by her very open attempts at dissimulation. "What made you unhappy in my absence?"

"If you must know, it is this," says Mona, laying her hand in his and speaking very earnestly. "I am afraid I have done you an injury in marrying you."

"Now, that is the first unkind thing you have ever said to me," retorts he.

"I would rather die than be unkind to you," says Mona, running her fingers with a glad sense of appropriation through his hair. "But this is what I mean: your mother will never forgive your marriage; she will not love me, and I shall be the cause of creating dissension between her and you." Again tears fill her eyes.

"But there you are wrong. There need be no dissensions; my mother and I are very good friends, and she expects us both to come to the Towers on Friday next."

Then he tells her all the truth about his interview with his mother, only suppressing such words as would be detrimental to the cause he has in hand, and might give her pain.

"And when she sees you all will be well," he says, still clinging gravely to his faith in this panacea for all evils.—"Everything rests with you."

"I will do my best," says Mona, earnestly; "but if I fail,—if after all my efforts your mother still refuses to love me, how will it be then?"

"She must be harder-hearted than I think her, if she can resist you," he says, fondly.

CHAPTER XV.

The momentous Friday comes at last, and about noon Mona and Geoffrey start for the Towers. They are not, perhaps, in the exuberant spirit that should be theirs, considering they are going to spend their Christmas in the bosom of their family,—at all events, of Geoffrey's family, which naturally for the future she must acknowledge as hers. They are indeed not only silent, but desponding, and as they get out of the train at Greatham and enter the carriage sent by Sir Nicholas to meet them, their hearts sink nearly into their boots, and for several minutes no words pass between them.

To Geoffrey perhaps the coming ordeal bears a deeper shade; as Mona hardly understands all that awaits her. That Lady Rodney is a little displeased at her son's marriage she can readily believe, but that she has made up her mind beforehand to dislike her, and intends waging with her war to the knife, is more than has ever entered into her gentle mind.

"Is it a long drive, Geoff?" she asks, presently, in a trembling tone, slipping her hand into his in the old fashion.

"About six miles. I say, darling, keep up your spirits; if we don't like it, we can leave, you know. But"—alluding to her subdued voice—"don't be imagining evil."

"I don't think I am," says Mona; "but the thought of meeting people for the first time makes me feel nervous. Is your mother tall, Geoffrey?"

"Very."

"And severe-looking? You said she was like you."

"Well, so she is; and yet I suppose our expressions are dissimilar. Look here," says Geoffrey, suddenly, as if compelled at the last moment to give her a hint of what is coming. "I want to tell you about her,—my mother I mean; she is all right, you know, in every way, and very charming in general, but just at first one might imagine her a little difficult."

"What's that?" asked Mona. "Don't speak of your mother as if she were a chromatic scale."

"I mean she seems a trifle cold, unfriendly, and—er—that," says Geoffrey. "Perhaps it would be a wise thing for you will say to her on first meeting her. She will come up to you, you know, and give you her hand like this," taking hers, "and——"

"Yes, I know," says Mona, eagerly interrupting him. "And then she will put her arms round me, and kiss me just like this," suiting the action to the word.

"Like that! Not a bit of it," says Geoffrey, who has given her two kisses for her one; "you mustn't expect it. She isn't in the least like that. She will meet you probably as though she saw you yesterday, and say, 'How d'ye do? I'm afraid you've had a very long and cold drive.' And then you will say ——"

To be Continued.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button. It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver a misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

Nicotine and the Stomach.

I suppose that the least harmful method of smoking is the use of a clean pipe with mild tobacco—a pipe that has not absorbed the nicotine. The harmfulness of a pipe comes from its having absorbed a great quantity of nicotine, so that you are constantly taking more or less of it into the system. The cigar would come next in favor. Of course, the stronger a pipe is the more nicotine there is in it, and the more nicotine you have the greater is the chance of injuring your system. The chief constituents of tobacco smoke are water, carbonic acid, carbonic oxide in a state of gas and nicotine.

When a man smokes too much the excess produces redness and irritation of the stomach, and the membrane secretes irregularly and does not produce the due amount of gastric fluid. Hence, digestion is interfered with. That is the first phase. After a while the stomach gets into such a condition that it tolerates this state of existence, so that there is not the same nausea produced in an old smoker that we find in a younger smoker.

Whether smoking is good for a man depends on his organization. I do not think that smoking is ever really beneficial for a nervous man. Then, again, much depends on how much a man smokes, and when he smokes. There are certain men who, when they are tired, when their nervous system has been on too great a strain, will smoke one or two cigars; they will become quiet. The nervous man should not smoke at all. Phlegmatic persons would be least liable to be harmed.—W. M. Butler, M. D., in The Epoch.

Murdered by a Jealous Rival.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 20.—Henry Grote, jr., and Fred. Behrens, who are cousins and belong to one of the oldest families in the city, have both been paying attentions to Bertha Simons. At 9 o'clock this evening both men met in the parlor of Miss Simons' house. The young lady was present, and before she could realize what was taking place Grote pulled out a revolver, and, thrusting it against Behrens' head, fired. The unfortunate lover fell dead on the floor. Grote gave himself up to the police.

No Presidential Hee in His Bonnet.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Gen. Sheridan in an interview last night said: "There is not the slightest probability of my being nominated for the presidency. In any event I would not accept. No! Not under any circumstances! I do not want that or any other civil office."

THE TREATY MADE PUBLIC.

THE SENATE REMOVES ITS INJUNCTION OF SECRECY.

The Full Text of the Treaty—What Each Country is to Receive—Privileges Granted to American Fishermen in Specified Cases—A Modus Vivendi Proposed Pending Ratification.

At last the terms of the new treaty between Great Britain and the United States re Canadian fisheries are made public, the document being telegraphed from Washington last night.

The treaty provides for the appointment of a commission to delimit the waters to which the United States in the treaty of 1818 renounced forever the liberty of taking and curing fish.

The commission is to meet without delay. It will comprise two commissioners appointed by the British Government and two by the United States.

The delimitation shall be marked on British Admiralty charts, the three mile limit being measured seaward from low water mark excepting in waters not otherwise provided for in the treaty, in which case the three miles shall be measured from a point in the harbor where the width does not exceed ten marine miles.

Any disagreement of the commissioners shall be subject to final decision by an umpire selected by both Governments.

United States fishing vessels will continue to have free navigation of the Strait of Canso.

United States fishing vessels entering harbors mentioned in Article I shall conform to the Canadian harbor regulations.

In case of disaster United States fishing vessels may unload, tranship or sell their fish cargoes in specified Canadian and Newfoundland harbors, subject to customs laws and regulations.

Licenses to purchase supplies in established Canadian ports for the homeward voyage shall be granted to United States fishing vessels.

Canadian and Newfoundland fishing vessels are guaranteed on the United States Atlantic coast all privileges enjoyed by United States vessels in Canadian and Newfoundland waters.

Several penalties are laid down for unlawful fishing in the waters referred to in Article I. The offending vessel may be forfeited, together with supplies and cargo aboard.

The most important article provides that when free trade in fish oil, whale oil, seal oil and fish of all kinds (except fish preserved in oil) is established between Canada, Newfoundland and Labrador on the one hand and the United States on the other, the privilege of entering British American waters shall be gratuitously accorded to United States vessels for the following purposes: (1) The purchasing of provisions, bait, ice, seines, lines and all other supplies and outfits; (3) transhipment of catch for transport by any means of conveyance; (3) shipping of crews.

Supplies shall not be obtained by barter, but bait may be so obtained. Like privileges shall be continued or given to fishing vessels of Canada and of Newfoundland on the United States Atlantic coast.

The assent of the United States Senate, Dominion Parliament and Newfoundland Legislature shall be received before the treaty is ratified.

FULL TEXT OF THE TREATY.

The Promotion of Friendly Intercourse and Good Neighborhood Desired.

WHEREAS, Differences have arisen concerning the interpretation of Article I of the convention of Oct. 20, 1818, the United States of America and Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, being mutually desirous of removing all causes of misunderstanding in relation thereto, and of promoting friendly intercourse and good neighborhood between the United States and the possessions of Her Majesty in North America, have resolved to conclude a treaty to that end and have named as their plenipotentiaries, that is to say:

The President of the United States, Thomas F. Bayard, Secretary of State, William L. Putnam of Maine and James B. Angell of Michigan, and Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, the Right Honorable Joseph Chamberlain, M.P., the Honorable Sir Lionel Sackville West, K.C.M.G., Her Britannic Majesty's Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to the United States of America, and Charles Tupper, G.C.M.G., C.B., Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada, who, having communicated to each other their respective full powers found in good and due form, have agreed upon the following articles:

ARTICLE I—The high contracting parties agree to appoint a mixed commission to delimit, in the manner provided in this treaty, the British waters, bays, creeks and harbors of the coasts of Canada and of Newfoundland, as to which the United States by Article I. of the convention of Oct. 20, 1818, between the United States and Great Britain, renounced for ever any liberty to take, dry or cure fish.

ARTICLE II—The commission shall consist of two commissioners to be named by Her Britannic Majesty, and of two commissioners to be named by the President of the United States, without delay after the exchange of ratifications of this treaty. The commission shall meet and complete the delimitation as soon as possible thereafter. In case of the death, absence or incapacity of any commissioner, or in the event of any commissioner omitting or ceasing to act as such, the President of the United States or Her Britannic Majesty, respectively, shall forthwith name another person to act as commissioner instead of the commissioner originally named.

ARTICLE III—The delimitation referred to in Article I of this treaty shall be marked upon British Admiralty charts by a series of lines regularly numbered and duly described. The charts so marked shall, on the termination of the work of the commission, be signed by the commissioners in quadruplicate, one copy whereof shall be delivered to the Secretary of State of the United States, and three copies to Her Majesty's Government.

The delimitation shall be made in the following manner, and shall be accepted by both the high contracting parties as applicable for all purposes under Article I of the convention of Oct. 20, 1818, between the United States and Great Britain. The three marine miles mentioned in Article I of the convention of Oct. 20, 1818, shall be measured seaward from low water mark, but at every bay, creek or harbor, not otherwise specially provided for in this treaty, such three marine miles shall be measured seaward from a straight line drawn across the bay, creek or harbor in the part nearest the entrance at the first point where the width does not exceed ten marine miles.

ARTICLE IV—At or near the following bays the limits and exclusion under Article I of the convention of Oct. 20, 1818, at points more than three marine miles from low water mark shall be established by the following lines, namely: At the Baie des Chaleurs, the line from the light at Birch Point, on Miscou Island, to Macquereau Point line light; at the Bay of Miramichi, the line from the light at Point Escuminac to the light on the eastern point of Tabisimac Gully; at Egmont Bay, in Prince Edward Island, the line from the light at Cape Egmont to the light at West Point, and off Stann's Bay, in the Province of Nova Scotia, the line from Cape Smoke to the light at Point Aconi; at Fortune Bay, in Newfoundland, the line from Connaigre Head to the light on the southeasterly end of Burnet Island, thence to Fortune Head; at Sir Charles Hamilton Sound the line from the southeast point of Cape Fogo to White Island, thence to the north end of Peckford Island and from the south end of Peckford Island to the east headland of Ragged Harbor.

At or near the following bays the limits of exclusion shall be three marine miles seaward from the following lines, namely: At or near Barrington Bay, in Nova Scotia, the line from the light on Stoddard Island to the light on the south point of Cape Sable, thence to the light at Baccaro Point; at Chedabucto and St. Peter's Bay the line from Cranberry Island light to Green Island light, thence to Point Rouge; at Mira Bay the line from the light on the east point of Scatari Island to the northeasterly point of Cape Morien, and at Placentia Bay in Newfoundland the line from Latine Point on the eastern mainland shore to the most southerly point of Red Island, thence by the most southerly point of Merashen Island to the mainland.

Long Island and Bryer Island at St. Mary's Bay in Nova Scotia shall for the purpose of delimitation be taken as the coasts of such bay.

ARTICLE V—Nothing in this treaty shall be construed to include within the common waters any such interior portions of any bays, creeks or harbors as cannot be reached from the sea without passing within the three marine miles mentioned in Article I of the convention of Oct. 20, 1818.

ARTICLE VI—The commissioners shall from time to time report to each of the high contracting parties such lines as they may have agreed upon, numbered, described and marked as herein provided, with quadruplicate charts thereof, which lines so reported shall forthwith from time to time be simultaneously proclaimed by the high contracting parties and be binding after two months from such publication.

ARTICLE VII—Any disagreement of the commissioners shall forthwith be referred to an umpire, selected by the Secretary of State of the United States and Her Britannic Majesty's Minister at Washington, and his decision shall be final.

ARTICLE VIII—Each of the high contracting parties shall pay its own commissioners and officers. All other expenses jointly incurred in connection with the performance of the work, including compensation to the umpire, shall be paid by the high contracting parties in equal moieties.

ARTICLE IX—Nothing in this treaty shall interrupt or affect the free navigation of the Strait of Canso by fishing vessels of the United States.

ARTICLE X—United States fishing vessels entering the bays or harbors referred to in Article I of the treaty shall conform to harbor regulations common to them and to fishing vessels of Canada or of Newfoundland. They need not report, enter or clear when putting into such bays or harbors for shelter or repairing damages, nor when putting into the same outside the limits of established ports of entry for the purpose of purchasing wood or of obtaining water, except that any such vessel remaining more than twenty-four hours, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, within any such port or communicating with the shore therein, may be required to report, enter or clear, and no vessel shall be excused thereby from giving due information to boarding officers.

They shall not be liable in any such bays or harbors for compulsory pilotage; nor when there for the purpose of shelter, of repairing damages, of purchasing wood or of obtaining water shall they be liable for harbor dues, tonnage dues, buoy dues, light dues or other similar dues, but this enumeration shall not permit other charges inconsistent with the employment of the liberties reserved or secured by the convention of Oct. 20, 1818.

ARTICLE XI—United States fishing vessels entering the ports, bays or harbors of the eastern and northeastern coasts of Canada, or of the coasts of Newfoundland, under stress of weather or other casualty, may unload, reload, tranship or sell, subject to customs laws and regulations, all fish on board when such unloading, transhipment or sale is made necessary as incidental to the repairs, and may replenish outfits, provisions and supplies damaged or lost by disaster, and in case of death or sickness shall be allowed all needful facilities, including the shipping of crews.

Licenses to purchase, in established ports of Canada or of Newfoundland, for the homeward voyage such provisions and supplies as are ordinarily sold to trading vessels shall be granted, to United States fishing vessels in such ports promptly upon application and without charge, and such vessels having obtained licenses in the manner aforesaid shall also be accorded upon all occasions such facilities for the purchase of casual or needful provisions or supplies as are ordinarily granted to trading vessels, but such provisions or supplies shall not be obtained by barter nor purchased for re-sale or traffic.

ARTICLE XII—Fishing vessels of Canada and Newfoundland shall have on the Atlantic coast of the United States all the privileges reserved and secured by this treaty to United States fishing vessels in the aforesaid waters of Canada and Newfoundland.

ARTICLE XIII—The Secretary of the Treasury of the United States shall make regulations providing for the conspicuous exhibition by every United States fishing vessel of its official number as such how, and any such vessel required by law to have an official number and failing to comply with such regulations shall not be entitled to the licenses provided for in this treaty. Such regulations shall be communicated to Her Majesty's Government previously to their taking effect.

ARTICLE XIV—The penalties for unlawfully fishing in the waters, bays, creeks and harbors referred to in Article I of this treaty may extend to forfeiture of the boat or vessel and appurtenances, and also of the supplies and cargo aboard when the offence was committed, and for preparing in such waters to unlawfully fish therein, penalties shall be fixed by the court, not to exceed those for unlawfully fishing; and for any other violation of the laws of Great Britain, Canada or Newfoundland relating to the right of fishery in such waters, bays, creeks or harbors, penalties shall be fixed by the court, not exceeding in all $3 for every ton of the boat or vessel concerned. The boat or vessel may be holden for such penalties and forfeitures. The proceedings shall be summary and as inexpensive as practicable. The trial, except on appeal, shall be at the place of detention unless the judge shall, on request of the defence, order it to be held at some other place adjudged by him more convenient. Security for costs shall not be required of the defence except when bail is offered. Reasonable bail shall be accepted. There shall be proper appeals, available to the defence only, and the evidence at the trial may be used on appeal. Judgments of forfeiture shall be reviewed by the Governor-General of Canada-in-Council or the Governor-in-Council of Newfoundland before the same are executed.

ARTICLE XV—Whenever the United States shall remove the duty from fish oil, whale oil, seal oil and fish of all kinds (except fish preserved in oil), being the produce of fisheries carried on by the fishermen of Canada and Newfoundland including Labrador, as well as from the usual and necessary casks, barrels, kegs, cans and other usual and necessary coverings containing the products above mentioned, the like products being the produce of fisheries carried on by the fishermen of the United States, as well as the usual and necessary coverings of the same as above described, shall be admitted free of duty into the Dominion of Canada and Newfoundland; and upon such removal of duties and while the aforesaid articles are allowed to be brought into the United States by British subjects without duty being re-imposed thereon, the privilege of entering the ports, bays and harbors of the aforesaid coasts of Canada and Newfoundland shall be accorded to United States fishing vessels by annual licenses free of charge, for the following purposes, namely:

1. The purchase of provisions, bait, ice, seines, lines and all other supplies and outfits.

2. Transhipment of catch for transport by any means of conveyance.

3. Shipping of crews.

Supplies shall not be obtained by barter, but bait may be so obtained. The like privileges shall be continued or given to fishing vessels of Canada and of Newfoundland on the Atlantic coasts of the United States.

ARTICLE XVI—This treaty shall be ratified by the President of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and by Her Britannic Majesty, having received the assent of the Parliament of Canada and of the Legislature of Newfoundland, and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Washington as soon as possible.

In faith whereof we, the respective plenipotentiaries, have signed this treaty and have hereunto affixed our seals. Done in duplicate at Washington this fifteenth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight.

A MODUS VIVENDI.

Arrangement Proposed by the British Plenipotentiaries Pending Ratification.

The following is the modus vivendi referred to in the President's message:

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—PROTOCOL.—The treaty having been signed, the British plenipotentiaries desire to state that they have been considering the position which will be created by the immediate commencement of the fishing season before the treaty can possibly be ratified by the Senate of the United States, by the Parliament of Canada and the Legislature of Newfoundland. In the absence of such ratification the old conditions which have given rise to so much friction and irritation might be revived and might interfere with the unprejudiced consideration of the treaty by the legislative bodies concerned. Under these circumstances and with the further object of affording evidence of their anxious desire to promote good feeling and to remove all possible subjects of controversy the British plenipotentiaries are ready to make the following temporary arrangement for a period not exceeding two years in order to afford a modus vivendi pending the ratification of the treaty:

1. For a period not exceeding two years from the present date the privilege of entering the bays and harbors of the Atlantic coasts of Canada and Newfoundland shall be granted to United States fishing vessels by annual licenses at a fee of $1.50 per ton for the following purposes: The purchase of bait, ice, seines, lines and all other supplies and outfits, transhipment of catch and shipping of crews.

2. If, during the continuance of this arrangement, the United States should remove the duties on fish, fish oil, whale and seal oil (and their coverings, packages, etc.,) the said licenses shall be issued free of charge.

3. United States fishing vessels entering the bays and harbors of the Atlantic coasts of Canada and of Newfoundland for any of the four purposes mentioned in Article I of the convention of Oct. 20, 1818, and not remaining therein more than twenty-four hours, shall not be required to enter or clear at the custom house, provided they do not communicate with the shore.

4. Forfeiture to be exacted only for the offences of fishing or preparing to fish in territorial waters.

5. This arrangement is to take effect as soon as the necessary measures can be completed by the colonial authorities.

The American Commissioners' Action.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15, 1888.—The American plenipotentiaries having received the communication of the British plenipotentiaries of this date, conveying their plan for the administration to be observed by the Governments of Canada and Newfoundland in respect of the fisheries during the period which may be requisite for the consideration by the Senate of the treaty this day signed and the enactment of legislation by the respective Governments herein proposed, desire to express their satisfaction with this manifestation of an intention on the part of the British plenipotentiaries by the means referred to, to maintain the relations of good neighborhood between the British possessions in North America and the United States, and they will convey the communication of the British plenipotentiaries to the President of the United States with a recommendation that the same may be by him made known to the Senate, for use and information together with the treaty, when the latter is submitted to that body for ratification.

An Open Session Proposed in the U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—After removing the injunction of secrecy from the Fisheries Treaty to-day the Senate debated for more than an hour the policy of having the treaty considered with open doors. So radical a departure from the time-honored precedents awakes bitter opposition, but there have been a number of influential converts to the open session movement since the late action on the British extradition treaty. The Senate adjourned without action to-day, but enough was said to show that a majority of Senators are in favor of discussing this treaty with open doors.

Prince Edward Conservative Nomination.

PICTON, Feb. 21.—At a meeting here to-day of delegates, one from each polling sub-division of the county, to select a candidate to represent the Conservative interest at the approaching election for Prince Edward County to the Dominion Parliament, Mr. Robert Clapp was selected on the first ballot.

Imperial Honor for Mr. Chamberlain.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—There is little doubt of the truth of the report that Mr. Chamberlain will be offered the Grand Cross of the Bath, as this is in accordance with the usual custom after special diplomatic services. Opinion, however, is much divided as to whether he will accept the offer.

The Cyclone's Victims.

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Feb. 21.—There will be a union burial service of the victims of the cyclone on Monday morning at the Presbyterian Church. A large quantity of groceries, provisions and donations to the amount of $2200 have been received for the relief of the sufferers.

Wine Production in France Increasing.

PARIS, Feb. 21.—In the Senate yesterday M. Viette, Minister of Agriculture, replying to an interpellation stated that the production of wine in France was increasing annually.

A Foundling in a Church.

QUEBEC, Feb. 21.—About 2 o'clock this afternoon two young girls, upon entering the Church of the Congregation of St. Roche, found the body of a newly born child in the vestibule.

Brakeman Peacock Recovering Rapidly.

HAMILTON, Feb. 21.—The brakeman, Robert Peacock, who was injured in the railway collision, and has since been in the City Hospital, is recovering rapidly.

A Type of Glengarry.

CORNWALL, Feb. 20.—On Feb. 13 there died at the homestead on the south branch in the Township of Charlottenburgh in the County of Glengarry, Mrs. Catherine McLellan, widow of Angus McLellan, deceased, at the advanced age of 85 years. This old lady was a remarkable type of those stalwart Highlanders who first settled Glengarry, and who in addition to their great strength of will, were noted for their immense bodily vigor. She was a near relative of Finnan and John McDonald, who will be remembered in connection with the history of the Hudson Bay Company in Canada, Finnan being especially brought to public notice by the incidents of his encounter with a maddened bull buffalo, in which he killed the animal with a common hunter's knife as his sole weapon. The deceased lady was very tall, with a slender, strongly-knit frame, and to the day of her death she remained as erect and commanding as when at thirty.

Shot His Wife and Killed Himself.

NAPANEE, Feb. 21.—Peter Shandreau, a laborer about 25 years old, shot his wife through the chest this afternoon and then made his escape from town, taking the ice towards Deseronto, and when near there shot himself dead. The murderer has only been married about six months. The wife is resting quietly, the ball being lodged near the shoulder blade, but the doctors cannot say whether her injuries will be of a fatal nature or not.

An Hotel Fire at Hartford, Conn.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 21.—Fire broke out early this morning in the basement of the Allyn House. The inmates all escaped in safety. The loss is covered by insurance.

Fashion prophets say crinoline will be back in all its "balloonity" within a year, and that the bustle is fast being driven away to make way for it. Then good-by to scant skirts and to economy in buying dress patterns.

NUMBERING THE HOUSES.

The question of numbering the houses in the town, which was brought before the Council at its last meeting by Councillor Langford and referred to a special committee, will probably come up again at the next meeting. It is said that the cost to the town, by the plan which will be proposed, will not be large, and it is certain that if each house had its number it would be of great convenience to the business men, professional men, the townspeople in general and strangers who come here and wish to find a friend.

It would also be useful in case of fire—something that should not be forgotten. If instead of directing the firemen to "go away up across the railway," on the occasion of a recent fire, the scene had been located by the street and number, the remen would have been saved a long run out of their way and could have rendered good service some time before they reached the fire as things were. Doctors frequently have difficulty when they receive a call, in finding the residence of their patient, and every merchant knows the worry caused by the express or parcel boy not being able to find the customer's house or by parcels being left at the wrong place. The system of numbering the houses would do away with all this.

A short time ago word was left at a parsonage that the clergyman's presence was required at a certain house to perform the marriage ceremony. When the time came he started, and he searched for over an hour for that house, when, giving up in despair, he returned home. His good wife urged him to try again, and by following the old advice he succeeded, the ceremony only being delayed a couple of hours. On another occasion a townsman ordered by telephone a load of wood, and after repeatedly repeating the order he got it, and was informed that four or five loads had been delivered, each to a person of the same name who wanted it and paid for it! These are illustrations of the annoyance caused by continuing the antiquated style of not having the houses numbered, and of one having to explain that he lives "on Blank st., going three blocks west from George-st., turning to your right and the third brick house from the corner."

If the expense will not be too heavy, the service would be well worth paying for. Number the houses.

"Canada lies a bleeding," wails the Montreal Herald, before it knows what the fishery agreement is. Something lies, no doubt, but really is it the country?

BRIDGENORTH.

Correspondence of the Review.

Social and Sidewalk.—Our sidewalk, so long needed, is now a certainty. The social given by the young ladies of the village, in the Town Hall, here, on Friday, 17th, was a great success and the proceeds, $35.65, was added to the fund to build the sidewalk. There isn't enough to do the whole job, but it makes a nice little nest egg and will have something more added to it presently. In addition to the splendid tea—for which the good things were contributed by ladies of the village—there was given an excellent musical and literary programme. Among the young lady vocalists were Miss Snowden, Peterboroug, and Misses Carlisle and Udy. Mr. C. Carlisle, Mr. J. Succee and Mr. Bartard also gave songs. Miss S. Young, Miss M. Quinn and Mr. W. Robinson contributed readings and recitations. The tableaux were very fine and created a great deal of interest. "The Gipsie's Warning" by Misses L. Udy, E. J. Grant and Mr. R. Morrison was well placed before the large audience, while the "Old Ladies" fairly brought down the house, and was a credit to the grace and costuming of the ladies engaged, among whom were Misses Carlisle, Snowden, Robinson and Udy, and Misses Bertha Marcey and Minna Dean. The accompaniments to the songs were skilfully played by Misses Carlisle and Snowden. The entertainment was so good that the young ladies have been requested to repeat it and have agreed to prepare another programme to be given on an evening early in March next. That their efforts to raise the necessary amount to build the sidewalk will be crowned with success no one can doubt. "When a woman wills, she wills, depend on it."

AGAINST THE NAIRN BILL.

THE LEGISLATIVE HALL INVADED BY PROTESTING MERCHANTS.

Attorney-General Mowat Sympathizes With Them—The Member for East Elgin Discomfitted—Government Day in the House—Lobby Echoes

Toronto, Feb. 22.

The "Nairn Bill," as it is now known, has provoked a chorus of dissenting voices that sounds very inharmonious in the ears of its author, the member for East Elgin. Yesterday brought a large number of stalwart manufacturers from the cities and towns of the province to protest against the passage of the measure, and a good deal of time was taken up, both when the House was in session and before it sat, in the explanation of how harsh the provisions of the proposed measure were.

In the forenoon the deputation appeared before a largely attended meeting of the Legislative Farmers' Club. Mr. J. J. Maclaren, Q.C., solicitor for the deputation; A. R. Williams, James Noxon, T. G. Mason and others spoke. It was explained that the proposed bill would end a custom for a long time in vogue and which had been found to work very satisfactorily. At present manufacturers of agricultural implements, piano and organ manufacturers, sewing machine men and makers of other kinds of machinery, dispose of their goods largely on this plan: The purchaser takes the article and simply gives his note and a lien on the goods until such goods are paid for, and in some instances the lien only is taken. It has happened that after some of these goods have been bought and paid for at sales by other parties the manufacturer has recovered the goods. These, the spokesmen of the deputation said, were but rare occurrences, and if that evil were redressed in the way the bill provided, it would most seriously affect the industrial interests of the Province. The bill would compel manufacturers to make out an agreement in every case and have it registered within five days from its execution at the County Clerk's office. It would also compel the inscription of a notice on all goods sold on the instalment payment system, showing on what terms they were bought and how much was paid on them; or in place of this a record of the transactions which anyone can examine, must be kept.

It was argued that such a system would be both costly and cumbersome, and that as it would entail considerable expense, there was only one thing to do and that was to charge the additional outlay to the cost of production. Several members of the Club spoke to the effect that the farmers had not asked for such a measure and that they saw no great need for it.

Before the House sat the Attorney-General, Hon. Mr. Hardy, Hon. Mr. Fraser, Hon. A. M. Ross and Hon. G. W. Ross gave audience to the manufacturers. It was pointed out that the system in use was of great benefit to the farmer, especially. Many a young farmer had been placed on the way to prosperity by being carried to a certain extent by implement manufacturers. The notes were guaranteed by the industry of the farmer and a lien on the goods. Under these conditions between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000 had been advanced by the banks to manufacturers. It was not fair to the banking men to change the law without, at least, due notice. If such a change were made as set forth in the bill it would make a disastrous disturbance in financial and industrial circles.

The Attorney-General said the deputation had presented their case with much force, and, indeed, he could not reply to their arguments. The matter deserved the close attention of the Government and would receive it.

When the House went into session at 3.10 the first business done was the presentation of a whole cargo of protests against the "Nairn Bill." Seventeen members on both sides of the House, and every member of the Government presented a petition from their constituents against the measure. Mr. Nairn looked very uncomfortable, and nobody enjoyed his discomfiture more than Toronto Farmer Leys.

SCOTT ACT INFRACTIONS.

Summonses For 22 St. Thomas Hotelkeepers—Municipalities and Bonuses.

St. Thomas, Feb. 21.—This morning Police Magistrate White issued twenty-two summonses against hotelkeepers of this city for infraction of the Scott Act, all but one of the charges being for second offences. The hearing is fixed for Monday.

A special meeting of the City Council was held to consider a communication from a special committee of the Brantford City Council, asking that St. Thomas Council join with them in petitioning the Ontario Legislature to take away from municipalities the power of granting bonuses. It was decided to join in the petition.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The payment of the first dividend to Central Bank depositors is expected to ease up the local money market. The payment will exceed $400,000.

John Ferguson, a wealthy plasterer of this city, died at St. Helens, Cal., on Jan. 26 last, and to-day his widow applied at the Surrogate Court for power to administer the estate, the personalty being worth $7114 and the realty $14,000. Mr. Ferguson was suffering from bad health, and had been ordered by his medical attendant to California. He, however, had about $4000 on deposit in the Central Bank, and the crash of that institution delayed his departure until the winter set in. He finally started, but died before he reached his proposed destination.

Wadded jackets are worn under the India wraps, which avoids the possibility of the wearer freezing to death on the street, although the camel's hair material is of itself celebrated for its warmth.

Small mantel clocks, with a musical box attachment, are new and pretty, and had a popular sale during the holidays. They are of Swiss manufacture, and come in several sizes and a variety of tunes.

Toboggan hats are of many varieties, and none of them especially admirable. Disfigurement in costume seems to be essential to this new kind of outdoor sport, which has now become a veritable craze.

A Paris correspondent tells that a new fashion is peacocks' plumes tied in the coiffure with narrow ribbons. If prettily arranged, says the correspondent, they are very effective, and new in any case.

As many turbans as bonnets are seen at the theatre now, and most of them are stylish and becoming. In Paris turbans of bird feathers, with a gold aigrette in front, are described as the height of fashion.

MESMERISM.

I know of no other thing in which there is so much entertainment as mesmerism. For the benefit of those who desire to experiment I append certain conclusions from my own experiments here:

1. About one person in ten can be mesmerized.
2. The proportion of people who have the "power" to mesmerize, if it be a power, I do not know.
3. Mesmerism is a trance and seems to me almost identical with somnambulism.
4. It is as harmless as sleep. My sensitives occasionally come to me in the daytime to be put to sleep for the purpose of obtaining rest.
5. Hallucinations that take place under mesmerism are seldom remembered in a subsequent waking state, but are generally recalled with vividness in a subsequent mesmeric state.
6. Mesmerized subjects do not see the objects or people in the room or hear any noise whatever except the voice of the operator.
7. My sensitives could have an arm or a leg amputated, I have no doubt, without suffering any pain.
8. Some of my sensitives are able to tell what goes on behind them, and where they cannot see it, by some occult sense of which I am ignorant. I am at present pursuing study along this line.

Others here are now experimenting, and I think mesmerism is the coming fashionable "fad."—W. A. Croffut in New York Mail and Express.

"The Royal" Flavoring Extracts are not only true to their names, but are prepared from fruits of the best quality.

California Fruits.

Arrived at the Palace Grocery, evaporated Apricots and Plums, and a full line of California Canned Goods.

Dead.

Mr. Robert Tully, hotel keeper, Warsaw, died at that place on Tuesday. The deceased for some years kept hotel in Peterborough, and was well known and respected here.

A Spur Line.

The C.P.R. Company are applying to parliament for permission to construct a branch line up the river bank, from Wolfe treet to Haslitt's saw mill, past the factories on the raceway.

Cigarettes de Athlete du Rubidge.

Mission Band Entertainment.

An interesting entertainment and concert will be given by the Mission Band of the Baptist Church in that place on Thursday evening, the 23rd February, at 8 o'clock All are welcome. Admission 10 cents. 2d44

Booming Ball.

An effort is being made to boom baseball in Peterborough. Mr. H. Long, the well known baseball enthusiast, has returned to town and he is filled full of ball. He is endeavoring to have "Pat" Sullivan, the well known pitcher, brought back and "Pat" is perfectly willing to come provided sufficient inducements are offered.

A Ferocious Feline.

Yesterday afternoon a dog and a cat, two animals nearly always mortal enemies, encountered each other at the Protestant Home, and a fight between the two resulted. A girl employed at the Home tried to separate them, and the infuriated cat caught her by the wrist, biting her severely. A physician was called in and attended to the wound, and it is not expected that the result will be serious.

Kitchen Garden.

The children's class was organized Friday, the 10th inst., and their delight over the toy appliances, representing breakfast tables with their various appointments, was a pleasure to behold. Mothers, will you not remember your own childish days and give your little girls this innocent treat? Practical outcome will be seen in orderly ways of performing their light home duties. Training hour every Friday afternoon from 4 to 5 p. m. L. S., Secretary.

Athlete Cigarettes at Rubidge's.

Prizes for Poultry.

Mr. H. J. Daubuz, of Lakefield, was very successful with the poultry he sent to the exhibition of the Eastern Ontario Poultry and Pet Stock Association, which was held at Ottawa from Feb. 14th to 17th. He won seven prizes, two firsts, four thirds, and a special prize, as follows:—Black Java hen, 93 points (100 was the highest obtainable in each case), first prize; Langshan pullet, 91½, third prize; Golden Seabright cock, 91¼, first and a special prize; Golden Seabright hen, 88, third prize; black breasted red bantam, 92, third prize; black breasted bantam hen, 89½, third prize. This is a very good showing and Mr. Daubuz is no doubt gratified with the result.

Police Court.

At the Police Court this morning Harry Lynch was charged with committing an assault upon William Robinson. The defendant pleaded guilty. It appears that at an early hour this morning Robinson was walking along George-st. when Lynch and some others suddenly pounced on him. They were under the influence of liquor and Lynch was the worst. He struck Robinson in the face and Officers Pidgeon and McGinty put a stop to the row by running Lynch in. He was fined $2 and costs and paid it. Jerimiah Daly, jr., a chum of Lynch's, who was with him at the time of the row mentioned, was the next victim. He was charged by Officer McGinty with being drunk and disorderly. He pleaded guilty and was also assessed $2 and costs, or fifteen days in gaol. He had no collateral and Officer Adams acted as an escort to the stone house, just east of the Horticultural Garden.

About Done.

As far as the main portion of the town is concerned, the sleighing is about done. Wheels will soon take the place of runners altogether.

Derby Cigarettes at Rubidge's.

Off the Rails.

An up freight on the Canada Pacific Railway, left the rails, near Cavanville, this morning, and in consequence the noon express was delayed for about an hour.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities as reported from Toronto are as follows:—Lakes—Light to moderate winds; fair weather, not much change in temperatures.

Board of Health.

A meeting of the recently appointed Board of Health will be held at the Council Chamber, on Friday evening next, for the purpose of organizing for the summer campaign.

New Books.

Subscribers of the Bell Telephone Company have been supplied with new directories. They contain the names of all the subscribers at the different agencies in the Province and are brought down to the present year.

No Meeting.

Sufficient members to form a quorum and transact business did not turn up at the meeting of the License Committee called for last night and consequently nothing was done. If any changes are to be made the by-law must be amended before the first day of March.

Derby Cigarettes 5c. Package.

Curious.

A young man residing in Ashburnham has been confined to his bed for the last two or three weeks. It is suspected that he was either beaten or drugged in town, one night, but he is not able to recall anything that occurred on the evening in question.

Filling the Bill.

The hustlers are at it tooth and nail. The programme is about ready for the printers. The extra attractions are numerous and unique. Money is no object; they simply want to instruct the public and they are going to do it too, on the afternoon and evening of Friday, March 9th, when the last and best carnival of the season will take place.

Omemee Races.

On Tuesday the annual ice meeting at Omemee opened. The track was well laid out, but it was in very poor condition, owing to the condition of the weather. In the race open to horses owned in the village of Omemee and Township of Emily, Mr. M. McGregor's horse won, after four good heats had been trotted. In the three minute race two Peterborough horses competed and captured first and second places as follows:—

Wedding Bells.

At the residence of Dr. James Bingham, Brock-st., this morning, a pleasant event occurred, when Miss Cettie E. Bingham, his only daughter, was united in marriage to Mr. George Stevenson, Secretary of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Co. and nephew of Mr. James Stevenson, M.P. The Rev. Mr. Beck tied the nuptial knot and the young and happy couple left on the C. P.R. on a trip to Ottawa and Montreal, where they will spend the honeymoon. The wedding was strictly private, only a few friends, outside of near relatives of the contracting parties, being present. Miss Mary Stevenson, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Fred. Cox, of Toronto, assisted the groom. The newly married couple have hosts of friends in Peterborough and vicinity, as was amply testified by the large array of valuable and elegant presents received by the bride. Mr. Stevenson is one of the most popular young men in town while his bride was one of the belles. We beg to extend our congratulations and wish Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson unalloyed happiness during their married life.

The People's best friend is Perry Davis' Pain-Killer, because it is ever ready to alleviate suffering.

Curling Notes.

A game for a bag of flour, was played at the Lansdowne rink on Tuesday afternoon, between the Strickland rink of Lakefield and the seemingly invincible quartette skipped by Councillor Adam Hall. The Lakefield men will foot the bill, as the following was the score:—

| | |
|---|---|
| D Belleghem | J. P. Strickland |
| J. D. Baptie | W. D. E. Strickland |
| T. P. Attrill | H. T. Strickland |
| Adam Hall, s'k. 22 | R. C. Strickland, s'k, 11 |

The Strickland and Rutherford rinks played at the Lansdowne rink for a sack of flour, for the Protestant Home. Mr. Strickland will provide the flour, as the score shows:—

| | |
|---|---|
| J. Stanger | J. P. Strickland |
| S. Clegg | W. D. E. Strickland |
| C. McGill | H. T. Strickland |
| T. Rutherford, skip. 25 | R. C. Strickland s'k. 12 |

The rinks that leave for Ottawa on Thursday evening, will probably be made up as follows:—

| | |
|---|---|
| D. Belleghem | Adam Hall |
| Geo. Walker | C. McGill |
| T. E. Bradburn | R. S. Davidson |
| S. Bay, skip. | W. G. Ferguson s'k. |

THE ASSAULT AT ARMS.

A LARGE AND DELIGHTED AUDIENCE AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

A Splendid Programme Carried Through in a Perfect Manner—Those Who Took Part and What They Did—A Credit to the Battalion and the Town.

The much talked of and long expected military concert, under the patronage of Col. J. Z. Rogers and officers of the 57th Battalion, took place at the Opera House on Tuesday evening. It was a success, a decided success, and a better pleased audience never left the building.

The boys had been preparing for some weeks and the public had an idea that something good would be presented for their approval, but the most sanguine never expected such a splendid programme as was carried through.

The Opera House was handsomely and appropriately decorated. At the entrance and along the aisles were posted sentries in full uniform, while officers acted as ushers. Along the sides Union Jacks, Dominion flags, Royal standards and red and blue bunting were stretched, almost hiding the walls. At the rear of the stage was hung a mammoth British coat of arms, and a number of flags large and small. To the right and left of the stage opening were pictures of the Queen and distinguished British soldiers, flanked with rifles, and bayonets were displayed. On top was a large oil painting of Her Majesty and a prettily designed star composed of bayonets, placed on a red ground and circled around a crown and the letters V. R. Across the centre of the hall was hung a line of the flags of all nations and every available spot had its bit of colored bunting. On the stage in front of the drop curtain were placed the colors of the regiment, supported by rifles, but these were removed just before the programme was commenced.

The effect was pretty indeed and those who designed and carried out the decorations deserve credit.

Long before the advertised opening hour people commenced to crowd in and when the curtain rose on the first tableau those on the stage looked at one of the largest and best audiences that ever assembled within the four walls of the house. It was a cosmopolitan audience, a quiet audience, an enthusiastic audience, an appreciative audience, a critical audience and above all a well pleased audience. Fully one half of those present were ladies and one could not help but be reminded of the old saying that the ladies love the redcoats.

When the opening hour arrived the scene presented was a brilliant one. The rich dresses of the ladies, the scarlet tunics of the infantry, the blue and gold of the cavalry, the blue and silver of the artillery mingled with the more sombre attire of the civilians, the decorations, the smiling faces and the bright lights all went to form a picture that will be long remembered.

Shortly after 8 o'clock Major and Adjutant Bell stepped before the footlights and announced that in response to the orders of his superior officer, he desired to say a few words to the audience. He said that complaints were made on the score that the public did not see enough of the battalion, but in future he felt confident that that complaint would not lie. Until about two years ago the 57th had been a rural battalion, but through the efforts of the officers and some of their friends, they are now known as a city corps. When a rural battalion, they were made up of isolated companies, taken from here and there and the only opportunity they had of parading together was when they met at a brigade camp, once every two years. Now the companies are all from town and the men drill every year and drill at home, too. Under these circumstances he felt warranted in stating that the public would see more of the boys in red. In order to keep up the standing of the battalion money is necessary and to provide that money something had to be done. The Government makes an annual grant and the officers contribute, but the amount thus raised is not sufficient and the public were asked to aid and to secure that aid was the object of the present concert, which it was proposed it make an annual affair. He thanked the audience for their attendance and the good feeling that prompted that attendance and he hoped that all would be so well satisfied with the evening's entertainment that they would return again next year.

When the curtain rose quiet prevailed, but when a square of redcoats, with fixed bayonets, ready to receive cavalry, was disclosed, the applause was almost defeaning. Those in the front ranks were on their knees, the colors were in the centre, the men looked determined and ready to face anything, and the curtain descended amid red fire and tremendous applause.

The people of Peterborough have always been proud of their band, and after their performance last night the musicians have elevated themselves several notches higher in the public estimation. "The Relief of Ekowe," a descriptive fantasia, was the piece chosen. It starts with the assembly, called on the bugle, followed by the march, muster, preparation, advance, charge and pursuit, winding up with shouts of victory and God Save the Queen. The band mustered twenty-one players and by dint of steady practice, under the able tuition of Bandmaster Miller, they have thoroughly mastered the difficult music and their playing was a revelation, even to the critics. An encore was demanded, but refused, a practise that was continued throughout the evening.

The glee club, composed of Sergt.-Major Rundle, Bandmaster Miller, Bandsmen Hamilton and Mein, Corporal Matthews and Privates Martin, Dawson, Jones, Henderson and Mulligan, rendered "The Red Cross Knight" in an acceptable manner, the blending of the voices being admirable. Although the singers have only practiced together a few times they displayed a great aptness and the glee club of the 57th battalion, is bound to become one of the most popular musical bodies in town.

A squad of redcoats, chosen from the different companies, followed in the manual and firing exercise, without the word of command. It was well done, particularly the firing, which could not be improved upon. Those who took part were Sergeants Mason, Wand, T. Diston, Robinson, and G. Diston, Corporals Matthews and Elcome, Privates Jinks, Kidd, R. Hounsell, H. Hounsell and Payne.

A solo, "The Anchor's Weighed," by Sergeant-Major Rundle, was rendered with good expression. Bandsman Hamilton followed with a beautiful solo, "Thy Sentinel Am I." He has a fine voice and his excellent singing was rewarded with a demand for more.

A fencing bout between Captain Brennan and Lieutenant Mason, with foils and masks, was a spirited affair in which every person in the audience appeared deeply interested. Captain Brennan was the victor by a few points.

Sergeant-Major Johnston, Sergeants Goldie, Johnston, Morgan and Privates Pearson and Howden concluded the first part of the programme with an exhibition of the cavalry sword exercise. They did well.

After a short intermission the second part of the programme opened with the tableau "A Camp Scene." On one side of the stage was pitched a tent, at the door of which Lieutenant Hill was receiving a despatch from an orderly, whose hand was at the salute. Ranged about in picturesque attitudes were a squad of men. Some were sleeping quietly, some were singing, some chatting, some tailoring, some cleaning their rifles, some blacking boots, some washing dishes, some cleaning knives and others looking on. The whole thing was realistic, as an every day scene at any military camp, but the colored fires were poorly managed.

The fantasia "Red, White and Blue," by the band, introduced a large number of military and naval airs, concluding with stirring strains. The rendition was perfect and the audience testified their hearty approval.

"Chough and Crowe" and the old, but ever welcome "Smiling Morn," were given by the glee club in first class style.

The bayonet exercise, by the squad that performed the manual, was the best feature of the evening. It could not be improved upon and Sergeant-Major Rundle has reason to be proud of the manner in which his pupils acquitted themselves. Sergeants Mason and Robinson, Corp. Matthews and Elcome and Privates Kidd and Martin also performed the infantry sword exercise in a creditable manner.

Bandmaster Miller sang "Let me Like a Soldier Fall" and sang it well. Private Mulligan in the "Death of Nelson" carried the house by storm and for his able effort he received the heartiest greeting of the evening.

The performance concluded with a fantasia "Pastorella" and the National Anthem by the band.

The boys have very reason to feel proud of their effort. Without any outside assistance they gave one of the best and most successful entertainments ever seen in Peterborough. Every person that took part and some who did not worked hard and all deserve great credit. The colonel and officers are proud of the men, the public appreciate them and no efforts should be spared to place the 57th Battalion on an equal footing with the best city corps. We have the officers, we have the men and all that is required to accomplish the desired end is the assistance of the people of Peterborough, which should be extended in a liberal and unstinted manner.

PRESENTATION.

Mr. Geo. Stevenson Remembered by the Lock Works Employees.

The employees of the Lock Manufacturing Company took advantage of the approaching wedding of the Secretary-Treasurer of the Company, Mr. George Stevenson, to show the esteem in which he is held by them. This morning they sent him a handsome table and chair, accompanied by the following address:—

Geo. Stevenson, Esq., Sec.-Treas. Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Co.

DEAR SIR,—The employees of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company seize this opportunity of your approaching nuptials to congratulate you on the happiest event of you life, and desire to show at this eventful moment the high esteem you are held in by your fellow employees, and to ask your acceptance of this chair and table to mark our cordial relations.

Signed on behalf of the employees,
THOS. BROOKS,
M. REILLY,
E. WARD.

The articles, which were procured from Mr. Clegg, were very handsome. The table was a beautiful drawing room table, of antique style, mahogany finish and highly polished. The chair was a combination of the rattan and bent wood furniture and was finely finished and very artistic.

Mrs. Brooks, wife of the Manager of the Company, supplemented the already handsome gift by adding a richly embroidered scarf in olive and gold.

Mr. Stevenson is a popular young man, one who is highly esteemed generally, and by none more than by the employees of the lock works.

Brevities.

—There was a very fair market this morning.

—The Masonic At Home takes place tomorrow evening.

—Dr. Massie, of Colborne, late of Keene, was in town to-day.

The river and lake were patronized largely by skaters last night.

—Mr. T. G. Haslitt is rapidly recovering, we are pleased to learn.

—The building on College-st. recently injured by fire is being rebuilt.

—The annual meeting of the Otonabee Canoe Club takes place this evening.

—A fire brigade has been organized in Hastings. They now want an engine.

—Ice creepers were in demand last night but to-day they are replaced by rubbers.

—The Agricultural Society meeting will be held at the old Music Hall, on Saturday afternoon.

—Col. Villiers was unable to be present at the concert last night. He telegraphed to that effect.

—Mayor Stevenson, M. P., leaves for Ottawa to enter upon his Parliamentary duties this evening.

—Youngsters are again commencing to use the hills for coasting purposes. The police are after them.

—The egg dealers are already preparing for the spring campaign. Cases are coming in by the car load.

—Sergt. Major Rundle is the best pleased man in town to-day. He worked like a beaver and can now rest in his laurels.

—The turn table at Hastings is to be dismantled and a new siding put in for the convenience of the bridge builders.

—The cells are being used somewhat these nights. Three prisoners in two nights is something unusual in our quiet town.

—The sword v. bayonet bout had to be abandoned at the military concert as the spring bayonet was accidentally broken.

—Mr. John Garvey, of London, is in town, looking after his interests here. He reports business as being rather dull all over the country.

—A soldier in full uniform with a pipe in his mouth is hardly according to the Queen's regulations, but several were seen last evening.

—As is usually the case every spring, the market square is not the cleanest spot in town. It should be cleaned up as soon as the weather will permit.

—Messrs. F. Birdsall and Robert Burgess, represented the East Peterborough Farmers' Institute at the meeting of the Central Institute, at Toronto.

—Wilson Day's "Hoop of Gold" company are in town. They appear at the Opera House this evening. They played to a large and delighted audience, at Port Hope last evening.

—The people of Peterborough are, as a whole, honest. A George st. dealer left three hams hanging outside of his shop last night and he found them there this morning, too. They were not of the basswood variety either.

—The moon failed to show up as per almanac last night and the electric lights and gas lamps followed suit. The proper caper in most places is to provide that the street lamps shall be lighted every night, moonlight or not.

Insurance Catechism.

—:o:—

Why should I insure my life?

Answer—To secure the future support, comfort and education of my family is as much my duty as the providing of their present daily needs. With the sudden changes of fortune almost daily occurring among my business friends, I see no other way of making for them any absolutely certain provision except through the plan of life insurance. Sensible people universally insure against loss from fire, and are perfectly satisfied that the premiums paid year after year are never returned to them. In a life insurance company all premiums are returned with a high rate of interest at some time, for death is certain. Besides the monetary value of my life to my family, in what I daily produce for them, is worth far more than houses, store or goods, saying nothing of the fact that there are about five chances of my dying during the year to one of my house or store burning.

With whom should I insure?

Answer—With E. E. HENDERSON, General Agent, Peterborough.

Why?—Because you will be insured in a thoroughly reliable, safe and honorable Company, at lowest rates.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 2½ years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reëstablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

THE MOVERS AND SECONDERS OF THE ADDRESS.

A Rumor That the Number of Cabinet Ministers is to be Increased—The Election Appeals—Private Bills—Applications for Divorce.

OTTAWA, Feb. 21.—Another meeting of Council was held this afternoon at which, it is understood, there was some further consideration of the treaty and considerable progress was made with the estimates.

Sir Charles Tupper is still indisposed and was unable to attend, but it is expected he will be well enough to be present at the opening of the House.

It is understood that the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne will be moved in the Commons by Dr. Montague of Haldimand and seconded by Mr. L. Z. Joncas of Gaspe. In the Senate it will be moved by Hon. J. B. Rolland, the newly-appointed Senator for Mille Isles, and seconded by Hon. Mr. Sanford of Hamilton.

Mr. Vankoughnet, Deputy Superintendent-General of Indian Affairs, entirely discredits the stories of destitution and cannibalism amongst the Indians at Lac La Biche. The Department of Indian Affairs has heard nothing about any suffering amongst the Indians. Mr. Vankoughnet points out that the Government has really little or nothing to do with the Indians at Lac La Biche, as nearly all of them have "left treaty," that is, they have taken scrip as halfbreeds and have, therefore, ceased to be treaty Indians.

There is considerable talk in inner circles about a proposal to increase the number of ministers in the Cabinet, either by creating new portfolios or deputy-ministries filled by members of the House. In some of the important departments for instance there would be a minister and a deputy-minister, both members either of the Commons or the Senate. And among the names mentioned in connection with one of these proposed offices is that of Adam Brown, one of the members for the city of Hamilton. The Government, it is said, feel the need of a live Western man in the Cabinet, the only ones at present being Hon. John Carling and Senator Frank Smith. Adam Brown is an influential man in all that part of Ontario west of Toronto, as his extensive experience as a Hamilton merchant, a railway and telegraph director, has brought him in contact with everyone in that district, and he would consequently bring considerable strength to the Administration. He is a fluent speaker, and always ready in debate. He has Sir John's trick of making friends and this, it is believed, is one of the strong points urged in his favor. But that it is the avowed policy of the Government to increase the Cabinet as above indicated by taking in Mr. Brown or any others I could not learn to-night. Those who know are reticent on the subject. A day or two will tell.

The Governor-General will hold a drawing-room in the Senate Chamber on the evening of Feb. 25.

The Supreme Court opened this morning when the eight election appeals were proceeded with, the first case called being Russell, the appeal in which was withdrawn by consent. The Quebec County and Montmagny cases were argued and taken en delibere and the Glengarry case was being proceeded with when the court rose. In all these cases the question of the six months' limit forms part of the appeal.

The number of private bills, of which notice of application to Parliament has been given, is eighty-five. Twenty-three are by railway companies for acts of incorporation, twenty-eight by railway companies for amendments to charter, thirteen miscellaneous for acts of incorporation, thirteen miscellaneous applications for amendments to charter, one for naturalization and seven for divorce. The latter list is as follows:

Andrew Maxwell Irving from his wife M. L. Irving, adultery; Catharine Morrison from her husband John F. Morrison, adultery, bigamy and desertion; Wm. Henry Middleton from his wife, Mary Froude, adultery and desertion; Mary Froude Middleton, a counter petition, cruelty, adultery and desertion; Bennett Rosamond from his wife, Adair Rosamond, adultery and desertion; Eleanora C. Tudor from her husband, F. L. Hart, cruelty and adultery; Mary M. White from her husband, David C. White, incapability of the consummation of the marital relations.

Everybody needs a spring medicine. By using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the blood is thoroughly cleansed and invigorated, the appetite stimulated, and the system prepared to resist the diseases peculiar to the summer months. Ask for Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Take no other.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

A pause.

"Yes, I shall say——" anxiously.

"You—will—say——" Here he breaks down ignominiously, and confesses by his inability to proceed that he doesn't in the least know what it is she can say.

"I know," says Mona, brightening, and putting on an air so different from her own usual unaffected one as to strike her listener with awe. "I shall say, 'Oh! thanks, quite too awfully much, don't you know? but Geoffrey and I didn't find it a bit long, and we were warm as wool all the time.'"

At this appalling speech Geoffrey's calculations fall through, and he gives himself up to undisguised mirth.

"If you say all that," he says, "there will be wigs on the green; that's Irish, isn't it? or something like it, and very well applied, too. The first part of your speech sounded like Toole or Blough, I'm not sure which."

"Well, it was in a theatre I heard it," confesses Mona, meekly; "it was a great lord who said it on the stage, so I thought it would be all right."

"Great lords are not necessarily faultlessly correct either on or off the stage," says Geoffrey. "But, just for choice, I prefer them off of it. No, that will not do at all. When my mother addresses you, you are to answer her back again in tones even colder than her own, and say——"

"But, Geoffrey, why should I be cold to your mother? Sure you wouldn't have me be uncivil to her, of all people?"

"Not uncivil, but cool. You will say to her, 'It was rather better than I anticipated, thank you.' And then, if you manage to look bored, it will be quite correct, so far, and you may tell yourself you have scored one."

"I may say that horrid speech, but I certainly can't pretend I was bored during our drive, because I am not," says Mona.

"I know that. If I was not utterly sure of it I should instantly commit suicide by precipitating myself under the carriage-wheels," says Geoffrey. "Still—'let us dissemble.' Now say what I told you."

So Mrs. Rodney says, "It was rather better than I anticipated, thank you," in a tone so icy that his is warm beside it.

"But suppose she doesn't say a word about the drive?" says Mona, thoughtfully. "How will it be then?"

"She is safe to say something about it, and that will do for anything," says Rodney out of the foolishness of his heart.

And now the horses draw up before a brilliantly-lighted hall, the doors of which are thrown wide open as though in hospitable expectation of their coming.

Geoffrey, leading his wife into the hall, pauses beneath a central swinging lamp, to examine her critically. The footman who is in attendance on them has gone on before to announce their coming; they are therefore for the moment alone.

Mona is looking lovely, a little pale, perhaps from some natural agitation, but her pallor only adds to the luster of her great blue eyes and lends an additional sweetness to the ripeness of her lips. Her hair is a little loose, but eminently becoming, and altogether she looks as like an exquisite painting as one can conceive.

"Take off your hat," says Geoffrey, in a tone that gladdens her heart, so full it is of love and admiration; and, having removed her hat, she follows him through halls and one or two anterooms until they reach the library, into which the man ushers them.

It is a very pretty room filled with a subdued light, and with a blazing fire at one end. All bespeaks home, and warmth, and comfort, but to Mona in her present state it is desolation itself. The three occupants of the room rise as she enters, and Mona's heart dies within her, as a very tall statuesque woman, drawing herself up languidly from a lounging-chair, comes leisurely up to her. There is no welcoming haste in her movements, no gracious smile, for which her guest is thirsting, upon her thin lips.

She is dressed in black velvet, and has a cap of richest old lace upon her head. To the quick sensibilities of the Irish girl it becomes known without a word that she is not to look for love from this stately woman, with her keen, scrutinizing glance and cold, unsmiling lips.

A choking sensation, rising from her heart, almost stops Mona's breath; her mouth feels parched and dry; her eyes widen. A sudden fear oppresses her. How is it going to be in all the future? Is Geoffrey's—her own husband's—mother to be her enemy?

Lady Rodney holds out her hand, and Mona lays hers within it.

"So glad you have come," says Lady Rodney, in a tone that belies her words, and in a sweet silvery voice that chills the heart of the listener. "We hardly thought we should see you so soon, the trains here are so unpunctual. I hope the carriage was in time."

"It was rather better than I anticipated, thank you," not in the haughty tone adopted by her half an hour ago, but in an unnerved and frightened whisper.

At this remarkable answer to a very ordinary and polite question, Lady Rodney stares at Mona for a moment, and then turns abruptly away to greet Geoffrey. Whereupon Captain Rodney, coming forward, tells Mona he is glad to see her, kindly but carelessly; and then a young man, who has been standing up to this silently upon the hearth-rug, advances, and takes Mona's hand in a warm clasp, and looks down upon her with very friendly eyes.

At his touch, at his glance, the first sense of comfort Mona has felt since her entry into the room falls upon her. This man, at least, is surely of the same kith and kin as Geoffrey, and to him her heart opens gladly, gratefully.

He has heard the remarkable speech made to his mother, and has drawn his own conclusions therefrom. "Geoffrey has been coaching the poor little soul, and putting absurd words into her mouth, with—as is usual in all such cases—a very brilliant result." So he tells himself, and is, as we know, close to the truth.

He tells Mona she is very welcome, and, still holding her hand, draws her over to the fire, and moves a big arm-chair in front of it, in which he ensconces her, bidding her warm herself, and make herself (as he says with a kindly smile that has still kinder meaning in it) "quite at home."

Then he stoops and unfastens her sealskin jacket, and takes it off her, and in fact pays her all the little attentions that lie in his power.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver a misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

THE CURRENCY DESTROYED.

Over Half a Million Dollars of Central Bank Notes Burned Yesterday.

TORONTO, Feb. 23.—The Master-in-Ordinary devoted his exclusive attention to Central Bank matters for a considerable time again yesterday. Mr. J. P. Hodgins attended with Liquidators Howland, Gooderham and Mr. J. H. Coyne, while the other side was represented by ex-Liquidator Campbell, John Bain, Q.C. Mr. Orde, the accountant, also took an active part in the proceedings.

Mr. J. P. Hodgins filed a certificate and an affidavit showing that the circulation of the Central Bank so far redeemed had been counted and cancelled. The amount of currency destroyed was $588,675, including the $70,000 of over-issue.

Accountant Orde and ex-Liquidator Campbell filed an affidavit each showing that the contents of the treasury when Mr. Campbell entered were simply the circulation that has now been destroyed in the above half million, and certain debentures of which a list was given.

The keys of the safe drawers, and the combination of the vault were formally handed over by Mr. Campbell to the Master.

Mr. J. Bain, Q.C., moved the liquidators and Master give Arch. Campbell a clear discharge and certify to his accounts.

Mr. J. H. Coyne moved that additional power be given the liquidators to do all acts in connection with assignments made by creditors of the bank.

The Master said he could not grant the last order until the creditors had been notified, and the first could not be given until Messrs. Howland and Gooderham certified to Campbell's accounts.

GLOUCESTER'S WAIL.

The Fish Pirates Stigmatize the Treaty as a Disgrace to Americans.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Feb. 22.—The Fisheries Treaty has been the subject of much comment here to-day. At the Merchants' Exchange this morning all asserted that the rights of American fishermen had been sacrificed to the interests of Canada. President Cleveland and Secretary Bayard received much criticism at the hands of the fishermen, who declared that the treaty was a disgrace to all American citizens.

Regarding the headland clause they said that Fortune Bay and other parts of Newfoundland where fishermen have always had the right to purchase bait and all necessary articles of outfit, to land, dry fish and to tranship cargoes are by this arrangement practically excluded from them, more especially Fortune Bay, which is the great resort for fishermen in the winter season when in pursuit of frozen herring. The drawing of the line from Connaigre Head to the southeasterly end of Brunet Island, thence to Fortune Head at Sir Charles Hamilton Sound, will debar fishermen from this privilege which they always have had.

They object to paying $1.50 for licenses for privileges which they claim the treaty of 1818 has already given them.

The opinion of many persons who have been discussing the subject is that an indignation meeting should be called to protest against the ratification of this treaty, which, they claim, destroys the last right of American fishermen.

A Dwelling Burnt at Port Dalhousie.

PORT DALHOUSIE, Feb. 22.—A frame house owned and occupied by Mr. Wm. Mossop was totally destroyed by fire about 2 o'clock this afternoon together with most of the contents. The fire caught from the chimney. The building was insured for $500 and the contents for $300, both in the North British and Mercantile. Loss $1000.

Increase of Insurance Rates in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Feb. 22.—At a meeting of the Fire Underwriters' Association this afternoon it was decided to increase the general rate of insurance 20 per cent. Dwelling houses will be exempted from this. This increase is exclusive of the extra 2½ per cent. to recoup the companies for the Quebec provincial tax.

Honor to a Canadian.

MONTREAL, Feb. 22.—By a decree of President Carnot, dated Feb. 4, 1888, Hon. Premier Mercier is appointed chevalier of the Legion of Honor, and his brother-in-law, Paul De Cazes, an officer of public instruction.

Verdict in the Heron Tragedy.

CONOUNG, Feb. 22.—The coroner's jury in the inquest on the body of Caroline Heron at Blackstock, in the Township of Cartwright, brought in a verdict at 3 o'clock this morning that the deceased had come to her death from poisoning by strychnine. They also found that the strychnine had been administered to the deceased by Elizabeth Heron, and that Wm. Heron, Elizabeth Heron's husband, was an accessory after the fact. Caroline Heron, the victim of the murder, was a young girl who went to visit her aunt during the Christmastide. The Herons were placed under arrest and will be brought to jail here to-morrow. Their motive for committing the crime is not clear.

Robbed on a Train.

MONTREAL, Feb. 22.—Abbe Hamel of New York, who arrived here to-day, placed a case of robbery of $2,400 in the hands of one of the city detectives. He was travelling on the Delaware and Hudson to Montreal this morning when he left the train at Plattsburg to get breakfast, leaving his satchel containing the money behind him. When he returned he found the money gone, but as the train was moving he had to come on to the city. A woman who disappeared from the train at the same time is suspected.

BRITAIN, GAUL AND LATIN.

THE FOREIGN POLICY OF THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT.

Sir James Fergusson Assures the Imperial Commons That England Has Entered Into no Engagement with Italy Which is not Known to Parliament.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The House of Commons to-day negatived an amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech proposing the creation of a tribunal on judicial rents in Scotland.

A motion to vote the address was then approved, after which, on a motion that the report on the address be adopted, Mr. Labouchere moved to insert in the report a request that the House be informed whether the correspondence with the Italian Government bound the Government to intervene in the event of war between France and Italy. He advised Lord Salisbury to take the country into his confidence, as Bismarck had done. England had every reason to distrust Lord Salisbury, who was willing to drag the country into a war in order to save his policy towards Ireland from criticism. The foreign policy of Lord Salisbury was hatred toward France—[cries of "No!"]—and jealousy toward Russia. The reason he hated France was obvious. It was a republic, progressing and prosperous, without aristocrats, without royalties and without hereditary ruling families directing the affairs of state. Parliament must watch a minister so biased, and refuse to assent to his mingling in continental matters relating either to territorial or dynastic settlements, even if made in concert with Europe.

Sir James Fergusson, Under Foreign Secretary, said he could not understand Mr. Labouchere's purpose in making those statements which were most mischievous in their tendency and most reckless in their particularity. [Cheers.] No responsible statesman of France would attribute such a policy to Lord Salisbury—["Hear, hear,"]—least of all those French statesmen who had had dealings with Lord Salisbury during his conduct of the foreign affairs of England. [Cheers.] The Government would not lay confidential correspondence before the House but Sir James could reassure the House that no engagement had been entered into with Italy or any other power that was not known to Parliament. He hoped the danger to the peace of Europe was not greater—perhaps it was less—than a year ago. He relied upon the House to meet the motion with a single negative.

Mr. Gladstone said he had heard with extreme satisfaction Sir James Fergusson's assurance that the Government had conducted a policy of harmony with France. He was content with the declaration just obtained of the Government's policy. He was confident that no disposition existed on the Liberal side to press for undue disclosures. [Cheers.] He believed that the course taken by Lord Salisbury had been sometimes entirely in accordance with sound principles for regulating the foreign policy of England. He earnestly hoped that whatever happened in Europe a unity of sentiment in all parties on the foreign policy would be obtained, thus doubling the moral force of England and immensely increasing her power when constrained to interfere. [Cheers.]

Mr. W. H. Smith congratulated the House on the tone of Mr. Gladstone's remarks. It was worthy of the ancient reputation of the House, and the responsibilities attaching to a statesman who had occupied a high position in the Government. There had always been cordial relations with France, and there was not the slightest ground for the suspicion that anything had been done to trench upon the existing harmony. [Cheers.]

The amendment was withdrawn.

NURSED BY AN IRISH LADY.

The German Crown Prince Visited at San Remo by the Prince of Wales.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The Crown Prince's bed has been placed in the large drawing-room of the villa since the operation. He is never without the attendance of a medical man, of whom there are six and who take turns sitting with him. In the throat he has a double tube of silver which is three inches long and takes only liquid nourishment, such as the strongest beef tea that can be made, various jellies, milk and wine. Dr. Bramann used chloroform for the operation against the wishes of Sir Morel Mackenzie, but he refused to operate without it, as he has always been accustomed to use it. The case has since then been treated on the German system, of which however, Sir Morel Mackenzie does not wholly approve. He would much have preferred to follow the English plan, but his position is a very delicate, not to say painful one. The German visitors at San Remo are full of jealousy of the confidence which is placed in Dr. Mackenzie, and are prolific in silly and ridiculous stories on the subject of the Crown Prince's treatment, entirely forgetting that Sir Morel was originally summoned to Potsdam by the advice of the German specialists, and that nothing could have been more generous and considerate than his demeanor towards the German medical man who are concerned with the case. The Crown Prince's principal attendant is an Irish lady, who is a most skilful and experienced nurse.

The Crown Prince Improves.

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—The weather, at San Remo has grown milder. The Crown Prince continues to improve. To-day he was able to speak distinctly. The external wound has healed. The cough and expectoration have not abated.

ST. REMO, Feb. 22.—Midnight.—The Crown Prince had passed a good day. He will go out of doors in a few days should the weather improve.

ON THE FRONTIER.

The Massing of Russian Troops Continues —The Attitude of Austria.

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—Reports from the frontier say that the movements of Russian troops are ceasing westward of Moscow and Kieff. At those places the massing of troops continues. The transport and commissariat service in Poland is becoming worse, being now insufficient for the bare necessities of the troops.

Count Kalnoky has returned to Vienna from Pesth, where he had an interview with Emperor Francis Joseph and Count Andrassy.

Russia still refrains from direct negotiations with Austria. Count Kalnoky responds through Bismarck.

Austria makes her adhesion to the proposed collective note regarding Prince Ferdinand dependent upon further explanations from Russia.

Fatal Dynamite Explosion.

DULUTH, Minn., Feb. 22.—This morning an explosion of dynamite occurred in the rock cut in Fourth-street. Eighteen men were injured and eight are now in the hospital. One died upon reaching the hospital.

THE STUDY OF AGRICULTURE.

An Interesting Discussion at the Central Farmers' Institute.

TORONTO, Feb. 23.

After an enjoyable jaunt to Guelph the members of the Permanent Central Farmers' Institute of Ontario re-assembled in good numbers in the County Council Chamber last night. Mr. John Dryden, M.P.P., presided.

The first paper read was one by Mr. Charles Lawrence, Collingwood, on "Agricultural Education in Our Common Schools." He urged the importance of the principles of agriculture being taught in schools, and for those destined to enter on an agricultural career a knowledge of the properties of soil and the principles of chemistry was necessary. There was only one agricultural college in Ontario, but he maintained that there should be agricultural schools in every district of the province. He would have agriculture made a compulsory subject in all common schools.

An interesting discussion followed. Mr. Derbyshire praised the educational system of Ontario, which he regarded as the best in the world. Mr. Mowbray, Oshawa, generally approved of the paper, and in the course of his remarks said that farmers were not making money.

Col. Campbell advocated greater use being made of the Guelph Agricultural College.

A large number of members took part in the discussion. Mr. Fuller reminded the Institute that a book was being prepared under the auspices of the Minister of Agriculture, to teach the principles of agriculture and to be used in the common schools. Mr. T. Raynor, Rosehall, advocated the establishment by Government of agricultural high schools. Ultimately this resolution was passed on the motion of Mr. T. Shaw, seconded by Mr. J. Craig:

That this meeting approves of the contemplated introduction of an elementary text book on agriculture into our common schools, believing that its judicious use will tend very much to the advancement of the young men at their most impressible period, and will do much towards preparing them for entering the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, which we would recommend to the earnest consideration of our farmers as a place for giving their sons a complete agricultural education.

The next topic discussed was a purely technical one, "The nature of the experimental work most desirable to have conducted at the Experimental Farm at Guelph." Mr. D. M. McPherson introduced the subject in a paper, in which he advocated greater attention to manures and dairy farming and a more hearty support of the Agricultural College, whereby its usefulness would be increased. After discussion this resolution was passed:

That the experiments suggested be recommended to the faculty of the Ontario Agricultural College for their consideration.

Next came a host of resolutions not of special public interest, which were agreed to. Amongst these were a vote of thanks to the Minister of Agriculture and the professors of the Agricultural College at Guelph in connection with that day's visit; a resolution advocating the establishing of farmers' institutes in every electoral district where they are not now in existence; that the Minister of Agriculture be requested to publish the proceedings of the institute in connection with the annual agricultural reports. Satisfaction was expressed at the announcement of the intention of the Ontario Government to appoint a Minister of Agriculture, the same to be a practical farmer.

The institute adjourned at 10.30 till 9 o'clock this morning.

The 25-Hour Go-as-You-Please.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—In the go-as-you-please race at 10.32 o'clock Cartwright and Day left the track. This was a signal for the crowd that further interest in the race was done for, and they with a wild rush broke down the fence surrounding the track, effectually ending the race, even had the other men had a desire to continue. The score at that time was: Cartwright 125 miles 3 laps, Day 122 miles 6 laps, Dillon 115 miles 1 lap, Taylor 110 miles 2 laps, Noremac 104 miles 4 laps, O'Keefe 100 miles 1 lap, Burrill 95 miles 3 laps. The first five men will divide a little over $1000.

Frisco Leads.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—July 3 is the date selected for the meeting of the national Democratic convention to select candidates for President and Vice-President. After eight ballots on the place for holding the meeting, the convention adjourned till to-morrow. The eighth ballot was: San Francisco 17, Chicago 14, St. Louis 14, and Cincinnati 1.

G. W.'s Birthday.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The anniversary of Washington's birthday was generally observed throughout the city and country to-day. The public offices, Federal and Municipal, were closed and business suspended.

The Waterloo Cup Postponed.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The Waterloo Cup to have been run to-day was postponed owing to the snow and cold weather.

A Narrow Escape.

MONTREAL, Feb. 22.—The engine bringing in the express from Toronto this morning met with an accident after leaving St. Anna, which happily resulted in nothing worse than a delay of some hours. Shortly after leaving the station the side rod on the right side of the locomotive snapped and the driving wheels left the rails. The train was quickly stopped. The engineer had a very narrow escape, as the broken rod came crashing through the side of the cab. The driver had just crossed to the other side of the cab and so escaped unhurt.

U. S. Imports of Iron and Steel.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22.—The imports of iron and steel in 1887 amounted to 1,783,251 gross tons against 1,098,564 tons in 1886. The imports of iron ore in 1887 amounted to 1,194,301 gross tons against 1,039,443 tons in 1886.

FORECAST OF THE SESSION.

PROBABLE POINTS OF TO-DAY'S SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

Ratification of the Fisheries Treaty to Be Invited—The Harvest in Manitoba, the Election Act and the Franchise Will Likely Be Mentioned.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—It is understood that His Excellency in the Speech from the Throne tomorrow will express satisfaction with the result of the Fisheries Commission, and invite the ratification of the treaty by Parliament, as a settlement honorable and satisfactory to both Canada and the United States.

It is but reasonable to suppose that the munificent harvest in Manitoba and the Northwest will call forth a paragraph, which may also contain an allusion to the partial failure of the crops in other sections of the Dominion.

The results of the election trials has shown that there is considerable room for improvement in the Election Act, and the conflicting decisions of the judges with respect to the proper interpretation of certain clauses in the Controverted Election Act—especially that known as the six months' clause—has sufficiently demonstrated the fact that the doubts about the proper interpretation of the act should be removed. It is, therefore, fair to suppose that the speech will contain an intimation that legislation will be invited on both these subjects.

And while the question of elections and controverted elections is under consideration, it is but reasonable to expect that the franchise will not be forgotten and that a measure will be promised for improving the details of the act, simplifying the law and materially reducing the cost of its operation.

The report of the Railway Commission which was appointed during the recess will undoubtedly be laid before the House at an early date, and it may therefore be anticipated that the speech will contain an allusion to the extension and development of the railway system having rendered necessary additional safeguards for life and property, as well as provision for the settlement of questions arising between rival companies, and promise a measure for the amendment of the Railway Act.

The question of the government of the Northwest Territories occupied the attention of the House last session, and it may therefore be expected that the speech will contain a promise of a measure for the improvement of the government of that vast and rapidly developing region, and probably for enlarging the present franchise.

The acts relating to the judiciary and the civil service will probably receive attention, and some improvements may be found necessary in the Audit Act, which is sometimes found cumbersome in its operation.

Beyond these, however, it is not very likely that any great amount of legislation will be promised in the speech, but that the Government will continue the course it has pursued in recent years of merely mentioning in the speech a few of the prominent measures to be introduced and allowing the balance of the legislation to come up in the course of the session.

COMING ELECTIONS.

Writs Issued for West Middlesex and Prince Edward.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—Writs have been issued for the elections in West Middlesex and Prince Edward. Nominations in both cases take place on March 5 and polling on March 12.

Dr. Montizambert, medical officer at Grosse Isle quarantine station, had an interview today with the Minister of Agriculture with a view to preparing for the opening of navigation, and especially with reference to taking proper precautions to prevent the introduction of cholera.

Sir Charles Tupper is still confined to his residence and was unable to attend Council today. He is suffering from a very severe cold, and it is doubtful whether he will be present at the opening of the House to-morrow.

Mr. C. Londeau, manager for G. Lewis & Co. of Montreal, had an interview to-day with the Commissioner of Customs with reference to a case of embroidery which was seized some days ago at that port. From the evidence produced by him the case appears to be one which should have been referred to experts for appraisement under the act, in order to ascertain if the invoices represented the value of the articles. The Commissioner returned the papers to Montreal with instructions to act accordingly.

It is understood that, as generally anticipated, Mr. Richard Hardisty has been called to the Senate as one of the two representatives from the Northwest.

MANITOBA POLITICS.

Mr. Greenway's Program—Dr. Wilson Resigns—Mr. La Riviere's Denial.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 22.—Mr. Greenway announced at a banquet at Cartwright last night that he would complete the Red River Road by Oct. 1. He pledged himself to civil service reform, and would dispense with a deputy minister. He said that a re-distribution bill would be immediately introduced, and a franchise bill equivalent to manhood suffrage, and after other necessary legislation an appeal would be made to the country.

Dr. Wilson resigned his seat in the Local Legislature to-day.

Mr. La Riviere positively denies the rumor about his resignation, although it is generally believed to be a matter of a few days only.

BRIDGE MEETING.—A public meeting was held in the Sunday School hall on Wednesday night, the 18th inst., to discuss and agitate the question of getting a bridge built, across the Otonabee river, for the convenience of the eastern portion of the township. Mr. T. M. Willan, Reeve of the township was present and being called upon responded and explained to the audience that if the parties interested in the bridge in this part of the township did not take action in some way and formulate some scheme to assist and to show that they were really in earnest the Counties and others would never do anything towards building the bridge. He strongly urged those interested to get to work and make arrangements to guarantee as large an amount of money as possible, either by forming a joint stock company or by subscription, or any other way they thought best to show the Counties Council that the bridge is a necessity and that the people interested are doing all in their power to assist. If they did so he was almost positive in the opinion that the united Counties Council would contribute largely towards the erection of the bridge. Mr. Wm. Emberson and Mr. John Riddell also addressed the meeting at considerable length. Both speakers strongly denouncen the different schemes and plans suggested, but failed apparently to advance or formulate any other plan or scheme to further the interests of the bridge. Finally, after considerable discussion, it was moved by Mr. R. Foher, seconded by Mr. Wm. Moncrief and carried unanimously,—That a committee be appointed to canvass the township in the interests of the bridge and secure as large a subscription as possible and then to petition the municipality of South Monaghan to double the amount of the subscription, whatever that sum may be, as a bonus towards the bridge. One of the speakers stated that in his opinion the business men of the Town of Peterborough would contribute largely towards the erection of a bridge as the trade of this township with Peterborough is increasing very fast.

LITERARY SOCIETY.—The Literary Society held their regular meeting on Thursday night last. There was a very large attendance present. The hall was filled to overflowing. A good programme composed of songs, readings, &c, was presented. The subject for debate was, "Resolved, that Wood is More Useful to Mankind than Iron." Messrs. J. Stephens, E. Stirton and R. J. Pue on the affirmative, with Messrs. E. Truscott, S. Smithson and J. Fletcher on the negative. The decision was given in favor of the affirmative. Mr. J. Kerr and Mr. Wm. Huggins favored the audience to a few selections on the violin with accompaniment by Miss Annie McClelland, who presided at the organ throughout the evening with her usual ability.

YOUNG'S POINT.

Correspondence of the Review.

IN FULL BLAST.—The Young's Point saw mills are running full time. Mr. O. Young has received the contracts for supplying the material for the lock gates, coffer dam and bulk-head.

THEY WENT.—Quite a number of our young people attended the band concert in Lakefield and returned well pleased.

SCHOOL MATTERS.—The attendance at the Young's Point school, No. 8, is very large, averaging for the present year 65 daily. All are striving for the prizes to be given at midsummer, the J. R. Stratton prize for general proficiency and special prize given by the teacher for improvement in penmanship.

A NEW BOAT—The many friends of Mr. P. P. Young, and former patrons of the Fairy, will be pleased to learn that Mr. Young is having built a new boat to replace the Fairy. The new boat is to be 75 feet long with 13 feet beam, with a carrying capacity of 150 passengers. The frame work and planking are all of the finest blue oak and tamarack. The engine and boiler will be furnished by the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co. and will be of sufficient power to give a uniform speed of 15 miles an hour. The boat is expected to be launched by the first of May. The well known boatbuilder, Mr. Con. Delaney, has the contract and is assisted by a staff of experienced shipwrights. Your correspondent has been favored with a view of the model and could not help but admire the graceful lines of the new boat. Success to her and long may she float.

BALL AND SUPPER.—The ball given by the Young's Point Baseball Club was very successful, considering the number of counter attractions. About 30 couples were present and tripped the light fantastic to the sweet strains of Prof. Scrimger's violin. An oyster supper was provided at the Lakeview House in Mrs. Kearney's usual excellent manner.

GOVERNMENT WORKS.—Mr. Alex. Ross, of Lindsay, with a corps of assistants, is engaged at putting in a coffer dam across the canal to enable the canal to be drained in order that the stonework may be repointed, and two new gates put in. A permanent bulk-head with stop-logs is also to be built abo[illegible]

THE TREATY'S RECEPTION.

HOW IT IS VIEWED BY CANADIAN AND AMERICAN EDITORS.

A Short Summary of What the Treaty Effects—What Canada Gains and Loses—"The Murder is Out at Last"—"The Americans Have Won Their Case."

Just what Canada gains and what she loses by the new treaty is something on which ninty-nine out of a hundred have no definite and certain ideas. The Mail states that on obtaining licenses, which are to cost them nothing, American fishermen may purchase supplies, obtain bait, tranship cargoes and ship crews in Canadian harbors, subject, however, to local regulations. The fact is that this provision in the treaty does not take effect until the United States shall remove the duty from Canadian fish and fish oil It may never come into force at all, yet The Mail enumerates these privileges as positively granted to the American fishermen.

To the average reader this fish treaty is very dry reading. The fact of the matter is that the people of Ontario, who are a thousand miles from the locus in quo, know very little about the Canadian sea fisheries and are not able to pass judgment on the merits or demerits of the treaty. They can't take it all in. Candidly, they know nothing about it. The following is a brief summary of what the treaty means: The treaty is divided into two parts, one defining the rights of United States fishermen in Canadian waters under the treaty of 1818, the other, providing under certain circumstances for a reciprocal exchange of privileges, from which the citizens of both nations should benefit. To understand the first it is necessary to refer to Article I of the treaty of 1818, which, after giving United States fishermen certain rights on the coasts of Newfoundland and Labrador and the Magdalen Islands, provides:

"And the United States hereby renounce forever any liberty heretofore enjoyed or claimed by the inhabitants thereof to take, dry or cure fish on or within three marine miles of any of the coasts, bays, creeks or harbors of His Britannic Majesty's dominions in America, not included within the above-mentioned limits; provided, however, that the American fishermen shall be admitted to enter such bays or harbors for the purpose of shelter, and of repairing damages therein, of purchasing wood and obtaining water, and for no other purpose whatever. But they shall be under such restrictions as may be necessary to prevent their taking, drying or curing fish therein, or in any other manner whatever abusing the privileges hereby reserved to them."

Another point the Americans gain is that United States vessels are freed from the necessity of reporting at the Canadian custom houses when in our bays and harbors for the purpose of purchasing wood or obtaining water, except when they make a prolonged stay. They are also freed from all harbor, tonnage, pilotage or other dues. When through stress of weather or casualty they enter Canadian ports with fish on board they may, in order to properly repair damages, land or sell such fish, and may replenish outfits and supplies, and, in some circumstances, ship crews. United States fishermen may also, for their homeward voyage, purchase in Canadian ports all necessary provisions and supplies. This is also a concession from our late position. It is offset by the provision that our fishermen in American ports shall enjoy the same privileges, privileges, however, they are not likely to use to any extent, as it is the Canadian fishing grounds alone that attract vessels.

Some Press Opinions.

From The Toronto World.

The only honest objection to the general effect of the Fisheries Treaty that The World sees is that it does not remove causes of quarrel. Under it we shall still have to patrol our waters to prevent poaching, so that there will be little or nothing saved to us in either cash or causes by irritation. Our knowledge of United States diplomacy is not such as to encourage the belief that our neighbors will avoid offence upon any sentimental consideration for treaty rights. There is no other great power upon earth, with the possible exception of Russia, that has so little respect for treaty "pie crusts" as the United States has. Therefore we have little to expect from the forbearance of New England fishermen who are admitted to our waters upon the pretext or another, and consequently they will continue to find causes of quarrel with the cruisers which we are bound to maintain for the enforcement of the treaty. Otherwise we see little amiss with the treaty. Independent minds, desirous for the healing of an old sore, will say that this treaty is a palliative, but not a cure.

From The Mail.

Substantially, the Americans have won their case. Canadian fishermen receive no sort of equivalent for the concessions made to the Americans, except the barren privilege of fishing in American bays.

From The Montreal Gazette.

The whole treaty, we think, can be regarded with satisfaction, both as a definition of Canada's rights, a provision for reciprocity in an important industrial product, and chiefly as removing a cause of dissatisfaction with our nearest neighbor.

From The Globe.

The murder is out this morning. The Fisheries Treaty may be fairly described as one for enabling American fishermen to do what they please in Canadian waters. Every Canadian contention has been surrendered.

From The New York Herald.

The Herald, commenting on the Fishery Treaty, says: The treaty seems to us to remedy all the just grievances of the American fishermen, and we advise them not to forget that the country at large has never become very deeply excited over their complaints, and that if they should now show themselves unreasonable they will lose even the moderate public sympathy which was with them.

From The N. Y. Times.

The treaty has been heartily opposed and bitterly criticised by some of the Republican Senators, particularly those representing the fishery interests. This opposition is natural, though inconsistent. We do not believe it is wise. We hope it may not be shared by enough other Republicans to defeat the treaty. We obtain under this agreement greater advantages than have ever been accorded so freely before. These include everything that has been claimed by us with the exception of fishing in a relatively limited area. They include the abolition of the headland theory, and nearly complete freedom of intercourse, except the purchase of bait and likely supplies. We cannot hope to obtain better terms by mutual agreement. It is open to us at any time to obtain all we have ever wished by the repeal of the duty on Canadian fish, which, as to most of the product, is one half cent a pound. The alternative to the ratification of the treaty is the opening and indefinite prolongation of a vexed, complicated and, in our opinion, useless and senseless quarrel. We do not believe the American people desire that.

From The Empire.

Grumblers will no doubt find fault with details, but reasonable men on both sides of the line will rejoice that a question giving rise to so much international feeling bids fair to be removed from the arena of controversy, and that the neighborly feeling and goodwill which ought to prevail between peoples having such intimate intercourse will again hold sway.

Their Warm Time Coming.

In the bitter winter weather,
When the homes of the poor are cold,
They put their heads together
To add to their pile of gold.
And the price of the coal goes higher—
That before was much too high—
Well, they will not lack for fire
In the land of the by and by.

—Boston Courier.

LIGHT AND AIRY.

Mr. Blizzard, from the northwest,
From the land of the Dakotas,
From the land of the Missouri,
From the wild and howling prairies,
Where the snow is piled like mountains,
And the lakes are frozen solid—
Now and then comes strolling southward;
Comes across the Mississippi,
Makes a bee line for Chicago,
Paralyzes all he finds there;
Then he scoots for Indiana—
Mr. Blizzard, of the northwest—
Scoots across the Hoosier counties,
Filling all the air with snowflakes,
Freezing every ear he touches,
Till he strikes our Cincinnati—
Strikes her hard and strikes her often,
Says the town is to his liking
And he'd like to make a visit.
So he blusters up our thoroughfares,
Whistles shrilly down our alleys,
And he has no kind of manners.
For he goes where he's not wanted,
Pushes into private places,
Pinching ears and slapping faces,
Blowing skirts with impoliteness,
Taking liberties unheard of
Does this saucy Mr. Blizzard.
He should go back to the northwest,
To the land of the Dakotas,
To the land of the Missouri,
We don't like him and don't want him,
And request him to skedaddle.

—Cincinnati Times-Star.

THE LATEST MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 22.

The grain and produce markets to-day both at home and in Europe were firm and steady.

LOCAL STREET MARKET.

The local market to-day was quiet and steady. Two loads of wheat offered; spring is quoted at 75½c to 80c, fall at 80c to 81c, and goose at 73c to 74c. Barley dull, with sales of two loads at 75½c to 77c a bushel. Oats firm, two loads selling at 43c to 43½c. Hay in fair supply and firm; 20 loads sold at $13 to $14 for clover, and $14 to $17.50 for timothy. Straw quoted at $10 to $11.50. Dressed hogs are quoted at $7.25. Beef $3 to $5 for forequarters and $5 to $7.50 for hindquarters. Mutton $6.50 to $8; lamb at $9 to $10; veal $5.50 to $8.50.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The retail market to-day was quiet, and prices are as follows: Beef, 12c to 14c; sirloin steak at 13c to 14c; steak 10c to 11c. Mutton, legs and chops, 12c to 13c; round inferior cuts 8c to 10c. Lamb 7c to 9c for front, and 11c to 12c for hindquarters. Veal, best joints 12c to 13c; inferior cuts 6c to 8c. Pork, chops and roasts 10c. Butter, lb. rolls 22c to 25c, large rolls 18c to 20c; inferior 14c to 16c. Lard, tubs 10c to 11c. Cheese 14c to 16c. Bacon 10c to 12c. Eggs 22c to 25c. Turkeys 12c to 13c per lb. Chickens, per pair, 50c to 75c. Geese 10c to 10½c per lb.; box lots 9c to 9½c per lb. Ducks 80c to $1.00. Partridges 70c to 90c. Potatoes 90c to $1.00.

The Live Stock Trade.

The live stock trade this week at the Western Stock Yards is hardly as good as last, though the quality of stock is somewhat better. A comparatively light run, and the marked improvement in the condition of the cattle, causes a fair amount of business. Prices range for prime from 3½c to 4c per pound; 3c to 3½c for a medium class, and 2½c for an inferior class. Some exceptionally fine animals are selling as high as 4½c and 4¾c a pound. Among the sales this week are one lot of 36 averaging in weight 1200, which sold on a basis of 4c a pound. Another lot of butchers' cattle averaging 950 lbs. sold for $32 each; a lot of 23 cattle averaging 1150 lbs. sold for $39 each: 12 cattle averaging 850 lbs. sold for $27.50 each; 4 head averaging 1000 lbs. sold for $32.50 each; a mixed lot of 8 sold for $28 each and inferior lots at lower prices.

Sheep and lambs are very scarce and more are wanted. They are also selling at last week's prices. One lot of 11 sheep weighing 110 lbs. each sold for $5.50 per head; another lot of 8 averaging 100 lbs. sold for $5.25; a lot of 5 weighing close to 120 lbs. each sold for $5.50 and other lots have been sold at prices from $4.25 to $5 each. Few lambs have been offered, but those have found a ready sale at an average of $5.50 a head.

The demand for hogs is not great and prices are easy. Fat hogs are selling at 5c to 5½c a pound while for stores there is no demand.

Calves are scarce and wanted. A few sales have been made this week at prices varying from $6 up to $12 each, the weight of those at the latter price being 140 to 160 lbs.

There is no actual demand for milch cows, though a few have been sold this week at $25, $30 and $35 each.

The prospects for the balance of the week are poor and if the supply is large prices will likely decline.

From Midland.

A number of gentlemen from Midland have been doing the town during the last two or three days. Among them is Mr. James Griffith, at one time a police officer in Peterborough. He is doing well in the "future Chicago" of Ontario.

Gospel Temperance.

A Gospel temperance meeting will be held in the Woman's Christian Temperance Union Hall, George-st., on Sunday afternoon. Several local speakers will attend and address the meeting. Local temperance organizations have the matter in hand and are considering the advisability of holding such meetings regularly and probably on evenings during the week as well.

The Lock Works Present.

The beautiful table scarf which accompanied the table and chair presented by the Lock Works employees to Mr. Geo. Stevenson, was a portion of the gift from the employees to the genial Secretary of the Company. Mrs. Brooks, wife of the manager of the Company, sent a large and handsome pastel picture painted by herself, the subject of it being "The Ruins of Carthage."

Ackowledgement.

The lady managers of the Peterborough Protestant Home desire to record their deep gratitude to Mesdames Lewis, Dunsford and Smith and all others who so generously assisted at the concert given for the benefit of the Home; also to Mrs. Beck for the gratuitous use of her piano and to the Examiner and REVIEW offices for their subscripton in the shape of a reduction of their accounts. The total receipts amounted to $46.75. After deducting expenses a cheque for $39.85 was given for the benefit of the Home.

Athlete Cigarettes at Rubidge's.

Otonabee Canoe Club.

At the meeting of the Otonabee Canoe Club on Wednesday evening, it was decided to form a debating club, for entertainment until the canoeing season opens. Mr. J. Miller, M.A., Commodore of the club, was appointed chairman and critic and the following subject will be discussed at the next meeting on the evening of Tuesday, March 6th:—"Resolved, That Professional Life is Preferable to Agricultural Life." Messrs. W. H. Hill and W. H. Dayman will advocate the affirmative of the question and Messrs. A. E. Scott and Gordon Smith the negative. The business in connection with the annual meeting of the club was postponed till the next meeting on the date given above.

The Game Law.

A bill is before the Legislature to make amendments to the game law at present in force. Its most important provisions are that it fixes the close season for deer, elk, moose, reindeer or caribou from 1st December to 31st October; that no hound or dog which pursues deer shall be allowed to run at large in a locality where deer are usually found between 1st and 15th November, under a penalty of not less than $5 or more than $25; and that every person desiring to hunt deer shall take out a special license for the season from the inspector for the district and shall pay, in addition to to the license fee, the sum of $1 for every deer taken or killed, being required to make oath as to the number at the end of the season.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

At Cobourg.

The annual ice races at Cobourg, will take place on Poe's Pond, on Thursday and Friday, March 1st and 2nd. It is probable that all the Peterborough fliers will take part if the purses are worth going down after.

An Omission.

In our report of the Military Concert we inadvertently omitted to mention that all the accompaniments during the evening were played by Prof. J. E. Jacques, organist of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, who gave every satisfaction, as he always does.

Derby Cigarettes at Rubidge's.

More Yet.

The good work goes on and shows no sign of a let up. The promoters are working quietly and perseveringly and they are bound that the carnival on Friday evening, March 9th, will be an event long to be remembered by those who participate and those who witness it. The programme will be a splendid one and the public are respectfully asked to wait and watch for it. March 9th is the date.

Mortuary Statistics.

According to the return of mortuary statistics for the month of January, 1888, there were six deaths in Peterborough, three males and females, showing the lowest death rate in the Dominion, except Guelph. Two females died from diphtheria, one male from a zymotic disease, one male and one female from constitutional diseases, and one male from a local disease. The deaths in other places were:—Montoeal, 520; Toronto, 191; Hamilton, 65; Ottawa, 73; London, 44; Kingston, 19; Brantford, 16; Guelph, 4; Belleville, 16; Chatham, 11; Woodstock, 18 and Galt 10.

At the Gaol.

There are at present twenty-eight prisoners confined at the gaol, the largest number that the institution ever held. As provision is only made for twenty-four it will be seen that there is no room to spare. The majority of those confined are vagrants, lunatics and idiots. If the two latter classes were removed there would be sufficient room for the ordinary classes of prisoners. Some of the unfortunate lunatics have been confined here for years, and as the same story comes from nearly every county in the Province, it is high time that proper quarters were provided for them by the Government.

Police Court.

On Wednesday afternoon a young man quietly laid down in the middle of George-st., in front of the arcade and tried to sleep He was soon surrounded by a crowd, who endeavored to pick him up. After laying there for fully half an hour he was placed on a truck and carted to his boarding house. There he walked in one door and out another and proceeded up street again. This time he chose a store doorway for a resting place and was peacefully sleeping when Officer Adams arrived on the scene and escorted the inebriate to a less public couch, at the police station. There was considerable grumbling at the tardy appearance of the police, but those grumblers must remember that there is but one officer on in the daytime and he is supposed to do all the work in town. At the time this thing occurred Officer Adams was on Simcoe and Charlotte-sts., only a block or two away, but he knew nothing about it until after the crowd had scattered. At the Police Court this morning, the young man gave his name as William Main. He pleaded guilty to charge of being drunk and disorderly and was fined the customary $1 and $4 costs.

You can always get Boots and Shoes at cost, (that is, at what it costs you); but KIDD the boot man always sells Boots for the lowest price, and he has the best Boots too

"Hoop of Gold."

The Wilson Day Company appeared a the Opera House on Wednesday evening in the great dramatic success "Hoop of Gold." The audience was only fairly large, but those who were present were well satisfied. The company is certainly the best that Mr. Day has ever brought here, it is well balanced and each member is given something to do. However, one or two of the players appears rather fond of ranting. The name of the play refers to a wedding ring. The plot is clearly worked out and the interest of the audience is sustained from commencement to finish. The scene of London bridge and the embankment was really fine. Mr. John Brounell as the millionaire father, acted his part true to life and was deservedly a favorite with the audience. Miss Josie Robinson, as Ruth, the heroine of the play, looked and played her difficult part to perfection. This lady has improved greatly since she first appeared in Peterborough. Wilson Day acted the dual parts of an office porter and a sporting tout, each widely different from each other, but he possesses histrionic ability above the average and carried out the characters in a pleasing and satisfactory manner, Theo. Hudgins, the gentlemanly villain, Frank Neilson, one of Ruth's rejected suitors, and Louis Haywood, her husband, were excellent. Miss Marie Day, also played two parts, one as an accomplished young lady, willing to be loved, and as a lodging house slave of the Topsy type, and with the able assistance of Joseph Guthrie, as a comic, Irish policeman, furnished the fun. Little baby Ethel Day, an infant, had nothing to say, but the little tot was the admiration of all, by the quiet and cunning manner she filled her part, not a whimper escaping her during the time she was on the stage, over an hour altogether. This evening the same company will present for the first time in Peterborough, "Monte Cristo," and they should be greeted with a full house.

OMEMEE RACES.

"Sleepy Dan" Warms up and Shows "Mayflower" his Heels.

Wednesday was the second and concluding day of the winter races at Omemee. The track was in a good deal better condition than it was on the preceding day while the attendance was the largest ever seen at a race meeting in the village.

Messrs. Wm. Croft, Peterborough; Jackson Read, Bobcaygeon, and a gentleman from Toronto were the judges, and Dr. Cochrane, of Omemee, acted a timer.

NAMED RACE.

In the named race, two Peterborough horses, T. Pettett's (Lakefield) "Jerry" and E. Brown's "Lady B" started. "Little Willie" is owned by Mr. M. McGregor, Omemee, "Stella B," in Lindsay and "Billy Bay," in Fenelon Falls. The following tells the tale:—

SUMMARY.

NAMED RACE.—Purse $50, divided. 1st horse $35, 2nd horse $10, 3rd horse $5. Mile heats, best three in five.

|---|---|---|---|
| "Jerry" | 1 | 1 | 1 |
| "Little Willie" | 2 | 6 | 2 |
| "Lady B" | 3 | 2 | 3 |
| "Stella B" | 4 | 4 | 4 |
| "Billy Bay" | 5 | 5 | 5 |

Time 2 36, 2 37 and 2 38.

THE OPEN RACE.

The open race was a surprise party to many, and the friends of Mr. Harry Winch and "Sleepy Dan" have good reason to be jubilant over the result. "Sleepy Dan" was not in the best of condition, but the fact that he beat such a flyer as "Mayflower" shows that he has considerable go in him, while the time made, as low as 2 28½, beating anything made at the Peterborough races, plainly shows that the race was trotted on its merits and that the best horse won.

From start to finish the struggle was a fine one between the two leaders and the horses were both trottting for "blood." The first heat was won by about one length, the second by a little more and the third by only a head.

The mare always led to the three-quarter pole, but "Dan" kept agoing and gradually crawled up and passed the leader, making the pace so hot that the mare always broke and allowed the "wide awake" stepper to catch up, pass and win.

SUMMARY.

FREE FOR ALL.—Open to all trotters and pacers. Purse $90, divided. 1st horse $60, 2nd horse $30, 3rd horse $10. Mile heats, best three in five.

TRENT NAVIGATION.

A Circular from the Association Regarding Information.

The Secretary of the Trent Valley Navigation Association has issued a circular asking that all persons having either within their own knowledge or knowing of persons possessing a knowledge of facts or circumstances that would be of assistance to the Association, to communicate with him at once.

There will, no doubt, be a ready response to the circular on the part of all who having a knowledge of such facts. The Association has undertaken a difficult work, that of gathering all the information obtainable regarding the waterway, and in view of the fact that the completion of the through course of navigation would be of great benefit to the people of the district and to the country generally, all who can render assistance will doubtless be glad to do so.

The Commission is, we understand, ready to proceed with the enquiry, and it is desirable that the case for the waterway should be prepared as soon as possible. Prompt answers to the circular are therefore requested. The circular is as follows:—

"All persons having either within their own knowledge or knowing of persons possessing a knowledge of facts or circumstances in any way bearing upon the feasability, the cost of construction, or the advantages likely to accrue from the completion of a continuous line of navigation between the waters of the Georgian Bay and the Bay of Quinte, or any portion thereof, are earnestly requested to communicate the nature of their information, to the undersigned at once, so that timely steps may be taken to have the same laid before the Commission, recently appointed by the Dominion Government to enquire into this important matter, at some one of the several meetings which it is expected the Commission will hold at various points along the route of this waterway.

British Live Stock Trade.

The Gazette cable of Monday says:—"Owing to the fact that the shipments due to arrive during the week have been delayed, probably by bad weather, the British cattle markets have ruled stronger and better, and our advises report a steady demand and light supplies at an advance compared with a week ago. Shipments due failed to reach the market and the consequence was a short supply, which naturally made buyers more anxious and prices were put up. The advance, however, cannot be safely looked on as permanent, and when shipments arrive may be wiped out. Receipts from America and the continent have been light and the markets have not been fully supplied. Demand has been steady and somewhat in excess of the offerings."

Montreal Cattle Market.

The Gazette's articles on the city market states that during the past week there has been no improvement in the cattle trade, owing to the supply of catle being far in excess of the demand, and in consequence a weaker feeling prevailed and prices declined ½c. per lb. all round. There was some 200 head left over from the previous week, and Lent having set in the demand was slow and buyers were scarce at the Thursday market, which caused a number of cattle to be left over, and shippers will have to take lower figures to sell out. Some choice cattle were sold for export purposes. The receipts of cattle for the past week were 410 head. At Point St. Charles cattle yards the offerings of cattle were large, for which the demand was slow and only a fair amount of business was done in butchers stock, while there was little enquiry for export cattle and the market on the whole was quiet and fairly steady.

Brevities.

—"Sleepy Dan's" victory is the talk of the town.

—Mr. H. H. Burnham, of Port Hope, was in town this morning.

—Considerable beech wood is finding its way to town this year.

—A meeting of the Board of Health will be held to-morrow evening.

—Two prisoners were liberated from gaol to-day upon payment of their fines.

—A male lunatic from Lakefield is the latest addition to the gaol population.

—There appears to be a great influx of drummers into Peterborough just at present.

—The butchers are again commencing to handle veal. That means spring is at haud.

—Mrs. Foley, who has been seriously ill for some time, is now on a fair way to recovery.

—Snow this time. During the last week we have had just about every variety of weather going.

—Gaoler Nesbitt says that if this thing continues, his institution will have to be enlarged.

—The regular monthly members' meeting takes places at the Y. M. C. A. Hall this evening.

—Mr. C. R. Wood, now with Milton H. Brissette, wholesale druggist, of Montreal, is in town.

—"Monte Christo" will be presented at the Opera House to night, by the Wilson Day Company.

—The canoe builders, carriage-makers, etc., are piling up their stock of sawlogs while the snow lasts.

—The members of Canton Peterborough, No. 10, had a regular drill last evening. There was a good muster.

—The snow to-day is of the sticky variety and people are kept continually knocking the mounds off their heels.

—A loud and long continued discussion on the merits of two cows was carried on last night at George and Dublin-sts.

—It should be remarked that during the last few evenings the Opera House has been kept comfortably warm, for which the public are grateful.

—The Water Company are having some trouble this year with frozen services. The steam boiler soon does the work of opening them up.

—We observe that the thaw has made puddles of water on different crossings and in the spring the chances are that things will be as bad as usual.

—A rink of junior curlers are billed to play two matches at Lindsay to-day. The senior rinks to play at Ottawa to morrow leave on the C. P. R. train this exening.

—P. C. Pidgeon is developing into a sprinter. The other evening he chased a bird and captured him, who on the run lost both overshoes and his hat.

—Miss Ida Graham, of Peterborough, won the prize offered for the best dressed young lady at the Campbellford skating carnival on Friday. She appeared as a "Highland Lassie."

—"That's a fine post office," remarked a farmer this morning as he stood at Hall, Innes & Co's premises, "but that stuff in the windows makes it look too much like a shop to suit me."

—Each evening a number of boys congregate at the entrance to the Opera House and whenever an officer appears the noise they make in running down the two flights of stairs disturbs both players and audience. An officer to stop them from coming up would be a good idea.

The Band.

The Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I have learned, after careful inquiry, that those who had the pleasure of attending the Battalion concert on Tuesday evening last, were more pleased and delighted than ever before with the performance and execution of the difficult pieces presented by our excellent band—an institution that every citizen should be proud of, as I have no doubt they are. Such a fine band would be a credit to any city in Canada, it is undoubtedly so to Peterborough, and I submit such a respectable and orderly body of men, gifted with such capabilities, should receive every assistance as well as encouragement. It is true they do receive many favors from the citizens, which I have no doubt they appreciate very much, but could not a little further effort be put forth by an energetic committee of townspeople to secure for this able musical organization what they need very much, viz: four additional reed instruments at least. This fact must have been apparent to all lovers of good music. With this addition I feel convinced our band will take first place on all occasions. Let a committee of three be selected to take this up and push it through. Say, get up a special subscription list payable in one month, to raise the amout required, which would not be large, and then complete the other details by consultation with the management. I am not a member of the band—never was—nor a member of the battalion, but if there is one organization more than another in Peterborough, which I, as a humble citizen, feel proud of, it is the band of the 57th battalion and Fire Brigade, and I am prepared to do my share by giving five dollars towards the above object. Will any one take this matter up? I have never spoken to the leader, or any member of the band on this subject, but write simply as a warm friend of the band.

LAKEFIELD.

Correspondence of the Review.

POSTPONED.—The missionary address by the Rev. Mr. McEwen in the Methodist Church on Wednesday evening, 15th inst., had to be postponed on account of the serious illness of Mrs. McEwen, hereit being very little hope of her recovery.

CONVERTED.—The P.C.A. Hall was beseiged with soldiers on Thursday night, 16th inst., and converted for that night into a Salvation Army barrack. A great big hallelujah meeting of the lads and lassies took place.

A MERRY TIME.—A merry sleighing quartette of coons left for Lakehurst on Friday afternoon last. They had a grand drive over Chemong and Buckhorn lakes on up to the Methodist Church at Lakehurst, to attend a tea meeting and entertainment. The quartette on arriving were surprised to find a beautiful brick church, splendidly finished both inside and out, in fact it would make some of the Lakefield churches blush for shame, particularly the one so ably supported by the huge "Cedars of Lebanon." The tea was all that could be desired. Two of the coons took part in the entertainment by singing two duets, greatly to the amusement of the audience, which they considered more amusing than the simple twirling of a pair of thumbs. The quartette heartily enjoyed their trip, except one poor coon with a grey-ham, who brought nothing out of Harvey, except what he took there. Poor coon was seasick all the way home.

PERSONAL.—Mrs. Jaffray, from Toronto, is the guest of Rev. Mr. McEwen....Miss Caldwell, of Peterborough, is the guest of Mrs. S. Henderson....Miss Belle Graham has returned from Toronto....Mr. Robt. Caldwell has returned home from Kingston....Mr. R. Q. Dench's brother is paying him a visit....Mrs. Henry Masters is very ill. Mr. Masters has our sincere sympathy.

NEW FIRM.—Messrs. Trude and Smith have gone into partnership and have bought out the old established butcher business of Mr. Fred Waldon. They take possession on March 1st. If the new firm show some enterprise and have the old stand well fitted and dispense with the shop loafers, Lakefield citizens will give them a fair amount of patronage. We wish the new firm success.

UNION SERVICES.—The Rev. Mr. McFarlane relieved the Rev. Mr. McEwen of his morning work on Sunday last and held a union service of the Presbyterians and Methodists in the evening at the Methodist Church. The Rev. Mr. McFarlane preached a very practical and eloquent sermon.

ARRIVED.—Mrs. Fraser, wife of Dr. J. R. Fraser, and child, arrived in our fair village on Thursday last, to join the doctor in their new home. Lakefield is always pleased to welcome the addition to their numbers of one of the fair sex

RUNAWAY AND SPILL.—Mrs. Pettit was starting for Bridgenorth on Sunday last with one of Mr. Cockburn's horses. The horse bolted, upset the cutter, left Mrs Pettit on the snow and ran across the bridge into a post. The post being stronger than the cutter, the cutter gave in and "lo, the poor cutter."

C. O. F.—Robt. Elliot, Esq., of Brantford, High Chief Ranger of the Foresters, paid Court Lakefield, C.O.F., a visit on Wednesday last, on business connected with Court Lakefield.

OBITUARY.—Since writing the forgoing concerning Mrs. McEwens' illness this morning, Wednesday, the 22nd, at 8 o'clock a.m., the bloved wife of the Rev. J. McEwen passed to her eternal rest. Mr. McEwen and family have the sincere sympathy of the entire community.

Insurance Catechism.

—:o:—

Why should I insure my life?

Answer—To secure the future support, comfort and education of my family is as much my duty as the providing of their present daily needs. With the sudden changes of fortune, almost daily occurring among my business friends, I see no other way of making for them any absolutely certain provision except through the plan of life insurance. Sensible people universally insure against loss from fire, and are perfectly satisfied that the premiums paid year after year are never returned to them. In a life insurance company all premiums are returned with a high rate of interest at some time, for death is certain. Besides the monetary value of my life to my family, in what I daily produce for them, is worth far more than houses, store or goods, saying nothing of the fact that there are about five chances of my dying during the year to one of my house or store burning.

With whom should I insure?

Answer—With E. E. HENDERSON, General Agent, Peterborough.

Why?—Because you will be insured in a thoroughly reliable, safe and honorable Company, at lowest rates.

The First Symptoms

Of all Lung diseases are much the same: feverishness, loss of appetite, sore throat, pains in the chest and back, headache, etc. In a few days you may be well, or, on the other hand, you may be down with Pneumonia or "galloping Consumption." Run no risks, but begin immediately to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Several years ago, James Birchard, of Darien, Conn., was severely ill. The doctors said he was in Consumption, and that they could do nothing for him; but advised him, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine, two or three months, he was pronounced a well man. His health remains good to the present day.

J. S. Bradley, Malden, Mass., writes: "Three winters ago I took a severe cold, which rapidly developed into Bronchitis and Consumption. I was so weak that I could not sit up, was much emaciated, and coughed incessantly. I consulted several doctors, but they were powerless, and all agreed that I was in Consumption. At last, a friend brought me a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. From the first dose, I found relief. Two bottles cured me, and my health has since been perfect."

TORONTO TOPICS.

The deputations from the City Council, the Toronto Board of Trade and Hamilton Board of Trade as well as from the Nipissing and James Bay Railway board appointed to wait upon the Government to ask for aid towards the construction of the railway, will interview the Government this afternoon.

"Yes," said Manager Cooke of the Merchants Bank to The World yesterday, "the liquidation of the Federal Bank is progressing splendidly. You know that the other banks stood pledged to advance $2,500,000 to help it through. Well, they have been only called upon to disburse $1,500,000, and a considerable portion of this sum has already been repaid."

"How long do you think it will take to wind up the business?"

"There are some matters which will take some time to wind up. I do not think the liquidation will be got through before a year and a half."

At about 5 o'clock last evening the dead body of a girl baby was found in a valise which had been left in a waiting room at Union Station. No clue could be discovered as to whom the child belonged or as to any place where the valise was to be sent. Around the neck of the body was a tightly drawn cord, which gives every indication of a child murder. The body was removed to the Morgue and Coroner Johnson was notified. There will probably be an inquest to-day.

On Tuesday night the office of Wm. Jones, contractor, at 157 Brunswick-avenue, was entered by burglars, who after drilling a hole through the safe door near the combination, found that the door was unlocked and that they might have saved their labor. They had no trouble in removing $85 which was found within. Up to last night no arrests had been made.

Yesterday Detective Davis arrested an elderly man named Andrew Fraser, of 38 Clyde-street, on the charge of obtaining money by false pretences. The warrant comes from Bracebridge where it is said that Fraser did some crooked work in a timber land transaction. A Bracebridge officer is expected here to-day.

There were three alleged larcenists before Judge McDougall in the County Criminal Court yesterday. Thomas Simpson, charged with stealing $14 from Peter Regan of Whitchurch, was remanded to the General Sessions. In the case of William Clark, for stealing whiffletrees from Isaac Cowling of Weston, the Crown secured a remand until Wednesday next. William Granger was tried for stealing 300 cords of wood from Isaac H. Redford, King Township. The evidence proved the theft and Granger was given three months in the Central Prison. George F. James, a lunatic, was committed to the Asylum.

CREATION'S LOWER ORDERS.

Dr. Fairchild, of East New Brunswick, N. J., has a collection of 500 alligators, all young and from three to seven inches in length. They were captured during a recent hunting trip in Florida.

A white squirrel was caught by Andy Fleming, of Hartwell, Ga., recently. He accidentally set his ax on it and broke its back. White squirrels are rarely seen. They are entirely white with pink eyes.

A Maine man, who owns a big and shaggy and black Newfoundland dog, cut off the dog's hair carefully, had it carded and spun, and got two and a quarter pounds of jet black yarn as soft as lamb's wool.

A Salina, Kan., man walked a quarter of a mile to get a gun to kill a jack rabbit which he saw in the road, and after he had fired a heavy charge at it he found that the rabbit was already frozen to death.

Capt. Benjamin R. Dixon, of Portsmouth, Va., went out hunting ducks, and after killing thirty discovered a shoal of porpoises that went in with the tide and got left on the ebb. He attacked them and killed five. The ducks and the porpoises brought him $19.

Near Iberville, La., a bear was seen in a turnip patch helping himself to vegetables. On being [illegible] out he took to the railroad track and met an approaching locomotive, to which he would not yield the right of way. The result was what he might have expected if he had had more sense.

Everybody needs a spring medicine. By using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the blood is thoroughly cleansed and invigorated, the appetite stimulated, and the system prepared to resist the diseases peculiar to the summer months. Ask for Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Take no other.

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"You are Sir Nicholas?" questions she at last, gaining courage to speak, and raising her eyes to his full of entreaty, and just a touch of that pathos that seems of right to belong to the eyes of all Irish women.

"Yes," returns he, with a smile. "I am Nicholas." He ignores the former title. "Geoffrey, I expect, spoke to you of me as 'old Nick;' he has never called me anything else since we were boys."

"He has often called you that; but," —shyly—"now that I have seen you, I don't think the name suits you a bit."

Sir Nicholas is quite pleased. There is a sort of unconscious flattery in the gravity of her tone and expression that amuses almost as much as it pleases him. What a funny child she is! and how unspeakably lovely! Will Deatie like her?

But there is yet another introduction to be gone through. From the doorway Violet Mansergh comes up to Geoffrey, clad in some soft pale shimmering stuff, and holds out to him her hand.

"What a time you have been away!" she says, with a pretty, slow smile, that has not a particle of embarrassment or consciousness in it, though she is quite aware that Jack Rodney is watching her closely. Perhaps, indeed, she is secretly amused at his severe scrutiny.

"You will introduce me to your wife?" she asks, after a few minutes, in her even, traînante voice, and is then taken up to the big arm-chair before the fire, and introduced to Mona.

"Dinner will be ready in a few minutes; of course we shall excuse your dressing to-night," says Lady Rodney, addressing her son far more than Mona, though the words presumably are meant for her. Whereupon Mona, rising from her chair with a sigh of relief, follows Geoffrey out of the room and up-stairs.

"Well?" says Sir Nicholas, as a deadly silence continues for some time after their departure, "what do you think of her?"

"She is painfully deficient; positively without brains," says Lady Rodney, with conviction. "What was the answer she made me when I asked about the carriage? Something utterly outside the mark."

"She is not brainless; she was only frightened. It certainly was an ordeal coming to a house for the first time to be, in effect, stared at. And she is very young."

"And perhaps unused to society," puts in Violet, mildly. As she speaks she picks up a tiny feather that has clung to her gown, and lightly blows it away from her into the air.

"She looked awfully cut up, poor little thing," says Jack, kindly. "You were the only one she opened her mind to, Nick. What did she say? Did she betray the ravings of a lunatic or the inanities of a fool?"

"Neither."

"Then, no doubt, she heaped upon you priceless gems of Irish wit in her mother-tongue?"

"She said very little; but she looks good and true. After all, Geoffrey might have done worse."

"Worse!" repeats his mother, in a withering tone. In this mood she is not nice, and a very little of her suffices.

"She is decidedly good to look at, at all events," says Nicholas, shifting ground. "Don't you think so, Violet?"

"I think she is the loveliest woman I ever saw," returns Miss Mansergh, quietly, without enthusiasm, but with decision. If cold, she is just, and above the pettiness of disliking a woman because she may be counted more worthy of admiration than herself.

"I am glad you are all pleased," says Lady Rodney, in a peculiar tone; and then the gong sounds, and they all rise, as Geoffrey and Mona once more make their appearance. Sir Nicholas gives his arm to Mona, and so begins her first evening at the Towers.

CHAPTER XVI.

All through the night Mona scarcely shuts her eyes, so full is her mind of trouble and perplexing thoughts. At last her brain grows so tired that she cannot pursue any subject to its end, so she lies silently awake, watching for the coming of the tardy dawn.

At last as she grows weary for wishing for it,—

"Morning fair
Comes forth with pilgrim steps in amice gray."

Naturally an early riser, Mona slips noiselessly from her bed, lest she shall wake Geoffrey, and having accomplished her toilet without the assistance of a maid, she leaves her room, and, softly descending the stairs, sallies forth into the gray and early morning.

But which way to go? To Mona all round is an undiscovered country, and for that reason possesses an indescribable charm. Finally, she goes up the avenue, beneath the gaunt and leafless elms, and midway, seeing a small path that leads she knows not whither, she turns aside and follows it, until she loses herself in the lonely wood.

Mona is happy; the walk has done her good, and warmed her blood, and brought a color, soft and rich as carmine, to her cheeks. She has followed the winding path for about an hour, briskly, and with a sense of bien-être that only the young and godly can know, when suddenly she becomes aware that some one is following her.

She turns slowly, and finds her fellow-pedestrian is a young man clad in a suit of impossible tweed. The stranger is advancing slowly; he is swarthy, and certainly not prepossessing. His hair is of that shade and texture that suggests unpleasantly the negro. His lips are a trifle thick, his eyes like sloes. There is, too, an expression of low cunning in these latter features that breeds distrust in the beholder.

The stranger, having come quite near, raises his head, and, seeing her, starts naturally, and comes to a stand-still. For a full half-minute he stares unpardonably, and then lifts his hat. Mona—who, as we have seen, is not great in emergencies—fails to notice the rudeness, in her own embarrassment, and therefore bows politely in return to his salutation.

She is wondering who he can be, when he breaks the silence.

"It is an early hour to be astir," he says, awkwardly; then, finding she makes no response, he goes on, still more awkwardly, "Can you tell me if this path will lead me to the road to Plumston?"

"I am sorry I can tell you nothing," says Mona, shaking her head. "I was never in this wood before; I know nothing of it."

"I should know all about it," says the stranger, with a curious contraction of the muscles of his face, which it may be he means for a smile. "In time I shall no doubt, but at present it is a sealed book to me. But the future will break all seals as far at least as Rodney Towers is concerned."

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver a misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

DAUGHTERS OF EVE.

There are forty-five female lawyers in the United States.

The street car drivers at Guayaquil, Ecuador, are women.

Lady Butler is illustrating her husband's forthcoming book. Her ladyship has been making sketches from life in old Ireland.

Mrs. Don M. Dickinson has made a good impression in Washington. She is considered handsome, and the women call her "stylish."

A sister of Alexandre Dumas, the elder, has just died at Avellins, France, at the age of 80 years. She had been for more than fifty years a Sister of Charity.

Her gracious majesty of England has a mania for getting her portrait taken. Her last fad in this way was to have their royal highnesses taken in tableaux vivants.

All girls born in Rome last New Year's day will be called Leonie. To each Leonie the papal jubilee committee gives a savings bank passbook containing an entry of 100 francs.

The daughters of Erin will take all flattering speeches made by the gallant sex with several grains of salt, for an English hangman has kissed the Blarney stone and the charm has fled.

Mrs. Gladstone celebrated her 76th birthday recently, being a little more than two years her husband's junior. Their marriage took place on July 25, 1839, so that the celebration of their golden wedding looms in the near future.

WELL KNOWN WOMEN NOVELISTS.

"Ouida," who is 60 years of age, wears her yellow hair flying loose, and light colored decollete dresses. She is engaged on a new novel.

Miss Augusta Evans Wilson, of Mobile, is an enthusiastic lover of geraniums and her collection is pronounced by botanists to be the most complete in the world.

Miss Braddon is said to clear £4,500 on each of her novels. Her real name is Mrs. John Maxwell. She lives at Richmond, near London, Eng. She is a middle aged woman who delights in outdoor exercise and is especially fond of horseback riding.
